SHADOW OF RIVER'S PERIL THROWN OVER FIVE MORE PARISHES

Flood-Dictator Warns Women, Children, Aged and Infirm to Evacuate District; 107,400 Persons Within Danger Zone.

(By The Associated Press) NEW ORLEANS, May 20.—The shadow of the menacing flood peril was thrown over five additional parishes in south central Louisiana today as John M. Parker, flood relief director, advised residents of one of them that there was imminent danger of water against their levees than could be held.

When Parker and his staff arrived here yesterday they found that the millions of tons of water pushing through the Tensas basin, but might cut a new channel for the river along the path of the Atchafalaya.

White authorities notified on this day that they feared the danger to the parish is located at the point of the wedge along the sides of which both water and mud from the Mississippi and with Old River, connecting the two rivers, forming the tip.

Thousands Face Annihilation The parish, with a population of 24,000, is at the upper extremity of the "sugar bowl" and a break along the levee from it in that parish would lose the flood waters into the parishes of Assumption, Iberville, West Baton Rouge and Terrebonne, which have a total population of 107,400 persons.

The warning of Dictator Parker to Pointe Coupee residents took into consideration the imminence of danger to that parish should there be a break in the embankment as the crest of the flood bears down upon it.

Four Parishes The other four parishes further from the danger zone are the parishes of Adams, Calcasieu, Iberville and St. Landry.

A total of more than 200,000 acres of land is in the path of the waters from a break along the Pointe Coupee levee. The danger zone extends for nearly 150 miles northwest of New Orleans and on the opposite side of the Mississippi river.

Mr. Parker issued the warning after a conference with Major John Gotsdalk, commander of the relief transportation fleet on the Old River, and after a complete inspection of the area yesterday.

ATTEMPTS TO SAVE SHIP'S CREW FAIL

Twenty-Five Men Aboard Steamer Indiana Harbor, Off West Coast, Still Unrescued.

SA FRANCISCO, May 20 (AP)—All efforts to rescue the crew of 25 men aboard the steamer Indiana Harbor, which since Wednesday night lay on a reef off Point Garza, 45 miles south of Eureka, failed today after an attempt to raise the light line was failed above from the stranded steamer, which is being pounded by heavy seas, but when an attempt was made to haul a heavy rope aboard the vessel from the shore it broke. Radio messages containing information received here this afternoon said an army plane sent from San Francisco to bring a line from shore to ship had returned to its base without making the rope.

Four Ships Standing By The Indiana Harbor but the sea is too rough to permit the launching of boats from either the stranded steamer or the ships that are willing to make the effort.

The message to the Radio Corporation of America stated that a light line was successfully floated above with a hatch cover but that as a heavier rope was being hauled to the ship it broke.

Army Plane Sent to Ship The army airplane sent to the wreck of vessel from San Francisco with two 200-foot steel cables with instructions to bring a line from shore to ship, landed two or three times over the vessel and then headed back to San Francisco. The flyers evidently found it impossible to lay their line because of the precipitous shore line opposite the Indiana Harbor.

Ship's Crews Standing By The plane was seen to drop a line from the shore to ship but it was not long before the plane was forced to return to the coast guard unit to track the vessel.

HARRY F. SINGLAIR

FACES PRISON TERM

Oil Magnate Will Serve Three Months' Time for Contempt Unless High Court Intervenes.

WASHINGTON, May 20 (AP)—Harry F. Singlair, wealthy oil operator—must serve three months in the District of Columbia jail for contempt of the United States senate unless the higher courts intervene.

This sentence, plus a fine of $500, was imposed today by Justice Ellis in the District of Columbia supreme court, as a result of Singlair's conviction by a jury of a refusal to answer certain questions in the senate naval oil inquiry in 1924.

An appeal was noted immediately and Singlair is being held in a naval oil reserve in Wyoming as a collateral on the $5000 which he gave after he was indicted nearly three years ago.

