BOISE BASEBALL FANS ROOT FOR ST. LOUIS

—HARRY, Oct. 5 (AP)—Baseball fans of the modern era, who are numbered here by baseball fans as a young man and a woman, were seen Sunday night cheering for the St. Louis Cardinals and rooting for the Yankees.

Old timers here claim Yankees should have root for the present or orthodox Cardinals. In the past, the world's title outsiders, except O'Connell and Alexander, were St. Louis fans before the Yankees replaced them.

Youthful President of University Of Wisconsin Expresses New Ideas Regarding Problem of Education

Glenn Frank, Outstanding Observer of Trends in Modern Life and Letters, Gives Views in Exclusive Interview.

By RICHARD OILBERT MASON, MADISON, Wis., Oct. 5 (AP)—Education is approaching the task of making university graduates something more than specialists in circumscribed fields, or specialists of purposeless learning. One of the best laboratories for the development of advanced education will be the University of Wisconsin, where an experimental college, a sort of university within a university, is being conducted.

Glenn Frank, the youthful journalist and editor, sat in the office and in the first hour some new ideas, unusual thoughts and conclusions gathered in his first year of residence in the presidency of the university.

It was on this birthday anniversary, he was "alter" as a student, as when he came to Madison eight months ago to accept the director of the extension department of young men and women into the vast accumulation of the learning of the state.

The European trip in the summer had given him rest after the firing year of writing and editing. He was back from that trip with a wide contact with some of the great minds abroad.

"Mass education had produced new problems in university education," the writer ventured. "What do you consider the steps of a new educational method, and what do you consider the challenge to teachers in the great educational institutions?"

"The student in the average university is today an amateur of full-time duty to either of two dangers—the danger of general specialization, or the danger of the challenge to educators to provide ways and means of ensuring to students both the advantage of broad cultural background and the advantages of intensive specialization literature."

"First Two Years Important." "It must be done, I think, by concentrating our attention on the first two years of college as a period to be devoted to the conquest of a cultural background and the development of a general-intellectual technique for finding one's way about in modern society. I do not think this can be achieved today by turning students loose to take a series of separate studies. Some really new approach to this problem is necessary, but I suggest that it may mean the complete scrapping of the present curriculum."

"How would you begin to search for the path that leads to solution of the problem?" was the next query.

"No one of us knows just what the approach should be," he replied. "Some of us have our guesses. But they must be ruthlessly tested by experiment. That is why we are setting up a Wisconsin inside our college of liberal arts, an experimental college of 25 students in which we will be free to try a variety of methods in the first part of higher education. We are going at it exactly as you would do it in your laboratory."

Foresee Solution. "A time will come, I think, when we shall find a formula for the first two years that will produce for the average

FINDS ORIGIN OF "ROUGH RIDERS"

Name of Roosevelt's Regiment Originally Belonged to Brodie's Arizona Outfit.

SEARCH AND DISCOVERY OF THE ORIGIN OF THE "ROUGH RIDERS" REGIMENT, the satisfaction of Herman Hingston, secretary of the Roosevelt Memorial Association, was accomplished Tuesday. It was instrumental in settling the term of the famous regiment of volunteers, now known as the Rough Riders, in connection with the famous hero of Pancho Viejo. The story of the regiment, to settle some disputes as to the origin of the picturesque name, he found that an Associated Press item on the night of April 15, 1898, from Phoenix, Arizona, was the earliest available record of the name.

"Tedy's Terror." Up to the time of this dispatch, which was printed by the Los Angeles Times among other papers, Roosevelt's regiment was being widely heralded as the "Tedy's Terror." Colonel A. O. Brodie, a famous soldier, was the first to use the name of the nucleus of the cavalry regiment at Fort Huachuca, Arizona, in 1888. The principal item of April 18, 1898, which is so far known first used the term "rough riders." Arizona Rough Riders. Brodie made the mistake in his command, according to an Associated Press dispatch as early as February 21, 1898.

Resident Can Be Ready for Muster in Ten Days. (Associated Press Night Report.) Phoenix, Ariz., April 14. (Special Telegram.)—Brodie is deeply interested in the formation of Colonel Brodie's regiment of Arizona rough riders, which is being organized by the president of the state. "I beg you to remember that Arizona was the first to offer the government a regiment of cavalry recruited from the ranks of the volunteer." The regiment can be ready for muster in ten days and will be no honor in the territory and to the nation. Please give me authority to raise such a regiment under my own quota of volunteers to be called for."

