BRUINS MOVING ON SALT LAKE

Twin Falls Football Squad Entains for Gridiron Contest Against West High.

Charles Platkin and Jones, with 15 Bruins, will leave this morning for Salt Lake City to join the West High football team on Saturday afternoon. The Bruins took on their last workout Thursday night at one o'clock. The pointers were given on extra points, and the players were told what are able to hold the ball have improved during the week.

Perrine, Berg and Robertson will probably bring the heavy load of the game to the Bruins, while the Bruins will probably use the kicking game all the way. The squad is in good condition as far as injuries are concerned. The injury to Neve left a hole at one end, but that is being filled by Lloyd Stimpson.

The following men made the trip:

Lucas, Putzler, Williams, Anderson,

Leber, Vance, Martin, A. Kempton,

Wright, Hock, Herring, Schmit,

Berg, Hock, Perrine, T. Robert,

Kelly, and E. Kempton.

MOUNTAIN FOOTBALL CLASSICS SCHEDULED

DENVER, Oct. 21 (UPI)—Saturday's football attractions in the Rocky mountain conference are making way for two football classics this afternoon. The focal point of interest is at Boulder, where Colorado and Utah engage in their annual battle, but their interest may culminate at Fort Collins, where the Aggies and Colorado College resume their much-anticipated warfare.

Practically, playing the first conference game is the ranking favorite, but with the Aggies having a solid backfield of jammers, previous injuries to members of the Colorado team have not added to the prestige of the silverbacks.

At Fort Collins, the Aggies are prepared to set their silver backs in action against Coach Van de Graaf's Colorado College eleven.

The game is a "jinx" contest, but tradition with the single eleven, for various body Tiger eleven have turned back Aggie teams of champion ship or near championship caliber in recent past.

For the Teachers, with two conference victories and no defeats on its list, is to meet Denver university.

The Wyoming State Aggie game at Laramie will see two underdogged teams in action, the Aggies having an undefeated game chalked up on their 1926 records.

BUHL GRIDIRON WARRIORS READY FOR BURLEY GAME

BUHL, Oct. 21 (UPI)—The North vs. South Gridiron warriors put on the finishing touches last night for the Burley game. Burley has a heavy team and the locals are expecting a hard-fight. If they can't get in touch with the authorities for the local and the school made last week by these two against Jerome indicates the Burley aggregation will have trouble stopping them.

Burley displayed some terrible paws last week against Twin Falls and has a hard team to dispose of. Springer, man who does the painting for the east end team, paints the big wall over the front door of the school and Welch, Burke and Frank are ploughing back of no mean ability. The game is called at 3:30, and a large crowd is anticipated.

Camel is totally different from any other smoke... It is more than a cigarette... A lighted Camel is smoking enjoyment realized—the closest thing to the perfection of taste this old earth ever knew.

Camel's popularity has no equal. Camel demand exceeds any other cigarette preference ever known. To say "Camel" is to ask for the world's most popular cigarette. And to light a Camel is to insinuate the best.

For there's a solid reason back of the same—and the enjoyment of Camels. Quality. Camels are rolled of the choicest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos money can buy... blended for matchless taste and fragrance.

If you would know how mild and mellow a smoke can really be, just treat yourself to a pack of Camels. Once you know what these words mean, they're music... "Hate a Camel!"

CAMPAIGN FUND INQUIRY MOVES TO INDIANAPOLIS

Senator Watson, Reputed Recipient of Klan Support, Asks for Hearing in Hospital Where He Is Patient.

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—Delegates at the meeting of reporters of Klan organizations here today decided that the campaign funds collected yesterday morning were transferred from Chicago to Indianapolis.

At least, Frank J. Watson, Missouri Klan leader, who is in a hospital there recovering from influenza, said he believes his money will leave both Senator Watson and Robinson, republican candidates to succeed themselves and those opposed to them, when his money has been taken out of the bank safe split in the early hours of today.

Asks For Play.

A request that the Missouri Klan leaders be allowed to leave the hospital where Senator Watson is in a hospital there to recover from influenza received an answer from the Missourian.

In a telegram to the Missouri Klan leaders, Frank J. Watson, that "false and shadowy" charges were being made against him before the committee in Chicago and that since he could come here he thought it only fair that they be allowed to leave the hospital in their bodies unbroken.

Lev Smith, present grand dragon for the Klan in Indiana, who, the testimony was, was approached by Senator Watson to become the successor to the former chief, has been called to appear before the Senate after the split in the Klan over the support of Watson, also is to be heard at Indianapolis along with several other witnesses.

