REPUBLICANS NOMINATE HOOVER

Prohibition and Farmers' Relief Platform Planks

Convention Turns Back Upon Advocates of McNary-Haugen Plan for Agricultural Legislation; In Favor of Re-organization of Marketing System With Creation of Surplus Control Board.

(By The Associated Press)
KANSAS CITY, June 14.—Turning its back upon advocates of McNary-Haugen farm relief legislation and repeal of the prohibition amendment, the Republican national convention today adopted the platform upon which it will go to the country and over which its resolutions committee wrangled for the better part of two days and nights.

The farm relief plank finally approved by the convention declares for re-organization of the marketing system with the creation of a farm board to set up farmer-owned and controlled corporations to prevent and control surpluses through orderly distribution.

The prohibition plank declares for the rigid enforcement of the eighteenth amendment, while other planks call for public economy, publicity of campaign contributions and expenditures, continued tax reduction, maintenance of the Coolidge policies in Latin-America, and China and continued efforts for the outlawing of war, upward revision of the tariff, particularly on farm products, reduction of the public debt, continuation of the effort to maintain present standards of wages and living conditions, maintenance of a merchant marine, continued development of highway and waterway systems, maintenance of the navy at the 5-5 ratio strength, enactment of anti-lynching law and full and adequate relief for disabled veterans.

Applause interrupted the discussion of two planks frequently was interrupted by applause and once or twice there were demonstrations of sizeable proportions.

By the Lowden and farm relief supporters after Frank W. Murphy, delegate from Minnesota, had made a flying speech for a plank proposed by Earl O. Smith, Illinois, a Lowden supporter, and the other for President Coolidge which came during an address by Senator Borah, Idaho, who (Continued on Page Seven)

JURY FINDS OWYHEE COUNTY MEN GUILTY

Tom Bridges and Sellers Held to Answer for Voluntary Manslaughter of Patrick.

SILVER CITY, Idaho, June 14 (AP)—Eight days of excitement, paralleling the days when this was a booming mine town, were brought to a close today when Tom Bridges and Sellers were found guilty of voluntary manslaughter for the slaying of Clayton Patrick, who, with Elmer Ludlow, was killed in a gun battle in the Three Creek country of southwestern Idaho last February 22.

The jury brought in a verdict at 3:30 this morning after 12 hours of deliberation. The crime carries a maximum sentence of 15 years in the penitentiary. Sentence will be pronounced Saturday.

Stores Conflict
No decision was reached today whether the two men would be brought to trial for the slaying of Ludlow, whose death according to defense, resulted in the slaying of Clayton Patrick. Conflicting stories of the case were told at the trial, prosecution presenting testimony to show that the two ranchers were down from ambush before either had a chance to defend himself, while defense charged that the slaying was the result of a fight between the two men. After the shooting the two ranchers were taken from the field to the Patrick ranch house. Patrick with rifle wounds in both knees and through his back, and Ludlow riddled with shotgun pellets, Bridges and Sellers surrounded by sheriff's officers and have been confined in the Owyhee county jail here since.

Initial Ballot Landslide For Commerce Secretary

War-Time Food Administrator Receives 837 Votes While Five Opponents Score 247; Frank O. Lowden Withdraws Name on Eve of Contest; Selection of Vice President Will Conclude Business.

(By The Associated Press)
KANSAS CITY, June 14.—Herbert Hoover, California, war-time food administrator and for the past seven years secretary of commerce under Presidents Harding and Coolidge, was nominated for the presidency on a first ballot landslide tonight by the Republican national convention.

Although his selection had been forecast for days, the proportions of his victory did not become apparent until the call of the roll actually was under way. He was helped on by his nearest competitor, Frank O. Lowden, Illinois, who withdrew his name just on the eve of the balloting because he could not approve the farm relief plank adopted today by the majority of the McNary-Haugen farm bloc and in the end 24 of the 61 of Lowden's own Illinois slipped into the Hoover column to help swell the total high above the simple majority needed to nominate.

The result of the convention's one and only ballot was as follows: Hoover 837; Curtis 45; Watson 45; Dawson 45; Coolidge 17; Norris 17; Hughes 17; Lowden 17; Goff 17. The number necessary for a nomination, considering the absentee was 542.

"If he were nominated to succeed himself and should accept, he would carry every agricultural state—here predominantly interrupted him. The great convention hall shook with shouts and applause. Delegates and visitors springing to their feet. Leaders began waving numerous resolutions on the subject after the late adjournment of the convention, many of them to get in touch with Mr. Hoover himself in Washington and learn whether his choice will be wise tomorrow. In which direction it will fall was not apparent tonight for at least a score of candidates were flying like arrows in the air. The number necessary for a nomination, considering the absentee was 542.

FLAG DAY SPEAKER CALLS FOR DEFENCE OF HUMAN LIBERTY

Mr. Chapman, President of the National Association of Public Observance Exercises.

An earnest and eloquent appeal to patriotic feeling for the defense of individual liberties guaranteed by the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution was voiced by Mr. Chapman, Twin Falls attorney, in his Flag day address delivered in connection with public exercises held in observance of the day by Twin Falls lodge of Elks in the Elks lodge rooms last evening.

Impressive ritualistic service of the degree presented by Alvin Harburt, exalted ruler, and other officers of the lodge, was supplemented by an attractive program of music arranged by A. Wilton Peck and including some of Twin Falls' best known singers and musicians.

The lodge rooms in which an appreciative audience gathered to witness the exercises, were beautifully decorated for the occasion, with red, white and blue pennants contributed by Mrs. Florence Wright of Kimberly figuring prominently in the decorative scheme.

Scouts Lead Band
Boy Scouts of the troop of which they are a part, assisted in the ritualistic ceremonial, displaying the several flags of the nation.

