INJUNCTION ISSUES IN CHEMIST ACTION

Judge Baker Holds H. Saxon Is Entitled to Temporary Writ Enjoining H. L. Walter.

Declaring that the answers of the defendants in the case of Hemmer Saxon and wife against H. L. Walter and wife are not sufficient...

What It Was About The action grew out of alleged determination on the part of the defendants to violate an agreement entered into when they dissolved a partnership which existed between them as owners and operators of a chemical laboratory.

Opinion of Court In his opinion Judge Baker said: "The defendant in answer to the order to show cause does not deny execution of the contract by him or its full performance by the plaintiff or the breach by the defendant of his promise. He answers only that the contract is contrary to public policy and makes some effort to show that unless he is permitted to continue to violate his contract, the apple growers in the vicinity of Twin Falls would be unable to secure inspection of their product."

Even if material, defendant's showing that the plaintiff is not qualified to that sufficient inspection by competent men could not be had is not satisfactory. His attempted showing that the plaintiff could not secure the appointment as inspector amounts, in substance, only to a showing that officers would not investigate and qualifications of the plaintiff while the defendant remains in competition. I am not willing to say that the particular covenant is contrary to public policy or that the plaintiff is not entitled to the benefits of his contract.

Defense Witness Is Arrested in Jerome On Perjury Charge

JEROME, Sept. 12.—Special to The News—W. D. Jeppson, a witness for the defense in the case of Rev. John J. McNeil charged with criminal libel, was arrested on a charge of perjury as he left the witness stand today. Jeppson telephoned to E. V. Larson, a local attorney, and arranged to come here and arrange for bail and for the time of holding trial.

Jeppson, while in the service of the prohibition enforcement bureau during 1926 as under cover man at Mayer, J. McNeil was called in the case. Jeppson was arrested in the office of a lawyer in the city. He was arrested for alleged commission of a statutory crime; took a change of venue to Jerome, and was arraigned in this case. He was represented by Mr. Larson.

The trial of this case against Rev. McNeil was held in the city. It is believed. There are several witnesses for the defense yet to testify and the state will, it is believed, put on its case.

In the Burley court case, Mayor Johnson and Sheriff Pace were accused of conspiracy in the case against the chief of police was dismissed.

ALFALFA SEED GROWERS WANT LATE FIRST FROST

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Alfalfa seed production may fall quite a little below that of last year unless killing frosts hold off longer than usual, according to reports received from the United States bureau of agricultural economics.

Because of rains and cool weather, the crop in northern and central growing districts is better than usual. Favorable weather until the latter part of September is needed in southern districts.

Conditions were better in southern producing districts than elsewhere in the United States, New Mexico and Arizona were larger than last year.

Reports received from Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Colorado, Montana, Wyoming and Idaho indicate that production is likely to be considerably smaller than that of last year, when production in most of these states was larger than in recent past years.

Production in Idaho, especially in the southern alfalfa, is expected to be larger than last year. In Idaho reports indicate some indicating a slight increase, while others, a slight decrease. About the same size as last year, which was below normal. Perhaps nowhere else will the tardiness of killing frosts be such an important factor as in Idaho, where the state in recent years, has been producing about one-third of the total crop of the United States.

The crop in Canada is expected to be the smallest since 1922 and may be more than 10 or 12 per cent of the record 1926 crop. There will be but little Canadian alfalfa for export to this country.

During the past two years Canada has controlled the bulk of the alfalfa imports into this country, having exported more than 3,000,000 pounds to the United States during the two-year ending June 30, 1927.

The movement in Arizona, New Mexico, and Texas this season has been somewhat unusual. In Arizona growers have offered $10.50 to $12 per 100 pounds, bass clean seed; in New Mexico, mostly $10 to $12, and in Texas, $12 to $17.25. These prices were lower than opening prices last year. In other states prices have not been established, but nominal offers are reported to be a little lower than last year due mainly, it is believed, to the larger carry-over of common alfalfa than normal. The unusually short crop of Canadian alfalfa will carry over of Grimm alfalfa in the United States, and probable decreased production of common alfalfa in Montana and South Dakota are expected to give considerable support to prices from Grimm alfalfa, notwithstanding the prospective increase in production in Idaho and Utah.

