

SHOPPING TIRES ENGLISH RULER

King George Enjoys Christmas Season but Balks at Never-Ending Job of Selecting.

LONDON, Dec. 18.— King George gets us much "kick" out of Christmas, as any of his subjects, but he has tried to do without it, too. Queen Mary has taken on the difficult burden of having the king's gifts for relatives and friends and making most of the selection for him.

The king made but one shopping expedition this year. That was to a velvet bazaar. He purchased jingling bells for Princess Mary's ring, and a small gold bracelet for little Princess Elizabeth. Then he let it be known in the royal house that he had done his first and last shopping.

On the second the queen has been busier than usual this year. On several occasions she devoted an entire day buying Christmas remembrances which are to be given in the name of her husband and son.

Volunteer censors are working in London with official help in monitoring affairs. It is designed to aid the law chancery in keeping a watch on theaters, night clubs, films, picture postcards and books.

The censorship panel, mostly small, which includes leaders of every religious denomination and which is presided over by the Bishop of London, has been meeting to impress upon the law chancery, which is in charge of the city's official censor, and the London county council, the point that would result if the power of licensing were taken out of the local church.

The effort has not been successful.

So, after the old oil policy of Lord Curzon, who, in 1905, gave up his vote against granting a new theater license, he permits the council members to state their objections to certain plays.

Another piece of self-help in traffic understanding is proposed as a means of building subway extensions to ease the transportation problem. The plan calls for a committee with a capital of $100,000.

A report on the subject has been made by the London traffic advisory committee to the ministry of transport. The plan includes all the technical, financial and managerial and sales bar-holding systems. The proposed issue from demands for an extension of the Great Northern and Picadilly lines, which will be paid for by the public.

The committee takes the view that a case has been made in favor of this scheme, and in its final report it recommends that the ministry of transport grant a new theater license if the work being done makes a parking system for all the larger paving traffic services is devised. It is suggested that, after payment of operating costs, the money will be divided among the three "chain" lines would be used, and numerous new extensions made possible from time to time.

Spoken voices are to be tested by the national laboratory installed in the national laboratory of physical research, which is engaged in carrying out the trial of the most modern London in some of the nearly eight hundred of 45 experienced medics who specialize in producing the direct and indirect vision, and in making the apparatus more convenient to several of them to appear before the apparatus at various times.

The instrument was invented by Professor Harry Price, director of the national laboratory, and was designed to establish definitely whether alleged spirits of dead persons do actually speak from spirit. Price is contented by spiritism at some points. Price says his apparatus is absolutely fraud proof and will provide the most direct test ever arranged for any medium who will agree to an experiment.

PROMINENT PHYSICIAN IN ODD CELEBRATION

HORNELLA, N. Y., Dec. 18.— A prominent physician in Hornella, a lumbering center in Alfred, has declined to reveal details of the two divorce suits filed by James H. C. Brown, his wife, and Edward W. Bowring, his attorney, before the county court at Canfield, New York.

British Minister Moves to Peking To Begin Labors

700 TO ATTEND WEISER MEETING

Arrange Reception
For Father Keyzer

In commemoration of the thirty-sixth anniversary of the ordination of Rev. John S. Keyzer, pastor of St. Edward's Catholic church, as a priest of the church, and his pastoral work in Idaho, spanning over a period of 30 years, the Catholic Women's guild will entertain a reception Monday evening in the Old Hotel, Weiser, at 7 o'clock.

Rev. C. E. Johnson, Roman Catholic priest of Weiser, has been invited to speak at the reception.

Seven hundred people are expected to attend the meeting. The reception will be held in the ballroom of the Old Hotel, Weiser, from 7 to 9 o'clock.

The reception will be followed by a dinner meeting at the same place.

Invitations have been extended to all members of the parish to attend.

Father Keyzer, who is widely known throughout the state and beyond as one of the leaders of the church, came to Idaho in response to an appeal made at the University of Louisville, Kentucky, by Rev. Basil Gibson, for volunteers to help in the work of the missions in India. He was assigned to India in 1902 and remained there until 1912.

Father Keyzer arrived in Boise in October, 1912. After a brief stay he was appointed pastor in the town of Minidoka, which he served until November, 1914, when he was transferred to the leader, Rev. M. A. Parsons.

Six years later, while on a visit to his alma mater, Rev. American College of St. Paul, Minneapolis, Minnesota, he accepted an invitation to teach a course in dogmatic theology. After spending a year teaching the minor seminary, he returned to Boise, and in 1920 became pastor of the First Methodist Church.

The convention will open with a ceremony of delegations, one in honor of four clergymen—Sandys, James

W. H. Thompson, and Bishop

John H. B. Bawden.

Most of the meeting will be devoted to reading reports of the parishes and the results of the campaign of the Parish of the Assumption.

The fourth annual presidential address will be given by Mr. Bryan Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

TEN GOOD-WILL Fliers to See Much Country

Modern Argonauts of Army's Flight to Cover More Territory in 133 Days Than Ancients Did in Century.

(By The Associated Press)
SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 18.—Ten modern argonauts flying in the army's pan-American flight which expect to leave here December 25 will score more of the western hemisphere in the 133 days than the ancients did in 100 years, it was announced yesterday.

Swinging south along the coast from San Antonio, Texas, the flight will skirt the eastern shores of Mexico, which Cortez explored, until it reaches Puerto Rico. The voyagers will then turn inland and make the trip from the Atlantic to the Pacific, which east Indians made a weary, but less than 24 hours, landing at Salina Cruz.

The west coast of South America will tempt them back for the return to Chile, where they will land at Callao, Peru. Then that field of gold they will cross the Andean divide to visit Cartagena on Columbia's Atlantic coast. They will return their flight from the Pacific to French Guiana, Brazil, and Argentina, crossing the mountainous coast of South America to Valparaiso, which is in about the equator, north and south of Chile.

