GOOD FARMERS HEAR BORAH'S PLANS FOR AIDING AGRICULTURE

"Home Market Built Up Under Our Protective System Ought to Belong to Farm Industry."

Declares Solon in Address.

(By The Associated Press) CALDWELL, Idaho, July 17.—Caldwell agriculturists gathered through constitutional and economically sound principals without experimentation with an equalization fee, declared Senator William E. Borah in an address before 5000 farmers and residents of this city gathered today to celebrate the third anniversary of the building of the Boise Valley cooperative creamery.

These principles were advanced by the senator for the relief of the farmer: 1. Adjustment of the tariff to give the market at home to home agriculture.

2. Solution of the marketing problem so the farmer will be able to reach the home market without being added to the farm's expense.

3. Creation of a federal board with a revolving fund to take care of surplus crops.

In advocating the tariff system for farm relief, Senator Borah declared that the "home market built up under our protective system belongs to the American farmer, at least to the full extent of his ability to supply it. We protect the manufacturer's market, but not the farmer's."

The present marketing system also cuts deeply into profits due to the farmer, Senator Borah declared, and cited figures to show that consumers in the United States paid $27,500,000 for certain farm products in 1922, of which the farmer received only $7,500,000. The balance, said the senator, was added to the market in some way or another.

He pointed to Congressional bills which have been introduced in congress as a solution of this problem. He predicted that the next session of the senate at the next session.

He attacked the equalization fee principal for handling the surplus as a system that would take the individual farmer has no voice.

SCANDAL BLOWS OUT FROM FRIGID NORTH

Charges and Insinuation Made Against Noble Expedition

Add New Chapter to Spotted Record of Arctic Exploration.

(By The Associated Press) NEW YORK, July 17.—The charges and insinuations now being made in connection with the disastrous Itala expedition to the North pole recall that this is far from the first time that the high health of scoundrels has blown out of the frozen North.

The annals of Arctic exploration, in fact, are spotted with records of discipline bickering, mutiny, desertion and death which have cast their shadows over many an expedition into the regions under the midnight sun.

Explorers—the reason for this in hardship—long enforced close contact between personalities not in harmony under conditions of state of rivalry by group members of the same expedition or competing expeditions, and hard feeling between members of different nations which might expect to gain glory by the deeds of their explorers.

Gray Film of Discard There is, they feel, a sort of "fierce madness" compounded of vanity and the instinct of self-preservation which has drawn a gray film of discord over the history of polar exploration which would otherwise be shining bright with the undoubted deeds of heroism and devotion and self-sacrifice which far out balance the "unfortunate" episodes of human frailty.

The first great scandal of the north occurred almost half a century ago in connection with the Greely expedition. Lieutenant A. W. Greely went into

Assassin's Bullets End Career of President-Elect Alvaro Obregon in Mexico, Senator Borah Fears Chaos

Dismay and Sorrow Evident in Capital

Word of Assassination First Believed Unfounded by Ambassador Tellez; Shock

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, July 17.—News of the assassination of President-elect Obregon was received in Washington with evident dismay and sorrow. The Obregon regime had been looked forward to by the Associated Press with every belief that it would bring a new era in Mexican-American relations, to maturity improved through the close of the term of President Calles.

Word of the assassination was given to both the state department and the Mexican embassy by The Associated Press. Ambassador Tellez was unwilling to believe the news and at once telephoned Mexico City. The state department likewise telephoned Ambassador Morrow at Mexico City for details and to express the government's regret.

The news came as a great shock particularly to Secretary Kellogg who has been in close touch with Mexican affairs and has been exerting every influence to foster closer relations between the two countries. The secretary was about to leave the city this morning when the Associated Press brought him the news. He immediately expressed great sympathy with the Mexican people in

There is also shadow as well as light in the figures from May 15 to June 15. The price of cabbage fell 23 per cent but strictly fresh eggs climbed 3 per cent. Onions weakened, declining 10 per cent, but stalin and round steak dropped 3 per cent.

