

FALL'S EVERETT REFUSES TO REVEAL SOURCE OF $230,000

Mrs. M. T. Everett, Man Government Contends Can Furnish Vital Information, Declines; Pleads Constitutional Rights.

Washington, Oct. 27 (AP)—Fall refused to reveal the source of the $230,000 in Liberty bonds, which figure in the $100,000,000 "War Bonds" conspiracy trial, was made today in the District of Columbia supreme court by the government.

Before Everett was called to the stand, the government had presented to the jury evidence to show that the bonds were used in the "War Bonds" conspiracy trial, was made today in the District of Columbia supreme court by the government.

Justice Suddens will determine later, probably tomorrow, whether Everett had the right to refuse to answer on the ground that the source of the bonds is a part of the Wyoming naval reserve.

Patently nervous and extremely ill at the time, Everett was a reluctant witness in the trial of the "War Bonds" conspiracy trial, was made today in the District of Columbia supreme court by the government.

Justice Suddens directed him to answer the question, "I decline to answer," Everett testified.

Charles A. Douglas, a Washington attorney, appeared for Everett and asked permission to advise the witness. Justice Suddens refused, saying that he had advised Everett.

Refuse Second Answer The witness, stenographer to repeat the question and finally answered in the affirmative. He stated the reason for the moment, but Everett then refused to answer another question and Justice Suddens directed him to do so.

Before coming to the source of the Liberty bonds, Owen J. Roberts, a special government counsel, carefully laid the ground for a question by dragging from the witness the admissions that he had had no business transactions with Sinclair.

NEAR COMRADE TELL WELCOME IN FRANCE

Lester F. Albert, American Legion Department Adjutant, Reviews Experiences Abroad in Talk at Burley Meeting.

(Special to The News) BURLEY, Oct. 27—Delegates and visitors at a quarterly convention of the fifth district American Legion and Women's Auxiliary organization here this evening heard Lester F. Albert of Boise, department adjutant of the American Legion in Idaho, relate in an outstanding address, his impressions and experiences abroad as a delegate to the American Legion convention at Paris and as a member of the Legion's good will tour to other European countries.

Others in America has the American Legion ever been received with the spontaneous outburst of enthusiasm which greeted the veterans pilgrims to France last month, from the time the ships entered the harbor until they steamed out again, Mr. Albert declared. "The French seemed genuinely glad to see us and gave us a welcome which assured us of the real friendship they have for our country."

Cemeteries Were Kept Mr. Albert described the parade of the American veterans of the world war in the French capital, and told of visits to cemeteries and battle grounds. Cemeteries he said are perfectly kept and visitors keep fresh flowers on every grave. He said the battlefields, Mr. Albert said, gave no hint of the conflict that swept over them 10 years ago. Belgium had been made a museum of the war, and in all the battlefields, and here are to be found the trenches and a great heap of war munitions.

Mr. Albert said that he had been unable to identify the spot on the battlefield of the Somme in which action he had been wounded so that both his legs were sacrificed. Nearly 100 members of the Legion and Auxiliary were seated at the banquet which preceded business sessions of each organization. Speakers here included E. E. Vance of Hazelton, national committee man, and Homer Hudson, Idaho manager of the veterans' bureau.

Visitors were welcomed by H. L. Harpster, Burley's mayor, and Harry Bennett of Twin Falls responded. The program includes also a reading by Mrs. James Zilloux of Montello, Nevada, who made the trip from her home to attend the meetings. Selected Officers E. P. Parry of Twin Falls, district commander, who, with other officers of the district organization, was selected, presided at the banquet and at the American Legion meeting. The meeting adopted resolutions addressed to members of Idaho's congressional delegation protesting against any proposal for removal of the veterans' hospitals from Boise. It was voted that the membership trophy cup awarded to the fifth district should be given into the possession of the several posts of the district, beginning with the Burley post, each to retain it for one month. Community service programs and membership campaigns were stressed in delegates' reports.

POLICE FIND BODIES OF WOMEN IN TRUNK

Definite Identification of Remains Difficult; Husband of One Victim Held by Police.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 27 (AP)—The bodies of two women, crudely dumped here and there, were found in trunks, were found today in a house in the old French quarter. Police believed the women were the wives of Henry and Joe Motly, brothers. Joe Motly was taken into custody late today and police said they would take him to the mortuary where the bodies are being held in an effort to identify them. Efforts to find Henry Motly and five children belonging to the two families were unsuccessful. The bodies of the women were so mutilated that definite identification was difficult. The rooms in which they were found had been occupied for several weeks by the brothers and their families. The women were murdered, police said, with a butcher's knife. The weapon, sharp and with a two foot blade, was found in one of the rooms. The heads of the bodies had been severed and the legs crudely chopped so that the remainder of the bodies would fit tightly into the trunks. A bed in one of the rooms apparently had been used for the grisly operation.

Women Return from Outing Neighbors said that the women had returned to their apartments late yesterday afternoon after an outing. Police believed the crime was committed during the early morning hours, basing their belief upon a report of neighbors that they heard the cries of a child about 1 o'clock. A man who occupied an apartment in the same building was taken into custody.

Another man, P. Kummel, was questioned. His name was found scribbled on a white envelope in a chamber. He was held at the house of detention today, having been arrested late yesterday at the Motly home after a disturbance. The Motlys came to New Orleans several weeks ago from New Iberia. Neighbors said that the two young women were well behaved and that their husbands had good reputations. The bodies were found by Frank Byiva and Jules Chastain, insurance men who mounted to the second floor apartment after overhearing neighbors tell of the strange cries of a child and the failure of the two women to appear during the night. Superintendent of Police Realy, who took over the investigation, pronounced the crime "the most horrible butchery" in his experience.

