General Officers Who Let Guards Return to Their Posts.

SIX HUNDRED SOLDIERS AND 20 JUNIOR OFFICERS WHO LET GUARDS RETURN TO THEIR POSTS.

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 13 (AP)—About 600 soldiers and 25 junior officers who left their garrisons in Mexico City and the state of Vera Cruz and went into a barracks on Sunday to surrender to federal troops after Sunday's battle at Aguascalientes are being incorporated again in the federal army.

These surrendered forces were brought to Mexico City and were distributed in small groups among the barracks in the city.

General Amalfo Gomez and his remaining companions of the revolutionary army were being held at Santiago mill in the state of Vera Cruz.

It is thought that General Gomez and his followers are attempting to reach the seacoast in hope of escaping to a foreign country.

PREVENTION OF FIRES IN FORESTS IS BIG PROBLEM

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP)—With the closing of fire prevention week proclaimed by President Coolidge from October 9 to 15, inclusive, Chief Forester William B. Greeley said today the problem of forest fires is a "red menace" of the woods deserving the most careful part of the attention being given to the general fire prevention campaign.

Direct damage caused by forest fires reported during 1926 amounted to approximately $20,000,000, he said. "Special attention should be devoted to the prevention of fires in rural districts and our forests. Because of their limited facilities they are often at the mercy of the flames when fire originates."

World's Champion Husband Caller Is Bestowed

SUPPLIE, Va., Oct. 13 (AP)—The title "world's champion husband caller" was bestowed today upon Mrs. Linwood C. Lattimer of Carrollton, by a committee of four women who married men after a harrowing competition in the course of which it was decided that Mrs. Lattimer's husband called her more often than any other woman in the world.

The judges, all of whom knew her husband, should be called were unanimous in their decision. They were supported by the applause of the four women who attended the four-county fair, under whose auspices the contest was held.

GREEN AGAIN HEADS LABOR OF AMERICA

Another Year of Conservative Rule Voted by Delegates to Convention of Workingmen.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 13 (AP)—Another year of conservative rule for the American Federation of Labor was voted by its convention here today with William Green as the head of organized labor.

The reelection of Green, who rose from the job of a laborer in a Pennsylvania mine to succeed the late Samuel Gompers as labor's chief, was without any opposition as was the reelection of other officers of the federation.

The election of New Orleans as the site of the next convention to be held November 21, 1928, completed the annual election.

The convention it had been a foregone conclusion that the man who presided so skillfully at its sessions, and who was elected as president, Carl Green, was the only one who could be elected.

Other officers elected were: Daniel J. Tobin, Indianapolis, treasurer; Frank Morrison, Washington, D. C., secretary; James Duncan, Quincy, Massachusetts, Frank Duffy, Indianapolis, vice secretary; Matthew Wood, Chicago, Martin Ryan, Kansas City, Missouri, James W. Glavin, Washington, D. C., vice presidents.

Princess of Rumania Elops With Officer

LONDON, Oct. 13 (AP)—The Westminister Gazette's Vienna correspondent forwards a dispatch from Bucharest, Rumania, saying that political and social circles in Bucharest are surprised with the name of the 19-year-old Princess Helena of Rumania who eloped with a young naval lieutenant, who was one of the late king's staff.

It is thought that it may all be gossip arising from the fact that the young people are old friends and were recently seen together at a Black Sea resort. The ministry of interior at Bucharest, in response to the inquiry, merely says that the princess was not in the city.

MYSTERIOUS SLAYING STILL IS UNSOLVED

Police Make No Progress in Investigation of Death of Former State Physician and Wife.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 14 (AP)—Police admittedly had made no headway tonight in solving the mysterious slaying of Dr. P. P. Blair, former state physician, and his wife, who were found shot to death in their bungalow home early today.

While loath to accept the murder-mystery theory, officials at the state indicated there was little tangible evidence which pointed to murder.

An answering call turned in by neighbors directed the police to the Blair home to find the physician and his wife lying on the floor. Draperies were pulled aside and a mass of flames, thinking a couple overcome by smoke, firemen carried them into the open where it was reported that both had been shot to death.

Friends of the couple were able to recall no motive for suicide.

(By The Associated Press) GORANTON, Pa., Oct. 13.—Between 40 and 50 miners, trapped in the Face mine of the Glendale Coal company at noon today, were rescued tonight. All were in good condition and apparently suffered but slightly from their imprisonment.

The men were shut off from the outside of the colliery collapsed, dropping the side wall when a wheel in the lower heavy steel cable holding a mine cage filled with rock. The cage ran wild down the shaft and became wedged just above the Hudak vein, which is the upper level of the mine and 200 feet below the surface.

More than 200 workers in two lower levels got out through an opening so small that the clothing of some of the stouter miners was torn as they were pulled through the tiny holes in the earth.

PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION HOPES SHORTAGE EMERGENCY IS NOT AS SERIOUS AS BELIEVED

BOHEE, Oct. 13 (AP)—Idaho's public utilities commission is hopeful that a coal shortage emergency, caused by peak movement of crops from western states, will not be as serious as was first anticipated. Car service officials of the American Railway association assured Will H. Gibson, president of the commission by wire today that every effort is being made to keep coal supplied with sufficient care.

Car owners filled today, yesterday and Tuesday are almost on a parity with the number of cars received by shippers since the first of the month before the unexpectedly heavy movement of crops forecast a possible emergency of two weeks. Cars supplied today totaled 309. Cars were furnished yesterday and 291 on Tuesday.

ARBITRATION OF WAGE DISPUTE IS NEAR END

CHICAGO, Oct. 13 (AP)—Arbitration of railroad wage disputes by federal agencies is at an end if the railroads are ready to accept the arbitration board's value rates and "fair return." Donald P. Ribberg, counsel for the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, chairman of the federal wage arbitration board, the board is hearing the petition of firemen on western roads for arbitration.

Ribberg's declaration followed the testimony of Charles Donnelly, president of the Northern Pacific, who said he had given figures on the road's value and the percentage of returns to the firemen. The firemen's union, which he said showed the Northern Pacific unable to bear additional wage expenses.