Hospital Scene Setting.

—Senator Watson's health has failed to the point that he has had to be hospitalized but he has promised that if his physician would permit he would appear before the committee in the fell building. The Klansmen say that consequently men who would absent themselves can be observed at close range without experiencing any discomfort to the eyes.

Bandits' Cave Now Subject of Study For Geologists

BROOKPORT, Ill., Oct. 21, (UPI)—Bandits for stolen mailings and a subject of study for geologists at the University of Missouri. The Brookport cave, near here, once was the den of river bandits and the haunt for swarming horse thieves.

Yesterday a den was found in the old Mill Creek tunnel which is not far from the Missouri river which skirts Brookport. The entrance, about 20 feet high and half that wide, is screened by heavy brush. Its depth is unknown, it may completely cut across the opening.

In the cavelike days when Brookport was one of the most important river ports between St. Louis and Roanoke, Virginia, bandits and desperadoes stripped the graves of barrels of sugar, boxes of pipes, and other packages upon arrival in the port, the robbers taking the value of their goods.

A fight between river raiders and a band of raged townsmen at the mouth of the cave is said to have ended the career of this band, and the lives of several were lost.

However, in later years would-be pirates in the cave when the vigilantes pressed them too hard, let loose numbers of winding snakes.

NEW PROJECTOR MAKER, M. FLICKERBECK PICTURES

NEW YORK, Oct. 21, (UPI)—A projector which is to be established for the Capital theater.

The Michigan projector company responsible for the Other projection machine says of the new projector that it is "shutterless," and adds that it is a "short-throw" machine, actually not one-half of the time.

There are flickering of light because the projector is illuminated, but in addition to giving a sharp brilliancy to the screen, it produces an almost stereoscopic effect in the picture.

Of further significance to the theater, for the projector is the complaint of many exhibitors that the projector is noisy.

Consequently men who would absent themselves can be observed at close range without experiencing any discomfort to the eyes.

LINCOLN'S WALKS PRODUCTIVE OF NOTED SPEECHES

Evidence of Emancipator's Methods of Perpetuating Thoughts in Solitude Is Found in His Papers.

CHICAGO, Oct. 21, (UPI)—Burkes upon his deathbed, Lincoln's papers, now safe in the possession of the Library of Congress, show that Abraham Lincoln, though confined to his bed, was not idle, as he walked and thought.

To visualize Lincoln's scribbled thoughts on envelopes or his daily walkings in Washington was the privilege of his biographer, William E. Borland, who went to the library to copy letters and papers to the death of Robert T. Lincoln, removed them from further "personal" to twenty years. They show Lincoln's method of developing, at his leisure, some of the best famous addresses—rephrased and rewritten sometimes fully and twice, until they became finished gems of rhetoric.

Put Ideas on Envelopes.

A scene is reconstructed. It shows Lincoln shopping in his walk to reach the library for the latest news of the war.

He sits in his carriage, thinking, and finds a number of envelopes, which he writes his ideas on. Then he carries his ideas to the post office. Postmen would use it, a second idea noted.

Back at his desk, he would take a pen and fountain pen, trim the envelope, and paste that clipping at the top of the document. Henceforth that clipping is marked "mine one." Under it, a short while later, would be another idea developed, then a third sheet and perhaps a fourth and fifth, bearing revisions. Some sheets have no revisions at all.

Changed Inaugural Speech. Hundreds of feuilleton notes, with such pieces of envelope for headings, are Lincoln's papers. Finally, do the last two drafts of the final paragraph of his second inaugural address are cited, they show "foreverly—the working of his mind, the careful development of his thoughts."

"I am but just to show," the last draft reads, "we are not enemies, but friends. We must not forget this." Though passions may have strayed, it is clear that Lincoln's methods of working from every battlefield and patriotic grave to every living heart and patriot heart all over the broad land, will yet swell the chorus of the Union. This is Lincoln's method, as surely as they will be the better angels of our nature."

Childhood Lack Of Play Makes Prison Denizens

ATLANTIC CITY, Oct. 21, (UPI)

Atlantic City children make up the principal part of the prison population, said Dr. Charles Platz of New York, president of the National Probation Association.

The tragic shorts of memory, stretching from every battlefield and patriotic grave to every living heart and patriot heart all over the broad land, will yet swell the chorus of the Union. This is Lincoln's method, as surely as they will be the better angels of our nature."

As It曾 First.

That evidently was not, Lincoln's idea. It was the last revision, one that has a place in the various volumes of the world's best press. "We have this revision he had written it all over again."

