LOCAL STUDENTS AID BUHL GIRLS

Twin Falls High School Votes $25 to Help Defray Expenses of Trip to Tournament.

BUHL, March 17.—(Special to The News.)—Coach Harry Barry received a telegram tonight from the Pocatello Chamber of Commerce inviting the champion Buhl girls' basket ball team to be guests of the chamber and the Pocatello Business and Professional Women's club at luncheon Saturday during their short stay in the Gate City. The team will spend about 40 minutes in Pocatello Saturday en route to Wichita, Kansas, to the national tournament and Gate City well wishers will meet the Buhl champions at the train, according to the telegram.

Students of the Twin Falls high school voted $25 to help defray expenses of the Buhl girls' basket ball team to the national tournament at Wichita, Kansas, Saturday. A special assembly, held in Wilson school building, was held for the purpose of raising the money. The students expressed their willingness to contribute to the fund. Mr. Wilson, principal, was the guest of honor at the assembly.

The fund voted by the students, Mr. Wilson explained to them, would be added to a fund being raised by Twin Falls business men for the Buhl girls. About $200 is to be raised in Twin Falls, most of which had already been secured last evening. Twin Falls students also voted unanimously to meet the Buhl team at the train Saturday morning in wish them luck on their trip and at the national tournament. They extended a general invitation to Twin Falls citizens to join with them in wishing the Buhl champions success. The students responded to the suggestion with the evidence of their good wishes and out of their desire for Buhl's success.

TEAMS PREPARE TO BREAK CAMP

Giants and Reds Say Farewell to Southland; Other Clubs Engage in Exhibition Games.

ATLANTA, Ga., March 17.—(AP)—Certain signs of the waning spring training season for major league baseball clubs in Dixie were apparent today as other started a series of exhibition games that will occupy it until almost time to depart northward for the grand promenade.

At Pocatello and Ontario, the New York Giants and Cincinnati Reds, respectively, said farewell to acquaintances while in Shoshone, Louisiana, they Schalk's Chicago White Sox, en route to Texas, where they will stay 10 days for exhibition encounters.

Giants Play Cards
John McCreary sent the Giants into their first hole of the day at Shoshone against the Cards. Tonight they left for St. Augustine where temporary headquarters will be established for the coming season.

The Card game brought Rogers' thrashy into action against his former teammates while Frankie Fyles and Jimmy King, out of the Cardinals were battling against the Giants for the first time. Sam Henderson and John McCreary, who were in the game, were as close as a possible answer to the "who got the best of the deal" query.

Cobb-Bent Off Field
To Cobb went a step further in the "who's best" Georgia peach can tournament by trying to "ride" Goldsmith, pitcher for the Boston Nationals, in their exhibition game with the Athletics at St. Augustine. Frank Wilson, umpire, told Cobb to get off the field and gave Kid Gleason, Athletic coach, the same command a moment later. When both failed to comply, he declared the game forfeited to the Braves, although the A's were leading at the time, 4 to 0.

Staffs of Atlanta read newspaper snippets of Jack Scott's announced retirement and his only comment was that Scott had been sent final notice to report at Bradenton with the Phillies. Miller Huggins of the New York Yankees said he had been asked to sign a contract yesterday.

With Jimmie Jones, pitcher, set missing, Sam Henderson last night declared that unless he signed a Cardinal contract he is "simple through." Tommy Thayer was another Cardinal holdout.

PRESENTING IDAHO'S CHAMPION TEAM

GLOOM LEAVES INDIANS' CAMP

Exhibition Game at Buhl, Inaugurating Two-Court Style of Play, Pleases Spectators.

BUHL, March 17.—(Special to The News.)—A rift in the gloom-haunted atmosphere surrounding the Indian mission camp was yielded after the two court exhibition game, between selected teams of the Buhl circle. Metz, Hays, Lacy and Ambrose of the first string, with two reserves, met a team composed of Holmes, Haring and Solomon of forwards and center, and Scully, Southwick and Childs at guard.

So interested were the spectators and some-horers in watching Scully and Southwick guard the elusive Metz and Lacy, that no one kept track of the score, which it was estimated ended about 20-12 in favor of Metz's team.

Style Not Cramped
The Indians proved their ability to change from the three court to the two court game without materially altering their style and Coach Barry was well pleased with their showing. Lacking confidence at the beginning, they soon got under way and the team long until they were working with the characteristic smoothness of their three-court game. The 400 spectators were impressed with their aggressiveness and apparent familiarity with the new game, and are assured that the Buhl champions are very formidable competitors in the tournament for national honors.