DECISIVE SCORE 25-0

Frederick Borden of North Side Aggregation Plays Brilliant Game Scoring All Touchdowns; Contest in Rain

A speedy, snifty lead bearing the cognomen Shoshone-Borden almost single handedly defeated the Twin Falls Cubs yesterday. Shoshone 25 to 0. Borden, all four of the North Side players touchdowns, racing 80, 90 and 95 yards through the Cub team in the first five minutes of play the big boy got the game on ice for his team. Not satisfied with such a performance Borden ran another punt back 42 yards and team extracted from scrimmage of a pass that netted Shoshone their last tally.

Playing in a driving rain that soon turned the field into a quagmire the two teams were evenly matched. If Borden were eliminated. Of the 417 yards a team extracted from scrimmage the big fellow accounted for 265 yards, enough yardage to win almost any football game. On the third play of the game Borden carried the ball through the Bruin line for 46 yards and a score. A few minutes later he received a punt on his own 20-yard line and dashed 80 yards for the second tally and receiving the Bruin kickoff after the score ran it 90 yards for the next tally.

Cubs Rally
The Cubs rallied after those three amazing feats and the balance of the game was practically played between the two 10-yard marks with the exception of a short period in the second and last quarters. Shoshone was headed for a score as the half ended with the ball on the Cub 10-yard line. Again in the last period Borden booted a long one that stopped on the Cub 10-yard mark and Frasselle got off a short boot with a ball that was slimy and heavy with muck. A short pass, crossed to Borden, gave the North Siders their last tally.

Cubs Successful in Air
The Cubs were successful in the air and completed many short passes despite the mud. Frasselle could not touch with his backer in the last half on account of the mud. The Cubs got up a stubborn fight all the way, but fighting until the gun stopped the game. For the Cubs, Fry, left end, was perhaps the outstanding player on the line. His work of defense was that of a veteran and Shoshone found it impossible to gain around his end. Anderson and Wheeler worked nicely at tackle, both smearing plays to advantage. In the backfield, Frasselle running the team and doing the punting and passing bore the brunt of the burden. The punting is developing into a real back with a triple threat. He was ably supported by Vance, Sackett and Knight. The latter playing almost his first game showed remarkable improvement and gives much promise. Vance successfully maneuvered as center in the complete contraction of the co-ed rosters.

Score by periods:
Cubs 18, Shoshone 417, passes, Cubs 2 complete out of 13 for 41 yards; Shoshone, two out of three for 25 yards; penalties, Cubs 10 yards, Shoshone 10 yards; first downs, Cubs 6, Shoshone 6; referee, Dill, Shoshone; umpire, Vance, Twin Falls.

BRUNN IS SET FOR TWIN FALLS FILER GRIDIRON CLASSIC

Smith, Star of Wildcats and Perrine, Slippery Half of the Brunns, May be Handicapped by Muddy Field; Locals Ready

The stage is set for the annual grid classic between Filer and Twin Falls this afternoon at Lincoln field at 2:30 o'clock. The hard rain of yesterday and overcast skies today predict muddy field and a consequent slow game. Smith, the speedster of the Brunns, and Perrine, the slippery half of the Brunns, may be handicapped by the mud.

The Brunns appear in good shape for the game. Few injuries, none of which will materially hamper the players, put the Brunns in the best shape of the season for the contest. A hard week of work with a victory behind them sends them into the fray prepared to fight to the last gun against the traditional enemy.

Filer Suffering From Injuries
Last minute dope from the Wildcat camp has it that the Filer aggregation are suffering from many injuries that will keep several of their strong men from the game. Captain Miller at tackle is suffering from broken ribs and Harshberger at guard is out of the game with a broken foot. Allison, the first quarter, is threatened with peritonitis, and probably will not play. His brother has been handling the team during the past week.

Game Means Elimination
The annual battle between these two elevens always attracts great attention among the fans of the district and this year is no exception. The game means that one of the two teams will be eliminated from the district title race and the same has been true of the game for the past two years. Two years ago the Wildcat fought to a 7 to 7 tie with the Brunns and last year the Brunns won 6 to 0. With Smith doing his stuff and Perrine and Harshberger at their best, the Wildcats are hard for any team to defeat. The big haul is without doubt one of the best triple threat men in the state and is playing his stick at the notice of fans all over the country. It is upon him that the Wildcat place their hopes this year. The game is called for 2:30 and the preparations are complete for the largest crowd of the season at Lincoln field.

The locals have been hard at work all week and are showing improvement as the season goes along. The line has been changing in better shape and the backs have plucked the line in fine fashion in the last two contests. A large crowd is expected from Rupert and the local fans are planning on turning out in large numbers.

OAKLEY, Oct. 27 (Special to The News)—The Burley football team will return tomorrow to battle with the locals. Although both teams lost their battles last week they are about evenly matched with the dope slightly favoring Burley. The weight of the two teams is about equal. The local squad is somewhat hampered by injuries received in the Bruin game, but none of the players will be kept out of the game.

With the remaining school at Burley during the past week that team has had more regular practice and will put up a hard struggle. The Burley backfield is strong and the line heavy so that the locals are going up against the hardest battle of the year.

RICHFIELD PLAYS WENDELL
WENDELL, Oct. 27 (Special to The News)—The Richfield team will be here tomorrow to battle with the local football eleven. The upper valley team is reported heavy with a strong backfield. The locals are in good shape and confident of taking the invaders into camp.

