ILLINOIS QUINT BEATS ARKANSAS FOR HOOP TITLE

Cicero Team Wins National Basket Ball Championship by Taking Gruelling Contest From Batesville, 18 to 16.

(By The Associated Press.) CHICAGO, April 2.—Motion picture school of Cicero, Illinois, won the high school basketball championship of the nation tonight from Batesville, Arkansas, by a two-point margin—18 to 16. The heavy team from the Chicago suburb, composed of Jack, named Kank, ski, Hordine, Nystrom, Rozak, and Feneel, ground down the Arkansas quint in the final game of the tournament and won from a team whose bitter game was not enough to offset the burly pace the victors set.

Turn Back Threat

The Carpenter brothers strove valiantly against the Cicero team and with Bickren led the southrons' attack, but long shots by Rozak and Cicero, and a pair of easy ones by Nystrom, came apparently to turn back the first serious threat the south ever made at a national basket crown.

Batesville led for a few moments at the start, but was not beaten until the final gun for it rattled long shot after long shot off the backboard in the last seconds of play in a vain effort to tie the score.

Each player was introduced before the game began.

Semi-Final Play

In the semi-finals, Batesville defeated Huron, 8, 17, 25 to 10 and Martin High of Cicero won 28 to 29 from Plaquemine, Mississippi, both by virtue of rail low at the outset of the second half. The Carpenter brothers, members of a family which has lent athletic prowess to Batesville teams for several generations, furnished most of the punch which put Huron out of the race, and Allen got four goals apiece from their forward positions, while only Collins could annex four baskets for the westrons.

The Cicero team won with brains, from the Mississippi entry, its weight and endurance telling in the last half against the weary boys from the south. The Huron team held its opponents almost equal for two periods and finished the half at the short end of a 10 to 8 score. The second half, however, began with baskets by Dickson, Will Carpenter and Murphy for Batesville, and the highest lead was too long for the Dakotans who wilted rapidly

OUTLINES PLANS OF ASSOCIATION

Twin Falls Fish and Game Organization Takes Initiative in Inclusive Program.

H. C. Edmunds, secretary of the Twin Falls Fish and Game association, announces the plans of the organization for the coming season and asks the support and cooperation of sportsmen in effecting the plans outlined. The organization plans to enlarge their present plant in Back creek to accommodate from 1,000 to 1,500 fish to be reared and fed until they have attained a size of from 5 to 8 inches, when most of them will be released in the Snake and one will be released into the Snake river below Shoshone falls.

From Cedar Creek Plant

The fish to be reared this year will come from the Cedar creek hatchery, and as they have been selected for this locality hereafter from Hay Spur on Salver creek, there is a double advantage in putting over the season as outlined. One advantage is that the fish ordinarily grown for this locality from the Hay Spur hatchery will now be available for the Wood river country, which will be a big benefit to that much used territory. Another advantage not to be overlooked is the fact that an enlarged local plant will make it possible to develop more fishermen to release in our own waters.

Fishermen's Paradise

The Snake river, with the American Falls dam controlling the water, will be one of the finest fishing grounds in the country, and the future can easily be visualized, with from 500,000 to 750,000 fish released into it annually below Shoshone falls.

The cost of enlarging the plant and feeding the carpenter will be approximately $50 for the coming season. Of this amount $400 remains to be raised and a drive for members will be started Tuesday, April 5. W. R. Friebe is chairman of the membership committee, whose headquarters will be in his place of business at 200 Main avenue east.

Open Membership

Since the project is of such a large scope to be of community interest the association feels that local sportsmen will take advantage of the opportunity offered by the drive for membership to affiliate themselves with the organization. Membership is open to anyone interested in the development and protection of local fishing grounds, and the association does not expect sportsmen to wait until they are solicited before they join.

W. R. Friebe, H. R. Grant, Alvin Harbort and H. C. Edmunds, compose the membership committee.

SHIFT STYLE OF PLAY

Almost in replica was the experience of the Cicero team, which finished the first half leading 14 to 10. Two baskets by Rozak and one by Kankski gave Cicero a two point lead 16 to 10 after the second half. In the play opened, and the Mississippians, confused by the shift of Cicero to a defensive style of play, finished in demoralized fashion with their offense functioning feebly.

Consolation Checks

A free-throw by Bonita at the end of an extra period won Northwest high school of Kansas City, Missouri, the consolation title in the national high school basket ball tourney here tonight. The lads from Athens, Texas, who flattered to the tourney, but 24 to 23 after a remarkable rally which enabled them to tie the count at 23 all at the end of the regular playing period.

A foul called on Athens just as the overtime period ended without a score gave Renfro, Missouri, forward, a chance at the free-throw line which he made good.

Kansas City's scoring was distributed between Brewer, Renfro and Chilton, while Reynolds led the Texas attack.

The schedule for today's shoot follows:

NAME PITCHERS FOR FIRST DUTY

Big League Managers Occupied With Nominations for Mound Work in Season's Openers.

NEW YORK, April 2 (AP)—Thought of opening nominations for major league pitching battles has occupied managers at the baseball scene since from south to east.

One change in the program has been ordered by fate. Walter Johnson, who has pitched the opener in 16 of his 21 years with the Washington Senators, is out for a matter of weeks on account of an injury and Stanley Coveleski will direct the first assignment.