The musical program included two numbers, "America, Triumphant," and "Kipling's Recessional," by a quartet composed of Mrs. O. P. Duval, Mrs. W. Zenas Smith, Walker Carter, and Lloyd L. Patrick with accompaniment by Mrs. Walker Carter; instrumental solo by Mrs. Vaughn Price; violin solo by A. E. Francis; with accompaniment by Mrs. Francis.

Mr. Chapman prefaced his declaration of individual rights with explanation of the purpose of the Elks' flag day observance "to publicly recognize the birth of the nation, the birth of the American people, the birth of the American problem—the American flag."

Purpose of Founders
"Contrary to the belief, apparently, and unfortunately entertained by a number of people," Mr. Chapman continued, "this flag was not ushered into the world, nor was this government founded for the purpose of either regulating human thought or prescribing human conduct, nor for the purpose of making men better or more virtuous, or more pious, beyond the extent to which the enjoyment of the rights of the citizen, the rights of the American people, and the happiness and contentment which they produce in the human race, are concerned. Let us, promotion of virtue and piety. Our forefathers, as well as their ancestors, have been of bold and brave experience with arbitrary—and paternal government, and from its constant and increasing interference with, and encroachment upon, their sacred rights, as men. To escape these oppressions and animated by the hope of enjoying the free exercise of their sacred rights, their fathers had traversed the ocean and established themselves upon this continent."

Appeal to Patriotism
The speaker outlined the guarantees of the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution and told of the struggles through which American principles and ideals had been carried triumphant.

"This flag," Mr. Chapman concluded, "symbolizes the history and traditions of our country, its principles and purposes, the noble sacrifice and heroic deeds of our fathers, the glorious achievements of war and peace, and the happiness and contentment which they produce in the human race. Let us, promotion of virtue and piety. Our forefathers, as well as their ancestors, have been of bold and brave experience with arbitrary—and paternal government, and from its constant and increasing interference with, and encroachment upon, their sacred rights, as men. To escape these oppressions and animated by the hope of enjoying the free exercise of their sacred rights, their fathers had traversed the ocean and established themselves upon this continent."

consistently had opposed the McNary-Haugen proposals. The demonstration came when Borah declared that if he should be nominated by the convention, he would not support the McNary-Haugen proposals.

"And, more than that," he added, "after the delegates had been selected, I would have been expected to support the McNary-Haugen proposals, despite his veto of the farm relief legislation, would carry every agricultural state north of the Mason and Dixon line."

INITIAL BALLOT LANDSLIDE FOR COMMERCE SECRETARY

on Tuesday as a dignified and almost sombre convention had become a night of a marching, shouting demonstration, making such noise as to be heard in such manner as it pleased, while powerless officials sat back and watched.

A 20-minute demonstration interrupted at the outset the speech placing him in nomination, a second followed, concluding the speech with a brief, crowing third as the nomination was made unanimous after the roll call and the delegates marched out of the hall.

Kansas gave her "favorite son," Senator Curtis, a howling send-off, helped along by many generous Hoosiers. In fact, everybody got a high hand throughout the whole of the long oratorical flourish with which the convention, according to Curtis, approached its final vote on the presidency.

The Lowden withdrawal coming unexpectedly on top of the bitter floor fight of this afternoon over farm relief, left some of the delegates glum for a while, but they were a few "boos" and a few cheers from the delegate section which soon drove away the gloom.

drawal was made. Later, one or two things were taken by other speakers at the course chosen by Mr. Lowden. The first was by Congressman J. N. Tischer, Kansas, in nominating Curtis, told the delegates his candidate was "no quitter."

While they were very much at the end of tonight's session, the convention managers expect that attention to solve itself very quickly and the convention to be finally adjourned by early afternoon tomorrow.

MARKET REFLECTS CROP IMPROVEMENT IN LOWER PRICES

Beneficial Rains Fall in Spring
Wheat Areas While Favorable Progress of Winter Crop Continues.

SALT LAKE, June 14—Beneficial rains in the spring wheat areas of both the United States and Canada during the week ending June 8, together with the favorable progress of the winter wheat crop and a continued dull flour demand, brought about a weaker situation in the domestic market, according to the weekly grain review of the United States bureau of agriculture, economics. Corn was also lower toward the close of the week influenced by the favorable prospects of the new crop. Rice was firm reflecting the limited supply, and unusually poor outlook for this season's crop. Oats and barley were steady while wheat advanced as a result of some delay in planting and an active demand from crushers.

The improvement in the winter wheat crop during the week was confirmed by the June 1 report which gave the condition as 75.6 per cent of normal compared with 72.2 June 1 last year and the 10 year average of 78.20 per cent. This indicates a production of 512,257,000 bushels or nearly 26,000,000 bushels above the May 1 estimate. This would still be about 40,000,000 below last year's harvest. The improvement was primarily in the central states, notably Kansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma. In other sections the outlook is still unfavorable, in prospect in Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois. The Kansas crop gives promise of being about 40 per cent larger than last year and the Oklahoma crop more than 60 per cent larger. The condition of spring wheat on June 1 was 79 per cent of normal and except for 1926 is the lowest figure on record. The crop has been reported in the important spring wheat states. Some moisture has been received since the first of June, however, and conditions are much improved. According to trade reports but continued favorable weather will be necessary to avoid serious damage.

Canadian Crops Good
General crop conditions in Canada are the best for early June for a number of years according to the second general crop report of the Manitoba Free Press. Wheat in the prairie provinces was from 4 to 6 inches higher on an average on June 8 with many points reporting 10 to 12 inches. The plant is well rooted and in a vigorous growing condition. Only a few points reported any serious need of rain and heavy rains were general over the three provinces during June 8, 9 and 10.