Special Announcement of Keenest Interest to Women. Our New Ready-to-Wear Balcony. It is with pardonable pride that we announce to the women of Twin Falls the opening of our new Ready-to-Wear balcony. We've been working for a long time toward an ideal—we've investigated thoroughly every vital phase of the ready-to-wear business. We haven't reached perfection, but we have the most unique, the most conventional and the most satisfactory ready-to-wear department that careful planning can devise. In keeping with the progressive methods of this entire concern, we have assembled nothing but the most dependable apparel in quality of materials, workmanship, style and fit. Perhaps you have gained the impression from the foregoing facts that our ready-to-wear is high priced—it is not. With our unusual buying power and our determination to provide a department just a little different from the average, we've combined a high standard of quality with a moderate, fair price range. New coats and dresses are arriving daily; carpenters and painters are hard at work and work is being rushed to completion for the opening of this department Saturday—A cordial invitation is extended to the public to visit this department and examine the new ready-to-wear. No frills—just courteous service and good values. Same welcome to visitors as to purchasers. We'll be ready with our opening Saturday morning. Frocks. Coats. Coats.

North Idaho Republican Leader Thinks Senator's Indecision; Visits Lodge Here

"I am surprised to note in the dispatches that Senator W. E. Borah has discovered virtue in the caucus system which he has so frequently denounced for so many years," was the only definite comment which Idaho Senator Tom Callahan of Wallace made last evening when asked whether he believed Senator Borah would be nominated for president by the national convention of his party in 1928. He indicated, however, that he doubted whether the senator could get the nomination, but said he had no idea of whom the party would nominate.

Refers to Borah
The reference to Senator Borah's change of heart on the caucus was made in regard to the Idaho senator's consultation with a few party leaders in the middle west relative to the selection of a party nominee next year. Senator Callahan said that while there is discontent in the farming sections of the middle west there is great industrial prosperity, and this makes an active discussion of economic issues nationally impracticable next year.

Senator Callahan has been a republican leader for several terms of the Idaho legislature.

In regard to the probable action of the democratic national convention, he said that he was likewise unable to form an opinion at this time. At Smith night of night not use a dark horse, he said.

Senator Callahan, who is state deputy of the Knights of Columbus, making an official visit to the 11 lodges in the state now at the beginning of their official year. He attended a special meeting of the Twin Falls council last night. He goes from here to Boise by stage this morning. He came in on the train from Idaho Falls last evening. He said that the total membership in Idaho numbers 1300. The order gained many members during the war and has been holding its own since, but expects steady growth in the future.

WAR UPON WHITE PLAGUE. THEME FOR CONFERENCE

National and State Leaders Here to Meet With Volunteer Workers of District.

Frederick D. Hopkins of New York, executive secretary of the National Tuberculosis association, and Mrs. Catherine Athey of Boise, executive secretary of the Idaho Anti-Tuberculosis association, arrived last evening to take part in a district conference here today of leaders and volunteer workers of the association in six counties. Topics for discussion at the conference, Mrs. Athey stated last evening, will include health programs for the coming year and the development of a national association in relation to state and county organizations. Work of the association last year was financed, Mrs. Athey mentioned, through sale of Tuberculosis association Christmas seals.

Dr. Allan Hart of Spokane, a tuberculosis specialist, will be one of the conference speakers, it was announced. The conference sessions will be held in the Park hotel and will open at 10 a. m. A luncheon meeting will be held during the noon hour at the hotel, and the conference will continue during the afternoon.

Sugar Beets Puzzle Another Easterner

The Twin Falls sugar beet is frequently confounded with other vegetables of families quite remote in character and scientific designation. A man of the age an eastern man who took them for sweet potatoes, Colonel J. W. C. Deake has an eastern friend who made another wrong diagnosis. It was Helen woman who enumerated the country on raising such fine, uniform parcels, of which she said the health nurse in this country is big loads. "When informed that they were doubtless beets, she replied: "Oh, no, beets are red and these were white."

OFFICERS BRING BACK ACCUSED FROM UTAH

Jess Short Charged With Burglary Is Returned From Salt Lake; Have Long Vigil.

Two weary officers and a tired prisoner returned at noon Thursday from Salt Lake when Deputy Sheriff Charles Jones and William Munrover of the Twin Falls police force, arrived with Jess Short, accused of participating in seven burglaries here last October. The party had traveled without sleep after leaving Salt Lake at midnight.

Mr. Munrover said that Short was reticent on the trip. He denies guilt and has indicated that he can furnish good alibi, but the officers discuss details with the officers on the return journey.

The particular charge against Short alleges that he committed burglary at the Brunawick pool hall. Short is said to meet the description of the man for whom the officers were seeking. He claims Roanoke, Virginia, was his home and says that he is 25 years of age. He refused to return here without extradition when placed under arrest, but the necessary papers were secured.

SPONSOR PICTURE SHOW TO AID MILK CAMPAIGN

Parents and Teachers Out for Funds to Provide Needed Nourishment for Pupils.

Twin Falls Congress of Parents and Teachers will sponsor a picture show, "Obformation," to be presented at the optimum theater next Tuesday, November 7, as a means of financing a campaign for supplying milk to underweight pupils in Twin Falls schools during the winter months.

Tickets will be offered for sale by student salesmen who will call at homes during the week and it was announced last evening. Both afternoon and evening performances of the picture show will be given.

Plans for the milk campaign provided, it was stated last evening, that in past years parents who are able to do so will provide milk for their own children. No child, however, who needs this nourishment, is to be deprived of it for that reason.

UP MAN
ROBBERIES IN IDAHO

Mark Miller, Texaco Station Bandit, Displays Elastic Recollection When Identified by Man He Robbed at Idaho Falls.