His opponent probably will be Byron Briggs, long and lean star of the Boston Red Sox. Cleveland will send Earl Laverne against the Chicagoans with the likely White Sox selection Ted Bluebird.

Chooses Left-Hander

who will doubtless call on Urban Shooker to toss his left ball on opening day.

The St. Louis Browns will lose no time in calling on "Red Han" Jones to earn his money and the former Yankee is in a receptive mood to do the first pitching of the year for Don Dowdy. Earl Whitehill, southpaw, has an edge in Detroit calculations for the day.

John J. McGraw has made no announcement, but Burleigh Grimes is being prepared for some game and it may be the first.

FORESTER SPINS YARN ABOUT CAT

Paul Fair of San Francisco Department Matches Seton's Account of Playful Cougar.

DENVER, April 2.—Some time ago, in a review of Thompson Seton's "Lives of Game Animals," mention was made of the playfulness of the cougar.

A very interesting instance of this kind of behavior, not long ago and I thought you might use it.

Encounter Big Cat. (The morning in going to their work they noticed the fresh tracks of a cougar in the dust of the road.)

It was a brown, striped cat of its kind, as far as the color and the shape of its body were concerned.

"This happened several times until the boys managed to register a direct hit, when with a bound, the big cat went over a bank beside the road and into the brush.

"The old man with whom the boys were staying had a .22 rifle and an old hound which at some time in its career had lost a leg in a bear trap, so when the lion disappeared they went back for these reinforcements.

"The playful cougar was certainly very unusual and something I have never seen in any writings about the animal."

Use Bunk Wagon For Classroom

MINN., Minn., April 2 (AP)—A bunk wagon, dropped for the winter when the road goes up, is a temporary hall of learning for nine Minnesota youngsters.

The schoolhouse of District No. 125 burned in midwinter and the board could find no way to build another before spring.

Woman Motorist in Speedy Car Eludes Officers in Chase

Emulating the conqueror of Atlanta, only using pint flasks of moonshine whiskey instead of golden apples, a woman motorist, said to be Mrs. Effie Wilson, in a speedy automobile throx out the pursuit of Twin Falls police officers when they stopped to pick up the bottles of liquor that, they said, had been hurried overboard from her car.

Officers took up the chase behind the woman's car when it turned onto the highway off Main avenue west and followed it for about four miles when it started suddenly into a farm driveway to turn around and double back on the road to Twin Falls.

The car, a 1925 Buick, was driven by Mrs. Effie Wilson, who was seen to be in the car near the rear axle.

GOLDEN BOTTLE TRADE SIGN OF OLD-TIME BANK

Visiting Americans Puzzled by Emblem Over Fleet Street Door; Institution Dates Back Several Centuries.

(By The Associated Press)
LONDON, April 2 (AP)—American visitors to London, when passing down Fleet street, the home of English newspapers, often pause and wonder why a golden bottle is suspended over the door of No. 37.

It marks the last bank in London to stand against amalgamation with more powerful rivals. The exact date of the bank's foundation is unknown. It is so old, this bank of "The Messengers," that books and other documents that would determine its age were destroyed in the great London fire in 1666.

At that time numbering of houses had not developed—most people could not read—the golden bottle was used as its trade sign. Peys and Lady Fairfax were among its earliest customers.

Inside the bank at present an old-time atmosphere prevails. Quill pens are in everyday use and the top-hatted, frock-coated bank messengers still wear white ties. A member of the family of Messengers always resides in the bank, thus maintaining the custom of "olden days" when city bankers and shopkeepers always lived over their business premises.

Tourists Monacoe Baked Potatoes

LONDON, April 2 (AP)—Britain's traditional baked potato is threatened. The cooking college of the Empire Marketing Board is demonstrating 150 ways to cook potatoes, and women are showing much interest in the recipes. London cafes which cater to foreigners are now serving baked potatoes with paprika and butter, and German fried potatoes are again on the bills of high-priced restaurants. A request for creamed potatoes will upset the kitchen in nearly any British restaurant. They have been hated ever since the British discovered potatoes are not poisonous, and old-time cooks are slow to try any other way.

Fad For Big Dogs Arouses Protests

LONDON, April 2 (AP)—Dogs are on the defensive in English journals. They used to have the "big dog" which, even those of the first rank. That was when women carried Pekingeses and Pomeranians in their muffs and fed them cake at public dining tables. But since pet dogs have taken on the size of overgrown wolves and "kindly" Arabian pets have bitten a number of persons the long-suffering public has turned. "Keep dogs out of the public rooms of hotels" is a cry that has risen all over England. This is especially true of motor car lounges. "Why turn lounges into Zouls?" "Provide arenas for folks who carry packs of trained wolves around with them." "Why can't I be allowed to drink my tea without having an Arabian wolf's hair on my tea?" are samples of the protests which reach the British newspapers.

ROAD REACHES GREAT FOREST

Rail Line Piercing Mountain Fastness of North Idaho Costs $100,000 Per Mile.

