LINDBERGH'S MOTHER ARRIVES SAFELY IN CAPITAL OF MEXICO

Detroit School Teacher, Following Overhead Trail of Illustrations, Writes New Paragraph Into Aviation History.

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—The Lone Eagle's mother made aviation history today herself, when, following the overhead trail of her illustrious son, Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh landed at Valbuena flying field at 5:44 o'clock this afternoon. She was the first woman ever to fly from the United States to Mexico City.

Mrs. Lindbergh came straight from Tampico where she stopped off at 1:15 on the last stretch of her flight from Detroit.

Flying his spirit of St. Louis, Colonel Lindbergh went out to meet her, and two Mexican military planes followed a moment later, soon the planes were seen returning and as the bird's plane extended a warm welcome to her in behalf of President Calles, at the same time presenting the president's bouquets.

Ambassador Morrow, and Mrs. Morrow followed General Alvarez and greeted the noted woman heartily. She boarded the plane amid the cheers of about 20,000 people who had assembled, waving the flags of the two republics.

There was great cheering, and the ambassador's automobile was about to start when Mrs. Lindbergh, in a hurry to see the flight instructor.

But the joy of having his mother's arrival was marred when she stepped out of the plane and the crowd which surged around the ambassador's automobile turned and made directly for the Spirit of St. Louis.

Fearing disaster, the crowd continued to circle the field for some time. In the meantime his mother and the Morrow party started for the embassy.

Eventually he landed in a vacant field across the road from Valbuena with the other end of the runway blocked by the car. It was not to be outdone, the enthusiastic Mexicans dashed for the new landing place, and it appeared for a time as if "Lindy" would have to take to the air again.

But the much pursued flying man hopped off once again, and his plane towed Valbuena field, which was apparently clear, most of the road. Four minutes later he landed. Yet he did not entirely allow the chase the plane, and Lindbergh continued the hangar to escape them.

While dodging the unrestrained crowd, Lindbergh and the Spirit of St. Louis started in an automobile to the embassy an hour after his mother had landed.

Accused Man's Partner Fails to Meet Him in Hotel in San Francisco

"When I Saw They Had My Name I Got Real Scared and Planned to Get Away Myself," Says Young Hickman in Interview With Pendleton Newspaperman; Planned to Go North; Afraid.

(By The Associated Press) PENDLETON, Ore., Dec. 22.—The following confession of William Edward Hickman was made to the city editor of the Pendleton Eastern Oregonian, this afternoon: Question—Where is your partner?

"He said for me to meet him at the Harris hotel in San Francisco, Sunday, but he was not there, so Tuesday morning when I saw they had my name I got real scared and I planned to get away myself. I thought I would get away north because they were searching in San Francisco, as I read about it in the papers and there was nothing I could do. After I saw him in Los Angeles, according to our appointment, I said, 'Where is your partner?' He just kind of grinned, and I said 'Where?'

"When the father met me by appointment he spoke and said: 'I want to see your daughter, and I said, 'She is here.' And I think I said she was asleep and I told him to give me the money. I have had trouble with her. Then he gave me the money that there and I told him I would drive up a little way and let her out and I drove out a little way, and I said 'Who was it cut her that way?'

"New Names Comes Andrew Hickman, his part was I ran away from home and I was in California and had been working in Los Angeles at the Bellver Arms. I think it was on November 23 or just before Thanksgiving and on Thanksgiving I went down to San Diego; and when I came back the next day I picked this man and he had a rifle and I saw the name 'Andrew Hickman' and the lady's name was Dunning. I think it was 'I was by myself. I didn't know anyone here. I was making my holdups and I thought if I could get acquainted with some older man we could work to better advantage and I wouldn't be so much risk and could probably get away with holdups easier."

SLEAZEBAG'S FATHER DOES NOT WISH FOR REVENGE, THANKFUL

Atmosphere of Profound Relief Settles Over Household of P. M. Parker; Asks Press to Carry Message to World.

(By The Associated Press) LOS ANGELES, Dec. 22.—An atmosphere of profound relief tonight, seemed to have settled over the household of P. M. Parker, father of murdered Marian. There was no gloating, no evidence of any wish for revenge, and no talk of retribution.

