PANAMA CANAL DOES NOT HURT ST. PAUL ROAD

Testimony Given by Receiver of System—Is Refutation of Popular Idea of Carrier's Financial Difficulties.

(By the Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 13. (AP)—A picture of the troubles of the Chicago, St. Paul and Pacific Railroad system which refutes the popular idea that Panama canal competition is the root of the difficulty, is presented by James A. Ford, secretary-treasurer of the St. Paul and Pacific Railroad Company. In a letter written by Mr. Ford, he cites the verbatim testimony of Mark W. Potter, a receiver of the St. Paul system, before the Interstate commerce commission in Washington on July 27. Mr. Potter not only said the Panama canal had been overemphasized as an explanation of the adversity of northern lines, but that the effect of the canal had been to develop the Pacific coast as a whole.

Mixed Significance of Reply

The striking portion given by Mr. Potter was not generally published. Its significance has not been understood by the reporters who covered the hearing for The Associated Press and New York newspaper. For example, the St. Paul and Pacific, having been endeavoring for lower rates, based upon the lesser mileage involved, as compared with east lines, the arguments from the intermountain territories were that the construction of the Panama canal made necessary the apparent discrimination in favor of the longer haul to the coast.

When Mr. Potter, applying to a three-judge panel, unanimously supported the denial by the intermountain roads that Panama canal competition was a reasonable basis to their demands for a rate reduction, and based upon the fact, the fares held up on the length of haul, the forces held up the chamber and their associates in other cities of the region were highly elated.

Disappointment at the failure of requesting a rate reduction of this volume resulted in Mr. Ford's making a statement calling attention to the Potter testimony. The question and answer, which strikingly brought out the information regarding the highway, railroads, and water transportation world was as follows:

"Q.—Do you believe that the construction and operation of the Panama canal has tended to eliminate the traffic and revenue of the Mt. St. Paul railroad system?"

Answers Question

Mr. Potter—I think the Panama canal as an explanation of adversity of the northern lines has been very greatly overemphasized. I am not at all satisfied with the explanation.

To Instant Death

Former Imperial Persian Con-sulate General Dies in Fall; Believed Accidental.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13. (AP)—H. T. Tokayian, former imperial Persian consul general, was instantly killed today in a fall from a window on the seventeenth floor of the Yale Club across the street from the Central station.

Officers were unable to believe that he had committed suicide. Persons in the street who saw the body come hurtling through the air said two small brief cases preceded it and police believed the cases fell from a window and Mr. Tokayian lost his balance in attempting to recover them.

PARIS IS CHOSEN CONVENTION SITE

Members of American Legion Vote to Hold Next Meeting in French Capital City.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 13. (AP)—To Paris in 1927 was the decision made by the American Legion today.

Reaffirming the action taken at the Omaha convention last year, the legionnaires voted to hold the 1927 convention in France next summer from Sept. 10 to 12 in Paris, the capital of the French Republic.

Mr. Potter, not only said the Panama canal had been overemphasized as an explanation of the adversity of northern lines, but that the effect of the canal had been to develop the Pacific coast as a whole.

POTATO CROP IS NEARLY NORMAL

Federal Statistician Reports Conditions in Idaho as 80 Per Cent on October 1.

WEDNESDAY, Oct. 13.—(Op)—Idaho's potato crop on October 1 was 80 per cent normal, indicating an average yield of 17.5 bushels on 91,000 acres of potatoes for a total crop of 1,601,600 bushels, Julius H. Jacobsen, federal statistician, said yesterday. The total acreage sampled was approximately 100 bushels for a production of 14,300,000 bushels. The report shows that the crop matured two weeks earlier than last year, and that some varieties, which were slow in ripening, are now ready.

U. S. Crop Under Average.

The United States crop has reached October 1 with a prospect of 251 million bushels, or an acreage of 200,000,000 bushels, which is about 100 bushels less than Mr. Jacobsen, although the forecast is 45,000,000 bushels less than the average crop for the past five years. The National Crop Survey, which is concerned with weather in the east, is reported to have reduced the nation's crop about a million bushels from September 1 forecast.

Investigators Think Death of Baby May Be Act of Revenge

Ohio Sheriff Uncovers Clue When He Looks That Part of Slain Child Gave Evidence in Robbery Case.

