VANDALS WILL NAME NO. FOOTBALL TEAM CAPTAIN

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, Sept. 21—It is not likely that a football captain will be elected at Idaho this fall. With nine of the twelve veteran lettermen on the squad seniors, playing their last year of varsity ball, Charles F. Erb, head coach, feels it would not be desirable to make the men elect one of this number to receive the honor. He will, therefore, designate one man before each game as the field leader for that particular contest.

Last year Tom (Body) Owinga of Moscow, fullback, was appointed captain. He was, however, the outstanding man among the group playing its last year of ball. This season the situation is different and there are many worthy of the honor which a captaincy carries.

The system of appointing a captain before each game is not new at Idaho. Coach R. L. Mathews, who preceded Erb did it during his four years here.

miles of highway south of 194-19500 to within six miles of the Nevada line. This six mile project is included in the program for 1928. The Nevada highway department has agreed to furnish the connecting link north from Wells, Nevada, to the state line.

Mr. Robinson stated on his return last evening from Boise that work on the highway contract would begin in about 10 days, as soon as an outfit can be brought from Wyoming. It was originally intended to surface the road with gravel shipped from San Jacinto, but a rock was found in the vicinity which, in the opinion of the engineers, will make a much better surface and this will be used instead.

Mr. Robinson said: Two rock crushers will be installed to provide the material.

It is intended to finish all the work accepting, before this fall. The surfacing will be done early in the spring. Mr. Robinson said, before heavy tourist traffic begins, which will be of great advantage to him and the tourists. From 25 to 50 men will be employed.

Mr. Robinson will start another crew to work on a resurfacing contract on a road out of Gooding next week.

(By The Associated Press) CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—Jack Dempsey started tonight on the real come-back trail, the trail leading out of Lincoln field race track to Chicago and to the city where tomorrow night he will engage Gene Tunney in quest of regaining the world's heavyweight championship.

With his wife, Estelle Taylor, and a couple of friends as companions, Dempsey motored 40 miles into the city at dusk to go to his quarters, a bungalow 12 stories above the street on the roof of the Morrison hotel. He planned to retire before 10 p. m. for a restful sleep, a sleep that means so much on the eve of what will be the most important battle of his life.

Dempsey Spends Quiet Day Dempsey spent a quiet day in camp. He was arrived shortly before noon. Governor Fred W. Green of Michigan, and Tom Bigger, chairman of the Michigan state boxing commission, dined with Dempsey and his wife for photographers.

The challenger did not go on the road but took a run about a mile and an eighth around the track.

Jack was mean and snarled in the afternoon, a sure sign of condition in the opinion of his handlers. But with his wife, close friends, correspondents and photographers around, Dempsey put on his winning smile and engaged in some remarks.

Dempsey will fight in black trunks with red stripes on the sides, the same he wore for the fight with Jack Sharkey in Chicago.

His manager, Bill Dwyer, accompanied with Dempsey and his wife for photographers.

Three leased wires from the ring-side, two of them directly connected with transcontinental trunk wires that feed into Associated Press bureaus and newspaper offices throughout the country will speed blow-by-blow descriptions.

For the first time in Associated Press history, additional printing telegraph machines have been installed in the Chicago office to handle the flood of news.

Another record to be set is in the number of member newspapers which will broadcast the program of the fight by radio; 60 such papers having arranged for Associated Press service, directly into studios which they own or have leased.

LAKE VILLA, Ill., Sept. 21.—Satisfied that the physical man has been amply prepared for battle with Jack Dempsey in five months of steady training, Gene Tunney turned scholar today and for three hours browsed through the library of Fred Ludin, Chicago politician and a near neighbor for the time being.

Although the heavyweight champion must face the bid of Dempsey to retain the title in Soldier Field tomorrow night, he forgot the $1,000,000 engagement entirely in scanning the hundreds of rare volumes on the shelves of the tiny glass enclosed library away from the remainder of Ludin's estate by the shore of Lake Villa.

Service will begin between 5 and 6 o'clock with the story of the main event starting about 7:30 o'clock.

Everybody is welcome.

