ROARING WELCOME GIVEN COBB ON DETROIT VISIT

Former Member of Tiger Team Returns as 'Enemy' to Scenes of Early Baseball Triumph.

DETROIT, May 10 (AP)—Tyus Raymond Cobb, who for 22 years wore the uniform of the Detroit Tigers, came back to the scene of his early baseball triumph today to receive a roaring welcome. The fact that Tyus came now—playing against the former team as a member of the Philadelphia Athletics—made no difference. Today was "Cobb day" and Cobb for the day at least belonged to Detroit fandom.

The lifting just a few hours before game time by President East Johnson at Chicago of a suspension under which Cobb and his teammate Al Simmons, were placed out west after a disagreement with Umpire Gandy at Philadelphia, enabled the Georgia pecker to appear in the day's game. The action came as a warm relief to the fans of Detroit who had bought seats for the game several days ago in the hope of seeing Cobb in his first bavin field appearance since he had written them out as the Tigers.

THE END OF STRIBLING

Thurman took first in the district meet held at Twin Falls on Monday evening when he won the course in good time considering the heavy track.

Thurman displays nice form over the hurdles and he is expected to place in the state track and field meet. Thurman will probably accompany them as an alternate, having won third place in the pole vault and third in the broad jump at the district meet in Twin Falls.

COBB BACK IN LINEUP

DETROIT, May 10 (AP)—Cobb, appearing at Main field for the first time in other than a Detroit uniform, contributed a two base hit to the Athletics in a 3 to 0 victory over Detroit in the opening game of the series today. It was Ty Cobb day and more than 30,000 spectators paid admission to see the former Tiger manager in his new uniform. Cobb came up in the first inning after E. Collins had walked and driven a double to the outfield crowd in right field, putting Collins on third. Summons, who returned to the game today after a suspension for his trouble with Umpire Gandy in Philadelphia, drove in both runners with a single to center that gave the Athletics the lead.

SOUTH-CENTRAL DISTRICT LOOMS AS TITLE HOLDERS

The south central league district should win enough points at the state meet to take first place and Philadelphia that state competition cannot be arranged between teams selected from the various states. With the points garnered by Gooding added to those taken up other teams in the district it would be practically impossible for any other section of the state to walk away with the meet.

Gooding should take the aprons and the 800 yard relay, while Rupert and Burley will take points in the high jump and pole vault. The Bruins may be equal to about 25 points and Smith of Filer and Thurman of Bull should do about enough, at least to give the district 80 out of the 127 total possible.

ATHLETIC TROPHIES STILL INVOLVED IN RED TAPE

BERLIN, May 10 (AP)—Red tape squabble has arisen over seven open wreaths which were presented by American Turners to the delegates of the German Turners League for their successful competition at last year's athletic tournament in Louisville, Kentucky. The German Turners are the custom house and the German Turners' league.

When the seven prize winners left America, they did not take these trophies with them but left orders that they were to be sent to Germany later. On the arrival of the seven open wreaths on this side, however, the German customs officials declared that they were dutiable and imposed a tax of $10 marks, or about $2.

The Turners' league protested that not only was the value of the wreaths less than 2 marks, or 20 cents, but they emphasized the promotion of friendly relations with the United States in the sending of the German delegates to America. Custom house officials remained firm, however, and pointed out that a petty sum like $10 marks certainly did not warrant an appeal to the German supreme court at Leipzig.

This has led the controversy still pretty much up in the air for the Turners' league is still deliberating whether or not it would be wise to establish a precedent by paying, what is termed, "such an iniquitous duty."

BRUINS QUALIFY HALF OF DISTRICT'S ENTRIES

In qualifying 43 men for state competition the Bruins qualified half of the total number of men qualified in the district. Coaching—qualified 6, Burley 2, and each of the other five schools to qualify men. With these 13 entries the Bruins have a good chance at the state title, and it isn't impossible for them to win the cup. They should place first in the 800 yard run, the low hurdles, and the mile relay. District entries for the half in close to record time if pressed, and while the Caldwell entry seems to have a little the edge, those who have seen Dietrich run the half feel that he stands a pretty good chance to win. Kelly must beat Putter in the low hurdles, a feat which he accomplished last year, and although he has been erratic this season, he has actually run the sticks in faster time than ever before on the Lincoln field track.

The mile relay may or may not win, but they have a chance. Pugin-in-time.

CHICAGO WINS

CHICAGO, May 10 (AP)—Timely hitting by Tommy Thomas, coupled with the team's steady pitching after a wavered start, enabled Chicago to defeat Washington 4 to 3 today in the first game of the series. The Senators are holding the Senators safe in the pinches, Thomas delivered two blows which accounted for three of Chicago's runs.

