FRENCH CARRIAGES TO BE PLACED IN MUSEUMS

PARIS, April 16 (AP)—The passing of the horse-drawn carriage in France is likely to be linked in history with the opening of two carriage museums this year.

A permanent display is ready at the Compagnie palace, and a smaller one is being installed at the palace at Fontainebleau, the only royal residence that has not had such an exhibition.

Carrriages have been in use in this part of the continent just four centuries. In the reign of Francis the First there were three carriages in Paris. There probably are not many more than that in use here now, although many of the old nobility still have their stables and coach-houses, with a carriage or two still kept in the stable lot with automobiles in adjoining stalls.

King Henry IV, who succeeded Francis, had only one carriage. There is an account of a note from him to a friend saying, "I can not go, as my wife because my wife is using my carriage."

Appoints Special Board Mrs. Gravelly has appointed a special committee of the board to receive applications for appointment as commissioner of education.

Members of the committee are Stanley A. Kanton, Kellogg, C. E. St. Clair, Idaho Falls; Commissioner J. B. Field and Mrs. Gravelly. While no announcement as to number of applications has been made it was generally understood during the hearing that the new commissioner would be an educational administrator from outside the state.

The appointment of the new board of education member to succeed J. A. Egan, Idaho City, probably will be announced by Governor H. C. Burdette next Wednesday. State houses suggest indicative the appointee will be a democrat from the Twin Falls section.

POPULAR PILOT OF LOCAL CLUB ONCE MAGICIAN

Story of "Zanloch the Great," Father of Former Bruin Skipper, Reveals Latter's Training as Fun Maker.

Old Zanloch, former Bruin skipper, has many adventures, and his tales are well cracked on the diamond.

Well past his three score years and his Oakland, for famed magician and master of legendology "Zanloch the Great" is still as lively as a cat.

He looks in this veteran magician's hobby nowadays. He found that rather exciting at first.

Half a century ago Zanloch the Great, then a young man, was one of the greatest entertainers of today.

Zanloch his real name. During his long and exciting public career—1890 to 1912—many thought he was an assumed name.

For some years she aided in his business, making a beautiful young woman float in the air while he passed her through a large hole to satisfy spectators that she was not an aerialist.

His brother, "Hilly" Marx, for many years was "Zanloch the Great's" as his confident and assistant in those parts of the performance.

Professor and Mrs. Zanloch have grown sons—Claude, Archer and Carl. The sons played in first class professional baseball.

She says she never tired of seeing some of her husband's cleverest and most subtle legions.

But she knew enough about the limitations of magic to become a magician.

DIL COMPANY OPENS ATTACK ON ORDINANCES

Controversy Over Shoshone Street Filling Station Project Takes New Turn When City Is Placed on Defensive.

The Continental Oil company, which last Friday was enjoined temporarily by Twin Falls school district from continuing construction of a filling station at the end of Shoshone street near the Washington school, struck out Saturday in a new direction and initiated a temporary restraining order to enjoin Twin Falls city council, police magistrate and police chief from interfering with building of the filling station. It obtained also an order requiring the council, police magistrate and police chief to show cause in district court why the restraining order should not be made permanent.

Under terms of the temporary injunction and order obtained Friday by the school district, the Continental company is required to suspend all work on the filling station which is being built from building the station in question.

Under the injunction on both orders have been filed by Judge W. A. Babcock to be held next Friday afternoon in district court here.

Attacks Two Ordinances

The school district charges the Continental company with violation of an ordinance adopted by the city council in November, 1926, prohibiting construction or operation of filling stations within 100 feet of a schoolhouse, where sidewalks leading to the filling station would cross sidewalks.

The Continental company in its action against the city, denies the validity of this ordinance and also of another ordinance adopted by the council which provides that consent of the council must be obtained for removal, repair or construction of any building in the city limits.

The first ordinance, it alleges, is unconstitutional in that it takes property without due compensation, and also is "arbitrary, unreasonable and not legitimate regulation." The same objections are made against the second ordinance, which, also, it is alleged, amounts to the expropriation of the property of the plaintiff without the assent and consent of the mayor and council.

Showing that the property on which it is situated is in front of the station in question, is a triangular lot bounded on the east by Blue Lakes boulevard, on the north by Shoshone street and on the southeast by Eleventh avenue east, the Continental company in its complaint asserts that it is prepared to construct sidewalks only from the boulevard and Eleventh avenue, on which streets there are no sidewalks at this point, and no pedestrian traffic.

Traces History of Project

The company has asked this court, it is asserted, since prior to October 12, 1926, when it first made application for a permit to construct the filling station. Under terms of the ordinance adopted in October, 1926, and in effect at that time, the construction of the filling station was authorized and should have issued the permit. No permit, however, was issued and the application was renewed on April 14. On the same day the council adopted the ordinance requiring approval of the council for building operations, and an action was taken by the council on Continental company's renewed application for permit. This application subsequently was turned down.

First of the station is estimated at $1,000.

In its complaint, the Continental company asks that it be allowed to expend $100,000 in completing the structure.

City council and police, it was asserted, were about to make increases of the company's license, and also on charges of violation of ordinances.

The Continental company, in this action, is represented by Walters and Berry and John B. Keenan, attorneys.

Golden Rule

Being Prepared Should "Times Turn Bad"

The American Bankers' Association, while expressing the opinion that installment sales had a proper place in the economic structure, in a recent report declared that "people should not be encouraged to buy on deferred payments beyond their reasonable ability to pay under conditions less favorable than those that have prevailed recently."

In other words, people should buy on installments as cautiously as if times might turn bad.

Why gamble on the future?

For commodities that enter into the daily life, paying cash is buying with a saving, thus enabling the putting aside of money for times that "might turn bad."

United States Civil Service Commission Announces Examinations for New Positions

WASHINGTON, April 16.—The United States civil service commission today launched its country-wide campaign to recruit eligibles for the 2500 positions in the bureau of prohibition which were classified under the civil service law by the act of March 3, 1927. The commission announced 1500 competitive examinations for the following positions:

List of Positions

One chief of field division, at $5000 a year.

Five prohibition zone supervisors, at $2500 a year.

Twenty-four prohibition administrators, at $1000 to $2000 a year.

Twenty-four assistant prohibition administrators (enforcement work), at $1000 to $2000 a year.

Twenty-four assistant prohibition administrators (investigative work), at $1000 to $2000 a year.

Fifty deputy prohibition administrators, at $1000 a year.

