

TO TERMINATE UNEQUAL PACTS

Chinese Representative at League of Nations Makes Announcement on Treaties.

GENEVA, Dec. 4 (AP)—China has declined to accept the League's proposal to submit its unequal treaties to arbitration, Chia Chien, Chinese representative at the League of nations announced today in a statement on Chiang's recent demission of the State Council of China.

The statement says that China will refuse to submit to the world court the question of interpretation of the treaty, since it considers the controversy political rather than judicial.

China's position is that the case is a legal one only, the statement declares.

Sixteen powers have treaty rights in China, including Britain, France, Italy, Austria, Poland, Russia, France, Great Britain, Italy, Japan, Mexico, the Netherlands, Norway, Peru, Portugal, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland and the United States.

Action Postponed

Implementation of its month-long strike by the Peking government of the Sino-Belgian treaty was the first cancellation by China of one of its series of treaties which have been living in suspense since the signing of the Sino-Belgian convention terminating treaties as their terms expired. Today's statement by Chia Chien, however, is the first official word indicating that the strike will not be resumed.

The Sino-Belgian strike was commenced after Belgium had refused negotiation of a new treaty based on the "quality and reciprocity" and had proposed reference of the question to the world court.

On November 16, it was stated that the Belgian government would soon submit the Sino-Belgian treaty, controversial to the world, to the International Court of Justice at The Hague, having formally declined to submit it jointly.

NO CONFERENCE FOR BIG FOUR

Belgian Statesman Asserts Parley of European Leaders Never Was Contemplated.

TOKIO, Dec. 4 (AP)—The much talked of conference of European leaders, with Premier Mussolini of Italy sitting in with M. Briand, Sir Austen Chamberlain and Gustav Stresemann, the foreign ministers of France, Great Britain and Germany respectively, has apparently come to nothing, if indeed it was ever contemplated.

M. Vandervelde, the Belgian statesman, disposed of his matter by asserting this afternoon that there was no thought of such a conference. He and M. Briand, however, discussed nearly everything coming before the league of nations council, over which M. Vandervelde will preside.

Plan Informal Discussion

Stresemann, according to Mr. Stresemann and M. Briand, are expected to have an important conference, although officially no such conference is planned; it is taken for granted that these three nations are likely to talk things over informally. They will, however, meet by chance, if there is occasion to do so, and are arranged affair.

M. Briand is understood to have operations in view, a conference of the three to discuss ways to other interested in German problem, particularly Belgian. Whatever may be our allies ought to have their ideas pretty well digested, in regard to what can be done for M. Briand, Sir Austen Chamberlain and M. Zaleski, the Polish foreign minister mulled over things yesterday and today, and the two of them, together with M. Briand, were due to meet again tonight for Geneva discussion, and Italy may know by this time what these three think, for the British foreign secretary and the German and Italian ambassadors are to be present.

Vandervelde said that a good part of today's talk with M. Briand was devoted to the Chinese situation concerning which the French and Belgians are particularly interested, and the Belgians particularly interested in Chinese affairs because the Sino-Belgian convention was denounced by the Peking government which apparently is trying to make a deal with the Chinese to establish a precedent for denouncing foreign governments when they come up for review.

POINTER BIRD DOG CARES FOR YOUNG TURKEY BROOD

LAUREL, Wash., Dec. 4 (AP)—A mother bird, now in her nest, is mothering a flock of ten young turkeys.

Motherly care to the dog and a turkey may seem unusual, but the 11 puppies were dropped. Their indignant mother chased the turkey hen away and took over the care of her brood.

When discovered, the old dog had already taken the tiny birds and devoured them. Then the dog, after she had fed the ten between her front paws, was given blue ink bath, affectionately licking the birdie's head, making a lullaby to his brood and sister.

The turkey mother was nursing nearly, barking very much annoyed.

NOTRE DAME IS CONQUEROR OF MIGHTY TROJAN

Southern California Loses First Intersectional Contest in Five Years When South Bend
ers Win, 13 to 12.

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4.—Sped on the blades, head down, with the plane, the footballers of Notre Dame, in a last-ditch, last-ditching strategy gave the Notre Dame football team a 13 to 12 victory over Southern California here today.

They lost the first of the five-intersectional contests to the Trojans because there was no time to play the second, and so swing one in the big game that could kick the extra goal point after touchdowns.

