FORCE OF 500 GUNMEN ON MOUNTAIN BANDITS

State and City Police, Augmented by Citizenry, Form 30-Mile Circle About Territory Holding Robbers.

(By the Associated Press.) SOMEVILLE, N. J., Oct. 15.—A force of 500 state and city police and citizenry tonight closed in on a 30-mile circle about the mountain territory in the hunt for the eight hold hands who have been harassing citizens here and escaped with $10,000 at Elizabeth yesterday.

It is the belief of Major Mark O. Kiehlberg, in charge of the force, that the robbers have found refuge in abandoned quarries of the huge rock quarries between Liberty Corner and Chimney Rock, at the extreme southern end of the area.

Blot Without Warning. After making sure of a safe retreat, the robbers moved on Chimney Rock, the rest of the evening hunt.

There is no gasoline station, no inn or restaurant, and only a few scattered farm houses in the region. It is believed the robbers may have to make a sortie from their hideout in the morning.

With the identification of James "Miller" Kiehlberg, authorities were convinced that they had the John "Ham" Rodgers gang to deal with.

Vandals Go Through Stiff Paces to Iron Out Many Wrinkles

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, Oct. 15 (Special) to The News-Journal. Some of the "bulls" uncovered in the Montana game proved involving the camp of the Washington Huskies for tonight. Coach "Charley" Ebb and his assistants this week put the "Tahs" gridlers through two of the "most strenuous" workouts of the season. The Vandals squads have been working late hours on MeLain field and flood lights are now being installed so that the team can practice even further late at night.

The heavy work beginning on Tuesday, wound up with bitter scrimmaging against Coach "Sly" Klettner's crack freshman eleven, and the same program was followed on Wednesday. On Thursday the men enjoyed a comparatively rest in preparation for the journey to Seattle.

Hospital List Large

The size of the hospital list unfortunately has made it impossible for much more than half of the first string Bruin to participate in the week's heavy duty. Seven players, six of whom were hurt in the Montana game, have been watching the varsity from file as spectators. In addition to the cripple squad, was made Monday when Morris Drimhall, 212 pound guard, developed a severe muscle ailment as a result of an injury Saturday. He was unable to be out on the field Tuesday.

Darwin Burgher, halfback, and Charles Biedl, end, have been watching practice in their street clothes all week and it seems definite that they will not be able to play Saturday. "Chuck" Garlin, veteran tackle, is unable to play because of a strain in his right leg.

Stark, running guard, is still nursing his sprained neck, and Clint Huff, halfback, is unable to play because of a strain in his right leg. Saturday which has rendered him temporarily hors de combat.

RUSSIAN PURCHASES: The latest figures now available about business with Russia...

Imports from Great Britain and Germany were about $50,000,000 each...

Russian agreements have not gone enough along with its business stability so that it can buy again.

From the American viewpoint, an annual trade of over one hundred million dollars is not at all to be despised.

Great Britain and Germany have recognized the Soviet government, which, however, it may be considered by outsiders, is the only government Russia happens to have.

American business men, conducting a trade with Russia almost as a matter of course, still have to get along without the convenience and protection afforded by regular diplomatic and consular service.

NEATNESS AND ORDER: One of the first things taught in Boston University's new course for prospective brides is that they should be "orderly but not neat."

There is a distinction that divorces a fine complexion, neatness is a little quality as long as it isn't overdone.

The neatness which the matrimonial agent, or adviser, is advised to give is the old-fashioned sort, still found in occasional houses, which insists on everything being so spotless and so clean that people are afraid to touch or use it.

Order is having things about the house in their proper matter or efficiency rather than religion or morals. It is as desirable to have an orderly system in a house as in an office or factory.

Even husbands and children may be reasonably expected to do their part toward keeping clothes, furniture and contents in the proper place, instead of scattering them all over the house, so that the next fellow who wants them will be able to find them.

Always, if you are agreed to clean in principle, at least, Mrs. Cox would understand and sympathize with you whether they practice it or not, but the neatness which puts a "tidy" on the back of every chair and regards any displacement of it as a tragedy, that is something which a normal man hates from the bottom of his soul.

A man wants convenience and ease for himself in his home. Order makes his home life convenient, but neatness may make it unenjoyable.

Mrs. Mehta likes to be orderly but not neat; too many women incline to be neat but not orderly.

MORE LIFE RAYS: Next year is going to be a great year for children, says a report from the Mount Wilson Observatory, in California, also for health. The sun is going to give off more ultra-violet rays—two and one-half times as many as it did in 1925 and considerably more than this year's supply.

In these rays, "ultra-violet" is in the spectrum of rainbow, and there, for the last half of the century, have been the health-giving elements of sunlight. They cure rickets, stimulate the growth of red blood corpuscles, help tuberculosis cases and promote health and life generally.

The best rays are something else. They merely give a pleasant sensation of warmth. It is the ultra-violet rays which cannot be felt at all, that have electrical life-giving power.