The case will be fought through the United States supreme court and may take two years for final determination.

Mr. Singlair met today to the well known spokesman and oil man apparently was more than he and his counsel had anticipated. They had hoped that the minimum sentence of one month in jail and a fine of $1000, the maximum fixed by law is 12 months and $1000.

Pages Thruing Ordinal The man who in a brief span of years rose from obscurity to a place as one of the leading oil operators of the country, faced an even more trying ordeal today, than he did on a point last May 10, when 12 men returned their verdict of guilty after deliberating for nearly eight hours.

Mr. Singlair, a resident of New York, who made an eloquent plea, plus Justice Sittler to stand up. Replying to the question as to whether he had anything to say before sentence was imposed, he announced in a clear, firm voice that he had nothing to say and that his counsel had said.

Justice Sittler remarked that the decision of the supreme court in the Mall Dougherty case that the senate had power to compel the attendance of witnesses was binding upon the lower court.

SOUTHERN MOB TAKES LIFE OF NEGRO KILLER

Lynchings Follows Confession of Murder of White Farmer; Taken From Officers.

MACON, Miss., May 20 (AP)—Dan Anderson, 32, negro, was lynched by a mob late today, as he was being transported from Tuscaloosa, Alabama, to Macon. He was alleged to have confessed the slaying of C. T. Edwards, young farmer of Cliftonville, Mississippi.

The mob numbering between 350 and 500 men, followed Sheriff T. B. Adams of Macon county, Mississippi, from the Alabama town to a point just across the Mississippi line, where they took the prisoner and ridged his body with bullets according to Charles Richards, Macon attorney, who was with the sheriff's party.

Anderson, who has been sought since Sunday night, was arrested at Eroad, Alabama, today.

Sherriff Adams immediately went for the prisoner and started back with him after being assured, he said, there would be no mob action.

The mob closed in on the sheriff and he was shot in the back as he crossed into Mississippi near Pleasantville, Alabama.

ATTORNEY GENERAL UPHOLDS VALIDITY OF HIGHWAY BONDS

Frank L. Stephan Issues Opinion in Support of 1927 Legislative Act Declaring $10,000,000 Road Issue Legal.

(By The Associated Press) BOISE, May 20.—In amplifying the opinion of Attorney General Frank L. Stephan, issued today, which upholds the legality of the special act of the 1927 legislature validating $10,000,000 worth of Idaho highway district bonds, R. W. Katerndahl, Dubois, representative of Clark county and chairman of the judicial committee declared failure of highway districts to pay interest and principal on outstanding obligations will be contrary to law and will destroy the credit not only of the highway district but of the state itself.

After citing a supreme court decision, which declares acts of the legislature to be constitutional unless clear violation of the constitution is shown, the opinion of Attorney General Stephan says:

"It is our view that the legislature is not prohibited from enacting such validating acts in law or from adopting the highway districts, defined and established on the records of the county commissioners, as the acts and deeds of itself, but, on the other hand, that the validating acts in question are legal and that the bonds of the districts affected by such acts are valid, binding obligations."

The 1927 legislature passed 19 individual acts, validating the issuance of bonds by individual highway districts and two general acts, one a blanket validation act and the other an act authorizing the levying of taxes by highway districts to pay outstanding indebtedness. This legislation was necessitated to maintain the credit of the state following a federal court decision which invalidated district bonds and declared Idaho's highway district law unconstitutional.

FLOOD'S GREST GOES PAST IDAHO FALLS

Waters in Snake River Rise 36 Inches in 12 Hours; Gros Ventre Waters on Way to Sea

IDAHO FALLS, May 20 (AP)—The crest of the Gros Ventre dam flood, which took its lives in Wyoming Wednesday, completely wiped out the town of Kelly—Wendland and inundated thousands of acres of agricultural land, along the Snake river north of this morning. Measuring devices showed a rise in the river of 36 inches between 10 o'clock last night and early this morning.

