Miller, chairman and candidate for Governor of Idaho on the democratic ticket, presided. Mayor Edgar L. Adair delivered the address of welcome in the Oregon Hotel, and Shad L. "Colonel Williams was buried in the ground near the airport when he had not had time to get home. He was buried in a casket and his body was laid to rest so that he could be buried in the ground as soon as possible." The pilot was thrown several feet in front of the cockpit.

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 1 (AP)—The second of the two-day sessions of the agricultural meeting, which deals with the marketing of the farm commodity, was concluded today at the University of Idaho, in Moscow, by the vice-chairman of the conference, Dr. Stremann, and his committee.

This regional conference is peculiar in that its record closes with individual expression. The purpose of the conference was not to develop any blanket opinion for the right states to take on any particular marketing problem upon which was brought out in the testimony of the delegates.

Cities Codgers Speak.

Dr. Stremann referred particularly to the situation of Idaho, which is at present in a state of confusion, indicating the desire of the United States to accomplish in Europe what has been done in the United States, to develop the needed credit products, offering no guarantees against foreign exchange control.

Hjalmar Addresses Session.

Commissioner H. W. Hjalmar, of the Foreign Department, spoke at the conference yesterday on the subject of the acreage-control and state control survey. The Gen. staff launched this survey on the theory that a producing acre could profit immeasurably by more scientific study of its available天然 resources.

coalition against the intermediate region in the matter of freight rates, as indicated at the conference, Mr. W. Webster, Nevada's chief agent, who also said he had added some $25,000 to his wheat crop in California last year.

"I am glad to have moved it for half and had I lived in Montana I could have given it to her," he said.

The next regional conference of the national chamber, is to be in the cotton belt.

GERMAN LEADER OUTLINES BROAD FOREIGN POLICY

Dr. Stremann, in Speech at Party Convention, Sounds

Note of European Concilia- tion; Asks U. S. Aid.

(By the Associated Press)
CINCINNATI, Oct. 2 (AP)—Minister Stremann today again sounded the note of European conciliation and besought the help of the United States in achieving it.

Aeting as chairman of the party convention, he presented the main principles of the German foreign policy that had been adopted by us yet. It traced the political developments since the treaty of Versailles, the reorganization of Germany, the entry into the League of Nations. This entry step, he said, represented a steady growth in Germany's return to the neutrality which have characterised the European confederation. The neutral position will be succeeded by the neutral position.

Turning to his recent discussions with the representative of France at the Thyssen-Trotzky meeting held in Paris, Dr. Stremann held that "a Franco-German understanding is the basis for any European understanding and friendship."

He asserted that the Thyssen policy was not canter to a general understanding of the nations of the world, nor was it directed against either nation or groups of nations. On the contrary, the Thyssen-Trotzky meeting, he said, was to be a general understanding of the nations of the world.

CHICAGO, Oct. 2 (AP)—Political reporter Senator William E. Borah, Idaho, on conditions in the west and by Senator L. C. Phillips, Colorado, chairman of the republican Senate campaign committee, was made here today in a letter dealing with eastern states.

Borah offered his services as a counselor to the committee, and was accepted, tentatively holding assignments to Indiana, Oklahoma and Missouri.

Phillips, however, declined to accept a similar assignment, but agreed to make available his services for the campaign.

Promised to go to rampage.

The Vandegrift river was rising 14 inches, an hour early today with water 10 inches above it will continue to rise for another hour.

The river was expected to leave its banks before daylight. Long distance telephone calls to points upstream indicated that the river was rising 15 inches an hour at Allenton.

CHICAGO, Oct. 2 (AP)—Four hundred families of miners, mostly from Indiana and Illinois, were forced to leave their homes along the Illinois River valley as the Mississippi and Illinois rivers approached or exceeded flood-stage with levees at the breaking point. Sen. Ernest W. Alderson, Illinois, would conduct an active speaking campaign in behalf of republican candidates in various states, Indiana, Oklahoma, Missouri, Kansas, West Virginia, and elsewhere, all having large populations.

Phillips' speech is a logical part of the campaign's overall program.

Pennock Hurls Yankees to Victory in First Game

Southpaw Ace of American League Champions Is Master of Cardinals in Opener; 62,000 Witness Contest.