Bruin Track Men Make Progress in Spite of Weather

Hindered by a backward spring, Bruin track men are nevertheless making good progress, and the outlook for a good team is unusually bright. Weight men have been concentrating on form in their events and a marked improvement is already evident. Next week will be the leading contender in the 100-yard dash, but Sullivan, Wall and Smith are gradually creeping up on his records. Sullivan and Wall are expected to develop into good division men, as they are both rangy and have powerful shoulders. Wall is leading in the 200-yard dash, and Sullivan is the early season. A number of competitors are out regularly for the 400-yard dash, but none so far have come near the record here of 1:50 set by Ed Martin last year. Will Hays, Wall, H. Martin and H. Martin have done the best to date, and all are improving rapidly.

Stress Endurance Work

The track men have been concentrating on work to build up endurance with an attention to individual detail. The city park has served during the cold weather, but most of the work is done at Lincoln field or in the gymnasium. It has been impossible for the coaches to even attempt any work in sprinting, hurdling, or jumping because of the danger of pulled tendons in these classes—especially during cold weather. With two good mile hurdles and jumping standards have not been taken out of the field.

Before an audience of 800 persons members of the Twin Falls high school class of 1928 Thursday evening presented the sixteenth annual junior play in the high school auditorium. "Come Out of the Kitchen," a farce-comedy written by A. E. Thomas, was produced by a group of 11 student players that through careful selection in the five years of successful acting. The troupe, early won a place in the hearts of the audience and held the closest attention of the spectators throughout. Members of the cast carried the various roles through with professional confidence and artistic finish, setting a new standard by which future third year class annual dramatic classes will be judged.

The theme based upon the financial difficulties and domestic responsibilities of members of a prominent Southern family was one of the most interesting that has been incorporated in an annual production in Twin Falls for some time. The entire production has its action in an interior setting in the Danforth mansion in Virginia and the scenery and Thursday night effects were brought out to the desired effects.

Members of the cast as follows in the order of appearance were: Martin Folsch, Elmo Bowers, Alpha Smith, Harold Hoover, Hazel Gimes, Charles Dietrich, Jean Swedel, Dorothy Parks, Charles Vance and Burton Perrine.

Managerial staff was composed of Alfred Hotteker, business manager; Chester Clark, stage manager; Barbara Probst, Bob Deiss, property managers; Edgar Wheeler, stage carpenter and Miss Helen C. Knapp, member of the high school faculty, director.

SOCIETY AND CLUBS

Edited by Mrs. E. B. Williams Phone 290

Primrose Rehearsal met Tuesday evening in L. O. O. F. hall. The middle group, Mrs. Maggie Tobin, presided during the recognition of the regular business, and it was decided to attend the services at the Baptist church Sunday morning for "rehearsal" and "Old Ladies going to a dance." The rehearsal was tendered a delightful surprise after lodge by the Old Fellows, Mr. Roystrom and his committee serving a delicious oyster supper in the dining room which was attractive with unique decorations suggestive of St. Patrick's day. "Dad" Joyce gave two readings and pronounced the benediction and W. F. McRae sang two Irish songs. The remainder of the evening was spent with dancing.

Mrs. Ernest White was hostess at a charming St. Patrick's ladies luncheon Thursday at restaurant Inn. The twenty-two tables at which the guests were seated were lavishly decorated with green and white table suggestions of the day. Mrs. E. J. Malone gave favor for high school. Mrs. W. E. Berg, Mrs. W. J. Adams, Mrs. W. C. Gilbert, third and Mrs. J. W. Barrett the consolation. One hundred and twenty-three invitations were received and there were a number of guests from Kimberly. Mrs. B. E. Babier and Mrs. A. E. Slifer assisted Mrs. White in receiving.

The Elks sustained their reputation as social entertainers Thursday evening with a box supper and dance in their club rooms, which were artistically decorated for the occasion in the emblems and colors devoted to the tattered saint of the Emerald Isle, under the direction of A. Wilson Cook. The boxes which were attractive on the outside, and filled with all sorts of good things to eat were auctioned off by Colonel H. E. Mowbray and were furnished by the Night Hawks.

Mrs. O. T. Koster was the recipient of a delightful surprise Thursday afternoon at her home on Ninth avenue east when several of her friends appeared with bounteous refreshments in spread in the dining room. The occasion was a anniversary. The time was spent with bridge after which the refreshments were served which were carried out in the green and white devoted to St. Patrick's. The guests each of whom was presented with a pretty flower as a favor, were Mrs. Robert Haller, Mrs. Fred Richardson, Mrs. Frank Mattison, Mrs. Abodeen, Mrs. A. P. Wallis, Mrs. A. V. Wallis, and Mrs. Carl Ritchey.