Scientists are held responsible for the fact that there is more going to be a "sun-burn" season than ever, resulting in less heat from the sun and more radiant stimulation. A reaction toward anemia can, afford to be a "sun-burn" season for the body.

PUBLISHER IS ARRESTED: SP. LINDEN, Oct. 15.—Miss Anna Martin, owner, and Harry Turner, editor, respectively, of the Sun, a local newspaper, were arrested on charges of sending obscene matter through the mail. The charges were based on a letter from one of the publishers which contained a picture of a woman in a bathing suit appearing in a San Diego, California, newspaper last July 23, relative to the "Sun" and its circulation.

THE FORUM

Editor Twin Falls News:

Owing to the mistatement of the facts or what purported to be the facts in this case by the press of this city, I am writing you to stop this effort to get my explanation of the matter. I feel the necessity of giving you the facts of the matter, which are outlined to you.

In yesterday's issue of the News, appearing in the article of Kild for the "Cobham" case, you were informed that I had been arrested on a charge of violation of a liquor violation prohibition, which was dismissed when the magistrate refused to adjudge me in violation of the liquor law.

This same statement was also contained in the evening paper. Now these statements might be true if it was not for the fact that the case was placed in violation of one thing, and that no notice of violation was placed in evidence in the trial.

The presentation attempted to have admitted as plaintiff's exhibit "A," and the defendant's exhibit "B," taken from the car belonging to another man, who had paid guilty penalty and was serving a sentence of 90 days in the county jail.

This exhibit, which was taken from the car belonging to another man, who had paid guilty penalty and was serving a sentence of 90 days in the county jail.

The same exhibit of bottles of whiskey was taken from the car, but had been in evidence in the King case, and the case was asked to admit it, when no objection had been established.

If the prosecution desired to convict, why was this bottle of whiskey placed in evidence, because of the fact that it was reported to have, with the bottle of whiskey, been in the pocket. This would have been admitted as evidence in a case for the purpose of corroborating testimony already offered.

It had been brought in a red hot stove and I "want" the marked exhibit "A," as was asked to find the defendant guilty of violating the law.

I have no apology to make in the matter, as no other ruling would have been made, had I not done that.

At the end, Lydia looked up with a wondering smile. "I didn't know any one could be so perfectly happy, Billy. I shall always remember that you gave me my happiest moments."

On the way home in the bumping taxi, Billy seemed to relax. "Well, did I give you a good time, wife, or not?" he asked Kild or Gustav before they left.

"Billy," said Lydia, "last summer I was just a jolly little girl. Now, I'm a woman, and I'm a mother. You just wait till I tell your mother about it."

"Billy went up the path with Lydia to the steps and held her hand moment in silence after he said, "It's a wonderful night!"

"A wonderful night, indeed!—The moon immediately after the action closed, John had written a composition on the first of the Indian celebration, which he had given to the center of the reservation for a Fourth of July celebration upon the reservation.

On all sides but one were pine woods, the other side was backeted by a little lake, motionless under the July sun. On the edge of the place were several "mosses" and "fern-like" plants.

VETERAN SOCIAL WORKER ADDRESSES PRISON MEET

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 15, (AP)—Young girls of today who go wrong do so because they lack "praying mothers" and because they forget there is something more in the world besides pretty dresses and cosmetics. In the opinion of leading women social workers of the nation, here to attend the annual meeting of the national prison congress, "The present day girl, who does not follow the 'straight' and narrow path," insists about her conduct, said Mrs. C. L. Amigh, W. retired superintendent of the state training school for girls at Birmingham, Alabama. "Present day girls lead some girls astray," said the veteran worker. "The automobile, cosmetics and a desire for the clothes had them on. All some of them think about these days is where the next pair of silk stockings are coming from and where they are going to keep their lip stick. Most of them have no brains, no hope, no environment, no nothing. Finery is their only thought."

STOCK MARKET STRUCK BY SWEEPING DECLINES

NEW YORK, Oct. 15, 1926.—Sleeping defines in stock prices ranging from one to more than 11 points. The close took place today as heavy traders elected another savage attack on the market. Selling orders poured in heavy volume from all quarters and the resultant decline uncovering stop loss orders and forcing the liquidation of weakened margin accounts. Total sales ran north of 2,000,000 shares.

The chief unsettling incident in the day's news was the announcement of a new strike in the automobile industry, which was already suffering from the effects of heavy competition. Few investors also were less favorable, commenting on "surface irregularities" in business and the retarding influence on returns from real estate and bad weather and uncertain crop conditions.

Those who expect recovery in the stock market would be probably disappointed at the outset of trading, as speculators for the decline took advantage of the market's weakness to open a drive against these shares. With General Motors, Hudson, Mack Trucks and other leading issues leading the way, the pressure, they were endeavoring to pursue the same hammering tactics against other sections of the list, which were in equally moderate demand.

The severest of the selling movement was measured by an extreme decline in the steel group, which closed a fraction below the day's low at 138 3/4.