"I feel a sense of deep and sincere thankfulness," he said, "that my car has been recovered and that mother no longer need fear that this may cost her her children. But I am not wishing that she be put to death, or anything like that. Of course, she should be punished—yes, I guess he should be punished. I wish my daughter's father had been a strictly business-like, almost brusque fellow."

"I'm very glad to talk with you, but remember that I don't care to have anything printed in the newspapers which is obviously calculated to grandstand for my side. No job stuff, you understand."

LOS ANGELES POLICE DOUBT YOUTH'S TALE

(By The Associated Press) LOS ANGELES, Dec. 22.—Despite the opinion of many Los Angeles police officers that the "Andrew Cramer" named by William Edward Hickman as his accomplice and the actual slayer of Marian Parker was a figure of imagination, Los Angeles police officers today expressed their doubt that Hickman was trying to shift blame to a nonexistent partner.

Spectacular Man-Hunt Comes to Climax With Arrest of 19-Year-Old Youth Following Auto Race Along Columbia Highway; Boy Accuses Andrew Cramer of Mutilating Girl's Body

(By The Associated Press) PENDLETON, Ore., Dec. 22.—Captured in a thrilling race with police officers on the Columbia river highway, William J. Hickman, 19, on whose head a reward of $100,000 has been placed, tonight told a broken story of the kidnaping of Marian Parker, 12-year-old Los Angeles girl; and at the same time endeavored desperately to shift the blame for the horribles mutilation of the girl upon the shoulders of his "partner,"—a man he named as "Andrew Cramer."

Hickman's story, told soon after his capture today to Parker's attorney, was broken up by a number of interruptions. He told how he had planned the kidnaping of Marian Parker in order to raise enough money to attend college. The youth then told how he had planned the kidnaping of Marian Parker in order to raise enough money to attend college. FATHER OF HICKMAN SENDS SON MESSAGE

"If You Are Guilty I Hope You Will Be Punished by Death," Declares Parent in Telegram.

EL PASO, Texas, Dec. 22 (AP)—The El Paso Herald today was asked by Thomas Hickman, 45, father of William Hickman, to telegraph the following message to his captive son:

"My son, if you are guilty of the crime for which you are charged, may God forgive your soul, and may you be punished according to the laws of mankind."

"This terrible crime, which is hard to believe that you committed, although death has been hidden and I have heard of it. It is hard to believe that you committed this crime. If you are guilty, you will be punished with death. If you are innocent, I will forgive you. Let me know through the El Paso Herald, on your word of honor, as to whether you are guilty or innocent of both. If you are implicated in the crime, if you are, then God forgive you and have mercy upon the soul of your father, mother, and your brothers and sister."

Remains Calm Adds from hysterical laughter when he was arrested, Hickman remained calm, although he had a trembling voice.

Man Charged by Hickman With Mutilation of Girl's Body Known to Coast Authorities.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 22 (AP)—The sheriff's office revealed tonight that its record listed an Andrew Cramer as a criminal several times arrested here on various charges of possessing firearms and carrying as early as 1920, robbery and carrying a dangerous weapon, and with his latest arrest being April 7, 1927, for burglary. The man's recorded description was being compared with that given in Pendleton by William Hickman, arrested kidnaper of Marian Parker, who named Cramer as the child's murderer.

BURL GIRLS VICTORIOUS IN OPENING CONTEST WITH JEROME SQUAD

Indian Maidens Win With Score of 32-7; North Side Boys Defeat West Enders, 31 to 20 in Exciting Game.

BURL, Dec. 22 (Special to The News)—Displaying nice team work against surprisingly strong opponents, Burl girls' basketball team in the opening game of the season here this evening, defeated Jerome girls' team, 32 to 7, while Burl boys' team was defeated by the Jerome boys' squad, 31 to 20.

The games were witnessed by an enthusiastic crowd of spectators that almost filled the gymnasium. Burl girls have yet to develop this season the scoring combination that carried the Burl girls' team far in past seasons. Coach Harry Barry asserted, while praising their performance of this evening:

The boys game was on a par for speed and spectacular display of skill with any of the district tournaments of recent year. Spectators here, however, one took a slight lead early in the game and clung to it tenaciously until the closing period, when it took advantage of a break to record two more counters.