Mark Miller, 23, who was captured here Sunday evening a few minutes after he had assisted in a robbery at the Texaco service station, Main avenue west, admitted Thursday that he had participated with Frank Jones in robberies of service stations at Idaho Falls last Friday night and at Pocatello last Saturday night. He made the admissions after he had been identified by Ralph Cotner of the Idaho Falls station, as one of the men who had been up.

Miller's companion in the robbery here made good his escape.

Prisoner Is Identified

Cotner, who came here Thursday to identify the prisoner, was accompanied by Sheriff C. E. Criddle of Bonneville county, and Deputy Sheriff Carlson, former police chief of Idaho Falls. Miller told the officers that he and Jones held up Cotner and got $70, or at least Jones told him that that was the amount of the booty. He said that Jones acted as treasurer and kept most of the money in his possession. Saturday night, he said, they robbed the Subway station at Pocatello. He said that Jones told him the proceeds from that venture netted $20, and again kept most of the money.

May Shield Parties

The rest of the story that Miller told the officers when questioned, by Deputy Sheriff E. F. Frater and Chief Ralph E. Leighton of the Twin Falls police force, agrees with what he told the officers shortly after his arrest, except that he places the meeting with Jones in Idaho Falls instead of in Twin Falls, and says that he never participated in crime until he helped in the Idaho Falls holdup. After he was arrested Sunday night here, he said that the Texaco holdup in Twin Falls was his first venture in crime. Officers suspect that he is holding out information which might divulge the real identity of Jones, as he continues to be busy in discussing that individual. The Idaho Falls officers left immediately after identification of Miller by Cotner and after Miller had conceded taking part in more crimes than he admitted at first.

Information Being Prepared

Prosecutor O. W. Witham said that he had not completed drawing up the information and would probably not file it until the arrival here Tuesday from Rupert of Judge Hugh A. Baker.

When A King Had To Borrow A Pair Of Hose

As the American workman looks over our fresh stocks of overalls, shirts, sturdy shoes and other items to complete his "wardrobe" during National Work Clothes Week, he little realizes what a romantic part in history many of these garments played. Delving into the pages of the past we discover that in 1760 suspenders were declared an offense against public decency and the morals of the community.

Hose are a common article of attire today but in 1603 James the First was obliged to borrow a pair from the Earl of Mar to wear at his coronation. Equally unbelievable is the fact that in 1594 the King of France owned only five handkerchiefs, and most of these, history records, were full of holes.

Today, thanks to our modern system of merchandise distribution, the American workman can actually purchase clothes for his everyday tasks that were beyond the reach of kings and nobles centuries ago.

MALIA CRANE WINS PRIZE FOR POEM ON LINDBERGH FLIGHT

Brooklyn 14-Year-Old Girl Scores Another Success; 'The Wings of Lead,' Wins Renewed Fame for Her.

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Malia Crane, 14-year-old Brooklyn poet, has scored another success.
Her latest poem, "The Wings of Lead," has won for her renewed fame and a prize of $500 offered for the best poem on the subject of Colonel Charles Lindbergh's trans-Atlantic flight.

"This time she will not be called an 'infant prodigy' nor will it be claimed by any that she won the award because of her tender years. Her triumph was achieved in anonymous competition with adult poets, from all over the world. It was arranged by Mitchell Kennerly, New York bibliophile in connection with the George H. Doran company.
More than 4000 poems were received from every state in the Union and from Canada, France, England, Australia, Germany, Holland, Switzerland, and even from Monaco.
With the announcement of the award interest revived in the young high school girl who published her first volume, "The Janitor's Boy," at the age of 11. A public controversy as to its authenticity arose when Edna Markham suggested that the poems might be a "genial hoax." Many claimed she was too young to create poems of such mature feeling, scope and vocabulary. On the other hand, literary persons such as Ellnor Wylie, Louis Untermeyer, William Rose Benet and John Farrar defended her sincerity and denied that her father or anyone else had assisted her in writing.
"The Wings of Lead" is a poem of 60 lines expressing the "faith in miracles" which Lindbergh's flight gave to the young author. The first four lines and the last eight of the poem are printed herewith:
"The gods released a vision on a world forever of the Normal, egresses, the Albion cliffs turned red;
You fly the wings of kites—can you fly the wings of lead?"

"And the eyes of all look upward seeing sign-world drawing nigh."
The story wings of Elysium

"Epiphany—Dust-teaching how to behave to bloom."
"And Indra holding something new,
the plummet-leden plume."
"We hear the clinking tambourine of a Militant army."
"We believe in every miracle since Lindbergh, new the blue."
"The wonder of the best draw when the bowstring is a quard—"
"The beauty of a courage that can raise the wings of lead."
"The judges of the Lindbergh poem contest were Christopher Morley, John Farrar, and Mr. Kennerly, none of whom knew the authors of the poems

PRICES, QUALITY AND SERVICE CHIEF FACTORS IN SALES LOSS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (AP)—The customer leaves a retail store without buying chiefly because either prices are too high, the quality of goods is unsatisfactory or service is delayed, the domestic distribution department of the United States Chamber of Commerce has learned from a survey.
The chart, prepared by the department, shows that on a basis of total sales an 100 per cent. high price is responsible for nearly 15 per cent of lost sales. Unsatisfactory quality and delays in service each a loss of 10 per cent, while the indifference of sales people causes an estimated loss of 5 per cent.