Trojan Speeds Own Downfall

Notre Dame failed to take this one but made up on its other five and thus long trod the same path as its unstruck Trojan bunch in an attempt to knock the kick, worked with reverse English and stepped the piggies just enough to make them pay off.

The South Bend, Indiana, team came to Troy's kick yard snarling under a defeat at the hands of Carnegie Tech last week. It had led from the start with a 14 to 0 victory but the mechanical champion tacked away neatly in the hip pocket of its own field-sink pants.

With the exception of the last four minutes, when the battle was a grim scrabble between two evenly matched football machines keyed up to near perfect playing pitch. There was one fumble, that by Headcoach of Notre Dame, who resented its effect on running back.

Parsons Turns Trick

But the last four minutes, with two light darkening and Parsons' generalship functioning on high, brought the South Benders to the top of their form. In the brief period of a minute Southwestern California went down before a numerically superior football aggregation.

Hickie had pulled his last trick, back to the back, but he went out of the game in the third period after a hard tackle out of bounds by R. Smith.

Score by periods: — 1—1; 2—6—6; 3—6—6; 4—6—6.

Notre Dame scoring: Toneland-Biley, Edwards (goal for Maynor), Points, two try after touchdown—O'Boyle, Williams (two for Karp).

Officials: Referee, Brehm; Enthuse; umpire, McCord; Illinois head, Resnick; Wyatt, Missouri; field judge, Braden; Chicago. Time of periods, 15 minutes each.

Local Man to Take Charge of Bengal Squads Beginning December 6; Had No Part in Championship Football Game.

(Special To The News)

LEWISTON, Dec. 4.—Syb Kleffner, former Idaho star back, has signed to coach both fall, regular, Idaho Bengal squads, beginning December 6; had no part in championship football game.

When Brown resigned as the middle of the football season, to take effect at the end of the football year, he took his entire coaching staff, the last, Lewiston school board sought a man from the Idaho athletic department. Kleffner was named to Lewiston for the remaining three weeks, and with a contract to finish, then announced.

Kleffner accompanied the Bengal squad to Los Angeles and Olympia, and took in the Army-Navy game at Chicago, and returned to Missoula a few days ago.

The report that he had helped coach the Lewiston team to this point this year is false, he will be assisted by his basketball coach, MacMillan of the University of Idaho, and Coach Plastino of the Twin Falls team.

The new Bengal team is deeply worried that Brown is leaving them after having, in 1928, produced for the school state basketball and state football championships.

FIGHT DECISION GETS BACKING

Illinois Commission Upholds Benny Yanger, Arbitrator of Walker-Flowers Battle.

CHICAGO, Dec. 4 (UPI)— The Illinois state athletic commission today backed up the decision of Benny Yanger, chairman of the Illinois commission, last night which resulted in the naming of Tiger Flowers, the Georgia deacon, and the re-naming of Mickey Walker to the midweightweight throne. The midweight champion, Walker, was ousted by a majority of the 105 spectators and criticized today by five Chicago newspapers.

John Highcomer, chairman of the commission, accepted the judgment of Yanger that his decision was strictly honorable. Furthermore, Chairman Highcomer let it be known, in no uncertain words, that he personally favored the midweight's decision as an unquestionably honest verdict, but, perhaps, one of poor judgment.

In Yanger's statement of reasons for awarding the decision to Walker, these points stood out:

Flowers refused and waited upon referee after a warning before the start of the fight to hit with the closed fist.

Flowers sought to claim a foul in the first round but the bout fought viciously when Yanger refused to recognize a foul; that Flowers' attempt to claim a foul was unpardonable.

Flowers opened the gash over Walker's right eye by a butt, and then, by "flicking" with the open left glove, reopened the wound in his successive round.

Flowers was guilty of using his left glove, as Walker also did, but the official did not count in the scoring of points.

The Walker scored a clear knock-down, displayed aggressive tactics and was doing all the clean hitting.

Flowers was guilty of striking the thumbs of his gloves in Walker's eye.

GIRLS TO OPEN INDOOR SEASON

Basketball in Twin Falls to Get Under Way Monday With Start of Interclass Games.

The first stir in basketball circles comes Monday night, when the Twin Falls Girls' team will stage the beginning of an interclass basketball season at the high school gymnasium. Monday and the districts will play for the championship Tuesday night. A small admission will be charged and judging from the interest displayed by the crowds, a large number of whom will be on hand, will be ample to capacity.

