RESCUE CRAFT TAKE UP SEARCH FOR LOST GRAYSON PLANE CREW

Navy Dirigible Los Angeles Takes Off for Dash to Vicinity in Which the Dawn Was Last Heard From; Hunt On...

(By The Associated Press) NEW YORK, Dec. 26 (AP)—Rescue craft mobilizing by sea and air were headed tonight toward New Foundland in search of Mrs. Frances Wilson Grayson and her three lost crew members aboard the missing amphibian plane Dawn.

The navy dirigible Los Angeles took off from the coast today, manned by an emergency crew, for the aerial dash to the vicinity in which the Dawn was last heard from. Two destroyers, at the Boston navy yard also received orders from Washington to search the waters between Cape Cod and Sable Island.

Since last night, when spluttering signals were picked up at Sable Island, the planes radio had been silent and it was feared that the Dawn had forced down in the water, may have been battered to pieces by the winter sea.

Trouble in Last Message The brief last message, which said "something had gone wrong" and the plane was low, did not give the Dawn's position and rescue craft could carry on only an unguided search in the search between Cape Cod, where the plane's motors were heard whirring overhead last Friday night, and New Foundland, the flier's objective.

The Dawn was equipped with pontoons and wheels and could come down on either water or land. Reports believe the ship could have floated for hours if landed in the comparatively quiet waters to leeward of some of the larger islands of the Scotian coast. There the danger, however, that even in the event of a safe landing, the occupants, of the Dawn, are in jeopardy to death unless rescue came quickly.

Mr. Grayson took off from Roosevelt field at dusk last Friday. With her were Bryce Goldborough, navigator and radio operator; Oscar Omdal, pilot; and Fred Koehler, motor mechanic. The Canadian bureau of marine and fisheries was standing by to order out searching and rescue craft as the Dawn's emergency signaling apparatus.

Inasmuch as the Dawn's emergency wireless set had a maximum sending range of 40 miles, it was expected to concentrate most of their efforts within that range. The Canadian bureau of marine and fisheries was standing by to order out searching and rescue craft as the Dawn's emergency signaling apparatus.

GREAT BRITAIN HAS 'WHITE' CHRISTMAS

Late on Holiday Evening Rain Turns to Heavy Snow; Blanket Inches Deep on Ground.

LONDON, Dec. 26 (AP)—England, ever all had her traditional "white" Christmas, but it came late and added its disconcerts to the recent strange vagaries of the weather clerk. Only a week ago the country was frost bound and skaters were delightedly anticipating a pleasure only rarely enjoyed here. Then suddenly there came for England the remarkable phenomenon of a "silver thaw." This was last Wednesday, and it dashed the hopes of the skaters and brought in its train a wet and muggy Christmas.

Late Christmas evening, however, the rain turned to heavy snow, which covered the country to a depth of several inches. It is said to be the first Christmas snowstorm for 24 years and it has been reported that the intensity of the rain has caused some of the houses to be damaged. All outdoor sports incident to boxing were suspended, and snow plows were sent out to clear the streets for traffic, which even then was carried off with great difficulty. Festivities both today and tomorrow are national holidays, and there will be less snow, but the day without interruption.

Harry Hill, 22, After Four Months in Jail, Faces Court to Answer to Slaying Charge.

OTTAWA, Ill., Dec. 26 (AP)—Charged with the murder of his mother, Harry Hill, 22 years old, goes to trial for his life tomorrow, after spending four months in the La Salle county jail.

In his defense against the charge of having shot his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Hill, divorced wife of Dr. H. O. Hill, Springfield and Streator, young Hill will have the backing of his father, Dr. Hill, who has been arrested in Seattle after a nationwide search, took an airplane to reach him as quickly as possible. He said he would use all his resources to defend the boy.

Body Buried in Basement Mrs. Hill's body, with two bullet wounds in the head, was found buried in a shallow grave in the basement of her Streator home. A police theory of the slaying was that the son shot her after a quarrel over the friendship with his home lawyer, Streator, girl, and because of alleged check forgery. Mrs. Hill, it was said, had threatened to discontinue her son.

The young man, taken to the hole in the Hill basement, and forced to dig in the loose dirt that had covered his mother's body, he said he would be connected with the crime.

