

FORMER PASTOR TAKES STAND IN TRIAL OF FIVE

Rev. T. J. Jones, Jr., Tells of Flogging by Band of Masked and Hooded Men; State Evidence All In.

(By the Associated Press) LYONS, Ga., March 23.—The Rev. T. J. Jones, Jr., former minister at Thompson, Ga., testified today he fell back on his "old time" religion in his time of need and prayed and quoted the scriptures while a band of hooded and masked men flogged him.

Identifying himself as a trial of Mine No. 1, Taylor High, Taylor, La., J. E. Endfield and Willie Metcalf, Mr. Jones told of his abduction from the church, where he had gone to attend revival services, his "bearing" on charges and financial conduct—part 2—and being taken to a house after the trial.

Attendance Revived

The minister said he had attended the revival services the night of August 13, 1925, at the invitation of the pastor, Rev. Jack Hudson, and the evangelist, the Rev. H. D. Bugg. Mr. Bugg after a conference outside with Tom Taylor, successor to the church, had led a brief opening prayer.

"Looking toward a window on the right, he called my name," Mr. Jones testified. "He said a few more words, and I went again and then looked to the front door, where, holding his hand to his forehead."

Two hooded-and-hooded-men entered one carrying an automatic and the other wearing a sword, he said. They escorted him outside, where they said he was taken to the place of torture.

Urge Word of Prayer

"With an oath or two, they prepared to whip me," he testified. "I said, 'Before God, I'm a man, a minister.' One of them said, 'It's too late to pray when the devil comes.' I said, 'Prayer sometimes whips the devil.'

Two men cursed while I was praying. One beat me with a leather strap until the blood ran down my face."

After the whipping, the minister said he was put on the road and given directions how to return to the church.

In response to questions by the solicitor, he said he recognized the defendant.

Mr. Jones testified that Mr. Jones had said, when he asked her husband to attend the services, "We specially want him back tomorrow night."

Her testimony completed the state's evidence.

Text of Mexican Boycott Order Is Read in New York

NEW YORK, March 23 (AP)—The text of a boycott order against American goods circulated on March 1 by the government post office in Mexico City was read to the New York Stock Exchange today from a correspondent in the Mexican capital, the New York Times says.

Eight Reasons Why

"To battle with the same arms," the proclamation is headed. "Why we should not purchase American merchandise." Among the eight "reasons,"

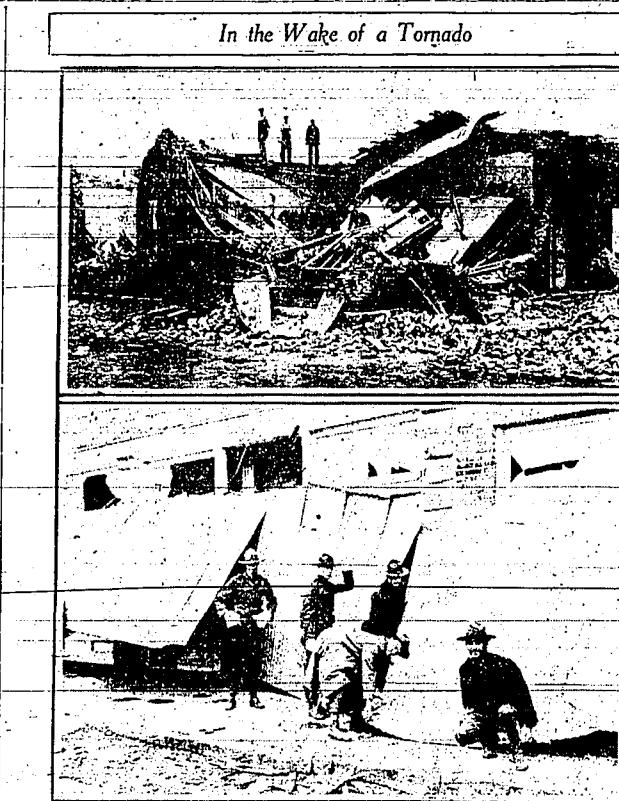

"Because every peso we spend in North American products forces another link in the chain of our economic slavery."

"Because the purchase of articles from the United States automatically increases the economic potency of the United States and correspondingly diminishes ours; that is to say, each day we furnish our foreign enemy greater means for coercion, uprisings and militating us."

Joint Down Opening Words

Blackton produced a telegram from his wife, Mrs. Paula H. Blackton now in New York, stating she had jotted down the opening words as translated by De Mervenach while the song "An Angel with a Trumpet" was being photographed. Her daughter had requested the English version.