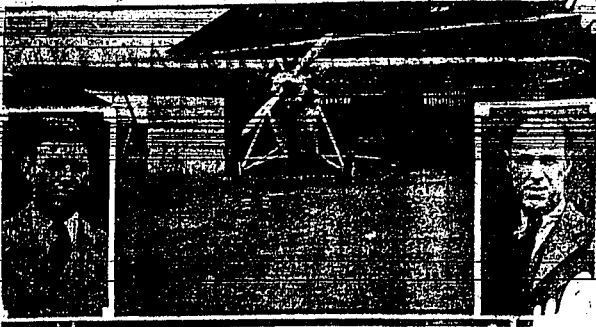

No important changes in the crop situation have been reported in other foreign countries. The condition of Italian wheat crop is good with improvement reported in France, Austria and Czechoslovakia. European crops are still somewhat backward and recent cool weather has retarded growth.

The cash wheat market generally followed the decline in futures but premiums held generally firm. High protein hard winter wheat was in better demand and 13 per cent protein No. 2 hard winter wheat was quoted at Kansas City at 23 to 29 cents over the July price, which closed June 8 at $1.12 1/2, a decline of about 4 cents for the week. Twelve per cent protein was bringing 11 to 18 cents over the July. Trade in soft crop wheat is still light with buyers at Kansas City generally bidding about 3 cents over the July price for No. 1 hard winter for June shipment. The supply of soft winter wheat is practically exhausted at the principal markets and quotations are largely nominal.

They'll Race Across Continent

IN AN EFFORT to lower the record of 26 hours 50 minutes for a trans-continental flight from the Pacific to the Atlantic, made by Lieutenants Kelly and MacReady in 1923, Lee Schoenholtz (left) and H. J. Tucker will hop off in their Lockheed monoplane from the North Island naval air station for New York City. Their craft is powered with a Wasp motor and is similar to the plane in which Sir George Wilkins flew over the North Pole.

At St. Louis a few cars were available and were readily taken by the mills. No. 2 red was quoted in that market at the close of the week at $1.53. At Chicago No. 2 soft red winter was quoted nominally at $1.69 1/2, and at Cincinnati at $1.77 to $1.78. Some new winter wheat was reported harvested in Georgia, which was of exceptionally good quality. No. 3 red winter was quoted at Toledo at $1.77 to $1.78 or about 50 cents below the recent high point reached in May. Mills generally were awaiting the movement of the new crop grain.

Milling Demand Improves
Milling demand was more active in the spring wheat markets as a result of the decline in wheat prices and premiums for the lower proteins were firm while high protein wheats were weak. No. 1 dark northern 12 per cent protein was quoted at Minneapolis at 8 to 12 cents over the July price, which closed on June 8 at $1.39 1/2, a decline of 3 1/2 cents for the week. Thirteen per cent protein was bringing 21 to 23 cents over the July, and Brazilian Congress of Pharmacy durum wheat was also weaker but for most of the tests studied by Brazilian medical and pharmaceutical students are in French, the medical class of the country is largely ignorant of American medical progress.

July price at both Duluth and Minneapolis. Rains in the Pacific northwest improved the wheat crop in that territory but farmers are not contracting at the lower prices and are awaiting the outcome of the soft winter wheat crop in the central west. Soft white and western wheat quoted at Portland at the close of the week at $1.42 per bushel, hard winter, northern spring and western red at $1.32 per bushel and Big Bend Blue Stem at $1.48 per bushel. The demand for wheat in California markets was slow with much not being in quantity. No. 1 hard white was quoted at San Francisco at $2.25 per 100 pounds or $1.25 per bushel. Good quality feed wheat sacked was quoted at Los Angeles at $2.20 per 100 pounds of $1.20 per bushel.

PHARMACISTS TO MEET

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—American pharmaceutical interests have been invited to participate in the Second Brazilian Congress of Pharmacy at Sao Paulo, September 15-17. ### SOUTHERN BRANCH IN STRATEGIC SITUATION

University President-Elect Sees
Opportunity to Define Ideal
Type Junior College.

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, June 14—A statement by President-elect Frederick J. Kelly of the University of Idaho indicates that the southern branch of the university will figure prominently in the development of a new higher education in America. "The next important step in higher education in America is to develop the right kind of a junior college," said the university's new president in talks at the main campus at Moscow during commencement week. President Kelly came to Moscow a week before commencement, and in talks to the university faculty, alumni association, friends of the graduating class of 1928 and commencement visitors, outlined his conception of what a state university ought to be.

In the southern branch of the university, President Kelly believes, is the best opportunity in America to develop the southern branch of the university. President Kelly believed that a junior college should be developed to serve those who desire additional "cultural rounding out" beyond what the high school can offer but who are not disposed to pursue a full four year college course. It is also his plan to build a new dormitory and a new school building on the main campus.

variety will involve the courses of study at the main campus as well as at the southern branch. The higher education system must make provision for the ever increasing number of students who wish to continue their general education for at least two years beyond high school, the new president believes. The right kind of a junior college offers the solution but higher education he feels has been more or less "squeezed out" of the system. Idaho has an unusual opportunity to build the way to high school.

DECLO EXPANDS AS AMUSEMENT CENTER

Old Time Eastern Showman
Installs Miniature Coney Island on Homestead.

BURLEY, June 14.—Considerable interest is being directed to the town of Declo, which is showing a rather remarkable development as an amusement center. Apparently not satisfied with assembling a baseball team capable of inflicting crushing defeats on all comers, the little city is blossoming into a small edition of Coney Island.