CONDITION OF MIND IS BEING CONQUERED

Percentage of Dementia Praecox Diminished Since 1915; Called Adolescent Insanity.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 25 (AP)—The mental condition, dementia praecox, at one time known as adolescent insanity, is gradually being conquered, asserts Dr. Arthur H. Rugles, chief of the psychiatric division of the Connecticut State Hospital for the Insane, in a report in the journal of the American Psychiatric Association.

Dr. Rugles is the official organ of the Connecticut Society for Mental Hygiene. Dr. Rugles is a lecturer in psychiatry at Yale university.

"Since description of dementia praecox about 1900 by the German psychiatrist, Dr. Kraepelin, Dr. Rugles says, cases of dementia praecox have filled our mental hospitals. Previous to that time, from mental disease had been called adolescent insanity. Not much was known about it then. From 1900 to about 1915, about 45 per cent of the cases in our mental hospitals had diminished since 1915 until today only about 25 per cent are thus classified.

In comparison of our methods of treatment with an increased knowledge of the individual case, we may hope to limit to what extent a part of the spectre of hopelessness and mental deterioration in an increasing number of these cases."

SUGAR BEET INDUSTRY IN IRRIGATED REGION MOVING FARTHER EAST

Souraged by Virus of Disease Known as "Curly Top," Industry of West is Moving Definitely Eastward.

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—Souraged by a virus disease known as "curly top" the sugar beet industry of the west, highly important to American refiners, is moving definitely eastward.

Federal reports show that three large factories owned by one sugar company in southern California were idle this year, while operations shifted as far east as Minnesota. Scores of long-established beet fields in other states were abandoned in favor of new, uninfected locations.

The manufacture of sugar in California dropped from 131,000 tons in 1924 to 73,000 tons in 1925; in Utah from 71,000 tons to 54,000 tons; in Idaho from 38,000 to 18,000, and in Nebraska from 105,000 to 104,000. Losses are reported in Montana and Wyoming, and eastern Colorado retained supremacy as the center of beet production in the west.

Once a Michigan and other humid states showed a general increase. Eastern growers are not troubled with curly top, because of the transmittal of the disease by healthy beet. Frequently entire fields have been ruined. Sprays will not control the leafhopper. It does not eat from the surface, but feeds from the inside of the plant. The disease virus it carries from infected plants is much smaller than bacteria. It never has been seen, even by the best instruments of science. Because of its peculiar nature plant pathologists are unable to study its commercial use of disease-resistant varieties, a number of which have been developed by government experimentation and have proved successful. Only wholly immune strains, however, have been found and because of this the actively low sugar content in resistant types authorities have hesitated to recommend them.

Effort now is turned to creation of a sugar beet hybrid in which qualities of resistant types and strains highly productive of sugar are expected to be combined for establishment of a suitable variety.

Over a period of ten years three-fourths to four-fifths of the entire sugar output of continental America has been manufactured from beets. The bulk of which was grown on irrigated farms of the west.

Dr. Morely for some years has had charge of the Carnegie institution's investigation of the remarkable civilization developed by the Mayas, 2000 years ago on that part of the continental bridge now occupied by Mexico and Guatemala. Lodge Aids Santa in Distribution of Gifts

Seven hundred Christmas stockings filled to the top with gifts were given to the children of Twin Falls by the Elks at their Christmas program in the lodge hall Sunday afternoon beginning at 3 o'clock.

Early in the afternoon children began to assemble about the Elks' building to make sure that they would not miss Santa Claus. When the doors opened at 3 o'clock the host of assembled children poured into the lodge hall where a brightly decorated Christmas tree was found occupying the center of the floor. A short preliminary program was given which included singing of Christmas carols under the direction of Miss Agnes Skarstedt with Mrs. Vaughn Price as accompanist, and the story of "The First Christmas" told by Miss Ethel Kautz.

With the aid of several of the Elks, Santa Claus distributed gifts "caterpillar style" to the young guests of the lodge. Furning in a long line the children lined by a table where they were given a Christmas stocking containing its mate rolled up neatly in the toe, a toy, an orange and enough candy and nuts to stuff the stockings tightly.

Santa proved himself to be a jolly old chap, and the lodge's young guests felt feeling that it had been well worth their while to come and meet him.

WILLIAM E. HICKMAN COMPLETES SLAYING LITTLE PARKER GIRL

child with a plain wire and cut her body into pieces. The body was found in the Bellevue apartment in Los Angeles. After the slaying Hickman said he realized that he must have the body to produce to the girl's father, Perry N. Parker, Los Angeles bank official, or he could not collect the ransom. So he devised the scheme of rigging her eyelids with wire to prop her head to make it appear she was alive.