Overinsistence of salespeople, unwillingness to exchange merchandise, tricky methods and forcing of substitutes lead about 5 per cent of the customer to leave the store. A disorderly store and tactless handling of customers tends about 4 per cent hurtling out the door in disgust, while delay in giving attention or ignorance concerning goods each cause 3 per cent to leave.
The department expresses the belief that retail merchants, without changing a price list, could increase sales, especially through slight changes in store policy and proper instructions of salespeople.

Club Sends Pottery Exhibit on Road to Stimulate Interest

LONG BEACH, N. J., Oct. 27 (AP)—A traveling pottery exhibit is being sent by the Pottery Federation of Women's Club to stimulate interest in American pottery art. It embraces examples from the principal artistic studios and potteries of America and comprises nearly 1000 pieces.
Prizes of beautiful pottery are offered to state fair chairman for offering the exhibit through their states. A letter by Mrs. Stewart Green of Long Branch, New Jersey, chairman of the pottery division of the federation, accompanied the exhibit. This is available to interested clubs for the cost of packing and express from the last point of arrival. When requested, a moving picture is sent with it.
Last year the pottery traveled 1120 miles and was viewed by thousands of club women, art students and school children in 15 different cities. This year's schedule calls for presentation in Ohio, Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas, West Virginia and New Jersey. Prizes will be awarded at the biennial convention to be held in San Antonio, Texas, next Spring. Competitions in Kansas, Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan, New Jersey, West Virginia and Arkansas are competing.

CONGRESS WILL BE REQUESTED DURING COMING SESSION TO ATTEMPT TO REMEDY NEW ILL

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (AP)—Congress will be asked during the coming session to take steps to remedy the situation whereby the American government and the shipping industry suffer heavy losses annually through the purchase abroad of pleasure yachts by wealthy Americans.
With a displacement of 30 per cent of the estimated cost to be only a fair tariff to impose upon such craft, which now are duty free, it is believed that suggested remedial measure will take the form of an increased users' tax, now ranging from $2 to $8 or more per foot of yacht length, depending upon the size of the yacht.
Congress will be told that by its failure to equalize American costs with foreign competitors, the government has placed the American shipbuilding and marine engine industries in a precarious financial position and has deprived thousands of American workmen of employment.

The combination also will permit establishment of a separate New Zealand company to develop trade in that dominion. The sale of the shares at 25 shillings each will provide necessary working capital for the Australian company, which has been expanding its plant.
It is built in this country, the association stipulates.
Under existing conditions the usual yachts are built abroad, placed aboard a steamship and brought to New Zealand, or Canada, unloaded and then sailed into an American port under their own power, yachts and equipment being duty free.

COMPLETION OF 22,250-MILE RECORD BY LINDBERGH

Youthful Prophet of Aviation
Visits Every State in Nation in Short Span of Three Months and Three Days

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Col. Charles Lindbergh has made another record. The youthful prophet of aviation has visited every state in the nation in the short span of three months and three days, and he and his plane have been seen in that time by upwards of 10,000,000 persons.
In his national air tour which he completed here Sunday, Col. Lindbergh has flown 22,250 miles, has landed 1,285 miles, has spent 260 hours in the air, has attended 50 dinners, has dropped 192 messages, and visited 45 cities at which he did not land and has been greeted by governors at 23 state capitols.
The hero of the New York-Paris flight of last May, journeying over the country under the auspices of the Gugenheim fund for the Promotion of Aeronautics, has made a flight as safe and sane as his Atlantic adventure was audacious, and his plan has won its way from city to city with a punctuality that rivaled the record of the best of fast trains.
Eighty-two stops were made, and at 81 of them this famous "Spirit of St. Louis" descended at the landing or scheduled in the case of a foul. The only instance in which he was late was at Portland, Maine, in June, when he could not land because of an extremely heavy fog but probably not at the airport. He chose to land elsewhere so that he might not have to leave his ship in a strange place unguarded.
A department of commerce plane which accompanied the Spirit of St. Louis added its own bit of luster to a performance which ranks high in the achievement of aviation. The attendant plane was flown 30,550 miles, carrying representatives of the department and of the Gugenheim fund. Over total flying distance of 50,800 miles the two planes performed perfectly, with no overhauls, no forced landings, and no delays of any sort from mechanical difficulties, from the time the tour began in New York July 27.
The planes spent at least one night in each of the 48 states, and flew all kinds of weather, but the weather was not a factor. Although the tour did not follow regular airways and was at least 75 per cent spontaneous, both kept to schedule.
Thursdays and Saturdays were rest days, but some of them Col. Lindbergh found it necessary to make a little more flying. The sponsors of the flight point out this indication that rumors of his being in a hurry during the tour were erroneous. Colonel Lindbergh twice passed physical examinations with flying colors during the tour, in spite of speaking engagements that might have proven a task for a seasoned political campaigner.
The average audience at the open air meetings which the address numbered about 20,000. The number of counties has been used as a basis for the estimate that he addressed 2,000,000 persons directly, and his speeches were broadcast by radio, increasing his audience immensely.
One of scores of gifts to Colonel Lindbergh from his various hosts was a portrait of his mother presented by business men of Fort Worth, Texas. The portrait was painted by Carl Bohnen of Chicago.