Two field office inspectors, at $3000 to $3000 a year.

Four associate field office inspectors, at $2000 to $2500 a year.

Eighteen senior prohibition investigators, at $3000 a year.

One hundred and sixty junior prohibition agents, at $1800 a year.

One hundred two warehouse watchmen, at $1400 to $1800 a year.

Practical Examinations

The civil service commission states that the examinations will be practical, each kind specially designed to test the qualifications and fitness of the applicants to perform the particular branch of the work for which that kind of examination is held.

The examinations for investigators below the senior grade, those for agents of all grades, and those for warehouse watchmen will require the assembling of competitors in examination rooms for written mental tests. These will be given in approximately 600 cities throughout the country. In other examinations listed do not include written mental tests in examination rooms.

All of the examinations will include ratings on training and experience, a searching oral test, and a rigid character investigation made by the civil service commission with the assistance of other government agencies.

Home Task

In order to pass the oral tests, it will be necessary for the commission to send investigators to interview applicants in various parts of the country. The character investigations will be made with the most painstaking care. Because of these two features of the examinations, the testing of applicants for the 2500 newly classified positions under the bureau of prohibition is one of the largest single tasks ever undertaken by the commission.

Finger prints will be made of all applicants in the cities designated.

These will be used to check the accuracy of the applicant's statements on present, indictment, or conviction for crime or misdemeanor. The civil service commission feels that any person who is worthy of appointment to a position under the bureau of prohibition will not object to the most searching investigation into his past life.

Present Employees Must Compete

The best bringing these positions into the competitive classified service provides that those now employed who were not appointed in accordance with the civil service law must compete with others in examinations if they wish to have an opportunity to retain their positions.

Copies of the examination announcements and application blanks may be obtained from the United States civil service commission, Washington, D. C., from the secretary of the local board of civil service examiners at the postoffice in this or any other city.

The examination announcements give detailed information regarding the scope of the examinations and the requirements for entrance thereto.

Great wars are forgotten, great ideas and inventions become commonplace, the most stirring pages of history grow dull—all excepting those relating to pirates. There is something so romantic and colorful about the Highwayman of the sea that they never lose their interest...

FLOYD HEWITT, 16, is on trial at Jefferson, Ohio, on charges of murdering Mrs. Fred Brown and her 5-year-old son, Fred, Jr. They were beaten to death with poker and baseball bat in their home near Conaut, Ohio. Hewitt confessed the crime, but later repudiated his confession.

Finest Ivory Taken From Male Elephant
Strictly speaking, ivory is a term confined to material appearing on the trunk of the elephant, and for commercial purposes almost entirely that of the male elephant. Both male and female African elephants are good-sized tusks. In the Indian variety the female is much less heavily provided, while less than 1 per cent of the elephants of Ceylon have tusks of any value.

Twin Falls, the 'Magic City' has attracted attention far and wide by its wonderful and substantial growth and progressive spirit. Only 22 years old, its population is at present approximately 10,000 people. Twin Falls is now the center of an extensive, wonderfully productive farming, stock raising and mining section.

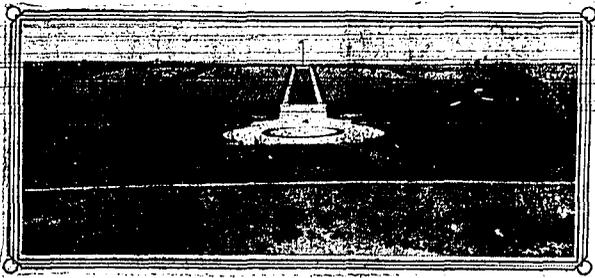

This city is an up-to-date modern town in every respect. We have miles of paved streets lined in the residence sections with beautiful shade trees, lawns and modern homes. Twin Falls is known as one of the most beautiful residence towns in the west. The business section of the city would do credit to a place several times its size.

Our schools, churches, court house and other public buildings would be a credit to any city in the land.

AMERICAN FIELDS OF HONOR

ROMAGNE AT MEUSE-ARGONNE

Romagne Largest Burial Ground of Yankee Soldiers

Heroic Dead of Many Regiments Taking Part in Great Offensive of Meuse-Argonne Lie on Consecrated Spot.

After the first phase of America's greatest battle on September 26 and 27 of 1918, had well advanced the western edge of the Argonne forest and its right on the banks of the River Meuse, and had moved around and over the great hill of Montfaucou, there was a pause along this sector in the north of that hill. New divisions came up to relieve the troops, which had been sorely battered in the fighting on those terrific slopes. The 37th division and the 7th were to find temporary rest and replacement for the casualties of these early days of the crowding conflict of the war. Later this one again looked itself against the enemy for the north and west, in Flanders, and the other renewed the offensive on the right bank of the Meuse.

joined another road, that which lies between Fumel and Romagne-sous-Montfaucou. The 32d was trying to take this road, the 2nd fighting more to the left, with the town of Romagne, theoretically on the boundary line between the zones in which these divisions were to advance.

Legionnaires to Visit

And then the 5th division was sent to relieve the 32d. On the 10th and 11th of October units of the 32d were into the town of Romagne, and sometimes to the right of it where units of the 3d had been in and out, and where units of the 3d were driving ahead. And it is on this hillside just east of Romagne, outside the old French road, that the largest American Military Cemetery in France was later to be established, and here that American Legionnaires will come on their sacred pilgrimage to fall to the graves of their comrades in France.

Probably the artillery support of the 3rd division laid the first allied shell on this hillside, and perhaps the first Americans to set foot there were from the 30d; yet perhaps again there came up to relieve the 30d, which had been sorely battered in the fighting on those terrific slopes. The 37th division and the 7th were to find temporary rest and replacement for the casualties of these early days of the crowding conflict of the war. Later this one again looked itself against the enemy for the north and west, in Flanders, and the other renewed the offensive on the right bank of the Meuse.

matter not so much, in the Meuse-Argonne battle, there was glory enough for all, and these were three divisions out of 21 which fought there, suffered great losses there, and achieved a great victory.

It is worthy of record, however, that when the north of the 8th division were coming up late in October, to relieve the 32nd and make the final push of the 45 day battle, the command frequently heard among the advancing troops—"Those boys certainly built a lot of nice cemeteries."