"I have you, dearest, I want to see you badly. I want to be alone with you," Mervenach wrote on the translation of the "she-trumpet" translation aside. When she looked for the paper the next day it was missing.

Although De Mervenach has made no personal reference to the note as being responsible for the alleged threshing, so far his testimony concerning the message has not been permitted to enter the records of the trial.

Feline Heir to Big Fortune Disappears

LONG BEACH, Calif., March 23 (AP)—When Rosalie Lynch, aged widow who died last week, bequeathed her residence property to her cat, Kitty Bay, she provided what may result in a spirited contest for control of the遗产.

Mr. Lynch had disappeared.

Mrs. Lynch, who had no known relatives, specified in her will that her home was to be given, rent free to an individual to be named by her husband, to provide a place to live for the cat for the rest of its life.

She also directed that the cat be turned over to the humane society to be sold, the proceeds to be used to provide a home for the feline.

Her husband, however, has engaged no law and Judge Charles Crail, will inquire.

On March 30, what disposition may be made of the property. In the meantime G. W. Cannon, to whom Kitty Bay was given on the death of his master, refuses to reveal the cat's whereabouts.

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 23 (AP)—Sen. Eddie O'Dell, republican of Nevada, today told President Coolidge he "knew off" of Secretary Work's retiral as head of the interior department as he was "misleading" the affairs of his office.

Nevada's other senator, states Senator O'Dell charged the president was "distracting" with Secretary Work's handling of Indian affairs and the closing of a number of land offices in the west.

Furthermore, he said, the withdrawal from the public domain of timber acres in Siskiyou valley, California, for a naval ammunition depot was "a piece of high-handed interference on the part of the secretary after the budget bill had been submitted and the Senate had passed a bill providing for establishment of the depot at Hawthorne, Nevada."

CARRYING PLAN TO JURY

"Secretary Work's handling of land offices is carrying Coolidge's economy to the extreme by entirely overhanging service," the Nevada senator said. "The closing of the Elko land office, with thousands of applications pending, is another example of his carelessness and the neglect of office."

Although the secretary has withdrawn the California land for the naval depot, it does not mean that it will be established there. Senator O'Dell charged he planned to fight for the depot at Hawthorne.

He contended the secretary defied the senate and that the bill to locate the depot at Hawthorne would have become law if it had not been crowded out in the house by closing congestion.

The secretary declined to comment on the matter in any way.

DIGGINS TO COMMENT

OAKLAND, Calif., March 23 (AP)—Secretary of Interior Work, who informed the Senate yesterday that he had told President Coolidge that the former Folles bill would be "better off" if he retired, had only 604 to say tonight:

"That is apparently Senator Coolidge's opinion. Further than that, I do not know."

The secretary declined to comment on the matter in any way.

Visualize Battle For Supremacy in Automobile Field

NEW YORK, March 23 (AP)—A quiet struggle for supremacy in the automobile field likely to result in several mergers and possibly some seizures among the motor car companies of the country, was evident in the growth of the automobile movement that William C. Durant has decided to devote his entire time to his motor interests, and Detroit reports that the Ford Motor company has entered the market for machine tools over plants preparatory to the introduction of a new line of Ford cars.

While all motor companies are engaged in a contest for popular favor, which has been intensified by recent developments, and the production of new models, the big battle is expected to be waged in the low-priced field with General Motors, sponsoring the Chevrolet car, and Henry Ford, backing the car bearing his name.

Mr. Ford's plan has been withheld, Wall Street heard that five major equipment companies were bidding for the new business which he was expected to place within the next week or two.

MENAN, IDAHO, POTATO THEFT SUSPECTS HERE

Police Aid Madison County
Sheriff in Rounding Up Two Men Accused of Taking 56
Sacks of Spuds From Car.

In connection with theft early Tuesday morning of 56 sacks of potatoes valued at $130 from a freight car in the yards at Menan, Idaho, Otto Arrington, Harrison street, and Diane Adams, Jackson street, were arrested by the police here Wednesday evening and are being held for an investigation.

William E. Rhodes of Rigby, sheriff of Madison county, and W. A. Casper of Menan, owner of the stolen potatoes, said that the two men, who had been driving the truck, arrived here last evening and will assist in the investigation.

The missing potatoes are believed to have been loaded on a truck that was traced through Blackfoot, Teton Valley and the town of Pocatello. Only one wagonload of potatoes remained to be placed in the car to complete loading when they were taken by the leaders in the freight yards at Menan Monday evening. The thief, it was learned, had been questioned by the officers, who entered the car with the inspector Thursday morning. The missing sacks had been taken out of the bottom of the car.

