LIBERAL GROUP
Recognized President of Nicaragua, Through Legation in Washington, Suggests Possible Way to End Strife.

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—While the breach between the administration and its critics on the Mexican-Nicaraguan treaty continued to broaden here today, Adolfo Diaz, president of Nicaragua, came forward with a peace proposal to the liberals seeking to prevent him from leaving the country.

Through the Nicaraguan legation here, President Diaz suggested completion of his treaty with the liberals, and sought in executive and judicial points, a new election in 1928 under American supervision, a neutral commission to settle the revolutionary claims for damages and the purchase by his government of the arms to be surrendered by the liberals.

A new point of disagreement between Secretary Kellogg and Chairman Borah developed during the day, after an announcement by the secretary of state that the committee could make public a confidential report on the treaty.

The secretary can make the transcript public if he so desires, the senator said. It is his statement, not mine. It is for the statesman's use to the committee. He has rewritten it, eliminated parts of it and cut out the most important parts.

Senator Moses, of New Hampshire, a republican member of the committee, said he would not make any statement until he had had a chance to read the transcript.

SIX-STATE PART KEY TO SUCCESS OF DAM PROJECT

Dispute Between Utah and California Further Complicates Boulder Legislation; Colton Sees Plan Toppling.

(By The Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—A dispute between six states over the construction of Boulder Canyon dam across the Colorado river further complicated the legislative situation confronting that project today.

The controversy came to a focus when the Senate rejected an agreement which the Utah governor and legislature which Representative Colton had earlier secured in effect suggested that the state withdraw from the six-state Boulder Canyon pact (California persisted in its opposition to amendments proposed by Utah).

Arizona Against Measure

Representative Colton predicted that if Utah equaled the pact, the whole Boulder Canyon development plan would be wrecked. The Arizona delegation is fighting the measure, known as the Stein-John bill.

The amendments in dispute provide for a formal protest against any plan for the entry of the United States into the Colorado river project. It would prevent diversion of water from the Colorado river south by the United States without the consent of the states of the pact.

COURT DECIDES IN SCOPES CASE

Supreme Tribunal Holds Anti-Evolution Law Constitutional; Professor Not Guilty.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 15.—(AP)—Tennessee's supreme court today proclaimed the fundamental soundness of the anti-evolution law, but held that the teacher of evolution in state supported schools. At the same time it reversed the verdict of a state court against Professor John Scopes, who was on appeal, and thus barred recourse to the United States supreme court by the state to enforce the law.

Without a dissenting vote the court pronounced the law constitutional. The attorney general, that the "peace and dignity" of the state would best be served by a public protest, thus ordered for and for all. Mr. Scopes announced he would file a writ of habeas corpus to prevent his removal from the state.

BRITAIN'S QUEEN CARES FOR BABE

Little Princess Elizabeth Stays With Grandmother While Duke and Duchess Travel.

LONDON, Jan. 15. (AP)—Little Princess Elizabeth in the company of her father, King George V, and her mother, Queen Mary, will leave for New York on their Australian tour, while the Duke and Duchess of York, who were 20 years ago also out on tour for Australia, will remain in London.

The Duke and Duchess, the present queen and her present duchess, who had her cabin decorated with portraits and snapshots of her own baby, Princess Elizabeth, will remain in London.

One of the most unusual jobs in London is that of a former literary reviewer who has been engaged in the authors buying of "insurance sales" books by these authors.

Mr. DeWitt, sitting up on a bed in the morning, with only a hot water bottle for company, writing a novel. Whether the hot water bottle provides inspiration is not known, but the manuscript has been done over twice in his bed.

Oakley Man Joins Legal Firm Here

A. H. Nielson of Oakley, who has taken the place of Dr. W. H. Wilkins in the office of Wolfe and Wilkins, attorneys, will maintain office in Oakley where he will spend Saturday of each week.

Mr. Nielson graduated from Stanford university in 1923 with his bachelor of arts degree. The next year he spent at Harvard law school, returning to Stanford for his juris doctor degree which he received at commencement exercises last June. He was last month admitted by the Idaho supreme court to practice law in this state.

Mr. Nielson is the son of Dr. A. F. Nielson, for many years a medical practitioner in Oakley.

PRICE OF DRINKS FRIGHTENS MANY American Visitors to De Luxe Riviera Hotels This Winter Face-Expensive Season.