BIG AMERICAN PLANE PREPARES TO HOP OFF

Crew of Giant Sikorsky The Dawn Makes Fresh Plans to Start for Denmark at Ebb Tide

OLD ORCHARD, Maine, Oct. 13 (AP)—After a day in which the elements did their best to spoil the projected flight to Copenhagen, the crew of the Sikorsky plane, The Dawn, made fresh plans tonight for a start at low tide tomorrow morning.

The plane, which was built in the manner in which the amphibian came through its two hour ordeal, when an unbroken sea was encountered, was met by strong southeast winds, top with roll, and it buffeted it with high rollers.

Ship Rescues American Aviatix and Pilot from Death on Sea Near Goal

Ruth Elder Fails by Scant 800 Miles to Accomplish Feat of Being First Woman to Cross Atlantic by Airplane; Dutch Tanker Rescues Pair off Azores; Broken Gas Line Forces Landing.

(By The Associated Press) PARIS, Oct. 13.—Ruth Elder failed by a scant 800 miles of accomplishing the feat of being the first woman to cross the Atlantic by airplane.

She and her co-pilot, Captain George Haldeman, were forced down on the waters of the Atlantic by broken off pipe; although they were safe and sound aboard the Dutch tanker Barandrecht which rescued them. Their plane, the American Girl, was estimated to have travelled 3000 miles along its 3800 mile journey.

The plane was destroyed by fire as the tanker was attempting to rescue the pair. The tanker, the Barandrecht, is en route to the Azores, where she expects to land the aviators Saturday morning. The tanker was 325 miles north of the Azores.

The first news of the landing and rescue arrived here at 4:30 p. m. in the form of a cablegram from the Paris office of the Associated Press. Most of Paris and almost all of the world were watching the flight to bed tonight thinking the aviators and her pilot, had since it was announced by officials until 11 p. m. that they were safe.

Even the first edition of tomorrow's paper will mention the aviators and the headlines "lost in sea." Tonight after dinner when most good Parisians were in bed, the Associated Press special editions said to late travelers and partners of retrospectives about the aviators' feat.

Expressions of relief were heard everywhere and at the same time the aviators' feat was being celebrated. It was a mighty lucky to land by a steamship and be rescued.

As far as direct word from the files is concerned, there were only a few identical messages sent by Miss Elder to the Associated Press and other newspapers. The messages were: "I am safe. I am safe. I am safe."

A. C. Dalton, who has been president of the fleet corporation, was named as vice president and general manager.

O'Connor's reorganization appeared to be the final step in a long and convoluted effort by the shipping board to regain control of the corporation since the act was passed in 1921 by Albert D. Lasker, the chairman appointed by President Harding to head the board of the fleet corporation.

THE SPORTS OF A DAY

TWIN FALLS: BRUINS READY TO PLAY BOISE

Coach Plastino Will Take 15 Players to Capital City; Wait May Not Be in Lineup

Coach Plastino and 15 Bruins will depart this afternoon for Boise to meet the capital city seven. Six of the 15 Bruins are nursing injuries to a more or less degree. Ira Wait will make the trip but it is doubtful if he can play. Lincoln is still limping from torn ligaments. Wade is also suffering from a bad leg and limps badly at times. Berg is still in poor shape as a result of a hip injury. Bradford and Ferrine are also not in top shape as a result of minor injuries received during the week. The Bruins look on a light scrimmage against the Cubs last night and displayed more drive and finish. Much time was spent on the aerial attack which worked successfully against the Cubs. The Bruins have not used the aerial attack against their opponents this season so far. It is expected however that the Bruins will open-up against Boise and the result will be watched with interest. The men that will make the trip are as follows: Lucas, Martin, Long, E. Kempton, Putter, Wheeler, Lincoln, Bradford, Berg, A. Kempton, Wade, Wait, Dible, Robertson, and Ferrine. Finch through failure to master the Bruin signals will not make the trip. Plastino did not announce a probable lineup for the Brave game but will probably use the same order as started against Buhl. The game is called at 2 p. m. on the Boise high school field.

FILER ELEVEN READY TO PLAY NAMPA TEAM

Wildcats: Top off Week of Strenuous Practice With Signal Drill; Nampa Arrives.

FILER, Oct. 13 (Special to The News)—The Filer Wildcats topped off week of strenuous practice with a light signal drill last night in preparation for the Nampa Bulldogs. The game is called for 4 p. m. and is looked upon by local officials as probably the hardest contest of the season for the local team. It is probable that local merchants will close their places of business at 4 p. m. today and turn out en masse for the game.

One Change in Lineup
Coach Bates has made but one change in the lineup since the Shoshone game of last week. He shifted Schockley, veteran Wildcat lineman, to the backfield to make a running mate for the versatile Smith. The Wildcat forward wall will probably average lighter than the Junction city lads, but the two backfields will compare favorably as to weight. The Nampa eleven will leave Twin Falls yesterday afternoon and took on a workout at Lincoln field. They appear a finished machine and look as though they would give the Wildcats plenty of raw meat to chew. The Bulldogs have veteran team as far this season.

Smith is Good
Smith, Wildcat fullback, has developed into one of the best backs in the state. His playing rested somewhat of a sensation last year and in the two games this season the big boy looks better than ever. Weighing around 185 and with words of speed he is a hard man to stop. The Wildcat captain has capitalized his ability and he is accorded almost perfect interference on his end runs.

Besides his ability as a ball packer he punts for around a 40 yard average and tosses the oval with speed and accuracy. The Bulldog will have a hard nut to stop the big boy this afternoon.

CASTLEFORD PLAYS HANSEN

HANSEN, Oct. 13 (Special to The News)—The Castleford football team will come here tomorrow afternoon. The locals have a defeat registered over Hazelton and expect to take the west end team tomorrow to keep a perfect record for the season.

"I agree with George White that Luckies are the Best"

Said Flo Brooks to Lou Holtz while waiting for their cue to appear in "Manhattan Mary."

George White, Producer of George White's Scandals, writes:

"In the theatre world, Luckies have become almost universal. Stage folks are very critical—voices must be kept in condition, throat irritation is a handicap. In 'George White's Scandals,' most actors and actresses whose voices are important smoke Luckies both for voice protection and finer flavor. For these reasons I prefer them, too."

Work will begin at once and will be finished as soon as possible.

Details of Bids

There were two bidders. Mr. Harkins bid $1.90 a yard for the furnishing and spreading of the gravel and the removal of all dirt. Calico and Young bid $1.70 for furnishing and spreading gravel and would charge 45 cents a yard for removing the dirt. Their bid totaled $14,245.50.