WEATHER WILL BE FAIR AND COOLER IN CHICAGO

'There is But One Chance in 10 for Rain,' Says Member of United States Bureau.

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—Fair and cooler weather with the temperature between 55 and 60 degrees was forecast tonight by the United States weather bureau.

There is but one chance in 10 of rain, says the bureau.

The temperature will be between 55 and 60 degrees, compared with 70 yesterday.

There will be no moon and this should be ideal for the fight as the ring is to be lighted by flood lights and the absence of moonlight will make the fighters stand out all the more clearly in the dark stadium.

NOXIOUS WEEDS NOT CONFINED TO SINGLE SECTION OF IDAHO

State Seed Commissioner Tells of Control Demonstrations Throughout Southern and Eastern Part of State.

BOISE, Sept. 21.—Noxious weeds are not confined to any one county or section of Idaho, according to C. B. Ahlzon, field agent of the university extension service, who has been conducting weed control demonstrations throughout the eastern and eastern part of the state. The four most prevalent perennial weeds, morning glory, Canada thistle, white clover and quercus and Russian knapweed, are present in a majority of southern Idaho counties.

Further, Idaho is not the only state infested with perennial weeds. The weed-problem is a common problem more or less, perhaps, in states producing crops in the following:

Cost Not Prohibitive

The cost of completely eradicating noxious perennial weeds is small. In irrigated sections, the cost of pulling and can be accomplished in a season. Two chemicals are recommended—salt and iron sulfate. Coarse salt can be laid down at all southern and eastern Idaho points at a cost not to exceed $7.50 per ton.

Available in Idaho is a heavy, readily soluble, coarse salt, delivered in southern and eastern Idaho in quantities of 500 pounds per ton. The amount required: The coarse salt is spread on the surface of the soil at the rate of one pound to one square foot of Canada thistle and morning glory and about one and one-fourth pounds for white top and Russian knapweed. The surface of the soil should be removed so that the salt can be spread evenly. In some cases seeds have been obtained without removing the growth. A light irrigation may be applied to dissolve the salt or it may be allowed to lie through the season until dissolved by the fall and winter moisture.

Farmers have asked how long it will take to get rid of the weeds. The answer has not been definitely determined but weed patches treated with salt in the past have not returned in the following season.

It seems possible to reach the salt out of the soil in isolated sections in a couple of weeks. Many farmers would rather have the salt in the soil than the weeds on it. A carload of salt contains 4000 pounds. Better than 100 carloads will be used in Idaho this season.

Carbon bisulfide is exceptionally effective on all weeds. If applied carefully and under proper conditions, a 100 per cent kill should be obtained in some instances. However, only a 50 per cent kill has been obtained; resulting in a lack of confidence in the chemical. The use of carbon bisulfide has been uniform in soil thoroughly saturated with water. The weed patch should be thoroughly irrigated and the carbon bisulfide applied as soon as a person can get on the soil without miring. This method may be used a few hours to two or three days.

As a general rule, the following is very probable that proper procedure for complete kill may be determined. For soil sowing in moist soil, the use of carbon bisulfide under the present system of applying the chemical.

Method of Applying.
Two ounces of carbon bisulfide are poured into holes 12 inches deep, 12 inches apart in the row and in rows 16 inches apart. The holes are staggered so that all holes are approximately 12 inches apart.
A string or rod marked every 10 inches with a cord or string is stretched across the patch. A one-half inch or three-fourths inch pointed iron rod should be thrust with a cross bar on top to estimate the depth of the hole. The quantity of liquid is poured into the hole through a funnel. This liquid should be allowed to permeate the soil, saturating the roots, causing them to decay.

In heavy soil the area should be spaced or disked to turn under heavy weeds before irrigation water is applied. This will check the cracking of the soil and prevent escape of gas.
Any fresh weeds that may appear in the course of a year should be rooted in the surface soil and only should be sprayed with or drenched with. This soil will be in position for crops the following season.

Other chemicals are being tried but with only slight success. The following are some of the various applications of five different chemicals in the form of spray or various methods have been applied on the various weeds in 11 irrigated counties. Results so far indicate to kill greater than 50 per cent. The chemicals are: Arsenic, non-phosphorus, sodium chlorate, weed and sodium carbonate. These are cheaper than salt or carbon bisulfide.

