

FAMOUS COWGIRL IS ACCQUITTED OF MURDER

Lorena Trickey Declared Not Guilty by Jury Following Deliberation of 20 Minutes.

LAKEVIEW, Ore., Nov. 12 (AP)—Lorena Trickey, rodeo cowgirl, was declared not guilty today by the jury which tried her on the charge of murdering J. P. Harris.

The jury was out 20 minutes. A demonstration followed the announcement of the verdict.

Both Miss Trickey and Harris, whose home had been in Texas, were members of a rodeo troupe that had toured the far west.

Harris was killed while en route in an automobile that Miss Trickey from this small cattle town where they had participated in a rodeo. At first she said an unidentified man had stabbed Harris. Later she confessed she killed him with a knife, stabbing him in the heart when he threatened to harm her.

Who state contended she killed Harris because she was jealous of him and had demonstrated to leave her. She pleaded self defense.

Arguments consumed the court today until the case was given to the jury which quickly returned the acquittal verdict.

Miss Trickey testified at great length Thursday night that she was forced to kill the man she loved to save herself as he was pursuing her. Testimony indicated she and Harris often quarreled.

BURNS' DETECTIVES FABRICATED REPORTS IN CONSPIRACY TRIAL

started and explained what the Burns men were undertaking to do.

Pinchot reported immediately to Owen J. Roberts, of special government oil counsel and plans that were laid to trap the private operatives.

Under orders of the government, McMullin continued to serve with the Burns agency.

As Corton told the story in the hearing of Pinchot, Corton said "the Philadelphia man, who formerly was an insurance adjuster, was employed by the Burns agency on October 13 and sent here on October 18, after the oil trial jury had been sworn in.

McMullin Disguised McMullin became so disgusted within a few days that he went to Governor Pinchot and said "I had read in the newspapers that Pinchot was in town and he sought him out here, as he said, to tell him he knew the governor was on the level."

It was on the basis of McMullin's reports that government counsel finally went before Justice Siddons to protect the rights of the activities of the Burns men and to suggest a trial in which defense counsel joined.

This was October 31. McMullin said the Burns people were in ignorance as to how the government got its information. McMullin never came under suspicion and two days after the mistrial was ordered he was asked to make an affidavit based upon the false reports he said he made concerning the activities of Lamb, the government agent, to whom Burns referred in making his charge of jury tampering by the government.

In the day that Burns was announcing the filing of the affidavits directed against Lamb, McMullin was in the office of Nell Burkshaw, assistant district attorney in charge of the investigation, preparing an affidavit of six to seven pages, embodying the knowledge he had gained from his contact with the operatives.

Burkshaw explained that he decided to work right to the heart of the Burns and his men because if he met McMullin away from the court house his suspicions would be aroused. From the time of the mistrial the Burns men knew, as they put it, that they had been "sold out" and that they had complete knowledge as to the identity of the person from whom the government got its information. They even questioned newspaper men on that point.

BUHL IN LINE FOR NATIONAL TOURNEY

Committee in Charge of Girls' Basketball Meet Gives Favorable Consideration to Plan.

BUHL, Nov. 12 (Special to The News)—Buhl is in the line for the national girls' basketball tournament in 1928 is receiving favorable consideration at the hands of the Westfield Challenge Cup committee.

Arrangements are almost completed for the 1928 tournament. Mr. Barry was selected by William Phillips, secretary of the committee. The committee will meet in Philadelphia the first of the week to determine the place of the tournament. The secretary pointed out geographical disadvantages in holding the tournament at Buhl, but complimented the spirit of Buhl's business men and promised that word of the committee's decision "will not be disappointing."

"Buhl girls' basketball team completed in the 1927 national tournament at Wichita, Kansas, at which time Buhl's invitation for the 1928 tournament was issued.

Fourteen teams participated in Wichita tournament, the one farthest east coming from West Virginia, and the Buhl team being the one from the farthest west.

The 1928 tournament is to be conducted on a larger scale than heretofore, with a greater number of teams participating.

SENATOR BORAH CALLS FOR FINAL SHOWDOWN ON LAW ENFORCEMENT

an utter disregard and defiance of our charter of government.

Contending that there are only two courses open, enforcement or repeal, the senator added:

"The only safe course—and certainly it is the only honorable course—is to vote on a larger scale than heretofore, with a greater number of teams participating.

Enforcement of the law, Mr. Borah asserted, requires the election of a president and officials who believe in the prohibition law and who will be as vigilant and active to enforce it as its opponents are to violate it.

Not only is the constitution denied, the senator said, but its enforcement and maintenance in many respects has become a mere formality and yet we are told that this is not a matter with which political parties may deal about which they should be concerned.

In this stronghold of the west and home of Governor Smith, Senator Borah here mentioned as possible presidential candidate, insisted that what the people generally were interested in was not the election of a presidential candidate on the eighteenth amendment.

Modification of the Volstead act is not involved in the question, he argued, contending that repeal

GRID CHAMPIONSHIP RACE DRAWS TO END

Ashton Wins Right to Play Winner of Gooding-Rupert Contest; Moscow in Running.

The championship race in inter-collegiate football in the state is nearing the close. Boise had been champs of the western district for some time and Aristotle say the champs in all districts except the south central named Ashton turning in an unexpected win over American Falls earned the right to meet the winner of the Gooding-Rupert game to be played at Jerome next Tuesday.

The state board has ruled that the winner in the south central district shall play Ashton in the upper valley town November 18 and the winner of that game to meet Boise on Thanksgiving day and the state title will be settled until December 2.

From the place of football evidenced by the east-rain teams there seems little doubt but that the team that represents the south central district will earn the right to meet Boise.

In the local district the all important game in the Gooding-Rupert game for the district title. Aside from this contest there are few games during the coming week that will attract interest. Perhaps the Twin Falls-Sheridan game will excite more interest than any other with many teams having open dates for their week end. Jerome will meet Wendell, Albion high school at Kimberly, Cullford at Hazelton and Declo at Hansen are the games scheduled. Clonding was scheduled to meet Shoshone but the title contest cancelled that game and Filer had a contest scheduled with Rupert. It is possible that one of these games may be played but not likely as it would make two games in one week for either Gooding or Rupert and unless a title is at stake a double-bill does not meet the approval of the officials.

NORWEGIAN SAILOR IS HERO OF SEA TRAGEDY

Chief Mate, Graduate of Georgetown University Risks His Life to Quench Flames.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—A tall Norwegian sailor who went to sea to "build bank roll" was hailed today as the hero of an explosion which tore the bow off the tanker Beta, killing three of her crew and severely burning a fourth yesterday.

He was Chief Mate G. A. Larsen, graduate of Georgetown university who tackled his life after the blast to climb down over the shattered bow through the gaping hole and train a fire hose on the floor of the burning hold.

"Sure," he said, "we knew there might be another explosion but somebody had to get down there and put out the fire before it spread to oil fumes in the next compartment. That's all there was to it."

Keefe, Chief Him "We," he explained, included himself and Bow's James O'Keefe, who followed him down the Jacob's ladder to keep the hose clear of large pieces of steel projecting from deck to waterline of the Beta's bow.

Larsen explained that he had graduated from the school of foreign service at Georgetown university, but found himself "broke" after only two courses. He went to sea, he said, to save money and complete a study of the expert business.

Captain J. B. Kehon, master of the tanker, said he could not tell what had caused the explosion.

"I think we struck a hidden war mine," he said, "Maybe it's stretch, but I've seen practice mines explode in war time and it was just like that."