At night, flowing streamers and a flood of many colored lights attract the traveler. Great flocks of airplanes, broomsticks, three tier high, announce the entrance to a tent full of curious creatures. All sorts of more or less entrancing acts are the order of the day. New booths and buildings have gone up. A cabaret, with stalls, and a hardwood dancing floor. A chicken dinner palace, with fascinating outside decoration of yellow paint lettered with alluring announcements. A palace railroad car, anchored far from its accustomed round.

This recreation center is announced to be a permanent affair. Its owner, an old time eastern showman, has bought the 80-acre William Horroon farm, with its artistic stone residence, and is remodeling the angle of this farm that corners in the town of Declo into a modern amusement park.

A deep well is being drilled. A fully equipped tourist park, with all modern conveniences, is now being installed. It is announced that one of the largest dancing pavilions in the state is to be built here this fall.

A rather strange sight, this, to the old time residents. A bit of playground of the withered east transported to this frontier of the west.

AFTER MASTERING A South Sea storm so terrible they refrained from broadcasting their plight to an anxious world, the four transpacific fliers brought their monoplane Southern Cross safely to earth at Brisbane, the end of their over-water journey. Above at top is an excellent panorama of the city which greeted them in a frenzy of enthusiasm. Center, left to right, Lyon, Kingford-Smith, Ilm and Warner, and below, a photograph of Sydney's "raywhite way," the ultimate destination of the airmen. ## BURLEY SCOUTS ASSIST IN FLAG DAY EXERCISES

BURLEY, June 14.—Boy scouts took part in the annual flag day observance by the local lodge of Elks in West park, Sunday evening. Ten scouts carried flags onto the platform, exemplifying the gradual crystallization of English and colonial standards into the present American flag.

W. Orr Chapman, a Twin Falls lawyer, gave an address on "The Rights of an American Citizen and Our Flag." C. W. Thomas also gave an appropriate talk about the flag.

Music was furnished by the Elks' band under direction of Bill Schlick, and by Mark Freshman's orchestra.

After the ceremony the children were treated to ice cream. There was a big attendance.

FOREST TREES ARE URGED FOR POSTS

Extension Forester Says Sparrows—Should-Be-Planted in Hardwood for Use

The farmers of Twin Falls county are losing sight of a good future source of income when they fail to plant the present life portions of their farms to trees for their farm woods.

A. M. Sowder, extension forester declared yesterday following his arrival here.

Salmon every farm has a small corner too small to cultivate with profit, he declared, and which though unfitted for field crops is admirably adapted to growing the farm woods. In the way of fence posts, props, poles, etc. The trees need care and cultivation for just two or three years and within seven or eight years posts can be secured from the planting if they are well cared for.

"The cheaper a farmer can secure his own posts, the better off he will be," he said, "and the price of posts is as high as 38 to 42 cents, but much of the odds and ends just shipped were from clips contained during the winter months, when the price was lowest."

For every farmer to take inventory of his land to determine the land most suitable for forest tree crops. Incidentally the farmers are the largest users of forest products in the community and it is well to arrange to grow the most of their needs as possible.

Mr. Sowder said that if farmers who have on hand forest trees for shelterbelts, wood lots or windbreaks will notify R. E. Broward, county agricultural agent, while he is in the vicinity, he will help plan the planting.

CASSIA WOOL-GROWERS

CLEAN-UP SPRING-CLIP

BURLEY, June 14.—Final cleanup of wool brought in by small flockmasters and members of wool pools was made Saturday here. L. E. MacNamara, buyer for a Philadelphia wool house, loaded two cars. He loaded out one car from Tishone Friday and one from Oakley Tuesday.

Pool wool and small clips sold in Cassia county this season at from 22 to 38 cents. According to Roy Painter, who handles wool for local pools and through his bank, the bulk of pool wool went for 25 cents. He states that results of pooling here augurs well for next year's business. Small growers would be better off to secure the ones he grows himself on idle, rocky, sandy portions of his farm. It is advisable

MR. CHAPLIN was asked to smoke each of the four leading brands, choosing his taste with coffee between smokes. Only one question was asked: "Which one do you like the best?"

How does OLD GOLD do it?

What's the secret of OLD GOLD's winning charm? The answer is very simple. Three types of leaves grow on the tobacco plant ... coarse, heavy leaves, retaining to the utmost ... withered green leaves, without taste or aroma ... and the finest leaves, rich in cool and fragrant smoking qualities. These golden-ripe leaves have give OLD GOLD their long-life smokers. That's why so many people choose them. And that's why you too can pick them ... even in the dark.

Made from the best leaves of the tobacco plant.

The Idaho Dept. Store's Great Clearance of Dry Goods

In our Women's piece goods and furnishing store—This wonderful dry goods store has grown very rapidly in volume so far this year and to make room for what we estimate to be the largest and finest fall stock we have ever shown, we have sliced deeply into the price of all merchandise now on hand to move it quickly. Remember the big clearance sale starts Friday morning, June 15, and continues until the night of July 3, 1928. Also place the dates of June 10 to June 16 as two of the largest trading days we have ever given in order to start the big sale off properly. ## BABSON DISCUSSES MONEY SITUATION. WARNS SPECULATORS

Noted Economics Authority Points Out Significance of Rising Rates for Both Call and Time Loans; Gives Views

(Special to The News)
BABSON PARK, Mass., June 14.—In his weekly interview today, Mr. Babson discussed the money situation. He points out the significance of the rising rates for both call and time money. One feature of the present situation which worries him is the fact that many people are drawing out savings bank deposits and funds in other savings institutions with which to speculate.

"Study of the present money situation convinces me that conservative banking interests are now in the saddle and applying the curb bit to speculation. Call money at 7 per cent is evidence that the credit situation in the banking world must believe it is time to call a halt. When the call rate reaches present high figures it is significant, not especially so when it rises for longer term, such as four to six months commercial paper and year loans, are likewise moving upward. Time money at this writing is about 5 1/2 per cent, which is higher than at any time since 1925.