The Highland View club met at the home of Mrs. William Weidke Wednesday afternoon. In the absence of the president, Mrs. George E. Johnson, the vice president, Mrs. Burr, presided over the meeting. Thirteen members responded to roll called with their given names. A St. Patrick's guessing contest was enjoyed. Mrs. George Carter winning the prize. The club planned a party to be held Friday evening, March 25, at the home of Mrs. Petzoldt. At a late hour the hostess served dainty refreshments. Mrs. Rogers will entertain the club at their next meeting on April 6.

Commemorating the fifty-fifth anniversary of the organization of Camp Fire girls in America, Mrs. Phil Thomas, guardian of the Tatopohow Camp Fire girls, and her daughter, Gladys, entertained the group with a pretty arranged party Wednesday evening at their home on Third avenue east. The early part of the evening was spent with games after which supper was served, the guests being seated at one long table which was decorated with a novel camp fire of electric lights, and further adorned with a large birthday cake ornamented with camp fire symbols and bearing fifteen candles. The camp cards and favors were also in place for the design. After supper eleven refreshments were served. A most finished amusement. The guests numbered nineteen.

On Wednesday Mrs. J. B. Trudinger entertained the members of the Harmony club with a beautifully appointed bridge party. The table was attractive with their St. Patrick colors and the luncheon featured the green and white suggestive of the day. In the bridge game following the 1st floor highest score was won by Mrs. E. H. Adams.

Mrs. V. non Scribner was hostess to the Morningside club Wednesday at an all day meeting. A beautiful dinner was served at round one large table and during the afternoon three quilts were tied. Music and conversation completed a most enjoyable day.

HINTON CALLED TO TESTIFY IN BROTHER'S TRIAL

County Attorney Brings Youth Under Sentence to be Witness Against Brother Charged With Receiving Stolen Property.

Clyde Hinton, by order of the court, has been brought here in response to summons issued on application of the county attorney to testify in the trial of his older brother, Frank Hinton of Hanson, on a felony charge of receiving stolen property. Nature of the testimony which the younger brother is expected to give has not been divulged.

Frank Hinton is accused of receiving a number of rifles, game, field glasses and hunting knives, which were uncovered by officers on the Hinton ranch near Hagerman three years ago. Clyde Hinton was arrested here. Clyde Hinton is alleged to have confessed to theft of this property in the course of nearly a score of burglaries committed in this region within a period of two years.

Trial in the case of Frank Hinton began in district court here Thursday afternoon and the jury was completed early in the forenoon.

Witnesses called to testify for the prosecution included Mrs. Effie Stevens of Twin Falls, in whose residence an "H" brand avenue coat Clyde Hinton had been a runner, and who some time ago pleaded guilty in charge of receiving stolen property.

ing stolen property, judgment being withheld. She told of the removal of stolen property from her residence at the time Clyde Hinton was arrested, this property, according to the prosecution, constituting the same as that subsequently found on the Hinton ranch. Mrs. Stevens' testimony in this regard was supported by that of Al West, Hagerman, a nephew, who said he saw at her home at the time, and by P. E. Molloy, who told of being asked by Clyde Hinton to telephone to Frank Hinton, and ask him to remove the property from Mrs. Stevens' residence.

Owners Identify Property
H. A. Sweet, W. H. Hengardner, William L. Hendrick, and Wilford Wiley identified property taken from the Hinton ranch as being their own. Witnesses were subjected to cross-examination by Shad L. Hodgson, attorney for the defense.

Members of the jury are Nelson H. Eckles, W. E. Fennwald, G. L. Cowan, Will Savage, Frank DeKlotz, H. G. Roun, Calvin Thomas, William Walker, E. C. Cross, H. P. Rogers, C. E. Borchers, F. D. Brown.

WILL BROADCAST STORY OF IDAHO

Short Talks on Gem State to Be Given by Harold Harvey From KFKX During Journey.

Sufficient funds to handle the expense of broadcasting short talks on Idaho, are being raised by Twin Falls, Boise, Burley, Gooding, Pocatello and surrounding towns, in connection with the participation of Idaho's girl basketball champions in the national tournament at Wichita, Kansas. The Twin Falls local board and the board of county commissioners are handling this movement, furnishing facilities and printed matter to Harold Harvey, who will accompany the team, and personally broadcast the story of Idaho from station KFKX, N. H. Higgins, Nebraska.

Preparing Exhibit
An exhibit is being prepared by E. J. Housard, county agricultural agent, which Mr. Harvey plans to display in hotel lobbies at Gooding and Wichita, Kansas, and other legitimate spots, together with samples of beans, corn and potatoes to make up the exhibit.

Four 10-minute talks on four successive nights, covering the natural resources of the state and its possibilities, will make up the broadcasting program. Ten thousand pamphlets with information concerning the state will be distributed in connection with the broadcast. The only athletic broadcast to be made by Mr. Harvey will be a play-by-play account of Idaho games, from the parliament hall to station KFKX.