The score—

Chicago	4	3
Washington	3	0

HICAGO TAKES FIRST OF SERIES FROM PHILADELPHIA

PHILADELPHIA, May 10 (AP)—Chicago opened up a home run barrage on Hal Carlson and won the opening game of the series from Philadelphia today, 6 to 2.

L. Wilson, Hartnett, and Stephenson all hit for the circuit. There were two on base when the latter connected in the eighth inning. The blows accounted for five of the six runs made by the Cubs.

The score—

Philadelphia	2	0

Batteries—Blake and Hartnett; Carlson and Wilson.

VERMILION, Ky., May 10 (AP)—For more than 60 years the same organ in St. John's Episcopal church has been heard every Sunday here and during this time only four hands have played the keys.

He is the first woman to run for state office in Kentucky, having been a candidate for the clerk of the court of appeals, in 1920 and 1924.

CLEVELAND'S HOPE SHATTERED

CLEVELAND, May 10 (AP)—Boston defeated Cleveland in Philadelphia, drove the first division today by noosing out the Indians, 6 to 1. The Red Sox forced in five of their runs in the eighth when they bunched two doubles and two singles. Cleveland rallied in the eighth and had the tying run on third base with only one out, but the steady and prevented a tied score.

The score—

Boston	6	1
Cleveland	5	8

Batteries—Wills and Hartley; Marx, Levens, Miller and Seavelly.

FAIL TO REACH ACCORD ON BASEBALL SCHEDULE

Efforts to arrive at a satisfactory schedule for the '27 league were given another setback when President Sandhals received official notice from the league president to the effect that the last schedule discussed would be accepted as official. This schedule calls for only seven weeks of baseball at home and nine away for the Bruins and it gives Oregon nine weeks at home.

After a lengthy long distance conversation with President Frederic Nye, recommendation of the schedule was granted, according to local club officials, and a definite agreement should be reached today.

INTEREST CENTERS IN BURL BOND ELECTION FOR POWER PURPOSES

Residents of West End City Will Be Asked to Authorize Funds for Construction of Distribution Plant.

BURL, May 10 (Special to The News)—A considerable interest has developed in Burl recently over the bond election which has been called to authorize the city of Burl to construct a power distribution plant for the purpose of buying power at wholesale from the Mutual Power company of Clear Lake, and the relative to city work. The election has been announced for June 7.

Those in opposition to the bond election and the Mutual power proposition are not numerous but loud and persistent. Those who are in favor of the proposition have not taken an active part in the argument. A number of Burl citizens are making investigations into the Idaho Falls power plants at Burley, Rupert and Idaho Falls and comparing costs of electricity with those municipalities with similar bases—members of the American Falls reservoir project made a trip to Idaho Falls recently to investigate the municipal owned electrical distribution plants, but he is not making a report on his findings. He is anxious to see the Mutual Power company's proposals, but declines to enter into discussion at present.

Mayor Investigating
Authorization of the bond election was given by the former city council, two members of which are on the governing board. The proposition has not been committed to the city or to the city buying and distributing electricity from the Mutual Power company but the mayor is investigating information relative to costs and incomes. The money for building the power plant is being furnished by the Clear Lake syndicate which is composed of four men residing in California, and T. W. Halliday of Rupert. They plan to invest about $100,000 and claim that they will receive their investment back on one-half of the saving that is available in the power plant. Burl before the schedule of the government to the cities of Rupert and Burley. The other cities of the project will go to the city of Burl if the mutual company is unable to sell power below the Minidoka project. The syndicate will lose its investment.

Many Burl people have visited the plant at Clear Lake recently and were disgusted the plan to build a dam. Most of them are said to be impressed with the fairness of the proposition and it is expected that they will support the bond issue.

The work on the plant is being carried on rapidly and the schedule has been built across the main channel of the outlet and most of the water is being diverted through the apertures of the company. The pipeline has been laid to the foot of Devil's Washboard and the riveting work is expected to be completed next Monday, according to present plans.

GLORIA'S "GEMMA" PLEASURES

"The Love of Gemma" is Gloria Swanson's greatest achievement. The enthusiastic audiences at the Idaho theatre yesterday saw a new picture which is a masterpiece of wit and dominant personality grip and thrilled them from the first scene to the final fade out. There is a thrilling, prematurely aged school teacher. Next as a temperamental prima donna. And finally, as the wife of a millionaire.

THREE MEN ON TRIAL ON BURGLARY CHARGE

Three more days, according to the prosecuting attorney, probably will be required for presentation of the prosecution's evidence in the case of Robert Anny, Charles B. Corcoran and William A. Lefter on trial in district court here in charge of burglary in connection with theft of two automobiles from the wrecking establishment here on the night of last April 20.