Members of the visiting teams were guests of Burl high school, and associations at a party at the city hall after the games.

ACCUSED MAN'S AID FAILS TO MEET HIM IN SAN FRANCISCO

(Continued from Page Two) wanted to stop. I got in the car and drove to another place. I was afraid they would stop me beyond the California state line and I left San Francisco Tuesday morning and would have made it Tuesday night at that rate. I picked up two other fellows at Dunsmuir. I believe it was I mentioned the kidnaping to them and they seemed to have heard a lot about it. I acted surprised. There were no more officers north of there. One of the fellows said, "I imagine they'll get us out at the state line," and the other fellow said he was going over. I told these fellows, I was going to Seattle to spend the holidays and that I had two quarters of booze in the suitcase in the back and was afraid if some officers were to search that they might find this and get me in that. I said, "Let's wait until after midnight."

"The officers generally don't sit up after midnight and when I got up near the line it was after 10. We just stopped the car—it was this same fellow in the time—and waited. We got through finally and got to the line about 15 minutes after 12 and there was not a soul around. When we got into Oregon, two officers stopped the car. I was in the back seat, almost asleep and these two fellows were in the front seat. The officers flashed a light on my car and I got a bit of light. I don't know whether they were searching for booze or not, but there were two officers it was just across the line. They were not California officers. At the time I picked up my companions they said they were going to Portland. One of them was in the merchant marine. I had his card, but have forgotten the name. When we got into Portland the next day—that was yesterday—it was about 1 o'clock and that left me in the car by myself. I left Portland and drove toward Seattle and I saw another man before I got into Seattle. There was a heavy fog but he seemed to know the road. He happened to be a sailor, too. He had finished his enrollment in the navy and was going home. He told me a bit about the kidnaping. I just listened to this man's idea of what this guy, meaning myself, was like and what he thought of him. He said Hickman yet? he asked me. I was sitting in the front seat with him and I wondered if he had seen the picture of me. I know if the police in Portland had seen my pictures they would see how foolish they were now. Going back in my story to the boys that I picked up. We waited on the other side of the state line until 1 o'clock. I let them drive so I would be in the back seat. Well, I got into Seattle last night about 7 o'clock and did not know what to do. I thought I would go to the automobile club and ask about the road and the direction to Spokane. I thought I would either hold up some one in Seattle, to get some money or cash on these 30-dollar certificates and go to Spokane. There I planned to take the Northwest limited and work out of the country that way. Then I changed my plans and decided not to go to Spokane. While in Seattle, last night, I went into a drygoods store and bought a suit of heavy underwear which I am now wearing and a pair of gloves. I gave the man a 20 bill and he gave me back 81. He understood the 20 and the gloves $1. Then I went to a theatre. I went to the window and said, "One ticket, please," and gave the cashier a bill. She glanced curiously at the currency and looked straight at me. When she gave me the change I went

PARLIAMENT ADJOURNS HEARS KING'S ADDRESS

LONDON, Dec. 22 (AP)—Parliament adjourned today with the traditional picturesque ceremonies. It will reassemble February 7.

As is customary, the majesty's faithful courtiers, headed by the sergeant at arms, carrying a mace, and by the speaker, paraded to the house of lords to hear the king's speech reviewing the work of the session. The speech was read by the lord chancellor.

His majesty declared that the British government does not intend to increase its naval building program despite the "temporary failure" of the Geneva naval conference.