THE SPORTS OF A DAY

TWIN FALLS BRUINS WILL MEET BURLEY AND SALT LAKE TEAM

Magio City High School Squad Has Two More Contests on Schedule for Present Year; Locals Win Fandom's Respect

The Twin Falls Bruins have two more games to complete the 1927 football season. Burley will come here on Friday and on Thanksgiving Granite high school, Salt Lake, will meet the Bruins on Lincoln field. Terms were agreed upon last week between the Salt Lake school and local officials for the Turkey day game. Local fans expressed a great deal of satisfaction over the action of local officials in scheduling the game. The Bruins suffered no injuries in the Nampa contest and will start the week of preparation for Burley in good condition. Although the Bruins have lost the last two games they have played, they have earned the universal respect of fandom in Twin Falls. Displaying intestinal fortitude of a high order every member of the Bruin squad has put every thing he possessed into each contest. The three mucksters of the Bruins, Warde, Robertson and Perrine with an aggregate weight of 399 pounds and an average weight of 133 pounds have been placed to watch in the last two contests. Perrine has justly earned a reputation as one of the most dangerous "line" runners in the district. The youngster is playing his second and last year for the Bruins and his long and long dashes around opposing wingmen have provided many a thrill for the spectators.

Warde Earns Reputation as Bruin's Heavy Hitter
Bruins has earned a reputation for being one of the hardest hitting backs in the district. For his weight he probably hits harder than any other Bruin back. Tim Robertson, playing his last season was the sensation of the Nampa contest. Knocking down from impossible angles and snaring one of Walls heaves with one hand in the Bruin attack, burst open in the Bruin yard column. Wall is not in the weight class with the three mucksters tipping the beam around 170 pounds and the forward walls that have felt his weight this season will be recalled for a long time. The big boy might be styled Ivan, the Terrible, and many an opposing back has thought of worse than this after being socked by the red head behind the line of scrimmage.

Bruin Backfield Good
The Bruin backfield of this season is one of the best balanced that has represented Twin Falls in several years. Their work has earned attention in every game of the season. Starting the season with a team that was touted as having little chance to play with a chance of Perrine getting away around the ends the Bruins have developed an aerial attack that any team may well fear. It defeated Filer and accounted for much yardage in the Gooding game and again against Nampa the Bruin attack through the air was deadly effective. The game this coming Friday with Burley will find the Bruins up against a heavy team with heavy backs. The Bruin team is much on the same style as Nampa and it will again be a case of speed against strength. The Bruin forward wall will face a severe test again, one that the youngsters have met with success in meeting without obligation to your home. Sensational performance. GOODING AND RUPERT SQUADS TO FIGHT FOR SOUTH CENTRAL TITLE

Toone and Sanford to Meet in Titular Battle; Spectacular Contest Looms; Both Aggregations in Good Condition.

Gooding and Rupert will battle for the district championship next Tuesday, November 15, at Jerome on the fairgrounds field. The game is called for 2:30. Rupert kept her record clear last week by sending a last minute defeat to Burley after the game had twice been tied. Gooding has not played since the Twin Falls contest and is in excellent condition for the contest. The game promises to be one of the most spectacular of the season. Toone and Sanford meet as opposing backs. Sanford has earned the reputation of a speedster in the east end of the district with his backers claiming he is as fast as Toone. The Gooding lad has demonstrated his speed in many a grid contest in the district and has made many a coach prematurely gray in trying to devise ways and means of stopping him. Toone has a capable running mate this season. Although not possessing the speed, Prince is a hard hitting back that counts through the line. Golocoches who holds the quarter berth on the Gooding team is another hardy lad that makes his presence felt. The Saxton made one of the prettiest catches of a Bruin punt seen this season and caused considerable trouble all around. Sanford like Toone has a running mate with heavier bulk in J. Nobby and the big lad was making a name for himself until he received a fractured collar bone last week in practice. His absence from the field next Tuesday will be felt. The forward walls of the two teams apparently are well matched. They will weigh about the same, man for man, and both contain experienced men. The battle Tuesday will no doubt be of true championship caliber and fans from all over the district are planning to attend. Andy Caffey of the Utah aggies will referee and Rich Fox, freshman football coach and varsity basketball coach at the University of Idaho, will umpire.

DRIBBLE SCHEME IN FOR TESTS IN 1928

Most Distinctive Feature of Great Indoor Game Will Be Tried Out Throughout Nation.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—Basketball is the dribble—the most distinctive feature of the game—is limited to a single bounce will be tried out all over the country this winter, if the advice of the joint rules committee is heeded. The scheme of the dribble was embodied in the rules by the central governing body last April but was "deferred" for a year because of a controversy which arose wherever basketball is played. Believing the restricted dribble will encourage passing and speed up the game, the committee has urged basketball players and coaches everywhere to experiment with the proposed new style of play and send in their conclusions to guide the action of the governing body at the end of the season. In other respects basketball players this season will find this youngest of popular sports little changed. A note inserted in the rules urging teams not to use numbers one and two in numbering players, and another change in the rules which is to be tested up between two players the while is not to be blown except at the discretion of a referee at a period or after time out.

Trojans Win From California Eleven

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 12 (AP)—A Rocky mountain football blizzard melted under the shadow of the palms here today when University of Southern California pushed off University of Colorado by a score of 46 to 7.

Wentzler's and Borstorf's brilliant forward passing and Eganelli's potent boot under punts led the day as others have done against Troy's powerful straight football. For the spectators the thrill of the game came during the second period when Colorado shoved southern California's great first string team all over the lot and held its heavy scoring captain, Morley Drury, for no gains until Troy lost the ball on downs. Two years ago. Nothing much was said, but last season he was turned over to V. P. K. freshmen coach. Davis reported to the varsity this season and was ordered out to practice when it was discovered the supply room was without shoes large enough to fit him. "Wee Willie," as he is known, cut the toes out of a pair of number thirteens to practice in, but was kept out of the regular games until suitable shoes could be manufactured.

GRID MEN TAUGHT TO DISREGARD FICKLE CROWD BY YALE MENTOR

(By The Associated Press) NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 12.—Football is a game and a sport, not a spectacle; that is the message that has been preached to several classes of football players by "Tad" Jones, now serving his last season as head football coach at Yale. Jones has taught his players that the roar of the crowd is of minor consequence and that the cheers of today are the "boo" of tomorrow. "Put the game above everything else," he urged, "because Yale men admired Jones and respected his teachings, they did. The result of his teachings has made his teams a 'glorious in defeat' as in victory, although that phrase has been used sometimes more in sarcasm than in sincerity. The doctrine Jones preached to the teams he has followed himself in his capacity as coach. While the efficacy of his methods sometimes has been questioned, no one has questioned his sincerity or the results he has attained with the individual player. Just before he developed the great Mallory, he was the subject of severe criticism, not only in print but whenever Yale graduates met, but he kept on plugging. And when he turned out an invincible team, the tide of criticism turned to praise, but he paid no more attention to one than to the other. He has taken heart-breaking losses of material, due to scholastic standing, along with the other "breaks" and offered no alibi. The difference between the methods of Haughton, Harvard's famous coach, and Jones has been a subject of conversation wherever football fans have gathered. Those who have studied both methods say that Haughton's goal was a football machine whereas Jones was content to build up the individual player. "That Jones' method was at least partly successful was attested to by the number of games in which Yale was triumphant through the work of an individual. Jones leaves Yale for one reason alone and that is pressure of business. He wanted to quit earlier this year. He asked the faculty to accept his resignation in the spring, but he was prevailed on to "think it over" during the summer. He has thought over and decided that football's demand upon his time is too great.

YALE: SNATCHES VICTORY FROM PRINCETON

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 12.—Yale snatched victory from Princeton today, 14 to 6, with a sensational second period rally that turned the tide with dramatic swiftness just when it seemed that the big Princeton machine was stalled and powerless to score without the aid of its ineffectual cog, Bruce Caldwell. With as thrilling a finish as these ancient rivals have ever put on, the Elis came from behind with a sudden display of aerial fireworks, scoring both their touchdowns with not much more than five minutes to go and with Princeton seemingly putting up a stone wall barrier to keep the six point margin gained in the second quarter when Eddie Wittmer dashed over for a touchdown. With an electrical suddenness that lent most of the vast crowd of 76,000 in the Yale bowl into a delirious frenzy, Johnny Hoben, standing on Princeton's 47 yard line, hurled a long pass to Dwight Flatwick, giant end, who faced 25 yards for the first blue touchdown. Truman Cox, big full-back, booted the goal that put Yale into the lead and clinched the game, but the Elis, now rampant, rushed over another touchdown as Charlesworth recovered a fumble on the figure 20 yard mark and Bill Hennessey, in Caldwell's place, reeled off the remaining distance to the goal line in a series of short thrusts.

