TOLERANCE EMPHASIZED BY CHURCH AUTHORITY

Tolerance was emphasized in the address of B. H. Roberts, of Salt Lake famous D. S. Orator, at one of the seven presiding of the seventy's at the meetings Saturday afternoon and Sunday in quarterly conference here.

Mr. Roberts spoke Saturday on "How God Hears Our Prayers." He asserted that angels do not return to God in prayer and requires an angel to carry the message to him. "As we walk in the sunlight—we see in the presence and knowledge of God," he declared; "and if we feel that our prayer is not answered, let us look into ourselves to see, if we are right. Sometimes a prayer is answered by God and we do not realize it."

Speaking on "What is the Gospel," Sunday afternoon, Mr. Roberts declared that a good Latter Day saint manifested the influence of the gospel by faithful attendance at religious service, by payment of tithes, by secret prayer and by a desire to carry the truth to others.

Clifford Tolman, of the high council of the L. D. S. church who spoke. There were a number of talks at the morning meeting and a excellent W. L. A. program at night.

ELECTRICIANS AND PLUMBERS LICENSE RULES FAVOR

Council Places Wire Men's Ordinance on First Reading; Contest Looms on Sprinkling District; Garbage Bids Open.

Official statement expressed at a regular meeting of the Twin Falls city council last evening seemed to favor the wire men's ordinance and to have the plumbers' ordinance adopted providing for licensing of workmen engaged in either trade and for municipal inspection of their work.

An ordinance providing for appointment of a municipal plumbing inspector was introduced and passed and an ordinance providing for the licensing of plumbers was referred by the council to the city attorney for examination.

The plumbers' ordinance provides that only licensed plumbers shall be permitted to install plumbing in Twin Falls. Each plumbing contractor would be required to furnish $1000 bond and pay $5 annual license fee for inspection ranging from $5 to $2 for each installation would be paid by the plumber to the inspector who would receive no other compensation.

Mayor Voloes Approval

The ordinance submitted by the electricians is similar in its terms, to the plumbers' ordinance except that it provides for a board of examiners to determine whether applicants for license are qualified workmen, and license fees of $2.

Opinion was expressed by Mayor H. E. Bonter that the proposed measures are similar in their terms and that he would afford protection that should be given to regular workmen.

Storm on Sprinkling

Approval of certain territory in South Park addition in the proposed sprinkling district for the coming year seems to have excited the firemen and the councilmen when they neglected last evening a formal notice of intention to create the sprinkling district in the residential territory that has been included in the district in previous years.

A provision of the ordinance that would allow the council to receive protests against the formation of the district on the indicated line. A protest was filed by a number of South Park property owners already has been lodged with the council, and it was stated that the protest was made to the project.

Cost of street sprinkling for the year is estimated at $10,000. The cost of the project is estimated at $100,000. The largest item, will be gas and oil, $1000; water $1000; machinery, $4000; advertising, $2000; and other expenses, $2000.

Bid for Garbage Removal

Two out of five bidders for the contract for removal of ashes and garbage next year were eliminated when the councilmen opened the bids last evening. Eliminated bidders were A. C. Crane who bid $200, and Sam Eason who bid $300 and specified that the city should remove surplus ashes and garbage overlooked by the present contractor.

Proposals of the three remaining bidders were taken under consideration. They were: C. E. Peterson, $1200; Clark Dipson, $1400; H. E. Cronson, $1700.

The contract for street lighting was awarded to E. J. Bush for $1200.

Police Court Report

Collections of the police court during the month of April totaled $152. In fines and costs amounted to $152, according to report submitted by H. D. Read, police magistrate. One half of the fines collected to be paid to the school district.

City treasurer's collections for the month of April totaled $428, and the balance in cash on hand at the close of the month was $44,244, according to reports made to the council. THREE INJURED WHEN CAR LEAVES HIGHWAY

Driver Goes to Sleep at Wheel and Machine Crashes Into Pole; Infant Boy is Scalded.