The average prices per 100 pounds paid to growers for common alfalfa seed for the crop years 1916 to 1926 were as follows: 1916, $15.20; 1917, $28.10; 1920, $15.00; 1921, $12.00; 1922, $14.40; 1923, $15.00; 1924, $10.00; 1925, $15.10; 1926, $11.00.

The wholesale selling price per 100 pounds for best grades of common alfalfa in the Missouri valley averaged for the five-month period, January to May, 1920 to 1927 as follows: 1920, $40.15; 1921, $18.20; 1922, $17.75; 1923, $25.00; 1924, $18.20; 1925, $22.25; 1926, $20.50; 1927, $18.20.

SPRING WHEAT CROP PROSPECTS IMPROVE

Market Weakens With Total Domestic Production of 861,000,000 Bushels Indicated.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Continued favorable progress of the North American spring wheat crop, with prospects of larger output than were expected earlier in the season, weakened the wheat market during the week ending September 10, according to the weekly grain market review of the United States bureau of agricultural economics.

Good growing weather over a large part of the corn belt together with a continued heavy movement caused a further decline in corn prices. The rice market had independent strength, caused principally by unfavorable reports relative to the German rice crop and some improvement in export demand. The oats market was also higher and the flax market held steady.

A spring wheat crop of 308,000,000 bushels for the United States was indicated at the first of September, making a total domestic crop of 861,000,000 bushels, which is 10,000,000 bushels greater than indicated August 1 and about 20,000,000 bushels larger than last year's harvest. The increase in spring wheat is attributable for the most part to the fact that the August figures at Duluth, Sept. 1 and for spring wheat crop this year are 25 per cent higher than for the same crop last year. Wheat estimates are not yet available for the Canadian wheat crop, the weather was favorable during the week and the crop made good progress, according to trade advice. Exports to date from European countries, exclusive of Russia, show a slight increase over last year. Trade reports indicate, however, that because of unfavorable harvesting conditions in some of these countries the grain is of inferior quality, which may reduce the effective supply.

In addition to the favorable spring wheat prospects, the movement of new crop grain was increased, and the holding pressure was fairly heavy in the domestic spring wheat markets.

Millers were good buyers, however, and cash premiums remained very firm, particularly for wheat showing 13 per cent or more protein. Thirteen per cent protein No. 1 dark northern sold at 10 to 10 1/2 cents over September price, which closed September 9 at $1.37 1/2. Fourteen per cent protein sold at 10 to 10 1/2 cents over September price, which closed September 9 at $1.37 1/2. Fourteen per cent protein sold at 10 to 10 1/2 cents over September price, which closed September 9 at $1.37 1/2.

Larger offerings of durum wheat caused a sharp decline in premiums for this class. According to the September 1 estimate the durum crop will be about 32,000,000 bushels this year, compared with 45,000,000 bushels last year. Good milling quality with high protein was in good demand but premiums for No. 1 amber were reduced to a range of 1 to 2 cents over the Duluth September at Minneapolis. Premiums were slightly above these

SWEELY REPORTS ON ELECTRICAL SCHEDULE

Finds Combination Rate Benefits Large Users; Others Need Not Enter Contract

Some users of electricity would benefit by the combination-residence rate imposed by the public utilities commission and others, if they would take it, would not, but that those who would not suffer should they continue on the old rates, was the substance of the opinion of Captain E. M. Sweeley, city attorney, filed last evening at the meeting of Twin Falls council. Leave use of electricity will receive benefit, the report declares.

Captain Sweeley stated orally that the rate does not work out evenly, and in some instances consumers will not receive the full benefit which it might be assumed that they would. He said, however, that this was a matter which might be adjusted after experiment. He said that relative to the effect of the new rate on the power company, he did not care to make a statement, since that was beyond his instructions, and could only be ascertained after extensive investigation. He assumed that this would probably be eventually determined by litigation.

Test of the Report

The report when was laid on the table without discussion reads as follows:

"In accordance with your request I have made some study of the combination residence rate recently put in effect for the Idaho Power company's service. The rates referred to were issued under the order of the public utilities commission of Idaho on the thirtieth day of June, 1927, and became effective July 1, 1927. They apply to residence consumers only, and are optional with the customers. This means that if an individual customer desires to be on his present rate, he may make the change. If there is no advantage to him he can retain the rate he is now paying.