The Harkins bid was lowest in all districts. By districts it was as follows: No. 53; $14,245.50; No. 54; $13,851.10; No. 55; $3,968.20; No. 56; $2,816; No. 57; $977.50; No. 58; $1,934.20.

Each of the two bidders were below the engineers' estimates in regard to cost, so that no hitch can arise from the legal standpoint.

The following is the description of the districts for which the contract was let with reference to location and dimensions:

District No. 53: Part of Walnut street. Length of improvement, 1300 feet; width of improvement, 20 feet. Quantity gravel 754 cubic yards. Ditch crossing, 35 feet.

District No. 58: Part of Ninth avenue east. Length of improvement, 1400 feet; width of improvement, 1833 feet; width of improvement 30 feet. Quantity of gravel 1018 cubic yards. Ditch crossing 65 feet.

STATE DROPS ACTION AGAINST HANSEN MAN ACCUSED OF FELONY

Prosecution Lacks Evidence to Convict Frank Hinton on Charge of Receiving Stolen Property.

The case of Frank Hinton of Hansen, charged with receiving stolen property, was dismissed Thursday by District Judge Hugh A. Baker on motion of C. W. Williams, prosecuting attorney. The prosecutor, in an affidavit in support of his motion, stated that the prosecution lacked evidence to secure conviction.

Hinton was alleged to have received property stolen by his younger brother, Clyde Hinton, in a series of burglaries last winter. Clyde Hinton pleaded guilty to the burglary charge and was sentenced to serve a prison term. Frank Hinton was brought to trial last March when the jury failed to agree on a verdict.

On October 6, 1926 the first of a series of robberies was committed when the Sweet, New and Second hand store was entered and a number of articles stolen.

Several in Custody

About January 1, Clyde Hinton, brother of the above named defendant, was taken into custody and at the same time officers of the police and sheriff force arrested Mr. and Mrs. Ross Stevens at whose home much of the stolen property was found. Part of the stolen property had been taken to the Frank Hinton place at Hansen, and it was due to this fact that he was arrested charged with receiving stolen goods. The case against Ross Stevens, charging him with receiving stolen property, was dismissed for lack of evidence connecting him with guilty knowledge. Mrs. Stevens entered a plea of guilty and was sentenced to the penitentiary and paroled to take care of her little children one of whom was only two months old.

Clyde Pleads Guilty

Clyde Hinton entered a plea of guilty to the charge of burglary and was sentenced to a term of from 1 to 18 years in the penitentiary. He entirely exonerated his brother from complicity. The fact that Frank Hinton had carried some of the stolen goods to his ranch, at the request of his brother, and did not immediately inform

HEARD DISTRICT CASE BEFORE JUDGE BAKER

Evidence Is Taken in Regard to Order Restraining Meredith From Taking Up Horses.

The suit of Chester Brackett of Rosewa, against C. J. Meredith and Sheriff M. C. Finch, for alleged illegal seizure of 14 head of horses said to be worth $25 apiece, came up in district court here Thursday and the plaintiff was heard. At the conclusion of the testimony of Brackett, the county attorney moved to strike the name of the sheriff from the case on the ground that there was no evidence showing him in any way liable. This was taken under advisement. Meredith, who was absent when the suit started, will testify on his return. It is expected and the case was not closed. The main question seems to be whether a herd district was legally created or not. It now appears that the proposed creation of a district was advertised three weeks, it is stated, but the motion to create the district was not filed until a few days before the order was issued, and it is claimed was not on record long enough to permit legal action. Meredith acted, it is said, without knowing about this last.

The main case was not before the court Thursday, only the matter of issuance of a restraining order preventing further taking up of stock. This phase will again come up in the morning.

NONSUIT IS GRANTED IN BIG DAMAGE CASE

Judge H. A. Baker Holds Plaintiff in Action Against Bacon Ranch Company Falls.

Judge Hugh A. Baker in district court here Thursday sustained the motion for non-suit filed by attorneys for the Bacon Ranch company, in the section of alleged negligence of C. M. Stump, whom Little claimed was foreman for the company. This was the last jury case of the term.

The motion for non-suit was based on four grounds: That the evidence of the plaintiff showed that Little entered the corral to bring out a calf assumed all the risk; that Stump was a fellow servant merely and not authorized to act in behalf of the company, and that any negligence on his part could not be imputed to the company; that the negligence charged, if proven, would still not have been the proximate cause of injury; and, finally, that there was no negligence. Arguments were heard by Judge Baker on a motion to amend the complaint of the suit of R. C. Little against W. C. Reed, A. L. Bolwell and Chapman wanted to amend and Walters and Parry didn't want them amended. Judge Baker has it under advisement.

FRENCH ARTIST WINS AWARD WITH EXHIBIT

Henri Matisse, noted Modernist of Europe is given First Prize at Exhibition.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 13 (AP)—Henri Matisse, noted French modernist, was awarded first prize at the opening of the 30th International Exhibition of Paintings at the Carnegie Institute. The prize winning canvas is "Still Life"—a painting of fruit and flowers. The award carried a prize of $1500.

"Motherhood," a painting of mother and infant, by Antio Carte of Belgium, was awarded second prize of $1000, while "Peoples," by Andrew Dasburg of Santa Fe, New Mexico, won third prize of $500.

Antonio Donghi of Rome, Italy, won first honorable mention with his "Carnival" showing circus performers behind the scenes. "Two Figures," a painting of two girls, by Bernard Kael of New York, likewise won honorable mention. "Calla lilies," a painting of six snow-white lilies, is a vase, by Max Pechstein of Germany, won the "500" prize offered by the Garden Club of Allegheny County for the best painting of flowers or gardens.

Matisse, who captured the first prize, asserts his studies of the bar to become an artist. Today he is the recognized leader of advanced art in France. The young Belgian artist, Carte, a native of Mons, is well known in American art circles, where many of his works have been exhibited. "Dashing" the third prize winner, is a leading figure among the American modernists. Born in Paris of American parents, he studied at the Grand Central and later under Matisse and Picasso.