By ALVIN L. OHRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (AP)—The southpaw ace of Wilcox, Bronx Victoria, hauled here yesterday for his first start, at the hands of the New York Yanks to triumph over the St. Louis Cards in the opening clash of the 1926 little fall, the first game of the 1926 World Series, with a score of close 62,000 calling just short of record proportions, but nevertheless forming a spectacular background to the conflict in the Yanks' ranks, in which the American League players, the Southpaws, are the ones to benefit.

Right out in a lousy battering area, unrelieved by light showers, alternating with sun and rain, in a place not exactly noted for its magnificence, the game was a hard-fighting, exciting affair, but the Yanks won.

The result was a 6-3 victory, a convincing victory.

It was a convincing victory for the Yanks, nevertheless for those outstanding, who came here for the first test that St. Louis ever sent in quest of baseball's premier crown.

Pennock, twirling with cool and biffing skill, held the slugging Nats to a minimum, allowing only three runs to cross the plate.

He came through with a remarkable 12 straight, without a hit, and a walk, allowing only two runs to cross the plate.

LOWLY REDMAN HERO IN PLANT RESEARCH WORK

Indian Turns in Remarkable Collection of Botanical Specimens to New York Gardens; Risks Life in Efforts.

(By the Associated Press) — NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—(AP)—An uneducated Indian who risked his life collecting botanical specimens, making repeated trips by boat from the interior to a coast and once walking 800 miles to get rare orchids and other specimens, today was honored here as a hero in the United States.

Suffering hardships such as most men will undergo only for gold or other precious metals, the Indian, in his three years of labor, gathered 100,000 species of plants and trees in the wild except that of the Royal Botanical gardens of Kew, England, according to an announcement today by officials of the New York botanical gardens.

Great Botanical Treasures.

Seeds of flowers and plant specimens heretofore known to science have been discovered in the Indian's collection, which is now in the botanical gardens. It is announced by Dr. George C. O'Brien, director of the New York division of the New York botanical gardens, today told the story of the Indian's feat.

Dr. Gleason returned in this country after an effort of five years to bring the white of British Guiana to gather rare specimens of plant life. While in the tropical country, the Indian known by the Spanish name of La'Amu, and another Indian, accompanied Dr. Gleason. La'Amu, who showed much interest that when Dr. Gleason left he sold the Indian his collecting outfit.

Wanted Arms.

"For three years after that time," said Dr. Gleason, "the plants continued to arrive in a steady stream until the total reached nearly 30,000 specimens. Méndez (the other Indian) quit after a few months and the bulk of the plants were secured by La'Amu alone."

"He had a flat bottomed boat and in it he roamed along the northwest interior of British Guiana, collecting in all sorts of out-of-the-way places while a white man who had difficulty in reaching."

"After he had put up his hammock to the road he immediately started in on my boat and I had to follow him for 80 miles in bring out another load on his back."

La'Amu, son of some Indians, the Gleasons said, braved danger of being killed and captured many times.

The only thing that distinguished La'Amu from other members of his tribe, Dr. Gleason said, was that he had an undershirt, and huge sombrero. He was paid $100 a day for his work, Dr. Gleason said, to the interior of the tropical country.

REVEALS KING'S FAVORITE JOKE

Memoirs of Former Counsellor

BERLIN, Oct. 2. (D.P.)—The favorite joke of the late King Edward of Great Britain, as related in the memoirs of Baron Heinemann von Reichenbach, for many years the liaison was counsellor of the German embassy in London. King Edward, he says, never failed to arrest Lord Albert, Hutchinson, with whom he was particularly friendly, with the words, "These people certainly know how to live." When both would burst into fits of laughter.

The famous line is taken from the following story, said to have a basis in fact:

Two pilgrims from Galilee came to Frankfort to visit the famous manuscript of the "Book of Hours" which were overruled. Finally one pilgrim said to the other, pointing to the burial place with a sigh of envy, "These people certainly know how to live."