"The flow of gold out of the country continues unabated. Gold exports, in themselves, would not necessarily cause a tighter money condition for a while at least. The authorities of the federal reserve system saw fit to offset its effect in other ways. However, there is no indication that restrictive measures are contemplated. The reserve banks are still selling government securities. If they wanted to check the rise in money rates they would be buying them. There is nothing to indicate a change in policy of the reserve system. The authorities are still justified in letting things go on as they are. Those who believe that the federal reserve system is still in control of money have seen the fallacy of this belief. To be sure, it has taken time to get the restrictive measure adopted this spring to affect the stock market. However, when good industrial stocks are yielding only 3 or 4 per cent it does not pay, from an investment standpoint, to borrow money at 7 per cent in order to carry them. Particularly is this true when the earnings prospects for most industrial corporations are no better than a year ago and in many lines not so good.

Stocks Yield Rates
The speculative public will have no excuse for being caught in the stock market. The caution signals have been flying for some time and they have been more widely pointed out than in any previous bull market. One very significant barometer of security values is the ratio of industrial stock yields to money rates. We find that whenever stock yields have declined sufficiently and time money rates have advanced sufficiently so that the two figures cross, a speculative reaction of serious proportions has always ensued. A striking instance of this was in November, 1919. For three months previous time money had been moving upward and industrial stock prices advancing so that their yields declined to low levels. In December, 1919, the stock market broke and continued to decline until 1922. Another instance was in November, 1925, when money rates advanced to 4 1/2 per cent and industrial stock yields declined to 4 per cent. The lines crossed, but money rates at once declined again and the break in the stock market did not come until early in 1926. As to the trend of security values, this ratio of time money rates to industrial stocks, based on

It is on sound common sense, is a definite warning signal.

"Particularly significant, therefore, is the fact that these lines have again crossed in May, 1928. Furthermore, for nearly a month now the money rate has continued to advance while the industrial stock yields have continued to decline. Unlike 1926, therefore, when the lines merely touched and then diverged again, they have, since the first of May, 1928, crossed and continued their respective trends. It is only sensible under these circumstances to be prepared for a real reaction in the stock market.

"The most disturbing feature in the present money situation, however, is the fact that a great many people have been drawing their savings accounts and putting this money into inflated stocks. That is the height of folly. At the very time when the more experienced and wise investors are getting out of speculative securities and looking for building and loan shares, and savings banks—to put their money into the unsophisticated public are selling their building and loan shares and drawing out their savings from banks and going head over heels into stock market speculation. The head of a large cooperative bank recently told me that he cannot put the money he has received from the public into stock market speculation. He has liquidated their speculative holdings and are putting their money in sound savings institutions. The public at large is following exactly the opposite course.

Plenty of Money
"The former tendency of money rates is not due to any scarcity in the total supply of money in this country. It is not a question of how much money there is at any given time, but how much money banks and individuals are willing to loan for specific purposes. My observation is that speculative loans both for the stock market and for real estate are becoming harder to obtain and the rates are increasing. The banks are demanding better security and are loaning on a more conservative basis of valuation. They are beginning to scrutinize loans more carefully. This is a very salutary development. Conditions today would be much more sound this more conservative loaning policy had been adopted two years ago. Mortgage money rates, of course, should sooner or later feel the effect of high rates for stock market and commercial money if these continue for some months' time. Mortgage money differs from other types of loans in that it is usually of much longer maturity. I find from reports reaching me from different cities of the country that as yet there is no general raising of mortgage interest rates. I do find, however, that more money is available for home building, on a conservative proportion of value, than for other types of building. Moreover, the man who is building his own home for his own occupancy seems to be receiving the most consideration—Demands for speculative loans are being carefully scrutinized.

Rates for Mortgage Money
"The prevailing rate in the eastern section of the country for mortgage money is from 5 1/2 to 6 per cent. Some cities report 6 1/2, but the higher rates such as 7 1/2, 8 and 9 per cent, are found only in the South and West. In Texas, mortgage money is bringing the usual rate of 9 per cent with higher rates for certain kinds of loans. In these rapidly growing cities of the South and West the demand for money is greater than in the older and more settled eastern cities. It is only natural that rates should be higher in the newer and rapidly developing localities. Summing up the money situation today, it is apparent that a definitely firm trend in rates is under way. Also it seems likely that this is more than a temporary situation and cannot be disregarded in its probable effects on speculative security values. Hence, it is a helpful

CONGRESSMAN REPLIES TO CRITICS IN IDAHO

WASHINGTON, June 14.—The attention of Representative Addison T. Smith having been called to an article appearing in the Idaho papers, in which he is quoted as having said in debate on the floor of the house of representatives when the bill for the improvement of the Colorado river was under consideration, that the government owned the water flowing over the public lands, Mr. Smith stated that the Congressional Record, which contains a verbatim report of the debate, will disprove the truth of this statement. "I did not state," Mr. Smith remarked, "that the federal government owns the water flowing over the public lands, but that it did control the water in the Colorado river because of the navigability of the stream, and also because of the fact that it is an international stream, and forms the boundary line between states, and further by reason of the fact that it owned the land on both sides of the stream."

development from the long pull standpoint, because the longer this speculative movement goes unchecked the more severe will be the reaction. General business by the Babsonchart is now 5 per cent above normal.