To Consume Users

"The rates appear to be designed to induce the residence customer to combine all of his electrical uses in the home, such as lighting, cooking, heating and refrigeration, under one meter and to give to him the benefits of the saving accomplished from the retirement of the extra meters, bookkeeping, etc. The rates do not work out that way in every instance, but the customer is not required to change unless he wishes to. The result is that many residential customers will find that they can make a saving by taking their service under the new rates, while others cannot, but I do not find any reason to believe that the saving some will get will in any way make the cost heavier on the others. Only by applying the new rates to the customers' situation can it be found whether there is any advantage to be obtained by him from a change. If the new rate does not work out to his advantage he is no worse off, for he can retain the old rate for his service.

Depends on Size

"The new rates seem to give chief advantage to those who, for the size of the home, make a comparatively large use of electricity. This is unusual in principle. The commission may have deemed it good business policy to give to the larger purchaser a reduction in cost per unit as an inducement to continue large use. The rates may have, and possibly they were intended to have, the effect of inducing a larger use of electricity in the homes, for in some instances that I have examined the new rates permit an increased use up to as much as 25 per cent per month with no increase in the cost for the month.

Some Will Benefit

"My conclusions are that the customers who benefit from these rates will make the change, the others will not. The effect of the rates upon the customers seems to be, in the first case, either a reduction in cost for the same service or an increase in service for the same cost, in the second case, none. The option in either case is with the customer as the rates now stand."

MINISTERS DECLARE FOR SUNDAY SCHOOL SESSION

Association Members to Work Out Detailed Plans With State Organization Representative.

Final plans relative to the proposed Sunday school institute to be held in Twin Falls from October 30 to November 4 will be worked out at a meeting here Saturday with a representative of the state association. It was decided at a luncheon meeting of the Twin Falls ministerial association at Tom's cafe at noon Monday that a good attendance of ministers from different parts of the county present at the settlement was in favor of holding an institute.

The games on the midway at the fair Friday afternoon, and the fact that the Twin Falls county hospital, where he died Saturday morning, attending physicians attribute the death to a blood clot on the heart, resulting probably from a tooth infection.

Buhl Citizens Vote On Municipal Power

Proposed $85,000 Bond Issue for Purchase of Site and Building Plant Up to Election.

BUHL, Sept. 12 (Special to The News)—Buhl taxpayers will vote Tuesday on a proposed $85,000 bond issue for purchase of a power site and construction of a municipal power plant. The bond issue, if carried, will make available $85,000 for a municipal power system for Buhl, a bond issue of $65,000 for construction of a distributing system having been approved by the voters last July.

The People's Mutual Power company, a cooperative organization composed of farmers of the Buhl country, has contracted the transmission line from the proposed power site to the outskirts of Buhl, a distance of nine miles, and will purchase from the city power for distribution among the occupants. It was stated at a meeting of about 50 advocates of the bond issue here this evening by Mr. L. McGuire, president of the company.

Other speakers at the meeting this evening included E. M. Tomlinson of Buhl, engineer, who stated that he had checked estimates made by Barry Dibble, former reclamation service engineer, and expressed confidence that the proposed bond issue would be sufficient to purchase the site and build the power plant. He stated that the city could operate the system and sell power for 80 per cent of the consumption in Buhl and make a clear profit of $10,000 a year.

Outlines Plans

S. E. Hyde, member of the city council, outlined the proposed agreement under which the city would purchase the Banbury power site on Snake creek and construct the proposed plant. Under these agreements, he said, the city would pay to Mr. Banbury $3 for each horsepower developed at the site. It is proposed, he said, to construct two power plant units, each of 200-horsepower. Plans provide for installation of 350 feet of cast-iron pipe from the springs to the power plant to make use of a 250-foot-diameter, 12-inch-diameter, 2000-horsepower can be developed at the site.

The transmission line that the People's Mutual Power company would build, it was stated, would be leased by the company to the city. Mr. McGuire stated that the company has money ready for purchase of power, and that he has recently canvassed the stockholders, raising 98 per cent of them in favor of the proposed municipal system.

From steamboat voyage to cabled word seems a far cry, yet few people realize that even greater progress has been made in retailing, as evidenced by the two slogans, "Let the Buyer Beware," and "We Do Business Under the Golden Rule."