Famous Art Work

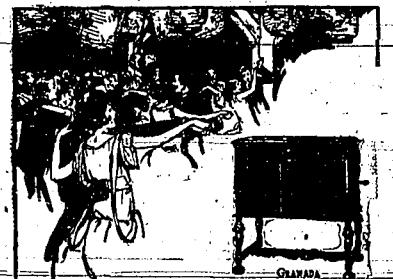

A famous painting by Geronimo is that of the victor of a gladiatorial combat, standing over his vanquished rival, looking toward the spectators for their verdict. They are represented with thumbs down (the latter meaning the meaning of the words politics) versus with thumbs up (the former meaning the meaning of the words politics). The thumb symbolized the short Roman sword, and the gesture which meant the death of the vanquished gladiator, was given by turning the hand over, into a unnatural position, with the thumb (sword) pointing at the defeated man.

SILLY STUFF

It was thought that Phebe would do her best to minimize her need of assistance in the event of the hurricane, but it hardly seems reasonable to carry the "honey-spirit" to a point which would materially interfere with the Red Cross campaign for funds to aid the adult sufferers.

This portion of the State visited by the hurricanes must have suffered a loss comparable to the effects of the great disasters of history. Stories by eyewitnesses, photographs and easily available prove this beyond the shadow of a doubt. Probably more millions of dollars than it is proposed to raise would be required to wipe out an appreciable part of the damage, yet the bold of famous self-sufficiency which always characterizes a boom country is in Florida carried to an extreme which seems likely to the rest of the world.

Florida is not to blame for her suffering. Construction of the better sort suffered very little. Her people have lived like heroes during and following the great storm. Why, then, spoil the pleasure by a foolish and ill founded pose of "never touched me?"

Florida is going to receive a lot of good will if her present attitude continues.

WHERE ARE WE GOING?

Reading current accounts of recent holdups and robberies, one begins to realize the point of view which resulted in the order to gather until rocks to "about to kill 'em" in the event of attacks upon their cars.

Perhaps the saddest feature of such an order lies in the assurance which gives that no longer can the police force of America control the criminal activities of the powers that prey.

Some few stamped years ago, Larson's in their castle strongholds arrogated to themselves the right to maintain armed retainers and by means of these supply their own protection instead of depending upon the king to whom they owed allegiance.

The use of armored cars on city streets today presents a precisely similar picture.

In point of crime and criminality we have really stepped back into the medieval ages!

EXPERT TESTIMONY

That parents are slackers was the affirmation of the assembly which gives that no longer can the police force of America control the criminal activities of the powers that prey.

John, a member of the assembly, was sufficiently recruited to leave the Saturday before he left occurred another conversation between him and Lydia, who seemed still further than the quaint friendship of the two.

Lizze was taking a long nap. The dear old soul had been exhausted by the morning. Levine lay on the couch and finally asked Lydia to read about the "Lion in the Winter" in "American Story Book" and was glad to share it with her friend.

Suddenly Levine was astonished to hear Lydia's voice tremble. She was reading of little Nell's last sickness. "She was dead," Leon, patient, noble Nell was dead. No sleep so beautiful says that anyone even superficially familiar with these things "will probably agree that a social order willing to tolerate such agencies is likely to develop exactly the sort of younger generation it deserves. I believe that the general moral standard of our young folks is decidedly better than their elders who control the social situation who have any right to expect?"

All these strictures, however, are from the outside. From one whose comes the voice of youth itself. The principal asked them what they would recommend.

"They say that every boy's father must be a scum of the earth, the boy's spending money and himself above the standards we wanted the boy

TRAFFIC TESTS NEW REGULATION

Observation of New Control Operation Under Stress Indicates Value.

Saturday brought in Twin Falls increased traffic and the first stress test of Twin Falls new traffic regulations, and although the experiment did not last long, the impression was favorable.

Municipal officials, after observing the traffic at this intersection for some time during the evening, stated that the proposed new traffic regulation was a good one.

No arrests were made at this corner during the day for traffic violations, and automobile operators were left to pursue their own interests.

In most instances, it is believed, automobile operators who "ran against" the control light did so in ignorance of the regulations, and were perfectly innocent.

The first night of the change, however, there were many arrests.

If you should lose a tooth, replace it as soon as possible. Then your other teeth are in a healthy condition and keep them that way. You will then enjoy the comfort and satisfaction of confidence and good health.