MINISTER ENTERS UPON NORTH SIDE PASTORATE

EDEN, June 14.—Rev. C. A. Hawley, who conducted regular services at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning, Mr. Hawley and family recently arrived here from Salmon City. He will have charge of the pastorate of the Eden-Haskell Presbyterian church. A reception in honor of Mr. Hawley and family will be held tonight at the home of Mrs. Hawley. Mr. Hawley and his family are the sons of Mr. J. L. Pelton and daughter, Mrs. J. L. Pelton, and son, Mr. J. L. Pelton, and daughter, Mrs. J. L. Pelton. Mr. Hawley and family are the sons of Mr. J. L. Pelton and daughter, Mrs. J. L. Pelton, and son, Mr. J. L. Pelton, and daughter, Mrs. J. L. Pelton.

Many people from this vicinity attended the funeral services of Elmer Vineyard held in Twin Falls Sunday afternoon. Included were many of the high school students and former classmates. Harold Jenkins has returned from Alloua where he attended the normal school completing his second year. Floyd Brown has returned from Tulsa, Oklahoma, where he attended as a delegate the general assembly of the Presbyterian church. Mrs. Brown was one of the delegates from the Twin Falls presbytery.

Word was received here of the recent death of Mrs. Byron Nelson at Phoenix, Arizona. Mr. and Mrs. Nelson lived here for more than two years. Mr. Nelson was proprietor of the Eden Pharmacy and he sold out in order to seek a change of climate for the benefit of Mrs. Nelson's health. Beside the husband, one son, three years old, survives.

Mr. and Mrs. Winford Staples are here from Post Falls, Washington, visiting the former's father, J. Staples, and brother, M. C. Staples and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Baker, of Boise, stopped over in Eden a few days last week while on their way to Salt Lake City. The Bakers formerly lived here at Eden. They are the parents of Mr. and Mrs. George Phillips during the stop over. Rev. Mr. Gassner of Rosebud, Missouri, has accepted the call to serve the Eden Presbyterian church as pastor. He expects to arrive here to take up the new work by the middle of June. Reverend M. Zigel, the former minister of the Lutheran church as pastor, accepted the work in the Twin Falls church. Reverend Mr. Zigel has conducted services at different intervals during the past few months here at Eden.

The annual strawberry festival sponsored by the Eden Grange is announced to take place Tuesday evening at the C. D. Schmidgall farm near the Hillsdale school house. A program of music and readings has been provided for by Mrs. Guy Dixon, featurer of the Eden Grange.

This locality is receiving its share of the rain that came early Monday morning. Coming at the end of seven days of wind, the moisture will be a great boon to the farm crops that have suffered the past ten days from the excessive wind and low humidity. The rain will not apparently have any bad effect on the hay crops that have suffered the past ten days from the hay acreage over the North Side tract has as yet been cut. Small grain, beans and potatoes will benefit from the moisture.

Troop 2 of the Eden Boy Scouts enjoyed a very successful day on their Twin Falls Friday night. J. P. Knott, scout master, accompanied the boys.

BLOOMFIELD, Neb. (P)—While Jack Erion was burning a pile of timber a rabbit jumped through the flames, caught fire and ran through a hay meadow, spreading the flames. Erion had to plot fire guards to halt the fire.

EASY HOUSEKEEPING

By Mrs. MRS. MACGREGOR, Director of Household Science

Drainpipes and toilet bowls

—must be watched

When I was a young woman, keeping house was play until it came to cleaning. I had to clean, scrub, and then I could have cried. But that was years ago and women of today have an easy, safe, quick, and sure way to clean and disinfect that is nothing short of magic!

For sluggish drainpipes
This is a small bottle of Clorox. It is used in the kitchen, laundry, pantry, refrigerator and bathroom. Push the drainpipes with a plunger. Follow with a cup of Clorox. Then pour water. Four pipes will be as clean with a cup of Clorox to clean, disinfect and free from odors.

Danger in toilet bowls
Toilet bowls can be a serious menace unless they are kept immaculately clean. The easy and safe way to disinfect and cleanse these danger points is to pour half a cup of Clorox into the bowl and let it stand for an hour or overnight. Also wipe the rim of the bowl under the seat with a solution of Clorox.

Your ways
If you have special ways of using Clorox, don't you write to me about them? I shall keep on telling you in these columns of other easy housekeeping ways for which I have no space here.

HOOVER CALLED "GREATEST ADMINISTRATOR" BY FRIEND PROPOSING HIM AS NOMINEE

(By The Associated Press)

KANSAS CITY, June 14.—Appearing to the Republican convention to choose "America's greatest administrator in human welfare" as nominee, John L. McNab, a California friend, today placed the name of Herbert Hoover before the assembled delegates.

Declaring the secretary of commerce "the man of the hour" and "the greatest administrator in human welfare," McNab said that Hoover's life was a "continuous record of achievement." He said special emphasis upon his record as head of the Bureau of Mines, as food administrator during the war, and as the person who organized the Marshall plan flood relief last spring.

McNab said he was placing Hoover's name before the delegates "as the people themselves that we must give him this day. Their voice is the dominant voice of America."

"There is something spiritual in this universal call of the people for this man. It is not based on political expediency, it is based on the public will that the constructive policies of a Republican administration shall control this nation for the future."

"But we of this delegation are merely the voices that bring his name before this great assembly. Little doubt exists in the mind of anyone that if the man we shall present to you is selected by this convention, it will become the next president of the United States."

"It is not under the hypnotic spell of this great convention," McNab said, "that I am making this nomination. It is made because I believe it should be made. Already he has been nominated by the rising and rising sentiment of the men and women of the United States."

"The united Pacific Coast strides into this convention to declare its choice. And from the great farming states of the Mississippi valley, they come these voices of the ballot box in preferential primaries."

"The states of the old New England, from an almost unbroken Atlantic seaboard; from North and South alike they have thronged to this convention to bear the mandate of the people. It is to the people themselves that we must give our day. Their voice is the dominant voice of America."