PARIS, Jan. 15. (AP)—American winter drinkers who visit the De Luxe Riviera hotels are being frightened by the high cost of drinking in this season. Half a litre of ordinary table wine can be had for 30 cents at the Hotel Negresco, Nice, but a bottle of mineral water costs 40 cents.

The high cost of drinking is frightening even the most experienced travelers. A whiskey and soda cost from 10 to 20 cents. Mint juleps ended their season at 10 cents each. A glass of brandy costs 30 cents.

Despite these prices, the cafes and hotels seem to be doing good business. An average dinner, with wine in it, costs about 80 cents. This is a terrific meal, especially during the summer season for 50 francs.

The traditional farm servant "marriage" of St. Helens, the agricultural counties shows the difference. A whiskey and soda cost from 10 to 20 cents.

Every room gets its share of sunlight, all barrack-like atmosphere has been eliminated. The infants have separate little tubs and chairs for study.

KERMIT ROOSEVELT, son of the late president, had his left thumb removed as the result of a radium burn suffered seven years ago. He was gravely ill at the Riviera. TELEPATHY TO BE NEXT STEP Thought Transfer Will Replace Transfer of Matter.

LONDON, Jan. 15. (AP)—After transferring telephonic service and television, will come telepathy, which will do away with the nagging, breath-taking antics now essential to transferring matter. Professor Low, of the University of London, is developing human telepathy in such a rate that it is preparing the way for telepathy. Professor Low contends, "As it is, we are not content to receive an impression by our senses alone. We don't judge our friends by what they say, but by their looks, their touch, their smell and other things of which we have no more knowledge than our telephonic equipment of the army of milk bacteria."

While novels are receiving growing support from the public, the novel psychologist, and the progress of science in tending to strengthen theology in all its vital aspects. "Certain Hindu creatures," he says, "have been doubted, such as the direct voice in the lightning, the presence of the human generation, but his vision on the road to telepathy. All these things science is beginning to show were true happenings. I look forward to the time when telepathy will be generally recognized as both a divine and human fact."

The Elton crop will last perhaps for another two years, but M. Emile, hair-dressing expert, believes a reversion to long hair will certainly come within the next three years.

Letting before a group of hair-dressers, he expressed the opinion that a standard hair-dressing style would be made by making his argument on the fact that women's hair is always blowing in his eyes, and short hair periods generally average about 10 years.

After a lapse of 229 years, an ancient legal diploma was received here when the benchers of Lincoln's Inn entertained the benchers of Middle Temple. The records of Lincoln's Inn there are referred to in the records of Middle Temple as far back as 1422. King George, an ardent lover of Lincoln's Inn, was one of the invited guests.

In 1879, the Inn was abandoned because of a fire in Pump Court. The river Thames was frozen over, water very hard to obtain, and it is recorded that the fire engines of the time played away many barrels of beer.

Britain's oak trees, whose petals have been sung by birds for hundreds of years, are being attacked by a mysterious epidemic which is being investigated by the Forestry Commission.

An assistant of the commission says milch and rove-moth are responsible for the disease which has spread over the southern counties and killed many of the oldest oaks. Fossils are exposed that the forest oak planted in the seventeenth century will be wiped out in another twenty years. Many young trees are being planted by the commission, but it is pointed out that no plan to plant oak so long in coming to maturity that private enterprise cannot make it a commercial proposition. The British oak is therefore becoming nationalized.

The Times—and there is only one Times—has a feature in its upper office of displaying each day a copy of the newspaper of that particular date just 100 years ago.

The Times, England's most conservative and stable paper, today, as a general rule, will devote its first page to advertisements, and in 1826 there were just as many notices as now. In search of a maid of all purposes or a secretary, an advertiser in 1826 found a number of the Times' first page advertisements of those days set forth the advantages of various occupations, such as the long hair, four corners of the earth, certain ones of which specialized in recommendations for passengers during the long hours of a voyage of milky months.

An Open Letter From the Macy Players at The Lavering

Dear Friends: The most difficult job in the world is to select a play that will appeal to, and thoroughly please, every man, woman and child who attends the theatre. We consider ourselves fortunate if we secure a good percentage of entertainments that appeal to 90 per cent of the populace. We can't help it about the other 10 per cent; their turn probably comes the following week, anyway.

However, I am convinced that I have purchased a great play that will be enjoyed, from start to finish, and in every single line and situation, by every man, woman and child in this city. It is "The Girl From Lincoln's Inn" in 100 per cent entertainment for 200 per cent of the city's population.