(NEW YORK, April 2)—America's last great white pine forest, whose accessible position in the mountain fastnesses of Idaho has preserved it in its original state, is about to be cut off at last before engineering ingenuity and economic demand. Logging operations in a 500-square-mile section of the immense Clearwater forest will begin in July, according to the Review of Reviews for April. They have been made possible by the completion of the nation's crookedest railroad, twisting its way up 2000 feet from the town of Orofino, Idaho, into the heart of an American wilderness as impenetrable today as when Columbus touched foot on the continent.

The demand for match sticks and other white pine products has justified economically the building of the railroad at the seldom equal cost of $100,000 a mile is told in the article, which estimates that the next ten years will witness the depletion of the present white pine supply in Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, leaving this the single great remaining source.

'Too Many Teas' In Cry of Scullions

LONDON, April 2 (AP)—There have been as many afternoon tea parties of late at No. 10 Downing street, official residence of the prime minister, that the fishermen threaten to throw up anchor. "Why protest for luncheons and dinners day-after-day, they found difficulty in keeping up with their work."

Mrs. Stanley Baldwin, the prime minister's wife, solved the problem by getting a "washing-up" machine of the size of those used in hotels. "My household never hesitates to nag me with suggestions," said Mrs. Baldwin. "I followed the suggestion about a machine for dish washing, but the servants' request for more cups was vetoed, as I already have more than 200."

Mrs. Baldwin buys all her eggs in the country when they are cheap and preserves them in water glass. They are not kept long, however, as the prime minister is nearly as fond of poached eggs on toast as he is of politics.

Senator Johnson To Carry On in Fight for Bill

(SAN FRANCISCO, April 2 (AP)—Senator Johnson arrived here today planning to spend the months prior to reassembling of congress in fighting for the Boulder Dam project.

"Senator Johnson said that although a filibuster prevented obtaining of a final vote on the Bing-Johnson bill in the last session of congress, its advocates advanced the project further than it had gone in all prior years.

"We must meet an opposition which cannot be underestimated," said the senator. "It is not the opposition of Arizona, but the hostility of the great power-trust which insidiously says that the United States government can only do what it will permit."

"When any man talks of amending the bill to eliminate opposition he means subject surrender to the hydro electric trust and deny to the United States government to do what it sees fit for the development of federal property and protection of our own people."

TIMES-PICTAYUNE PRINTS FOREST WEEK EDITION

(DENVER, April 2)—A special 16-page section printed on paper made from southern pine trees will be published by the New Orleans "Times-Picayune" on Sunday, April 24, the first day of American forest week, according to word which has been received by the forest service from A. M. Gottschall, head of the Times-Picayune's national advertising department.

The special American forest week issue, which will be printed in forest green ink, will be devoted to the interests of the wood-using industries and to reforestation and forest conservation. Leaders in the wood industries of the south are planning to send special quantities of the paper over the country in addition to the Times-Picayune's southern states circulation of 124,000.

In announcing this issue, Mr. Gottschall declares that "this will be the first time a large American newspaper has given such an impetus to southern lumbering." He states that 25,000 tons of southern Kraft paper were sold in 1924; 175,000 tons in 1925, and some mills are doubling capacity this year.

A letter from President Erskine

I am very glad indeed to hear that you are interested in the Commander. I hope that your motorists, like those in other sections, are responding enthusiastically to the Commander with its lowered price and heightened performance. It is indeed a triumph worthy of Studebaker's Diamond Jubilee.

One of America's leading business men has written me that the Commander is "the greatest feat of post-war engineering."

Any one in your community who spends more than $1500 for a car and does not purchase a Commander or a President has made a serious mistake for which you should feel accountable.

If you give every such person an opportunity to drive a Commander these mistakes will not occur.

"ON FLANDERS FIELD" Actual motion pictures taken on the western front at the cost of 14 million dollars at the signal of the United States army will be shown in the Orpheum theatre Monday and Tuesday under the auspices of the Disabled American Veterans. A share in the proceeds from the show will be used in providing relief for those in need of compensation.

The boys have undertaken a big responsibility in taking over the Orpheum theatre for Monday and Tuesday, but with a hearty cooperation of world war veterans and their friends this show will undoubtedly be one of the biggest successes ever put over by a veterans organization. The name of this remarkable feature is "On Flanders Field" and it is an authentic picture chosen by the government as official. Anyone who can see such a fight and not feel a tingling of the patriot's blood is not a man; therefore, you must be prepared to distinguish the patriotism of the hero. Nothing could be more eloquent of the fact that the boys are at the front a most tremendous sacrifice and displayed unflinching courage.

"A Hero of the Big Snows" written by Herman Rosyaner, who also directed this picture, is a below the belt "hit" of "The Climb of the Wolfpack" and "The Night Cry."

BULGIN CALLS FOR RENEWAL OF VOW TO CHURCH

Tabernacle Audience Rises in Impressive Expression of Loyalty to Faith.

With only a few exceptions, every person in an audience of about 1200 persons addressed by Dr. E. J. Bulgin, evangelist, in the tabernacle here Saturday evening, stood in his place in response to the evangelist's invitation to give expression to a renewal of vows of loyalty as a church member.

An audience that will fill the tabernacle to the limit of its capacity is expected to attend this evening's services in which five "Twin Falls churches" and a number of the churches of neighboring towns will cooperate. Dr. Bulgin this evening will discuss the question "Will the Old Book Stand?" giving reasons for belief that the Bible is inspired.