Deliver Apples at Roberts

Arrington and Casper also informed the knowledge of the potato theft. They told the officers, under questioning, that they had delivered a truck load of apples at Roberts, Idaho, at 3:30 o'clock Friday morning, and that an hour later they had stopped at Grant, Idaho, for a few minutes.

The truck used by the men held here, according to the officers, con-

GERMANS TEACH MORE ENGLISH

Language Replaces French as Principal Foreign Tongue Taught in Schools.

BERLIN, March 23 (AP)—The English language is beginning to gain a stronger foothold in the German schools.

In most of the Prussian schools the teaching of French has been started first, to pupils from 9 to 10 years old, with English not following until three years later. A number of schools in northwestern Germany, however, have adopted the English method of making English the principal foreign language taught by beginning its teaching earlier.

This example may have been followed by the school administration of Charlottenburg, one of the big districts of Berlin, which has decided the new big school to be opened at Easter time the teaching of English will be stressed, making it the first foreign language to which the pupils are introduced.

Commemorate Writing Of 'Silent Night'

BERLIN, March 23 (AP)—The memory of the two men who gave to the world one of its best known Christmas carols, "Silent Night," is to be perpetuated by a memorial to be erected in Oberndorf, Bavaria, the native village near the Passion Play city of Oberammergau.

The words of "Silent Night," which has been translated into virtually all living tongues, were written by Joseph Mohr, a young Catholic monk and assistant priest. The melody was composed by the parish teacher Franz Gruber. Funds for the memorial are being raised by the sale of a brochure on the history of the carol, written by Dr. Weingärtner, director of the conservatory for church music at Regensburg, Bavaria.

Servant Problem For Church Wives

BERLIN, March 23 (AP)—The joint efforts of the church in the campaign of working a month for from $10 to $14.50 each woman, board and laundry, is not yet such a rare jewel in Berlin, the municipal employment division reports, that there is any danger of a shortage of domestic help or a strike.

The German maids of the house are more fortunate than the American sisters, but it is a fact that maids prefer to work for Americans in Berlin. The standard wage scale set down by the labor ministry of the government divides into eight grades: single men, $12 to $13.50 a month; male ranks $29 to $35; maid who can cook $30 to $32; assistant maid $5 to $7; trained nursery girls, $10 to $12; maid with two girls $7 to $8; male servants $18 to $20, all inclusive of board and keep.

The employers in addition are required to pay all or part of the servants' contribution to the state for sick benefit insurance, old-age pension and unemployment insurance, which amounts to about 25 a month.

Luther Descendants Numbered At 612

BERLIN, March 23 (AP)—Descendants of Martin Luther are by no means numerous in Germany.

According to the Rev. Otto Satorius of Braunschweig, in Thuringia, himself an offspring of Luther, who after long and careful research has come to the conclusion that Luther himself left to die among 612 living descendants of the Reformer. None of whom, however, carry their great progenitor's name.

Of theologians who formerly constituted the majority of the progeny, the last to teach the Reformation in the business now are fathers and mothers engineers. The present day descendants are scattered all over the world, one even being a resident of Japan and having a Japanese wife. All the children of this couple married Japanese.

Reading Plus Stop Lights On Speakers

BERLIN, March 23 (AP)—Longwindedness on the part of so many Reich speakers has prompted the installation of a device which limits the flow of words in that body being regulated along street traffic lines.

On either side of the Avenue in the great square of the Reichstag building, glass cases containing a device noted with the name of the President of the chamber, were recently installed. Five minutes before the expiration of the session, when the glow lamp goes out, warning comes. When time is up, another glowing lamp goes out.

Not functioning, however, the red signal is evidently ignored. The system then proves its essential effectiveness for the whole town makes a clamor.

New Beacon Light Can Pierce Mist Or Cloud

BERLIN, March 23 (AP)—A beacon light, which is described as visible through mist and clouds and is easily distinguished from street lamps, is now in wide use in Germany.

While the light, known as the "Neon" tube, is most clearly for marking boundaries and obstacles, a report says it also has enough power to illuminate the fields and meadows, particularly in the vast areas of northern Germany, marking out a flying path along which the lights are left burning all night.

As guide posts for flyers, the tubes are mounted about 30 kilometers apart and are operated without attendants.

Brilliant Minister Is Storm Center of Irish Heresy Trial

BELFAST, March 23 (AP)—The Rev. J. Ernest Davey, about whose young shoulders is resting a fierce controversy which threatens to split the Irish Presbyterian church, is considered one of the most brilliant theological scholars in Ireland.