I am not writing this for the sake of seeing my name in print, but because you are the best theatregoers of this city to meet this play. It is going to be the most talked-about offering of the season; so come early and avoid the rush. Yours for 100 per cent entertainment, Manager The Macy Players, Lavering Theatre.

Rialto Theatre advertisement for "The People vs. Nancy Preston" with Marguerite de La Motte. Consistently Good Entertainment at Sensible Prices. ANNOUNCEMENT Dear Movie Fans: Now that it seems to have become the fashion to write letters of appeal to the Public through the medium of Newspaper Advertising, we hasten to fall in line. Our message is one that a large number of people will be glad to hear and concerns the recent innovation carried out at our Theatre. Those of you who knew the Rialto six months ago would scarcely know the place today. We have had the entire interior painted and redecorated—equipment brought up to date. Our Theatre is today as CLEAN AND WHOLESOME as any to be found anywhere AND WE MEAN TO KEEP IT SO. We only ask that you come in and see for yourselves. With the idea of giving young people with vocal and dramatic talent an opportunity to develop the same, we have decided to put on a few acts of vaudeville on Wednesday and Thursday evenings of each week. All youngsters taking part in these acts will benefit greatly by gaining a degree of confidence and self-mastery seldom attained by the average lad or lassie. In the matter of pictures we have been very fortunate in closing a contract with the PRODUCERS' DISTRIBUTING CORPORATION to show their 1927 output. These pictures are nationally advertised and compare favorably with the product of any other producing company. Incidentally we show WARNER BROS. CLASSICS OF THE SCREEN. Yours for better entertainment, L. M. REED. WHY DO YOU LIVE IN Twin Falls County Idaho?

BECAUSE— It has the best water right in the world. We have the natural flow of the Snake River, which rises in the perpetual snow of the Rocky mountains, near the Yellowstone National Park, and meanders one thousand miles through the State of Idaho. We have supplemented the natural flow of the Snake River by two storage dams, to hold back the flood waters. One of these dams is located at Jackson just south of the Yellowstone National Park, and impounds 847,000 acre feet.

Our second storage is the American Falls Dam, about one hundred miles from Twin Falls County. This dam is just being completed, and will be ready to store the water for the 1927 crop. It is one of the largest storage dams in the world, impounding 1,700,000 acre feet.

We take the water out of the Snake River, by a large gravity canal, which carries enough water to irrigate 240,000 acres of land, and carries enough water to cover this land three feet deep during each crop season, if all were turned on at one time.

BECAUSE— We have a moderate climate, with no extremes of either hot or cold. The mean average temperature for 1925 was 50 degrees, with a natural rain fall of 12.12 inches. We had 297 days of sunshine.

The elevation is about 3800 feet. The air is clear and healthful. There are no cyclones, floods or earthquakes. In fact, the climate is ideal, with the necessary changes of temperature for the growth of a bountiful crop.

BECAUSE— Twin Falls County is close to the great playgrounds of the United States, being midway between Yellowstone National Park and Yosemite National Park on the National Y-Y Highway, which will cross the Snake River on the highest and longest cantilever bridge in the world, which is just now being built and located only two miles north of the city of Twin Falls. Twin Falls County is also on the Old Oregon Trail, and adjacent to the National Sawtooth Forest Reserve. The fishing, hunting and scenic beauties are unsurpassed anywhere in the United States.

BECAUSE— Living conditions are ideal, with one of the best public school systems in the United States. Twin Falls County was the pioneer in the rural wagon system, transporting the children to centrally located high schools by wagons or motor busses.

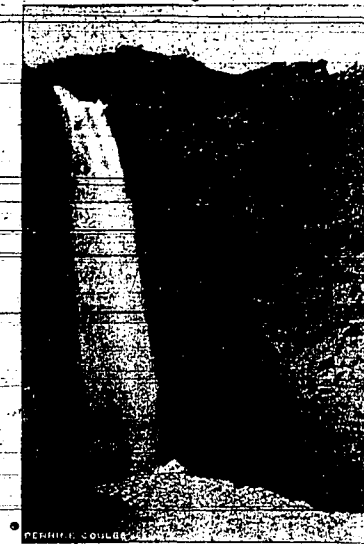

With about 300 miles of graveled roads, and about forty miles of paved highway. With every church denomination represented, many with fine churches in the country.

