FRENCH DECLINE U. S. INVITATION TO CONFERENCE

Tri-Color Republic Refuses to Be Represented at Proposed Parley; Cannot Weaken Authority of League of Nations.

(By The Associated Press) PARIS, April 4 (AP)—The French government today declined the American invitation to be represented at the "economic conference" at the three power conference for the reduction of naval armaments which is to meet at Geneva with the United States, Great Britain and Japan.

President Coolidge's second diplomatic move today was rejected for the first time since he was elected in 1923. The fact that France already is engaged in armament limitation discussions under the auspices of the league of nations, it also is stated that from France's viewpoint limitation of naval armaments is a controversial matter from land and aerial fighting forces.

Turn Over Memorandum A memorandum containing the French refusal has been turned over to the United States and the British foreign office. It asserts that France cannot weaken the authority of the league, which already has taken up the problem of naval armaments, nor can France compromise the principle of equality of all nations, large or small.

Despite the assurance which the American government has given concerning the pre-occupations which impede its initiative and the principles which guided it, says the note, "the government of the republic is unable to modify its views on the proposition of which it already has taken hold, and continues to feel itself unable to consider a positive participation of France in a projected conference of the United States, Great Britain and Japan."

The memorandum continues that since the United States has not yet made a new statement but entered into the "economic" program, the American government's commission on the league of nations has been authorized to study the matter and the French have expanded their view that disarmament is a world-wide consideration, not one which can be limited to a few powers.

"For us it is a question of principle towards the league of nations," concludes the note, "in which the United States have favorably received our proposals, we cannot at any time sacrifice as to the sincerity of our efforts."

KING FERDINAND GROWS WEAKER

Rumanian Ruler Continues Struggle for Life Against Heavy Odds; People Sad.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, April 4 (AP)—King Ferdinand continued tonight to struggle against death, though under somewhat brighter hopes. He was considered by a restless night and racked by a persistent cough. The continuation of the King's increasing and histonometric condition is reported tonight.

Still his physicians have not relinquished hope that the monarch will survive the attack of influenza with which he has stricken several days ago. The public was saddened by the news that the king's condition was so serious.

Carol's Stock Drops

The stock of former Crown Prince Carol seems to have suffered a drop, for he has stricken several days ago. The party has definitely decided not to seek a change in the succession as established by the act of January 1, 1926, which named Crown Prince Carol's son, Prince Michael, as his heir apparent and set up a regency to serve in the event of the king's death before Michael reached the age of 18.

BRITAIN FAVORS FIRM ACTION IN NANKING AFFAIR

John Bull to Act Independently in Demands for Satisfaction if Other Powers Wait Long Upon Decision.

(By The Associated Press) LONDON, April 4 (AP)—Without waiting for the other powers to decide whether to make joint demands on the Chinese nationalists for the Nanking affair, the British cabinet today reaffirmed its decision to carry out a strong policy, single-handed if necessary, in obtaining full satisfaction.

Reinforcements for the Shanghai defense force are hurriedly getting underway at English ports and officials declare that the government is determined to exact full reparations for the outrage, which English nationalists in China have been subjected.

DARKENING OUTLOOK

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—Final action by the American government to demand reparation from Chinese nationalists for the Nanking outrage, is close at hand, it was indicated today but for the moment the steadily darkening outlook for the safety of Americans in non-nationalist northern China appeared to be overshadowing official contemplation of the problem.

Minister MacMurray in Peking is believed to be considering the stipulations covering reparation demands to be laid before the Chinese authorities. The demands are expected to be generally similar to those formulated by the London and Tokyo governments but not to include any threat in the form of an ultimatum.

Keeps Close Watch Drastic of the Chinese situation was again reflected today in the close watch President Coolidge is keeping on official reports. He conferred at the White House during the day with Nelson T. Johnson, chief of the state department's far eastern division and another adviser on Chinese policy, and later with Secretary Kellogg.

While the department's silence precluded an authoritative outline of the demands for reparation to be presented or even an official indication as to when they will be handed to the Chinese authorities, it was admitted that official reports were generally of a pessimistic nature.

MIKE M'FIGUE NOW REPORTER

Veteran Mauler Still Involved in Heavyweight Elimination Tourney—As Journalist.