Somewhat casual, those 217 but cemeteries, in the nature of things, were casual matters in those days. Death was a hourly companion, burial was when and where it might be, with just as much of simple reverence and care as the event allowed. Little cemeteries there were, where numbers had fallen close at hand, and scattering graves there were, and some sort of a cross on each grave, and a little metal disk they called a "dog tag," and maybe a helmet hung upon the cross. But the 32nd had notably neat and orderly little cemeteries, during the 45-day battle, as often, as you came up toward Romagne-sous-Montfaucou on those late October days of 1918. Some thirty, sometimes, that found time to collect in little wire and fence in the plots. Somebody, somehow, had found time to erect an extra slab, and mark thereon that this was a cemetery of the 32nd division. Someway the French, unlooked, doggedly faithful living had found a way, at God knows what sacrifice, and risk, to place a little more than the stony soldiers buried to the glorious dead. One noticed it, even after the age long, heavy hiking, as one came up over what they called the "Dog Tag" ridge in that battered but ever advancing line to take a place tomorrow maybe, under one of the make-shift crosses. "Those boys certainly built a nice lot of cemeteries."

Cemetery at Central Point

There was perhaps no real cemetery between the steadily advancing of the later selection of the hillside outside Romagne as the site of the great permanent American cemetery of the whole Meuse-Argonne battle area. The last plot had been fired and the rest of the battle had passed, it happened that the headquarters at Romagne was an exceptionally central point, and a most generally accessible point, of the many miles of area between the front and the river, the town of Vanuats and Sedan. There the battle dead from 21 American divisions were reverently assembled. From there very great numbers of them started the last homeward journey to a final resting place in the United States. And there, fourteen thousand, one hundred and seven of them rest today, and for the ages, while the rolling hillside has been made green, and the flag of their country floats always in the breezes, and white marble crosses stand row on row graves in perpetual memory of all who fought Meuse-Argonne. And there—"This should be a place of great interest," was written this September.

And those later boys of the graves registration service certainly built a nice cemetery. Most people nowadays go to Romagne from Verdun, which could not have been done in 1918 because the German army would not let you. The American railroad for the Argonne battle was at Bar-le-Duc, southwest of Verdun, and "moss" gauge lines run from there, and from St. Menchould. The main line to Verdun and on to Metz is of course, restored now, and better traveled, but to change and go to Dun, Douzic, which is but six miles from Romagne. Verdun is 20 miles, and you can get autos at either place, so why not choose the sturdier stand where the flower of France stood and died in order that "they shall not pass?"

Signs of Battle Disappear

The signs of the battlefields are all disappearing, except at those like Montfaucou, where they are purposely preserved. The place is on the country side, so why not choose the sturdier stand where the flower of France stood and died in order that "they shall not pass?"

The details of this military history

Captive

CHICAGO POLICE are investigating the story of Martin Robinson, 14, who claims to have been kept a prisoner in the basement of a store for three weeks, with the storekeeper as his jailer.

They will have among the crosses to find a well remembered name, and says, "He was the corporal of my squad, you know. Went through all the hell in the woods, clear up to Grand Tree. When they counter attacked he wouldn't leave—just time I saw him he lay back of a piece of wall, plugging away at 'em. Said he was hit in the leg and couldn't run. Think maybe he was just stubborn. We found him there when we got back into the town."

There are more than 14,000 such graves to be told at Romagne cemetery. They overflow when you stand and look across the old hills, at the green slope and the regular pattern of those that—200,000, so many times. This spirit of our greater field of honor overseas quite battles the case of the 32d division, which has been planting trees, and the broad and green under its white crosses. The trees will be quite effective next summer in a land where no trees stand before the shell fire came, but way) but 72 miles from Rheims and a little farther from Chateau Thierry. You can go from any of these places by rail or motor. There is a nice rest house maintained by the graves registration service of the army with two or three sleeping rooms if you care to stay the night. Certain gleeful women sometimes stay, wanting to see the sunrise, and the sunset and go out again to stand or kneel by a certain cross for a long time. Casual tourists will not stay as long as there are higher points from which to see the battlefields and there is nothing worth the mention of the town. It was never ruled but a cross-country farming village—just a few houses and a schoolhouse. It stood at the cross roads, by the public wash house, and directed traffic, and a rolling alfalfa field. The wash house roof, that was left of the wash house roof. But it will be different this September.

Plan Handmade Chapel

Plans of the American battle monuments commission call for a handsome chapel at the cemetery, to cost $250,000, and for finishing the stone wall all the way around, and more trees and flowers. It will be a very lovely place, one of the most sacred for Americans, outside their own country. It is the first thing you see coming from any direction, and seeing it there you realize it is the handiwork of men who were there. The cemetery is plain and well ordered, the graves close together, the crosses in perfect lines, the walks of green laid out in the permanent marble crosses will soon be in place. Meanwhile the wooden ones have been kept freshly painted. There is no indication of rank among our soldiers dead, as at Arlington or our other military cemeteries at home. A color guard and a private's cross are the same, and almost the first decision of the battle monuments commission was that this should never be changed. There will be no special monuments for individuals. Even the official lists in the rest house are not made up by rank. They are alphabetically arranged and also by military organizations. From them any grave may easily be found at once. The name, rank, organization, home state and date of death are on each cross. And the crosses include, except that the Star of David and not the cross is the marker for those of the Jewish faith.

Penitentes Nearing Finish of Tortuous Easter Ceremonies

SANTA FE, N. M., April 16 (AP)—The ceremony of the Penitentes, a religious cult of "holy torturers" which had its origin in Europe during the middle ages, the few American survivors of which are today centered in northern New Mexico and southern Arizona, reached their destination last night after a stage of self-inflicted punishment which began Wednesday. The punishment increased in fervor holy Thursday and reached its climax yesterday—Good Friday.

Re-Enact Crucifixion

Although excessive caution is used to preserve the secrecy of their performance, several persons have reported witnessing the members in action during the last two days. Tonight carloads of people left Santa Fe for Alcalde, N. M., the spot where it is re-enacted the crucifixion of "El Cristo," a part of their ceremony, took place. "El Cristo" is one of their number who is chosen at some time in advance to represent the crucifying of Christ. He is chosen on Good Wednesday, is considered the highest honor which can be bestowed upon a "Penitente."

The chosen one is led to a cross and remains there for two hours or more, after which he is taken down and a general celebration begins. The hill tops of northern New Mexico are studded with the crosses of the "Penitentes."

Two to One Opposition

Forty-four German divisions opposed these 21 American outfits at one stage or another of the final battle of the war. There were one American division in line at the beginning, and several of them were relieved and they went in again, while others that had proven their mettle were called out and sent up to Flanders to help the Belgian and French armies in the final smash there. And all of these have left their soldiers under the crosses at Romagne.