Name Struck. Throughout subsequent dispatches the newspaper correspondents continued to call the regiment "Tedy's Terror." The phrase also appeared in the phrase in an Associated Press dispatch. The men selected are all well known as rough riders, head shots and fearless fighters.

"Rough riders," Hingston said, "was the name of the regiment long before it became the regular title and was used by the men themselves. Regrettably, the newspapers of the country, following in the lead of the Associated Press, gave the colorful name to Roosevelt's men."

LABOR LEADERS NOT TO FILL DETROIT PULPITS

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 5 (AP)—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, took equanimity tonight in a formal public statement of 67-advices that the Detroit Ministerial Association has refused to consider the Church of Christ in America and the Y. M. C. A. had received invitations to labor leaders to fill Detroit pulpits next Sunday.

Mr. Green's statement said the invitations had been cancelled "through the influence of the Detroit Chamber of Commerce and the Detroit Ministerial Association."

It is difficult to believe that the churches in the city of Detroit would field to such sinister influences," the statement said.

TWIN FALLS TO SPEND $1000 ON JARBIDGE ROAD

Chamber of Commerce Directors Authorize Expenditure of Fund for Improvement of Route to Nevada Gold Center.

Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce will expend a fund of approximately $1000 on the Jarbridge road, the Twin Falls-Highway, Nevada, road, it was voted by the chamber directors at a regular monthly meeting of lunch Tuesday, Oct. 5. The money is to be used for making such repairs and improvements on the road as may be deemed most necessary. Since the Twin Falls district is without funds to expend its own funds on road work, it is assumed that the chamber of commerce fund will be spent for improvement of that portion of the road that extends through Idaho, Nevada, and that the work will be supervised by the Twin Falls district. The district is composed of the following: Chairman, the road committee, Secretary Charles F. Dwight, in co-operation with the district in the undertaking. The chamber of commerce fund was collected some months ago, in pursuance of an agreement reached with the commissioners of Elko county, with Jarbridge, Idaho, is situated, and with Jarbridge, Nevada. Under this agreement, funds were to be collected from Nevada citizens and by Twin Falls citizens for improvement of the road, commencing through Idaho, Nevada, Nevada has been done during the past several months.

ALIBI PLEA IN WATER DISPUTE

William B. George Says He Was Away From Home When Alleged Tampering Was Done.

Jury impasse in district court here Tuesday in trial in the case of William B. George on charges of illegal interference with an irrigation right, was broken Tuesday by George's alibi. George did, as he claimed by state witnesses, unlawfully divert a portion of the flow of a ditch leading to the defendant's property, whether or whether, as is asserted by his parents and other witnesses in his behalf, he was away from home on the day of the alleged offense. Introduction of evidence on behalf of the defendant had not been completed when the jury adjourned Tuesday and will be resumed this morning. Important evidence for the prosecution was given by W. A. Minnie, civil engineer and former Twin Falls city clerk, who testified that he had been employed by the Twin Falls Canal company management to observe operations on the premises in question and that while collected in a depression on the George farm on June 16, last, he had seen a number of men working with his father a bundle of straw along with a considerable portion of the water running in the ditch to waste away into a gulch in the ditch. William G. Stinson, a canal company employee, testified that he had found weeds and other obstructions at the diversion gate in the ditch. Defense witnesses included William George, who had made a sworn affidavit on the premises on September 28, last, in which he testified that he was away from the premises on the day of the alleged offense. The case for the prosecution is being handled by prosecuting attorney J. W. Tynan. William George, father of the defendant in this case, is named as defendant in a similar case which has been assigned for trial immediately following trial in this case.

Yes, to be sure, CHIROPRACTIC adjustments do cost a little.
But they cost nowhere near as much as ill-health or as doctor and drug bills combined.

With a dehydrating plant that is capable of handling 25,000 pounds of prunes daily, Harry T. West, former Twin Falls county auditor, engaged in drying a considerable part of this season's crop of 2500 prunes from the orchards in question and will be marketed in the form of prunes. Installation of the plant was completed last Friday and it was opened for business Tuesday. West estimates that there will be fruit from the orchards sufficient for 20-day operation of the plant. Drying weather had work hampered the ripening of the crop, Mr. West stated, so that it was impossible to continue shipments of the green fruit to eastern markets. Prior to the fruit, Mr. West had shipped about 20 carloads of the green fruit to eastern markets, most of it going to New York to which point it was in transit 15 days. Mr. West stated, reduced the volume the crop as that only about 250 tons of the dehydrated plant is now expected instead of a 400-ton crop that had been anticipated previously. Market increase in the sugar content of the fruit is an outstanding effect of the fruit, Mr. West stated.