FAIR INVADER

CHICAGO, Sept. 21 (AP)—Wood-chopping has been substituted for golf by a group of Chicago-business-men who are invading the fair.

With shining axes over their shoulders, they rally forth each week-end to match their skill against each other at making the chips fly.

They count strokes, as they slash through logs, just as the strokes are counted in golf, and they assert that an afternoon of chopping is far superior as a recreation to playing eighteen holes of golf.

H. C. Lewis, president of a Chicago technical school, founded the club, which is now known as the "Woodchoppers." It is in a fair way to rival the best in the world, Illinois, another in Michigan, and one is being prepared here. All that is needed to make a wood-chopper is a chopping-iron—a lot of logs and plenty of room.

Lewis asserts golf is too standardized. "It's in a fair way to rival the best in the world, Illinois, another in Michigan, and one is being prepared here. All that is needed to make a wood-chopper is a chopping-iron—a lot of logs and plenty of room.

Wood-chopping as a sport is wholly American. It takes more precision and skill to be an expert axe-man than a crack-golfer.

Golf is so standardized in costume, conservation and conduct as to be a pleasure to play.

Counsel for Accused Quartet Confers with Federal Attorney; Compromise is Sought.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 21 (AP)—Trial of four men charged with mail fraud in connection with promotion of the Grand Oil and Electric company in Oklahoma, was delayed today while their counsel conferred with federal attorneys in an endeavor to reach a compromise agreement through which more guilty pleas would be entered.

Two of the men charged pleaded guilty yesterday and will be sentenced October 10. They were Manley Board, president of the now-defunct Exchange National Bank of Muskogee, Oklahoma, and Charles E. Zimmerman, New York advertising agent.

The other defendants on trial on the mail fraud indictment are: R. Frank Wood, L. O. Boyd and J. L. Nourse, all of Muskogee, Oklahoma, and R. S. Oulife of Chicago.

Other co-defendants, Howard and Owen A. Orr and Bert G. have been indicted but are awaiting extradition from Oklahoma.

The government charges approximately $200,000 was obtained from investors in the oil promotions by means of high priced advertising.

More Artistic Movies Is New Theatre's Aim

CHICAGO, Sept. 21 (AP)—Chicago now has a "little theatre" for the cinema, it is managed by Michael Mindin, founder of a similar theater in New York.

Its purpose is to foster high artistic standards for the movies, as the little theatre movement aims to do for the legitimate stage.

The decorating firm composed of society women, who took up the art as a hobby, "did" the theater.

PEACEFUL INVADERS BRING INVITATION TO RODEO AT GOODING

Traffic Townspeople in "Ten-Gallon" Hats and Chaps, on Booster Tour With College Band and Men's Chorus.

With blare of band music, and bursts of gunfire, 300 citizens of Gooding, wearing "Ten-Gallon" hats and chaps, rode into Twin Falls in 60 automobiles during the noon hour Wednesday bringing an expression of hearty good will and cordial invitation to Gooding county's third annual rodeo, harvest festival and Legion jubilee at Gooding, September 26-28.

The visiting delegation included United States Senator Frank R. Gooding and his grandson, P. J. Burgess, mayor of Gooding, and the members of Gooding college band and men's chorus.

Traffic regulations were suspended while the peaceful invaders, with warlike demonstrations, paraded through the city streets. The band then went into action at the principal street corners, and the chorus proclaimed the motto of the rodeo in melody. Miss Mabel Strickland, woman rider of world-wide fame who is to take part in contests at Gooding, was introduced.

Tell Scheduled Events A group of the invaders was welcomed at the luncheon meeting of the Rotary club. The visitors told the Rotarians about the rodeo. It is to be, they said, a $7000 wild west show with a $2500 rodeo program. Events will include bucking contest, bull dogging, calf roping and roman saddle races.

Four hundred dollars in premiums is to be offered for an exhibition of farm products.

There are to be carnival attractions, also, with dancing every night at an open air pavilion.