Makes Comparisons

In his lecture last evening on "The Church," Dr. Bulgin compared the church, from the standpoint of discipline, to a "mother" and to a bride and to a mother.

He discussed three things, the origin of the church, the authority of the church and the power of the church.

The origin of the church, he said, is in Christ, the cross and the resurrection. The authority of the church, he asserted, does not lie in the ability of the evangelist or the preacher, but "in Him who founded the church, the great God, Almighty." The church of Jesus Christ, he said, "has to be run with spirituality and if she is not run that way she is not run at all. The church of God does not need members or money half as bad as it needs the Holy Ghost."

Pledge of Loyalty

"Choosing the service, Dr. Bulgin read this pledge and invited the audience to stand as an expression of endorsement of it:

"My church is the place where the word of God is preached, the spirit of God is manifested, the love of God is revealed, and the unity of God is expressed.

"The church is the home of my soul, the altar of my devotion, the heart of my faith, the center of my affections, and the fortress of my life."

"I have united with the church in solemn covenant, pledged myself to attend its services, to pray for its members, to give it support and to obey its laws.

"The church should have the first place in my heart, the highest place in my mind, the principal place in my activities, and its unity, peace and progress concern my life in this world and that which is to come, my benevolence and my prayers.

"I owe to the church my zeal when I neglect its service; I injure its good name; I lessen its power; I discourage its members and chill my own soul.

"I have solemnly covenanted in the sight of God and men to advance the kingdom of God on earth by: faithfully attending its services; reading the Holy Bible; by never neglecting its ordinances; by contributing to its support; by meeting with my fellow members; by watching over their welfare; and by joining with them in prayer, praise and service.

"And that promise I this day solemnly renew before God the Father, Christ the Redeemer and the Holy Spirit my Sanctifier."

FORD CAR PLUNGES 150 FEET INTO DRY CREEK

MURTAUGH, April 2. (Special to The News)—Clyde Murtaugh of Murtaugh is short a river. He left it standing in the yard of his ranch home located on the bank of Dry Creek last Friday morning, headed toward the precipice that rises 150 feet above the little stream and the machine rolled forward and plunged into the creek below. The incident was witnessed by one and at first it was thought that the car was stolen. A close search however revealed tracks to the edge of the canyon wall and Mr. Murtaugh's wagon of cowboys once was discovered in the bottom of the stream, a complete wreck.

Among the three positions attracting the voters' attention at the election, most emphasis has been given to the matter of the election of a mayor and two councilmen, and the Sunday afternoon session at the city hall of the city council, endorsement of a proposed levy of a quarter of a mill tax for support of Twin Falls municipal bond issues to be regarded generally as a foregone conclusion.

AMERICAN FIELDS OF HONOR

BELLEAU AND FERE-EN-TARDENOIS

The American military cemeteries in the Marne salient:

BELLEAU AND FERE-EN-TARDENOIS

(Editor's Note: This is one of a series of five articles by Richard S. Jones, dealing with the American cemeteries abroad where rest 3,000 American soldiers who died on the field of honor.)

As an American soldier, you would look out onto the little valley here and see a very peaceful scene indeed. The valley is full of green fields, some of them with small French farms, some are on buildings on the bank. The farmers live in little villages at crossings of the roads, where they go forth to work their fields, and whether they bring in their crops, the farmers say the system developed in days when a single farm house was quite helpless against bands of marauders, there were no single farm houses. Thus France is dotted with villages, which are clusters of farm homes, barns, and one or two little stores, with maybe a tiny inn as the community center, and certainly a church.

Here the national flag, a little red house and the caretaker's home are at hand. The main road through the valley passes in front of the cemetery, which means on the far side as you see it from the woods. What a strange picture it all makes after the fearful carnage of the battle of Belleau Wood, through which you have passed. There they are at rest, sleeping under the flag after those terrible days in the infernal salient of the Marne personal battles of modern warfare, the fighting from stone to stone and tree to tree.

One comes through Belleau wood, or comes as the marines came through, from the west to the east, and a little north. The right way to go through is on foot. A road has been cut for the motor buses, but only one foot can you properly visit the fighting. It is a problem and an effort to walk through today, without the machine guns, barbed wire, or the snipers watching their chances, or the snipers' smoking things to process all this. What a scene it is to see the cemetery of 1918! How an earth did it do! The wood is also a hill, and in the center of the hill, the view of the valley and the finger villages, off to the left, has another striking feature of this quiet landscape. It is the American cemetery, affluently known as the Alsace-Marne cemetery, and more often called Belleau cemetery, because it lies so near the northeast corner of the hill on which are the woods. Here with some part of the 30,000 American Legionnaires who they make their pilgrimage to France in 1918.

Old Glory flies over the field above that patch of green and white.

Gather All Bodies

wooden from the west, and through them to the valley of the cemetery. By this route will the members of the second A. E. F. return to the Marne salient.
Another road from Chateau Thierry turns off to the right from the main highway at the top of the hill about a mile out from Chateau Thierry. On this road the cemetery first comes into view from the crest of Hill 190, appearing as a patch of snow against the green hillsides. Hill 190 was in the hands of the Germans during most of the fighting in the area, and from such a point as their main base of the fighting in and around Belleau woods. On July 20, 1918, the twenty-eighth division attacked from the crest of Belleau woods and captured Hill 190. There was desperate fighting back and forth across the road from the top of the hill down towards the cemetery.