Honor Saint-Gaudens, director of the arts at Carnegie, presided over the jury awards, which included eight noted artists—Maurice Grellier, Augustin, Karl Hofer, Germany; Maurice Denis, France; Felice Casarati, Italy; and Eugene Speicher, Elmer Walker, Eugene Savage and Abraham Foote, all of America.

The International Exhibition, which begins today, will continue here until December 4, after which the paintings will be shown at the Brooklyn Museum, New York, from January 9 to February 19.

The European paintings will be exhibited at the California Palace of the Legion of Honor, San Francisco, from April 2 to May 13. The International Exhibitions are "free to the people."

Multiple Tube Sets Is Trend in Radio

CHICAGO, Oct. 13 (AP)—Like the automobiles whose cylinders increased in number from the old time "one-humper" until as many as 12 were used, radio receiving sets have developed in number of tubes.

It wasn't long ago that a three-tube set was considered quite deluxe. Receivers with 10 tubes are becoming common now, and some with as many as 14 tubes have been built.

Like the newer type of automobiles, with long trips as the stimulus for increased engine power, efforts to enlarge the up-to-date radio receiver have been spurred, partly by a desire for greater reliable radius. Another factor has entered through the enormous increase of broadcasting stations.

The fact that countless fans still strive for distance is another factor. Distance searching, coupled with the number of broadcasts, created a demand for utmost selectivity, making it necessary to build multiple tube sets.

Max Reinhardt Offers New York German Plays in Native Tongue

SALZBURG, Austria, Oct. 13 (AP)—Max Reinhardt, continental genius of the theater, is bringing German plays spoken in Germany by European actors to the New York stage.

With 20 well-known players he is willing to attempt a four-week program of German and English productions in the city to which he introduced the miracle so successfully several years ago.

AMATEUR ACTIVITIES SHOW IMPROVEMENT

Enthusiasts Contributing Much to Improvement of Receiving Sets, Patent Officials Say.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP)—Radio enthusiasts are contributing much to the improvement of receiving sets, Patent Office officials say, and amateurs are in a majority of those applying for radio patents today.

"The popular use of radio resulted in a large increase of patent applications," says H. E. Miller, law examiner at the Patent Office. "Those connected with transmitting generally are sought by broadcasters and are fewer. The public in general seems more interested in receiving apparatus, especially in tubes and devices for eliminating static disturbances. The problem of supplying current to operate radio has attracted more attention for patents on substitutes for 'A' and 'B' batteries. These seek to use house lighting current instead."

Listeners-in have become interested in radio technique, Mr. Miller adds, and this is responsible for many features of modern receiving sets. Although the skilled technical men working for radio companies are making the most valuable contributions to the art, in his opinion, amateurs likewise have produced results.

Mr. Miller cites E. H. Armstrong of Yonkers, New York, whose regenerative patent of an improved circuit for using the De Forest audion in receiving radio signals, he believes, marked a step ahead.

The increased radio patent applications have been a gradual development. Amateurs have concentrated mostly on reception equipment and antennae. Some have turned out devices "which are unusual to say the least," according to Mr. Miller.

The character of the radio inventor has had to differ widely from the regular inventor, due to the large number of people interested in radio. The Patent Office finds every type of inventor in radio work, from the man who has only one idea to patent to those who follow invention as a vocation and experiment with everything new.

Call Letters Mean Little to Some Fans

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP)—This is "Henry broadcasting." To hear a station open its nightly program that way would be the regular thing if some radio fans had their way. They can see no reason for continuing the apparently meaningless call letters system, but it is not likely to be changed.

SIMPLICITY IN CONTROL

LONDON, Oct. 13 (AP)—Simplicity of control was the keynote of radio set on view at this year's radio exhibition at Olympia. The pens were conspicuously free from many knobs and dials. Some of the principal novelties were: A broadcast radio exchange as simple to operate as any ordinary telephone, so that by operating any of a number of switches an indicator is illuminated, giving the name of the station which is being received.

Batteries which "tell you" when they are charged, semi-charged or run down. Sets for flat-dwellers requiring neither aerial or ground.

Recognition Comes at Last to Man Who Originated Cotton Aircraft Fabric at Time of Great Shortage

(By The Associated Press)
 BOSTON, Oct. 13.—Recognition has come at last to the man who clothed the wings of American airplanes when material was running short at a critical period in the world war.
 After 10 years Ernest D. Walen is revealed as the man who originated cotton aircraft fabric at a time when a shortage of linen was threatening airplane production. The National Association of Cotton Manufacturers has hailed Walen's yeoman service to aviation.
 Linen had been used as a covering for aircraft up to the time when the United States cast its lot with the Allies. But linen was becoming scarce and need was increasing for some other material.
 Walen was connected with the United States Bureau of Standards, and in that capacity undertook experiments with cotton; a cloth then tried for the task of supporting flying machines. It was necessary to develop a sturdy, weather-resisting material. The first experimental cotton fabric was made in August, 1917, and the first airplane to carry this fabric was the Army plane was later woven at a New England mill.

 Cotton fabric has since been used almost exclusively as aircraft in the United States and this fabric was a part of the equipment of planes which made aviation history this year.
 In manufacturing this cloth manufacturers had to develop an entirely new technology and weavers had to be specially trained. Walen, now a mill executive at Lawrence, Massachusetts, recalls the difficulties and says:
 "It sometimes wonder if it will be necessary to go through all of this development period again in the event of a similar need arising."
 Officers of the army air service have given thought to this same question and a movement has been started to have battle planes in readiness to produce the fabric as required. Through the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers the government is making a census of mills which could manufacture aircraft fabric in an emergency. It has been proposed that a few weavers be kept working on this type of material, maintaining a skeleton organization that could be quickly expanded.

BISHOP'S CASTLE IS MADE INTO RETREAT

FARRHAM, Md., Oct. 13 (AP)—Farrham Castle, which for seven centuries has been used as an episcopal palace, is to be converted, at a cost of 150,000 pounds into a house for conference and retreat. Clergy and other church workers will be able to use it for meetings, and it need be, to see new health and the quiet peacefulness.
 The castle stands on a hill north of the town, and has been the seat of the bishops of Winchester. Since it was built about 1136 by Henry de Blois, brother of King Stephen, it has been in turn a fortress, a prison, and a bishop's palace.
 The building contains 64 rooms, 29 chimneys, and 14 staircases.
 One of the most interesting parts, the 'Jay's Tower,' which leads to the 'Keep,' is guarded by a port-cullis with a hole through which molten lead and boiling water were poured on invaders.