NEW YORK, April 4 (AP)—Mike M'Figue is still involved in the heavy weight tournament as a journalist. The veteran Irishman's defeat of Jack Sheckley, put him out of the running as a contender for the title. M'Figue, however, is apparently slated to appear in the final of the tournament. His participation in the final is a matter of some doubt, as he has been engaged by a metropolitan evening newspaper to act as an editorial observer of the remaining acts of the heavyweight drama.

Mike's position and good natured good will upon the battle between Emlin and Hooper—two gladiators who measure up to Kuntze's "rock 'em and sock 'em" type. "That," declared M'Figue, the reporter, "was a good smack right on the nose." He referred to Paulina's left hook.

There was a trace of melancholy in Mike's voice, however, as he remarked in conclusion: "It was a good left fight, but I would like to have a shot at either one of 'em, or both."

Finland, it now appears, is forced to choose a choice of seeking its international athletic conquests in the Olympic games of Amsterdam next year, or of forsaking the present group to join Russia in organizing a rival set of games. A brief cable dispatch, tells simply of a controversy now going on over the question of sending a team to the next Olympics, but between the lines "The Russians" have "Finns" and "Americans" alike, see a dramatic decision confronting the little nation that defied the athletic world in 1924 at Paris, with the triumphs of Nansen, Ritola and others.

The present situation observers say, is due to the ascendancy to power in Finland of a political party which has developed its own athletic organization and opposed the Finnish Olympic body. The party in political control apparently desires to break away from present international ties, but the Olympic authorities, nevertheless, are going ahead with plans to form another strong team for 1928.

objective both of the military advance and of the agitator sent forward to pave the way for their capture by fanning anti foreign sentiment among the congested native populations.

Only the continued control by northern military commanders prevents the possibility of resurgence in the north of such incidents as that at Nanking. Similar fears as to what may happen in north China were manifested by the industries here of the powers chiefly interested. At the same time inquiry in these diplomatic centers served to disclose considerable divergence of opinion as to how the delicate problem of safeguarding foreign nationals and property in China should be handled.

DISTURBING NEWS

SIAMHAI, April 4 (AP)—From Chih province, south of the Peking government, and from the cities of Hankow and Canton, came the most disturbing news today.

As the Chinese armies continue their march northward in the direction of Peking, the situation in Chih became more dangerous for Americans and other foreigners and they are leaving their homes and missions by the shores, making their way to what are looked upon as safety zones along the seaboard. Many foreign women and children are leaving even today.

Outbreaks at Hankow were more dangerous for Americans and other foreigners and they are leaving their homes and missions by the shores, making their way to what are looked upon as safety zones along the seaboard. Many foreign women and children are leaving even today.

At Hankow, where fighting occurred in the Japanese concession Sunday, there were further outbreaks by the use made again today. A Japanese wireless message reported that the Chinese were storming the concession, but that Chinese troops were taking a hand in maintaining order. The Japanese evacuation of Hankow is under way and it is expected it will be completed shortly. Twenty five Japanese have gone aboard the British gunboat Bee for shelter.

TO BUILD THREE REARING PONDS

Local Fish and Game Association Lets Contract for Construction of Plant Addition.

Contract was let yesterday for the construction of three rearing ponds, six hatching troughs, and a large filtering pond, by W. R. Priebe, for the Twin Falls Fish and Game Association, to take care of the additional eyed eggs it will be necessary for the association to hatch, because of the shortage of water at the Cedar hatchery, where the staff department had planned to hatch all eggs shipped.

Inspect Cedar Plant

W. R. Priebe, state game warden, in company with William Kell, state fish commissioner, and W. W. Haykins, district game warden, made an inspection trip to the Cedar plant to determine the feasibility of hatching the eyed eggs. It was found that the water supply was too low to make hatching practical, but that they could easily be brought to the spring stage, after which they will have to be shipped to the various hatcheries for hatching.

PROGRESS AT GENEVA

GENEVA, April 4 (AP)—Hugh Gibson's firm stand in behalf of the United States against restriction of civil aviation was reflected in the actions taken today by the League of Nations Disarmament Commission, which is drafting a disarmament treaty.