It else. We are not, we have not, heroes or enemies, but fellow citizens, trying to understand that which will make them more than they will ever be.

The mystic schools which preceded so many battlefield and patriotic graves pass through the hands of Robert T. Lincoln, removed them, and placed them in the most popular of our histories.

They show Lincoln's method of developing, at his leisure, some of the best famous addresses—rephrased and rewritten sometimes fully and twice, until they became finished gems of rhetoric.

The privy council, however, feeling that legal redress should be given such persons who might wish it, has adopted the method of offering the services of such individuals.

Under the rating system, military law would be tried by special judges appointed by the imperial general court martial under the direction of the chief of staff.

Military law does not apply to members of the family, but the latter would not be required personally to attend trials, but need only be represented by their attorneys. The regulations also provide that no prince or princess may be summoned before a police court.

WOMEN TO HOLD SECOND ANTI-WAR CONFERENCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18, (UPI)

Second conference of the International Federation of Women's Organizations, in December, will be held here early next month when delegates from numerous women's organizations will participate in the discussions.

"We have, now, after two years of war, seen how the men who were taught to bear arms have come out of the ranks of war," said Mrs. Pauline Chapman Cutts, chairman of the committee which has been directing the continuation work of the first conference.

"The schools do not do this, since they give facts rather than principles. Principals have failed as a preventive. Laws have no deterrent effect upon children, but will increase juvenile delinquency."

"The remedy is well directed play which is much a community duty as a well-directed school."

The organizations included are the International Federation of Women's Organizations, Young Women's Christian Temperance Union, Council of Women for Home Missions, and Federation of Women's Bands of Foreign Missions of North America.

PLUS FOUND ARE NOT POPULAR WITH FRENCH

PARIS, Oct. 18, (UPI)

Frenchmen, in Paris, are not fond of American plus fours. They seldom wear them on the golf course, and hardly ever on the streets of Paris.

Consequently, men who consider plus fours a plus, are apt to be instantly spotted as Englishmen or Americans, although American tourists are much less given to wearing sport clothes when traveling than Englishmen.

WOMAN NOMINEE OUTLINES VIEWS ON LAW MAKING

Mrs. Mary George Gray, Candidate for Congress, One of Three Feminine Aspirants for Office to Address Meeting.

Dedication of new state and lower staff legislation was delivered by Mrs. Mary George Gray of Hailey, democratic candidate for congress, before an audience of 100 members and friends of the Women's Democratic club at the Methodist church evening of the Baptist bungalow.

Although Mrs. Gray did not offer any plan of relief for the farmer, she said that parity would be the one who could help the industry that today is the backbone of the nation. Congress has voted millions for the relief of railroads, but has failed in its task to help the farmer. She also repeated the type of the house bill No. 77, and advocated a tariff that would be "fair to all industries."

Mrs. Gray, who is a member of the house, was attending the seventeenth session of the Idaho legislature.

Mrs. Sarah Huntley, Panhandle, a Caldwell, democratic nominee for secretary of state who from 1914 to 1915 was a member of the Idaho legislature, county, advanced equal compensation for like servitors, whether performed by men or women, and outlined her public experience upon which she based her belief that she was capable of assuming the duties of secretary of state.

Quotations Classics

Miss Gertrude Walter of Pifer, candidate on the democratic ticket for state superintendent of public instruction, delivered an address that urged that the right of parity must be treated principally with a plan for equal opportunity for all children to obtain an education.

Mr. W. M. Clegg, a Twin Falls democrat candidate for state senator, was the first speaker of the evening, and outlined the status issue, in addition to advocating a state highway, the funding of the principles of parity.

Mrs. W. F. Pike, chairman of the women's organization, Music, furnished the women's quartet of the Idaho River Methodist church, conducted by Miss Nannie Anderson, and Miss Florence Jackey, were interspersed between the various addresses. Six of the local democratic candidates were introduced by the chairman.

Mrs. Gray and Mrs. Pemberton arrived about an hour late, after a hectic trip from Pocatello, where they attended scenes of the Rehebuk legal annual conference.

ENGINEER TELLS PLAN TO FINANCE ROAD WORK

JEROME, Oct. 21.—A. N. Ashlin, district highway engineer, located at Shoshone, addressed the Jerome Rotary club on its regular session here Tuesday in regard to the construction of the highway between Wendell and Jerome, for which H. W. Gerecht of the state highway department recently left the county.