ANTARCTIC EXPEDITIONS STUDY POLAR WALLS TO AVERT EXTINCTION

After Two Years of Cruising in Polar Seas, Where Day's Log
Was Novel of Adventure, Boat
Puts in at Falmouth Harbor.

FALMOUTH, Eng., Oct. 13 (AP)—After two years of cruising in Antarctic polar seas, where each day's log was a novel of adventure, the three-masted auxiliary bark, Discovery, has put in at Falmouth harbor.

As cargo it brought thousands of specimens of deep sea life, some of them fresh from a depth of three miles. With massive crossbeams and with timber sides two feet thick it pushed through ice fields hundreds of miles long, patterns far beyond Cape Horn, and was out of touch with civilization for nine months at a stretch.

A study of the hump-backed whale, the fallow of the deep, was the mission of the Discovery's crew. In its quest it skirted dangerous shores of impassible ice, through uncharted seas and shifting gulfs, beneath the millions of star-red skies of the polar nights and the faint sun-haze of the days.

The Discovery—a famous vessel in its Scottish waters his first Antarctic expedition, launching from 1901 to 1904, on which Shackleton served as first officer. Capt. J. R. Enderbury, who went to Shackleton's relief in 1914, commanded the vessel on its latest quest.

Financed by the Falkland Islands government, the Discovery went in 1925 to the south seas to learn the habits, food methods of living and migratory habits of whales.

In view of the threatened extinction of whales in the southern seas and the serious impairment of the industries depending on whale products, the expedition proved of great importance.

The tribe of the hump-backed whale has largely diminished in some areas, and is abundant as ever. A hundred thousand whales are killed each year. Few long whales live, whether they have many wives or only one spouse, what the whale birthrate is and how far whales travel were some of the problems for which the adventurous explorers sought solution.

They learned that the whale-like the proverbial sailor, has a wife in every port. Free love is very much the thing in whale life, large schools of whales come out mating in great numbers, and the schools of the sexes.

A special apparatus was used to shoot silvered darts into the heavy hide of the whale, with the object of studying his habits of migration. The dart, being in the same latitude and longitude of the spot where it was fired. Whenever the whale is killed, the identity disc is reported and the distance the whale has traveled can be computed.

The Discovery will be placed on exhibition at London.

EXPERTS SEEK TO MAKE RADIO BEACON FAULTLESS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP)—Three important radio aids to air navigation are being brought steadily closer to perfection at the Bureau of Standards in its capacity—one of the numerous functions—of research division of the Department of Commerce.

It was there, in 1921, at the request of the War Department, that the directive radio beacon was originated by F. W. Doolittle of the radio section. It was improved in subsequent years by War Department experts, and now Doolittle and his team in the Bureau's radio section are carrying forward experiments to make it even more useful than it has proved. In addition, work is being done to improve the aviator's telephone and develop small intermediate marker beacons.

One receiving set is all the aviator needs to utilize all three of these aids. The directive beacons, employing crossed-coil antennae, send electromagnetic signals of strength along the air route. If one registers more faintly than the other, the aviator, listening in with "head phones," knows not only that he is off his course, but which way to turn. It is hoped to simplify this method so that the alternate signals will operate a needle on his instrument board and he won't be required to wear his telephone receivers for such long periods.

The marker beacons, which are low powered sending stations, are being designed for operation at emergency landing fields along air lanes, and will

HELINGSFORS IS FAR NORTHLAND CAPITAL

During Four Months Snow-storms Are Daily Occurrences, but City Is Never Snowbound.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13—Chill winds and snowstorms do not dampen the ardor of 224 inhabitants of Helingsfors, capital of Finland, for it is as filled with gaiety when the surrounding hills are covered with snow and the harbor is frozen over, as when the springtime sets in.

Helingsfors is the northernmost capital of the world. It lies in nearly the same latitude as Seward, Alaska, and the bleak northern tip of Labrador. During four to five months of the year snowstorms are daily occurrences but the city is never snowbound. Clearing away snow is as essential in the city of the Finn as stocking the fires in their homes.

Shortly after a snowstorm, men and women sweep the streets, clearing the streets. The busy mass recalls to the National Geographic Society the inauguration day of former President Taft, when hundreds of men frantically worked to clear historic Pennsylvania Avenue before the parade moved from the Capitol to the White House.

Home owners and landlords of buildings in Helingsfors are responsible for snow removal as well as the cleanliness of the streets in front of their property. They may do the work themselves, hire housework, or pay the city to do it for them. Sanitation is a law disobeyed. Melting machines are frequently seen on the streets of the capital, while the melters are familiar sights, wherever one appears, a crowd gathers.

During winter holidays large parties of well-to-do snow-bounds about the hillsides where hot-raisings jumps and thrilling falls entertain throngs of spectators. A difficult jump successfully executed, is as a home run or a touchdown in an American game.

Usually in April, Helingsfors sheds its white mantle and daylight, which in the winter begins at 9 a. m. and ends at 10 p. m. The melters begin to get longer. Then the wide streets and beautiful parks are filled with life while the picturesque, old-fashioned cottages are lit through the snow on runners a few weeks before, rumble along on wheels. Perhaps its occupants are travelers on their way to Senate Square to visit the University or St. Nicholas Cathedral, or to the Observatory hill, a public park overlooking the city.

Before the city awakes peacefully their heavily loaded, two-wheeled carts rumble over the cobble streets to the market place, where, during the morning hours, the Finnish housewife makes her daily purchases. Each peasant, by arrangement, has a stall and the vegetables and meats laid out for display. Near-by, wives of fishermen in gay colored skirts and smocks are selling their husband's catch from small boats at the quay. Few men are seen at the market for both buying and selling are women's work.

Usually after a half-day of business, the booths disappear. A corps of cleaners then sweeps down the streets and have the houses glistening within an hour.

serve to give passing aviators a check on distance as well as direction. Experiments with telephone communication between plane and station, meanwhile, are being directed largely against the baffling problem of fading, which sometimes betrays the aviator when he most needs a warning from the ground.

Chest Colds Need Direct Treatment

IT IS an obstinate, cold induced, that can resist the direct, double action of Vicks. Rubbed on the chest, it acts two ways at once:

- (1) Direct to air passages with its healing vapors released by body heat;
- (2) Like a poultice, it "draws out" the soreness.