Crimes Eliminated
The confession completely eliminated the mythical accomplice, one Andrew Granger, for whom the police have been searching since the youth made his first confession after his capture near Pendleton where he sought to throw the blame on an accomplice. He had no aid. It was a single-handed piece of work, the latest confession made today revealed.

The confession today removes from Hickman the last shield upon which he relied to save him from the gallows. When he enters the superior court in Los Angeles tomorrow, he will go through the formality of entering a plea to murder and kidnapping based on his signed confessions to both.

This mark of mystery which Hickman sought to throw over the killing of the little girl was torn away in the course of a grilling he underwent as the special car upon which he was being taken to Los Angeles was nearing San Francisco.

Give Reasons for Killing
Hickman gave his reasons for killing the girl as follows:

"I was afraid she would make a noise. Behind locked and closely guarded doors of the compartment in which Hickman had been held since he left Pendleton on Sunday morning, questioning by Los Angeles officers proceeded, laying before the prisoner the gruesome details of evidence which had been gathered at the Bellevue apartment.

Hickman steadily maintained until tonight that while he had been involved in the kidnaping he had not committed the actual killing. Upon his arrival here Hickman was taken in the club car of the Cascade limited where he faced a battery of cameras for several pictures.

The party left Oakland for Los Angeles at 9:02, 22 minutes late, with the special Hickman car attached. Hickman appeared composed and seemed resigned and indifferent. A large crowd gathered about the train at Benicia, and watched the car in which Hickman traveled on the train ferry to Port Coast.

At the sixteenth street station in Oakland another large crowd was in

The special car was taken to the Los Angeles station at 11:45, where Hickman was placed in the special car. The train was held for 20 minutes awaiting the arrival of the Cascade limited from the north.

Travelers and commuters crowded about the train as it started toward Los Angeles, but Hickman could not be seen, for the blinds in the car had been drawn.

ARMAND GASCARDE LIMITED, at Dunsmuir, Cal., Dec. 26—A genial mood and a healthy appetite today marked William Edward Hickman, the slayer of the 12-year-old Marian Parker, as he was rushed southward to face justice in Los Angeles, charged with the kidnaping and murder of 12-year-old Marian Parker. His spirit had picked up noticeably this afternoon in contrast to the utter dejection apparent when the journey began yesterday at Pendleton. At Oakland tonight the prison car in which Hickman and his captors are traveling will be attached to the Padre train due in Los Angeles at 9:40 a. m. tomorrow morning.

Dist. Attorney Asa M. Keyes, Chief of Detectives Herman Cline and Chief of Police James E. Davis of Los Angeles were alerted with the young prisoner in a compartment.

The big green stolen car that Hickman was driving when captured on the highway near Robo, Oregon, was left in Pendleton. Arrangements for its return to Los Angeles will be made by an insurance company.

At Dunsmuir, the first stop in the state where the kidnaping and brutal killing of Marian was carried out, a crowd of 2000 persons milled around the train in an effort to get a glimpse of the prisoner. There was no indication of disorder, however.

Hickman was in good spirits when his breakfast was served at 8:30 business agents came aboard to relieve those who traveled from Portland, suggesting the regular police guards. At Oakland tonight four new guards will board the train and during the night two will be stationed at each end of the car.

At Klamath Falls a new party of Southern Pacific agents came aboard to relieve those who traveled from Portland, suggesting the regular police guards. At Oakland tonight four new guards will board the train and during the night two will be stationed at each end of the car.

BOY AND GIRL HELD FOR JERSON SHERIFF

Russell, Boston, 18, and Ethel Sevey, 17, of Ontario Taken After Report From Motorist.

Russell, W. Boston, 18, and Ethel Sevey, 17, of Ontario, Oregon, are being held at Twin Falls officers pending the arrival of Sheriff Charles Olson who they had married at a local hotel into matrimony last night.

Having appeared in the possession of a Ford touring car which they had ridden from Sunnyside to Twin Falls yesterday, the man notified the police that they had married at a hotel about 7:30 o'clock last night.

When questioned at police headquarters, the two admitted an elopement and recounted several highly improbable stories, according to the officers.

They were taken to the jail where they were held until the arrival of Sheriff Olson. The man is being held until he can be taken to the jail at Baker, Oregon, for several days.