INQUEST EXONERATES AUTOMOBILE DRIVER

Investigation Relieves Jerome Man of Blame in Collision That Caused Woman's Death,

JEROME, Nov. 12 (Special to The News)—Charles Miller, driver of the car which collided with the automobile driven by George Johnson about 6 o'clock last night, resulting in the death of Mrs. Francis Peterson, 36, was released after investigation by a coroner's jury here today. The jury held the accident to be unavoidable and Miller not criminally responsible for the death of Mrs. Peterson.

E. D. Reynolds, county attorney, stated this evening that in view of the inquest finding, no charges would be preferred in the case.

Mr. and Mrs. Peterson and George Johnson had driven to view the new Twin Falls-Jerome bridge in Johnson's car and were returning to their homes in Jerome when they were struck by the car driven by Miller and owned by C. W. Allen. The cars struck a glancing blow which threw the Johnson car completely around. Mrs. Peterson was thrown from the open car, striking her head in the fall.

Officials of the Twin Falls county hospital, where Mrs. Peterson was taken for treatment, stated that a fracture of the base of the skull had been received in the accident. Mrs. Peterson died shortly after her arrival at the hospital.

Johnson received a broken collar bone and several fractured ribs in the same accident and was confined in his home yesterday.

Mrs. Peterson is survived by her husband and three children, a son 17 years of age and two younger daughters. The body lies at the L'Herrison mortuary at Jerome.

KANSAS CITY TOWN OF MANY ATHLETICS

With Lifting of Ban on Race Track Betting and Boxing in Missouri Spot Becomes Noted

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 12 (AP)—With the lifting of the ban on race track betting and boxing in Missouri, Kansas City has become a sports center of this section.

The "bang-tails" invaded the Smithville track for a 30-day meet immediately after the supreme court's ruling permitting "contributions" betting, two dog racing courses took form in Clay county nearby, and a half dozen organizations interested themselves in the promotion of flat boat races.

The Smithville meet drew an average of 3000 persons a day, between 2500 and 3000 lined the greyhound tracks nightly, and still larger numbers flocked to the ring affairs.

Several thousand persons each week motor either to Lawrence, Kansas, or Columbia, Missouri, to see the state university football games. Immediately after the football season the crowds turn to basketball with enthusiasm.

Now Kansas City is planning for the annual tournament of the American Bowling congress next spring. The goal for Boosters teams here is 1500, 300 more than the record established by Buffalo several years ago.

It has been announced that a Kansas City club of the American Hockey association would begin a season here January 2. Three former members of the Duluth "Hornets" have been signed to play with the club.

FRENCH TENNIS "MUSKETEERS" SEEK REST OF WORLD TITLES

PARIS, Nov. 12 (AP)—France's tennis "musketeers" apparently are set on gathering in all the championships within reach.

The Australian championship is the goal for which Jean Borotra and Jacques Brugnon are striving on the tour which will take them to Brazil, Argentine, Chili, Australia and South Africa.

Should they succeed, France will hold the hitherto unparalleled record of having won within the year every major tennis championship in the world, besides capturing the Davis cup.

Rene Lacoste won the French championship at Saint Cloud in May and the American championship at Forest Hills, N. Y., in September. In both cases William T. Tilden was his opponent. Henri Cochet, the other member of the four "musketeers," was the winner at Wimbledon, England, in July.

Christian Boustaud, 17-year-old tennis sensation of France, is accompanying Brugnon and Borotra.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 12 (AP)—Because "the water looked too cold" Mrs. Minnie Rieck changed her mind at the last minute today after she had resolved to end her life in the harbor.

Her husband, Joseph, asserted that he returned home to find a note telling of her resolve and indicating the exact spot where her body could be found.

Laughing for the first time in months, Rieck said, Mrs. Rieck informed him that "the water looked too cold."

Congregation Visits Franciscan Monastery

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—For the first time in church history, as far as the Rev. Mons. B. Lovell has been able to determine, a Protestant group has completed the entire congregation in a regularly consecrated Catholic church.

This service was one of a series of eight Thursday evening visits to various religious and social service institutions by Washington planned by Mr. Lovell as pastor of the Mount Pleasant congregational church. "To bring enlightenment to many as to the work of other organizations" in Christian and other ethical fields.

More than 200 Protestants attended the Catholic service. It was conducted in the chapel of the Franciscan monastery with a sermon on Saint Francis of Assisi specially prepared by the Rev. Paschal Kiniski.

After Father Kiniski's sermon, the Knights of Mount Saint Sepulchre guided the visitors through the catacombs and shrines of the monastery.

Boys Get "Beat" From "Big Train"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—In leaving the ranks of active baseball players, as in leading them, Walter Johnson thought first of the boys.

Reporters and friends were eagerly awaiting his decision whether to sign the contract with the Newark Bears of the International League. All day his telephone was ringing or "busy." All day he replied that he would have "something to say in a few days."

But that night he was making a little talk over the radio to boys.

When he felt their presence on the invisible side of the microphone he told them all about it. Not many of them realized they were getting a choice news "beat."

Not until the radio station had signed off were the reporters and friends able to get the "Big Train" to open up that he had signed to manage the Bears.

BADE RUTH HAS 416 HOME RUNS AS FRUIT OF TIME IN MAJORS

Bambino's Circuit Clouds Double Those of His Nearest All-Time Rival; Williams Comes Next With 234 in 10 Years.

(By The Associated Press) NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—With a lifetime total of 416 home runs, the fruit of 18 years in the majors, Babe Ruth towers over the baseball domain far in advance of all rivals as the acknowledged king of home hitters.

In slugging his way to a new record for home runs with 60 during the 1927 campaign, the Yankee $70,000 star just doubled the number achieved by the National league's home run leader, Cy Williams of the Phillies.

Williams, however, is Ruth's nearest competitor, for in 18 years on the "big time" the Philadelphia outfield star has produced 234 homers.

Right handers or left handers, home diamond or foreign field, it makes any difference to the famous Bambino.

Against 21 right handed pitchers this past season the Babe knocked off 41 circuit belts, cleaving his other 19 four-baggers off 11 southpaws.

In 1927 Williams, the Philadelphia slugger, totaled 232 off right-handers, 134 off left-handers.

Babe found his former teammates in the Boston Red Sox soft pickings, connecting for 11 drives. Babe Williams, however, had the same mission of the Braves were the biggest victims of Ruth's bat, each yielding four homers.

His output of home runs, more than half of his season's total, outside of the Yankee stadium disproved the usual notion of a pitcher's advantage playing on Colonel Jack Ruppert's yard.

His output covered every American league city. He planted 28 at the stadium, eight in Boston, five in Philadelphia, four in each park at Washington, Cleveland, Detroit and St. Louis and three in Chicago.

As to pitchers, the titanic batter knocked 11 off Boston hurlers, nine off the Browns, nine off the Athletics, nine off the Indians, eight off the Senators, eight off the Tigers and six off the White Sox.

The Detroit Tigers have been the source of most of Babe's long drives. Of his total of 416, 75 have been achieved off Bengel pitching, George Davis was picked more than any other American league pitcher, slugging 14 off his delivery over a period of years.

As to the round trip with the bases loaded has been unusual for Ruth. Throughout his eight seasons in the Yankee uniform he has connected with the sacks filled only five times.

STANFORD LOSES STANFORD STADIUM, Nov. 12 (AP)—The kicking loss of Guido Sindler and his forward pass catching and throwing ability of Captain Bud Cummings turned what was expected to be a easy game for the conference leading Stanford university Cardinals into a 13-0 defeat at the hands of Santa Clara university here today.

Cougars and Coyotes Harming More Game Than Hunters Could

BOISE, Nov. 12 (AP)—Cougars and coyotes are doing more harm to game in the Loon creek section near Challis than the hunters ever could. A. E. Kelly, Custer county deputy, reported today to R. E. Thomas, state game warden, in announcing the kill of the first cougar this season, a nine-foot female, by George Frankin, predatory animal hunter.