TEACHMENT OF VERSE
WAKES POEMS WHILE

Commercial Poetess Mme. Sauter-Gattelier Works With Meter and Rhyme at Home in Suburbs of French Capital.

PARIS, Sept. 12 (AP)—Poems while you walk, has been turned into a regular business by one versifier there, and she has hung out her shingle.

This commercial poetess is Mme. Aloys Sauter-Gattelier, who works at all meters and rhymes at her home in the suburbs of Paris. She describes her as a "Merchant of Verse."

In the provinces, this business is a sideline with many literally inclined persons who have not yet turned the corner on the road to financial success.

Even last chauffeurs, whose lack of respect for persons and things is proverbial in Paris, have a warm spot in their hearts for the horses. Cabs, they say, do not yet rate the appearance in a taxi rank, are usually accorded the place at the head of the "line."

PARIS, Sept. 12 (AP)—Taking a horse-cab for a drive along the boulevards or better still, under the stars in the Bois de Boulogne, is still a way many spend some time on summer nights in Paris in this stylish city. The thicker and more crowded the taxis become, the more stolid it seems to find a rare old cab and hire it.

HEAVY SELLING OF CORN LOWERS PRICE

Widespread Hot Weather Forcing Crop to Overcome Handicaps, Leads to Big Selling.

CHICAGO, Sept. 12 (AP)—Corn underwent a sensational decline in price today, widespread hot weather forcing the crop to overcome to a remarkable extent the growing handicaps which have prevailed for months led to selling on a big scale.

After an extraordinary run of 64 cents a bushel for the day, corn closed unsettled 3c to 4c net lower. Wheat finished 5c to 1 1/2c down, oats 1 1/2c off to 1 1/2c, and rye 1 1/2c down.

With high temperatures unusual for this time of year intensified today, and with a forecast of continued hot weather notably auspicious for hastening the maturity of the new corn crop, sales to the south of the river were brisk at the outset.

The fact that receipts of corn in Chicago today aggregated more than 500 cars acted as a further impetus to the sale of hogs and for at least the time being all talk of probable crop failure was at a decided discount.

Touch Lowest Price—Lowest prices yet this season were touched both for December and March deliveries and the rapid downward swing of the market, together with many standing orders to stop losses at various fixed limits, meanwhile country offerings of corn to arrive in Chicago were materially increased and speculative purchasing was restricted for the most part to previous sellers who were in a position to collect a profit.

What Goes Down—Rains in the Canadian harvest district tended temporarily to steady the wheat market, but the arrival of wheat at Duluth, together with corn weakness, pulled what values down later.

Wheat exports to business totaled 1,000,000 bushels of Canadian. Estimates were current that the Canadian official forecast of yield would be about 400,000,000 bushels.

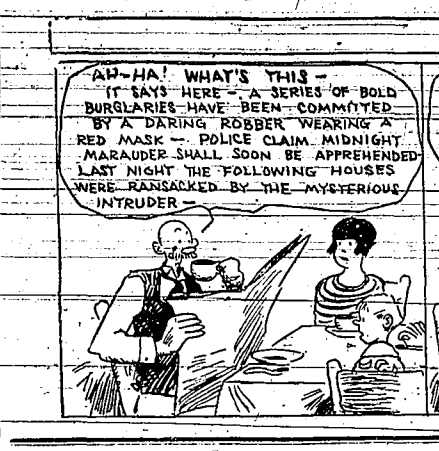

Provisions were higher earlier, influenced by hot weather, but afterwards acted with corn and cotton.

WHIMS OF DESIGNERS SET STYLES IN EAGLES FOR AMERICAN COINS

Bird, in 1794, Young, Athletic and Clean Cut, Acquires Mien of Solemn Dignity and Takes Perch on Lofty Money Crag.

(By The Associated Press) NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—While the United States has been making its knee breeches trousers and hankie cuffs, and its fringed, cow-boy, wavy wigs and hence its "spiff" frocks, the American eagle, who adorns the nation's coins, has been courted.

Time after time in the history of his country the eagle has been styled as a national emblem. In 1780, the eagle was the symbol of the American dollar. In 1794, the eagle, young, athletic and clean cut, had acquired a mien of solemn dignity and had taken its perch on a lofty money-crag.

Wood suggests, to contemplate his next reincarnation. Only for a year or two did the eagle remain as he was first depicted. Wood points out. He reappeared with wings outstretched, and looking like an abstract balancing himself on a tightrope.