straight to my car and drove out of Seattle, stopping at a station between Seattle and Tacoma. I left another bill with the attendant at the filling station. The attendant seemed to be suspicious of the bill. I got $18 back from the Seattle theatre. The gas cost $2 and a few cents. I waited for the attendant to come back with the change from the bill and then came down to Portland and got through the fog and into Portland this morning at 8 o'clock. I went through Portland and out on to the highway. I was afraid some one would stop me, as I was positive the word would go out that I was in Seattle and unless the officers thought I had gone to Canada and was not coming back to Portland, I probably would get caught. I intended to circle around through Boise, number 30 highway. I noticed it was the Columbia river and into Portland. I believed this highway would follow the Columbia river and I intended going through Boise and into Salt Lake. Then I picked up two fellows on the highway who said they were going to get out in Pendleton. They were going to another town in Washington and were going to catch another ride to Gardfield, through Walla Walla. We passed the Pendleton officer's gas east of Echo. One of the fellows said there is a traffic officer and there is a fellow ahead of us. I think it was the same car that came back to where the officers who made the arrest stopped me. I began studying about that car parked there and then saw the car coming behind me. They pulled in ahead of us and blew a siren. I moved over and I thought I noticed the car slow down as I did too. I stopped and they came up to me. They said they had me. I think they were more excited than I was.

WE LOSE
 The potato situation in its relation to Southern Idaho is perhaps more of a problem than the average man realizes.

Today, according to estimates of those in a position to know, there are thirteen thousand cars of this year's crop still on hand in the Snake River Valley, in addition to which there are probably other thousands in transit or loading on sidings awaiting an improvement in market conditions. How many cars have been destroyed through freezing or otherwise rendered worthless it is impossible to say.

The Mexican census of 1921 has just been completed and gives the total population as 12,334,760. Enough for many a good reason.

President Coolidge probably will have to buy that lot of money yet and use it to convince some of the doubters that he really means he is eliminating the tariff on sugar for next year.

The extraordinary thing about it is that it took an actual demonstration to convince us of the weakness of such a plan.

A BIGGER NAVY
 Perhaps it is necessary for the United States to embark on a navy program which involves spending seven hundred twenty-five million dollars for construction of new war vessels during the next five years.

Perhaps it is necessary to reconcile ourselves to going right ahead after that and keeping up the pace for fifteen years more, raising the total expenditure to one billion dollars or three billion dollars. It is always well to expect the worst, and that is the biggest figure in matters of naval expenditure.

The subject of the program, Mrs. David P. Clark presented the program to the subject of the program, Mrs. David P. Clark presented the program to the subject of the program, Mrs. David P. Clark presented the program to the subject of the program.

It is hard to criticize such programs, even when there is desire to criticize because private citizens seldom have the opportunity to do so.

ASSOCIATED CHARITY PUSHES RELIEF WORK

Treasurer Tells of Cooperation Among Twenty-One Societies to Alleviate Need.

Twin Falls Associated Charities organization has met with success in Christmas charity activities in securing active participation of a number of organizations, was the statement of G. M. Hall, secretary.

Each of the participating organizations in its own way is working to not merely make Christmas merry for those requiring assistance but expects to carry on afterwards in taking care of cases in need, the secretary stated.

Mr. Hall said that the chairman, Mrs. R. C. Ward, was devoting all her time to the work which has proven effective.

System of Operations
The organization as such, is making no effort to collect clothing, Mr. Hall said. Its function is to secure cooperation among all affiliated organizations, so that they will function in harmony. Donations or funds to take care of individual cases of need are received. The collection taken up on Thanksgiving at the Union service netted $50. The high school faculty play almost $100. The Red Knights has donated $25 and other organizations have promised to contribute. Many organizations have secured names-of-need-families-to-which they expect to give Christmas dinner.

Mr. Hall stated that the fact that the secretary, W. J. Young, is probation officer, has been of assistance in keeping in touch with many worthy cases.

Praises Salvation Army
After outlining the program of the Associated Charities and the work of those affiliated with it, Mr. Hall paid a tribute to the Salvation Army. He said: "In addition to those organizations cooperating with the Associated Charities to meet the needs or alleviate the necessities of those requiring help, the Salvation Army is doing good and efficient work among a large number of those who require assistance."

Several new light bulbs blossomed out last evening and showed brilliantly in the cool air, ready for the festivities tonight.

Santa Claus and party of youngsters will drive through the streets and arrive at the park promptly at 7 o'clock. Mayor E. Huber will present the keys of the city to the Twentieth Century club, which will in turn present them to Santa Claus. The united church choirs of the city with others will sing Christmas carols under the leadership of Professor J. J. Bainbridge.