Deputy Kelly recommended the placing of restrictions on the taking of salmon as the run of salmon was light this year in the Salmon river and its tributaries. Mountain sheep are making a substantial increase, deer are holding their own in numbers, despite the killing of 800 by hunters, but mountain goats are decreasing, Mr. Kelly said. He recommended a closed season on mountain goats until the animals increase in number.

ALBERT FALL LEAVES FOR WESTERN HOME

Former Interior Secretary Off to New Mexico Ranch to Get Ready for Trial in January.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Albert B. Fall said good-bye to Washington tonight with a lurking presentiment that his trial here in January will not be strong enough to turn him homeward again. A few hours before train time, the 66-year-old former interior secretary received an Associated Press reporter in the hotel room where he has been held since last week. He said his intention was to go to his New Mexico ranch, so that he might build himself up to be able to return here on January 16, the day set for a new trial of the Teapot Dome case in which he is a defendant with Harry F. Sinclair.

Wants Chance "I would like to feel that there is more than an even chance for my ever returning home to Idaho," Fall continued, "but I think there is only a 50-50 chance. I shall come, if it is possible, to see my family in Idaho, and as far as possible, to clear my name. I had not the slightest idea that any detectives had been hired to investigate 'Juror,' he said. 'This whole thing was absolutely new to me, and at no time was the matter mentioned in my presence. Mr. Sinclair never intimated to my knowledge of such activities, if he ever knew. During the trial, I visited his room only one afternoon and he was in my room only a few minutes.'

EPISCOPAL BISHOPS RECOMMEND GREATER USE OF LAY PREACHERS

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—A great use of lay preachers is one of several revolutionary changes proposed by a board of eight Episcopal bishops for the denomination's work in rural districts of the United States.

The bishops report, which is being sent to leaders of the denomination throughout the country, urged that the Episcopal church adopt a book of simple services for use in country districts in place of the accepted prayer book.

Such a volume has been compiled by Bishop Robert C. Jett of Virginia, it was revealed. "Findings of the board, which has studied the rural problem for many months, will be laid before the Episcopal house of bishops."

The service books prepared by Bishop Jett contain services of morning and evening prayer printed consecutively, with explanations and clarifications to meet the needs of rural residents and those unfamiliar with the form of service of the Episcopal church now in use.

The group of eight bishops recommended that theological seminaries include in their curricula definite courses in rural work and that the National Episcopal council provide funds for sending theological students into rural sections during the summer months for training in strictly rural work.

These recommendations, if adopted, would help solve the problem of bringing religion to the farmer and his family, it was said.

Those joining in the recommendations were Bishop George W. Davenport of Maryland, Bishop S. D. Booth of Vermont, Bishop Nathan A. Sarna of Florida, Bishop Jett, Bishop Campbell Gray of Indiana, Bishop John C. White of Springfield, Illinois; Bishop David L. Ferris of Buffalo and Bishop Warren L. Rogers of Ohio.

COURT HEARS CLAIMS IN FILLING STATION LITIGATION DEBATED

Constitutional Question Is Raised in Suits Involving Oil Company's Effort to Install Plant Near School.

Questions of law and fact were argued before Judge Egan A. Baker in two suits yesterday in the circuit court. The suits involve the right of the Continental Oil Company to place a filling station within 100 feet of the Washington school in violation of the Twin Falls ordinance. Judge Baker took the case under advisement.

School Case First

The argument opened at 9 o'clock Saturday morning when Judge James C. Bothwell, in behalf of Twin Falls district, argued that the ordinance was unconstitutional. The district was entitled to an injunction against the installation of the station on the ground that it had an interest in the enforcement of the ordinance. The ordinance, he argued, was to be treated as valid until affirmatively shown to be unconstitutional or void by the oil company. W. Orr Chapman contended that the station at the school where it was proposed to install it was dangerous in fact.

Company Disputes Contention

Judge E. A. Walters of the firm of Walters and Parsons, representing the oil company, denying the conclusions of the lawyers for the district. He asserted that the ordinance was not dangerous and contended that the school district had no such interest in the matter as would permit it to maintain a suit, and that it should be thrown out of court.

In the injunction suit of the company to prevent city interference with the installation of the plant, Judge Walters opened with the argument that the ordinance was unconstitutional.

He said that the sole question involved was whether its provisions were reasonable. The courts had power to inquire into this. He pointed out that the ordinance was unconstitutional because it was an interference with the property rights of the oil company. He argued that the ordinance was not a public use and that it was an interference with the property rights of the oil company.

City Attorney Pleads Statute

City attorney J. P. Parry argued that the ordinance was a public use and that it was a valid exercise of the police power. He argued that the ordinance was a public use and that it was a valid exercise of the police power.

Lorelei of Rhine in Path of Relay Swim

Fishermen along the Rhine look upon the Lorelei as something more than a great rocky cliff or a legend which they heard in doubt when they heard of proposals for a swimming relay race in the famous river from Basle to Cologne next summer.

The Lorelei, near St. Goar, takes its name from Helen's poem telling of a beautiful maiden reclining on the rock who charmed all men who heard her voice. She is said to have lured them to their doom. Her name is said to be of Celtic origin, but her name is said to be of Celtic origin.

Salesmen Are Called "Infantry" of Trade

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 12 (AP)—The various modern methods of sales appeal may have their advantages, but in the end it is the old reliable, satchel carrying, office busting salesman who gets the business, the lumber industry has decided.

They are called the "infantry of trade," which, like the infantry in warfare, never has been displaced as the main reliance.

"Trade extension managers," John M. Gibbs, himself manager for the lumber industry's five-year program of trade extension, has informed lumber dealers, "can fire the heavy artillery of promotion and extension organization, order up the machine gun in the form of advertising and resort to a hundred stratagems of trade development, but there will be no 'mopping up' until the infantry of trade, the old reliable salesman, come up and capture the dotted line with a rush."

President of Chamber of Commerce of United States Points Out Relief Requirements.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—Lewis E. Pierson, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States of America, in a communication sent to all organization members of the chamber, urges them to "lend every possible support to the Red Cross campaign which is to be conducted throughout the country in the period between November 13 and 24."

President Pierson's statement follows: "For many months the country has been stricken by the worst of the American Red Cross in dealing with the Mississippi flood. The splendid generosity and cooperation of the business men of the country enabled the Red Cross to adequately meet this great disaster.

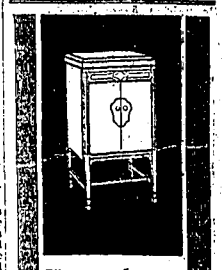

Other disasters, however, that at the same time the Red Cross was dealing with at no additional cost. In 11 states, some very large, some small, all requiring Red Cross assistance of a substantial character. The demands upon the Red Cross have increased year by year and are still increasing. During the past year this organization—which is the agency of the people and a semi-official arm of the government of the United States, to deal with disasters and other matters committed to it by congress, aided in 17 disasters this country and in 21 in foreign countries. To accomplish this enormous task requires the support of a large popular membership, an effective organization and large resources."

In the judgment of his national officers, the Red Cross, adequate to keep faith with the people and the government, must have a larger membership and a larger annual income from membership dues.

"The Chamber of Commerce of the United States of America is heartily in sympathy with the national and international work of this great organization and bespeaks the generous cooperation of the business men of the nation in the efforts of the Red Cross to increase its membership to a minimum of 5,000,000. You will, I am confident, rally to this call and lend every possible support to the Red Cross in its annual membership campaign which is to be conducted throughout the country in the period between November 13 and 24."

SHIPPING PICKS-UP AT CLOSE OF WEEK

Forty Carloads of Products Billied Out During Day; Spuds Unhurt by Frost.

Shipping picked up somewhat Saturday at Twin Falls and in the evening. P. E. Overman, shippers' agent, said that the total billings would be almost if not quite 40 cars. Potatoes are going out somewhat more rapidly than the volume may increase next week, some shippers believe.

The potato crop was not injured by the low temperature of 20 degrees Thursday night, several growers said yesterday. E. L. Turner, dealer, said that though the majority fell five degrees lower, not during the previous cold snap, no potatoes were hurt which had not been previously frost bitten and those constituted only a small per cent of spuds still in the ground.