GUARD PATROLS STEAMER LANES DURING SPRING

Cutters of United States Service Keep Sharp Lookout for Icebergs From North; Cold Duty Begins This Month.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—With the beginning of March, one of the most picturesque sea patrols in the world took up its cold duty—the evening of the steamer lanes of the north Atlantic by cutters of the United States coast guard which do the work for the international ice patrol.

A bulletin from Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic society tells what the patrol is and how it operates.

Fifteen years ago April 14, the "Titanic" queen-ship of the seas, carrying a precious cargo of some of the best minds of Europe and America ran into an iceberg 350 miles south of Cape Race and sank with a loss of more than 1500 lives," says the bulletin. "Ever since that catastrophe a guard-has-been-kept each spring to protect the hundreds of ships and thousands of travelers on the world's greatest ocean ship lane.

No Ship Lost Since 1912

"The annual 'battle with the bergs' can be compared to some jungle tragedy in which the leasur-animals stand watch-stand watch for a lion that may die before they again take up their normal life. The international ice patrol, the work of which is entrusted to the seamen and ships of the United States coast guard, watches and waits for the icebergs to die. For five months, from March to July, the patrol scans for the sea monsters which are hatched by the Labrador current to invade the haunts of man. No successful method of attacking the "beasts" has been conceived, although experiments continue. But by watching the bergs like garden snakes in a cornfield, the "Tanpa" and the "Modoc" are able to warn by wireless the whole flock of trans-Atlantic shipping of ice danger. No ship has been lost since the ice patrol began its guard in 1912.

"To the laymen a report that a 22 degree cold wall is over the entire Grand Banks means little. It is very significant to the ice patrol. Hereg will drift down the Banks practically intact as long as they are in the Labrador current in which the water howls the new freezing temperatures. But once they cross the "cold wall" into the Gulf stream with its 50 or 60 degree water they waste away in a few days and disappear. Back again the Labrador current forces a cold tongue of water into the warm Gulf stream which flows northeast, forcing the tongue reaches maximum toward the last of April and then recedes until it is confined once more to the Labrador coast.

Like "Flying Dutchman"

"Going on ice patrol with either the "Tanpa" or the "Modoc" is early being to be embarking on the "Flying Dutchman." That old legend of the Dutch skipper who was eternally lost around Cape Horn is very real to the coast guard men on north Atlantic service. The Dutch ship and crew shuttled over the sea buffeted by gales because once the captain uttered a monstrous oath. For two solid weeks a coast guard crew lived amid the gales of one of the most stormy spots on the seven seas because a different sort of oath the nations made that the "Titanic" disaster should not be repeated. That oath relieved, the "Modoc" can steam into which flows northeast, forcing the tongue reaches maximum toward the last of April and then recedes until it is confined once more to the Labrador coast.

First "American" President

All the Presidents of the United States have been native Americans, but Martin Van Buren, born in 1782, was the first President who was born after the United States declared its independence. Previous Presidents had all been at one time British subjects.

Sidestepping His Finish

It doesn't pay to jump to conclusions, but the pedestrian must jump sometime to avoid a very important one.—Boston Transcript.

MOVIE SIDELIGHTS

The "half-pint" cutie does not impress Dorothy Arzner, woman motion picture director. When Miss Arzner needed 15 girls for her first Paramount picture (she is the first woman to direct a production for that organization), she went up all applicants weighing less than 115 pounds or measuring less than five feet five inches in height. Masculine directional opinion to the contrary notwithstanding, Miss Arzner believes the 1927 film beauty will be tall and well developed.

Although King Hites still brighten the movie vocabulary, the light themselves are virtually obsolete. They have been replaced by a complex of lighting systems with names bewildering to the non-technical. One still hears of "Klieg eyes," and the phrase probably will become a fixture in the language, but it would be more accurate now to say "Cooper-Hewitt eyes," "mercury-light eyes" or "arc eyes," in describing the amount which sometimes follows studio work.

Pinch-hitting in musical comedies and revues is quite the usual thing for Johnny Doney.

When Joseph Casshern broke a leg last year, an apoplexy in Milwaukee, Doney was called in to fill his place and devoted 36-hours to rehearsal. Last season Doney replaced W. C. Fields in the Palace when the latter left to make pictures. When Frank Tinney was suddenly taken ill while on tour, Doney filled his place.

Now the comedian is appearing in the Earl Carroll "Varieties" in New York, having replaced the "Charley" revue. He devoted more time to rehearsals and in one week prepared himself to return to Broadway after an absence of three years.

A gigantic Richard Wagner film is under preparation and will be brought out as an asterisk to the summer's fifty-fifth anniversary of Bayreuth opera. The historical-film pictures will be made in color, and will include, as well as in other beautiful identified with Wagner and his work, many of the composer's relics will be used.