EARLY AFRICAN CULTURE PROVED BY CARVINGS

COLOGNE, Oct. 27 (AP)—Most prehistoric carvings discovered during the past years on cliffs and in the northern outskirts of the Sahara desert date back 11,000 to 9,000 years before Christ, Professor E. H. Rieu told the Congress of the German Anthropological society recently.
This fact, Professor Rieu claims, has been established by his excavations at the foot of rocky walls with such carvings in the course of which numerous stone-crafting implements were found and identified with a later glacial period. He was generally supported at the congress in his theory that these things prove the existence of an African culture during the glacial period similar to that which has been established in Europe.
The similarity between the inscriptions found in the Atlas mountains and those in upper Egypt constitutes the first proof of some continuous cultural development in northern Africa from the glacial period to the present era of history. The African carvings differ from those in Europe in that in them all attention seems to be centered on the activities of animals and people, which are reproduced in lifelike beauty and vividness, whereas in the European reproductions contour seems to be secondary importance, the main interest being concentrated on motion and dramatic portrayal.
In the African glyphs many of the reproduced animals are perforated with holes from which, which, by reason of the magical elements manifested everywhere, is interpreted as evidence that it was the custom of magicians to shoot at animals of such animals, that hunters had gone out to kill in the hope of bringing the hunter good luck.
Rightly Named
Appropriately enough, an English plumber has recently been made a knight of the bath.

HUGE CROWDS of New Yorkers pay new homage to Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh upon his arrival in Mitchell Field in "The Spirit of St. Louis," marking end of 22,250-mile air tour of 48 states. Inset shows "Flying Colonel" placing wreath on Liberty Bell at Independence Hall, Philadelphia, on day before completion of record jant.

SPECULATION IN GRAIN FUTURES BENEFITS FARMER, EXPERT FINDS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (AP)—Speculation in grain futures, sometimes condemned as responsible for dangerously erratic and unwarranted price fluctuations, is declared to be obtaining definite economic importance to rural districts.
Dr. J. W. T. Duvel, chief of the United States grain futures administration, holds that it frequently offers direct possibilities of service to producers, millers, and exporters.
"Every farmer," he explains, "naturally desires to get the highest possible price for his grain. Eventually, however, he must determine when he is willing to dispose of his stocks. Often it is possible to take advantage of a spike in the futures market by selling a distant future and by making shipment and delivery on this contract at the proper time.
"It is true that in the meantime prices may advance beyond the price at which the future was sold. In that event his returns would be less than if he had speculated by holding his grain in anticipation of higher prices. But if prices decline he is assured of the additional profit as determined by his sale-for-future-delivery.
"Moreover, such a plan offers the advantage of being able to operate in two ways, either to permit the contract to mature and make delivery when the delivery month arrives, or to buy in the future at a subsequent date, in event of a decline that offers a good profit, thus restoring the grain covered by the future contract to its original position.
"In the ordinary course of commerce world, the miller or the exporter not always is ready to buy grain at a price satisfactory to producer or merchandiser whenever they are ready to sell. It is in such cases, Duvel says, that a futures market offers possibilities of service beneficial to all by affording opportunity for trading on a speculative basis. The risk-bearers help to make a more liquid market, in which hedge or outright purchases or sales can be made more promptly than if the speculative element were eliminated entirely.
"Trading in grain for future delivery is purely of American origin, and dates back more than half a century. It is considered a natural outgrowth of the dealing in "time-contracts," instituted before the Civil war, when transportation was slow and facilities for communication limited, giving such documents a rather highly speculative character. The risks involved led to frequent changes in the membership of these long-term time contracts before the date of maturity.
"Responding to an increased volume in the purchase and sale of grain contracts, the Chicago Board of Trade was organized, and in the next year, 1880, was organized the St. Louis Mercantile Exchange.
"Although there was subsequent inauguration of the practice in Minneapolis, Kansas City, Duluth, Milwaukee, New York, Seattle, Winnipeg, Liverpool, and Buenos Aires, Chicago has maintained supremacy as the most prominent grain futures market in the world.

BETTER FOOTBALL SEASON SEEN FOR PROFESSIONALS

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 27 (AP)—Joe F. Carr, who has been smoothing out difficulties between quarrelling athletic factions since the time when he was a sport writer on a local newspaper, has completed the most ticklish bit of diplomacy of his career.
Carr, president of the National Football League, has succeeded in bringing C. C. Pyle's American League under the banner of the outfit provided by him. Consequently this season there will not be two national professional football aggregations bidding strenuously for the public's favor, with a division of patronage, as there was last year.
With "Red" Grange under his wing, Pyle last year petitioned the National League for a franchise for his New York Yankees in the national league and protested that there might not be enough fans to go around for two active teams, so Pyle's application was turned down, and he forthwith organized the American League.
The result, it was freely admitted, was a remarkably poor season for professional football, with two leagues settling each other all over the country.
Carr pointed out that the only hope lay in a merger and eventually he reconciled peace.
Carr headed the National League when it was a struggling outfit, too poor even to pay him a salary.

Egyptian Law EASY TO GET DIVORCED

Husband May Abandon Wife for Trivial Reasons; Woman Have Harder Row

CAIRO, Oct. 27 (AP)—In Egypt it is easier to get a divorce than to get married for the husband. But let a woman try to get a divorce.
An Egyptian husband may divorce his wife for trivial reasons. He may have tired of her, she may have annoyed him in some way, or she may not have borne him children. In any case, all he has to say to procure a divorce is: "I divorce thee." Three times, after which the divorce is an accomplished fact. As divorce is so easy, the man may marry as often as he pleases and continue divorcing as long as he likes. Such conduct, though legal, is not considered good form.
A man often divorces his wife and after a short while is ready to have her back. He may divorce her twice and have her back twice, but he cannot do so a third time unless she has while she has married another man and this man has again divorced her.
No woman, on the other hand, can divorce her husband in such a manner as to prove guilty or neglect.
As divorce in Egypt is such a simple affair, and placed in the woman in such an awkward predicament, she is always in terror that her husband will divorce her for some fancied misdeed. The law allows an Egyptian four wives, but unless he is wealthy he generally finds that one is all he can afford to support.