Water in the flooded area is rapidly receding and reports from all Idaho Falls indicated that by tonight the river would be flowing normally again. Reports from Jackson today stated that the river was back in the channel at all Wyoming points.

Church and School Remain At Kelly there is nothing left but a church and the school house and these may never be used again. It is said, as it is doubtful whether the town will ever be rebuilt.

At Hite, Idaho, where the water was nine feet deep at 2:30 Thursday afternoon, residents saw snow removing mud and debris from their lands.

The fact that the water failed to rise to the high levels anticipated is attributed to the fact that the heavy drifts of timber formed temporary dams and held the flow in check.

There is little danger of damage from the water south of Idaho Falls and the flood which vented its fury for two days seems to be ended.

OMIT "SERVE" AND "OBEY" PHILADELPHIA, May 20 (AP)—Omission of the words "SERVE" and "OBEY" from the marriage service of the reformed Episcopal church was proposed Thursday in a report submitted to the general council of the church in session here.

SOURROW ONLY ANIMAL NOT-AFRAID OF FLOOD

BROOKFIELD, Mo., May 20 (AP)—Animals scattered in panic from the Mississippi river townlands when Musk rats hastened to the hills carrying their "cubs." Dan Brown, trapper, related today, and rabbits showed themselves to be excellent swimmers, although they stopped often on stumps and fence posts to rest.

Brown tells of seeing a fox and a pack of rabbits fleeing side by side from the rising waters.

Until the animals were sitting pretty—high in the trees, tops with ample stores of food, they watched nonchalantly while waters swept in.

SORROWING PARENTS LAY CHILD VICTIMS OF BLAST AT REST

Sympathetic Public Assures Rehabilitation of Stricken Michigan Community; Senator Couzens Pledges Relief.

(By The Associated Press) BATH, Mich., May 20.—While funeral cathedrals crept along country roads today freighted with the child victims of the Bath school explosion, a sympathetic public assured the rehabilitation of the stricken community. United States Senator James Couzens pledged financial relief of the affected families and Senator William D. Ford of Michigan pledged to do all in his power to bring about the rehabilitation of the stricken community.

Many of the 44 who lost their lives during the explosion Wednesday night were buried today. The short main street of the village was roped off to bar the "crowd of curious" from the church and bereaved homes. Part of the funerals were held here, others from farm houses and some in Lansing and other Michigan towns. Ministers called in from a wide area to conduct the services. Funeral equipment from many cities was called in to meet the situation.

Flowers Piled High At Red Cross headquarters flowers were piled high. They were sent largely by donors who knew neither those who died nor their families. From the numbers of friends and afflicted families came lilies and plants from home gardens.

The remains of the man who was buried today were taken to the home of Mrs. Alice Kehoe, of Battle Creek, arranged for a casket. The body was lowered into the grave by an undertaker. In the presence of some grave diggers. No tears were shed. There were no services.

Sharp Contrast In sharp contrast with the funerals of those who died were those of those who were buried today. Little girl school mates gathered wild flowers in the woods and strewn them about the home of Rev. and Mrs. Scott Macdonald, whose 13-year-old daughter, Thelma, was buried this afternoon. The funeral procession went 30 miles to the Macdonald home in Bath to the Springfield cemetery.

Services for Mrs. Andrew Kehoe, who was slain and partially cremated by her husband's boiler, were read today.

BRUINS DIRECTORS WORK OUT PLANS FOR CONTESTS AT HOME

Bleachers and Grandstand Are Overhauled and Other Improvements Completed for Season's Opening Crowds.

The board of directors of the Twin Falls club in meeting yesterday afternoon completed plans for opening game here May 24, when Bruins meet Logan in the first home series of the year.

Tuesday's game is scheduled to start at 3 p. m. with all the trimmings that go with opening day.