He was such an outstanding student at King's College, Cambridge university, that he was awarded a fellowship in theology, a distinction which had not fallen to a theological student for 26 years.

Mr. Davey said that he does not object to being called a "fundamentalist," but that his friends being called a "modernist."

"I stand for so much that cannot be called 'moderation,'" he said, pointing out that he is a protestant, a Presbyterian, a member of the Free church, and a follower of the American revolution.

The first written constitution known to history that created a government was the "Fundamental Orders" adopted by the Connecticut colonists in 1639. It is the same reference to king or parliament nor any pledge of loyalty to a sovereign power.

The enthusiasts assumed the right to govern themselves and invested ultimate power in "all that are admitted friends and have taken the oath of fidelity and cohabitation with this jurisdiction."

Thanks to this assumption and the very liberal royal charter secured by Governor John Winthrop in 1692 Connecticut was governed by "Brother Jonathan Trumbull" chosen by the people, while the Revolution began.

CONNECTICUT FIRST TO ELECT GOVERNOR

HARTFORD, March 23 (AP)—People of this state cherish a distinction not shared with any other of the original 13 states.

Connecticut was the only colony ruled by an elected instead of a royal governor, and the first to break away from the American revolution.

HUSBANDS FEAR BARBER'S SWAY OVER FAIR SEX

Influence of Tonsorial Artists Over Women Customers Worries Men; Bobbed Hair Gets Blame for Situation.

(By The Associated Press)
PARIS, March 23 (AP)—Barbers' influence over women is worrying some Paris parlor philosophers. Bobbed hair has become so popular that men who never before went to a hairdresser now are regular customers.

There are exclusive salons de coiffure for the few, but the ordinary working man prefers the barber shop to have his hair trimmed. And he wants the reputation of being talkative. They suggest tips on the robes to men. They have their ideas on politics. They do not sing, say the French critics, in extending the range of their conversation. And they have a wide class of customers whom they have not seen before.

The French depend largely on word of mouth advertising. As the barber, the hairdresser, the king of the salons and their wives, ask the married ones, what is to prevent them from discussing their personal affairs with the women? The barbers may put fresh ideas into the minds of the listeners. The men, too, are more or less prone to frequent housekeeping and visitivity. Some husbands view the barbers as especially mighty than the pen or the sword."

Groom Organizes to Less Work, More Pay

PARIS, March 23 (AP)—The life of the clown is to be made brighter in France by an association for the protection, defense and mutual aid of the profession.

Clowns work harder under their grease paint and get less money than any other theatrical performers, said the founder of the association. They also demand that clowns under less friendly conditions than those in which other theatrical artists work.

Such famous funmakers as Fratelli brothers, Charley of the Clowns de Paris, and scores of other known throughout Europe are members of the new association.

Too many calls for charity purposes is one blemish of the clown's life specifically mentioned by the association. Another is low salaries, which, from the society's thinking, they can rectify.

Gambling Casinos Take Bad Check Risk

PARIS, March 23 (AP)—Bingo checks are not good currency in going to a gambling casino in France. It's "caved emperor" for the casino.

The court of cassation, the highest tribunal in France, held yesterday in a test case, A. M. Jean-Louis Anney bought chips with checks for which there were no funds. Issuance of such checks in France is a criminal offense, far more severely punished than in America.

Bad checks are bad checks, the court held, but a gambling debt is uncleivable through the courts, therefore a bad check given for chips which are used for gambling is outside the law.

The gambling legislation even comes into play—a loan or advances made by a third-party when it is known the money is for gambling.

Riviera Beaches Are Outdoor Gymnasiums

PARIS, March 23 (AP)—Enthusiastic exercisers have made out-door gymnasiums of the Riviera beaches. The most popular is from exercise and bath to the beach. The first fashion was in lounge or sleep in the sun.

It is an uncommon sight to see several classes in bathing suits working away in the early morning sun—men and women, boys and girls at different Indian clubs and sand drifts. Holiday groups under the guidance of physical instructors are combining exercise with loafing.

The men are trying to correct round shoulders and crooked walklines. The physical instructor volunteers. The women want to reduce and to attain the long, lithe lines of the fashionable figure.

Old Designs Depict Presidential Uniform

PARIS, March 23 (AP)—France once owned a special costume for its presidents.

The republic has been reminded of the fact by the recent sale of old designs for the presidential costumes of Felix Faure, Georges Clemenceau and M. Poincaré had them made up in 1876. President Wilson, who wished to appear in special "president's dress," A long coat and short court trousers were the model he chose.