LISTENERS SHOULD RESPOND TO TALKS

Radio and Education Will be Made Partners if Leaders in Both Fields Have Their Way.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP)—Radio and education will be made partners if leaders of both fields here have their way. Dr. O. R. Mann, director of the American Council on Education, advocates methods different from the present to that end. Admiral Bullard, chairman of the Federal Radio commission, believes radio should take a deep dive into education.

Radio education talks are not generally followed up, Dr. Mann says, and unless some check is made, he can not tell whether radio is helping education. People who listen in now are not persuaded to read for themselves. Programs of instruction, he thinks, should be supplemented by problems for listeners to tackle.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (AP)—Newspapermen called frequently to the offices of the United States Steel corporation to await for lengthy periods the outcome of official meetings, long wondered why the board apparently was so deeply interested in romance. RAIL SERVICE
VARIOUS EMERGENCIES

Every Main Station Throughout the Reich Now has Repairing and Ambulance Trains Constantly Ready; Doctors Near.

(By The Associated Press)
BERLIN, Oct. 13 (AP)—New installations in the German railway service make its emergency repairing organization as efficient as any in the world in Europe. Every main station throughout the Reich now has its repairing and ambulance trains constantly ready to meet various emergencies.

Relief trains consist of ambulance and repairing sections capable of working independently of each other. They carry fully equipped operation tables, complete pharmacies and general medical supplies. A third section carries full equipment of tools including cranes capable of lifting half-ton, carbonic acid cylinders and hydraulic pumps to disconnect and remove train wrecks.

Night Sporting Life
BERLIN, Oct. 13 (AP)—Pajamas, it would seem, have not yet penetrated to the town of Goettingen, writes the well known journalist, Georg Bernhart, in the Goettingen Zeitung. A young adjunct professor of his acquaintance, recently transferred to Goettingen University, had been invited to dine with the host on the hill he received with his freshly laundered linen pajamas, was designated as "a night sporting club."

Has Choice of Offers
BERLIN, Oct. 13 (AP)—Americans are popularly supposed here to be "made in Germany"—and indeed, they are. A young banker and Amherst classmate of President Coolidge, as well as honorary deputy chief of the fire department, who visited here recently, has not escaped the usual flood of letters containing all sorts of financial propositions.

Designers Defy Old Principles
BERLIN, Oct. 13 (AP)—Principles which have thus far been regarded as immutable by architects and designers have been stood on head by the firm of Focke-Wulf of Bremen in the construction of a new type of heavier-than-air machine.

The new plane gives the impression of flying backward, for its controls are in front and the motor wings behind. The pilot faces in the direction of the tail.

The inventors claim for the new type known as "duct" that it obviates any possibility of capsizing. More important still, they say, the brakes can be applied suddenly and quickly when the plane reaches the ground without the danger of its turning a somersault. This, they claim, is its main value in the case of forced landings on small fields.

When this "duct" was demonstrated recently by Director Wulf, the pilot showed his confidence in the stability of his invention by folding his arms and letting the machine run alone for a while.

New Biblical Play
BERLIN, Oct. 13 (AP)—A new biblical play, "The Master of Life," is being rehearsed in the "School of the Cross" in Oberammergau. Christ appears in a non-speaking role, and His life and work are communicated through visions of Pilate's wife and the friend of King Balshazar. The bulk of the action is concentrated around Judas and Mary Magdalene. The stage management is in the hands of George Lang and the role of Judas and Mary Magdalene are played by Lang and Fraulein Preisinger of Faxon Play fame.

Since the Passion Play is presented only every seventh year, it becomes necessary to train up new players, and it was to this end that the "School of the Cross" was instituted. Through the new Biblical play added interest is given to the work.

Has Some Disciples Left
BERLIN, Oct. 13 (AP)—Not long ago, reports that there were still German living who worship the old Teutonic god Wotan (from whose name Wednesday is derived) was received with some incredulity.

Now the Neusteuer Nachrichten of Munich prints a death notice inserted by the "Old Germanic Tribal Association," announcing the demise of a member in these words: "He had been the father of Runes, hath called himself to our Father's name, pleased to Valhalla to rest with his fathers."

YOUTHFUL PROSECUTOR, ONLY 34, LEADS HOOSIER CORRUPTION QUIZ

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 13 (AP)—A 34-year-old county attorney who looks much younger than that has carried the lance of prosecution for the last three years in Indiana's sensational inquiry into alleged political corruption.

He is William H. Remy, prosecuting attorney of Marion county which embraces Indianapolis. Although a republican, he was instrumental in the indictment of the republican governor of the state; he convicted the republican mayor of the state capital for violation of the corrupt practices act; and he sent to prison for life a man whose political power was spoken of with bested breath.

Many times Remy has had to convince strangers that he was the man who held the office of county prosecutor. They could not believe that a man of such youthful appearance held so important an office.

The pot began to boil in Indiana when the death of an Indianapolis girl against D. C. Stephenson, former grand dragon of the Indiana Ku Klux Klan, charged with murder in connection with the death of an Indianapolis girl and sentenced to life imprisonment.

For a year Remy has devoted virtually all his time to investigating charges of "Tammany" in Indiana. Vices publisher, and of the convicted Stephenson that, corruption has rampant in high offices in the Hoosier state.

When the functioning of the grand jury was interrupted lately by charges of "tammany" in Indianapolis, Remy tried to bribe a juror to vote against returning an indictment against Mayor John Duval of Indianapolis. Remy and his associates took the issue into their own hands, filed an affidavit against Duval charging violation of the corrupt practices act, and won their case in court.

Former Mayor John W. Holtzman of Ellettsville, Indiana, at some time, has been assisting Remy, but they have worked under his direction despite their greater years of experience.

Remy convicted John J. MacManis, mayor of the latter was tried for blackmail in connection with a scandal in Indianapolis. He is credited with obtaining much of the evidence upon which the grand jury indicted Governor Ed Jackson, Mayor Duval, George V. Coffin, Marion county republican chairman, and Robert O. Marsh, local attorney.

By a queer turn of fate, Remy holds the office which Jackson, Coffin and Marsh are charged with attempting to bribe former Governor Warren T. McCray to fill by an appointee of his choice.