With less waste land than any other irrigated system in the United States. This is due to the level conditions of the land and the high class of citizenship of the farmers of Twin Falls County. Our farms are divided in small tracts of from 20 to 80 acres, and very highly improved. The land is easy to water, and your return per acre is due largely to your own effort.

Twin Falls County, according to a very carefully estimated crop report for 1925, produced 14 million dollars in agricultural products alone, consisting, according to importance, as follows:

Wheat, beans, alfalfa, hay, potatoes, dairy products, apples, sugar beets, garden truck and small fruit, red clover seed, oats, onions, corn, alfalfa seed, honey, barley.

Two of the 1926 crop returns, which are listed below are above the average, but are not uncommon in Twin Falls County.

COMMISSIONERS RULE IN CLEAR

Judge H. A. Baker Finds Former County Board Members Not Guilty in Hospital Case.

Twin Falls county commissioners who retired from office last Monday are not guilty of contempt of court, according to a decision announced Saturday by District Judge Hugh A. Baker in the case of J. D. Duncan, Alexander and John H. Baker, president of the Idaho State Medical society, against Twin Falls county commissioners.

Contempt proceedings were instituted against the former commissioners by counsel for Dr. Alexander when the commissioners issued an order effective December 22 which required surgeons to pay in advance the charges for use of the county general hospital operating room, including services of the anesthetist employed by the hospital.

This order, it was alleged, constituted an attempt to evade an injunction previously issued by Judge Baker which restrained the commissioners from enforcement of an order requiring payment in advance for services of the hospital anesthetist in addition to charge for use of the operating room.

Judge Baker's decision was handed down in a letter received Saturday by Dr. W. W. Williams, county attorney, and representatives of Dr. Taylor, who represented the former commissioners in the contempt proceedings.

It cannot be said that the rule of the county commissioners of Twin Falls effective December 22, of which plaintiffs complain, is substantially the same rule attacked by the plaintiffs in his complaint. Judge Baker said, "At the hearing I announced the new rule and the defendant's test only—intentionally that the defendants not guilty of contempt."

POLICE RESTORE AUTO TO OWNER

Missing Two Years and Sold Piecemeal Car Parts Are Traced and Reassembled.

HERLIN, Jan. 15. (AP)—A seven-year-old Buick sedan, stolen two years ago, dismantled and sold piecemeal by thieves to three different car dealers, has been restored to the owner in running condition by the Herlin police. All it needs is a coat of paint.

After three months of intensive detective work on the case off and on, Arnold with the aid of all parts of the stolen car, which he traced, and secured them in bits by until the police garage mechanic were able to restore the car at a cost of $150.

They found the body in a second-hand garage shop 100 miles from where they were reported. The chassis was found in a junk yard. The body was satisfied to take back that much of the car, but the police assured him it would pay $100.

Two weeks ago they found the body in another junk yard, and a few days later a cop near the door of the industrialist's home to tell him that his lost automobile was waiting outside.

Out of gratitude for the painstaking detective work, unaccompanied in Herlin, the owner gave $200 to the police club.

Newspaper men have been assigned to the Herlin case. The police club is the passage by the Reeking of a law exempting officers, reporters, present and bylaws from being compelled to testify as witnesses in civil cases which do not concern them personally.

There have been cases where news men have been arrested for being in the case of a crime, but the police club is a situation which empowers newspaper men to be present at a crime scene without being arrested.

According to another clause of the law, which will probably be subject to a referendum, a newspaper man will be compelled to divulge the name of an anonymous contributor to that of a staff member who has written an untrue story against which offense is taken.

The anti-kissing movement, which has gained a foothold in France and is spreading to other countries, is getting a good reception in Germany.

RAILROADS OF AMERICA PROSPER: LARGE FUTURE GROWTH ASSURED

Roger W. Babson, in His Second Article Dealing With Leading Industries of the Country, Discusses U. S. Carriers and Their Possibilities

(Special to The News.)—In view of the increased railroad earnings reported by so many of our roads, Mr. Babson was rather bold in his opinion of the railroad industry and its future possibilities. His reply is as follows:

"Thinking up the threshold of what may be the most prosperous year the railroads have ever had, it is difficult today to believe that only a few years have elapsed since the transportation industry was the football of financiers and later the politicians. It is a far cry from the public-ownership phase of the industry to the interstate commerce commission control, or from government operation during the war period to present day conditions.

"The secret of the amazing prosperity of the roads lies in the earnings which have come about as the result of management, workers, stockholders, the government and the public.