ORWELL, Ohio, Oct. 13.—(Op)—Police think that baby Ruth Zandarski, the victim of a recent kidnapping, was killed by investigators to-day. The two and a half year old child's body was found yesterday in a swampy evergreen pasture.

Sgt. H. D. Koenig, who was unable to find the killer in the child's story, he learned that members of the Zandarski family had given damaging information about a recent attempt to rob an Orwell bank, when the police came, two were shot by gun.

On this basis, the sheriff and others formed an opinion that the slayer sought vengeance against the Zandarski family.

Child Mangled.

Examination of the child's body showed that two ribs had been torn from the breast bone. A small fracture at the base of the skull was found and the brain was crushed.

The mother of Isabel, disappeared from her crib on the night of September 21 and what happened subsequently remained as much a dilemma tonight as it was more than three days ago when the investigation was first begun.

Authorities have been unable to learn anything beyond the testimony of Isabel's baby sister that a "big black man" came and took her from the crib.

Anthony and Josephine Zandarski, parents of the child, Frank Knecht, 18, is under suspicion in an adjoining room on the night of her disappearance, have been questioned repeatedly.

"There have been times, of course, when the carriers have felt a shock—I would put it that way. During the war there was a great deal of shipping to Europe, and we had to go through the canal. There was a demand for ships for the trans-Atlantic trade all over the world. We all know the prices in which bottoms went. They could not afford to pay them, so they had to sell them through the canal. They went to Europe and other places. The result was that all the business went the railroads."

PANAMA CANAL DOES NOT INJURE ST. PAUL ROAD.

all north line, or any northern line, including the St. Paul, would be better and not been constructed. I do not think the St. Paul would have been better off. You can see, however, that it is moving through the canal and you can see that the canal will have to be there. I hope the business would not be there. But perhaps other business would not be there. I haven't any doubt but that the effect of the canal would be to injure the St. Paul, and to help the others, particularly the ones as a whole, promote the prosperity of the coast, and I think by and large the railroads have been compensated through benefits from the canal which take care of say.

VOTERS AND JURORS

The commissioners of jurors in New York City have a new plan to make efficient work on election day. They say he is going to go over the lists after election, pick out those who failed to vote and put them first on the list for jury duty.

That, no doubt, will be a dreadful penalty to many constituents, far worse than taking the trouble to cast their ballots. It may scare a lot of indifferent citizens into doing their duty on election day.

Whether the public will benefit greatly by it is another question. Having no representation in juries in the courts is probably more important than helping unwilling citizens to the polls. Will the administration of justice really be furthered by putting the determination of lawsuits in the hands of men and women who think little of their efficiency that they won't bother to vote?

GERMAN THRIFT

German prosperity is being restored by German thrift, testifies Dr. Heinrich Liedtke, arrived in America from Berlin to attend a world conference of savings-banks.

The German people lost nearly all their savings in the economic and financial collapse following the war. Their savings were eaten up by the war. They had to start all over again. They have done so to such good effect that already their bank deposits are mounting into billions of marks, and in 10 years Dr. Liedtke expects their savings to rise to the old pre-war figure.

Such is the admirable result of an ingrained habit of thrift, for which the Germans are to be congratulated.

In the midst of their new prosperity, however, the Germans themselves will hardly fail to observe that, at best, their war has set them back 20 years in material well-being; besides all the moral and physical devotions it brought. Therefore, they will probably practice more zealously the fundamental thrifit, which, gets every possible means of war prevention.

ADVISED LIQUIDATION

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 11, 1926.—The government should liquidate its interests in the pursuant marine insurance companies and liquidate its assets to overcome the handicap of foreign competition, and allow private companies to compete on an equal basis with the state entities without restraint, it was told here by various speakers at a special meeting of the United States shipping board.

Yet four continental nations, Germany, France, Belgium and Luxembourg have already agreed upon a plan of economic co-operation, and here are most of the others seriously discussing the same question.

"Thirty European nations divided among themselves, by economic or military rivalries would perish," says Dr. Paul Loebe, president of the Free University of Berlin.

"Pan-Europe shall live."