Leads the World in Motor Car Value

5 extra hours
on the NASH motor to be certain it is right

The illustration shows two Nash Advanced Six engines hooked together in the great Nash testing room. One of these motors is driving the other, to limber it up. After a few hours of this, the motor now being driven will limber up another.

Then, after 8 to 10 hours on its own power, it will be taken apart. Bearings, connecting rods and pistons will be carefully inspected. Valves will be ground and reseated.

Next, the trained car of an engine expert will listen to its operation. When he is sure it is absolutely right, it will be mounted on its chassis.

Then another rigid examination, in the car, out on the road. 15 extra hours in all are consumed before the motors shown above are ready for their owners.

How easily Nash could save this time and expense. You would never be able to see the difference.

But every Nash owner knows there is a difference!

There are extra hours of extra care in every Nash, to lift it above the level of the average car—to be certain Nash performance leads the world!

PRINCE GEORGE IS PLAIN 'P. G.' TO ASSOCIATES

English-Royal-Family and Friends Have Own Nicknames for One Another; Prince of Wales Answers to "David."

(By The Associated Press)
LONDON, April 16—Royalty and circles which associate with royalty have their own nicknames for one another.

To his friends among the younger set of society Prince George is known by his initials, "P. G."
The king is known as "Quon" and his three sisters and a few other friends as "George." To her intimates the queen is "Mary" but the king prefers to call her "May."
The Prince of Wales is known as "David," his full name being Edward Albert Christian George Andrew Patrick David.

The Duchess of York, named Elizabeth, is called "Betty" in the family circle, and her lady, Victoria, is called "Vivie," which is universally called "Betty."
The Queen of Spain, grand-daughter of Queen Victoria, and named Victoria Eugenie, is known among intimates here as "Eugie," her baby name.

Five o'Clock Tea In Morning Now

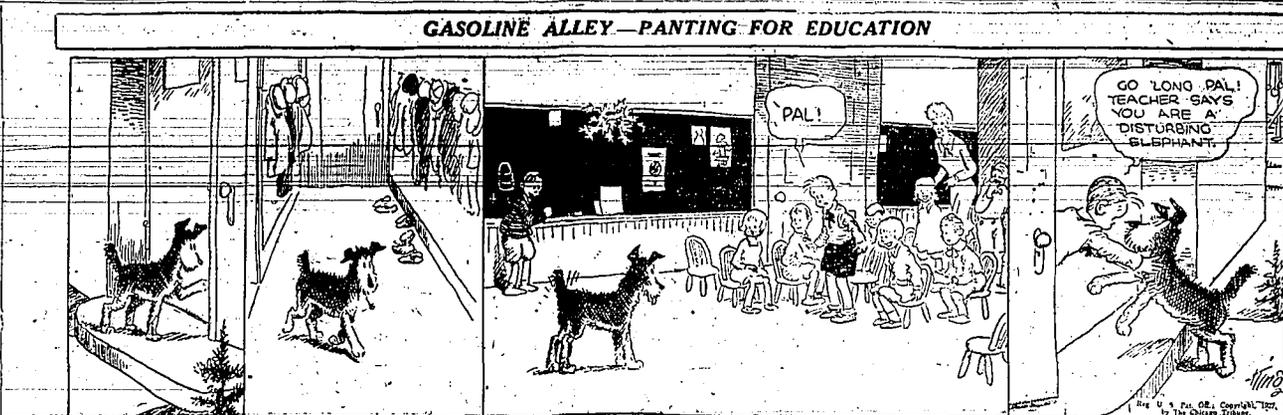

LONDON, April 16 (AP)—Revelation that London has more than 400 poker clubs has also disclosed that the most o'clock tea hour is 5 a. m. instead of 5 p. m. for habitues of the gambling tables.

Many of the players are women, and, in fact, scores of the clubs are operated by women.
The clubs have headquarters in many instances in large residences or the fashionable districts whose owners are living elsewhere.
The poker games start early in the evening, as a rule, and continue until "tea" time at 4 or 5 a. m., when souages and mashed potatoes are served as well as hot sandwiches. Ordinarily, in most of the clubs, there are no more games after "tea" and the players start for home along with the chickens, which fill the streets and houses at that hour.

Says English Houses Too Much Like Boxes

LONDON, April 16 (AP)—British houses are altogether too much like boxes, says R. Guy Dawson, F. R. A., president of the Institute of British Architects.

"Not enough imagination is used, and precious little common sense," Mr. Dawson declares. In his opinion much of England's historic country-side is being marred by hideous buildings, bridges and concrete, glowing gasoline pumps and garages, and other atrocities.
"Hitherto English people have been

The object of the Prothiblowers' order is the collection of charity funds, but conviviality is an important side issue. "Gaining your beer with zeal," is the Prothiblowers' slogan.

Temple Church Roof Banned By Beetles

LONDON, April 16 (AP)—Depreciation of the death watch beetle, damp, and decay have almost ruined the 700-year-old roof of Temple Church in London. The old church, familiar to all American visitors to London, is to be practically removed, as the ancient oak roof of the early English addition to the round church is now deemed unsafe.

The timbers affected are old oak and some yellow lead supports that were worked into the roof 200 years ago when there was a falling on one side. The church, consecrated in 1180, was originally a monastery of the Knights Templars.

HUNGARIAN MUSIC SINGLED TO END JAZZ

LONDON, April 16 (AP)—Tzigane music is about to shove plain old American jazz into the discard in the opinion of Arthur Honegger, Swiss composer.
Mr. Honegger, an admirer of jazz, says it was introduced by his first wife, but has become "worse" in its most extravagant manifestations and "now looks away for something new—like the old-timey, old-timey, old-timey music of the olden days of London which imitate the Paul Whitcomb school.

The swing music which the Hungarians and Russians have long been fond of, is what the Swiss composer expects to sweep over the world. It looks like it will be "the thing" and can be played to advantage on many unusual musical instruments.

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—Bull fighting, cock fighting, and pugilism fail to thrill the Siamese, who still prefer for their ancient national sport—combat between selected pairs of specially bred battling fish.

A report to the commerce department from Dr. Hugh M. Smith, former United States commissioner of fisheries, declares that the Bangkok champion of the fish bowl is now able to swim up for six hours of attack and counter attack against his stony rivals.