Race to Continent
Modern Argonauts, although directly east of Valparaiso, return to the Andes as the most strenuous and another day of flying will bring the aerial conquistadors back to the Atlantic seaboard where they will turn north along the coast of Brazil. After a long day they will descend suddenly for a dip up the Paraná river to Santa Fe, Curitiba—and Asuncion. The latter is the chief city in Paraguay.

The return to the southeast will carry them across the Andes to the Amazon basin where it will make its way north, around Cape Bratton to the three Gulf areas. A short hop across the three Gulfs will put the squadron in its base at Maracaibo, Venezuela, where it will wait to assist the Venetian fliers. Then they start on the last leg of their journey home. Short hops will take them through the West Indies to Cuba. From there they will fly down the coast of Central America to the United States to Washington. Major Herbert A. Draper, commander of the flight, hopes to land in Washington April 26.

The army's pan-American flight ends after losing rights by the army and navy, it is said.

The Winter MOTOR FUEL High Test without competition

DON'T compare High Test Conoco Ethyl Gasoline with other so-called winter motor fuels. Especially don't confuse it with the "cracked" gasolines which are selling at a higher premium.

High Test Conoco Ethyl is a scientific achievement—a development by this company's refining experts, plus the results of seven years of research in the great laboratories of General Motors.

And here's what it gives you for just 4c more per gallon than regular Conoco Gasoline:

- [1] The quickest start in town.
- [2] A snappy pick-up to push you ahead in traffic.
- [3] Smooth running at any speed.
- [4] It knocks out that "knock."
- [5] It turns carbon into power.

Check that list of accomplishments against any other motor fuel on the market. And remember, particularly, that High Test Conoco Ethyl Gasoline gives this quick starting, knockless performance with none of the bad after-effects, (such as gumming the intake valves and making them stick), which are bound to result from the use of a cracked gasoline in which the percentage of olefins or unsaturated hydrocarbons has been unduly increased in order to bolster up the anti-knock tendency.

Fill up with High Test Conoco Ethyl Gasoline. Then merely nudge the starter button and you're off for a knockless ride in any weather.

Get it at the sign of the Continental Soldier.

CHICAGO WHEAT MARKET STRONG

Buying to Even Accounts in Expectation of Government
Report Helps Grain Prices.

CHICAGO, Dec. 18 (AP)—Wheat prices tightened up today, closing more or less to bring in sales accounts due to the United States government's early release of statistics showing wheat to be set higher with cost of production to be paid over as it comes up and provided a strong basis for grain market.

A firm position on the part of grain sellers became evident to the world last fall in all the grain put down, but especially so as wheat.

It was expected that the government would buy wheat at a price promoted through a forecast that world shipments for next year would be limited to 100 million bushels of wheat.

At present no one freight house from Alameda on ocean freight rates from Asia seems inclined to impose liberal discounts out of that can be had.

Markets for North American Wheat

Assessments were almost that wheat bought in Argentina would mean little. But with the beginning of March and the end of the month European supplies would mostly have to be obtained from North America.

Scarcity of primary wheat in Europe leaves little room, the total this week including India being only 1,000,000 bushels, against 2,900,000 bushels a year ago. Export last week in the American wheat fields was estimated at 100,000 bushels, chiefly Canadian.

Corn and oats responded with wheat strength. Country offerings of wheat were steady, but the movement of new wheat is increasing, movements selling weakened the previous market, despite firmness of local values.

Wool, in some different qualities, from the asking rates of dealers. A few woolen manufacturers are buying, and in a number of cases have sized quantities to take care of for delivery after the end of the year.

SUGAR

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 (AP)—Prices maintained in the new sugar and raw talc, though the market was a trifle weaker, with a little more interest reported. Offerings were light. Sales were 10,000 bags of Cuban for prompt payment at 50¢ per pound.

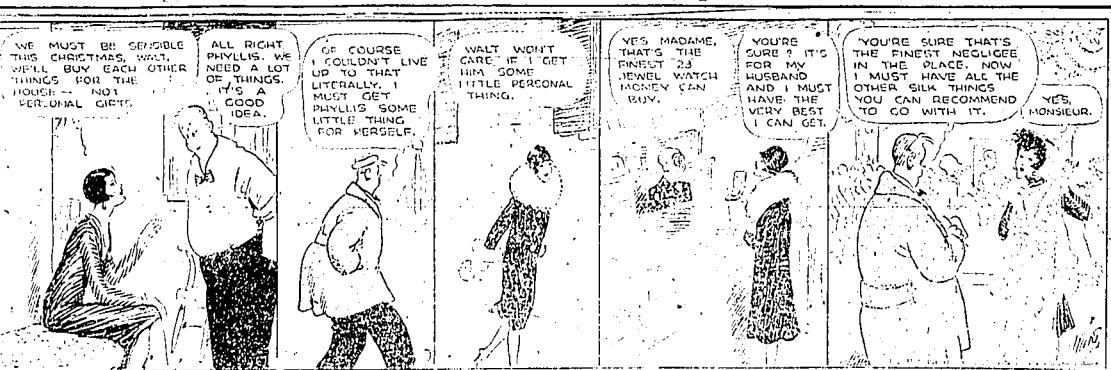

After a brief respite, raw sugar futures developed a steady tone, closing at three to five points net advance. The advance was attributed to purchases of Cuban by dealers, the products most willing to co-operate with the plan of reducing production, even intimating that if prices should decline, they might reduce their output to a minimum. Approximate sales, 100 tons.

The refined sugar market was unchanged to 62.00 to 6.10 for fine granulated.