Many From South of Marne
Many of the others buried here are from the fighting south of the Marne and east of Chateau Thierry, where the first German drive was launched on July 15, 1918. It was during this attack that the third division not only stopped the advance but they cut back, the attackers back across the river in disorder. Further east towards Reims there was a fearful butting and straining of that line, but it held. Then the tide turned and the line began to move forward.

To the north toward Soissons on the west side of the Marne salient the first and second American divisions, fighting with the foreign legion and the Marneans, drove a lance point deep into the salient on July 18.
The fourth division, brigaded with the French fourth south, made important gains in its initial experience in the front line.

The twenty-sixth had reflected the second on the north and east edges of Belleau wood on July 16 and on the eighteenth, joined in the general counter-offensive planned by Foch. They took the actual ground where Belleau cemetery stands and the village of Belleau and Tercy beyond. The dead of these four divisions rest at Belleau cemetery.

Belleau wood and Vaux and Chateau Thierry and Soissons and the north bank of the Marne were the beginning of this battle which lasted until mid-September and was American troops advancing with their French comrades every day in that long interval. By July 28 the line had reached to the crest of Hill 190, about half-way to the salient, and the counter-offensive of his desperate stands, intent on saving the remainder of his gains and consolidating for future operations. It is here, near Fere-en-Tardenois, that the second and larger American counter-offensive in the Marne salient is located. Here rest 6,000 Yanks who helped in the turning point of the war.

The cemetery is to the east of the town, between Soissons and Noyon, and is the resting place of many members of the forty-second (Rainbow) division, which never forgot. The town of Fere-en-Tardenois is about the center of the triangle made by Chateau Thierry, Soissons and Reims, some 12 miles from Soissons. The cemetery is about 700 feet from the town, and about 10 miles from Paris. It may be reached by rail and a few automobiles are available for hire at Fere-en-Tardenois while auto taxis are in good shape from these directions.

From All Over Nation
The site is rolling upward, an upland which the boys of the Rainbow saw on July 28, through the morning mist, as they poured down the hill from south of the Ourcq, crossed that little stream which plunged into the heart of battle, and machine gun fire as they started up these very hills. This landscape between Soissons and Reims is typical of the ground our men fought over. The Pennsylvania of the twenty-eighth division saw Hill 190 just like this, and the night toward Chateau Thierry, the third had seen this in the night, and there were more ahead for these six weeks of the fourth, twenty-eighth, thirty-second and the seventy-seventh, as we pushed on to the Bois de la Vierge valley. It is in this valley that the deal of these divisions which lie here in "serried rows" under the Stars and Stripes. They come from every corner of the nation, the state names on the crosses representing east and west, north and south. That is why Belleau will be the big concentration point for the Legionnaires as they make their sacred pilgrimage to the cemetery.

Maybe it was Bill Brewster's Alabama who first surged up this slope, halting "Heaven, Hell or Hoboken before Christmas." Maybe it was that bunch of New Yorkers yelling "Guns and bayonets," a cheerful little chorus that originated from the command of Captain Richard Ryan: "Drop your packs! If you don't think you can get them and if you don't want 'em, then all you need from here on is guts and bayonets." Like enough it was without, but those easy Jowans who will probably be back here next September with shoulder Dan Shook (whoever thought about being a senator in those days) and the rest of the American Legion convention crowd which always seems to have loquacious or less crazy still at reunion times in the vanguard.

is the line, and the Legionnaires will probably see the cemetery again. From the five days' fighting of July 28 to August 2, the enemy retreated to the Vesle river, and from there by mid-September he had been driven almost to the Aisne. There had been a special engagement by the thirty-second division on the left and beyond the Aisne, taking Juvigny, and Trepun.

all these later fields, the heroic dead were later brought together to rest near Fere-en-Tardenois.
Work Goes Forward
The beautifying of these cemeteries under the auspices of the graves registration service of the army has gone steadily forward. Caretakers are located at each and there are rest houses for visitors, where the records are carefully kept so that individual graves may be promptly located. The bodies which were asked for by relatives have been returned to the states. Those which remain will rest here, forth in fields of honor whose improvement will go forward until no finer cemeteries will be found in any land.

The American battle monuments commission has charge of the future improvements. At Fere-en-Tardenois a chapel will be erected, costing about $140,000, designed by Gram & Ferguson, Boston architects, who have likewise planned the chapel at Belleau, which will cost approximately $110,000. Masonry walls will be completed around each and the landscape work will be continued. Already the trees and shrubbery make the sites very attractive. These cemetery chapels and other improvements have had the approval of congress, and form a major part of the battle monuments commission will go forward until the task of planning and erecting the official American monuments on our battlefields overseas, and of passing upon all private projects for overseas monuments.

In the Chrysler "50", Walter P. Chrysler and his corps of engineers, studying the field of fine and low-priced six-cylinder cars, strove to produce a four-cylinder car which would unmistakably advertise its greater value by its greater performance, greater sturdiness and greater long life.

