COMBINE WOULD AND NORTHWEST

President of Northern Pacific Points Out Advantages of Proposed Consolidation.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 27 (AP)—The consolidation of the Northern Pacific and Great Northern railroads would not only be in the interest of those properties but in the interest of the northwest public as well, Charles Donnelly, president of the Northern Pacific railway company, declared here tonight before the annual meeting of the St. Paul Transportation club.

"An unqualified self-interest, as well as a due regard for the rights of property devoted to public service would suggest the approval of the plan to combine the roads," Mr. Donnelly declared.

"That such a union will promote the public interest in one respect can hardly be questioned," he said.

Revenues Now Inadequate

In consequence of the large operating expenses which it will make possible, it will be necessary to raise rates and, as we believe, to a considerable extent, the difficulties under which the industry has been operating.

"The situation of the northwestern railroads in this respect is well known. At an time when the end of federal control seven years ago have their revenues been adequate. At no time have their freight rates, however, been as high as those prevailing in other parts of the United States, and the work in consequence has been done at a loss. It is, therefore, not surprising that the Interstate Commerce commission for relief."

DIAMOND STARS NOT GUILTY OF FRAUD CHARGES

Judge Landis' Decision Completely Sweeps Clouds of Suspicion From Skies of Two of Game's Greatest Players.

(By the Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Jan. 27 (AP)—The cloud of suspicion that engulfed Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker, two of the greatest outfielders of all time, was swept away today. The two stars were found not guilty by General Judge Landis, baseball commissioner, of fixing a game back in 1919 as charged by Herbert Hays, a former pitcher who played for Landis completely exonerated them. Landis ruled to acquit Cobb and Speaker.

Both on reserve, Cobb was placed on the reserve list of the Detroit club, and Speaker on the Cleveland club. They share the same standing in baseball today as honored players on these clubs. The management of these clubs may now deal with Cobb and Speaker in the same manner as any other on the list. They may offer them contracts to continue in baseball or they may acquit and by obtaining them declare them free agents to seek employment with other clubs. They may also trade with rival clubs. Cobb and Speaker are free to play in the American league while both Cobb or Speaker would be free to accept the National league clubs if they wish.

Leonard Falls to Show

Commissioner Landis, in his decision, pointed out that neither Cobb nor Speaker had been charged with fixing a game at any time. He further pointed out that all efforts to have Leonard, their manager, to testify against them from his home in Fresno, California, to face them in a hearing had proved unavailing.

FOUR CLUBS REPRESENTED AT BASEBALL MEETING IN GATE CITY; LITTLE DONE

DOCATHELLO, Jan. 27 (AP)—Although the Poetello club was not in a position because of the indefinite status of its finances, to enter positively into the Utah-Idaho league at the league meeting held here tonight, a place was held open for it.

To cut the transportation expenses of the league the meeting favored a six-day series in each town if this agreement, instead of the three-day schedule in vogue last season. Salt Lake, Ogden, Twin Falls and Poetello clubs were represented at the meeting. As the meeting had no further information on the expressed intention of the Great league to give the Utah-Idaho league support than was contained in press dispatches, members were at a loss to know the kind or extent of aid that may be in store.

TROUBLES BREW FOR CARDINALS

Alexander the Great Is Latest Holdout; Hornsby Threatens Suit Against Breardon.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 27 (AP)—Troubles in the world's championship St. Louis Cardinals and Rogers Hornsby, their former manager, multiplied today. Grover Cleveland Alexander, pitching hero of the 1924 world series, was added to the list of Cardinal holdouts. Hornsby was sued for $70,000 by Frank Moore, owner of New York, Kentucky, and Hornsby threatened to sue President Sam Breardon to compel him to declare back dividends on Cardinal stock, 1400 shares of which Hornsby holds.

Wants More Money

The veteran Alexander, who was loaned, returned his 1927 contract to Breardon manager, because the document provided for no increase in salary over what he obtained last year, unless the contract was assigned to the Cardinals when he was transferred to the Cardinals for the winter period.

William Hays, attorney for Hornsby, announced the player's Cardinal stock had been offered to Breardon for $100,000, a share of $122,500, and Breardon has refused to buy it, which would represent an investment of $410,000.

President Begins Consideration of Bridge Proposal

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—President Coolidge began actual consideration of the Longview, Washington, bridge bill today with the report of Secretary of War Dyer before him without giving any indication when final action will be taken. The Dyer report specifically stated that the war department had no objection to the bridge project except to the unusual form of the bill authorizing the construction which makes three cabinet officers, heads of the department of war, commerce, and agriculture, responsible for making its location. The report further expressed the belief that the location of bridges was a proper function of the federal government, since the bridges are national public utilities should themselves determine bridge sites.

The federal government's only interest in the bridge, of the report asserted, was the preservation of the navigable channels of waterways. That interest, Secretary Dyer said, was fully protected by the usual procedure requiring the approval of army engineers and the secretary of war, for bridge projects.