"At no time in the past have there been more brilliant management teams in any industry than today. Never have the workers been more willing to cooperate with management. A serious road law is very nearly impossible.

"The government has been remarkably liberal in its treatment of the railroads. The public has dropped its hostile attitude a popular a few years ago.

"Today, not a handful, but the great body of the American public is interested in the railroads. The volume of traffic handled during 1925 was, in aggregate, larger than ever before in the history of the industry.

"The best ever reported. Gross revenue increased nearly 5 per cent over 1924, and net operating income about 12 per cent. Indications are that the roads can very easily be carrying the load of 5.7 per cent on their tentative aggregate capitalization.

"Largest Gains "As compared with 1924, the chief lower rates than those due to the higher valuations claimed by them. "Just what will result from the recent decision of the supreme court which a much more liberal method of valuing public utility property was judged proper is not clear, but developments may be startling. The same decision represents the view that a public utility was entitled to at least 6 per cent on its capital. If these views are to be applied to the railroads, a radical rearrangement of bills respecting their future earnings would be a logical consequence.

"Mergers have been an important element in the reorganization of the industry in the past year. It is certain, however, that the equalization of the railroads into several large systems will be a long, drawn-out process. The length of time required to effect the Nickel Plate merger is significant of the delays and difficulties that are likely to be met with. It is doubtful whether or not many of the plans now being considered will ever materialize. The interested investor can do it to wait and watch for developments.

"Large Future Growth Assured "Over a period of years demand upon the railroads is bound to necessitate railroad increases in facilities. The amount of revenue freight handled increased from 12 1/2 billion tons in 1924 to 1900 to 166 1/2 billion tons in 1924, or an average annual increase in traffic of 2 1/2 per cent.

"By reason of the position taken by the interstate commerce commission, which already have a relatively large amount of bonds compared with stock will probably have to avail increases in track mileage, greatly increased use of trucks and buses for terminal and feeder business, better development and enlargement of more efficient road stock and securities is necessarily ahead. "Of active interest therefore is the way in which the roads will meet about $750,000,000, to finance this growth. About $750,000,000 was spent by class I roads last year for new equipment, improvements to facilities and extensions. All told, about $3,110,000,000 was expended during the year, or an average of $750,000,000. In view of the above outlook, a continuation of this rate over a number of years is not improbable.

"About $500,000,000 of the $750,000,000 spent last year was raised through the sale of bonds and notes and only about $100,000,000 through the sale of stocks. During recent years, with rail stock prices at relatively low levels, roads have been obliged to raise new funds by means of bonds.

"Now that earnings are good and stock prices recovered, the way seems clear for some of the stronger roads to obtain new capital through the sale of stock. The offering of the Southern Railway is an example. However, this road is obtaining its new stock capital on a 7 per cent basis and many roads may question the expediency of such a course in view of the much more favorable basis obtainable through a bond issue.

"By reason of the position taken by the interstate commerce commission, which already have a relatively large amount of bonds compared with stock will probably have to avail a favorable opportunity to sell stock. Only those with a relatively small amount of bonds will, in my opinion, find approval for the bond method of financing. A continued lowering in money rates will tend to improve the prospects of roads having to issue stock.

"On the whole, the outlook for future railroad growth is good. It is a sign of progressive management which is happily striving to serve the people, the strong basic growth in traffic, the railroad's relations with labor, and the favorable disposition of the public, conditions in the railroad business are healthy. That this has been widely recognized is evidenced by the continued advance in rail securities during the last two years. The average stock price for instance, are now up to the levels of 1912, and many roads have gone the handsome thing in dividends.

"Further advantages will doubtless accrue in the months that are coming but I would caution the average investor against speculating in rails during this present period of general inflation, and of course since the demands of shippers and employees may again be a restraint on railroad earnings. Those who have been riding the good news rail as they have developed into the above mentioned prospects have no cause for worry.

According to the Babson-Cook business has been well above normal since the middle of 1925, it reaching its peak of 15 per cent above in December. The last two weeks have shown a regression—the chart now registering 12 per cent above normal.

Kinfolk of Screen Celebrities Often Hold Minor Places

NEW YORK, Jan. 15. (AP)—Closely linked with the screen are numerous motion picture actors and actresses and their more or less inconspicuous brothers and sisters.