In its 50-miles-per-hour, 5 to 25 miles in 8 seconds, 25 miles to the gallon, they gave the public something immediate, something convincing, something final and conclusive with which to measure Chrysler "50" against and above anything around its class either in six or four cylinders.

Chrysler "50" has been overwhelmingly accepted by the public for what it was designed and built to be — the giant of its class in Standardized Quality, outstanding performance, full family size, complete appointment and every essential that makes for outstanding and indisputable value.

FRANCE AFFORDS GOOD MART FOR FAKE PAINTINGS

People of Tri-Color Republic, With All Their Artistic Culture, Easy Victims of Dealers in Spurious Masterpieces.

(By The Associated Press)
PARIS, April 2.—France, with all her artistic culture, is a good market for fake masterpieces.

A collection of 61 paintings recently was bought by a wealthy Frenchman for 100,000 francs because many of the canvases were signed "Delacroix," "Millet," "Corot," "Monet," "Cajatte" and other names with places in the Louvre.

Friends soon distributed the rich buyer and his wife, the dealer for money and the paintings were returned to the collector without guaranteeing their authenticity.

"Any way," he told the judge, "he might have known he couldn't get genuine pictures by such means, but that price."

France Consold by
Paris, April 2 (AP)—The falling birthrates of nearly all European countries consold the French.

Sweden dropped to 17.5, and even England made a poorer showing than France.

But the glorious part of it, to the French, is that Germany, with a rate of 17.2 a quarter of a century ago, now lags only 2.5.

"Nature takes a vacuum," says one commentator, "and Asia, returning her march, will attempt to fill the void."

Even Switzerland, say the statisticians, is on the downward trend in its birthrate.

Hammocks Suggested
Paris, April 2 (AP)—The hammock is being discovered in France. Relief for crowded city apartments is seen in the hammock.

City authorities are considering their use in public institutions. Serious proposals are being made for the use of the hammock in modest homes and apartments, where each new baby means, eventually, another bed, less room to move about and heavy expenses.

Shoppers prefer hammocks to beds, argues a city alderman. He reminds the public that the cheap hammock is not one at all and that hammocks may have rigid frames and be as comfortable as any bed.

The French now elaborate, costly beds and the hammock would save space and money for crowded families. Several of them could be piled to make a couch in the daytime and quickly swung into place at night.

Valet's Death Is
Paris, April 2 (AP)—The death in Bucharest of Francau, valet for 15 years to Carol, ex-king of Rumania, is described here to the grief of the monarch.

Francau died suddenly in the royal palace, after serving dinner one night to the king of Rumania. He was found in a chair facing a portrait of Prince Carol.

Francau was the first valet Prince Carol had. He served him until the prince renounced the throne of Rumania. Not in the chair, but in the day of Prince Carol's departure the old valet was changed. It is said he never spoke to the king again, but even to members of the royal family, of his feelings where Prince Carol was concerned. He hoped for the king's return until the end, but became less optimistic day by day.

YOUR BOY'S BUSINESS

Building Trade as a Life Work
Being the Eighth of a Series of Timely Articles by ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Fla., April 2 (AP)—Roger W. Babson today discusses his series of interviews on the building industry. These interviews are written as a help both to the young man and to the investor. The general series is known as "Your Boy's Business."

Present Day Difficulties
A reader who was endeavoring to sell his home recently received a message from a woman in Florida. "You ask me to buy a home, but why should I want a home? I was born in a hospital, and I am going to die in a hospital; why should I want to live in an automobile, married in a church, now live in an apartment, get my meals at a cafeteria, go to the movies for entertainment when I can take to a hospital, and when I die I will be buried from an undertaker's. Really, what use have I for a home? What I want is a garage—either a bedroom and a bath."

The above letter may be an exaggeration, but it brings out in a general way the growing desire of most people for smaller homes. It is not only that people are today economizing on living quarters, but also that with the automobile they are able to move in a wider area and hence do not place so much importance on the size of the house they live in. It is almost impossible to sell a large single-residence for what it cost; apartment houses with only large apartments have many vacancies. The demand today is for small six or seven room houses and apartments of three rooms, bath and kitchenette.

There is a great deal of difference between building one's self a home in which to live and in building a home to sell or rent. It is always a good time to build a home for one's self. The birds do not consider commodity prices or fluctuations when deciding to build a nest and raise a family. The birds could well be followed by our young people today in this custom as in some of the other virtues possessed by birds. The building of homes, apartment houses, office buildings, or even homes for the purpose of selling or renting at a profit is another matter. Results in most centers are declining. The shortage has been pretty much overcome and the real estate market is springing down very rapidly. These conditions explain why many of the keenest investors are not now undertaking the construction of more hotels, office buildings, etc.