WENDELL BOND ISSUE SOLD

WENDELL, April 16—Wendell's municipal bond issue of $200,000, voted for improving city streets, was sold last week to the Ashby and Jenkins insurance company, Salt Lake, at a price of $1005.00 per $1000 bond.

William Blackwood was awarded the contract for construction of a half-mile stretch of road from the Wendell National bank corner west to the end of the gravelled road leading to the south side by the way of Clear Lake bridge.

Wendell, Blackwood's bid was $2496.40.—Duffy—Read—Twin Falls contractor now engaged in the highway between Jerome and Wendell, his $2540. In addition to the half mile of road leading west, graveling of Main street and otherwise improving the city's principal thoroughfares are planned.

SUFFRAGISTS BEGIN BATTLE FOR VOTES; CONSTABLE RETIRES

LONDON, April 16 (AP)—Parliamentary building. Feat that the good old days of militant suffragettes are in a way coming back with the mass lobbying of women in the houses of commons for equal suffrage. There are still about 5,000,000 under 20 years old in England who do not have the vote.

Police Constable Frederick Gadd, who retired March 20, after 19 years of service in St. Stephen's lobby of the house of commons, requested to lay aside his uniform just at the time when things are livening up again.

The constable, arrested (Christie) Pankhurst for leaving stones at one of the pictures in the corridor of the lobby in the previous battle, women made for the ballot. He also arrested (Christie) Pankhurst, who had slipped into the central hall of the house of commons dressed as a man and revealed Miss Davison, the militant suffragette, who, as a protest, threw herself in front of a horse at the Derby, and was killed.

Wants Religious Talk

"I should like to have a talk now with Miss (Christie) Pankhurst on her religious writing and her prediction of the second coming of Christ," said Constable Gadd. "I am a sergeant major in the Salvation Army, and those religious things interest me. I had an exciting time when I arrested her."
"General" Flora Drummond, Mrs. Depard, the sister of General Frenche, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Lawrence and many of the other old leaders of the equal suffrage movement are numbering among Constable Gadd's friends. In fact, he and all the other police officers about parliament seem to be on the best of terms with all the crew with which they battled so fiercely in old days.

"I never thought in those stormy days that I should live to see a great lady like Lady Astor sitting in the house along with other lady M. P.'s. How different it is with the women who come in lobby today to get ballots for the women who are still disfranchised."
Of all the Americans Constable Gadd has met in his long service at the parliament building Chief Justice Taft and his suite seem to have made the greatest impression on the stalwart policeman.

"I'll never forget that cheery smile and the hearty handshake he gave me," declared the constable.

CHRYSLER "60"

Built to Give Superior Performance Results

60 miles plus—with exceptional ease—
7-bearing crankshaft
4-wheel hydraulic brakes

Walter P. Chrysler and his engineers, in designing and developing the six cylinder Chrysler "60", strove for a quality of road-case and road-readiness and supreme comfort which would at once set it apart as a car among cars, unprecedented in its price and its class.

The extent to which the Chrysler "60" is dominating its own field, is thus a dream gloriously realized and an ambition splendidly fulfilled.

Mechanically, the "60" has many of the very same features to be found in the higher-priced Chrysler "70" and Chrysler Imperial "80" which include seven-bearing crankshaft, invar-strut pistons, impulse neutralizer, manifold heat control, air cleaner, oil filter, full pressure lubrication, hydraulic four-wheel brakes and shock absorbers.

Come, see the Chrysler "60"—and note the essential fineness of its Standardized Quality manufacture.

You'll recognize it, especially after driving it, as a value utterly unapproached by any other six of medium price.

SACRAMENT OF BLOODMEN SAVED

White Man's Attempt to Regulate Rites of Native American Church Fails in Oklahoma.

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 16 (AP)—Oklahoma Indians may continue to worship the "Great Father" in their own way.

They are saying, at least temporarily, from an invasion of white man's law, which would deprive them of their religious practices, and which their native religion is built.

A state senate committee killed a bill which would prohibit the use of peyote in religious ceremonies. The author of the bill, asserted that chewing of the leaves produces a stupefying effect that makes the user an easy victim for unscrupulous fellow believers, and white men.

The peyote is the sacrament of the Native American church, organized to bring the Indians of the United States to the belief of its followers is a "close approximation to Christianity," says Alfred Wilson, the young Indian and president of the church.

Indian Lobby

News of the prohibition bill's introduction spread rapidly among Oklahoma tribes and a delegation of more than 20 Indians waited upon the state and drug committee, to which the measure was referred. The Oklawaha, Osage, Pawnee, Ponca, Kiowa, Shawnee, Creek, Kiowa, Arapaho, Apache, Kiowa, Comanche and Lenape sent representatives to protest against passage of the bill.

In addition to the "white" doctors, they brought white technical experts, who testified that the bean has no permanent pathological effect; that it is not an intoxicant or stimulant; that it is distinct from alcohol or opium, a Mexican alcoholic drink, and that its users are not habituated to it.

The bill is obtained only in Mexico, and Wilson makes frequent trips to that country for supplies for his church.

INDIANA PATRIARCH COLLEGE BOY AT 72

INDIANAPOLIS, April 16 (AP)—Philip A. Randall, junior at Butler university, is no flunting youth.

On his 72nd birthday, he will plan to earn his degree and become a teacher at Ingalls, Ind., his home town.

Party years ago, Randall was graduated from a normal school. Later he had an opportunity to teach in his home town school and found that he must have more collegiate training to qualify. So he came to Butler and is studying history, astronomy and English.

From the plane of his maturity Randall views the undergraduates of American colleges as misguided and misadventurous.

"I tell all that has been said and written about them," he comments, "is sometimes wonder why they are not really bad, instead of merely flippant."

Director of Randall, Mr. W. J. Burke, is a former member of the faculty at the school where the patriarch is now a student. His wife also is a teacher.

LOW PRICED CONCERTS GAIN FAVOR IN BERLIN

BERLIN, April 16 (AP)—Among the most popular musical functions in the city are the low priced concerts given by the Philharmonic.

These take place three times a week, on Sunday evenings and two weekly evenings. The highest price, the audience can pay for a seat is the usual admission is at most one mark, or about 25 cents.

While, because of competition, even the orchestra is in complete financial straits, the low priced concerts are the attendance is justly large and the audience appreciative. Much of a slight decline in the number of the big subscription concerts is usually programmed.