Crashly, thy name is camera! Now motion picture experts have discovered the average Leica camera weighs ten pounds heavier than she really is. This explains why the film folk of Hollywood are always talking about their Norma Shearer is five feet two inches tall and should weigh 120 pounds; she keeps down to 110 in order to photograph 120. Pauline Starke is five feet five; she also hangs the 110-pound mark.

One of the principal obstacles in the growth of true American drama, believes Paul Green, playwright and professor of philosophy at the University of North Carolina, is the "cosmopolitan attitude of leading metropolitan critics." There is nothing personal in his belief, however, and he has recently commended his latest play, "In Abraham's Bosom." Several have mentioned it in connection with the annual Pulitzer prize.

"From the necessity of writing so much about so much, the critics are forced to the level of mechanical judgment," Green says. "They have no time to lead the way or show the young aspiring dramatist what to do. Too often their only criterion of whether a play is excellent is the size of the box office receipts. Another obstacle is the horde of New York playwrights with the ghastly Time Square mind."

HUGE CORPORATION TO TAKE OVER COMPANIES

News of a merger of corporate interests on a scale rarely attempted was brought to Twin Falls yesterday by Homer Elder and Captain H. P. Burke of Boise, representatives of the Dayton Adding Machine company.

The new corporation is known as the Huntington-Bank company and when its organization is completed it will control the Huntington Typewriter company, Grand Rapids bureau, Dalton Adding Machine company, Baker-Vawter Loose Leaf Ledger company and one or two other concerns, the names of which have not yet been given out.

The new company is described as the "General Motors" of office appliances lines. The annual sales of the combined companies are said to amount to $50,000,000, and it will have the largest international distributing organization of any company in the world.

Mr. Elder has been territorial representative of the Dayton company in Idaho and Utah for a number of years.

Have Faith in What You Do

The attainment of success can hardly be expected if there is any lack of faith. Faith must exist in oneself and what one undertakes to do, if any degree of success is to be attained.

From the first day we opened this store, our faith has been in quality merchandise and its proper distribution through efficient service, knowing that if this was done, price would take care of itself. And it has.

It has been our experience that quality merchandise attracts and holds the most desirable patronage, for those who understand true economy know that a good article at a fair price is cheaper in the end than an inferior article at a slightly lower price.

So we have gone on from year to year knowing that if we had faith in our merchandise, and in what we were doing, that our patrons would have faith in us, and they have.

DEMANDS MORE PAY PER HEAD

Official Executioner of France Discontented With Decrease in Gruesome Business.

PARIS, March 17 (AP)—Auguste Duilher, France's official executioner, is discontented because too many death penalties are commuted. He wants more heads to fall or to want more per head.

He and two of his assistants called on Premier Poincaré recently with their grievances. Poincaré could not promise more heads but he hoped he could find more money for the heads.

Duillher gets a very small salary but a premium for each execution. Recently he complained, there were eight headless bodies. He said his organization could not live unless there were more, or better paid, deaths.

Duillher is the man, looking much like Mephistopheles, pointed beard and all, who presses the button that releases the spring that falls the triangular knife on the necks of the condemned, stretched in the machine invented for the French revolution.

The sentence is set up after midnight by the light of candle-lanterns, just as a hundred years ago. The executions are at four o'clock.

Men Legal Arbiters in France

PARIS, March 17 (AP)—Men are the legal authorities on dress in France. In a lawsuit over a woman's gown, it is a man and not a woman, who is called in to testify or make an appraisal.

The courts have experts in every line of business. The arbitrators usually are men of prominence in their trade. There are 12 qualified to advise the judges regarding dress.

Several judges have suggested women should be included among these people. Some of them probably will be nominated before long, although now, as ever, men continue to dominate the dressmaking industry of France.

Paris Taxi Drivers' Dishes

PARIS, March 17 (AP)—"Assassin" is the favorite libelous epithet of motorists for the Paris chauffeurs who just passed them. The motorists seem to believe the chauffeurs abuse them because his aim is bad.

The chauffeurs do not like the pot name as they are given to them, the customary "pig," "old package," "kind of a thief," "sort of dirt" and "fathead."

French Churches Win Right of Procession

PARIS, March 17 (AP)—Belgian processions have been declared legal in France and should not be forbidden by mayors unless there is danger of disorder.

The council of state, the highest body that passes an official act, has decided by a majority of 12 to 10 in favor of the procession and has declared regulations illegal, although the fines and jail sentences imposed have long been paid and served.

Much of the disturbances over church processions has arisen in districts where there are large numbers of communist contingents. These extremists frequently "controlling" the local government. Priests and their parishioners nevertheless have desired local interdictions and their attitude now is justified in law.