General sessions will be held on the second day.

The committee in charge of arrangements for the meeting here was formed at a meeting here yesterday attended by Mr. Gibson; R. E. Shepherd of Jerome, president of the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce; T. Clyde Bacon of Twin Falls, president, and Donald McLean, Twin Falls, secretary of the Idaho Wool Growers' association; W. F. MORSIER STOREKEEPER SAYS FLIER DAUGHTER ALWAYS ADVENTUROUS

Restless Urge for Adventure and Thrill of the Unknown Always Have Lured Mrs. Frances Wilson Grayson.

(By The Associated Press) MUNCIE, Ind., Nov. 12.—The restless urge of adventure and the thrill of the unknown always have lured Mrs. Frances Wilson Grayson, American-born Danish flier, says A. J. Wilson, her father, who operates a grocery and general store here.

"Frances and I always were great pals," he said. "In her girlhood days when I would arrive home from the store, she was up and going the minute I opened the door. She was never satisfied to be still. She wanted action all the time, and generally found it."

Mrs. Grayson left Muncie eight years ago. She was graduated from the grade and high schools here and from the Eastern Indiana Normal school. She settled down to be a teacher of dramatic art and education, but her restless blood asserted itself and she left the town where she had lived all her life.

Muncie has been keenly interested in her activities in the air, and the Wilson grocery, with its shelves of canned goods and groceries, has been a convenient place to get information concerning her.

Housewives learned the latest word of Frances when they bought a pound of sugar. "Why, she is bound to win," Walter Wilson, her brother, would say. "That kind of a flight in a combination of air and sea is safer than making the trip by boat."

Mrs. Grayson was married seven years ago to John B. Grayson of Warrenton, Virginia, a cousin of Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson. They lived in Warrenton for a time. Four years after their marriage they were divorced.

For several years Mrs. Grayson has engaged in the real estate business in her work. She became interested in aviation and with Mrs. Anne, a sportswoman of Alken, S. C., who backed her air efforts, formed the Ancker-Grayson Aircraft Corporation.

NEW GEOGRAPHY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—The Shetland Islands, long famous for their ponies and hand-knit shawls, rank among the important fishing centers of the British Isles. More than 1000 little steamers, from 40,000 to 50,000 tons of herring are exported annually, not to mention tons of codfish, haddock, and whale oil.

There are more than 100 islands in the group of which only 29 are inhabited. They lie about 110 miles north of Scotland and less than twice that distance from the coast of Norway. They belonged to Norway after Harold Haarfagr, its first king, conquered the Hebrides, the islands' early settlers, in 875.

Later James II of Scotland loaned Christian I of Norway and Denmark enough money to pay a dowry to his wife and took the Shetlands securely. Christian never cancelled the loan, according to the records of the National Geographic Society.

Lerwick, the Shetland capital, is the chief fishing port. It lies on the east coast of Mainland island, surrounding a splendid harbor where often more than 1000 little steamers, from 40,000 to 50,000 tons of herring are exported annually, not to mention tons of codfish, haddock, and whale oil.

Although it is the largest town on the islands it has a single street that runs along the shore. Nine islands are row lanes leading off to the houses on the hillside are provided with ropes to prevent pedestrians from slipping in icy weather.

The curing and packing plants of Lerwick present neither an inviting odor nor appearance. After the car goes off fish have been sold at auction they are taken to a long table lined with women who clean them for curing. Near-by there are "barrels" of barrels awaiting shipment.

Scalloway, the old capital, while only a town of about 100 inhabitants, is also an important fish port. Scalloway is also on Mainland, the largest island in the Shetlands. More than 50 miles long and 20 miles wide, long "tongues" of water pierce the coast line so far inland that there is no place on the island more than three miles from full water.

One can see the remains of a few Pict towers, and the quaint stone houses in which the famous Shetland knit work is making. The islands are almost treeless and their surface of peat and stone make profitable farming impossible. Only about one-sixth of the islands' 531 square miles is under cultivation. The women, who do the farm work with the aid of ponies, have some success with turnips, cabbage and potatoes. Ten acres is considered a large farm.

East of the northernmost island, has been called the garden spot of the Shetlands. It is more fertile than the others and not quite so desolate. It is on this that many of the best patterns are derived from designs taught them by Spaniards who were shipwrecked on Fair in 1586.

Old Letter Adjuces Ann Rutledge to Study

JACKSONVILLE, Ill., Nov. 12 (AP)—Long before co-education came into vogue Abraham Lincoln's first sweetheart received the sage advice from her brother: "Spare no time from improving your mind."

A letter written to Ann Rutledge in 1803 has just come into possession of Illinois college here. David Rutledge, the brother, was a student at the college. The letter was dated "College Hill, July 27, 1833," and said: "Valued, Sister: So far as I can understand, Miss Graves will teach another school in the Diamond Grove. I am glad to hear that you have a notion of coming to school, and I earnestly recommend to you that you would spare no time from improving your education and mind. Remember that time is worth more than all gold, therefore throw away none of your golden moments. I add no more, but etc."

"D. H. Rutledge." The letter was bequeathed to Illinois college in a collection of Lincoln relics left by the late Henry D. Rankin, Springfield author of several books on Lincoln.

Letter Machines Do All Except Posting

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—A new automatic office appliance placed on the market recently eliminates about everything except the postman in handling office correspondence. The device weighs a letter, determines and affixes the postage and seals the envelope. Its use in conjunction with older machines which write the address, salutation, fac-simile signature and even a carbon of the letter itself, and then fold the letter and place it in the envelope, leaves only the post-man to do his stuff by hand. The machine, however, is too fast and too expensive for use except in offices having voluminous outgoing mail.

Story Books Lent Children at Church

THURCO, England, Nov. 12 (AP)—The cathedral churches in England have adopted the custom of setting aside an altar for children.

In Thuro cathedral, beside the children's altar, is a shelf on which Bible stories and models illustrating them are placed. The models, however, are too small and too expensive for use except in offices having voluminous outgoing mail.

There are vases which children are expected to keep filled with fresh flowers. A notice at the altar requests the children to read the books and then kneel down and say a prayer before leaving the church.

Aimee's Followers Plan Iowa College

DES MOINES, Iowa, Nov. 12 (AP)—Followers of Aimee Semple McPherson in Des Moines will open a Bible college here soon after January 1. It has been announced by the Rev. Willard H. Pope, pastor of the Des Moines gospel tabernacle and president of the Iowa Synod of the United Lutheran Church in America.

The board of control of the tabernacle, although having no official connection with Mrs. McPherson's church, has notified her it would consider promoting the "gospel light-house" idea in Des Moines.

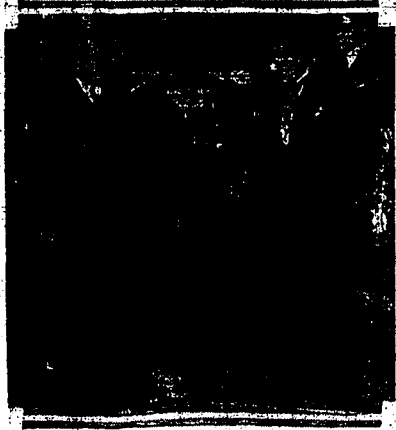

The new college, to be called the Des Moines Bible Institute and Missionary Training school, will open in time to complete a semester's work during the present school year. A faculty of 10 has been selected, a two-year course will be offered and special instruction given to those without high school training.

Church history, Bible doctrines, homiletics, public speaking, English and vocal and instrumental music will be taught.

REFUSES TO ACCEPT RESIGNATION OF PASTOR, 50 YEARS WITH CHURCH

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 12 (AP)—Death is the only form of resignation which the Second English Lutheran Congregation of Louisville is willing to accept from the Rev. Harlan K. Penner, its pastor for 50 years. Tribute to his long service was paid at the Evansville convention of the Indiana Synod of the United Lutheran Church in America.