Stories Confirmed.
Boston's companion agreed that they were married on Tuesday and that he is certain that the ceremony took place in Baker. She also said under the impression that her husband was being taken to the jail at Baker.

After Twin Falls police had taken the girl to the jail, Boston decided that he would "come clean." The "true" story of their adventure after the elopement was as follows:

Boston claims that he has a wife somewhere in the vicinity of Ontario. He said that he did not get along well in that locality but had decided to leave for Utah, intending to send for his wife later. He said that his companion begged to be allowed to go with him and that he consented.

They left Ontario Saturday in a motor car. They were pursued by the girl's father who traveled with such speed that they missed their way and ended in a billiard room, abandoning their machine they "hopped" a freight train a short distance from Ontario and proceeded to Tampa, and on to Sunnyside, where they caught a ride with the twin Falls man who brought them to this city.

Boston is being held at the city jail, and his companion in the woman's ward of the county jail, pending the arrival of the sheriff at Twin Falls. Boston stated that he would waive extradition, and expects to be taken to the jail at Baker, Oregon, for several days.

GIRLS SAVE MEN IN RIOT.
VIENNA, Dec. 26 — Another anti-Jewish outrage was staged at Budapest University here today. Bands of anti-Semitic students broke in the chemical lecture theater and ordered all Jewish students to leave. They did so escorted to university "buildings" and the bands then went to the philosophical lecture rooms where Jewish students were brutally beaten. Fascist students ordered the Jewish girl undergraduates to leave, and when they refused declared that they would not hesitate to use violence if their orders were disobeyed. The girls yielded, and the fascists, armed with sticks and clubs, attempted to attack the men again as they left the hall. Non-Jewish girl undergraduates, however, formed a double cordon to protect the Jews who were thus able to escape. The fascists compelled the medical faculty to suspend the lectures.

IDENTIFIED BY PHONE; NEVADAN WINS RELEASE

Young Man Suspected by Officer of Being Hunted Kidnaper and Blayzer, Freed.

Identification by telephone brought the release of a Nevada young man who was arrested here last week by an officer who suspected him of being William E. Hickman, confessed kidnaper and slayer of Marian Parker. It was learned last evening.

The young man was an acquaintance of R. V. Jones, high school manual training instructor, who was one time employed as a teacher in Elko, Nevada, school.

This fact and the fact that Mrs. Jones recognized his voice when she heard it over the telephone, obtained his release a little while after he had been arrested by Deputy Sheriff Charles E. Jones.

The young man was not told until after he was released when the officer had suspected, but assumed that he was being held on a liquor charge of which he protested his innocence.

On arrival at the sheriff's office he was given opportunity to communicate with his attorney. He said, was the only resident of Twin Falls he was acquainted with, Mrs. Jones was away from home at the time, but Mrs. Jones who spoke with the young man, satisfied the officer that he was not the widely wanted man.

Mrs. R. H. Barnes Called by Death

Mrs. Missouri Ann Barnes, 71, wife of Robert H. Barnes, a former resident of Twin Falls died December 26 at her home in Long Beach, California, after an illness which extended over several years. An inquiry at her home in Long Beach may have hastened the end, it is stated.

Captain and Mrs. Barnes were residents of Twin Falls county for many years and left three years ago for Long Beach on account of the illness of Mrs. Barnes. Captain Barnes was at one time department commander of the G. A. R. in the department of Idaho, and was commander of the Idaho Soldiers' Home at Boise during the administration of Governor Alexander. Mrs. Barnes was a member of the O. A. R. in Long Beach. The couple celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary December 3.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Barnes is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Edna Brachars of 2223 East Seventh Street, Long Beach, and Mrs. Jessie Oliver of Eugene, Oregon; two sons, Robert C. Barnes of 2014 East Beverly street, Los Angeles, and E. O. Barnes of Eden Idaho; 11 grandchildren, two sisters and one brother.

POLICE RAID BASQUE'S CACHE OF MOONSHINE

Owner Escapes by Distancing Officer; Prisoner's Turkey Dinner Proves Transient.

Frank Almaguire, a Basque, is at liberty today because of the fact that Officer Mumpower is according to police officers, built for comfort and not for speed. Almaguire had been under observation for several days in connection with suspicious habits in leading up the liquor, a considerable quantity of illegal liquor refreshment in his possession.