Several brothers are in the motion picture industry. Frank Lovejoy, brother of Alice Lovejoy, actor manager, Douglas Fairbanks' brother, Robert Douglas, long his business partner, Harold Lloyd's brother, Guy Lloyd, is an assistant director with the Lloyd units, and his uncle, William H. Fraser, is a general manager of his company. Secretarial jobs are kept within other families. Multiple Meador has a brother, Henry, who handles the financial and occasionally performs in the picture. Richard Dix's sister, Josephine, for some time was a feminine buffer between her brother and Irish-American, Greta Nierac's brother, Harry, who became her secretary, while a similar role is filled for Mae Marsh by her sister, Frances.

Charles Hines, director, his illustration, Arthur Johnny, Sid Chapin, before becoming a comedian in his own right, was his brother Charlie's manager. Director William W. Clark has a brother, Erik, who is his egg man and assistant. Director Allan Dwan's brother, Dr. Leo Dwan, is his business manager, and D. W. Griffith's brother, Alfred Grey, handles the management of his road show pictures.

ALCOHOL SHOWS BLOOD TEST Modern Method May Replace Chalk Line in Determining When Individual is Drunk.

PARIS, Jan. 15. (AP)—A blood test is the really modern way to determine whether a staggering gentleman is really drunk. Striking proof that this is more certain than the old time police method of making a "chalk line" around the neck has been accepted by the Paris court.

It is true that the experiment in this case was on a dead man, but chemists say the method will work as well on a live one.

A motorist ran into a pedestrian who staggered into the car's right of way. The man was killed. There were no eye witnesses, but the driver admitted an autopsy.

Leon Bonn, an expert chemist in France, has analyzed the victim's blood and found alcohol in sufficient quantity to indicate the man had drunk about six drinks of wine of 10 per cent alcoholic content. That made four-fifths of a pint of pure alcohol, which is the legal limit.

Concealers who really protect the bootleggers under their garb have not been disappointed and are mourned by some of the respectable citizens who are looking for the number of burglaries.

Concealers are institutions in France. They are located in the back rooms of the front buildings so they can watch the front door and keep out outside police.

They have certain police powers and usually are in close relations with the police. They make the burglar's front door at a fixed hour at night for the burglar to enter.

In the old days the concealer had to pay a small salary and tips from the burglar. Now they get a percentage of the loot.

THE PRESS
Governor Pierce of Oregon shows some new and interesting light upon the functions of the newspaper.

The Governor has been handicapped in his desire to liberate a great many convicts now serving sentences in the Oregon State Penitentiary.

Here is the way the Governor puts it in his newspaper: "The people of the state don't eat breakfast until they get up and read the newspaper to find out what they should do."

The Governor is perfectly right when he says that people read the newspaper, although it is a question whether they read to the length of consulting him in the early morning.

But they could think all right. In fact they depend upon it. If we were not for the newspaper they would have some little difficulty in keeping posted upon the day's events.

But isn't the Governor blinding the press for the very thing which requires a newspaper? It is his duty to tell the people of Oregon what his Executive's official acts are.

ITALIAN SABER-RATTLING
War between France and Italy is some written up in this possibility in the news that six Fascist legions have been mobilized along the Italian border.

The United States will of the two countries had its chief origin a few months ago, when Mussolini denounced France for permitting criticism of the Italian government.

Work up a campaign against Fascist rule in Italy is a question that these days are hatched on French soil. Among these agents was the grandeur of the great Garibaldi.

Unquestionably relations are strained, especially in Italy. Now these Italian have signed a ten-year anti-treaty treaty. Today the Italians threaten France tomorrow it may be Turkey, whose Mussolini sees an outlet for Italy's surplus population.

Italy has nothing to gain by war with France or Germany. The only thing that the demonstration is probable aim only to flatter Italy's self-esteem and distract popular discontent.

The Leading Lady

"I don't see how Orlan took him for the judge who is in love with him. He didn't look like Orlan in the face. She was real pretty, but he's a queer-thing or him, that boy."

"I guess you was meant to be blinded by love. And him dressed the man, but an ugly suit, that one?"

"I don't see how you could have 'em look just alike unless it's twin brother, and him and you got the whole country over and not did that."

"He ain't like her no way," growled Old Goldfish from the wheel, "I seen 'em both when they wasn't acting and when they was. Then the back grating on the Hayworth wharf, Gabriel urged them off. He hadn't got through yet, got to go back for part of the company who were calculating to get the main line at Spencer, and after that back again for the Tracy lot."