The 77-year-old preacher is still a vigorous speaker and active worker. The son of a Lutheran minister, the Rev. Simon Penner, Dr. Penner was born at Mansfield, Ohio. Beginning "at the bottom" as sexton of his father's church, for which he annually received $40, he paid his way through Wittenberg College and Seminary by playing a cabinet organ for church services on Sunday and giving private lessons on the piano during the week. An organist he received $100 a year.

"Looking back over his fifty-five years as a pastor, Dr. Penner is firm in the belief that young people today are just as active in church work as they ever were." Dr. Penner still takes an active interest in the girls' and boys' basketball teams of his Sunday school and often goes to watch them play. This does the 77-year-old "man of God" continue to minister to his congregation, preaching to them "what I must declare the Gospel. The preacher must declare the Gospel, but the Gospel always fits."

PROMOTER GOES TO JAIL

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 12 (AP)—Not content with sending E. G. Lewis, promoter extraordinary, to prison for six months and fining him $15,000 the government has brought against him another mail fraud charge alleging a separate offense.

On this one Lewis, who is said to have raised $100,000,000 in his various promotion projects in several parts of the country, is held to answer for his alleged promise of oil well interests to persons knowing him large sums of money.

Lewis is known for his promotion of University City, a suburb of St. Louis, and of Atascadero, Calif., and Palmdale, Calif. His recent sentence was in connection with life subscriptions to a magazine, which promises of oil well interests and other incentives to subscribe, the government contends, were not carried out.

Good Insurance Risks need no longer pay for the Bad—

Careful selection of risks is the approved and efficient principle in fire insurance. If your property is in good condition and you keep it free from unnecessary fire hazards, you should not be called upon to pay the fire losses of the careless, the indifferent, the criminally negligent. GENERAL INSURANCE COMPANY OF AMERICA accepts only the good risks. Let the poor risk owners either put their property in good condition—or let them join together and pay the higher insurance rates that their indifference makes necessary. Participating policies in the GENERAL enable you to profit by your own carefulness and that of thousands of other conscientious property owners that are with you in the GENERAL. Dividends to policyholders have never been less than 20%. With $1,000,000 capital stock paid in and over $1,000,000 surplus, the GENERAL is one of the strongest full stock insurance companies in America; its officers and directors are among the business leaders of the Pacific Northwest. As insurance specialists of years' standing we recommend GENERAL policies for GOOD risks.

BUILDS NEW CHURCH WHICH WILL NOT VIE WITH SKYSCRAPERS

Giant Modern Buildings Are Imposing New Problems on Designer of Houses for Worship.

(By The Associated Press) NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Modern skyscrapers in the city are imposing new problems on church designers, believes Hardie Phillip, architect of the new Church of the Heavenly Rest and Belmont Chapel, now rising opposite the Carnegie mansion here.

"We know that some day the church will be surrounded by apartments and office buildings," says Mr. Phillip. "For this reason it seemed unwise to attempt a spire or tower, which would ultimately be dwarfed and crushed by gigantic masses of stone rising a short distance away.

"It is our hope, rather, that the new church will have a distinctive design of its own. We felt that to build a 14th century Gothic church amid the confines of a skyscraper community would be an out of place as the Taj Mahal on Times Square.

Mr. Phillip believes that in the outlying suburban districts or in the cities, where space is less cramped, the tower and spire may still play their part. The skyward tilt of the traditional church has, however, been retained in the design for the new structure.

The focal point of the interior is the altar and its background, the reredos. A feature of the church is the absence of the usual organ case. No organ pipes will be visible, and the organ will be heard through stone screens. The vaulted ceilings will be of acoustic tile, enabling every occupant of the church to hear perfect sound without echo.

The building will contain three units—the church, the chapel and the parish house. The church will play about 1,000 and the chapel about 200. Its cost will approximate two million dollars.

Old Persian Palace Is Found in Africa

NAIROBI, Africa, Nov. 12 (AP)—The ruins of the luxurious palace of a sultan, with harem and mosque adjacent, have been discovered in the remains of the City of Ged, north of Mombasa.

Ged lies in a dense forest and is a city of unknown age. Walls peer through avenues of trees and giant creepers hold together the crumbling fragments of roofless dwellings, whose inhabitants probably lived more than a thousand years ago.

LORD MAYOR FEASTS ON BANANAS IMPORTED BY ROME FOR MONKEYS

ROME, Nov. 12 (AP)—The most novel reception given by Prince Poterziani, should take place at the zoo," he said, "we somewhat reduced the daily ration of bananas to those animals and the quantity thus saved was served in honor of Sir Rowland Blades."

The 15 guests, including ambassadors, ministers, aristocrats, and the most beautiful women of the Roman capital, enjoyed their meal despite the roar of lions, the laughing hyenas, the screams of parrots and the twitter of thousands of birds.

A cause of general surprise, however, was that among the fruit served were magnificent bananas, the importation of which has been rigorously prohibited for the last year on the ground that they are the means of introducing into the country insects which are harmful to plants.

The director of the gardens explained that the law extracting bananas from the Italian kingdom makes an exception in favor of the zoo because there are animals fed almost exclusively on bananas.

BOBS FOR TEACHERS FORBIDDEN IN JAPAN

Educators of Orient in Arms Over Order Issued by Ministry Regarding Hair Wearing.

TOKYO, Nov. 12 (AP)—Tokyo school teachers are in arms over an order issued by the ministry of education that instructors will not be permitted to wear bobbed hair. Those who have already submitted to the shears must let their locks grow or resign their job. Any future bobbing, according to the authorities, will be met with instant dismissal.

The officials who supervise the Japanese schools are unanimous in the opinion that bobbed hair and "dangrous thoughts" frequently go together. Teachers with short locks they say, have an undesirable influence upon the ideas of girls in the elementary schools. The short skirt and diaphanous stockings are barred irrevocably. The "modern girl" is not wanted in the schools and there is no mincing of words about it.

"We do not entirely condemn the tendency among women teachers to appear pretty and pleasing," says S.

Fuji, chief of the school affairs bureau, "but there are limits to the styles of hair dressing and the wearing of western clothes to which we will not submit. In addition we will not permit excessive powdering and painting.

Men teachers are also to be restricted in their choice of gaudy garments. Wide, flapping trousers, glaring neckties and other conspicuous dress will mean dismissal, officials assert.

Lions Nearly Extinct In Rocky Mountains

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Nov. 12 (AP)—The American mountain lion, cousin of the king of the African jungle, is nearing extinction in the Rocky Mountains. Federal and state hunters have killed 25 mountain lions in Wyoming during the last 11 years, and it is estimated that only eight or ten of the beasts remain in the state.

The mountain lion, whose lonely night cry, resembling the agonized screams of a woman, has sent chills down the spine of many a summer camper, takes an annual toll of deer, elk, calves, and colts estimated at more than $1,000.

Federal and state hunters charged with ridding the state of predatory animals killed 268 animals last month, the biological survey division reported.

Of this number 245 were coyotes, 18 bobcats, four bears and one lynx. The bobcat, a distant relative of the mountain lion, also is rapidly vanishing.

Wash Day Untimely For Call by Pastor

LONDON, Nov. 12 (AP)—A warning not to visit parliaments on Wash-day was made by the Right Reverend A. P. W. Ingram, bishop of London, to his clergy.

This warning started a very general investigation of "when is washday" in England. The consensus is that Monday is favored in a great majority of homes.

It has also been learned that Tuesday is a bad day for parish calls. It is ironing day, and the household is generally a bit upset.

A clergyman who decided to plead out his meagre salary by selling stockings and socks discovered that the housewife is generally at leisure and in a much better mood between 2 and 5 in the afternoon than she is in the morning.

The British housewife is also much more favorably disposed toward a well dressed peddler. When the clergyman appeared and neatly attired and represented that he was putting the prospective purchaser into direct touch with the silk mills by offering her hosiery for the entire family he was able to make commissions of $5 in an afternoon. But he had no success when he wore shabby clothes and told a tale of distress.

Formerly if a husband and wife who did not know the rule arrived at the Tavistock, the wife was put up at the Bedford hotel, now demolished, and the husband was given a room at the Tavistock.