YOUR BOY'S BUSINESS Insurance Business as a Life Work

Being the Tenth of a Series of Timely Articles by ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., April 16 (Special to The News)—Roger W. Babson this week concludes his ten-part series of articles on "Your Boy's Business" with some very interesting statements regarding the insurance business. Mr. Babson's conclusions are as follows:

For What Is Your Son Fitted?

Let me again repeat that it is very important for parents and teachers to get some idea of the various professions for which they are best fitted. There are only five of these groups and it is usually a simple matter to select the one in which they will best succeed. Furthermore, his health, property and happiness depend upon selecting the right one. These five groups are:

- 1. Professional group—including law, medicine, journalism, art, education, church and civic work.
 - 2. Agricultural group—including farming, forestry, horticulture, etc.
 - 3. Construction group—including building, contracting, mining, etc.
 - 4. Manufacturing group—including all kinds of mechanical work.
 - 5. Merchandising group—including banking, insurance, wholesaling, retailing, advertising and canvassing.
- I have never yet seen a boy who could not succeed in one of these five groups. Most boys are far better suited for one group than for another. No boy is ever bright enough to be able to succeed in all of them. Most failures are due to boys getting in the wrong group. A parent can best assist his boy by having him work for five summers devoting each summer to a different group. For instance, he could spend the first summer in a hospital or in a newspaper office; the second summer on a farm; the third summer as a bookkeeper on a construction job; the fourth summer in a factory or mill; and the fifth summer canvassing and house-to-house peddling. If the boy starts his summer in a hospital, starting from grammar school, he will have completed the process of eliminating the one in which he is least fitted. Merchandising Has Great Opportunities
- Boys who have a public and canvas usually make the greatest success in business life. Boys who love to sell tickets, newspapers and books usually develop into very successful business men.

cutting and the best companies in the end. Moreover, it is said that a man who can sell insurance can sell anything because insurance is such an intangible substance. When one is selling a typewriter, he can show it and the purchaser can touch, lift and see it. With insurance this is impossible. To sell insurance a man must either inspire great confidence in himself or else convince the other man that he is a successful insurance salesman.

Those who sell insurance or invest in insurance stocks have the inward satisfaction which comes from rendering service. This thought not only gives one a happiness which is impossible to secure in any other way, but it spurs one on to do his best work. Selling is emotional rather than intellectual. The promise man can take orders but he cannot create business. A real merchant actually creates business where and when there is no business. If such work is of no real value to those who buy, or what is much worse, if it does them harm, then the reaction on the salesman and all harmful. If, on the other hand, the work is in the case of insurance, it of great benefit to those who buy, then the salesman and the company prosper. In the end all profit to the extent that we serve. Because insurance renders such lasting benefits it is the reason for the great prosperity of insurance companies today.

Different Kinds of Insurance

Insurance may be divided into three main divisions, namely: (1) casualty insurance, which includes fire, burglary, flood, burglary and earthquake risks; (2) life and accident insurance, which includes all forms of personal insurance; and (3) liability insurance, which gives protection against damages and loss from branches of contracts and other causes. The great growth during recent years has been in the last two groups. Life insurance has made special strides in connection with the sale of "business insurance," that is, protecting corporations and firms by insuring to their policies on their important officials, and other valuable employees. Liability insurance has advanced rapidly owing to the tremendous increase in automobiles. Yet the insurance field is not overcrowded. All the reliable companies are making money. Investors in the company are well protected. The good salesman in the employ of these companies are doing well.

Insurance stocks are not listed on the New York stock exchange because there is not sufficient trading in any one stock to make such listing worth while. Those companies that do not hold rather than sell them. There are, however, brokers in New York, Boston, Hartford and other cities who sell the insurance stock. The insurance stocks are also constantly being sold in the big auctions such as are weekly operated by Adrian H. Muller & Sons.

DIFFICULTIES BESET EFFORTS OF EXPERTS

BERLIN, April 16 (AP)—Difficulties have beset the efforts of military experts of the allied countries to complete the work of destroying the German fortifications in accordance with the treaty of Versailles. The experts took up this function when the international military tribunal, composed of the allied nations, met in the city of Versailles in Berlin last year. It is stated here that the allied commanders in Berlin have protested with the result that a settlement of the points at issue is said to be in prospect.

SHANGHAI NEXT STOP

LONGMONT, Colo.—"The Road to China" is the name given to the deepest well drilled in Colorado. It was sunk in a test for oil and abandoned at 7300 feet, the bottom being about one-third of a mile below sea level.

Business always increases. Judging from the Babson chart which shows a stand at 10 per cent above normal, it looks as if selling insurance would be harder during the next few years, then it has been during the past few years. However, this is not a reason why a man should deter himself from buying the stock or young men from entering the employ of insurance companies. The insurance business is a good business; and lucky are both investors and employees who are connected therewith.

5000 miles in! 49 1/2 minutes!

Studebaker Commander maintains mile-a-minute speed for 81 hours, 49 minutes

(5 amazing records for speed and endurance established by Big Six)

Here is what these records mean to you:

1. It is possible to purchase a truly great automobile at a moderate price. The Commander has justly been called "the greatest postwar achievement of automobile engineering."
2. The Commander, because of the super-abundant power of its Big Six engine, will perform easily, easily, smoothly, with no labor or effort, and all tasks placed upon it.
3. Studebaker's Big Six produced "in these new models, cars which will excel even the speediest of the past, in low repair and maintenance costs."

Any motor expert will tell you that 5000 miles at more than a mile an hour is equivalent in strain and stress to 25,000 miles of ordinary driving. Yet in this terrible test, the only replacements or repairs were three grease-cups, one spark-plug and one punctured tire. Only one pint of water was used.

NOW! Drive a Commander yourself. Know this great car through your own hands and feet. These shattered records merely dramatize the thrilling performance which Studebaker Commander owners everywhere are enjoying. They explain why the Studebaker Big Six is far outselling the combined totals of all other cars in the world of equal or greater rated horsepower. The exact duplicate of this record-shattering car is waiting for you at Studebaker showrooms.

NEVER before has any automobile in America traversed 5,000 miles in less than 5,000 consecutive minutes.

A stock Studebaker did it—The Commander, a closed car fully equipped, including even spare tire.

In official tests under the sanction and observation of the American Automobile Association this stock Studebaker, identical with the car you can buy in any Studebaker sales room, not only established the amazing new record of 5,000 miles in 49 1/2 minutes total elapsed time, but also set four other records.

2500 miles in 40 hours, 12 minutes, 54 seconds total elapsed time. An average speed of 62.16 miles per hour.