The swaying throng of blacks emptied their carriages and the black-capped crowd, moving to the end of the wharf, separated into streams and groups. Farewells, last commendation accounts, 3600 on the "limp-a-see" account. The waiting line of motor cars absorbed the summer station, wheeled off and paraded away past the white cottages under the New England elms.

The motor cars sank gratefully down the yielding cushions, rolled by the dust-buzzies, the battered autos, the lines of bicycle riders, into the quiet eastern country where the shadows were fine long and clear. Yes, it had been a great success from that to that hadn't been a hitch.

There was one outside lot on the island, Wally Shine, the photographer sent by the Universal syndicate to take pictures of what was a "notable society event" in a place of which the public had heard much and seen nothing.

Yes, it had been a great success from that to that hadn't been a hitch. He had seen the actors at close range, in their habits as they lived, rehearsal taken a lot of pictures of Miss Saunders in the house and garden. And he had sensed an "electric disturbance" in the atmosphere, and come upon evidences of internal discord.

"That was the last rehearsal, when the poetess 'Vio' had lost her temper like an ordinary woman and jumped on the Tracy boy concerning about the picture of what was a 'notable society event' in a place of which the public had heard much and seen nothing."

"Wouldn't you think," she said, "an 'inn' as rich as this Driscoll would fix up round here better?"

Shine, who had artistic responses, had long learned not to intrude them on the unblinded.

"I guess he liked it wild," he suggested, and he lit a cigarette.

Shine had been in the grove of pines, a growth of stunted trees filling in a hollow. He had followed the path through it, up the slope to the summit, and beyond to where the old mill had dropped away in a sheer cliff to the channel. They called the place "The Point" as it projected beyond the shore line in a rocky outburst.

"He looked down at it, its rushing, cold surface purple dark. 'Looks to be some current.' 'It would carry you out and 'Good night' to you. Gabriel who runs the launch told me, 'Get a right cut to see something, and the rise and fall to it.' 'I couldn't tell you how many feet it is, but you'll see for yourself tonight if you're awake all the channel here, but rocks and mud. And across the middle of it to Hayworth, a causeway. That's the only way you can get ashore at low tide. High or low you'll see the same old, old section, all right, if that's what you're after.'"

Shine was after information and with the tide running on, he was getting it. So he tried to divert the curious lady.

"That's Miss Saunders and Miss Tracy out there looking at the sunset, but they've left come tonight. Mrs. Cornell answered with emphasis. 'Yes, they're friends.' 'How do you know each other before we came here?' She was being cryptic. 'I don't know, but I've known her for months ago you'd never have found 'em.' 'Who's the brightest thing?' 'Awful misfortune' that what happened to her."

She carried the thing stamped on her face. He had noticed in all primary centers, Australia, etc. Once or twice the mask had been dropped and he had seen the drooping lines, the weariness, and something like fear on the delicate face.

For a space they smoked in silence. Round the corner of the house the tall figure of Stokes strode into view. At the sight of them he stood, motionless, staring, staring about the water-sealing bench.

"What's the matter with him?" "She blew out a long shoot of smoke and, watching it, murmured: 'Yes, it's out on him like a rash. He's crazy about Sybil, if you want to know the way she's been treated after the girl. And it's not as if he got any encouragement. She can't bear him; that's why she has come Tracy out there, afraid if she sits nothing, but rocks and mud. And across the middle of it to Hayworth, a causeway. That's the only way you can get ashore at low tide. High or low you'll see the same old, old section, all right, if that's what you're after.'"

'Awful misfortune' that what happened to her."

"She gave a desire sound at the In-shine's sound, looking at a sunset. 'It's awful! Took the heart right out of her. If she ever saw a girl in love it was she—'bound up' in him. Everything ready, the wedding day, the troupe man's 'Tears rose in her eyes and she dove into her tight-fitting bodice for a handkerchief. Never to be worn, Mr. Shine—that's the girl.'"

"Shine gave forth sympathetic murmurs and Mrs. Cornell, dabbling at her eyes, furnished data between the dashes: 'Two men drinking too much and then a fight, and before anybody knew, a murder. If there hadn't been a brass candlestick near Jim Dallas hand it would never have happened. Honest to God, Mr. Shine, there's something evil in that young man. But the Park-lyn family are stamped on his front. The evil's in them, if you ask me, but their rewards and detestables.'"

"I guess there's more than one wonder-thing that," the lady murmured. Shine looked at the page's figure on the rock.