Child Painters in France More Numerous

PARIS, March 17 (AP)—Child art is increasingly common in Paris exhibitions. Lately there have been displays devoted entirely to the young set. The latest of these displays watercolor by children from all over France, from 8 to 11 years old.

Some critics say they see much fine art in the young idea. Others are more conservative. All agree the children do remarkably well for their age. A few critics even observe their child of 10 should have little difficulty in producing things as easy to look at or to understand as many pictures made by their elders that get wall space in the large exhibitions.

Marriage Brokers Proper in France

PARIS, March 17 (AP)—Marriage brokerage—the arrangement of marriages for a financial consideration—is a legitimate business in France. The courts have so held in sustaining the demand of a broker for 2000 francs due him under contract from a client.

In the course of the hearing it was brought out that many marriage brokers are operating at present in France. The broker not only undertakes to bring the prospective bride and groom together, but to look out for all financial details, such as investigating the amount of "dot" the bride will bring to her husband.

Raw Wheat As Cure All Now in France

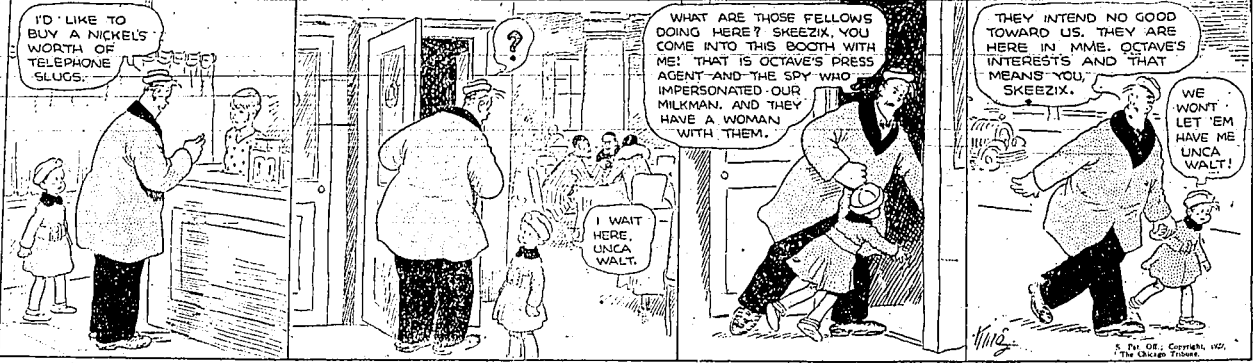

PARIS, March 17 (AP)—Raw wheat as a cure for all ills is the latest craze of intellectual Parisians.

Andre Laphin, a writer on dietetics, started it in a series of articles in Cosmopolitan, the theatrical and artistic daily newspaper, extolling the beneficial effects of regaining a teaspoon full of germinating wheat before luncheon every day.

What, he declares, contains in an unusual degree the vitamins lacking in other articles of food, particularly the nerve stimulating B variety. Many well known persons followed his advice and pressed to have obtained immense benefit.

Livestock Industry in Relatively Favorable Position as Agriculture Enters New Season; Farm Prices Cut

The livestock industry has been in a relatively favorable position during the past year and they continue to represent the strength of the situation as agriculture enters the new season.

Farmers suffered some severe reductions in prices of their leading cash crops in 1926. The price of cotton, for example, was $27.00 per bale compared with $28.75 in 1925, a decrease of 6.3 percent.

In consequence, the conditions in the important producing sections have shown no improvement within a year.

The disparity between prices of farm products and the cost of industrial goods and services is greater than a year ago. Whether this trend is to continue during 1927 apparently depends in part upon how effective a production is made in certain cash crop areas and upon the character of the growing season.

Production of the growing season, however, in certain lines may be slightly better than last year.

The situation is being such as to discourage any general expansion of agricultural production. In some areas the present income is greater than that of lands for pasture and forestry.

Domestic Demand

For the crop season 1927, the agricultural industry as a whole is not so seriously different from the present, though possibly somewhat better. The domestic demand for 1927 farm production yet to be marketed during the first half of 1927, is likely to compare favorably with that of either the first or second half of 1926.

The present level of business activity, industrial employment and the many income of consumers is lower than that of a year ago. The volume of output has not been accompanied by a lower level of industrial employment and wage earnings particularly in the iron and steel and automobile industries.

The building industry has been somewhat less active during the past few months than in the same period a year ago, as is indicated by the total value and volume of contracts awarded for the entire country. Contemplated projects of the present demand for construction also appears to be declining. Furthermore, income from agricultural production during the present season is at least 5 percent below that of last year.

The drop in farm prices, however, is largely due to increased supplies rather than to lower domestic demand.