Three persons were injured when the touring car driven by Aaron A. Hansen, McCall, left the road near Hansen about 3 o'clock Sunday morning when the driver went to sleep at the wheel. Elmer McCall, seven-year-old, seated beside the driver and headed severe cuts about the face and neck; Lynn McCall, 11-months, a scalded right hand; and Mr. McCall, a wounded chest.

Mr. and Mrs. McCall and their children were driving from their former home in McCall to Salt Lake City, Utah. They were attempting to make the trip from Hamlet to Ruben Saturday night. Near Hansen, Mr. McCall went to sleep at the wheel and the car plunged from the highway and struck an electric light pole beside the road.

Child Cut, Badly Scalded

Elmer was thrown into the windshield and was badly cut about the face and head. Lynn, the baby, was thrown from his mother's arms and was found lying in front of the car. The rubber hose connecting the radiator and other engine pieces had been broken. Hot water and boiling water had poured over the infant's hand and arm, scalding it badly. Mr. McCall was thrown against the steering wheel and sustained a bruised chest. The other occupants of the machine were unhurt.

My advice to all drivers who begin to feel drowsy at the wheel is to stop and sleep for a while," Mr. McCall admonished.

Elmer was treated at the Twin Falls hospital and is now being nursed in the hospital. Lynn, the scalded infant, is now being nursed at the home of Jesse L. Roberts, Mr. McCall's brother.

After a few days' rest, the family will continue on their way to Salt Lake City. The car was badly damaged, and Mr. McCall has not yet decided whether it can be repaired for the trip or not.

COUNCILMEN FIGURE MUNICIPAL EXPENSE FOR COMING YEAR

General Fund Budget Total Approximately $121,000 To Serve as Basis for Computing Annual Appropriation Bill.

Twin Falls municipal general fund expenditures for the fiscal year beginning today will approximate $121,000, according to estimates worked out by members of the city council in regular session last evening. This estimate is to be used as a basis for the coming year which was adopted by the council last evening. The municipal appropriation bill for the fiscal year beginning today is 10 weeks hence, it is to be based on this budget.

SCORE HIGH-RECORD FOR TURKEY EGG INCUBATION

A record of 85 per cent incubator hatch of turkey eggs was scored yesterday at the Hayes Hi-Grade hatchery, Twin Falls, is regarded as an important factor in the turkey industry in this region.

In view of this record, the hatchery management felt justified in asserting that securing of the proper amount of heat, moisture and ventilation explains the secret of successful turkey egg incubation and tends to solve a problem with which the industry has been wrestling for years. These factors in the case of turkey egg incubation vary materially from their application in incubation of hen eggs.

The high record was scored with the highest out-of-four individual hatches that totalled 608 eggs. The average hatch was 62 per cent of all eggs set, and 73 per cent of all fertile eggs. Some of the eggs were nearly four weeks old.

The hatchery has now between 15,000 and 20,000 turkey eggs under incubation. One of its big incubators is used for the purpose of setting and eggs are shipped here for hatching from points as far distant as Colville, Wyoming.

GREAT SMOKE, LITTLE FIRE BRINGS BRIGADE

A record run was made by Twin Falls firemen at 3:15 o'clock yesterday to 203 Fourth avenue north, only to find that the rear flames had been extinguished by a bucket of water. Some old rags in an abandoned chicken shed started a big smoke and somebody turned on the alarm.

At 1 o'clock fire was discovered on the roof of the Colorado rooms near the depot and extinguished by the firemen. The loss was small.

Year will require $82,000, according to computations made by the clerk and treasurer. Of this amount $45,000 is required for persons on principal indebtedness.

The budget is to be published for four weeks prior to adoption of the appropriation bill, in order that citizens and taxpayers may be advised of the intended expenditures of the coming year.

Lower Prices

The opening of an O. P. Skaggs System store in Twin Falls has had the usual effect, and other grocers now find they can sell cheaper than in the past. The mention of our store works like magic in causing a high priced grocer to lower his prices.

Our Reputation

The O. P. Skaggs stores' reputation of selling good foods cheap has spread far and near. Independent and chain store grocers dislike to see our store come to their town. It stands to reason that our Twin Falls store will serve you best as we reduce prices voluntarily, whereas our local competitors do so only when in fear of losing their customers. Pay our new store a visit soon and see how much you can save.