Ed. McGee, with his string of horses that he exhibited three years ago at Wimbledon, England, will help out in the rodeo in melody, and beside Miss Strickland, Homer Holcomb and other nationally known cowboys and congress will take part.

The Gooding rodeo caravan set out on its booster excursion Wednesday morning and visited Shoshone and Buhl before coming to Twin Falls for the new rim-to-rim bridge. The return trip was made through Piler and Buhl, crossing the river at Owyhee bridge.

COUNTY OFFICES GET CALCULATING DEVICES

Machines Do More Efficient Work on Tax Records Than by "Hand and Head" Method.

Two new calculating machines are being installed in the offices of Twin Falls county treasurer, assessor and auditor. These machines, which arrived Wednesday, are a new departure in the field of adding and calculating devices.

The machines will do away with the vast amount of mental effort required in calculating tax levies upon real estate and property. They are electrically operated, with pen and ink will be done away with in the preparation of tax levies, tax notices and receipts.

It is claimed by the makers of the machines that they will cut the work required in preparing tax documents about one-half and will do the work in about one-third the time required when done in the old manner. It is thought that the machines will save themselves in two or three years by making extra help unnecessary during the "tax" season.

Board Makes Inquiry

The county commissioners authorized the purchase of the calculators following a series of inquiries sent out by the county auditor to other states where these machines are in use. They were praised highly by who are familiar with them, as they do the work in a neater, faster and less expensive manner.

The two machines will be transferred from the offices of the county assessor, auditor and treasurer as the work demands. The lawyers will be gathering place of curious officials and visitors as the machines were being unpacked and will try to work in about one-half and will do the work in about one-third the time required when done in the old manner. It is thought that the machines will save themselves in two or three years by making extra help unnecessary during the "tax" season.

DEHYDRATING PLANT OPENING DATE SET

Few Culls in Immense Apple Crop, but Factory Will Run Two or Three Months.

The Pacific Coast Dehydrating company will get its machinery in its plant here in operation for the coming season next Monday and hopes to run for from 60 to 90 days. It was stated last evening by George Rossasco of Los Gatos, California, who comes here as manager for the season. A number of culls have been received and by Monday enough will be on hand to start.

Mr. Rossasco, who arrived Tuesday, said he found that the percentage of culls is unusually small for so large a crop. He warmly congratulated orchard owners on being able to save so large a percentage of apples in a marketable condition.

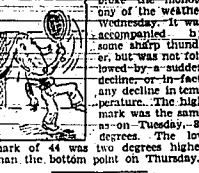

Most of the plant has been rebuilt since last year and it has been brought up to date in every way. Thirty tons of culls can be handled daily. The plant will employ from 30 to 40 women and from 10 to 15 men regularly during the season.

Most of the product is shipped to San Francisco whence most of it is exported. Europe uses most of the dried apple products.

Crom Praises Idaho Farming Territory

After visiting 15 farming states and seeing the best that they have to offer in their agriculturally speaking, James A. Crom, Twin Falls pioneer but now Lone Star longhorn cowman, said this is the greatest farming section on earth. However, he will stay in Texas on account of climate and says things are doing mighty well there.

"I will get 20 an acre, just as my share on wheat is being marketed by Oscar Johnson of the North Side," said Mr. Crom. "By that I mean net after taxes and all expenses are paid. The beans will give a lot more profit than that, and land which yields that much to the landowner is mighty good land. Some of the wheat on my North Side farm yielded 70 bushels to the acre."

There is lots of activity in the part of Texas where 3 live, much speculation; many millionaires are visiting there. The towns are growing rapidly and there is plenty of activity.

SEASON'S SEED CORN WILL HAVE TO DRY INDOORS, SAYS KYLE

Farmers Expecting to Plant Usual Acreage in 1928 Facing One of Worst Seed Situations in Years.

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—With seed corn stocks virtually depleted and frost threatening crops in the north...

Consequently, Kyle advises, no time should be lost in arranging for 1928 seed. Every section is expected to have some fields in which a part of the corn will mature.

Observers believe, however, that thousands of farmers will be compelled to dry their seed corn over electric stoves, in sheds, or by special process.