"Not yet, there's no hurry." Shine moved up. "I can't get down. There's something about the old that makes you restless—too stimulating, maybe. She rubbed her voice and called to her husband. 'Alek, aren't you coming in to check up on me?'"

"Without moving, the man called back: 'Not yet, there's no hurry.' Shine moved up. "I can't get down. There's something about the old that makes you restless—too stimulating, maybe. She rubbed her voice and called to her husband. 'Alek, aren't you coming in to check up on me?'"

HUBLEY, Jan. 15.—Petition for the proposed high school district for Malta and Elba districts, coming before the board of county commissioners yesterday morning, was rejected on legal technicalities. HANSEN BOY RELATES STORY OF ACHIEVEMENT THAT WON SCHOLARSHIP FOR CLUB WORK

Three years in club work during which time he has raised 41 pigs in five litterings in the record made by himself, William Hansen, 17 years old, of Twin Falls county, during 1926. It was announced Saturday by Will R. Bolen, district club agent.

Club Pacific scholarship awards are payable as follows: One hundred dollars award to be paid to winner provided he enrolls for a full term course in agriculture or home economics in the University of Idaho, college of agriculture, or $20 to be paid if the winner enrolls in school for a winter short course in the college.

The story of Leonard Wierman's achievement is told by himself in a project narrative history and story of his swine club work, which was submitted to his club agent.

"I was always very much interested in swine raising," Leonard says. "Three years ago when I started my club work I rather preferred pig club work."

"The following spring of '24 she had eight pigs, raising seven of them. It was a very good mark for a club member. I would try the pig club out, as it was just starting in my neighborhood. I had a very good care of the best of care that I know how in caring for my pig. I kept her in a place where she could get plenty of exercise, and was very careful not to overfeed her. In this way I kept her growing and developing strong muscles."

"Willie Willis" in Prototype It's Robert Quillen, Himself

For the last several months The News has been publishing Robert Quillen's popular little comic "Willie Willis." Every day for the last two years Mr. Quillen has written a paragraph for "Willie" to say. Folks wonder how he is able to keep it up for he has the knack of talking "Willie" all the time when we were the age of Willie Willis.

Dear Mr. Reed: Today I found in an old album a picture of myself taken when I was an old as little Willie Willis. Willie Willis is now...

In fact, I was a normal boy of the 20's, full of a great curiosity, eager, fat, awkward, often in need of help, and always looking behind a shoulder, comrade as you can see.

HERE'S HOW THE "WASKE AND INK" LOOKED AT THE AGE OF NINE.

Don't you think Quillen at the age of nine resembled "Willie Willis"? "It isn't just the type of boy you would expect to see. My mamma wasn't here to ask, and I preferred using my own judgment as to the care of my pig. I was a very hard worker and I was very good at my work."

America has always expected great things from its greatest industry. But the announcement of the Most Beautiful Chevrolet has been the automotive sensation of all time!

Here is a car which in beauty, luxury, quality and modern design challenges the costliest creations of the day.

Here, in a price class where average standards have been the rule, is now offered a car so far beyond all expectation that comparisons cease to exist.

Seven superb models, styled as low priced cars were never styled before and offering such marks of fine car distinction as: full crown one-piece fenders, bullet type lamps and "fish tail" rear deck modeling! New and supremely beautiful bodies by Fisher! And, above all, infinitely finer quality—the result of a host of additional improvements such as AC oil filter, AC air cleaner, incidental steering and ignition lock, larger 17" steering wheel, gasoline gauge and many, many others!

All this is combined to a supreme degree in the long famous leader of the Chevrolet line—the Coach. It would be a brilliant achievement for any manufacturer merely to design such a splendid car to sell at any reasonably low price. But to sell it at the amazing price of $595 is a feat of history making proportions. The only reduction in price would suffice to counter worldwide attention on Chevrolet. But due to economies of tremendous production plus the vast resources of General Motors, Chevrolet also announces striking price reductions on other models.

For years Chevrolet has led the world in providing Quality at Low Cost. But now with a new and more beautiful car—with a car infinitely finer in quality and greatly lower in price, Chevrolet stands supreme and unchallenged in dollar-for-dollar value!

No matter in what price class you intend to buy or whether you plan to spend more or less than the price of a Chevrolet, come in today and see the most beautiful low priced Coach ever designed. Admire its marvelous style and grace! Mark its many new fine-car features! Learn for yourself by personal inspection why, at its new low price, it is the greatest sensation of America's greatest industry!