His next pose was a belligerent one, and at the top of every shield for a chief protector, opened his mouth warily and let his tail feathers droop.

"He was 13 years old," Wood continues, "before they decided to reduce his chest protector. His nose had developed, and he had put on weight. Officially, the eagle was now a young man."

It is an ludicrous tangle for a family of wealth to dress its servants in costume to indicate their class as it is humiliating for a man, American citizen to permit himself to be garbed, he holds.

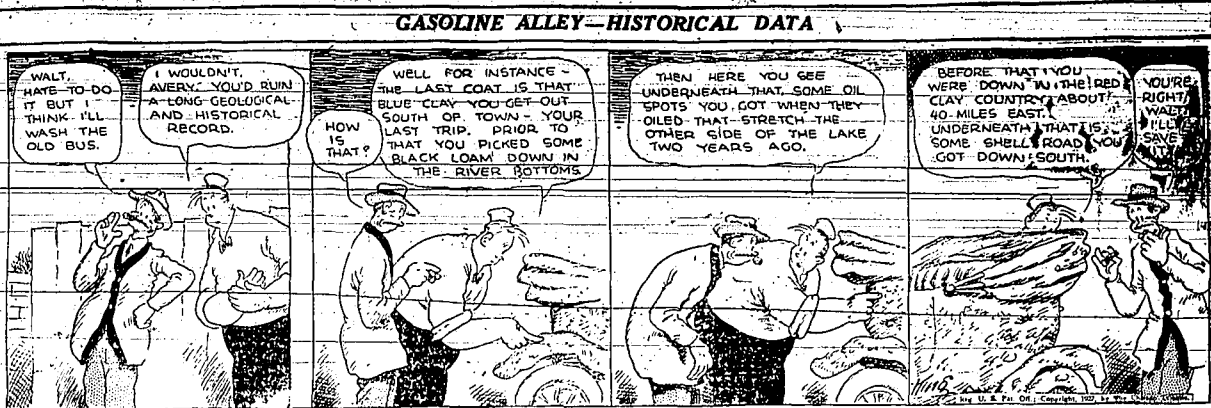

"Snobbishness Belongs in Ash Heap" he went to see Dr. St. Claudius, who made him a gay colleague with Oxford bags. So frisky did he feel that he took to flying once more after a lapse of 50 years. He alighted on the 50 cent piece in his balloon trousers.

At that time it cost $20 to see him in flight, but a home-12 years ago he reduced the price of his flights to a quarter.

"Now he has come down to earth, and is rather a respectable middle-class business-like bird, though somewhat in the pigeon class."

"Something happened to the bird in 1872. He may have caught cold, or perhaps the disfigure of being put on a trade dollar and sent to China wounded his pride. He appeared to be shivering and in a tremble, with ruffled feathers. He became cooler and dignified. He was a better bird than in 1870, although somewhat aged, and his tail took the appearance of an ostrich fan. Four years later he got a parcel, his back was pared down and he was given a breastplate.

"When he was 113 years old, in 1907,

LACKY TYPE OF SERVANT VANISHING FROM GOTHAM

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—The lacky type of servant, the butler in silk dress-broches and the liveried coachman, backer and wrangler in select class establishments, is virtually disappearing from the homes of New York society. He, and his female counterpart, have been replaced within a few years by a new class, efficient and self-reliant, performing their duties well and unobtrusively, and dressing for the larger part, in dignified but quite ordinary garb. The uniform—the badge of class—has been removed.

"They say that there is only one old lady left in Gotham to have a footman in clerical livery wait for her at the door, with a rug draped over his arm," says Charles Hanson, town editor of the September issue of Harper's Bazar, who has chronicled a manifestation of humanizing democracy.

It is an ludicrous tangle for a family of wealth to dress its servants in costume to indicate their class as it is humiliating for a man, American citizen to permit himself to be garbed, he holds.

England Launches Giant Battleship

LIVERPOOL, England, Sept. 12.—The $19,600,000 battleship Rodney, 45,390 tons.

England launched the battleship Rodney, 45,390 tons, at Liverpool, England, Sept. 12. The ship is the largest ever built in England and is the first of a new class of battleships. It is 270 feet long and has a displacement of 45,390 tons. It is armed with 16-inch guns and has a top speed of 23 knots.