As Kyle explains, "corn will be dried out sufficiently to germinate within three weeks after pollination. Such seed, gathered and stored in the usual manner, is expected to produce as well as corn that matures in the field.

In fair weather cars may be placed in racks in barns, where they will dry sufficiently without the addition of heat. If it is damp, they can be hung above any convenient heater.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 21.—The "Iron Horse" family is going to have a reunion. Whirling old fire-shovellers that scared horses nearly a century ago are to mingle with their strapping great-grandsons, the monster locomotives of today.

The oldest "iron horse" on hand is a diminutive 14-ton locomotive built in 1825, the "Atlantic" and a reproduction of "Tom Thumb," the first American-built locomotive.

With its new water-tube boiler system and newly-designed firebox, the engine carries the enormous steam pressure of 400 pounds to the square inch, as compared with a 250-pound limit on other large locomotives.

EXPERT DOUBTS AID OF ELECTRICITY TO PRODUCTION OF CROP

Electroculture Commands Attention of European Scientists; Americans Doubtful of Innovation's Agricultural Use.

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Electroculture, a method of raising crops by electricity, has commanded the attention lately of European scientists. Substantial claims have been made for it in England, and a German experimenter, Herr Pritsche, asserts that with modern means 25 feet high carrying magnetic plates, he has attracted electric currents from the atmosphere and conducted them by wires into the earth, where they stimulate the roots of growing plants.

Young growths, Herr Pritsche is quoted as saying, are better able to withstand the attacks of parasites than those grown by electroculture. He declares he has secured a fuller yield of sugar beets, earlier maturity, a better color and a higher percentage of sugar.

American agricultural scientists, however, do not share his enthusiasm over the innovation. So far as federal experiments have been able to discern, not a single plant has benefited materially by application of electric current, either in growing or production. Reports to the department of agriculture, however, remain of no recognized importance to farm industry in this country.

"There is an indication of a slight increase in the yield of wheat," says C. N. Collins, chief of Federal biological investigations, "when it is grown under a positively charged network of electric wires, but the observed increase is well within the experimental error of field trials. The use of electroculture methods in the present state of development as a practical means of increasing the yield of crops in this country is not recommended."

Such an aerial network has been used to no particular avail on government experimental farms in Arlington county, Virginia. Because of difficulty in controlling the electric current in an open field and the natural variation of soil fertility over a large section of land, scientists now conduct the experiment in department of agriculture laboratories.

"At the end of several experiments with various plants," Collins declares, "we find treated plants sometimes growing better than the others, or as often vice versa, and always with an uncertainty that neither proves nor disproves the theory."

English scientists make positive claims that electric current, either in the air or the soil, has notably increased both plant yield and growth. Collins is interested in an English experiment with electricity which is said to lighten plow draft. A generator, carried on the tractor and so attached to the moldboard and coupler, is declared to make the plow run more easily. It is believed the current produces a thin film of moisture on the moldboard, causing the earth to lose perceptible adhesion.

Recent reports of a "plow" invented in this country that generates an electric current to kill weeds at once, change the color of the soil and shorten by several days the period of germination, are said by government experts to contain so little scientific data that a correct delineation of actual performance is impossible.

Herr Pritsche declares that under electroculture a crop of winter barley and corn has been reaped in the middle of July this year, the ground prepared ahead, and new seeds sown which are sprouting well. Thus a second harvesting may be expected at the end of September or the beginning of October.

Maize and soy beans are also being cultivated by this method.

GROWERS EXPECT EARLY DECISION IN EXCESS WOOL PROFITS CASE

Thousands of Growers Who Rushed Clips to Market During War Soon to Know Whether Their Promise Is to Be Kept

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Thousands of wool growers who rushed their 1918 clip to market, regardless of price, so that blankets and uniforms might be made for the military forces, may know before Christmas whether the government can keep its promise to repay their losses.

The answer, resting on the decision of the United States Supreme Court in the case of the United States versus McFarland, involves a wage-time emergency. In the preparation for war the Quartermaster general found the wool supply inadequate. He appealed to the War Industries Board for a solution. It was suggested the government reserve prior right to purchase all wool, fix prices and restrict the profits of dealers. Regulations to that effect were issued. Central dealers were limited to a 5-per-cent gross profit and fiber growers to a 15-per-cent profit.