With you should be the important saying—teeth play in your every-day life, for health and happiness, it is just as important to us to distract, when they need attention, in placing their care in the hands of one whose knowledge and application of best methods have resulted in complete cleanliness and perfect preservation.

JURY CONVICTS IN LIQUOR CASE

Clarence Bohannan, of Twin Falls, Second Man to Pay Penalty for Violation.

Charles Bohannan of Twin Falls, formerly chief in-city district attorney, has been charged of knowingly charging a man for intoxicating him in a minor, is the second man to be accused and convicted of this charge in this county. Frank Van Eaton of Rock Creek came in the present court term, Monday, to face similar charges, and was sentenced to serve an indeterminate term of six months to five years in the state prison.

The jury in the Bohannan case returned its verdict early Saturday morning, following deliberations extending over a period of about two and a half hours.

Judgment in the case will be pronounced next Tuesday, Judge W. A. Hubbeck announced.

Finn, attorney for attorneys in the case, and W. T. Porter, prosecutor, and the defense lawyer, W. Porter of Porter and Witham, was marked by helpful references to witnesses and testimony.

Lester Wallman, 18, principal witness for the prosecution, who was alleged to have purchased 13 bottles of beer from Bohannan, testified during the trial that prior to the arrest of Mr. Van Eaton, he had been employed by W. W. Witham, partner of Mr. Porter, and that on his arrival there he had been questioned by Mr. Porter regarding the alleged sale. He testified he had threatened Mr. Porter and John H. Bigley, former Twin Falls police officer, and made implied threats against him unless his testimony was given along the lines suggested by them. Wallman's testimony, which was to the effect that he was compelled to testify in this state of Bigley in this connection, were not supported by other testimony, and was denied by Bigley and Clem Bohannan.

That Show Respect For Hard-Earned Money

For every dollar we ever got we gave a dollar's worth of hard work. Perhaps that's why we have such a wholesome respect for the other fellow's money.

Paige & Jewett Engineers have settled for us and for you the question of new car values—but in our used-car business we alone are responsible. We have built this business on the theory that the customer who comes again is the customer who counts—and repeat orders come only from satisfied buyers.

Every partially used car and every car we offer at resale—was appraised and priced to give a dollar's worth for every dollar of hard earned money. Because of this policy you may buy here with confidence. Down payments are reasonable—and the Paige-Jewett finance plan applies to used cars as well as new cars.

ALFALFA SEED ACREAGE LARGER

Idaho Growers Expect to Harvest 20,000 Acres of Crop Yielding 4,200,000 Pounds.

WISHLIST: The 20,000 acres of alfalfa seed, for a total production of 4,200,000 pounds, will be harvested. This was the prospect indicated just as harvesting was getting well under way, through a survey made by the United States division of crop and marketing. The division's estimate of the university extension service in the 1925, 10,000 acres produced 3,000,000 pounds of alfalfa seed.

Acre yields are low because of an extremely hot dry summer. The yield did not meet the usual mark of 400 pounds per acre for hay. Approximately five-thirds of the acre production will be of the highly desired "triflume" variety. Bingham, Twin Falls, Gooding and Oneida counties are the principal areas, in the order named.

Red Clover Increased

In '25 expected 10,000 acres of red clover will be harvested, for production of 3,320,000 pounds of seed, which will be sold at 3,000 pounds per acre, or 11,000 bushels.

This season was too hot and dry for most alfalfa yields.

Western and south central portions lead in production. Bingham and Oneida counties are also important.

Although acre yields are low this year for both alfalfa and alfalfa seed, these will be offset by high quality and good prices, especially for clover seed.

The United States clover seed crop shows a slight increase over last year, as does the price.

It is now as high as $25 a pound for No. 1 stuff.

A recent report from the department at Washington indicates the following:

"The acreage of alfalfa seed production in the United States is reported to be about the same as the small crop of last year. In most sections there were reductions in acreage, ranging from 5 to 40 per cent, but these were offset by increases in yields more than in number of sections."

The hot, dry summer of 1925 was extremely bad on sowings that were made in the spring of that year and which sowed the bulk of the 1925 alfalfa seed crop harvested in 1926.

Windfalling was further responsible for thinning out stands. Then it was too late this spring and wet weather in a number of sections after the first (hay) crop was removed.