Another old tradition of the Tavistock broke down during the war. It used to be the custom to drink tea on bowls, not cups, and to use both hands to the bowl. But during the war it became impossible to get tea-bowls, and cups came into fashion.

A famous feature of the old life of Tavistock was the Christmas dinner. A ball was held on "Boxing Night," when the bachelors met the female servants, who put on their best gowns and danced with the guests until supper time.

Rubber Bootleggers Upset Stevenson Act LONDON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Rubber smugglers are believed by experts in Mining Lane to be responsible for unexpectedly large shipments of rubber from British Malaya during August. At least 1,000 tons more rubber were exported than should have been under the Stevenson Limitation Act of the government.

Plans to prevent this bootlegging of rubber are under consideration. It is likely that export coupons will be limited to the three months for which the credits are granted. At present, estates with unused coupons may export in excess of the quota in force by using the carried over credits. This is declared to impede the market and makes it difficult to detect the dealers who are getting up to government requirements.

IDAHO RANKS SEVENTH IN SPUD PRODUCTION

Gem State Stands High But Falls Short by 1,000,000 Bushels in Certified Seed.

BOISE, Nov. 12—Idaho stands seventh among the states in the production of potatoes this season but falls short by about 1,000,000 bushels in producing enough certified seed potatoes to plant the state for a season's crop.

This information was given recently to R. E. Stephens, president of the Idaho state chamber of commerce, by E. H. Bennett, field horticulturist of the University of Idaho extension division.

Certification of seed potatoes is carried on by Mr. Bennett in cooperation with the state department of agriculture. Idaho's seed potatoes are unexcelled when produced under proper conditions, Mr. Bennett says, and are only certified to when they are within the limits prescribed for certified seed.

At the beginning of the season in Idaho 725 growers started out with fields of seed potatoes. The total acreage was over 8000. After two inspections by the state the number of growers whose crops were eligible for certification was 600. The total acreage was slightly over 5000. Mr. Bennett says he estimates there will be something over 500,000 bushels of certified seed produced in the state this year but it takes approximately 1,500,000 bushels to plant the state acreage. Thus there will be a shortage of certified seed.

Seed potatoes grow best in the higher valleys and the counties having the greater part of the acreage this year are Fremont, Teton, Lewis, Latah, Bonneville, Blingham, Bannock, Kootenai and Benewah. The seed should be planted late and whole seed variety recommended. Allow plenty of room for each hill and the result will be a large number of tubers to each vine.

No Children Remain In Old Mining Center ELKO, Nev., Nov. 12 (AP)—Tuscarora, once a thriving mining center of Nevada, with a population of upwards of 15,000, has withdrawn's public school because there are no children of school age within the district. Its residents now number about 60, none of whom is less than 20 years old.

Back in the 80's Tuscarora was prosperous. Money flowed freely, dance halls and gambling houses were numerous and a speedy trigger finger was a prerequisite to longevity.

IDAHO SINGERS COMPETE FOR FAME AND FORTUNE BOISE, Nov. 12—November 21 two young Idaho singers will compete at San Francisco with the best singers of the Coast. Fair chance of going on to New York and Washington, with large cash prizes and years in music conservatories is the reward for the contestants. Idahoans will tune in on KPO, November 21, to hear Winifred Atkinson and Ernest Peck. "The Voices of Idaho" and should vote for the best voices in that contest, the district Atwater Kent audition.

Nearly a score of Idaho communities were represented in the state Atwater Kent audition at Boise October 20. Miss Adeline Martineau of Coeur d'Alene won second place and Rosalie Margee of Nampa, third in the women's division. Dan Stephenson of Pocatello won second and Adelbert Jenkins of St. Anthony, third, in the young men's section.

The final contest in Idaho to discover new voices and to give them recognition in the field of music has been most successful, is the opinion of thousands of Idaho citizens who cast their ballots in choosing the winners and in the estimation of music lovers, the contest will be continued from year to year and Norman B. Adkiss, state manager, is arranging for better opportunity for all young singers to compete through district auditions, thus eliminating extra expense of coming to Boise, except for the final audition.

BROADWAY STAGE FINDS NEW STYL

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—Out of the obscure byways of Broadway a new face and voice has appeared to grace the dramatic stage. Katherine Maughan, heroine of "Hurlesque," came up from nowhere to score one of the first hits of the theatrical season.

Because no one along the Rialto had ever heard of her before, Miss Stanwyck was accepted as another example of "type" casting for which she had been a singing, dancing member of a night club chorus. Deciding to demonstrate, however, that she is not restricted to a single type of role, she hopes that Arthur Hopkins, producer of her current vehicle, will put on a social comedy for her in a Broadway production.

"The Second Mrs. Tangier," "Romeo," Maughan wrote in the "Liberator." "This is the first time more than three years ago—especially for Katherine Cornell, so the story goes." "Seasons ago," she writes, "I met with Maughan, and she immediately and laid the play on the self pending completion of her engagement in 'The Green Hat.'"

WHEAT QUOTATION UP; CORN PRICES SINKING

Canadian Government Reports and Work of Rust Damage in Argentina Boost Market.

CHICAGO, Nov. 12 (AP)—Wheat prices went up with a rush today, and the corn market came down equally fast. Canadian government reports and fresh word of damage by rust in Argentina lifted wheat. Washington official crop figures were the ruling force in the corn trade.

Closing quotations on wheat were firm, 2c to 2 1/2c net higher, with corn 2 1/2c to 2 3/4c off, oats 1/2c to 3/4c lower, and provisions unchanged to 60c up.

Primarily, the wheat market was faced today by the Canadian government estimate pointing to a reduction of 13,000,000 bushels since September in the expected yield of the three prairie provinces. Whereas a decided increase had of late been looked for by numerous traders.

Crop Damage Reports

Today's advice of about rust in Argentina said reports were current at Buenos Aires that the crop had been completely destroyed. The news was contained in a dispatch from a Chicago crop expert but did not appear to immediately hand the market.

Corn closed weak as a result of pessimism on the part of holders influenced by the bearish aspect of the government corn report. Besides, cold weather was reported as favorable for eradicating operations. Speculative buying, though, was of a free character at times, and some trade contracts final figures on corn may yet prove as much of an upset as the latest Canadian figures on wheat.

Oats reflected the action of wheat despite a reduction of 50,000,000 bushels in the Canadian oats crop as compared with two months ago.

Provisions were firmer owing to scattered buying.

SPIRITED BUYING CARRIES STOCKS UPWARD

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—Spirited buying in the stock market today carried the general level of prices upward. Some week-end profit taking in the last hour of the half day session checked the advance somewhat, but nevertheless many of the leading issues closed one to three points or more above yesterday's final figures, some of them at their peaks for the day.

Considerable optimism prevailed among operators for the advance as buyers, in part from 'outside, inspired by such favorable developments as President Sloan's optimistic forecast of next year's General Motors earnings, stiffening steel prices, and the increase in unfilled orders of the United States Steel corporation. Easy money conditions was a factor, emphasized by the ready receipt given varying new issues in the bond field.

Prospect of good business was again reflected by buoyancy of mercantile issues, such as Montgomery Ward, Woolworth, Sears Roebuck, Kaminung-wear and drug stores. All of which reached their highest prices of the year.

Such leading issues as United States Steel and General Motors were in brisk demand, the former closing at its day's highest, but motors fell back a little in the final dealings. Leadership furnished by Steel common stock instrumental in running up several important shares into high territory, including International Harvester, which sold as high as 242 before reacting to around 239 1/2.

AZORE ISLANDS PORT FOR OCEAN AVIATORS

Place First Visited by Transatlantic Flyers in 1919 by United States Navy Seaplane.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—The Azore Islands are fast becoming a half-way house for airplane flights across the Atlantic. They were first visited by transatlantic flyers in 1919 when the United States Navy seaplane NC-4 landed in the islands on its way from Newfoundland to Portugal. The lives of De Pinedo, Ruth Elder and George Haldeman, flying eastward, were saved in recent months when they were picked up at sea and taken to the nearby Azores, and the islands were used as a mid-Atlantic landing point when a German plane flying eastward from Lisbon to the United States. Although the role of the islands as an aviation center in the Atlantic is new, the National Geographic Society relates how they have long been an ocean clearing house for commerce and world news. Into the little port of Horta on Fayal Island come nine cables, making it the telegraphic solar plexus of the Atlantic. The Azores have been ports of call for ships since Columbus stopped there in 1493 on his return from the discovery of the New World. After Brazil was discovered six years later, ships bound between that country and Portugal regularly visited the Azores. They became a stopping place also for ships engaged in the rich trade around Africa between southwestern Europe and the East.