Money Incomes Lower

Money incomes of consumers and their ability to buy goods are lower than a year ago, and may be expected to continue so for several months although the rate of decline declines. The latter might be a probability were retail prices higher than a year ago and were the present business situation marked by financial credit stringency. In fact, credit for commercial purposes appears to be ample and with unusual factors such as heavy inventories not apparent, credit should continue to be available for productive purposes at reasonable rates.

Industrial prices, however, have recently tended downward and have affected profit margins adversely, a condition which might close the door to any for commercial enterprises to take full advantage of the available credit in the immediate future.

Should the present favorable money conditions continue well into the present year, a domestic demand for 1927-28 farm production moderately better than the present may be expected. The declining level of industrial production may tend to stabilize industrial prices and with available credit, would result in increased employment and manufacturing output in the second half of 1927.

The contribution of agriculture during 1927-28 to the national buying power promises at best to be no greater than that of the present season and it may very likely be somewhat less.

Outstanding agricultural prospects against the somewhat better prospects for other industries (the latter providing by far the greater output of consumer buying power), it appears that there may be a moderately better domestic demand for the 1927-28 season, but not sufficient to warrant expansion of production without regard to the greatest consequences of increased supplies. Declines in agricultural prices during 1926 were caused, not so much by the relatively lower buying power of consumers, as by increased supplies of cash crops. There are no indications of such an increase in domestic demand in the immediate future as to absorb present farm production at satisfactory prices.

Fenchon's Discovery

One hundred years ago Bressonot, a French chemist, while examining various vegetables and fruits, discovered the fenchon principle of fennel. This he named fenchon (from the Greek word fenchon, meaning compound). Bressonot published the story of his discovery that led to the discovery of fenchon in 1825 in the French Annals of Chemistry.

NAMES OF PAIR WIDELY KNOWN

Senator McNary and Representative Haugen in Limelight on Fight for Farm Relief.

WASHINGTON, March 17 (AP)—Although it has been disposed of, for the time being, at least, with a presidential veto, the legislation for farm relief has provided the vehicle which has made the names of two members of congress known throughout the country.

They are Senator Charles L. McNary of Oregon, and Representative Gilbert N. Haugen of Iowa, the one a lion and the other a bear, both more than three years ago. Both are farmers, both are veterans in congress and on the floor.

Many Changes in Bill

Many changes were made in the bill before it was finally passed by the sixty-ninth congress. The principle of preserving an equalization fund for maintaining domestic prices when crop surpluses must be sold in the lower world market, was retained throughout. That was the provision which aroused the greatest opposition in administration quarters, and it was held to be unconstitutional in President Coolidge's veto message.

McNary came to the senate in 1917 and has been to the chairmanship of its agriculture committee. His friends often said that farm relief is his "legislative religion." In Oregon, he is recognized as one of the leading prime raisers of the world.

GWINNETT'S GHOST SEEN IN DOCUMENTS

ATLANTA, March 17 (AP)—The ghost of Hutton Gwinnett, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, has come back to help Georgia recover valuable historical documents, lost for a century or more.

Ever since the state filed claim in a New York court to a will, which carries the signature of Gwinnett, sold at auction last summer for $22,500, hundreds of papers have been returned almost as mysteriously as they were taken, says Miss Ruth Blair, state historian.

"No questions asked" is the one condition most of the persons asked in returning the documents. Others mailed them in anonymously.

The government will have been in the state's files at one time, the attorney general contends, and was reported lost about 25 years ago.

A number of the papers has thrown a new light on the colonial period of Georgia. One contains the original minutes of the convention, called in December, 1787, at Augusta for the purpose of ratifying the newly drafted federal constitution. Among others were two different drafts of the states' first constitution, as well as one's first permanent ordinance in the minutes of three conventions called in 1776, to convert the English colony into an independent state.

Another is the appraiser's report in names ranged from Adam to Gato, 1774 of the personal estate of Rev. George Whitfield, founder of American Methodism.

Other papers are a list of names of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, and a list of names of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, and a list of names of the signers of the Declaration of Independence.

PIRATES INVADE FASHION PLACE OF OLD LONDON

Savile Row, Mecca of Well-Dressed Men, Combatting Intruders Who Prey Upon Reputation of Tradesmen.

(The Associated Press.)—The Londoners have invented Savile Row, the Mecca of the well-dressed Londoner. The intruders start by Savile Row to look into a shop to make out and the purpose of their visit is to second-hand shops which charge a premium under the pretense that it is actually a piece of some worthy individual. The Prince of Wales and Prince Henry and others of the nobility are among the King's customers. The chief pretext is set forth in the display windows of the second-hand shops in this city. "This suit was not required by His Majesty who has gone into mourning." For many years suits left on the hands of the Savile Row tailors have been sold to second-hand dealers, who were alive to the value of the Row label as a stimulus to trade. The legitimate tailors have held various and consulted lawyers, but the pirate firm continues its thriving business, palming off cheap material on the navy.