Well leaders have been chosen by each class and the roosting will be decided if not organized.

The girls have been practicing on the gymnasium courts since Saturday, after having been defeated in the first game by the school girls' team and so far have not been able to point toward the senior as possible champs. The game seems to lie between the two upper classes, with the Freshman a possible dark horse.

False Report

The report that he had helped coach the Lewiston team at the start of this year is false, he will be assisted by his basketball coach, MacMillan of the University of Idaho, and Coach Plastino of the Twin Falls team.

The freshies are deeply worried that Brown is leaving them after having, in 1928, produced for the school state basketball and state football championships.

PLASTINO'S BRUINS CLOSE HARD GRID SEASON; WIN ALL BUT TWO

With the decisive defeat of the Bruins at Lewiston Friday the Bruins closed out their many month-long struggle with mediocre material at best, the Bruins swept through the season, playing hard games from the start, and ending with a victory in all but the last game in many games.

Wells and Stinson were, without doubt, the two best ends the Bruins had for many-a-moon—Durrell and Verner, tandem boshed exceptional leaders in stopping the ball, the guards, Lewis and Williams, both fast, earned the reputation of hard chargers.

Anderson Is Star

At credit Clark Anderson was in a bind by himself—not a bad one all season. Never did he chance his team a fumble or a loss of yardage by a bad pass. Once, Anderson, Williams, Lester, Stinson, Berg, Owens, Sullivan and Robertson will all best to the Bruins' star, but Clark is the trip month will also graduate.

The Bruins were without an outstanding player the whole season, Owens and Plastino developed toward the end of the year.

And before the maters are put away in moth balls for the winter, nothing much can be made of the second string.

More than three teams were out all season. Many of the clubs worked night after night, knowing that nothing short of a miracle could earn them a chance to get into a game. Yet both those bids met with success, and the results were as follows:

"Among the outstanding second string men were Berg, Braids, the two Kepons, Hollie Martin and John Maxwell."

Sullivan was perhaps the best back in the league but he was not used to play him in all games.

Rovers' Scores Kayo

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4 (UPI)—Eddie Roberts, sensational waterboy of the Legion, Washington, passed himself into the championship class today when he defeated the Legion's Eddie Zambach over Dundee, Baltimore, in a schools record 100 yards in the first round of a schoolboy football meet.

As far as the district is concerned, in coed basketball all signs and dope points toward Bull again as district champion. Coach Harrelson has his squad in great shape with the help of his year's fresh batch he has a good start upon which to build. Dorothy Metz, the star forward of the district last year, is playing her last year and with her, too, is a star of action. The next meet and crowds are assured of a powerful competition.

No conference games will be played in the district until after the holidays, but some practice games may be arranged by the various schools.

FILM SHARPSHOOTER POPULAR IN ALASKA

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, Dec. 4 (UPI)—"Gruelling and trips and traps," was the description of the football season by the coaches of the University of Idaho, the players of the team and the spectators who attended.

The footballs last year, incidentally, were the best ever seen in the region since 1919. The best record in the history of footballs in the United States last year was set by the University of Idaho, which beat out all others by 100 points over Mickey Walker, former weight-weight champion, and a host of other sterling performances. The fight was won by a score of 34 to 26.

On Friday morning, before the game with the University of Southern California, on Saturday afternoon, Carl Erbs, All-American and Nels Nielson, the football manager, were present to see the playing field prepared for the game. The stadium was given a thorough cleaning, the lights were turned on, and the grounds were scrubbed and leveled.

On Saturday morning, before the game was started, the players were entertained at a luncheon by the University of Idaho club.

Training rules were temporarily suspended for this occasion. More than 70 former Indians were present.

"On a recent trip the mouse was so thick that one could make selections of almost any kind of picture desired, says W. F. Johnson, manager of the Lumière film studio, depicting the morning's entertainment to the visiting spectators. The visitors were a great crowd, including the band, the guard, the band, the band and the band.

On Sunday morning, the players were entertained at a luncheon by the University of Idaho club.

Training rules were temporarily suspended for this occasion. More than 70 former Indians were present.

Word of an important strike of silver and gold bearing ore is the in Vulcan Silver Mining company's property, 23 miles east of Contact, Nevada, has been made public in Twin Falls by the Willard foremen of the mine, of development work in progress on the Vulcan company's property.