Trial in the case opened Tuesday, selection of the jury being completed in the early afternoon after the regular panel of jurors had been exhausted and only one peremptory challenge remained to be exercised.

The tire that is alleged to have been stolen was placed in evidence and testimony of four of the prosecution's witnesses was introduced by D. W. Williams, prosecuting attorney.

Strike at Identification

Cross-examination conducted by J. W. Parker and J. W. Taylor, attorneys for Anny, and L. D. Dunn, attorney for Corcoran and Lefter, indicated purpose to break down identification of the tire that was found on Anny's automobile as being one that was stolen from the Tarr establishment. The prosecution was arrested within two or two after their arrival here from Nevada gold fields. They told officers they left Portland early last month.

Witnesses who testified Tuesday for the prosecution were C. W. Tarr, proprietor of the wrecking establishment; Evan Tarr, his son; Roy E. Small, an employee; Ralph E. Leitchon, "Twin Falls center" of jewelry and H. O. Peterson, former police officer.

Evan Tarr and Small testified that several numbers on tires taken from Anny's car had been defaced, probably by being scuffed with a hot iron, but that application of gasoline brought the numbers into relief showing that they corresponded with numbers on tires taken from the Tarr establishment.

Judge Hugh A. Baker of Rupert, presiding at the trial, overruled a motion for separate trial for Anny.

SHOWS DARK SIDE OF TWO-CROP SEED PRODUCTION SCHEME

University Extension Agronomist Indicates Possibilities of Greater Profit and Effective Pest Control.

Changing conditions often makes it necessary to change certain farm practices in order to meet efficiently produce certain crops. Such a condition appears to be facing the producers of clover seed in some sections of Idaho.

H. A. Johnson, extension agronomist at the university extension division, makes the following statement concerning present practices in growing clover seed in some sections of Idaho.

"There are two general practices followed in producing clover seed. Some of the most successful farmers plan the rotation so that only one crop of clover is harvested before the field is plowed. This practice usually results in the production of seed free from weeds because the stand, one year from seeding, is usually heavy and tends to crowd out the weeds which are always prevalent in fields having a scattered stand. The second year the stand is reduced and weeds will crop in. During years when prices seem favorable, it may be profitable to retain clover fields for a second crop of seed even though lighter yields contain more weed seeds result. However, some of the most successful growers of seed clover are those who are already in a system believing that over a term of years greater profits will accrue through the heavier cleaner yields of the 'double value'.

From this statement it would appear that, regardless of insect pests, the most profitable clover seed is obtained by the one-crop planting. In doubtful value. Where certain insect pests become abundant, as is the case in portions of Idaho, the growing of two seed crops from a single planting instead of being of doubtful value becomes a serious detriment not only to the grower himself but to his neighbors who are producing clover seed.

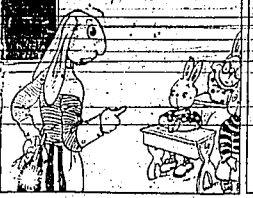

"The most important insect pests of clover include the clover weevil, clover leaf weevil, clover root borer, clover seed chalcid, and clover root curculionid. Each of these insects does much worse in clover fields permitted to stand a longer period than a year. At the time of year the work of one of these insects, the clover leaf weevil, is very noticeable and as its effect on older clover stands is quite typical of other insects it would be used as an example to illustrate the effect of insects upon practices used in clover seed production.

The adult clover leaf weevils are small beetles more or less closely resembling the alfalfa weevil except they are much larger, being approximately one-fourth inch in length. They lay their eggs in late summer and early fall in crevices among the stems at the base of the plant. These eggs hatch in from three to six weeks into light yellowish green worms which become a deeper green as they grow older. The head is brown and down the middle of the back is a white or pinkish red stripe bordered with a dark color. These worms become partially grown before winter sets in when they hibernates in rabbit or under the soil until spring. They then emerge from hibernation and resume their feeding upon the clover leaves, becoming full grown in early summer. They feed most at night and are scarcely noticed during the day as they lie around the base of the plant tightly curled.

Their presence at this time is made apparent by the ragged appearance of the clover, numerous holes being eaten in the leaves and circular areas being eaten from the border of the leaves. In heavy infestations the clover will be eaten nearly as fast as it grows, many clumps being entirely killed by these insects when maturity is reached; they spin a delicate cocoon consisting of a thin network of silk threads in the middle of the base of the plant. Within this cocoon the larva enters the pupal stage, emerging two or three weeks later as the ### adult weevil.