It is understood that the Wendell highway district at the present time has not sufficient funds to complete the building of the road over the entire stretch from Jerome, all of which is in completed condition, excepting by that approximately one mile of the road will remain unpaved after the funds now available for the work have been expended. The club has asked the state legislature to investigate the possibility of securing additional funds in Jerome county to complete the improvement.

The Rotary club appointed a committee to meet with the Jerome county board of commissioners in regard to the matter.

FALSE FIRE-ALARM GIVEN

Firemen were summoned to the W. Montooth home at 1120 Fourth avenue east, Thursday night at 11:15 p. m., when it was discovered that the fire station had an operator at the local telephone exchange, who had been requested by some one, who failed to give his name, to notify the department to proceed to the place on Fourth avenue east.

Babson Calls Installment Plan Business Stimulant; Dangerous When Overdone

HARPSFORD, Mass., Oct. 21.—(Special to The News)—In view of the violent discussions which took place at the recent national business conference, the Babson Corporation was today asked for a definite statement on the installment business. In connection therewith the following questions were made and Babson has been asked to furnish an answer:

Is the effect of the installment plan on general business? Can the installment business bring about a business depression? What are the objections to the installment business?

Installments Help Business

"Without doubt the general business situation in country has improved the last two years. Businesses have greatly helped by installment selling. Installment selling has made possible a great many new businesses and families who have been unable to receive open account credit are now able to engage in installment credit. This installment credit has been as much of a financial relief to the consumer as it is to the manufacturer or distributor trade. Although the statistics on installment selling do not indicate a large figure, yet it must be remembered that no increase or decrease of net retail credit is determined by business."

"Our national trade when at its highest figure amounts to only about 7 per cent of the total of business of the country, while the all-wages places less than 15 per cent of all wage workers are out of employment. New York consumes 100 articles of pottery a day, a part of five cans will end up in a piece of furniture. The price of furniture has been going down the price of all the earth. Installment selling has single handedly kept up the market. It has had a tremendous effect on the market, so much so that it seems to me it has done a great benefit thus far to business as a whole. Installment selling has 'put business' over the past few years."

What Statistics Show

"In 1923, total sales in 1923 total sales of installment sales, and which about $200,000,000 consisted of installment sales. Of the $300,000,000, $25,000,000 was advanced on 25 per cent paid down. Although the figures show the installment business to be less than 10 per cent of the total business, the injection of the $300,000,000 has had a tremendous effect on spending up all retail sales. It has been a tremendous stimulus to industry, which would have been easily missed otherwise."

"However, it must be remembered that a stimulus always weakens a stimulant, and in order to have a stimulus it must be served in constantly increasing doses. This especially applies to the installment business, because the greater the amount of installment business the greater will be the stimulus to be used in paying off previous debts. This is available for new purchases. Retail sales, unfortunately, quickly adjust themselves to the stimulus, and are the same as any person keeping an account in the use of a drug. The means for the installment business to benefit general business is the fact that it is a stimulus to all retail sales. One must increase the doses of a drug in order to enjoy its continued effect."

Business Depression

"I am sorry that installment selling has developed so generally. I feel that it is dangerous, and could result with a very bad ending. On the other hand, it must be generally recognized that it would be a very bad thing for the business situation if it were discontinued purchasing still continues. And business has adjusted itself to the stimulus, and is apt to come round. Therefore, though I am sorry that the installment business has started, I would be the last one to stop it at this time."

With a smile, Babson added:

"If the above is the case, then the question immediately arises, what objection have buyers and others to installing buying? The objection is as follows:—In the first place, the only debtors were a small group of manufacturers and merchants who came overextended. This was probably less than 5 per cent of the business."

Then Babson turned to the question of depressions. "There are three types of depressions: depressions only through unemployment. These previous depressions have aroused no strong feeling of antagonism by the selling areas of prosperity from the masses. Today, under

COLLECT MORE THAN 70 SONGS HONORING MARTYR

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 21. (AP)—Hundreds arising after the strange and sudden return of a soldier-making too much of the time of the king of Washington Island.

Washington Island, a small island in the middle of the Pacific ocean near Honolulu, is inhabited by a hundred thousand blacks, imported by a British company from the Gilbert Islands to work seasonal plantations.

There are two. One Harry H. Glavin, the "king," and manager. The other is a blacksmith, the "prime minister."

After passing through Europe for a year, he returned to his home after a three-year reign as king.

Wife leading is the wavy way of combatting matrimonial ennui, says Glavin. When he and his wife had a friend to a friend for a time, he concluded it was necessary, however. Often the friend is a young bachelor who has become fond of the family.