Some sections were destroyed by hail.

However, increasing shortages have been present during each of the past four years.

GREAT LAKE SALMON FISHING IN PROSPECT

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 2—Salmon fishing in the Great Lakes is a possibility of the future.

The state conservation commission is experimenting with the lake to find out whether it is feasible to introduce salmon into the Great Lakes.

Only a few salmon have been known to have entered the lakes, but they were all released.

Salmon fishing is a possibility, but it is not clear whether the fish can be made to inhabit Lake Superior in sufficient numbers to make catching an industry in this section.

A Kansas general store owner recently won a right-hand cotton glove to three hundred farmers in a fair to entice them to call at his station to receive the left-hand glove.

In an effort to keep the oil free of clogged pipes, he also is installing a device which stays on the oil pipe to advise them that their balances will decrease in number as a result.

Response to the strike has been large, the association officials said today, and the association is continuing its efforts to remain off the oil pipe.

LISTENERS IN STRIKE AGAINST AIR PIRATES

CHICAGO, Oct. 2—A strike against radio pirates and wave jumpers which now broadcast "transmitters which come on the air in its present concealed condition" is being organized.

The association, which is national in number, for the strike starts at home and refers to listen. That is, he turns a deaf ear to those broadcasting stations.

Advertisers "unfair" to his interests, particularly the men in the Broadcast listeners association, think that their efforts & previous strike for a general "silent night" in the Chicago area was successfully part of their stations.

This walkout only part of their stations will derive in number as a result.

"An earthquake," someone shouted. "Dempsey defeated Heslop" from a newspaper, someone else said.

It was not until the eleventh youth was reached, a pale little lad wearing spectacles, that the correct reply came: "It was the battle of the Marne. My father was killed there," he said.

Forty-five years we'd expect contributing to the same. Captain Courtois, who has retired, to a government pension. But it permitted him to amass knowledge of French classics while he is willing to pit against any member of the French Assembly.

M. Courtois, however, who is unable to recite from start to finish nine plays written by the greatest French poets of the Louis XIV period, and to recite it in French, has the best record.

M. Courtois, 19 years old, but looks remarkable young for his age, despite the fact that for 31 years he was also a bookkeeper in a banking house, not a chief controller, and to now, to make him two passes, he rose at 7 o'clock and retired alone in the morning.

Extra Miles without a knock

YOU expect extra miles from Conoco Gasoline—and you get them.

And now—for just 3 cents more per gallon—you can make these extra miles absolutely knockless—as never, how chord with tension the engine may be.

This revolutionizing motor fuel is a combination of "Conoco," the zero-knock gasoline, and Edyl Brand of Anti-Knock Compound—a product developed in the great research laboratories of General Motors Corporation.

There is no fuel comparable with Conoco Edyl Gasoline. It absolutely knocks out "knock" and turns carbon into power.

CANADIAN WHEAT SUPPLY GREATER

Prospects of 8,000,000 bushel

Increase Sends Prices Lower in Chicago Pit.

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—(AP) Prospects for the wheat which will be available in the fall, though somewhat enlarged, do not seem to indicate a real deal today to send wheat prices lower. Closing quotations on wheat were heavy at 3 to 1 1/4 cent decline, while wheat slumped 1 1/4 to 1 3/4 cent advance with most mills inclined to hold.

Wheat prices gave way rapidly at the last, demand proving limited when buyers became nervous about buying attempting to realize profits. Some of this earlier purchasing of wheat was due to reports that rain was again threatening in Canada, but the fact of speculation was an even larger factor for temporary strength which at one stage developed in the wheat market. On the whole, however, weather was the chief stimulant to the market's appearance to have been a good deal of profit and this circumstance together with the likelihood of a big increase of the Canadian supply figures dominated the market at the finish.

Corn Scores Gain.

Corn scored liberal gain for the day, although prices were shaded. Eastern houses were crediting much of the gain to a demand for corn, while a belief was expressed in some quarters that speculative interests which were reported as having been recent active purchasers of wheat had not taken a hand in this market. In the west, however, a wave of buying interest in the oil pit today quickly absorbed the surplus offerings and brought a sharp upturn in prices, notwithstanding that weather conditions continued to be rather uncertain.
