Dixon in the singles of the international hard court championship at St. Cloud, Rene Lacoste today defeated the Italian national champion, Baron De Morsurgo in a five-set match in the opening game of the Italian-French Davis cup elimination play.

SCHOOL IMPROVING PROGRAM UP TO VOTE AT BOND ELECTION

Integrating Situation Develops in Opposition to Issue Led by Chairman of County Board; Two Propositions Joined.

Voters of Twin Falls independent school district will pass upon a bond issue of $75,000 for school improvement at an election next Tuesday. Money derived from the sale of these bonds is to be used, first, for construction of a new school building and for adding or building to retro-overworked buildings in the Lincoln and Bickel school buildings.

Maximum amount of gymnasium and auditorium would be $20,000, and the balance of the bond money not exceeding $55,000 would be used to construct and equip the grade school building or buildings.

Argument for gymnasium. Construction of one wall and the roof, with practically no excavation, will be required to build the proposed gymnasium. It will provide floor space 72 by 111 feet in dimensions, with seating capacity for approximately 2000 persons.

Both propositions have been joined by the district trustees in the single issue that is to be submitted.

In the event of failure of the issue at the election, the district's attorneys have advised the issue cannot be submitted to a second election within six months.

Disfranchisement. The condition which the construction of additional grade school buildings is to correct is one that was characterized by Ernest D. Halley, superintendent of Twin Falls schools for three years past, as being "disfranchisement."

More than 200 pupils of primary grades, under this condition, according to statement of Dr. George H. Halley, county physician, are confined in basement classrooms with inadequate ventilation and lighting and exposure to gases and odors from furnace rooms and lavatories in the basement. Only an average of more than 40 pupils in each of these rooms, and space is only about 210 cubic feet, as against a normal requirement of 600 cubic feet per pupil.

Financial Barrier Lifted. Members of the board of trustees who have been familiar with these conditions explain that adequate corrective measures could not have been taken by the district prior to this year because of financial limitations.

Timing of the election. The bonding limit prior to this year when it was raised by the late legislature precluded possibility of financing construction of new school buildings in Twin Falls. Elevation of the bonding limit comes at the same time as the retirement of Twin Falls school district bonds to an extent that would have made possible the expenditure for the proposed improvements even if the limit had not been raised.

Twin Falls school district will this year reduce its bonded indebtedness by $25,000, which is the amount of the payment to be made each year to meet and retire the district's outstanding bonds.

Interesting Opposition. An interesting opposition to the proposition with the district board is openly opposing the

SON DEFEATS CLAIM OF STEPMOTHER TO C. E. OLIVER ESTATE

Court Enters Judgment Adopting Findings of Nine Jurors and Rejecting One Unanimous Conclusion in Dispute.

Under terms of judgment rendered by Judge W. A. Babcock in district court here, Elting Oliver, only child of the late C. E. Oliver of Buhl, will share in his father's estate, which includes an 80-acre farm near Buhl and personal property valued at about $200.

The judgment sets aside a deed executed by C. E. Oliver a few hours before his death on last February of transferring the land to his second wife, Jessie V. Oliver, and requires that the estate be returned.

Sees Undue Influence. Finding that the widow used undue influence to obtain the deed, the judgment sustains the contention of Elting Oliver in the suit which he instituted against his stepmother in which case the judgment was entered.

The judgment adopts the findings made by nine out of the 12 jurors in trial of the case last May 25 to the effect that the widow used undue influence to obtain the deed and that it was obtained to defraud the son.

It requires the finding of the entire jury that full value had been given by Mrs. Oliver as consideration for a promissory note in the sum of $700 that had been executed by C. E. Oliver to her favor.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our most grateful thanks to our many friends and acquaintances for the many acts of kindness and the beautiful flowers at the time of the last illness and death of our son and brother, Harold LaBue, and especially to the Reverend Dr. Humphrey, the young ladies who acted as flower girls and the Moore lodge.

Is Seventeen Cents A Day Worth Saving?

A customer recently checked up her bill and remarked that she had saved just $1.19 by paying cash.

This may seem like a small sum, but if repeated every week for a year she would have saved over $60.00—the price of the use of $1,000. Everyone realizes the importance of $1,000 but we often fail to pay enough attention to the $1.19—seventeen cents a day.