The commission adopted a series of provisions which met with Mr. Gibson's approval, calculated to protect the development of civil aviation and differentiate it from military air services. One clause which was approved binds a government not to subsidize civil air transport lines which are established primarily for military instead of economic purposes.

So the People May Know!

Joe-K says:

ARE YOU AWARE OF THE FACT that the Ministerial Association of Twin Falls, Idaho, went on record as favoring SUNDAY SHOWS in the year of 1926 at the time that they endorsed the Chautauqua presenting a play with real live performers on a Sunday afternoon and evening. This performance also was approved by the present city administration.

— This was done unlawfully regardless of the fact that they thought that they were evading the law by stating that they would not sell any admission tickets on Sunday. All courts have decided that it makes no difference when the ticket was sold, the time that the ticket was accepted for admittance at a performance given on a day prohibited by law, is in itself unlawful. The Chautauqua accepted the season tickets as admission for this performance.

— And we ourselves want at this time to go on record as stating that we do not believe any crime was committed by the Chautauqua in giving this performance or by the people who attended same. But, if the people from the outside can come in to Twin Falls and do something that we the tax paying theatre men of this city cannot do without being threatened with being arrested what is to prevent us from selling tickets during the week good for admission to our theatres on Sunday, which has been approved by the present administration. Let these men increase their spiritual power and they'll have no desire to appeal to an arm of flesh.

— We have made a clean campaign for Sunday movies and are proceeding according to the letter of the law. We are not asking anything that we do not think would be a benefit to the community but on the other hand we are just asking that the citizens of Twin Falls remain true Americans and stick to the principles of the first amendment of the constitution.

Yours sincerely,

INVENTOR DEMONSTRATES NEW CONTROLLING DEVICE

NEW YORK, April 4 (AP)—An electric remote-controlling device that operates on one billionth of a watt and which it is claimed will warn of the approach of thunderstorms and gale winds, was demonstrated today by its inventor, D. The device, which closely resembles a radio tube, is so sensitive that it can be operated by the mere approach of the human hand. It is possible by use of the device, for a passing shadow or a dew drop to turn on the lights of a city or start or stop a railroad train, the inventor said.

First Exhibition Of Paintings by German Amateurs

BERLIN, April 4 (AP)—Artistic hobby-riders of Berlin are showing their pictures to the public for the first time.

Captains of industry, stage folk, cabinet artists, men of letters, poets, petty government officials, and even a plain chauffeur, are among the painters who are no painters. Although looking upon painting merely as an avocation, 28 amateurs banded themselves together and arranged for an exhibition of their work—more than 100 water colors, oil paintings and pen and pencil sketches.

Monumental canvas by Albert Steinbeck, former director of the court theatre at Vienna and one of the best known actors in Berlin, depicts chiefly Italian scenes. Gerhard Kynahl, interpreter of Salome and Puck roles, exhibited a portrait of his mother, besides several small sketches.

Otto Gebauer, a film actor, shows himself a modernist by an expressionistic "Portrait of the Hausdorfer Family." Erwin Fehrer, another stage celebrity, has taken fairy tale subjects for his paintings.

One of the unique works is that by Otto Hanka, a chauffeur. Instead of black robes, exhibited a portrait of his mother, besides several small sketches.

TWAIN INCLINED TO PESSIMISM

Daughter of Noted Humorist Recalls Sharp Reaction of Father to Sordid Tales.

DETROIT, Mich., April 4 (AP)—Mark Twain was a pessimist.

Clara Clemens Caldwell, his daughter, recalls that America's outstanding humorist turned with his greatest fervor to outbursts against man's inhumanity to man.

So intense was his pessimism, she says, and so sharply did he react to stories of sordidness in newspapers that late in his life efforts were made to prevent his reading them.

In these moods he wrote short essays, of which some not destined for the marketplace were published in a privately circulated volume, "What is Man?"

The daughter of Samuel Langhorne Clemens is the wife of the conductor of the Detroit Symphony orchestra.