He was re-elected at the last election by a greater plurality than any republican candidate on the republican ticket.

His four-year record shows convictions in 90 of every 100 cases.

Furnaces on Roofs, New Building Idea

CHICAGO, Oct. 13 (AP)—Heating plants in office buildings, theaters and other tall buildings of the future will be on the roofs instead of in the basements, it was announced at the convention of the American Gas Association.

Installation of heating equipment on the roof of the new building in London has been which to advance the idea. A. A. Phipman of the Consolidated Gas Company of Chicago. The speaker behind the change, he said, is increasing demand for space.

"Costs in domestic dwellings are fast being eliminated and similar steps is being taken and smoking rooms in theaters and for storage in office buildings."

Polish Movie Star Just Motorist to Cop

WARSAW, Poland, Oct. 13 (AP)—A Warsaw policeman made a grave social error when he stopped Miss Jadwiga Blumze, Polish movie star, and asked for her driving license and identity card. Greatly indignant that a policeman should not recognize her, she took pains to inform him that all the children in Warsaw "kissed" her.

She emphasized her identity so much that the policeman took her to headquarters and charged her with "obscenity" in addition to failure to have a driving license and identity card. The trial will be held soon as an arena large enough is found.

CITY OF ORIENT IS BECOMING MODERN

Teheran, Persia—In Longer Isolated Town of Few Years Ago; No Railway Connections.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—Teheran, Persia, is no longer the isolated oriental city that it was a few years ago. No railroads yet reach the capital, but motor cars, flying the old camel and donkey caravan routes through mountain passes and desert trails, have made the city more accessible. Now Baghdad is but a few days' trip and Beirut on the southern coast is but 70 miles away. It is within easy reach, although the National Geographic Society says one goes all around Robin Hood's barn to get to Teheran as the crow flies, but the road winds for three times that distance.

Teheran can be entered by any one of 12 beautiful gates whose gayly thrashing canopies are now at work in the modern quarter. Thrill automobile horns demand the right of way from lumbering camels and venerable cabs that are drawn by moth-eaten donkeys. Wide, well graded, electric lighted streets are there, and there are huge signs and stately poplars, all of whose feet-clear-water-irrigated-peace streets are the government buildings, foreign legations, homes of foreign residents and palatial mansions of wealthy Persians.

There are the tramways, the field that has accommodated airplanes and football games and the business centers, the European style shops and restaurants. All are writing a new chapter in Teheran's history.

The capital centers around Maidan-e-ooop Khanah, or Artillery Square, ornamented with anti-quated cannon captured by the forces of the Imperial Bank of Persia and arranged military barracks. Through six huge arched gateways important avenues lead to all parts of the city.

Many foreign residences legations and two hotels, the Khianah-e-Ahmad Dowah, and on the broad tree arched Khianah-e-Ahmad, sometimes known as the Avenue of Diamonds, leading from the southern gateway are the Royal Palace, Treasury, Foreign Office and Imperial Archives Buildings.

No building attracts so many visitors as the Royal Museum, where the famous Peacock Throne repose. The museum is filled with thousands of diamonds, rubies, emeralds and other precious stones. Embazoned on the back is a large peacock, from which it takes its name. It was brought from India to Teheran in 1720 when Nadir Shah, Persia's Shah from 1720 to 1747, sacked Delhi.

Only in the southern portion of Teheran one can see an undisturbed bit of Persia. High, dingy mud-walls enclose mud-brick houses, and filthy gutters border narrow, alleys streets, which are but better streets of this quarter are teeming with life. On the sidewalks, "hobby-jockey" men with bright-colored, red cream and the curbside restaurants, where squalling men serve such delicacies as hot fried rice, meat cooked on charcoal braziers, do a thriving business. Nearby a crowd is watching an oriental minstrel performing mysterious tricks.

The present process of coal carbonization have been developed as a view of producing lump coke as an important product, he said. The development of powdered coal as fuel has carried the possibility of radical changes in methods of manufacturing gas with a soft and porous coke as a desirable product.

There are at least two groups studying the destructive distillation of fine coal as it drops freely through a retort in bedward. "It is too early to predict the commercial future of these processes, but it is not at all impossible that the central power plants of the future may produce as a byproduct three or four cubic feet of gas for every pound of coal whose residue is burned under their boilers. Such a development would bind the two industries very closely together. It seems certain that both the gas and electrical industries must base their future expansion on the use of bituminous coal."

PROFESSOR FORECASTS GAS-ELECTRIC UNION

Developments in Coal Carbonization; May Bring Great Industries Closer Together.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13 (AP)—Developments in coal carbonization may bring a combination of gas and electric power plants, Prof. Alfred H. White of the University of Michigan suggests before the American Gas Association. "Is there any possibility that the manufacturing processes of these two utilities could be joined with advantage?" he asked. "The electrical industry has a surplus of gas, and the gas companies manufacture a gaseous heating agent which must have a rather high thermal value to pay the costs of distribution. Is it feasible to extract the valuable hydrocarbon gas from the coal and pass the coke over to the electrical companies to be burned?"

AUSTRALIAN AIRPORT PLAN OCEAN FLIGHT

Four Men to Essay One of Longest and Most Perilous Trans-Oceanic Journeys Ever Tried.

OAKLAND, Cal., Oct. 13 (AP)—Four intrepid Australians plan soon to essay one of the longest and most perilous trans-oceanic flights ever attempted.

Their 8,000-mile itinerary from Oakland, California, to London, England, includes one week's jump of 2,400 and a possible second one of approximately 3,000 miles, if it is decided to attempt the land route of the Pacific islands between Hawaii and New Britain.

The flight would carry them from Oakland to San Francisco in a period of eight days, flying time, and take them virtually through every zone of weather known to man.

Capitain Kingsford Smith, Australian ace, will head the aerial venture. His associates will be Charles T. P. Uim, navigator; Lawrence G. Anderson, alternate pilot, and William A. Todd, second officer of the Liner Tahiti, co-navigator.

They will fly the giant three-motored Fokker plane which was used by George H. Wilkins in his recent Arctic explorations. It has been reconditioned and powered with three new engines.