Every one is excited by somebody's. When the man in blue up has a superior officer, and even the most superior officer is beholden to an invisible power. In the final summation, we are all certain to contribute. If we would think of ourselves in such terms rather than in terms of mastery, we might be more considerate of those just below us.

Vicar Bans Confetti At Church Weddings

ELTHAM, England, Sept. 12.—Confetti at weddings is all wrong, believes the Rev. H. A. Hall, vicar of Holy Trinity church here, who has taken steps to stop the practice of throwing bits of paper because they make such litter.

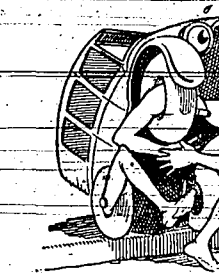

A notice posted within the church predicts: "No confetti is to be thrown within the church precincts at weddings" and with the view of ensuring obedience the rule is printed on a special fee of half a crown (about 25 cents) will be charged—at each wedding which will be returned if the confetti is thrown in the church or on the church paths.

The notice adds: "This fine is for the person who has to sweep the confetti."

"People passing on the street stop and give my Erskine a second look. I have driven it 2000 miles and I average 25 miles to the gallon of gasoline. Am well pleased with its power plant. Drove up a mountain grade in other days and never in high all the way."
J. C. L., Hot Springs, Ark.
- Prettiest On Market
"My personal opinion of the Erskine is that it is the prettiest car on the market. I believe it is the coming car, and buys the roads even around curves at 40 to 45 miles an hour. One feels perfectly safe in it."
O. R. L., Charlotte, N. C.
- Easy To Handle
"My Erskine is the easiest car to hold in the road that I have ever driven. It satisfies me in every way and I get better than 22 miles to the gallon of gasoline. I would not trade it for even money for any other car that I know of, because it is so economical and satisfactory in every way."
J. V. J., Douglas, Arizona
- Power On Long, Steep Hills
"Performs fine and has plenty of power. We have plenty of long and steep hills to test it on up here."
M. L. D., Winona, Minnesota
- Truly A Little Aircruiser
"I have been driven for the past 23 years, but have never been at the wheel of one that has handled so well as the Erskine Six. It has a fine, smooth-running engine which does not seem to know what a hill is. The car certainly is 'A Little Aircruiser!'"
C. T. S., Caldwell, New Jersey
- Best Car Built For The Money
"In my opinion the Erskine Six is the most economical, best appearing, best performing car for the money that is being built today."
H. B. M., Charlottesville, Virginia
- Flash With Green Light
"There is nothing pricier on the road today. The Erskine Six more than fulfills my expectations as to performance and pick-up. When the green light flashes, so does the Erskine and away it goes ahead of all traffic!"
V. W. P., Wandotte, Michigan
- Wendin's Trade For Sixteen Others
"This is my 17th car and would not trade it for the whole bunch that I have had before, and I have had some good ones! The car is the prettiest on the road. Whenever we stop a crowd always gathers and we have received many compliments."
E. J., Compton, Calif.
- Woodruff Trip—Wonderful Car
"Have driven 8000 miles over all kinds of roads, making 204 miles per gallon over entire distance. Don't use any oil except when drain crankcase. I'll say it's a real mountain climber, and a pleasure to drive. Haven't had a minute's trouble with this car in less than a month. I get over 30 miles to the gallon of gasoline."
A. H. N., Oklahoma City, Okla.
- Quick Stop—Quick Getaway
"Quick stop, easy and quick getaway. Makes it ideal for city driving. In fact, you can both stop and get away before a larger car can get away."
B. A. L., Onwatomie, Kan.

Motor Tummy Ache

If your motor acts like a small boy after a forage into a green apple orchard, it is suffering with "tummy" ache just as the boy is.

Automobile motors are not made to do their best work on cheap, oily gasolines. They can't digest grease and heavy residue. Nor are they attuned to dopes, poisons and synthetic additions.

PARCO is a pure, clean, extra-dry gasoline, extremely rich in aromatic hydrocarbons—nature's anti-knock elements.

That's why this high-compression gasoline will give you a sweet, smooth-running motor, greater mileage per gallon, more power, more speed, quicker starting and all the things you expect from a good automobile. And it costs no more per gallon.