Her father lamented, she relates, that he had become known as a humorist before he published Joan of Arc, The Prince and the Pauper, and other historical works, which were his favorites. In his happier aspect Clemens loved billiards and would play until 4 a. m. if he could find an opponent. He was devoted to animals—Mark Twain's favorite are fawns—and sometimes said he preferred them to men because the beasts "at least do not know they are being wronged."

"My father thought human nature did not change greatly," she says, "and in Joan he was able to give vent to the resentment aroused in him by the spirit which made the British, and even the French, mistreat the maid."

Joan was first published anonymously, because the author feared his reputation for humor would make people mock laughter at it. The work was based on long study, during which Clemens went to France and consulted documents available only through high connections and delicate diplomacy.

He spoke seldom of the works by which he was best known. But he was pleased if people found in Tom Sawyer, Huck Finn and others of his character things which seemed to come from their own lives.

Buster Keaton, an entertainer, Butler, will be at Eden Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday.—Adv.

Investigators Seek Reasons for Submarine Crashing Into Mare Island Drawbridge.

VALLEJO, Cal., April 4 (AP)—A naval board of inquiry was embarking today for a certain day when was responsible for the crashing of the United States submarine S-17 into the Mare Island drawbridge yesterday. A report is not expected for several days.

The board is working along three theories: that the wrong order was given; that it was misunderstood; that the machinery jammed.

The submarine crashed at full speed into the drawway, leading to the bridge after Lieutenant E. V. Hunt, command, saw that the spans were not being raised fast enough for the vessel to go under. He said he ordered the engines reversed but that for some reason this was not done. No one was hurt in the crash but damage to the bridge was estimated at $200,000 to $250,000 and to the submarine between $10,000 and $25,000.

CHAMBER MOVES TO FOSTER TWO NEW CROPS HERE

Business Men's Organization Arranges for Experimental Production of Flax; Looks Into Pickles' Possibilities.

With view to possible expansion of the scope of agriculture in this region, the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce directors in regular session Monday evening voted to sponsor two projects.

One of the projects is to determine whether flax can be produced profitably in this territory, and the other a move to encourage production of cranberry and pickles.

A number of experimental plots of flax will be planted this year in partnership with the Idaho state university under the Twin Falls experimental garden system.

Information in the hands of the chamber's agricultural committee shows that flax is extensively grown in dry regions of the Northwest and Montana.

Establishment of plants for a number of years has been contracted for Idaho members, and had this year signed contracts in southwest Idaho for several acres of pickles.

With view to encouraging production of pickles in this region, the directors decided to open negotiations with the University of Washington.

John S. Wolf, Idaho commissioner of agriculture, in Elletts, King, regional secretary of the Portland Chamber of Commerce, will be guests of Twin Falls business men at a luncheon meeting to be arranged by the Chamber of Commerce for Tuesday of next week.

Band Will Give Concert—Members of the Ogden high school band who will accompany a delegation of Rotarians from Ogden to Boise on the district convention, will give a concert at the high school auditorium here Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

THE SPORTS OF A DAY

TRACK TEAM CUT TO THIRTY-MEN

Coaches Plan More Individual Attention Following Reduction in Size of Bruin Squad.

The Bruin track squad was cut down to 30 members last night by the coaches, this making it possible to give the individuals more attention. Particular emphasis will now be laid upon individual performance, and special attention will be given to form. The performance of the squad in the latter class meet last Friday indicates that much can be expected of the Bruins this year. All members of the present squad were point winners in the class meet, and with the improvement that can be expected under closer supervision they should develop into one of the best all-around teams the Bruins have ever had.

Keen Competition Looms

Reports from the various schools in the district indicate that there will be plenty of competition in all events. The district meet, which will be held on Lincoln field May 7, should be particularly interesting, since the competitors will be reduced to the winners in the sub-district meets.

Smith, Flier, can still be depended upon for competition in the sprints, and in addition he is a dangerous weight man.

65 GRIDSTERS ANSWER CALL

Spring Football Practice Sees Much Green Material on Field; Outlook Favorable.

Sixty-five new football candidates turned out last night at the high school in response to a call for football men. The "Gridsters" are nearly all new men, and in football toge for the first time. Uniforms were issued and a short practice session was held, after which the candidates were given the customary lap around the field, much to their chagrin.