Lewis Proposition Carries Convention By Small Majority

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 27 (AP)—Stippled opposition to a constitutional amendment giving the executive committee authority to levy special assessments without a referendum retarded the progress of the United Mine Workers convention today. The amendment, which was a modification of the Lewis proposition, finally was approved after the opposition failed by three votes to obtain a roll call. Opponents included 441 votes, three less than the necessary 30 per cent.

Fend Fears Anew

The Lewis-Hoppe feud again flared today, when sergeants at arms attempted to seat Powers Haggood, 27-year-old Harvard graduate, who claimed to represent a miners' local at President, Pennsylvania, John L. Lewis, president, had denied Haggood the right to speak in favor of a resolution condemning the mine workers' journal, an official publication. Lewis declared Haggood was not a delegate and later in threatening to eject Haggood said he was not even a member of the union. Haggood was a supporter of John Hays of Clearfield, Pennsylvania, the latter's recent unsuccessful effort to win the presidency of the miners' union. Lewis, in a supplemental to his annual report, assailed the interstate commerce commission for what he charged was "a failure to fix the roads, and non-union sale of goods of West Virginia, Virginia, Tennessee and Kentucky, to freight rates, a violation of the national law." William D. Wilson, president of the American Federation of Labor, will address the miners' convention tomorrow.

My Smile Shows a row of pearls

By Edna Wallace Hopper.
I am asked by countless people how I got such pretty teeth. And how I keep them so clean and getting big 27 1/2 years.

This is what I'll tell you. For many years I spent on my teeth about 30 minutes daily. I used a cleanser, then a polisher, then an antiseptic mouth wash. And I forced magnesia forest tooth to neutralize all acids.

But I did under dental advice, and I consulted high authorities. But now the great experts have concluded all these things in one tooth paste. I just apply that, and in five minutes, all I did with many applications.

This new-type dentifrice is called Quinoid, which means fine in effect. It is made by Quinoid Laboratories to meet modern requirements. Quinoid makes your teeth clean, healthy, and I will gladly mail one to anyone who asks. The coupon will bring it with my Beauty Book. Even one night's use will bring you new conceptions of a tooth paste.

MME. CLAUDEL IS HOUSEWIFE

Home Holds First Interest for Wife of New-French-Ambassador to Washington.

PARIS, Jan. 27 (AP) Mother's interests first, then the duties of a hostess of embassy in Washington, D. C.

Mme. Paul Claudel, wife of the French ambassador to the United States, will take that policy with her to Washington, a policy which she has practiced in other embassies, commencing at Legation where she has presided. The host was the French embassy in Tokyo, "she has five children."

"My family comes first," she said. "They are my chief interest, my hobby, and favorite occupation."

Mme. Claudel is a slender, fair-looking woman typical of the old French aristocracy. She married Paul Claudel, who is a poet and dramatist as well as a diplomat, 23 years ago. Before her marriage she was Reine Marie Perrier.

Only two of the five children are in Washington. The separation is the only drawback to the change to America.

"It is hard for the mother to be separated from her children," explained Mme. Claudel. "My son Pierre, who is 18, will remain in France to study. My oldest, Marie, who is 20, will be married before we leave for April. My younger, Christian, 18, who will soon complete his studies for the diplomatic corps, Henri, 17, is now well and must remain in France. The other children will go with us. They are Helene, a girl 15, and the youngest, Renee, a girl of 9. The children speak English, but I only say a few phrases now."

DANISH ROYALTY IS DEMOCRATIC

King Christian of Denmark Engages With Common People in Many Forms of Sports.

COPENHAGEN, Jan. 27 (AP)—King Christian of Denmark and Iceland is an extremely democratic ruler. In fact all members of the Danish royal family are little given to formalities and is making unusual to see them bicycling, taking part in sports competition, shooting or walking and window shopping about Copenhagen with the same freedom enjoyed by Danes who are not weighed down with titles.

The sport of kings might be large owing to the movie subtitle writers, but to King Christian it is nothing. From his childhood he has been in for water sports and he has been the owner of a long series of yachts, all of which he named Kitha. He has taken part in most races here in Danish water, and his own yachts, personally sailed his yacht to victory against heavy odds.

Although he is an athlete and not a gambler, she is a fine sportsman and "gamely" accompanies her royal husband everywhere. The visits of state to the royal couple either as a guest or on a tour or order out a wardrobe. In the long Danish winter King Christian is not in the ice-riding, but in the out, roughest sport in his dominion. Last year he was lost for several hours in a fog while on one of his ice-riding expeditions.

When younger his majesty was an ardent runner fan. He paddled his own canoe in many big expeditions and in all kinds of weather. His last trip was an autumn voyage across the Bay of America. On that trip a gust of wind sprang from the sea and he was blown out, roughest sport in his dominion. Last year he was lost for several hours in a fog while on one of his ice-riding expeditions.

CAVIARE IS RUSSIAN DISH BUT TOO COSTLY

ANTHRAKIN, Soviet Russia, Jan. 27 (AP)—Although Russia is the world's greatest caviare producer, the delicacy is not the ubiquitous delicacy it once was because of its coming in scarce and expensive quantities. The majority of the population of this gigantic nation is poor.

The greater part of the country's caviare production is exported to Europe and the United States where much higher prices are obtained for it than here. During the last year the government exported nearly 1,000,000 pounds of caviare to the United States and Europe valued at $2,000,000.