Thousands of rare books have occurred since the returning soldier's return, and public meetings are being held on international topics.

BRITISH AUTHORS ALSO KICK AT FILM VERSIONS

LONDON.—British writers do not like the film versions of their stories any better than many Americans do. The British Film Association, which controls "London," which the British National Film Company is now buying, is chafing under the liberties taken with its original works.

A recently called "The Pilgrim's March" and here we remonstrate to what is being offered," he declared.

"This film is a rather a romance of May and June, I never even saw a scene of that month in my life, nor a summer at all. I never say a foot of this film when it was being made and was amazed when I read there was a Lincolnshire scene in it."

"I never heard of such a chance. There is no literary version of the story, so I suppose the public will always think I am responsible for the film version."

EXCHANGE OF PICTURE STARS IS MUTUAL AID

NEW YORK, Oct. 21 (UPI)—Large motion picture companies are interchanging players, thus indicating a measure of mutual aid to each other to meet the high costs for individual pictures.

Within a short time, for instance, Paramount has "borrowed" Mary Pickford, Lydia de Putti, Charles Rogers, and others from other studios.

Picture companies, casting a film will discover that the player best suited to play a certain role is at present working elsewhere than in the studio, that they are unable to make a good picture.

IMPERIAL WIVES SEEM HAPPY IN ONE HOUSEHOLD

Question of Social Precedence of Chinese Emperor's
Consorts Causes Difficulty Only at Functions.

TIENTSIN, Oct. 21 (UPI)—Two wives in the royal household of China's emperor, who apparently without settling the question, the son of the late Emperor Taung, the youthful emperor without an empire, is spending here in exile.

His household is said to be a happy one, with the two women living together in comfort. The fact that he has two concubines, both among the most beautiful women to be found in the length and breadth of this vast country.

Differ in Rank.

Huan Tung married Princess Ku-Chin-Sui on December 1, 1922, who became the empress. On December 4 in the same year, he married a second wife, "she was described as his 'real love,'" and made her his "second consort."

The empress is the most beautiful. She is the favorite of her courtly suit and of the tribute that always have been paid to it in court ceremonial.

She rules as first wife always have done in China, and her husband does much of what gets too抽象了. She is clever and witty and a most delightful companion.

The married ladies who attend any court functions, such as the annual festival at the emperor's residence will follow the rule which requires that they shall all look alike in height and that their skirts shall be neither longer nor shorter than four feet two inches.

Strict Etiquette Needed.

There are difficulties some hints where the descendants of the illustrious Chen Lung accepts invitations to foreign social functions. A problem arises when the emperor and empress and their two consorts are invited to the forecourt dinner to the emperor's foreign tutor. Men are not allowed to touch even the head of the empress. Still less to the second wife, for it would be considered indecent to sit side-by-side with a foreign lady on one side and the emperor on the other, and all was well.

The annual ball of the George Society, the Chinese nobility and great social events of the year among foreigners. The English society, invited the emperor, and he appeared, not only with the empress but his number two consort, making quite a party. The empress, however, did not go to the ball, involving Manchu royalty, the British general and his wife and the president of the society and his wife. It was easily solved by the remedy of all being in separate rooms. The reason that the society's president was a bachelor did not detract from the plenitude, gaiety and dignity of the official procession.

Government Maps Show Significance to Idaho of American Falls Reservoir District No. 2. Project.

GOODING, Oct. 21.—First official government maps of the American Falls reservoir district, "No. 2," of the Snake River basin, referred to in the district have been received by D. H. Sutphen, secretary of the board. They give additional proof of the great importance and significance to south central Idaho of the completion of the project to divert water from Snake river.

In order to get a comprehensive idea of the plan, Secretary Sutphen has referred them to the irrigation district, with reference to the section lines, and has made one color for the West Wood Canal company lands, another for the so-called "dry lands" and a third for the lands now without water, and a map of irrigation by the proposed Miller-Shoshone canal.

Most in Jerome County

This map shows that the new land in Jerome county, a considerable lesser amount in Lincoln county and the smallest portion in Gooding county, the latter, however, has more land than either of the other two districts than either of the other two counties. Most of the new land is clearly shown to lie along almost the entire length of the Snake river channel and Hazards to Shoshone.

Should all of this new land that is good for farming be brought under cultivation, the map clearly indicates that the impact of highway from Shoshone to Hazards would not be advisable, but practically an imperative necessity. Regarding this new land, the engineers and surveyors report that much of it is excellent farmland.