Right training rules are not to be enforced, the coach declared, as the work is to be fundamental in character and more of a relaxation than a drill as is the case in the fall.

Four Letter-Men Back

Graduation will leave the Bruin squad with only four letter-men to carry over next year when they are faced with the hardest schedule in years. Power Parry will probably hold down the position at quarter, where he showed considerable ability last season. Captain Vance, all state tackle last season, will probably be moved to the pivot position, where he should be a terror on defense. Parry will play his old position as tackle, and the first line will be moved to the backfield, where his poundings will make itself felt, as it did last year at end.

Spring practice should be useful in developing some of the army of inexperienced material available, and

Twin Falls Rod and Gun Club Remains Undefeated in Capital News Telegraphic Shoot.

The Twin Falls Rod and Gun Club remained the only undefeated team in the C.N. Telegraphic Handicapping tournament, by defeating Nampa 24-17 Sunday while Huntington met an unexpected defeat at the hands of the Pocatello Athletic club, shooting under the same "narrow" conditions to which flurries of snow were added the club's sharpshooters, apparently taking the weather for granted shot the best score they have turned in to date, and they were all needed, as they were from Nampa by the scant margin of two birds. A. A. Beckley and Everett Sweeley both went straight, while John DeKlotz dropped a bird, going straight, in the second round, which, according to the rules of the tournament, could not be counted. Five shooters in the league went straight Sunday, and three of these were from Twin Falls.

Youngs of Twin Falls, who died in France on November 21, 1918, from wounds received in action in the Argonne region on the western front during the "war to end all wars," was shown in the film, "The Kingdom of Heaven," which was the principal attraction at the Orpheum Monday night.

A portion of a letter, written during the filming of the picture in France by Captain Youngs to his parents here, follows:

"You'll see me just behind the colors in the first platoon in company L of the sixteenth infantry."

SPECIAL SCHOOL ELECTION

Independent School District No. 2 will hold a special election April 29th, 1927, at High School building, Kimberley, Idaho.

Pursuant to 1921 session laws, imperative that school districts submit to said special election by special election for authority to levy an additional levy to carry on expenses of operation of schools. This has heretofore been done. Final check of our resources has developed the financial condition is such that we are able to cut this levy 2 mills thereby only asking for 2 mills which will yield $2,720. This will be a net saving over last year of $20,000.00.

Financial condition of district is that in history, we having paid off last year $25,000.00 advanced bonded indebtedness, one state bond of $15,000.00 3 years in advance and $20,000.00 ten years in advance of maturity. After making the above cut and expenditures we have on hand some $20,000.00 that we are now negotiating purchase of $20,000.00 more of our hand indebtedness, which is also a one-year bond.

Total bonded indebtedness of district is $70,000.00 and if approved in retelling the above $20,000.00 will cut total bonded indebtedness to $50,000.00. Four years ago total bonded indebtedness of district was $110,000.00 with $17,000.00 deficiency warrants. With reduction in interest on bonded indebtedness we hope to hold the levy to 18 mills for next year or two and then gradually reduce to a lower level as bonds are retired. This financial statement could not have been done without the hearty cooperation of all patrons of said district, who manfully stood behind the board and supported a seemingly high levy of 23 mills. We thank you.

Independent School District No. 2, By A. M. Scott, J. L. Shephard, H. E. Potter, W. L. Graham, L. J. Milligan, Glenn Whitney, Directors.

Mothers Look

for the Quaker's picture when buying oats.

That means richer flavor

WHEN children say they don't like oats, it's usually because rich Quaker flavor is missing.

Children who ordinarily don't take to oats are often quickly won to this important food, simply by giving them "Quaker."

The flavor is uniquely different, toasty, rich and creamy. Quaker Oats also has it. Some 50 years were spent in perfecting it.

Quaker milling, too, retains much of the "bulk" of oats. And that makes laxatives less often needed. This protein, carbohydrate and vitamin and "bulky" combine in making Quaker Oats an excellently balanced ration.

THE OYING ROOM
A movie theater in Port Huron, Michigan, has installed a "oying room" where, during rain, the boys and their mothers who they are most interested in, sit along their own trunks, watching the screen. It is a room over looking the stage, with a glass front. There a mother can stay with her child and continue enjoying the show while the baby's eyes are made invisible to the rest of the audience.