The J. C. Penney Company through its enormous buying resources has found many American homes to save this 17 cents a day, while enjoying the utmost in quality and service for every dollar expended. Our policy of paying cash for our purchases results in a substantial saving, which we prefer to pass on to our customers.

NOTED STATISTICIAN GIVES VIEW ON OIL PRODUCTION CRISIS

Roger W. Babson Comments on Report of Excessive Supply of Crude Petroleum in United States; Gives Remedies.

(Special to The News)
BABSON PARK, Mass., June 11.—In view of the excessive rate of oil production, with its demoralizing effect on the industry, we have asked Mr. Babson to give us his views on the oil situation. This is his statement:

"The oil and that blow nobody good, and while the oil operators are complaining of no profits, and are asking their losses, the benefits of lower gasoline prices are being passed on to the country at large. However, it must be admitted that the time has come when the excessive production of oil will eventually fall upon the consumers and that a large over-production and excessive storage is, in economical and wasteful.

"In my mind, the greatest loss which will result from a country like the present is the lack of incentive to invent and process which will produce a more economical use of the crude product. Over-production of oil only causes loss to stockholders, and wastes today what may be needed tomorrow, but it greatly hinders the development of new inventions and the utilization of known ones which will reduce cost and make for better utilization of crude oil. It is very possible time to take full advantage of the present over-production is the result of improved processes which have made possible the larger gasoline content derived from lower grade oils. However, rate as it did in the California fields in 1922 and has recently increased in the Seminole district. The production of oil is a widely fluctuating quantity.

"In many commodities if the supply should be suddenly increased a reduction of price makes larger sales and greater consumption. Thus a balance can be maintained between supply and demand through the regulation of price. If the cost of shoes should be suddenly lowered you would probably have a new pair of shoes rather than have the one pair 'reborn.' This is the demand for shoes can be largely controlled through the price of shoes. On the other hand, the amount of oil consumed is a relatively stable quantity. The amount of gasoline used is dependent upon the price of gasoline as upon the number of cars in use. The amount of machinery in operation determines the lubricating oil consumed, and the weather determines the fuel oil burned.

"Based on rate of output for first four months: Based on the latest data available I estimate the daily average new supply of oil petroleum for the month of May to be around 2,040,000 barrels. This figure includes our own production and imports. Now the total quantity of all petroleum necessary to supply current demand I estimate at approximately 1,500,000 barrels daily. This figure means that our capacity of oil petroleum exceeds our demand by about 540,000 barrels each day.

"It is not that blow nobody good, and while the oil operators are complaining of no profits, and are asking their losses, the benefits of lower gasoline prices are being passed on to the country at large. However, it must be admitted that the time has come when the excessive production of oil will eventually fall upon the consumers and that a large over-production and excessive storage is, in economical and wasteful.

REVIEW SACCO-VANZETTI CASE

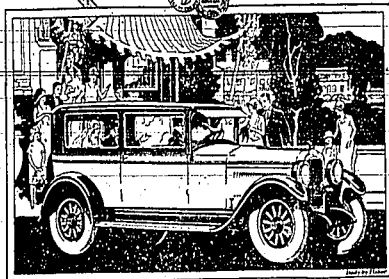

THESE THREE MEN are studying the Sacco-Vanzetti case to avoid Governor Alvan T. Fuller, of Massachusetts, reach a decision on appeals to spare the condemned men. They are Robert Grant (left), former justice; Lawrence Lowell (right), president of Harvard; and Samuel W. Stratton (below), president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Governor Fuller asked the men to investigate charges that Sacco and Vanzetti were convicted of the South Braintree payroll murders because of their communist beliefs.

as the anti-trust laws are concerned. California, incidentally, which is dominated by big companies, has for some time practiced curtailment of drilling to regulate production. Here is the probable remedy, and the oil men appear to be coming to a common point of view in respect to control of new drilling.