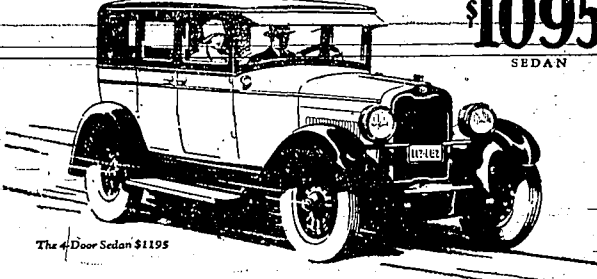

Building Costs Declining
In 1923, before the war, the Babson building materials index stood at 105. This index is made up of the following: Brick, cement, glass, lime, bath, lumber, nails and structural steel. After the war this index rose rapidly to a maximum of 212, which it touched in April, 1920. Since then there has been a general decline and the index now stands approximately 155. This index, however, does not tell the whole story. For instance, although the price of labor in many sections is higher, yet carpenters, bricklayers and masons are doing more work in less hours; discipline is much lower, and the cost of building is to be reduced. There are practically no shortages today in the delivery of goods.

industry today, however, should give a technical training, preferably either in engineering or in architecture. The student should have a course in the fundamentals of business, purchasing commodities and general finance. The building industry is heavily competitive at this time and has a very large labor problem which is destined to be increasingly difficult. The building industry is a very honorable and useful line of work for a young man to enter. It should interest the best young men because the best young men naturally seek to acquire the most constructive success, however, in the building industry one must be well trained, very energetic, and must have sufficient capital and know how to acquire labor. Any young man who fails to have these things will be unable to succeed.

The finest kind of a building business to develop is one on the basis of cost plus a fixed amount for appropriate expenses. This means that a period plus 10 per cent basis as the contractor's profit increases with the amount he spends. Such a basis is strong in principle and there is great opposition to extending it in contracting. The cost plus a fixed amount, however, is not such a good basis probably the contractor is honest and attends to his business. Certainly, if a contractor is getting work all the net in his pocket, but slowly and gradually build up a business on the basis of cost plus a fixed amount. Young men should endeavor to get employment with concerns working on this basis rather than those who simply bid against a lot of competitors.

Contractors should not mix up contracting with investments. Some contractors have a habit of building to keep their men in work. This has usually been a mistake. The contracting business, the building industry, is an entirely different business from the sale of buildings. It is an altogether much better for a contractor to shut down his work and go into the business of building houses for sale. Let the other fellow do this. Moreover, it is suggested to those who build to sell as follows: Confine your houses to small houses of six or seven rooms. Confine your apartments to small apartments of two or three rooms with kitchenette and bath; don't build any hotels unless they are with rooms and baths only, with one small reception room and a cafeteria in the basement which can be rented. There are not of many suggestions, but are made after a careful study. Those who build to sell should carefully keep in mind the letter at the beginning of this interview, from the lady who says she wants only a garage with a bedroom and a bath.

General Business
Probably no one of the great industries, with the exception of the railroad industry, is so intimately connected with the building industry as the building industry. People do not build because they need buildings, but because they need additional floor space. People build most when business is hot and wages are high. Consequently, the most building takes place during the periods of prosperity. The building industry is the snowball that grows as money conditions are a great factor in helping the building industry to stimulate the building industry and prevent the decline being as severe as it otherwise would be. When prosperity is otherwise well advanced, the building industry is not only very dependent on prosperity, but prosperity itself the building industry. When a building is erected it helps all kinds of labor and every other of the nine great industries. The real estate man, the foundation people, the makers of bricks, the makers of hardware, the makers of furniture, the makers of paint, and all groups of people are in some way benefited by building. Hence, everyone has a duty in helping to keep the building industry normally active. Although the Babson

"... all the advantages of Oakland's super-precision construction plus the rich beauty of New Colors in Duco"

In this great era of industrial precision, Oakland manufacturing processes stand out as a marvel of the modern age. Not in the entire history of the automobile has any car of its price embodied so many super-precision processes—so many practical features previously used only in the manufacture of the costlier cars.

Oakland is going to unheard-of lengths to make certain that the Greater Oakland Six continues to be the finest built car of its price in the world. Yet today's Oakland Six is winning an entirely new measure of popularity, offering all the advantages of Oakland super-precision construction, plus the rich beauty of new colors in Duco.

These original color combinations were developed in cooperation with DuPont, the leading automotive color authorities. They lend refreshing emphasis to every Oakland body. They introduce into the price field a new note of economy and hard work become less costly. Instantly mark the moment you see the car.

Higher Quality at Lower Prices

because of increasing Volume Production!

January, 1925—There was introduced a new Chevrolet which scored a tremendous success. Many of its new features were a new and rugged motor, an improved unit power plant, a new simplified clutch, a much stronger frame—semi-elliptic springs, vanadium steel springs, coil and dash-lamps, and new Fisher bodies. And the price of the $735 Coach was reduced to $695.

August, 1925—Chevrolet announced a new measure of value based on many new quality features—such as motor-driven water pump, improved sheet metal construction in the bodies, redesigned steering wheel with walnut finish, new headlamp rim construction and a more convenient gear-shifter lever. Yes, despite all the additional features, the Coach was reduced $695 to $645.

January, 1926—A not yet announced Chevrolet spectacular increase in mechanical improvements, such as a smoother, quieter motor with three-point suspension, a silent V-8 generator drive, new oil pump, more efficient cooling, an air cleaner, larger brakes, etc. Now with these improvements, a $645 Coach was reduced to $595.