MANIAC KILLS AGED WOMAN; FOUR HURT

Fugitive Captured Only After Receiving Wounds From Guns of Officers; Leaves Asylum.

BRUNSWICK, Maine, Dec. 22 (AP)—The wild flight of a young maniac from a restaurant in an asylum, ended today with an aged woman dead and four persons injured. The fugitive was captured only after he had been wounded by shots through a barricaded door.

His parents were his first two victims and his mother tonight was in a critical condition. A deputy sheriff suffered a fractured skull as he was about to close with his quarry, and another man suffered a severe leg sprain in the chase.

Shaded Officers 24 Hours Raymond, Pa., Dec. 22, the Innisness youth who eluded officers for nearly 24 hours despite his artificial foot which left a marked trail, was not seriously wounded by the shots of the officers.

The search, which began after Pettit shot his father's mother in their home yard here, took place in a lonely farm-house at Popham where he had beaten his way with a rolling pin Mrs. W. A. Perry, 78 years old, barricaded in an upstairs room in the house he surrendered to a detail of national guardsmen, citizens' posse and police deputies only after a broadside of bullets had been poured through the door one of which found its mark, striking her in the breast bone and glancing off.

QUOTATIONS ON WHEAT SWINGING DOWNWARD

Notwithstanding general anticipation that the government report on the wheat situation would be bearish, figures decline.

CHICAGO, Dec. 22 (AP)—Notwithstanding general anticipation that the government report on the wheat situation would be bearish, figures decline.

Special stress on the part of sellers today was laid on circumstances that the latest government information pointed both to much larger 1927 crop of fall-winter wheat than the crop in 1926, and also to a higher trend for the present crop as compared with last year and with a ten year average as well.

A good deal of comment was heard northward that the wheat which appeared to be ignoring the fact that much wheat territory west and south-west has been unusually dry since full seeding is completed and that snow protection during low temperatures has been lacking.

VARIED CAREER OF CRIME ATTRIBUTED TO POLICE CAPTIVE

A. L. Pettibone, Who Escaped From One Officer at Point of Gun, Rearrested to Face Charges of Criminal Assault.

Accused of three or four major crimes, Albert Lester Pettibone, 27, who escaped at the point of a gun from a police officer late Wednesday night and who was rearrested Thursday morning by the police here, is held to answer to a felony charge of assault with criminal intent, it was stated last evening at the police station.

The alleged assault is said to have been made upon Mrs. Frank Turner, 501 Main avenue west, during the absence of the woman's husband Wednesday afternoon.

When arrested Thursday morning Pettibone is said to have completed his preparations for departure in an automobile in which he had loaded his suit case, a short gun and some quilts. He had delayed his departure in order to collect from the Drive-It-Yourself company a cash bond that he had previously posted for use of another car. The $100 bond was made upon Mrs. Frank Turner, 501 Main avenue west, during the absence of the woman's husband Wednesday afternoon.

When arrested Thursday morning Pettibone is said to have completed his preparations for departure in an automobile in which he had loaded his suit case, a short gun and some quilts. He had delayed his departure in order to collect from the Drive-It-Yourself company a cash bond that he had previously posted for use of another car.

Makes Gun Play Pettibone reached for his gun, a .25 calibre revolver, when Officers Jack Empey and William Mumpower swooped down on him Thursday morning, but surrendered when he felt an officer's gun thrust forcibly against his ribs.

Pettibone was taken to the police station Wednesday afternoon when word of the alleged assault at the Turner residence came to the police station. At about midnight Officer Fred Larmin intercepted Pettibone at a safe door, arrested him and without searching him led him into an automobile. The officers was not armed. When he had seated himself at the wheel with Pettibone at his side, Pettibone suddenly produced a gun and directed the officer to drive over a certain designated route to a certain destination, where he left the car.

The pursuit was continued throughout the night until early morning when Pettibone finally was captured and lodged in the city jail. The story of a determined fight against odds was related to the police by Mrs. Turner last evening. She was badly bruised about the body and scratched across the face and breast. She had fought, she said, not only to protect herself from Pettibone, but also to save her six months old child who, while the struggle raged, was choking on a ring that Pettibone had given him. Successful at length in her struggle, Mrs. Turner said that she had escaped with her baby to the dwelling of a neighbor who summoned the police.