SECRET OF STRIKING FOOTBALL MANEUVER EXPLAINED BY COACH

Meehan's Weapon Has Turned Football Team in Projectile and Carried New York University to Top in East.

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—The secret of the striking football maneuver seen in the east this season was told here by Chick Meehan, the fiery little New York coach who invented it. In Meehan's hands the weapon has turned a football team into a projectile and carried New York University to the top of eastern elevens, in scoring with 213 points thus far to 19 for its five opponents.

Meehan calls it a modified huddle but it looks like the light brigade. On every offensive play the linemen in a two-turn in the backfield pass the year of their playing positions with their violet backs to the enemy. The four men in the backfield form a measured interval between themselves.

To make the rhythm perfect the eleven count "huh, tuh, three, four." It is their battle cry. On four the ball snaps and the team drives forward like a 16-inch shell.

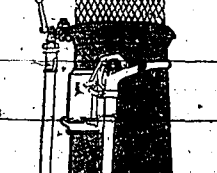

"Well," said Meehan today, "we did it in self-defense against the yelling every big football game is played in nowadays. Time was when a quarterback would quiet-down his team could hear the signals. Now it can't be done. The crowd yell, too big and interest is too keen. Last year we found the team was weak when it was near the enemy goal. When we seemed headed for a touchdown the yelling got louder—and our men couldn't hear the signals."

Watch-Quarter.
This is the way we got around it this year. All the men are watching the quarterback and they can read his lips if they can't hear him. When, too, there's a change of the other team getting the signals because the quarterback varies them with signs with his fingers. Meehan built even better than he knew. In addition to the maneuver gave his team a faster change and a psychological advantage over the opposing team. There is something irrefutable about that wheeling will, swinging about face with military precision and driving forward.

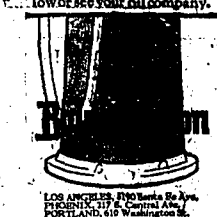

Take Time for Rest.
There are moments when all anxiety and athletic toil and desire must cease. In the halcyon leisure and repose of nature. Leaders must have their nooning undisturbed.—Thorstein

UNIVERSITY FOOTBALL MACHINE GOING GOOD

Vandals in Mid-Season Have More Points to Credit Than Last Year's Team at End.

(Special to The News)
UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, Oct. 21.—Idaho has reached the middle of her football season with more points to her credit than was scored by the 1926 Vandals during their entire season of eight games. To date Idaho has driven over 13 touchdowns and kicked goal after 11 of them for 101 points. During the same four games, ending with the Montana game Saturday, Idaho has had but 12 points scored against her. Last year Idaho got 70 points during her entire season and opponents scored a like number.

The Vandals' progress to date indicates a team with increasing power, which needs polish more than anything else to be in the upper level on the Pacific coast. A squad composed largely of inexperienced men are developing into an outstanding football team. Critics said after Idaho's first game of the 1927 season the Vandals' sole weakness was inability to stop the forward pass. Since that time forward passing teams have not fared well against Idaho. In every game the terrific power of the Vandals eleven has been apparent.

Power Demonstrated.
The Montana game, though against a comparatively weak opponent, demonstrated the power Idaho can command. After three-quarters of superior playing Idaho came back in the final quarter with an attack that pushed Montana easily aside and brought in three touchdowns. With plenty of good reserve material Idaho can wear down her opponents in the first part of the game and come back in the fourth quarter with a powerful offensive, difficult to stop.

In the last quarter against Montana Idaho advanced the ball a greater distance than did Montana during the entire game. In the same quarter Idaho made just one less first down than Montana made during all quarters. Idaho will enjoy a two-week rest before opening the last half of her season, which starts off with two tough games.—St. Mary's, conqueror

COMPETITION FOR CUP WILL NOT BE STARTED

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, Oct. 21 (Special to The News).—Competition for the Harvard alumni loving cup, which is awarded to the school presenting best stunt between halves of the Idaho and Washington State football game, will not be held this year. It was decided at a joint meeting of the executive boards of the two schools recently. A program for the entertainment of Governor H. C. Balfrage of Idaho and Governor Robert P. Hartley, of Washington, who will attend the game November 11, has crowded this traditional feature off the program.

The cup, which must be won three successive times by a school before it becomes a permanent possession, is awarded on a point basis, the stunt counting for a majority of the points. Other considerations are sportsmanship of rosters, organization of rooting sections at the game. Idaho has won the cup twice, and has permanent possession of the Harvard cup, offered before the alumni cup.

COCHRAN, COE CHAMP TRAINS 365 DAYS FOR TITLE MATCHES

King of Maneuvers on Green Covered Table Plays Game All the Time to Keep in Trim for Billiard Competition.

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—A world's heavy-weight champion fighter preparing for a contest involving defense of his title engages in a comparatively short period of training—not more than six or eight weeks with probably two weeks of intensive training.

The same is true with the intercollegiate football players, the baseball stars, track performers and others. The business of training, however, is a different story with Walter Cochran, world's champion 18.2 ball billiardist.

Cochran trains 365 days a year. There are no periods of loafing in his schedule, no "days off" away from the green covered table. Cochran plays his game all the time, all the year around, to keep in trim for his billiard competition.

He keeps himself physically fit by clean living, a little golf, long daily hikes and careful eating. To keep his delicate stroke in perfect adjustment he spends hours in daily practice, often in a room by himself. During the period when no championship match is in immediate prospect Cochran engages in exhibition play.

But just prior to an important championship match he seeks the solitude of a private room, where, all by himself, he practices for hours at a time, clicking off the ivory with nobody around to criticize his technique or acclaim his masterful shots.