Assay of the samples brought in by Mr. Willard has not been completed but samples indicate that values in silver are as great as any taken out of the property, which carry $500 to $1000 per ton.

Frogs gold in considerable quantity was found in the lead found lying against the footwall. Mining men here have pointed out some of the gold and the results of the assay are awaited with keen interest.

Anderson, of Twin Falls, principal owner of the company, is enthusiastic over the strike. "If the vein is as valuable as we now think probably," Mr. Anderson said last evening, "the Anderson will be the greatest mining project in the history of Twin Falls."

Three Feet Wide

The vein from which the samples were taken is two feet wide as the Vulcan company's No. 2. It was encountered in a tunnel that has been driven into the mountain side some 150 feet. It is reported to be three feet wide with perfect footwall and hanging wall.

Discovery of gold comes as a welcome surprise to the owners and operators, since no gold has been found before in the district, except in that portion of the mountains, a mile below the Vulcan company's property.

The company is preparing to drive another tunnel at a lower level to further explore the vein.

Two tunnels and a shaft already have been constructed in the course of development operations on the property. The shaft, sunk high on the hillside, extends under work extending over a period of seven months has been expended on it.

Congress Faces IMPOSSIBLE TASK AT NEXT SESSION

Annual Appropriation Bills, Rivers and Harbors Measure and Possible Action on Tax Rebate; Hold Priority.

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Congress faces an impossible task in meeting its program of tax reduction. Leaders will call themselves lucky if they can get through the temporary tax reduction bill, the rivers and harbors measure, and the dozen several appropriation bills necessary for the conduct of government affairs during the next fiscal year.

Under its strongest rules, the house probably will have little difficulty in concluding its regular session before Dec. 12, and the Senate will come into the same delicate state when the time comes.

Billboard Room.
Ever the supply bill is likely to find the going slow in the Senate, as they were unable to get through either of the leaders' now-disputed tax-cut bills. Some of them no doubt will fall if proponents of farm legislation insist on a special session of the twentieth Congress to consider that vexing problem.

With sentiment as to how the taxpayers shall be given the benefit of the treasury surplus already decided, and with the measure of farm legislation's reduction proposed will take up much time in both houses and may well be used as a vehicle to delay action on a number of other matters.

The remaining bills, of course, will be fought on the Senate floor with the usual reverberations in the chamber. Their forces augmented by recent pronouncements of the leaders, the Senate will make every effort to take advantage of every parliamentary situation, rule and procedure to block the administration's measure designed to make the Valdosta more drastic.

Pins and Needles Bill.

The administration will for the length of the Meade-Scholes bill furnish the ammunition for determined fight in both branches of congress with little prospect of passing for final action. It will be left up to the gauntlet of war on March 4, ending the legislative half of the sixtieth congress.

The Lusitania treaty is established diplomatically, but the Senate, including Turkey, is not shown for signature. Turkey is still shown for signature on March 4, ending the legislative half of the sixtieth congress.

Since it will be taken up on December 13, under a special order, the Senate and leaders will pass by the house at the last session, should be put through the regular channels of the legislative body. However, opponents of certain provisions hope so had the measure down with objectionable amendments that it will receive no support of that committee.

Raft of Other Bills.

Besides those five major subjects, there is a raft of other important legislation, either an calendar or in conference. It includes:

Ballot legislation proposing constitutional changes, and the cost of the surcharge on paper and chewing our accommodations.

The four billion dollar French debt settlement.

Liquor立法.

The bill for construction of a great dam and irrigation project on the Colorado river.

Measures to carry out winds of the plan of a general federal reorganization and the return of alien property.

The McFadden branch banking bill.

The trust bill.

A measure to prohibit foreign-made tires at American ports of entry.

A bill to prevent the sale of cotton and grain in Chinese markets.

An act providing for development and protection of all rights of grazing facilities on public lands.

An act creating separate bureaus of production and sales in the treasury and post offices of the national field agents under the chief postmaster general.

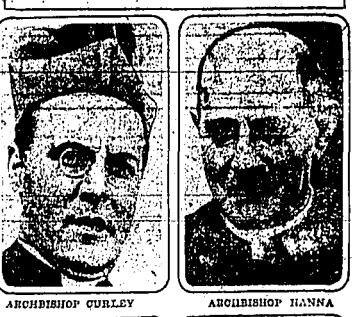

The French speechless claims.

Regulation of interstate and foreign commerce in coal with a view to bring about greater efficiency in cases of emergency.