FLOYD BENNETT, one of the world's most noted fliers, succumbed to pneumonia in Quebec, thus ending a brilliant career all too soon. His gallant feat of rising from a sick bed at Detroit to answer the distress cry of the Bremen was the cause of his contracting the illness. Upper left is an excellent photo of Bennett wearing the Congressional Medal of Honor which was awarded him for his part in Commander Byrd's North Pole flight. Upper right he is being presented with the Hubbard medal by President Coolidge. Below he is seen with Secretary Wilbur, Commander Byrd and President Coolidge, at the time when the Medal of Honor was conferred on him at Washington, D. C.

WITHIN THE RADIUS of a few hundred miles, up in the barren stretches of Labrador, were found seven of the world's most famous fliers. Another of their number, who gallantly gave his life, was there on their common mission. Lindbergh, Byrd, Chamberlin and Balchen, name-to-conjure-with, were all at hand to lend whatever assistance was in their power to the stranded German-Irish trio on Greenland Island.

FLOYD BENNETT, lower right, world noted aviator, was born and reared in this humble home at Lake George Village, N. Y. His aged mother, Mrs. Henrietta Bennett, upper right, is still living here where Bennett spent the happiest days of his life. Mrs. Bennett has acquiesced in the government's request to bury her son in Arlington cemetery at Washington, D. C.

BRISK UP TURN IN STOCK PRICES ON MART HALTS

NEW YORK, April 30 (AP)—A brisk upturn in stock prices was halted today by the marking up of the call money rate from 2 to 2 1/2 percent.

Despite the interruption to business demanded caused by the celebration in honor of the centennial of the aviators, total sales again ran above 4,000,000 shares.

Raising of the money rate followed the falling of about $20,000,000 in connection with dividend and interest payments.

The day's trade news was mixed in character. Placing of Coca Cola common stock on a regular $5 annual basis was offset by the completion of the regular quarterly dividend on Miller Tubber preferred.

Oil shares were again heavily bought on the market. The industry had definitely turned for the better.

Adams Express broke 17 points to 32 1/2 and rallied to 35 1/2. Westerns also broke 10 points to 15 1/2.

The biological survey says that some snakes have a detectable odor. This is stronger in some species than in others. It is most noticeable in the garter snake.

The expression "crocodile tears" is used in reference to insincere grief from the legend told by the old travelers that a crocodile wept over those it devoured.

The Red Road

A Romance of Bradlock's Desert
By Hugh Caldwell
Illustrated by Lewin Myers

The red road had been distinguished in the medicine-loggia from the other outside; I assumed that the Indiana was still bewildered and not knowing that the startling appearance of the muffled figure outside, the lodge and its flight through the window was not the workings of the wizard's magic.

Even now, with the Franciscan stumbling about in the commandment and calling for lights, with Beauvau, molly shouting that there was an English spy inside the stockade, and with Pontiac darting among the terrified red men and finally finding the stolen gun, I could not take advantage of the confusion and make off into the darkness that encroached up to the rear wall. I had been pulled the blanket over my head and drew his own covering clear, and setting my arm raised the rear wall and pushed me before him.

"He will be hissed," he said, "to the water-gate."
Pontiac's voice thundered a command. The Onondaga muttered—"The Ottawa chief tells his children and the other boys the stockade and all anyone trying to get out."
Once outside the lodge and we were in darkness. Thirty yards away, a dog and a cat, snarling and growling, were savages. But as we pressed on Pontiac's stuttering voice gradually faded from intelligence here and there, and from different points and in the distance, the wailing of the Ohio tribes, the word was passed to guard the stockades and gates.

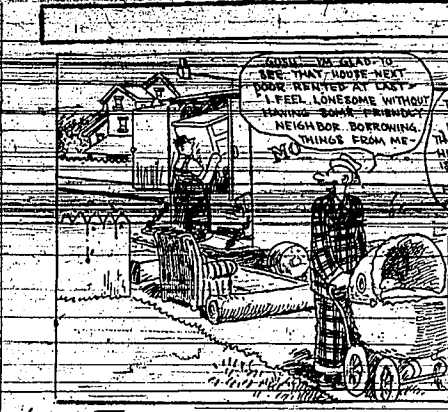

"Take the man behind the door!" roared Pontiac, and he bent his head to the face of the man who had been with my French name and that Beauvau now understood all.
"Why this way?" I asked the Onondaga as he reached the stockade on the river front.