When the war emergency was over, in excess of those figures would be collected by the government and held in distribution on a pro rata basis to the growers.

As a result farmers who had been holding their wool for the best prices rushed it to market and there were plenty of materials for the men under arms.

At the close of the war the job of ascertaining and collecting the excess profit was transferred to the federal bureau of markets, now the bureau of agricultural economics. It already has collected about $720,000, of which $450,000 has been distributed to the growers listed on purchase records of the dealers. Approximately $170,000 yet is to be collected.

Whether it will be collected depends on the decision in the case against McFarland, tentatively set for oral argument October 22. The litigation grew out of the refusal of W. M. McFarland, Baltimore, doing business under the firm name of Henry Marcus & Son, to turn over to the government $28,712 in alleged excess wool profits. He challenged the validity of the war industries board regulations and the interpretation of "gross profit."

Federal Judge Soper, at Baltimore, ruled in McFarland's favor and the government took its case to the Circuit Court of Appeals at Richmond, Va. There Judge Soper was upheld, and on a writ of certiorari the case was brought to the Supreme Court of the United States. Since it has been advanced on the court calendar, government attaches believe a decision may be expected before Christmas.

The McFarland case is the first the government lost in Federal court. Favorable decisions have been given by seven Federal judges in similar litigation. One was involved a total of $400,000 in excess profits.

On the outcome of the McFarland action hinges Federal court rulings in like cases at Albany, New York City, Toledo, Chicago, Detroit and Boston. In all, there is a total of 31 cases waiting, not all of which are in court.

AIR RACES TO TEST AIR-COOLED MOTORS

Fifteen "Bronzed Men of the Altitudes" Will Represent Army's Cloudland Hosts.

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Fifteen "bronzed men of the altitudes" will represent the army's cloudland hosts in the annual air races at Spokane, September 19 to 24. They will participate in three events, closed to all except army, navy, and marine corps aviators.

A concession is made to foreign governments in the strictly military free-for-all pursuit ship race, speed class of the air where they may pit their planes against this country's best, over a distance of 120 miles.

The pursuit ship race, a national military event for seven years, was held at Philadelphia last year by Lieutenant C. T. Cudohy, navy flier, at a speed of 180.49 miles an hour over a 12-mile course. He flew a Blending FB-3.

Large capacity planes will participate in a military race won last year by Lieutenant L. N. Wolfe of the army, who averaged 129 miles an hour in an hour. The third military event will be the 144-mile race for observation type (two place) planes, won in 1926 by Lieutenant O. L. Stephens, army, flying a 142.263 miles an hour.

In the races at Spokane military authorities are expected to compare the efficiency of air cooled and water cooled motors, a current subject of discussion in aerial circles. The navy has taken a lead in the use of air cooled types and the army has followed to a large extent.

Officials of the National aeronautical association point significantly to the fact that Lindbergh, Byrd, Chamberlain, Maitland and Hegenberger, and virtually all of the late trans-oceanic fliers used air cooled motors.

GEES OPPORTUNITY FOR IDAHO TURKEY GROWERS

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, Sept. 21.—Excellent opportunities are available in Idaho for the turkey grower, according to Bren Moore, poultry specialist for the university extension division.

Idaho has every natural advantage for turkey raising and a steady, substantial development of the industry appears to be a safe bet, Mr. Moore says. The extent to which the enterprise may be developed in the state is limited only by location and by the inclination and ability of the persons interested.

Southern Idaho, in general, offers the most suitable conditions. There are wide expanses of range feed in abundance, the growing season is long, spring comes early and sunshine is abundant. The hatching season is unusually long, a considerable advantage in comparison with many other sections where turkeys are grown.

Game state turkeys are superior in quality. No other section produces finer quality and there are few that grow as fine. The national crop may be large at times but it seems probable that Idaho quality will always bring a premium.

On the other hand, off-grade Idaho turkeys are probably no better off than the off-grade of any other section, and the same holds true as regards the quality of stock that the state is capable of producing.