Extensive repairs have been made at Athletic park. Sprinkling facilities are now so arranged that the outfield as well as the infield can be wet down, thus avoiding the dust nuisance of last year. Bleachers and grand stands have been overhauled and been subjected to a rigid inspection by the city inspector and pronounced O. K.

A railing is to be put out in front of the grandstand on second street to allow passage from the bleachers down to the west gate without weaving through a wall of automobiles. Gates are so fixed that the crowd can be emptied more rapidly than last year, and it is the plan of the board to seat out the benches in front of the grandstand and put up a screen that will allow better visibility.

A tentative hour of subsequent week day games has been set at 3 p. m. and Sunday games at 3 p. m. A ballot will be given to the fans a ticket on opening day calling for popular vote on the hour of opening games and after a check up has been made the time of starting games may be changed.

At the extra game promoted at Idaho Falls has three consecutive weeks of home runs of the series is with Twin Falls. A proposition to transfer the Twin Falls series of June 14 to 10 to Idaho Falls to Twin Falls has been accepted by the board and plans do not miscarry Twin Falls will have an added week of baseball.

Members of the board are now selling a booster ticket for $2, this ticket is good for any at home game of the season and with the receipted ticket office for one general admission and one grand stand seat, value being the excess on the ticket to be used to defray expense of traveling on the training season.

Here is the text of the report made by Harold W. Merritt, city engineer on his inspection of the grandstand and bleachers.

"The grandstand and bleachers at the local baseball park have been installed in accordance with my suggestion.

The structure is now ready for the purposes intended and may be occupied to capacity during the coming baseball season."

Former Sailor Wins Technical Knockout Over Boston Contender in Last of Fifth Round; Big Crowd Sees Battle.

NEW YORK, May 20 (AP)—Displaying an unexpectedly crushing attack, Jack Sharkey, light ex-calico, knocked out Boston rival, Jimmy Maloney, tonight in the fifth round of a 15-tout match that upset all calculations.

With a pop-eyed crowd of 30,000 looking on in astonishment, Sharkey mastered Maloney with a bewildering drive from the start, knocked down the humble Irishman just before the end of the fourth round and finished him in the fifth with a slashing right handed assault that left the beaten man a gory and battered wreck.

Technical Knockout Victory It was a technical knockout victory, for the referee, Lou Magolina, stepped in to stop the fight when the crowd had reached six on Maloney's third and last knockdown, but this did not affect the decision, Maloney badly beaten.

Maloney, bleeding from the left eye, nose and mouth had plunged to the floor from a succession of slaying punches to the head. He fell over the lower strand of ropes, tried to struggle upward, but failed, then the crowd came in, panned by the referee's way, on one knee, starting toward his foe but plunged headlong toward the canvas, consciously going forward but "virtually" out.

Before Maloney had gone down the referee ordered Sharkey's clubs left-handed and right-handed punches, which he landed, but each time he jumped up without a count to rush Jack into the ring. He was possibly cut him a chance to recoup some of his waning powers.

YANKEE STADIUM, New York, May 20 (AP)—Jack Sharkey's crushing over-hand right smashed Jim Maloney out of the heavyweight picture in 115 rounds tonight in Tex Rickard's second 15-round semi-final of the climactic title bout. Maloney was down three times in the first round, but the referee awarded the bout to Sharkey on a technical knockout. The same punch dropped Maloney on no count in the fourth round.

In spite of balmy weather, prospects of a big crowd greeted the Jack Sharkey-Jim Maloney heavyweight elimination battle tonight. Shortly before the preliminaries were to begin, at 8:15 p. m., a heavy rain shower scattered the fans scattered in the far flung reaches of the big American league ball yard.

Round Three Maloney's face, after badly battered, big dripping from lips and eyes as he came up to meet Sharkey's winging left. An overhead right sent Maloney down again for no count. Another overhead right and Maloney's body rolled helplessly on the canvas. His effort to climb up failed and the referee waved to his corner.