"Thirty to forty years ago the entire oil business was shot to pieces and the producers were making no money. It was then that Mr. Rockefeller took a long look into the oil market is increasingly toward a higher level of prices. The advent and development of the automobile created tremendous demands for gasoline. This demand is still growing. We are just now entering an era of commercial aviation which development of which may be beyond our greatest dreams. This will open another big need for gasoline which may even over-top the automobile market. It was only a few years ago that the oil interests began to realize the possibilities of fuel oil for operating our industries and heating our homes in most of our cities today but a small part of the homes are heated by oil and experts state that we shall live to see the time when 90 per cent of our homes will be heated by oil, gas, or electricity. The use of oil for fuel in industrial plants has barely started. But it is fair to assume that all of the uses for oil are now known? May not other uses be discovered from year to year, of which we do not dream today? I believe they will, and that is one reason why I believe in the future of oil."

Recent conferences between Dr. Wark, secretary of the Interior, and representatives of leading oil companies make it clear that sooner or later some measure should be expected which will curb the drilling of new wells and restrict the supply more nearly in accordance with the demand. Such action, however, must come from the oil industry itself. The most that the government can be expected to do is to take a liberal attitude in so far

Make your own test and see how CHRYSLER '60' differs from any other six of its price

Get behind the wheel—and Chrysler '60' will give you 60 miles and more an hour as long as you care to have it with an ease and lack of effort that can only be described as typically Chrysler.

At high speed, step on the brake—the same simple, safe and sure hydraulic four-wheel brake as on the higher-priced Chrysler '70' or Imperial '80'—and the '60' will gently glide to rest or give you a split-second full-stop for the emergency.

Test Chrysler '60' any way you will. For ease of performance and riding, ease of control and handling, there's no getting away from the fact that the six-cylinder Chrysler '60'—with seven-bearing crankshaft, inverted pistons, manifold heat control, impulse neutralizer, oil filter, air cleaner, full pressure lubrication, road levelizers and many other features—is obviously unapproachable value in its price class.

We invite you to drive the '60' and note its outstanding differences on the road. Experience its superiorities and never again will you be content with any car offering less in performance at such price.

GRAIN UNDERGOES QUANTUM JUMP MARKET

Wheat and Corn Bump Into Air Pocket in Demand From Buyers and Both Cereals Drop.

CHICAGO, June 11.—Wheat and corn advanced sharply on an air pocket today in demand from buyers and both cereals underwrote a sudden drop. Price fluctuations were accentuated by the fact that many standing offers to sell out and stop loss in effect at various points in wheat were foreclosed in operation.

Execution of buying in wheat and corn came during the last hour of business and prompted to commodity prices some sharp fluctuations on the part of houses with northwestern and western interests.

Strength Displayed A display of strength which earlier had shown itself in the wheat market was ascribed to black rust news from Idaho and to a bulletin from the United States Department of Agriculture.

Forecast went downward on account of weakness of hog values and of cereals as well.

PARIS SHOPS LOOM BIG IN VISIONS OF WOMEN OF LEGION

Idaho Auxiliary President Tells of 'Incidental' Attractions of Attendance at Convention in French Capitol.

The colorful five mile Legion parade at the Paris convention will disband in the Jardin des Tuilleries in the heart of the famous Paris shopping center, says a statement given out by Mrs. W. H. Detweiler, president of the Idaho American Legion Women's Auxiliary. Members of the Auxiliary will have opportunities to make shopping tours under expert guidance. Members of the Paris unit of the Auxiliary, wives, mothers, sisters and daughters of the 1200 members of the Paris Legion post and professional interpreters are preparing to assist the women attending the convention to make the most of their time in Paris. Having lived in Paris for extended periods, most of the Legion women here speak French fluently and know the secrets of shopping in the world's greatest fashion center.

The difficulty of where to shop presents itself at once to the new-comer in Paris. The shops are so numerous, the procedure so difficult from anything encountered in America, that a feeling of bewilderment is inevitable. There are no real made-over shops in Paris except in the department stores. Every dress shop has certain sample frocks made to fit the mannequin who wears them. The customer goes to the shop, looks over the dresses and if she pleases her, orders it made in her size and in the colors that are becoming to her. Only in rare cases is a frock found near enough the right size.

Many of the famous shops are located within a short distance of the Hotel Continental, which will be headquarters of the auxiliary. On the rue de la Paix, the shortest and most fashionable street in the world, are to be found the House of Worth, the House of Doucet, two of the oldest designers in Paris; Brandt, who specializes in tailored coats; Paquin and Doue Seours.