Find Caribou Steal Government Reinder

CORDOVA, Alaska, Sept. 21.—(AP)—Wholesale wife stealing is going on in Greenland, but these men isn't married, for it is four-footed wives that are being stolen.

Jonathan Wagner, chief of the biological survey in the bureau of education of Alaska, hints, however, that reports may be made that reinder have been disappearing from the Blood Falls Herd. On one occasion a herd of a hundred reinders was missing for a whole season. It was found that a band of caribou had lifted the domesticated reinders to a secluded spot and had fought off the reinder bulls, annexing the females as spoils of war.

SELLING PRESSURE LOWERS CORN PRICE

Hurry to Sell Replaces Eager Buying in Market and Values Take Drop-Near Close.

CHICAGO, Sept. 21 (AP)—Hurry to sell replaced eager buying in the corn market today and corn values plunged down suddenly as much as 3 1/2 c. by the close. The reason was the collapse of a general scare about possibility that severe widespread crop damage to corn would result from frost.

Closing quotations on corn were wheat, 5 1/2 to 5 3/4 c. lower, new, 5 1/2 to 5 3/4 c. down, old, 5 1/2 to 5 3/4 c. end; potatoes 10c to 37c decline. Selling pressure of great magnitude was evident in the corn market throughout the day, but especially during the early dealings. At first the indications were that the frost predictions had been nearly a complete bluff and this outlook was further emphasized by an official forecast of rising temperatures.

Corn Offerings Larger Toward the end of the day, nevertheless, evidence accumulated that frost both last night and the night previous had been more formidable than traders in general had assumed. Country offerings of corn were larger and the market for future deliveries showed itself unable to absorb the amount of the sharp early setback. Speculative selling increased rapidly when ever the market turned up, some traders being of the opinion that to far an quantity is concerned, the crop cannot now be dried except to a relatively small extent and that even a hard freeze would do more at present than to lower quality.

Wheat and oats prices gave way largely to the corn market. In addition, Liverpool wheat quotations were decidedly lower than had been looked for, and favorable weather was reported for Canada and in Argentina as well. Owing to price breaks today, export demand for North American wheat improved and 600,000 bushels were bought for shipment to Europe, including a good proportion of domestic spring wheat and durum.

STAGE SET AT BUHL FOR THREE BIG DAYS OF RODEO CONTESTS

Committee Reports Expenditures of Nearly $10,000 to Provide Entertainment for Crowds at Wild West Events.

BUHL, Sept. 21 (Special to the News)—The stage in all set and everything in readiness for the three big rodeo days that open on Paris athletic field tomorrow afternoon. Nothing has been spared to make this one of the best frontier days staged in any town in this state, and the committee has estimated that the original estimate of $10,000 cost of putting on the show has expanded somewhat to reach a total of $10,000.

The latest form of entertainment added to the program is the running races that will be featured every afternoon and a temporary race-horse barn 12x40 feet has been constructed outside the athletic field. Seven or eight running races will be presented every afternoon of the week which will include relay races and roman races. A quarter-mile track has been graded with finishing tape in front of the grand stand.

The bucking contests, the bulldozing and steer roping exhibitions will be staged in the arena inside the running track. A band will furnish music during the three days. A movable judge's stand has been constructed and the field which is large enough to accommodate the band. Movable bleachers have been built on each side of the grand stand so there is seating capacity for 4000 people and these seats have all been fenced off from the wild horses with high woven wire.

Boxing carnivals will be staged at 8 o'clock each evening in front of the grand stand and the bleachers will be pulled over for that purpose. This will furnish seating capacity for 4000 people and every seat within good view of the boxing ring that is ready to receive the mild warriors.

An army of cowboys and potential horse tamers has arrived in Buhl and they may be seen about the arena at any time of the day in their wide rim hats, chaps and spurs. They are assembled in groups letting tabs of the cowboy days in the western towns where "the trails had their own stern way of law." Training will be conducted late tonight or early tomorrow morning. Each animal will be given a number and these numbers will then be placed into a hat to be drawn by the cowboys. Each person will ride the horse, mule or steer represented by the number he draws.