"The end of the great war has revealed forces no man can measure. Old political faiths have been shaken to their foundations. Ancient slogans and symbols have lost their potency to charm. Millions of young men have grown to manhood since the signing of the Armistice. They are independent, thinking men. They have little reverence for political creeds and no patience with ancient history. They live in the present. They look to the future. They demand for a greater and finer America—an America of widened opportunities and greater hope for the common man."

"They are on the march today, and the political party that fails to heed their voice is leader for disaster. Beside them march the millions who make up the womanhood of America. Let no politician fail to heed the tremendous power of that spiritual force upon the affairs of today. That womanhood, too, is on the march beside its sons who have grown to manhood's estate."

"I can hear the approaching tread of these unnumbered millions of mothers and sons whose hearts are bound up in the future of the Republic. Their faith is fixed upon the man whose name we shall here place before you. They will follow him more enthusiastically than any other leader in the country. He has interpreted their hopes. He understands their cravings. He has been able to satisfy their longings for the better things of life. They recognize in him a Republican who has been able to bend the finest energies of the Republic to the service of the men and women who compose the home life of the United States."

"Their faith and prayers are fixed on him. And shall we dash their hopes and ignore their appeal? Let it be not that this mighty force for human betterment should find its abiding home in the Republican party than turn to other faiths."

"Our people are aroused to the need of a strong, courageous man to carry forward the constructive policies of a great administration."

"This historic party of achievement has never been able to submit to the American people a greater record of constructive human action than the administration of Calvin Coolidge. And of the constructive part of that administration, from its inception, Herbert Hoover has been a vital and intimate part."

"History will not overlook the fact that the execution of the great emergency measures of the administration have been committed by the President to his Secretary of Commerce."

"He has been to his Chief and to the people a loyal and devoted aide, a powerful and understanding friend, a power falling superior to his own constructive designs."

"And sympathetic men who have worked with him in the spirit of comradeship and cooperation which has distinguished all his public efforts, whether at home or abroad."

"There is something spiritual in this universal call of the people for this man. It is not based on political expediency, it is based on the public will that the constructive policies of a Republican administration shall control this nation and the country."

"The story of his life is an epic of modern achievement. Descended from seven generations of American ancestry, he has been a leader in the heights to which pure Americanism, by sustained effort and devotion, may reach."

"At the age of four, death took his father from beside the forge in the state of Iowa. That loss was compensated by the loss of his mother, for he was reared in the sweet and tolerant atmosphere of an American Quaker home."

"His education was marked by his patience which has marked his career through life was bred in him by the guide who guided the steps of his infancy."

"He emerged into public life in the first class of engineers to leave the university. With a stick in hand he mucked as a common laborer in the drabs of the old Mayflower mine."

"The spirit of the west laid the foundations of that enduring sympathy he has always shown for the laboring man. But he has been a constructive friend of industry and commerce."

"The aspirations of the average man of America have been laid in this man's efforts. Around the sufferings of mankind have been woven a warp and woof of the most dramatic and heroic in history."

"The world's greatest war broke suddenly over a startled world. He, the young man of the west, was in the City of London. The great war machine roared over Belgium leaving devastation and ruin in its wake. Here was cause that called for all the spirituality and valor of man."

"He heard the old cry that for over a hundred years had rung over the waters of an angry sea—'Women and children first.' He heard the cry and answered it with the sacrifice of his own life. He knelt before the altar and tottering children he knew neither friend nor foe. To him, hunger and innocence knew no nationality. Millions knelt before his sacrifice."

"To organize relief; to secure the funds; to buy foodstuffs; to ship them to the starving; to negotiate with governments, fierce and intolerant with the passions of war; to please angry and imperious generals; to get food to the starving and the starving to the food—there was a task such as never before had been set before man. The feeding of those hungry children is the greatest practical romance in history."

"The call came overseas from his beloved homeland. The United States had cast her lot in the great struggle. He was named Food Administrator. He knew the peril of that station. Full well he understood that the proper execution of the task would mean the graveyard of all political hopes."

"From the day he was appointed, he insisted that the one essential condition was the American farmer. To quicken production; to stimulate the farmer; to show him that the governments could afford to pay; to resist the mercantile profiteer, and to see that the farmer received the full return for his product was a task that called for both statesmanship and courage."

"He imposed none of the crushing regulations which drove European peoples to despair. He enforced no drastic rationing upon the American people. He appealed to their cooperative patriotism. He brought farmers, business men and the women of the country into a union of patriotic effort."

"His measures, treble the supplies of food and clothing. The Armistice came he saw with the prophetic vision of a seer the peril that awaited the farmer and producer. All the food supplies were on hand another year of gigantic combat. With the supplies of the southern hemisphere freed to Europe, the market was flooded with the grain of the world. The farmer was faced with the greatest peril in his history."

"Europe repudiated its contracts to buy the hops and wheat of American farmers. Damming back that flood on the markets of the United States meant ruin from which our agriculturalists would not have recovered in a century. It would require the gratitude of a generation of farm producers to repay Herbert Hoover for his efforts to save the wheat industry from collapse. Only by an administrator with a spirit of prophecy to foresee the danger could the task have been accomplished. Only a man who possessed the respect of European powers could have exacted the agreement he demanded."

"He compelled the disposal in Europe of the huge surplus of farm products. To him is due the early opening of the blockade on Germany. Had it not been for his prestige and authority, the doors of Europe would have been locked to the product of our fields and American farmers would have crashed beyond all hope of recovery."

"When the temper of this hour has passed, the American schoolboy will read the story of his life and be proud to serve his country."

read, with quickened breath, the public documents which record the history of those noble minds. He has led his head with pride that the Republic of Washington and Lincoln could give to the world such a character in transcendent diplomacy."