With the Clock Turned Back
By Courtney Ryley Cooper
The brains on Mr. Brent's foot absorbed his attention too much for him to delve into Freck's conversation to any depth. He merely granted with a "Yes" or "No" to what he heard.

CHAPTER IV
Under Cover
An hour later, in spite of the discomforts incident to a flat day in the woods, Thomas Brent was undergoing a feeling of half contentment for the first time since he could remember.

Freck rubbed his eyes, gazed hard, even stepping out of the range of the fire that he might see the better.

There was nothing to do but sit there and listen to the rain and the swishing of the branches without. Nothing but the rattling of the rain to do but sit there and reflect that rain would bring dampness, and dampness would bring rheumatism.

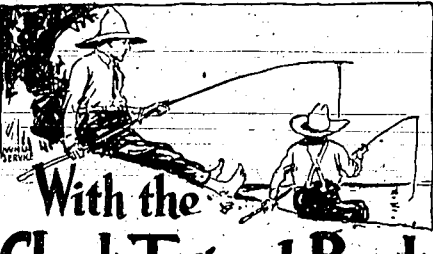

Freck's eyes glowed. "Oh, he's a smart man. He tells me a lot of things which he had to do with the business. If they'd give him a chance, he says they'd throw away twenty-five thousand dollars a year. Just wasting it, but they'd give him some salary to keep 'em from staying to death."

Freck moved his frog leg closer to the ember. "Can't you hear that rain crow?" he asked.

Freck's eyes glowed. "Oh, he's a smart man. He tells me a lot of things which he had to do with the business. If they'd give him a chance, he says they'd throw away twenty-five thousand dollars a year. Just wasting it, but they'd give him some salary to keep 'em from staying to death."

Freck rubbed his eyes, gazed hard, even stepping out of the range of the fire that he might see the better.

There was nothing to do but sit there and listen to the rain and the swishing of the branches without. Nothing but the rattling of the rain to do but sit there and reflect that rain would bring dampness, and dampness would bring rheumatism.

Freck's eyes glowed. "Oh, he's a smart man. He tells me a lot of things which he had to do with the business. If they'd give him a chance, he says they'd throw away twenty-five thousand dollars a year. Just wasting it, but they'd give him some salary to keep 'em from staying to death."

An hour later, in spite of the discomforts incident to a flat day in the woods, Thomas Brent was undergoing a feeling of half contentment for the first time since he could remember.

SENATOR REED THRING UNDER HEAVY STRAIN

Chief of Ford Counsel in Libel Trial Admits Fatigue Follow- ing Day of Reading Grist of Documentary Evidence.

(By The Associated Press)
DETROIT, Mich., April 4.—King of ton and Anton Sapiro's efforts to organize the southern planters against Ford, with occasional side trips to cover his activities in New Jersey, Oregon and New York, were centered upon today in the Chicago lawyer's libel trial, but suit against Henry Ford.
Many pieces of documentary evidence, letters, telegrams, contracts drawn up by Sapiro for cooperative associations and a speech he made seven years ago went into the record today, changing up the proceedings and contributing to a generally lack luster day.
Clutter-Up Record
"They do no harm, and they do no good," Adj. Gen. William Henry Collins chief of Sapiro's counsel, at one point. "They merely clutter up the record. At this rate we will be here for years."
The old speech by Sapiro at Montgomery, Alabama, required 50 minutes of steady reading by James A. Reed, United States senator for Missouri,
chief of Ford's counsel, and while it provided him his day's chief topic, seemed to take a lot out of him. At the end of the day, he sixth of cross examining the key-wit Sapiro, the senate veteran frankly admitted the trial.

More Documentary Evidence

At the end, exhibits numbers 230, 231
and 232, old form and modified contract for cooperative associations were admitted as evidence and with nearly as much fine type as an insurance policy, will require many minutes of reading by somebody tomorrow.
Sapiro's brother, Milton, arrived from California today bringing a trunkful of records demanded by Senator Reed.
He immediately was administered the oath and seated himself at his brother's counsel table.
When cross-examined, Sapiro indicated that cross-examination of Sapiro was far from finished, and that it might require the remainder of the week.