Scientists Almost Learn to Tell Time

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—Absolute exactness in the measurement of time is a scientific ideal that may forever elude human attainment, but the bureau of standards has just worked out a method that comes nearer to it than any other method known in the field.

The device will measure half-second intervals which may be substantially dependent upon the bureau says, to be accurate to "within a few parts in 100,000," a desirable condition in laboratory work where the utmost exactness in gauging the speed and duration of phenomena is sought.

The device is particularly complex and the new device is its central feature is a pendulum with a slit through the center, and a light beam of it. As the swinging pendulum passes the proper point, light flashes through the orifice and falls on a sensitive surface in front of it. The electric current thus generated in the sensitive surface is amplified as in radio practice, and a moving photographical record is the instant.

Traffic Problems Unknown in This American Village

TANGLER, Va., Jan. 27 (AP)—Tangler has no traffic cops and the probabilities are it never will.

Because no automobile has ever been seen here and a horse is just as much a novelty. This despite the fact that the town has a population of 1,400 and is within a hundred miles of the nation's capital.

Tangler is on Tangler Island, Chesapeake Bay, and was discovered about 300 years ago by Captain John Smith, who named it "The Green Pasture" because so pure that they still speak with an accent peculiar to the first inhabitants. Motor cars would have little space in which to operate, even if they should come for the streets are only 10 feet wide. There is scant vegetation. Hence, the absence of horses. The bay surrounding the island continues one of the best fishing grounds in eastern United States and the sturdy Cornishmen have never given up their first calling.

Tangler's youngsters are trained to the water and boys may be seen pitting their skill against the waves.

Rickish musket fighting boats compose a veritable armada and the only other transportation vehicles are found in carts and wheelbarrows. Not far from the shore, on the southern end of the island, is the only part high enough above the tide for dwelling purposes. Here the houses, typical of an English fishing village, are crowded closely together along the main street.

No crowded in the small section that grows are to be found in the plot around the church in the front yards of the dwellings, overhung with large shanty trees.

The principal buildings are the school, the church and the postoffice. Of these the church is the community center. Every citizen is a church member.

LIVESTOCK MEN CONCLUDE MEET

Association Members Elect Officers and Choose El Paso as Next Convention City.

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 27 (AP)—With the passage of a resolution endorsing the plan to put the nation's public domain under federal regulation with certain restrictions and changes in the Standard Bill now pending in congress, the American National Livestock Association convention adjourned this afternoon to meet in El Paso next year.

There was considerable opposition to this resolution. It was led by Senator Charles A. McNary of Wyoming, who expressed the opinion that it was a matter which should be handled in a manner similar to the National Anti-Livestock Act, which was passed in 1914. McNary proposed a resolution to amend the present bill to provide "local options" in some sections of the country.

There was also some opposition to a resolution protesting against placing a restriction on immigration from Mexico. Senator McNary also supported a resolution, contending that it was unnecessary and might lead to East Indians entering the country as Mexican nationals. The resolution was supported by the delegates from the southern states who said Mexican labor was necessary to produce the sugar, cotton, cotton and sugar beet crops of the southwestern states, and was also needed on the plains.

When it was reported that the convention was next year's convention city San Francisco supporters withdrew their invitation and asked a pledge that the convention go to the Golden Gate city in 1928. While the convention was unable to reach a decision on the matter, the delegates expressed personal preference for San Francisco in 1928. E. F. Hilde, Marfa, Texas, was elected president. He is succeeded by J. H. Hilde, New Mexico, who informed the association that his health and other duties would prevent him from attending the next year. SLOWER LANDING PROBLEM OF AIR

Planes Often Traveling 90 Miles an Hour When They Touch Ground—Dangerous.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—Nearly as much effort is now being devoted by airplane inventors and producers to the job of making their machines go slow as has been devoted in the past to making them go fast.

These inventors are now developing a new air navigation section, slow length exhibits on the subject, with prototypes of devices which have been tested in actual service as well as those based exclusively upon theory.

Where the airplane operators most desire slowness, in planes is at the moment of landing. The highly developed racing machines have a landing speed of nearly 90 miles an hour. The machines being adapted to commercial service land at a slower pace, but even so, the difficulties and dangers are far greater at this speed than at any other.

Birds meet the same problem as airplanes in landing, but there isn't much for mechanical structures to take from their demonstration. The fast flying bird when alighting throws its body up against the air and stills almost instantaneously the rest of its flying speed by a powerful blow of its wings.

The airplane makers have had to learn to make use of the bird's method of the devices that far evolved to accomplish the purpose is being perfected by English constructors, an "air-cushion" or "stalled wing" construction, which permits the maintenance while landing of great but balanced wind resistance. American have been using a machine to test the effect of its flying speed by a powerful blow of its wings.

One famous American designer, Grover C. Loening, has worked out a device to enable the landing of a machine to be filled up at the moment of landing, producing strongly resistance to further movement. The difficulty here is in developing wings strong to withstand the stresses thus applied, but one of the attempts has already come out in a model which the experts rate as valuable.