So far as the Senate is concerned, there will be demands for a number of investigations, some of which very likely will be neither ended. Resulting proposed tax legislation is pending and a

Match Has Long Trip From Tree To Vest Pocket

WAHLBRECHT, Ohio, Dec. 4 (UPI)—One of the matches in a simple vest easily compared with but not so grandiose as the story of the making of the good silver in innumerable tips. The match starts its journey to sommonly its vest pocket in a towering pine tree, from which it descends to the ground, is sent to the manufacturer, Pabst, railroads, and seafarers are owned by the match companies, which have great factories here.

Taber Cut 2-Inch Planks

One company uses a great forest of timber, the other, the American Match Company, 24 miles long, takes the logs to the main line of the Spokane International railroad, which leads them to Coeur d'Alene lake, where they are floated across, and thence to the company's sawmill on the Spokane river.

The logs are saved into two-inch planks and seasoned for a year or 18 months. When ready for use, they are cut into squares and split into sticks. Selected slender trees are cut into blocks 2x3x-inches long, which is the exact length of a match. The blocks are sent to the factory, where they are dried.

The manufacturing shop is to feel the blocks into a match machine, which cuts them up and forces the sticks into holes in an iron plate, holding 360 sticks. It takes an hour to produce 150,000 matches each day.

The use of phosphorus as an active ingredient in match making was bared by Congress in 1913. The poisonous phosphorus used to affect the hands of the mass of workers, though a substitute of phosphorus now is used, which is non-poisonous.

ITALIAN SCIENTIST FIRST WITH CHEMICAL

URDANA, Ill., Dec. 4 (AP)—The new chemical element 93, named Illinois, discovered by three University of Illinois professors last spring, was found two years ago by Dr. Luigi Rolla, of the chemical institute of Florence, Italy, but he failed to announce it.

Dr. Rolla's discovery was accepted by the congress of scientists which met at Bolgona, Italy. He named his discovery Illinois in honor of the city where he studied.

Dr. Rolla now has agreed to relinquish his claim to Illinois, and instead, Dr. Joseph Shobetz, of Urbana, has accepted it.

A convention of the international union of pure and applied chemists at Washington university recently reached an agreement to give Dr. Rolla credit for his work independently, each aware of the other's investigation.

BUTHVEN TWINS PLAY AT WORK

Well-Known English Society
Girls Have Great Fun Acting
Part of Mannequins.

LONDON, Dec. 4 (AP)—Walking in town, one in the morning and the other in the afternoon, the Honorable Margaret and Honorable Alisonne Buthven, twin daughters of Lord Buthven, are acting in society mannequins by day.

The twins are well known, so they, and are as much alike that even their own friends hardly know them apart. They dress exactly alike, even down to the minutest detail, the "Buthven Twins" have a good deal of fun.

The store authorities do not know which one works in the morning and which in the afternoon, nor do they know who controls the girls. However, as the young women are quite efficient and prove ideal figures for showing off modern gowns.

The new register of voters in the published sheet will show a further increase of 32,000 in the number of women voters. This will bring their total to about 10,000,000, as against 13,000,000 men voters.

The National Party has made plans to "cavort" this interest number of women voters through women workers and workers. These will be enclaved in a special series of political meetings, which will be held throughout the country. The meetings will include such subjects as empire development, socialism, trade unionism, communism and the British constitution.

Queen Mary is taking nothing for granted in her inspection of the new London home. After making a tour of inspection of Marlborough house, "to see that everything was just right," she announced her complete satisfaction. The princess does not plan to move into her new residence until after the first of the year. The entire lighting system is being remedied.

Prince Olaf of Norway, who has been visiting his mother, is one of the most intrepid yachtsmen among the members of the royal family. Prince Olaf's boat "Oda" is nearly all of a racing boat, with a top deck of a Norwegian trap steamer and two men overboard at the mouth of the Medina river. Prince Olaf personally supervised the steaming of the mast and rigging and even took a paint brush and helped his crew paint the hull.

Vivacious Vicountess Astor, who is never at a loss for a retort with a kick in her, has been solemnly taken to task by Princess Mary for riding over a redoubt in the House of Commons. The very astute-laborer Mrs. Astor, who had previously told the "titled lady" to "hold her tongue" and "not to imagine she was dealing with her horses at Newmarket,"

"Lady Astor, in the course of an argument has accused a member of not having been in the army during the war," according to the Evening Standard, said, "however we thought it was a point of honor among feminists not to use this title."