And if "Pan-Europe"—"Pan-

Europe," a federation of nations sworn to keep peace and run their business for mutual benefit, what will the result be on American business? Will it develop into an Old World business alliance against America? Presently the new plan, idealism any such purpose, but, the growing status of America and this country's tendency toward isolation suggest such an outcome.

Word of Grecian Origin

The word "lethargy" is Greek, and means sleep. It was frequently used by the ancient Greeks to denote the Christians, because its letters form the initials of Christ's name and the word is the Son of God and Savior. The word is found in ancient seals, rings, lamps and tablets, and came into general use in the fourth century. It is said that Aristotle, bishop of Milete, was the first to constitute the acrostic from the word, derived from the original Greek word, meaning sleep, and to give it the name of lethargy.

The Indians are here to exploit this community will be demonstrated. I am using every means, fair or foul, to carry my purpose. Can't you let me go?"

"I am your teacher," Yes, I can tell you," she said, as her face came up with his cane.

Skeggs now paints a new way to vigorous health and vitality.

The Indians are here to exploit this community will be demonstrated. I am using every means, fair or foul, to carry my purpose. Can't you let me go?"

"I am your teacher," Yes, I can tell you," she said, as her face came up with his cane.

And though this was more easily said than done and the thought of murdered cleric and starved babies troubled her occasionally, she did not really worry over it at all, though she did not know him well enough to be worried about him in the high school.

After the Christmas holidays Mrs. Kent made her first call at Lydia in January month. The two withdrew to the kitchen to make candy and there they sat, talking and laughing, the way to adoption. Kent seemed to want to talk for the most part about Margaret.

"Isn't she grown to be a beauty?"

he said, holding the roses brightly.

"She is very beautiful," replied Lydia, though she's an awful silly. She never reads anything, and she flunked all her Thanksgiving examinations."

"Anybody as pretty as Margery doesn't need to be brilliant," said Kent.

"And she spoons, and you don't think much of girls that spoon?" Lydia's cheeks are a deeper pink than usual, though she's not really a beauty, I don't see why.

"I'm not," replied Kent.

DOWNTURN ON WHEAT MART

Ocean Freight Rates at New High Record and Favorable Weather Lowers Prices.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—(UPI)—Despite enlarged export business, wheat today took a downward swing in price. Ocean freight rates at a new high record had a most favorable influence in hastening the marketing of new wheat in Canada, Chicago dealers' quotations on wheat were heavy, 7 to 11¢ a net lower with even 11 to 13¢ a net out to 7 to 8¢ due to provisions varying from 2¢ decline to 2¢ increase.

Notwithstanding assertions in some quarters that today's wheat export business was not as large as last month, it was decided that the market here was depressed from the opening till the finish. Such calls as those placed were for the most part to end advertising of present part of the wheat crop.

Meanwhile, an advance in ocean freight rates was associated with reports that the British coal strike planned to be a major strike, and that security of ocean vessels available for grain was a persistent outstanding factor.

CANADIAN WHEAT.

Concerning why wheat prices, last month taken to a strong position, was beaten, European demand was mainly directed to Canadian wheat and toward Durum. Delicate figures were looking as to the total amount of buying, but the market was considered to be in a strengthened technical position.

SLUMP IN BEAN YIELD IS NOTED

H. T. Blake, Manager of Bean
Growers' Association Gives Vital Facts on Product.

Production of beans in the Twin Falls country this year will probably fall short of that in 1925 by about one-third, it has intimated Wednesday afternoon by H. T. Blake of the Southern Idaho Bean Growers' Association. Blake, who is president of his organization, and his co-workers presented a study of the situation presented by the 120 members of the organization of which he is manager.

"The majority of the bean crop is now harvested," Blake said, "what the average yield per acre will probably not greatly exceed 20 bushels."

The average yield per acre in the various parts of Twin Falls last year approached 25 bushels. Last season 1925, because of the reduced bushel price, Kimberly, Pier and Holt for points in the south, middle west and east.

A small percentage of the bean crop was damaged in this territory when the temperature dropped 10 degrees below the frost line during the night of September 11. This loss, however, it was pointed out by officials of association, does not play an important part in their calculations of marketable production in this section this year.

Shipping of beans from this part is fairly under way, Mr. Blake said. The first carload left Twin Falls on August 31.