"Stand on my shoulders, white brother, and go over the stockade. There's the white brother. Shall you join her, or face about and die like children?"
I scrambled to his shoulders and went over the stockade. Beauvau's assistance found I was worried by the ground within a few feet of the door.

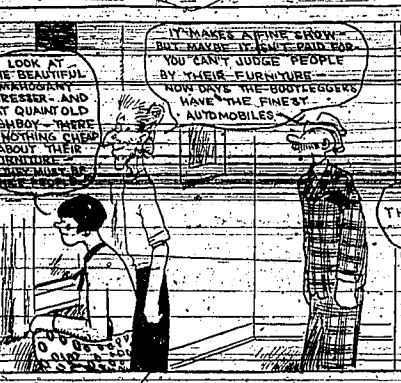

It was very dark and I was completely bewildered.
"This way, mister, called a low voice. The Onondaga dragged me across the water. My hand rested on a canoe. Why there? I whispered.

"The water of the river is the hair laughing, half-sleeping reply. "But please don't stop to talk, mister."
It was time I scrambled into the canoe, for a chorus of yells was now being heard from the stockade. I slipped over a ridge as the Onondaga pushed the light craft into the current and I was up and found it familiar to my ears.

"Whose is this?" I whispered. "Hush!" cautioned the girl. Then promptly, "It's yours. I was at the canoe when it was pulled out. I began to crawl when Mr. Beauvau commenced calling you a spy."
"Talk will kill us," granted the Onondaga. He pushed a paddling into my hands and began working desperately to reach the stock water along the opposite bank. His warning was timely for I could hear the plop, plop of heavy bodies dropping over the stockade. There came an explosion of mad rage that made my heart race. The Onondaga proudly informed us:

THE GUMPS THE CRITICS

asked my help. She waited outside the door in the dark for me to come. I was the witch-woman girl. She would give me water. She was to be outside the stockade by the water-gate. She has a very strong medicine.

"I know I heard it," she muttered. "But it is only the hood of a wolf."
"Indian things," he believed, that "but I told her 'Up-the-creek.'"
"You think a Indian made it, mister?"
The howl was repeated and sounded clearer.

"It was positive," I said. "As if to guarantee the certainty of my words the signal was answered on my left and again from the direction of the river."
"They are close about," I whispered. "There's nothing to see other than to meet on this creek. They'll find our trail. There's but one way open: we must strike back by the river. The creek, I'm afraid, however we enter the forest below it, we can't strike there and try to stand them off."

CURTAINS AND DRAPES

The old method of pinning curtains to a frame, with the danger of pins tearing the material, is now a relic of the dark ages. Straight edges came back scalloped, and corners were not square.

NOW, with our curtain stretching units, which make use of a special carding material, danger of tearing is eliminated, and curtains hung by our method hang straight and true, and are a joy to any home manager.

Many a garment that seems ready for the rag bag can be made to give additional service if it can be looked over by our repair and alteration department. With linings repaired or replaced, new pockets or bindings, and some alterations here and there, the serviceable life of a suit or dress is lengthened considerably.

You will find our repair and alteration charges very reasonable.

FUR DEPARTMENT

Fur neckpieces, fur coats and trimming offer fertile breeding places for moths, particularly when stored for the summer.

Protect your valuable furs by letting us clean them thoroughly this spring. Our cleaning process will kill the moths, remove all dust, dirt and grit and improve the skins generally.

DYEING DEPARTMENT

We refuse more dye orders than we accept! This may sound like poor business policy, but our experience has shown that many garments cannot be dyed successfully. Our advice, always, is never to dye a garment which can be used as it is.

Many articles, however, can give months of added wear if properly dyed, and our advice before dyeing will save you money.

We welcome inquiries regarding this work, and will be glad to quote our prices for GOOD dye work.