Midnight. The saucy little girl who darts about the streets carrying lint hat and gown boots to Madame, and who is called "Midnight" because it is she who rates no lunch, will be on hand to aid the American Legion Auxiliary shoppers. In the war days Midnight showed she was capable of helping her country too. Then, when the armistice was signed and the workmen wore once again busy thinking of their dresses, the little Midnight went back to her sewing and deliver-

NEW WOMEN'S BUILDING GIVEN TO UNIVERSITY

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, June 11—Gertrude L. Hays hall, women's dormitory, was formally turned over to the university by the University of Idaho Building association at a dedication service following commencement exercises Monday morning.

State Senator Chris Hagan, representing the building association which constructed the dormitory, presented the building to Mrs. J. G. H. Gravel, president of the board of regents.

As cheerful as ever, students of the Latin quarter and the midwinter are great "chums—peaches—beauties—they both know what really means and "be the broke" means. The auxiliary members will send some line in the famous Latin quarter too.

and she in turn presented it to Governor H. C. Baldridge, representing the state of Idaho.

Governor Baldridge, in a short speech of acceptance, paid tribute to Idaho's youth, saying that he felt little concern over the future of the state and the nation. He emphasized the value of science as the basis of learning, pointing out that it is taking an ever-increasing prominence in the affairs of the universe.

The dormitory was named in honor of Mrs. Gertrude L. Hays of Boise, the first woman member of the board of regents and a tireless worker for the university. It was built by an association of Moscow business men, who presented it as a bond issue. The rental from women students over a period of 20 years will be applied to bond retirement and purchase of the building. At the end of this period it will be turned completely over to the university.

The completion of this dormitory brings the number of women's buildings on the campus to three, the other two being Forney and Hilsenrath halls.

FISH WAITING FOR PRESIDENT'S HOOK

Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge Will Spend Vacation in One of Country's Picturesque Spots.

WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP)—President and Mrs. Coolidge will spend their vacation this year in one of the most picturesque spots in the country. Raymond H. Terry, field secretary of the National Conference on State Parks, who probably has viewed more of these resorts with the eye of an expert than any other man in the nation, describes the "240 of the summer White House" in Custer state park in the Black Hills of South Dakota, as "one of the largest and finest state parks in the United States."

Dark and blinding, the Black hills are real mountains, raised in mountains grander high above the surrounding plains by one upheaval of a remote age. They are clothed with Norway pine and blue spruce, decorated with innumerable fantastic rock formations in basalt and granite, underlaid with gold and less precious metals, and threaded with marvelous little winding, tumbling streams that must have caused the fancy of President Coolidge when he was told they were famed for speckled trout as well as beauty.

Custer state park embraces 107,440 acres in these hills. In the southwest corner of the state, including such heights as Harney peak, the loftiest point between the Atlantic and the Rockies with an elevation of 7,237 feet; Lookout, formerly Sheep, mountain, 6200 feet high, and Blackhorn mountain, 6000 feet high. Except at Andreadack and Custer hills in New York and "one of 753 Pennsylvania state forests, the largest recreational area in the country owned by a state and to the particular pride of Senator Peter Norbeck, who as governor in 1911, had a large part in creating it.

President Coolidge and his party will have at their disposal the state lodge, a modern rustic notes maintained by the state game department in the eastern part of the reservation. Other visitors may find accommodation farther north in a state owned but privately operated hotel on Sylvan lake at the base of Harney peak, or at Camp McArthur, named for the junior general, who also had a hand in developing the park during his incumbency as governor. These retreats and numerous other camp sites in the park are linked with a system of highways, described by model, that mountain roads. No one is trout casting offered to visitors, but many other recreational facilities are at their disposal. Parties are available to carry them into the hills, numerous trails are set as lanes for hikers, tennis may be played at the Lodge or at the hotel, and a native, sporty golf course is near the president's quarters for his lades to enjoy, while in the game preserve not far away are buffalo, elk, deer, antelope, mountain sheep and goat.

The air is almost always amazingly clean, rain is infrequent and snow is never encountered in the higher, better.

Original "Know Nothings"
Agnosticism is a doctrine which teaches that "we can have no knowledge except that which is acquired through the senses, which may be tested by experience, and that we can know nothing of spiritual matters; that in fact, we know nothing of what may be beyond themselves." Agnosticism, therefore, leaves no room for the exercise of Christian faith.