Today many ships plying between New York and Mediterranean ports, and between Europe and the Panama Canal, put in at the ports of the Azores. The nine chief islands of the Azores are scattered into three widely separated groups. Of the central group, consisting of five flowers, Horta is the chief town. The northwestern group, made up of Corvo and Flores, lies 150 miles away, while the remaining group, composed of San Miguel and Santa Maria, is almost an equal distance to the southwest.

The largest town of the Azores, Ponta Delgada, with approximately 18,000 inhabitants, is on San Miguel Island, and is thus remote from all but one of the eight other islands. It is on San Miguel that one gets his best idea of Azorean life.

The town has modern buildings, but many old features have been preserved: massive chimneys, walled gardens and graceful iron balconies. Many of the garden walls constructed of lava stones, are 15 feet high. They were built as wind-breaks to protect orange trees.

Residents of San Miguel boast that they have "a little of everything" on their island. The rich volcanic soil grows to perfection the vegetables and fruits of both the temperate and tropical zones. They raise sugar beets and make their own sugar; they produce their own tea and wine; they work the fields of cattle grazing in the hills and add meat and dairy products. The fishermen of the island take good catches from the sea.

One-Sixth of National Population Feels Highway Mishaps in Five Years

Nearly one-sixth of the nation's entire population has directly or indirectly suffered from highway accidents during the past five years, says the American Road Builders' association today in an appeal for the practice of courtesy and caution on the public thoroughfares. The road hog described as "the most contemptible figure on the highway today" is the center of a vigorous appeal for safer driving.

"About 3,500,000 people have been killed or injured on the street and highway during the past five years, according to the association. Assuming every death or injury to affect either directly or indirectly five persons, between 17,000,000 and 18,000,000 people have suffered from these accidents. At this rate within the present generation the entire population of the country will have experienced the horrors of highway accidents.

"The road hog is the cause of innumerable accidents, many of which cannot be proven the fault of this dangerous driver. Physical conditions often make it nearly impossible to prevent him after the damage has been done.

CHURCH OF ENGLAND ROCKS IN DISSENSION

Wide Differences of Opinion Between Two Factions Flare Up Again in Cathedral.

LONDON, Nov. 12 (AP)—The wide differences of opinion between the "High Church" wing of the Episcopal church which leans toward Roman Catholicism and fundamentalism and the "Low Church" wing which leans toward Protestantism and modernism have flared up again in St. Paul's cathedral. This is the first great Protestant cathedral built in England after the Reformation.

The Rev. George Russell Bullock-Webster, rector of St. Michael Royal church and honorary canon of the cathedral church of Ely interrupted a service by the Rt. Rev. E. W. Barnes, Bishop of Birmingham. He called upon the archbishop of Canterbury to try Dr. Barnes "for alleged profane and heretical utterances, and if he be found guilty to cast him out of the church."

Dean Inge, at whose invitation Dr. Barnes came to preach his sermon, refused to analyze Canon Bullock-Webster's interruption. Just as Bishop Barnes was about to begin his sermon, Canon Bullock-Webster appeared in the regulation Church of England cassock, surplice and stole. This in itself is considered a breach of etiquette since it was not in his own church. Followed by a party of four men, he walked quietly to the altar, then faced the congregation from a document.

Concluding Canon Bullock-Webster called upon "all faithful believers" to leave the cathedral. His own ears should be sufficed with fresh profanity.

About 500 persons then left the church while early 1000 more stayed

"The road hog is the man who drives casually along in the center of the road and falls to give the right-of-way to others who wish to pass at a reasonable speed. He is the man who selfishly refuses to relinquish the right-of-way when it is to the advantage of many other motorists. He is the driver who will hold up traffic in order to receive a passenger in a congested district. In general, he is the man who regards the highway almost as his personal property.

"Often persons who are extremely courteous and cautious in their social or business life will shake off all semblances of these principles when the wheel of an automobile. It is these persons who become the selfish and dangerous hazards of the highway—the road hogs. The practice of the same courtesy and caution on the street and highway that is used if the office or in the home will have much to reduce the appalling number of casualties each year.

"The practices of the road hog are selfish practices, and are not in sympathy with modern methods of transportation. Every individual should resolve to remain in the category of the voluntary practice of courtesy and caution."

To hear Dr. Barnes complete his sermon. Dr. Barnes made no direct reference to the scene, but his sermon was an attempt to reconcile modern science and religion. He said in part: "There is still too much misunderstanding about the relation between scientific discovery and religious belief.

If you allow that the Darwinian theory of evolution is true, it follows that there has been a great development of human intelligence since man sprang from the ape. The two products of the same machine—a machine in which many intelligible variations arise.

"Is it not natural to think of these as men in the Divine plan, so that evolution becomes God's method of creation?" Canon Bullock-Webster, who is backed by some of the "High Church" faction, explained that his denunciation of Dr. Barnes was based on a sermon the bishop preached at Birmingham cathedral on "Sacramental Truth and Eucharist."

"I had time only to write forty churches," he said, "but they all sent representatives to the cathedral to hear the protest. Three-fourths of the 500 churches in my diocese will give us moral support."

The undertaking, known as the Religious Book Club, Inc., provides for the sending to its members each month "the best new book in the religious field."

A favorite Personal Car with Big Car Owners

You would be astonished to know how many owners of two or more cars leave their larger cars at home, to drive the Essex; for they sacrifice no comfort or performance their larger cars can give, and they enjoy definite advantages in driving ease and handling. And these same advantages appeal to every owner, no matter what his previous car experience. Essex ownership is a progressive discovery of satisfactions and enjoyments that grow with possession and of which performance is but an item.

Essex is engineered and balanced to a riding ease that seems to erase the ruts and ripples of the road, and operation ease is so simple and effortless that the lightest gesture controls it.

The Essex Super-Six high-compression motor converts waste heat to power, developing more than 125-horsepower in its low size ordinarily. Its performance brilliance it achieves a new high mark even for Essex. In sustained stamina, smoothness and durability you see but one of many advantages for which the Super-Six principle accounts.

Future of Indian Students Depends On United States Agents Assistance

FARMINGTON, N. M., Nov. 12 (AP)—Saving the returned student from squandering his education is a problem before the officials of the Navajo reservation agents here, now that they have been reopened for the winter.

The children of the Indian agency are taken through the primary grades of school at Shiprock which can accommodate 500, but must attend extra-agency schools for the higher grades. When their education in the reservation schools is ended, most of the children return to their homes where opportunities for learning are meager. As a result, the returned student becomes discouraged and finally goes back to the "blanket" Indian life.

Hugh Soussa, an educated Indian employe at Shiprock for a number of years has tried to encourage the returned students to stay until they find employment elsewhere.

Cato Sells exemplifies the success of Soussa's efforts to help the returned students. Sells was born on the reservation in 1906. At the age of 10 he entered school at Shiprock. In 1920, when Lieut. D. Ray Campbell came to the Shiprock school to organize a band, young Sells had developed into a well-trained musician. Two years later when the band leader was transferred to Sherman, Institute at Riverside, California, Sells went with him. After finishing at Sherman he went to the Riverside Polytechnic high school from which he graduated in June.

In the meantime, Sells, during vacation time, did not return to the "blanket" life of the reservation. Instead he donned overalls and obtained several manual jobs. In commenting on his education, Sells recently declared: "Too often young men and girls of the agency wait around, expecting to get a job from the Indian agent. Soon their ambition becomes stagnant and they go back to tepee or Hogan and say 'there is no chance for me.' There is always a chance if the returned student is ambitious, stays away from the agency and goes to work. That will solve the returned student problem and the Indian problem at the same time."