3102 1/2 miles in 50 hours total elapsed time. An average of 62.05 miles per hour.

3500 miles in 56 hours, 47 minutes, 32 1/2 seconds total elapsed time. An average speed of 61.62 miles per hour.

4,414 miles in 72 hours total elapsed time. An average speed of 61.3 miles per hour.

5,000 miles in 81 hours, 48 minutes, 22 seconds total elapsed time. An average speed of 61.12 miles per hour. No automobile or other vehicle in America has travelled so far so fast. No stock closed car has ever approached this record.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

On This Great Victory Over Time and Distance

When and where did the test start?
April 1st, 1927 at 5:15 P. M. at the Culver City, California mile-and-a-quarter track.

Which were 5,000 measured miles completed?
April 5th, 1927, at 3:03 A. M.—4909 minutes after the test started. Since this total elapsed time included time stopping for fuel, relief of drivers, etc. it is obvious that the car attained a speed far greater than a mile a minute.

Who drove The Commander?
Harry Hartz, champion American race driver, started, finished and drove during the time each record was established. He is assisted by Eddie Hearne, also one of America's great speed kings. Louis Wilson, another race driver, and Ab Jenkins, Salt Lake City contractor, were also all previous transcontinental records last June when he drove a Studebaker Sheriff from New York to San Francisco in 66 hours, 20 minutes.

Under what auspices were these amazing records of The Commander made?
The American Automobile Association, which had official observers on the spot throughout.

Was it a strictly stock car?
Before and immediately following the test, representatives of the American Automobile Association checked The Commander thoroughly and made affidavit that it was strictly a stock car in every respect. Studebaker factories are working to capacity building this identical model.

Was the car stripped?
No, it carried full equipment, including a spare tire. Practically all the records which were smashed by The Commander had been made by open racing models stripped to the bone.

What condition was the car in at the end of the 5,000 miles?
To demonstrate its condition, Hartz put it around the track several times at the rate of 30 miles an hour after the five thousand sandhill mile had been run. Its condition seemed to indicate that it might have continued indefinitely.

What is 5,000 miles?
It is substantially the distance from New York to Constantinople; the distance from Nome, Alaska to Mexico City; the distance from London to Bombay; India; the distance from Honolulu to Japan; the distance from the Panama Canal to Bordeaux, France.

How far is it from New York to Chicago?
960 miles by the New York Central Railroad.

How fast does the 20th Century Ltd. travel?
Its average speed is 48 miles per hour between New York and Chicago.

How many engines are used in drawing the Century from New York to Chicago?
Four engines, each one costing $61,500, are needed for the task. Despite the fact that these engines have fewer moving parts than a Studebaker car and are driven on steel rails by expert engineers, they are run less than 500 miles on any trip, then go in the roundhouse for service.

How do Commander prices compare with other cars of similar power?
No other car of equal or greater rated horsepower sells for less than double the price of The Commander. To match The Commander in power you must pay from $4,000 to $10,000.

Why are Commander prices so low?
Value production on a One-For basis gives you a truly great automobile—enormous power and luxurious comfort at a moderate price. That is why the Studebaker Big Six outdresses the combined totals of all other cars in the world of equal or greater rated horsepower.

Commander Models and their One-For Basis: Sedan, $1585; Victoria, $1575 (with broadcloth upholstery, $1645); Coupe, $945 (with rumble seat, $1645). Other Studebaker and Erskine models range in price from $945 to $2245. All prices f. o. b. factory.

AMERICAN GIRLS NAME HEROINES

Housewives Represent Ideals of Majority of Girl Scouts An- swering Questionnaire.

NEW YORK, April 16 (AP)—While housewives in their own communities represent more than any other class of women, the ideals of American girls, the nationally known women they most admire are Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, Gertrude Ederle, Helen Willis, Mrs. Herbert Hoover, Helen Keller and the late Mrs. Juliette Lewis.

This is indicated in answers to a questionnaire sent by the national headquarters of the Girl Scouts to 30,000 members in all parts of the country.

Reasons for the choice of Mrs. Coolidge were not always that she is "the first lady of the land." Many girls regard Mrs. Coolidge as a woman with "a pleasing personality" or as "a community worker" or "a Girl Scout worker." Mrs. Hoover is also admired as "a Girl Scout worker."

Disclose Ideals
More than 26 per cent of those answering the questionnaire had their highest ideals in women named as "housewives," though they make it clear that being a "modern housewife" means much more than washing dishes and sweeping floors.

Among women of history who represent the girls' highest ideals the names of Florence Nightingale, Clara Barton and Joan of Arc appear frequently. Marie Antoinette and Martha Washington are named also.

More than 90 per cent say they expect to earn their own livelihood. Only 1.1 per cent state definitely that they will not. Of those who expect to earn their livelihood more than one-third name teaching as the means.

Occupations named, next, are music-making, dramatic art, domestic science and business. Housework is named by 11.7 per cent; surgery by 6.0 per cent; law by 5.4 per cent. A few mention laundry work, nursing and mechanics.

Fifteen Years Ago in Twin Falls

Taken from the Twin Falls News files, Thursday, April 18, 1912.

W. H. Mr. Hornbrook will move his family to Albany, his brother taking over the law business of Hornbrook & Hornbrook, in which the senator has been a partner since he left the Twin Falls Chronicle.

Last Sunday morning at the close of the regular morning services, the following vestrymen were elected at Assenion Episcopal church: Senior warden, S. H. Taylor; junior warden, D. D. Alvord; vestrymen, W. R. Price, Dr. J. E. White, Dr. G. T. Higgins, Thomas Doversy, C. G. Winter.

One of the most charming society events of the week was the reception given by Mrs. A. B. Norton and daughter, Mrs. James A. Walker on Saturday afternoon of last week from 3 to 5 o'clock. Assisting in the receiving line for the first hour were Mrs. M. J. Sweeley, Mrs. H. W. Clench, Mrs. Lucy Graham, and Mrs. O. B. Young, mother of Mrs. Norton, and for the second hour Mrs. Charles H. Scott, Mrs. E. E. Chamberlain, Mrs. S. T. Hamilton and Mrs. O. B. Young.

Mrs. W. E. Nixon was hostess at a delightful informal party on Tuesday evening in a cotillion to Mrs. C. J. RADIO AND JAZZ MAKE MORE MALE PIANISTS

CHICAGO, April 16 (AP)—American boys who once regarded piano playing as the forte of their sisters or of foreigners are entering the keyboard in unprecedented numbers.