Damsy MacDonald Is 'The Socialist Heik'

LONDON, March 17 (AP)—"The Socialist Heik," is the new nickname for Ramsay MacDonald, Britain's labor leader and ex-prime minister who is back from a trip to the Sahara desert. "In the desert you look at your coat buttons, and find out what a miserable thing modern dress is," said MacDonald at the Working Men's college here. "In the desert you want a robe, something that flows in the wind, something that enables you to stand upright, and that you can sweep about you." "When you go to the desert you must forget about the fussing of civilization. Lying with your back on the sand you are just like a child lying on the breast of its mother, a gentle soothing breath of wind passes over you, and you seem like one undergoing the revelation of a great sacrament. That is the general feeling one has of the desert." "Men seeking for vision, for revelation, in search of spiritual truths must seek for the infinite, find it perceiving the whole of the ungraspable consciousness of the desert."

Only Wales and York Can Sit With Peers

LONDON, March 17 (AP)—The royal princess, when in London, frequently attend the house of commons. Sometimes the Prince of Wales goes to hear a debate in the company of Prince Henry of Wales. The Prince of Wales is the ruler governing visitors to the house of parliament that they are not permitted to sit together. The Prince of Wales sits in the peers gallery because he is Duke of Cornwall in the heritage of England by a patent dating 1377, but Prince Henry and Prince George are neither of them peers as yet, and they are accommodated among the corps diplomatique. The Duke of York, however, has been a peer since Prince Albert adopted that title, and is permitted to sit with his father-ther.

English Noblemen Pay Rent to King Under Old Ruling

WOODSTOCK, Eng., March 17 (AP)—In spite of housing shortages and rising rents there are two persons in England who are not without fear of waking up some morning to find that their rents have been doubled. They are the Duke of Marlborough and Duke of Wellington and their landlord is the King of England. Both noblemen hold their great estates as grants of realty from the crown. But the gift is not out right. Some return must be made. And of that each of the noble lords must get one each year on a solemn pilgrimage to the King of England at Buckingham palace to make some gift which will insure his tenure for the following year. The selection of the gift is by no means left to the personal fancy of the donor. It is carefully set down in Blackstone's "commentaries" that the two tenants must render to the king annually a horse, a sword, a lance, an arrow, or the like.

The Duke of Marlborough's estate, Blenheim palace, is a gift of the king to the first Duke of Marlborough as a reward for his victory at the battle of Blenheim in 1704. The Duke of Wellington's estate, St. James's palace, was a gift of the king to the Duke of Wellington in 1817. It was his own in 1801, and completed in 1822. The total cost of the palace was 300,000 pounds of which 250,000 pounds was defrayed by parliament.

In Paris, the poet and novelist, got a broad smile out of Sir Oliver Lodge when he lectured on a recent lecture on "The Superstitious in Fiction" that scientific development has made "so many things real which had been formerly mere superstitions." "What company is making training," he asked, "than that of a man who can explain everything." "If a beetle taps on the wall we light in calling it the death watch. And if we pass under a ladder safely we thank our lucky stars and touch wood."

Mayfair Seeking a Charleston Substitute

LONDON, March 17 (AP)—Ward Meade, Allston and Harry Lehrs of Mayfair are striving to evolve a new dance which will be less violent than the Charleston and will be somewhat different from the foxtrot. The waltz has been hit upon, but is undergoing treatment to rob it of the hop which which dancers of Victorian vintage give to it. A waltz with a quarter turn, which is quite unlike the waltz tradition, is under trial and is being touched up in such a manner that dancers will not be able to do the fox trot to it.

Parliament to Assist Wives of 'Tomnies' Left

LONDON, March 17 (AP)—French girls were not the only ones who were abandoned by American and British colonial soldiers who married during the great war. Dominion soldiers married many English girls, deserted them after the armistice and returned to their distant homes. Many of these men married again in the dominion homes, while their wives and children in Great Britain were left in a sad plight. These women are unable to obtain divorces in England, as they cannot find any man to marry on the part of their husbands in many cases, and the high commissioner of the various dominions can render them no aid. An effort is being made in parliament to effect legislation which will enable these women to obtain divorces.

BUILDING VIOLATES PAINTER'S LAST WISH

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 17 (AP)—The last wish of Colonel John Trumbull, prominent painter of revolutionary days, that his body lie beneath his paintings, is likely to be frustrated by the building of an addition to the Yale art museum. Colonel Trumbull's grave is marked by a stone slab under a collection of his works in the cellar of the museum. The intention now is to move the collection to the new building across the street, without moving the dust of the painter. The collection includes paintings of revolutionary battles and state occasions and miniatures and portraits of historic personages, among them George Washington.