Shortly after noon on Christmas Day, Officer Mumpower arrived at the residence of Almaguire on Second street east. Upon entering the house the visitor discovered about 30 gallons of moonshine whiskey and its alleged owner. While the officer was engaged in leading up the liquor, he departed with much rapidity for an unknown point beyond the horizon in spite of the policeman's efforts to overhaul him. A few shots fired in the air after the fugitive served only to scare the policeman.

After his boat had left, the officer commanded the Ford touring car belonging to Almaguire loaded up the 30 gallons of moonshine, some beef, and a nutcase. A final glance about the premises brought to light a turkey which the Basque and intent on his Christmas dinner, Officer Mumpower confiscated the bird along with the rest of the spoils of the raid.

Turkey Dinner Ordered
Feeling the jovial spirit of "peace on earth and good will to men" which pervades the city tonight, the officer took the bird to a local restaurant and ordered that it be cooked and delivered to the police station in a prison cell on the city jail. When dinner time rolled around the regular dinners had already arrived and had been put away by the residents of the city bustle. The little room was left for turkey so the gift of Almaguire and Officer Mumpower was placed on an upper bunk to await the returning pangs of hunger early on the following morning.

That night a "fury" one of the homeless wanderers who seek a bit of "shut-eye" at the city jails along their routes when darkness and the chill of winter nights overtakes them, was assigned to the cell occupied by two of the boys and the turkey, and thereby hangs a tale.

Sympathies Are Aroused
When the first traces of dawn were penciled on the eastern sky, the wanderer decided to continue on his way. After reciting his woes and tribulations to the two regular occupants of the cell he arose, their sympathies were such an extent that one of the pair gave him 45 cents with which to purchase bread.

Shortly after when the two men arose from their bunks and turned their thoughts to turkey breakfast, the bird had flown, and but one small morsel of dressing remained.

Officers suggested yesterday that having been so well cared for by the prisoners, the guest of the night before might return again. The only request the prisoners made was that if the man returned that he be assigned to the same cell.

Well Expressed
When a man has not a good reason for doing a thing, he has one good reason for letting it alone.—Sir Walter Scott.

KANSAS SEEKS TO KEEP BIG FLOOD PLACED ON MAP BY TUNING UP

(By the Associated Press)
GREAT RIVERS, Kans., Dec. 26 — Heavy rains last summer created near here a lake 13 miles long and ten miles wide, and sportsmen are hoping to make it a permanent refuge for wild ducks while owners of the inundated land are wondering whether their farms can be drained.

The flooded area, known as Cheyenne Bottoms, is lower than the bed of the Arkansas river, which flows through a flat country a few miles south. Those who want the lake to be a permanent body of water plan to connect Cheyenne Bottoms with the river, the heavy flow from which after spring rains would keep the lake filled.

Cheyenne Bottoms was under water 24 years ago, but all the water evaporated from the 25,000 acre basin because of a season of normal rainfall following the floods of 1903.

Kansas congressmen plan to urge an appropriation for providing an outlet from the Kansas river to make possible the perpetuation of the lake, now the largest body of water in Kansas. They will recommend the plan as a flood control measure.

The land under water is valued at $15 to $20 an acre, though some of it is so marshy for agricultural purposes. Farmers have found a way to recover some of their flood loss. They have built blinds for duck hunters, renting each for 50 cents to $1 a day to sportsmen. Millions of wild ducks and geese have come to the region.

Mrs. Mary Mitchell, 42, formerly secretary of the Boyd hospital in Twin Falls, died December 26 at the hospital, in Long Beach, California, in which city she had for some years been surgical assistant and secretary for Dr. T. O. Boyd, according to word received here yesterday.

Mrs. Mitchell is survived by four sisters, Mrs. J. V. Melick of Underwood, South Dakota; Mrs. C. E. Miller of Aurora, Iowa; Mrs. E. S. Miller of Winthrop, Iowa, and Mrs. E. E. Horton of Oklawaha, Iowa, and two brothers, Charles Carney of Rochester, New York and John Carney of Tipton, Iowa.

CONROY RELEASED UNDER BOND IN LIQUOR HEARING

Pat Conroy, arrested by Twin Falls police on a charge of illegal possession of intoxicating liquor, has been released under a bond of $200 to appear for hearing at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Conroy was arrested in a shed in an alley near the fire station Sunday evening. The arresting officer stated that he followed Conroy into the shed and that Conroy threw a gallon jug out of a window. The jug failed to break and the officer brought Conroy and the jug to police court to tell the judge all about it.