The plane has a wing spread of 71 feet, gas capacity of 1,400 gallons and will leave the airport with a total load of 15,000 pounds. It is essentially a land plane, but the fuselage will be sealed and it is designed so that two of its engines can be dropped, gas tanks emptied quickly and six flotation bags inflated. Wooden wings increase its buoyancy and an additional provision—rubber-life rafts—are also carried.

Forced to alight upon the water it could not rise, but would, it is believed, remain afloat for a considerable time even in a fairly rough sea.

Radio equipment will include a 300-watt set for receiving messages from and for talking to ships at sea and a short wave set for communication with shore.

They will endeavor to follow the United States army radio beacon from the Golden Gate to Hawaii and will permit the fulling the radio facilities of the South sea.

There are scores of radio stations in the scattered islands of the South Pacific and the United States has a number of small stations and ships do not rely on them for distances greater in excess of 100 miles.

According to the itinerary: 1. Oakland to Kauai; 2. Kauai to Hawaii; 3. Hawaii to the Marshall group; 4. Marshall group to the Phoenix Islands; 5. Phoenix Islands to Rabaul; 6. Rabaul to New Guinea; 7. New Guinea to New Britain; 8. New Britain to Sydney; 9. Sydney to Melbourne; 10. Melbourne to London.

Under the plan, the plane will be examined, the take-off possibilities of the barking sands on Kauai. He believes the Fokker can take the air there, despite the fact that it was Richard Gray, Los Angeles stunt flyer, who crashed attempting a flight from Hawaii to the mainland in 1914. The flight will cost approximately $50,000, of which the government of New South Wales appropriated about $17,500. The remainder is provided by private capital.

Style Experiments Aid French Business PARIS, Oct. 13 (AP)—American chambers of commerce might benefit from the experience of Paris, where business only remotely associated with the fashion trade has prospered by the general move of the fashion trades toward more feminine clothes and self-adornment.

Hairdressers report that women are taking a renewed interest in their coiffures and experimenting with new styles, despite the fact that waves and curls are in demand. Beauty parlors are also booming and even dentists and opticians are reporting effects they say of the revival of femininity.

The refreshment committee, Mrs. James Welch as chairman, served punch and home made cookies from a lovely corner.

GOODING, Oct. 13.—The Southside Dramatic Studio, at Gooding, Idaho, located at Twin Falls, under the direction of Esther Jacoby Merrill, has reported an initial enrollment of 14 students. The students are: Helen Beaman, Harriet Trookrommer, Louise Trookrommer, Edna Tomlin, Dorothy Tomlin, Mrs. H. N. Yarbrough, Mrs. Henry White, Herman Yarbrough, Fern Keenan, Elizabeth Brieland, Harriet Wood, Hope Rice, Leon McKinley, and Irwin Woods, all of Twin Falls.

Mrs. Merrill was a teacher at Gooding college 1921-23 and is the successful author and producer of the plays, "The Light of the Trail" and "Adiantum," both of which have been produced many times in Idaho, Oregon and Washington during recent years. As one feature of her work for the coming year, Mrs. Merrill plans to present her class to the public both at Twin Falls and at a number of other southern Idaho points, through the production of several plays. One of the first of these will be "The Valiant," a one-act play, which was awarded first prize at Northwestern University last year for a complete rendering of plays by different colleges and universities. Names of other plays and players will be announced from time to time, and the Gooding college Southside dramatic studio promises to fill a real need for teachers and others who are not able to go away to college this year.

BANK RECORDS REVEAL SECRET OF FINANCE

Letters From Kings, Queens, Princes and Eminent Statesmen Fill Firm's Files.

LONDON, Oct. 13 (AP)—Letters from kings, queens, princes and eminent statesmen fill the records of the National Bank of Commerce of London. The bank's records, which are made public for the first time, reveal some of the most interesting letters ever written every day in Lombard street.

The central figure of this business romance is Thomas Coutts, whose personality, through the bank's intimate connection with aristocracy, Count's personal memorandum book records two loans of 5,000 pounds each to the Duke of Brno, the Duke of Clarence James Fox, on September 20, 1787, and the other June 17, 1788. Above the entries in Coutts's own hand appears:

"Not to be pressed for, as any interest ever asked for. N. B. Never to be demanded."

On the other opposite the record of the transaction Coutts also wrote: "Worth nothing. Counts, known as the 'Court Banker,' also wrote:

There is a letter from Louis Philippe, which he wrote in 1848, which he wrote on landing at Newhaven after having lost the French throne. It asks for 100,000 pounds.

A draft on Coutts's dated April 25, 1804, brings to mind the arrival of George IV, then Prince of Wales, with his beautiful mistress, Fanny Bristow, who secretly married, contrary to the constitution. The draft, written by Sir Francis Baring for the purpose of allowing Coutts to pay for her quarterly allowance made by the Prince.

A note, from Lord George Gordon, leader of the "No Popery" riot, written in Newgate Prison, is as follows: "Lord George Gordon returns his affectionate respects to Mr. Coutts and thanks him for inquiring after his health, which I thank God, considering his having been locked up for his house and hope to have it completed before cold weather."

Among Coutts's records is a guinea given him by a good friend, a stranger who judged from his shabby appearance that he was down and out. Coutts asked the stranger to visit him at his home and the philanthropist then discovered his mistake.

Coutts left a fortune of 900,000 pounds when he died.

Prince-Pats Over Detested Bow Tie

LONDON, Oct. 13 (AP)—The bow tie, once heartily detested in England, is all the go for the moment. The Prince of Wales has worn this style of neckwear every day since his return from Canada.

His favor has brought about a revolution in the necktie. The Prince's bow ties have been utterly unable to cope with the everybody wants them—even the girls. The bow tie, then, during the spring and summer in fact has been somewhat partial to the bow for some time—but that no longer is always now has settled the style for the young bloods.

Banana Skin Shoes Promise of Future

LONDON, Oct. 13 (AP)—Banana skins may finally be used for something besides bad jokes, says Harry Holder, president of the Federation of Curriers, Light Leather Tanners and Dressers. He prophesies that the peel of the popular tropical fruit may in time be used for making leather.

At a meeting of the United Tanners' Federation, Holder said the leather industry was tremendously indebted to scientists for their research in the field of leather.

He said scientists will at some time doubt call in the aid of the vegetable "holder" predicted, and will use the peel of banana and potato skins, which now serve chiefly as fodder for flocks and as miniature skating skis.