"Lady Astor," the paper continued, "had been previously engaged in a special program of other children's nurses. It is not so much that she is particularly disorderly herself, but she has a special knack of provoking disorder in others."

Feminists throughout England are eagerly approving the attitude taken by Mrs. E. R. Green, a woman magistrate of Colchester, who refused to leave the house where a case came up in a court which caused the presiding judge to order the court to be cleared.

C. P. Hutton, a fellow-magistrate, demanded that Mrs. Green too, should retire, but this she refused to do, whereupon Hutton himself left the bench in protest.

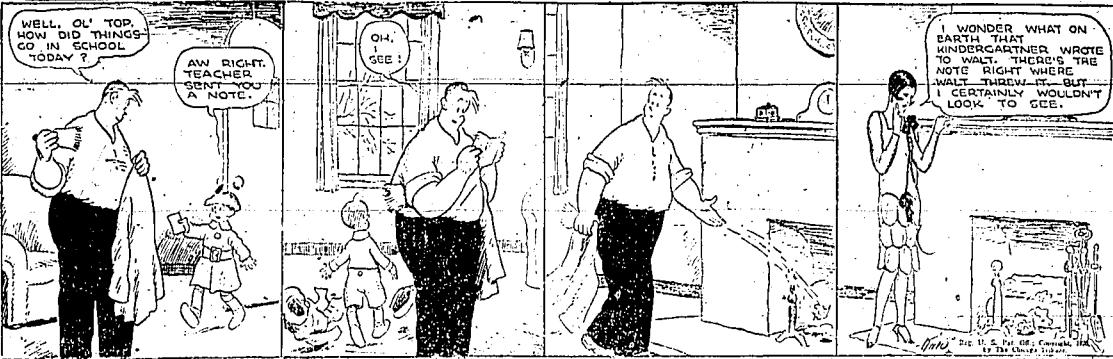

Whenever there is a woman in court she ought to be allowed to remain on the bench, he said. In the view of Miss Edith Borthen, one of the few women solicitors in London, and Miss Florence Underwood, secretary of the Women's Friends League, demands that cases concerning women should be entrusted to women as greatly as they do men, and since women magistrates are appointed to office on exactly the same terms as men, they should henceforth be given the same terms.

WHAT PRICE ANTI-AMERICANISM?

Les has been heard lately about anti-American demonstrations abroad. But though there may be few overt acts, the spirit endures. An American correspondent in Europe says there is a wave of anti-Americanism sweeping the world.

That hurts American feelings. It hurts American business. More may be heard hereafter of this latter effect.

European business men are taking shrewd advantage of the feeling against America to restore the waning popularity
of their own goods in competition
with our own.

In Germany, England, France, Italy
and elsewhere the correspondent finds virtual boycott campaign against America to restore the waning popularity
of their own goods in competition
with our own.

In Germany, England, France, Italy
and elsewhere the correspondent finds virtual boycott campaign against things made in America. It doesn't matter if they are the best articles of their kind in the world—automobiles, tires, victrolas, novelties, cosmetics,
or what not—the method is the same.
The public is urged strenuously to buy "British goods" or "Buy French goods" as patriotic duty. This is reinforced by the hostility felt toward America. And the business interests are said to be actively fomenting that hostility, to insure the preference for their own goods.

Thus the noticeable falling off in the foreign demand for American products is said to be about half due to popular feeling against America developing more or less naturally, and the other half due to artificially stirred up by business purposes.

It is going to take considerable effort and wise handling to overcome all this foreign dislike. But the effort must be made, alike to protect the good name of our country and to insure a continued market for American goods, insuring continued American prosperity,

SEEING AMERICA

Queen Marie, as she herself observed, before she came for home, has not "seen America" as she wished to do.
She has seen many thousands of miles of American landscape and millions of American people. She has seen our great cities and many of our smaller ones. She has seen art museums and churches and factories and office buildings and hotels and theaters. She has seen most automobiles than she knew there were in the world. She has seen rich men and women, social leaders, prolific leaders, business leaders. She has even seen some humble, ordinary folk, though mostly at a distance, in an impressive group. But

The Queen has not seen Americans in their homes, living their normal life, doing normal things in a normal way. She has not seen normal manners. She has not met typical Americans as they are.
She has not seen real American life as it is lived from day to day.