Drives Missing Car Pettibone is said to have driven Wednesday afternoon a coupe owned by Carrie Adkins, proprietor of a chili parlor, who during the afternoon had reported to the police that her car had been stolen. Officers last evening said they were holding this car because they had found liquor in it.

Pettibone, officers said, has lived here for some months without visible means of support. His wife, who was here with him for a time, is said to have gone from here recently to Minnesota.

JURY PONDERING LONG OVER SNOWDEN CASE

No Indication of Agreement After Six Hours of Deliberation Over Verdict.

Up to midnight all indications were that the second jury in the case of Joseph L. Snowden, charged with burglary, would report the performance of the first one and disagree. The case was submitted at 6 o'clock last evening after instructions had been given by Judge H. P. Ensign. Except for the fact that the affidavit of R. J. Macken, former proprietor of the Park hotel, was introduced in evidence by the state with consent of the defense, and the fact that C. D. Johnson, temporary substitute for William C. Griffin, the other merchant policeman, testified on the second trial, the trial which closed yesterday afternoon differed little from the previous one. Prosecutor O. W. Witham for the state and E. Larson, defense attorney, traversing familiar ground, got through in less time on the second than on the first trial. At 11:45 o'clock last night, a knocking at the door of the jury room created a stir among those waiting. Robert A. Grayson, veteran bailiff, went to the door and the people who were waiting, including the prisoner and his wife, took on a look of strange expectancy. When the bailiff returned and asked a confidential talk with Judge Ensign,

Elks Prepare Treat For Boys and Girls At Christmas Party

Each guest of Twin Falls lodge of Elks at its annual Christmas tree for Twin Falls boys and girls on Christmas day next Sunday afternoon will receive, besides a doll or toy or book of some kind, a treat of candy and nuts in a very wearable stocking. The nuts to each stocking will be found in the top of the one containing the treat, so that each boy or girl will receive a useful and a gift, as well as a mere transitory one.

Members of the lodge, after adjournment of a regular lodge meeting last evening, went to work filling the stockings and completing preparations for the Christmas party. A giant evergreen, brilliantly illuminated and decorated, was set up in the center of the lodge room where the party is to be staged, and the gifts were laid out in a manner to make it easy for Santa Claus and his helpers to distribute them among the little guests.

Preparations were made for 600 guests, which would be 150 more than last year.

Excursion in connection with the tree will begin promptly at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, and invitation is extended by the Elks to all of the boys and girls in and around Twin Falls.

This expectancy died out with those familiar with court procedure. What passed between the bailiff and the court was not revealed.

Boy Scouts Lead Aid In Relief Activities Of Salvation Army

Twin Falls Boy Scouts will begin at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon the work of distributing Christmas baskets for the Salvation Army in needy homes in and about Twin Falls. It was announced last evening by Ensign Lottis B. Schell, Salvation Army commandant.

Response to the Salvation Army appeal for assistance in holiday and winter relief work is becoming more and more gratifying as Christmas day approaches, Ensign stated. He expressed confidence that it would be possible, as a result of the cooperation to bring a measure of Christmas cheer into each needy home in the district.

CLUB WOMEN ENTERTAINWARDS AT COUNTY HOME

Guests of Twin Falls county who make their homes at the county general hospital here, entertained Thursday afternoon at the annual Christmas tree matinee party given by the Business and Professional Women's club of this city. Let the fashion magazines chat of Spring hats and airy dinner gowns as much as they will. You and I know that you can't hoodwink Mr. Weather Man into believing that you can get away with just around the corner.

Some of the coldest of our winter days are right ahead, and if your work is carried on outdoors then you must be especially careful to see that you are dressed warmly. Jack Frost is a ruthless rascal, playful, but a sturdy mackinaw or a horsehide will do wonders in conquering his power.

If you don't work yet outdoors then you need plenty of things to keep healthy. Look over our stock of warm clothes. They will get you out of days to wear them yet.