"Herbert Hoover believes that the nation owes a special responsibility to the world as one of the great basic industries upon which our happiness and prosperity rest. He believes that national measures must be taken to the end that the farm product shall be placed on an equality with the industrial product."

"This great economic problem that has come within his reach in a spirit of equality and justice. He who has mastered every other problem can be trusted by the American farm producer to propose the measures that will bring lasting relief to the agriculture of the United States."

"Summoned by a Republican president, Herbert Hoover commenced the career of a storied life. He became the head of the department of commerce. Always a Republican; always a builder of the future; he found in the Republic a field for expanding usefulness."

"Winning a reputation he has made that department to the business and industrial world."

"Into the department of commerce has been called the best talent that the nation could secure."

"It would be an endless task to review his widely diversified efforts and achievements. He has quickened the industrial activities of the nation. He has proved that government business and morals go hand in hand. His every act has been touched by an impulse for better things."

"It was his initiative that prevented the spread of unemployment which had brought stagnation and despair to the rest of the world. He fought impetuous generals; to get food to the starving and the starving to the food—there was a task such as never before had been set before man. The feeding of those hungry children is the greatest practical romance in history."

WHEN KING GENE TUNNEY of the heavy middleweight division lectured on Shakespeare to the undergraduates he gave box-fight fans a shock. A successor to the mighty John L. Corbett and Dempsey lecturing on literature! Now Tom Heenan steals Tunney's thunder by visiting West Point and talking to the cadets, not on Oscar Wilde or Voltaire, but upon the nearest methods of getting over a lefty right coper and a flashing left jab. But the Australian heavy got a little "high hat" before he departed, as the above photo will bear witness.

"The people of this country are soon to learn that the Hoover who fed the hungry and sheltered the homeless on the banks of the Mississippi is one of the most human of men."

"And how we dedicate this man to the greater public service of his best hope."

"His nomination will kindle a brighter faith in the breasts of all who love America and wish to keep her a living symbol of the world's best hope."

"Three quarters of a century ago the Republican party emerged from the haze of history. Its leader was John C. Fremont, the pathfinder of California, who planted the flag on our remotest western shore."

"Today, California offers to the nation another pathfinder in the nation's onward march toward a better and brighter day for our beloved country."

"Therefore in the name of California, and on behalf of our countrymen everywhere, I nominate the man in whom the hopes and prayers of the people are fixed."

"I name him who rose from poverty to feed more hungry people than any man in the world."

"I nominate him because he has labored with his hands and knows the problem of the toiler."

"I name him as a great engineer who understands the problems of our inland waterways and the vast resources of river and lake and sea."

"I name him as a great humanitarian, who in the midst of a war of war gave his best, that human beings might live and live abundantly."

"I nominate him because as administrator of great projects he has never failed to leave a record of surpassing usefulness."

"I name him as statesman and executive whose unflinching courage, inflexible Americanism, and understanding of nations and peoples have given him a grasp on national and international affairs, that commands respect throughout the world."

"I nominate him for his lofty character as a man and citizen; for his broad and kindly human sympathies; for his wholesome heart that reaches above all things else that he has been useful to the people of his native land."

"Engineer, practical scientist, minister of mercy, the hungry, administrator, executive, statesman, brilliant, American, kindly neighbor, wholesome human being, I give you the name of Herbert Hoover."

CANDIDATES' FRIENDS CLAIM ATTENTION OF DUCK VALLEY

I sat in the sun, my back against the stable door, and watched all the candidates from a small flock of sheep. I saw every candidate, and of all into the smallest possible pieces. It was quite interesting.

I didn't seem out of the corner of my eye. I became aware of a pair of boots, toes up to the sun, apparently attached to the lower portion of a candidate's body. I saw a pair of feet sticking out from under a candidate's body. I saw a pair of feet sticking out from under a candidate's body.

When you shop in a big city

You know your Fifth Avenue perhaps. Or all your life you've been familiar with the shopping sections of Boston—you are certain just which side street to turn into for the specialty store you have in mind. . . . But these days, you'll find yourself at home wherever you shop. You'll not be at a loss to get exactly what you want in St. Louis or Seattle or Syracuse.

When you buy advertised products, you can buy just as wisely and do just as well—wherever you go—as you would if you went into the store on Main street at home, where your mother and your grandmother have traded for years. For you can trust advertised products and the stores that sell them, exactly as you would believe merchants who have been your lifelong friends in the same small town.

Read the advertisements in this paper—especially if you are a stranger in town. They will guide and befriend your buying

WHEAT PRICES RISE ON MART FOR GRAIN

Bread Cereal Scores Substantial Advance in Quotations; Corn Market Tends Upward

CHICAGO, June 14 (AP)—Wheat prices advanced today owing largely to buying on the part of houses with eastern and foreign connections. To a considerable extent the purchasing was based on talk that upturns were to be expected after declines of late amounting to 10¢ a bushel. Brokers expect business today in wheat from North America to reach 1,000,000 bushels.

Closing quotations on wheat were firm, 1½¢ to 2½¢ net higher with corn at the same as yesterday's firm to 1½¢ up on oats unchanged to 1½¢ to 2½¢ advance and provisions varying from 7¢ to 10¢ decline to a rise of 5¢.

Strength Develops
Strength which developed in the wheat market came after values had undergone downturns today went over the selling movement that carried all future deliveries of corn down to below $1 a bushel and had established new low prices for the season. However, reports of a flood in a number of winter wheat states tended to stimulate bullish sentiment regarding wheat and indications of a further impetus by absence of rain in the spring crop belt as well as by the fact that higher temperatures northwest were also being looked for.