The president's adviser objected to the undignified idea of a special dress for the head of the republic and the clothes were never made up.

Decision Clarifies Question of Taxing Of National Banks

WASHINGTON, March 23 (AP)—The widely disputed question of taxes which states may impose upon national banks was materially clarified by the supreme court yesterday in decisions in the cases of Minnesota, Wisconsin and Kentucky.

The federal law provides that state taxes upon national banks shall be the same as those imposed upon competing national and state banks.

In applying the Justice Department's view, the court held that private investors in these banks which might be held in common, and in the same bank, in which they do business, if not imposed as taxes upon national banks but which are imposed upon such competing national banks, are invalid and can not be enforced.

The Wisconsin case was brought by the National Bank of Hartford

and the Kentucky case by the George

Washington National Bank, while Minnesota appealed in a case won in the lower courts by the First National Bank of St. Paul.

TURKEY'S GRAND OLD MAN MARRIES AT 153

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 23 (AP)—Zarif Agha, friend and steward old man of Turkey, has died at the age of 153 years. He was born in 1846 and led an eventful life during which, at one time, another of his sons won in the lottery.

The Wisconsin case was brought by the First National Bank of Hartford

and the Kentucky case by the George

Washington National Bank, while Minnesota appealed in a case won in the lower courts by the First National Bank of St. Paul.

FARMERS OF FRANCE ORGANIZING "BLOC"

PARIS, March 23 (AP)—Farmers of France soon expect to speak and act as a unit in telling the government exactly what they want.

The are organizing a national system of Chambers of Agriculture under the direction of the government, with a central chamber to act with authority.

The plan has been hanging fire.

Farmers, therefore, the city people have contributed but little in taxes.

Their interests, however, have been in the hands of politicians dependent upon the cities.

They fear their needs, their demands agreed usually only on the necessity of not making them pay heavy taxes for the farmers' children have gone to the cities just as they have, in rural strength, out these "good."

Commerce already has the same system of chambers, but the different businesses do not always see eye to eye and they fear the great influence of the farmers whose demands upon the government are likely to be unjust.

PUSH LIQUOR ACROSS RIO GRANDE TUBS

SAN ANTONIO, March 23 (AP)—Every conceivable device from worn out wash tubs to airships is being used by rum runners to cross the Rio Grande border in accordance with the scope of their contraband across the Rio Grande river into Texas, according to Ed Collier, deputy collector of customs here.

Most of the liquor coming across the border, Collier declared, is being brought by individuals, or small combines of smugglers.

The Rio Grande is navigable only in spots and boozing is forbidden by treaty. The river is so shallow in CANDLES. A French flavor reflects the sign of wealth in America. The more money people possess—the more electrical apparatus they have in their homes, the more they ignore it and use candles. And when they do use electric lights, it is usually in the form of imitation candle.

It does seem curious, when you consider how glad our grandmothers were to get away from the use of candles. The kerosene lamp was great lighting, the light of luxury, and supremely beautiful. Then in came the candle, and gaslights were banished and beautiful. Then gas lights became ugly and messy-looking lights were introduced with electric illumination, the candle, with electric illumination, became for all its artistic possibilities, we are getting back to candles again for social illumination. It is a familiar thing to see wax candles burning on the dinner table under the electric chandelier, sometimes along with the electric light.

Yes, it is amazing. Yet there is another side to it. Candles are interwoven with the old memories of the race. There is poetry in a candle, than in an electric bulb. And what is more purely beautiful and master perfection in this imperfect world, than the flame of a candle?

SUCCESS

How much will you make out of it? James Taylor was asked, referring to his operas. "The King's Henchman," produced by the Metropolitan Opera Company and rated a big success. "If I write a second opera," replied the composer, "it shall be named."

Then he added quietly, as an after thought: "Not that I consider that important."

There may be fame in grand opera, but there is little money. Not one in a hundred is said to pay the composer for his trouble—even when it is received with the plaudits of critics and public. Yet Taylor has accepted a commission from the Metropolitan to write another opera, for delivery in two years.

It is good to know that there are still men in the world, and in America at that, who consider artistic success more important than financial success.

LET'S BE EXCITING

Now the psychologists are urging us all to be more exciting. It sounds like something new in behavior but is actually rather old and familiar. The psychologists simply mean that we should think less about ourselves and our troubles and more about interests and activities outside of ourselves.

By so doing they should always get rid of various fears which have changed our style, hindered our progress and even ruined our health.

The advice has been given many times before, but perhaps the honey new term will make it more acceptable now. If a lot of people would just take up excitement as an end in itself, others would be quite a bit more energetic and sunny.