Two Members of Cattle Rustling Band Sentenced

MANDAN, N. D., April 4 (AP)—Three members of a cattle rustling band operating on the North Dakota-South Dakota boundary pleaded guilty and two were sentenced to penitentiary terms when arraigned in Morton county district court late Friday.
Ben Evans, 61, Blount county farmer, and Richard Frankholder, a Sioux Indian, were each sentenced to four years by Judge Berry after pleading to grand larceny charges. The younger Evans, Frank, 24, was not sentenced because the father pleaded for him.

Fantastic Tree Forms Revealed In Freak Contest

NORTHFIELD, Vt., April 2 (AP)— Fairy tales in which trees obligingly become bridges or turn into animals are hardly fairy tales in Vermont.
The Vermont Entomology association has written, and pictorial evidence gathered, in a "freak tree contest," that trees may assume surprising and startling forms.
A rock elm at Stratford, 25 miles from President Coolidge's birthplace, bridges a stream. It rises in a long and graceful span over a brook, and grows into the bank on the other side.
Two vertical trunks rise from its base. Leonard J. Scribner won first prize in the contest by submitting it.
A yellow birch at Greenough, 10 miles resembles a prehistoric monster

of Egyptian god with an animal's body and a double head of tree branches. The body, 20 inches in diameter, might be that of a huge hagwood, crumpled on two sturdy legs roots, and with its six feet tall resting on the ground. This tall is the trunk of another tree which grew into the main root of a larger one.
A pair of giraffe-like necks, crowned by spreading branches, rises from the body. G. A. Dupont won second prize with this entry.

Siamese Twins

A pair of Siamese twin trees won honorable mention for W. A. Starks, son of Stoughton. They are perhaps eight-foot apart, joined by a cross bar seven to eight inches in diameter, six feet above the ground. A branch of one tree grew into the trunk of the other.
In addition to other arches and times a season. They were trees and branches tied in knots and half knots,
a birch that had split a granite boulder, and other freaks. Three members of the legislature were judges, and the contest was held to stimulate interest in forestry.

Blasphemous Mass

The blasphemous mass is a travesty of the Christian mass used in connection with the ritual of the Satanists, a religious sect denying Christianity and glorifying the devil. It originated in France as late as the Nineteenth century.

Southern States Watch Passing of Mildest Winter

ATLANTA, April 4 (AP)—The mystery nobody knows again, is puzzling weather bureau experts.
February and March briles in the south, and peach blossoms to embellish arbor woodlands and fields, generally has been enjoying one of the mildest winters on record.
The mystery lies in the vain effort of scientists to determine why some winters are extremely mild and others un-comfortably severe. Weather observers think that areas of low barometric pressure cause cold and warm temperatures
because of their attraction of winds.
They say this also may solve the puzzle, since in one knows what causes
"low" areas to develop and remain in certain parts of the country.

From the hills of South-Central Texas to the Blue Ridge mountains of Virginia, the winter has been usually mild.
Flowers, trees and shrubs which ordinarily do not assume spring's clothing until March, were green early in February through Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee, Alabama, Florida, Georgia, the Carolinas and Virginia.
Georgia, famous for its peaches, has been enjoying the beauty of its blossoms now for nearly two months. In near-eastern Charleston, S. C., Magnolia discusses, known the world over, are blooming with their rare pink, pink and preparations are underway for the annual opening on April 1.
When weather in Florida is nothing unusual, but when swimming is a popular sport in San Antonio, Texas, on Christmas day and here persons in the vicinity of Atlanta a few weeks later,
C. E. Van Hornum, local observer, figures it is time to puzzle a bit over the queer antics of Old Man Winter.

Direct Organization Work

Following the close of the legislative session, Mr. Gustafson will direct organization work in other states of the middle west.
Present status of the Iowa group disclose a proposal for organization work in states other than the 11 new territories set as the first objective.
Mr. Lowden is quoted by Mr. Gustafson as assuring the committee that if the movement requesting his candidacy spreads into a sufficient number of the agricultural states of the middle west, he would give the request his serious consideration, although his personal inclination at this time was but to enter the presidential race.