This conclusion of music teachers is fortified by the finding of H. C. Lewis, president of a Chicago technical school, that the number of men students at his school able to play the piano has increased from less than 10 per cent to 10 per cent in 10 years.

But there has been one factor in popularizing the piano, teachers agree. But equally important have been jazz orchestras and piano playing in movie houses which demanded a male organist with the strength and vigor to operate them. Both offered big enough salaries to attract men.

FORMER DUKE VENDOR OF FAMILY "HONORS"

BERLIN, April 16 (AP)—A new branch in the export trade of Germany has been discovered by an inventive blue blood, the former Duke of Coburg-Gotha, who is selling the so-called house order or decoration of the dead family to easy marks in Sweden.

Exploiting an human vanity and the desire to strut about with decorations he offers the operation to anybody in Sweden who is willing to pay the price of 3500 Swedish crowns. The German government, which finds this proceeding embarrassing and calculated to detract from the country's dignity, is powerless in the matter, as there is no law on the statute books to stop this practice.

Spain was hostess to the members of the P. E. O. society. Following a delightful social session delicious refreshments were served, the hostess being assisted by Miss Jean Greenough and Helena Combs.

O. M. Harvey of Walker, grand master I. O. O. F., is expected in Twin Falls April 25. Degree work will be put on in the lodge after which a banquet and social session will be held.

Leader of Geneva Society Has Roman Head for Business

GENEVA, April 16 (AP)—Mrs. Clara Gathrin d'Arce, American by birth and Swiss by marriage, has a head for business but a heart for the welfare of other women.

A practical, successful business woman, she has spent her life at the same time as a leader in international women's activities. She confesses she does not know which has the strongest pull—her business or her intense interest in all things that mean the development of women.

In 1902, Mrs. d'Arce moved and managed a small factory in Mississippi. She was married to Ludovic Charles d'Arce of Geneva and now is half part owner of a large firm founded by her with five branches in Switzerland and France, for the importation of labor saving machinery and automobiles.

During the war, Mrs. d'Arce was active in furthering industrial and economic relations between Switzerland and France and between Switzerland and the United States. In 1917, when the United States threatened Switzerland with cessation of all shipments of wheat, she originated the idea of sending an official mission to the United States to explain the economic needs of the Swiss confederation. The mission was successful.

Leads Relief Movement

Mrs. d'Arce was among the first persons to concern themselves with the feeding of child victims of the war in Europe.

Another activity was the founding of the World Union of Women for International Council in Geneva, February 10, 1915. She was president of its central bureau for 12 years. She also is a member of the joint standing committee of the International Women's association, which has headquarters in London.

She has written articles on economic topics and has spoken before women's business clubs in the United States, having been a speaker at the congress of business and professional women of Michigan.

NO MORE LONG TRIPS FOR KING

George V of England, Most Widely Traveled Royal Per- sonage, Ends Journeys.

LONDON, April 16 (AP)—George, the most widely traveled royal personage in history, has made his last long voyage.

The king and queen were unable to accept an invitation from the Canadian government to visit that country in July. It has been widely predicted that their majestic countenances will not contemplate any ventures far from home again.

The court is that both the king and queen, considering their ages (the king will be 62, on June 3), have decided it wise that any further voyages, such as crossing the Atlantic, may be considered out of the question, partly because of the fatigues accompanying such excursions and the nervous strain imposed by state functions and other social affairs.

May Visit Continent

Hereafter, it seems, any trips their majesties may make to foreign lands will be merely to the continent, to visit the Riviera, perhaps, during the winter months, when, as is sometimes the case, the king is bothered with a tender throat, aggravated by the English damp weather.

The king before his coronation visited Canada on six different occasions and made numerous voyages to India, Australia and other parts of the world. His majesty began his travels as a boy of 14.

Since the war the travels of the king and queen have been limited to a visit to Belfast in 1921 to inaugurate the new parliament of northern Ireland, a state visit to Belgium in 1922 and a similar visit to France and Italy two years ago.

Second. A. E. F. to March Through Heart of Paris as Feature of Visit to Former Battle Scenes Next Fall.

(Special to The News)
BOISE, April 16.—The final plan of the American Legion through the heart of Paris on the opening day of the national convention next September has been tentatively agreed upon. It was announced today by Lester E. Albert, national commander of the Legion, a cablegram from the French capital to Commander Savage announced that the line of march had been mapped out by James P. Burton, national adjutant of the Legion; Bowman Elder, national chairman of the France convention committee; John D. Wicker, Jr., national travel director; and Albert Greenleaf, resident member of the France convention committee in Paris, after consultation with French officials.

Through Heart of Paris
The parade will lead through the heart of the downtown Paris along streets followed by victorious armies for centuries. A holiday has been declared September 19, the day of the parade and the greater part of the 1,000,000 population of the gas capital will be along the line of march. Ferdinand Foch, marshal of France and supreme commander of the allied armies; General John J. Pershing, wartime commander of the A. E. F.; and Howard P. Savage, national commander of the American Legion, will be among the distinguished officials at the reviewing stand. General Gouraud, military governor of Paris, a war-time commander known to the French capital as "the American soldier," co-operated in arguments for the coming parade.
The host of Legionnaires will gather for the parade in the Place des Invalides. Towering above the veterans will be the dome of this famous structure which houses the tomb of Napoleon and the remains of thousands of noble soldiers of Europe by the pillar. From this central point the veterans will proceed down the Avenue des Invalides, named in honor of the moving spirit of the "taxicab" army hurried in the face of the Germans as they advanced to the French capital. The tramp of the Legionnaires will to be heard as they cross the tranquil waters of the river Seine on the bridge of Alexander III.

To Pass Famous Shrine
The veterans last will then turn left down the Court d'Orleans, for a long time held for the exclusive use of the royal family on route to Versailles. The parade will then lead through the Court Albert I, then west to the Place de Alma, further west on the Avenue President Wilson, named in honor of our wartime commander-in-chief. The line of march will then be right, the Avenue d'Orleans and on to the Arc de Triomphe. Here rest the immortal remains of the French nation's soldier, representative of a million men who died in battle in northern France and Belgium. The veterans will then pass down the world famous Avenue des Champs-Élysées, to the Place de la Concorde.

Here stands an Egyptian obelisk, the counterpart of Cleopatra's needle, marking the exact spot where stood the gallotins during the days of the bloody revolution.
The flags leading the veterans will then turn left down the Rue Bonaparte and into the Grand Boulevards. The