The Most Beautiful Coach in Chevrolet History!
Climaxing all of Chevrolet's previous value triumphs, the Chevrolet Coach of today is acclaimed as the outstanding closed car value of all time. Beautiful new Fisher bodies—paneled and beaded, richly laid out and finished in new colors of genuine Duco... full-crown, one-piece fenders... built-type steel beams... AC oil filter and AC air cleaner... an extra riding comfort and remarkable steering ease! A car so marvelously beautiful that you must see it to appreciate it—Yet the price has been reduced to

NASH Leads the World in Motor Car Value

How many main bearings in your motor car? Nash recommends 7

Because for the finest and smoothest performance results, you need 7, rather than 3 or 4. Obviously, 3 or 4 supports for a crankshaft cannot give it the rigidity and smoothness of 7.

Here is another fact to remember about the 7 bearings of Nash: They have more bearing surface, by actual measurement, than any 6-cylinder engine of similar size and price.

And smoothness is not the only advantage of this Nash engineering achievement. A crankshaft that "whips" because of inadequate bearing support must eventually loosen its bearings and require expensive shopwork.

When you buy your 1927 motor car be sure to ask: "How many main bearings?" And for better results choose the car that has 7. Nash offers you this performance advantage in every single model, whether you pay $2090 for it or only $865.

POLITICAL POT BOILS AT BURLEY

Interest in Forthcoming Municipal Election-Centers About Choice for Mayor.

BURLEY, April 2.—On April 25, Burley elects its mayor, six council men, a city clerk and city treasurer. Already the political "pot" in this town has begun to simmer, although the various "posses" that have been organized by applying the khalid wood to the fire, seeking first to foul out the pot, but before the "boiling point" is reached.

City Clerk Parley Clark and Treasurer J. A. Smith have both petitioned the population looking toward the retention of their positions, although it is freely expected that "they" will not be named on a ticket. Their obtaining the necessary of their standing independently as they would be obliged to do so, they consider the position open. No other names of possible candidates for these two offices have yet been suggested, so far as the average citizen has been to participating, and the resolution of these two offices seems quite certain.

That chief concern has been material for mayor. Charles A. Johnson, present mayor and state representative, has the inside track, observers declare, if he desires to remain Burley's chief executive for another two years. Other leading "mayorally" timber" are: C. H. Hamilton, Edgar M. Wright and Councilman Harry L. Harpster, so far as can be learned from backlogs of the present administrative committees. George H. Scholer's name has also been mentioned for the mayor's office, but leaders are at a loss to define the "political status," since he is the only one of the present official ticket elected from the opposition ticket two years ago—whether he would consent to run counter to the present administrative forces or whether those forces would make him their candidate is speculative.

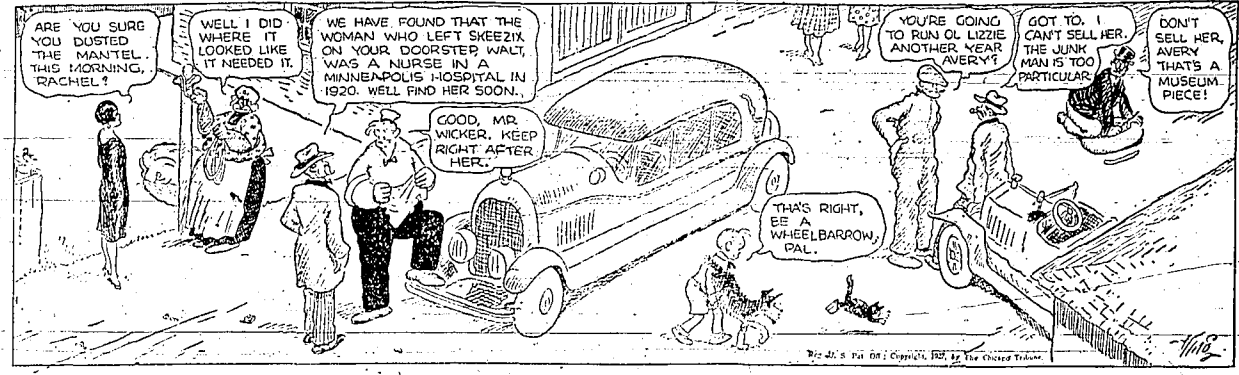

Councilman Wright is an attorney and present probate judge of Cassia county as well as president of the city council. Councilman Harpster is one of Burley's most prominent business men and is president of the local Rotary club. Mr. Scholer is also a prominent merchant and is active in lodge and church affairs. He is one of these men or a "dark horse," who becomes Burley's next mayor, he will not have attained that office because of his personal popularity, but rather because of his having been pressed into service by those who are interested in organized government, since the political atmosphere in Burley is not of the "most restful" and men are not anxious to become targets for the "peace and quiet" of agitators and fanatical finders of which Burley seemingly has more than her share.

No Change in Council Likely
That there will be no great change in the personnel of the city council, as it now exists, is generally forecast. Two times will be made to be placed in the field, as has been the custom for some time past, although these are usually last-minute events. It will be interesting to learn from the result of the forthcoming election whether or not the recent disturbing conditions in the municipal affairs here, that have cleared of all charges, will have changed since when Mayor Johnson was accepted into office by a large majority. That he should have the opportunity of receiving a vote at the hands of the voters, is the strongest argument used by his friends in urging Mr. Johnson to again become a candidate.