These insects have become quite severe pests of clover in some sections of the state and in practically every instance, it is in the older stands of clover that the most damage occurs. The reason for this is because quite apparent when we make a survey of the fields. The adult weevils begin to lay and during the summer they fly about settling in new clover fields to lay their eggs. As a result there will be a considerable number of weevils in the field the following spring. These weevils reach maturity during the summer and each female weevil may deposit as many as 200 eggs. As a result, if the field is left over another year, the number of weevils has increased to such an extent that severe damage may occur. Furthermore, in addition to the damage that is done in an exceedingly large number of weevils are raised that will fly to adjoining fields to deposit their eggs and thus a heavily infested field becomes a menace not only to other fields of clover in the same vicinity but to the clover fields of all farmers in the vicinity.

On the other hand, the field is plowed under the following spring, the weevils at that time are in the warm stage and if they manage to get to the surface they will be unable to crawl as far as other clover fields and will therefore perish.

With these facts in mind, we see that where a field, even though infested with these insects, is left for a second year, the following results are obtained: First, a loss is suffered on a field that already is not as valuable as a first year crop. This loss ranges from a low percentage of the crop to one which in at least one case has been as high as 100 per cent. Second, the crop obtained will likely be lighter and contain a high percentage of weed seed which is likely to mean the difference between profit and a loss. Third, a large number of weevils are raised that are a potential danger to all other clover fields in the vicinity.

NORTH DAKOTA HAS TOWNLEY PROJECTS

Enterprises Launched by Head of Non-Partisan League in 1919 Do Huge Business.

Bismarck, N. D., May 10 (AP)—Eight years ago the state of North Dakota went into business on a scale that astounded the nation.

Today four enterprises survive from the industrial program upon which the commonwealth was launched in 1919 by A. C. Townley and the non-partisan league.

The Bank of North Dakota and the state mill and elevator do an annual business of $20,000,000.

A state bonding and fire insurance department binds officers and insures property of the state and its political subdivisions.

A state hall insurance department insures North Dakota farmers against crop damage by hail.

Two projects in the Townley program have become inactive. A plan was outlined under which every North Dakota farmer was to be able to borrow state funds to finance a dairy herd, but not a single farmer ever has sought to take advantage of it. A state creamery lost $16,000 and went out of business.

The industrial program is an issue at nearly every election.

The mill and elevator, located at Grand Forks, cost $3,000,000. The Bank of North Dakota has $20,000,000 in deposits and has handled $28,000,000 in farm loans.

The hall insurance department has accumulated from premium surpluses and taxation almost $4,000,000, and when it gets that amount no more taxes may be collected by it.

The state bank is governed by an industrial commission composed of Governor P. B. Shreve, Attorney General George P. Shifler, and J. A. Kitchin, commissioner of agriculture and labor. Governor Shreve is manager of the mill, but the other commissioners may keep an auditor there.

JAP AUTOISTS SCORN ANTI-PETTING LIGHTS

TOKYO, May 10 (AP)—Petting light automobiles had 100,000 in Japan, but motorists are seeking to eliminate one of the most obnoxious.

There is no law here against petting in public but police regulations require an electric light over the back seat of every automobile, which means that petters must often demonstrate their affection in full view of the public.

Automobile owners have started a campaign against the regulation as a useless and unnecessary expense since it has failed to discourage petting.

DISDAINED "HASHER" OUTFEARNS "STENOS"

CHICAGO, May 10 (AP)—Old stenographers and department store clerks may disdain the employment of the "hasher" but the waitresses make more money than their sisters at desks of behind counters.

Whereas the average stenographer earns about $25 a week and the shop girl somewhat less, an alert waitress in a medium-priced downtown Chicago restaurant makes as much as $50 a week and sometimes more, employers say.

Daily tips to waitresses often average $5 to $8, which added to nominal wages and meals gives the girls as large an income as many heads of families. Tipping has become so general a custom that waitresses say they can compute their earnings from month to month.

ENGLISH DESIGNER STILL AT WORK ON AUTOMOBILE

NICE, May 10 (AP)—Hidden away in a small villa in the hills behind Nice lives an elderly Englishman named Royce. He seldom is known to leave his home, yet not a single change is made in the construction of the famous Rolls-Royce motor unless it has his approval.

Behind the Royce villa is a model machine shop. Royce spends 14 hours a day experimenting with mechanical contrivances in an attempt to make more nearly perfect the automobile he originally designed. Sometimes the chief engineers and designers of his plant in London come rushing to Nice by airplane for a session in the workshop.

It is said that not one change has ever been made in the original design since Royce personally had made tests of it.

And advertisements have had much to do with adding to the variety of our national diet. It is well worth while to read and study the advertising pages. To all that pertains to the home, to all that pertains to every-day life, the advertisements contribute. Whether meals, motor-cars or music, let the advertisements help you make the choice. You will find them wise in counsel, trustworthy in service.