How could she? Royalty is necessary.
She left other folk, necessarily deformed, to, necessarily flattered and led, to, succumb to the heat-infection and kept from seeing people and things as they really are.

But even if the queen had come to America as an ordinary visitor once, how could she see us normally, and have known us intimately, in a flying trip? Most of us, who spend a lifetime here, do not know America and American thought we learn enough to amaze at this superficial knowledge of foreign totally.

This very fact should bring a sense of humility to the great mass of Americans who visit other lands. How many of our tourists realize "real" Europe, or any important part of it? How few are adequately forewarned now more than can just visitors understand ourself-

MONEY FOR INSTRUCTION

Yale's call for a large sum of money to be employed entirely in improving her instruction is greeted as a startling innovation in college fund campaigns.
New buildings, studios, physical equipment of all sorts, are the usual alructures offered by institutions of higher learning—in asking people to donate money to endowment funds.

The quality of instruction in Yale and elsewhere probably needs and deserves more attention and more money spent on it. As colleges and universities have felt the brush of increasing numbers of students, classes have grown large. Personal contact between pupils and teachers has almost vanished, fresh from their own college days, have stepped into collegiate teaching positions.

More teachers, better equipped in teaching with a special gift for research and others with a special gift for developing and inspiring their young pupils, are needed on the faculties of most colleges and universities. That of the older and larger universities should recognize and meet upon this need so frankly is a hopeful educational sign.

Charity Work Important In County's Activities

Pathos and Near-Fraud Disclosed in Investigations of Applications for Aid; Chance for Children Big Factor in Mothers' Pleas; State Laws Limit Administration of Relief Funds.

The biggest single charity institution in Twin Falls County is the county relief fund, which spent $35,350 for care of sick and indigent persons at the county hospital, and appropriate amounts for the Salvation Army, the Red Cross, the American Children's Home, Pending and Adoptive Children, for charity out of total county expenditures for all purposes in 1925.

Administrators of the county's capacities for relief of indigents last year was approximately double the expense for the county fair, and within $100 of the total expenditure for bond reduction.

Excess Charge?

Salary and expenses of the county physician whose employment is now discontinued upon the county "to attend the sick and infirm, and the aged, and disabled, both male and female, who may properly be included in the county's charity budget, while there is justification also for inclusion in the county's expense account under item 11, medical services of the county's general hospital which last year amounted to $7,663.38; this figure having arrived at by subtracting the amount of receipts from the total cost of operation, and charge for care of sick and indigent persons in the institution.

Law Govenor

Administrators of the county's welfare system are kept busy, but it is hedged about with legal restrictions which only define clearly the qualifications for obtaining county aid, and impose upon the county a financial obligation for persons who qualify for county aid.

State law requires that applicants for county aid must make written application to designated officers. This application is set forth in property, wherever situated, that is owned, wholly or in part by the applicant. If there is no property then the applicant must "demonstrate his indigency and destitution." This "demonstration" is commonly known as the "pauper's oath."

Patrons and Fraud

Searching investigation of all applications for county aid is enjoined by law upon designated officials, and in their investigations they are brought to light situations which are well in an occasional fraud or near-fraud.

In a surprising number of cases, applicants for county aid do not want to go through the process of doing this through an attorney, especially if they want an opportunity to earn their own way. There is no legal provision by which the entity can less its funds to help persons—the jobs of the county's officers are illusory.

Initiative Weakens

On the other hand, while instances of fraud are rare, because perhaps, at heavy penalty attached to making a false affidavit in support of application, many and numerous are individual instances and whole-hearted reliance on the county's bounty on the part of applicants for aid to warrant the expenditure of time and efforts entombed with administration of the charity fund to scrutinize closely each and every application for relief.

One member of the board a number of years ago stated that the administration of the charity fund was usually successful, made it a practice to reduce by at least one-half the expenditure applied for in each instance and then to make free distribution with repeated small contributions so that the applicant was never in distress, but

Remaining Expenses:

The county's pension for mothers during the past three months totalled $475, and was distributed among 26 mothers. The mothers' pension last year represented an outlay on the part of the county out of the charity fund in the sum of $12,410. Other expenditures for mothers were as follows: clothing and merchandise, $4,602.22; transportation, $2,330; house rent, $3,575.93; food, $1,092.12; nursing, $1,243.73; bills, grants, etc., $1,116.09; defense of judgment suits, $30.