Strangely enough, this 32-year-old master of the billiard world considers a brisk hike, finishing sometimes just a few minutes before he goes to the table to defend his title, his best conditioner. This walk, he says, best

Ancient Monetary Terms

Talent was a weight of silver of about 120 grains. It was used by the ancient Greeks and Hebrews. In the New Testament the talent means a weight equal to a certain number of shekels. The talent was equal to 10,000 shekels, and the silver talent to 5,000 shekels.

Famous Star of "Padlocks of 1927" urges a group of her girls' back of the stage to adopt Lucky Strikes.

Queena Mario, Star of Metropolitan Opera, writes:

"I always thought that it was a peculiar coincidence that most men and women of the Opera preferred to smoke Lucky Strikes. Upon inquiry I learned that they all felt it was the one cigarette which gave complete enjoyment without the slightest irritation to their throats. I, too, now can say that of Lucky Strikes. I enjoy them greatly and have no worry that my voice will be affected."

Gem State Shippers Come In Competition at San Francisco
With Coast Dealers Enjoying Cheaper Rate.

BOISE, Oct. 26.—The possibilities of San Francisco and adjoining points as an outlet for Idaho products of course are not as great as it is in Los Angeles, says R. L. Spangler, representative of the Idaho farmers' agriculture, state chamber of commerce, in a report made public Thursday. The population is not as large and the railroads are further from Idaho points to San Francisco than they are to Los Angeles. Incidentally Oregon and Washington shippers enjoy a cheaper rate by boat to San Francisco and this is one of the best outlets for their surplus produce. Other western states do business here if they can meet the competition from other localities. It is simply a matter of price.

Dairy Products
San Francisco got its butter supply from 12 states in 1926, 27,004,164 pounds were used in California supplied 20,700,224 pounds. Montana, 2,241,268; Oregon 2,208,202; and Idaho 1,181,651 pounds. Other western states including Minnesota and Texas supplied lesser amounts. Oregon is the only state which supplied more cheese to San Francisco in 1926 than Idaho. Although Wisconsin is a close third; 13,229,519 pounds were received and Oregon supplied 11,427,1 pounds, Idaho 2,265,023 and Wisconsin 2,294,133 pounds. San Francisco traders commend the quality of Idaho cheese and like to handle it. If quality is maintained we should get our share of the cheese business.

Poultry Products
Idaho eggs sell from two cents to three cents less than California and Washington eggs. One large dealer reported that Idaho eggs do not keep as well as Washington or California eggs and that Idaho shippers are not so careful in grading. He reports that in reality Idaho eggs should bring a premium over Washington and California eggs as they have a better shell and run about an ounce heavier in size. Eggs are sold here on basis of federal grades.

Idaho ships more dressed poultry to the market than any other state does. 1,770,772 pounds were used from Idaho last year as against California 2,906,700 pounds. It is all in the "dressing" said one large receiver and commended Idaho packers for being better "dressers" than the surrounding packers in adjoining states.

Livestock
San Francisco looks to other states for a considerable supply of livestock for slaughter purposes. Cattle steers are used to best advantage during the spring months—only 41—ones of Idaho are used as against California 2,906,700 total consumption of 5,898 cars. This is known as a light cow and light steer market and of course the lighter stuff brings the best price. The hog market is steady here throughout the year. There is constant demand for 500 hogs per day for the Chicago trade. They prefer light weight butcher stock weighing about 185 pounds live, and have preference also for the California barley fed hog. Their second choice is Idaho wheat fed hogs. The Idaho furnished 41 cars of hogs last year as against California 1018. Idaho comes third with 222 carloads. It is estimated that the per capita consumption of hogs here is 23 pounds which is greater than any other city in the United States. In 1926 California supplied 257 carloads; Nevada 328; Oregon 258; Utah 292; Wyoming 123 and Idaho 94. Idaho lambs sell well here if the carcase the desired weight of 55 to 70 pounds. Since other states farther removed from this market than Idaho ship their livestock here it stands to reason that Idaho stockmen may look for an outlet here.

Wheat
Although figures are not available in large amount of Idaho wheat is shipped to San Francisco for use in flouring, milling and export purposes. Effective November 15 a new schedule of rates on wheat and flour will govern from certain Idaho points. This reduction in rates should furnish a greater incentive to ship wheat to San Francisco market.

Potatoes
There is little to be said about the possibilities of the San Francisco Idaho potato market. It is merely a question of price and under the present conditions other potato producing sections enjoy the advantage of cheaper rates. This is the chief outlet for Yakima Gems which are shipped by boat, and no doubt this will make them to get their potatoes here cheaper than Idaho can for many years to come. It is long as this market is so it is a pity to ship Idaho potatoes here and expect to secure the best price.

Apples
The same is true of apples; Oregon and Washington apples have been used here for years. The market demands a high quality boxed apple pack and practically none are sold in barrels. Jobbers report that the trade is not used to baskets and they would experience much difficulty in disposing of them.

This Question of Quality

"Quality" is a flexible word—capable of many meanings. Its exact meaning can only be determined when one knows the standards of the person using it. Many use the term in a vague sense, without any fixed limitations. In our stores and markets, "quality" means something definite. We have fixed standards and tests by which the quality of every item is determined before we stock it. Thus anything we offer for sale is tested and proved by the most rigid standards and bears our absolute guarantee. Regardless of what you buy from us—no matter how low the price—if it isn't satisfactory in every way we urge you to bring it back and get your money. This is Safeway policy—the policy that has made us the West's Largest Food Concern.