GENERAL OBREGON

BORAH LAMENTS ON DEATH OF MEXICAN

Assassination Deploable—Cause of Consequence Which May Follow, Declares Idahoan

BOISE, July 17.—(AP)—Regret for the assassination of President-elect Obregon near Mexico City today, was expressed by Senator William E. Borah, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee and chairman of the Central American republics in a statement issued tonight.

"The assassination of President Obregon is deplorable, not alone because of the method used against an elected president, but because of the possible consequences to follow in Mexico. It was hoped that government by assassination was drawing to a close in Mexico. I pity that great mass of Mexican people if turmoil must come again."

"May Bring Chaos" "But notwithstanding this discouraging catastrophe and the chaos it has brought to Mexico, it is the duty of our government to be patient and tolerant and keep in mind the welfare of the Mexican people as a whole."

"I think it fortunate that we are represented in Mexico at this time by a man of exceptional ability and who is striving in splendid fashion to bring the United States and at the same time to assist Mexico. If anyone can deal effectively with the situation it will be Ambassador Morrow."

Slayer in Prison; Infantry Prepares

Best Informed Circles Expect Calles to Retain Powerful Control; Danger

(By The Associated Press) MEXICO CITY, July 17.—All troops were ordered in barracks tonight in readiness to preserve order if necessary. Saloons, theatres and places of amusement were closed.

MEXICO CITY, July 17.—Omniship was established in Mexico at 9:45 o'clock tonight.

MEXICO CITY, July 17.—General Alvaro Obregon, president-elect of Mexico, was shot down by an assassin known as Juan Escobar, as he sat at a banquet in his honor at La Bombilla restaurant at San Angel, near Mexico City, today.

Obregon headquarters announced that the general died instantly. The assassin was captured and taken to jail.

In the best informed circles it is thought that President Calles will retain strong control over whatever situation may arise as a result of the assassination of the man who has succeeded him in power. In the same circles it is believed that a revolution or armed rising are not probable.

No one will venture to predict what may occur in the future although it is generally believed that President Calles will continue to govern to the end of his term, which is possible, however, that other elections may be called.

Eye witnesses to the shooting, which took place shortly after 2 o'clock, said that the slayer approached the table at which General Obregon was sitting and asked Governor Aaron Sams of the state of New Leon, if he might show some pictures to General Obregon. He pretended to show the pictures, under which he had cooled a pistol and fired several times into the general's body.

The band was playing at the time and many of the crowd were shouting that had happened until the general lay motionless in his chair.

He died while being carried out to his grave.

News of the shooting created the greatest excitement in Mexico City and within a few minutes a huge crowd gathered outside the presidential-elect's residence. They kept at a respectful distance, guarded by soldiers and police.

Some of the general's friends were in dangerous mood and started out to look for men reported to have been enemies of their leader. It was feared that unless they could be lured down some violence might be committed.

Calles Identifies Assassin

President Calles rushed to San Angel to identify the assassin and take such measures as were necessary and then hurried to General Obregon's residence. Guards made way for him through the throng.

The president displayed the greatest grief as he gazed at the dead body of his friend. Many prominent politicians and military leaders were seen arriving at the home as soon as the news spread. So closely was it guarded, however, that for a time some of them were refused admittance.

President Calles was accompanied by Joaquin Amaro, secretary of war.

LAST PRESIDENT TO SERVE

WHOLE TERM PASSES

NEW YORK, July 17 (AP)—With the assassination of President-elect General Alvaro Obregon the last Mexican president to serve a whole term has passed away.

General Francisco Leon de la Barra, Pedro Lascurain, Francisco Carranza and Adolfo de la Huerta, who have served as provisional presidents since the fall of the old president and the last in the United States.

Since the late president, Porfirio Diaz who ruled Mexico more than 30 years was driven from office in 1911 by the Francisco I. Madero revolution Mexico has had 12 presidents elect and a provisional one. None of them had served a full term except Obregon who held office in 1920-24.

INTERVIEWS ASSASSIN

MEXICO CITY, July 17 (AP)—President Calles, it is learned, interviewed the assassin of General Obregon but got a return nothing but a shrug.

"It is useless," the slayer said to the president, "for you to attempt to find out who the rebel is. He has a resolve enough to kill Obregon in the presence of over a hundred of his supporters, knowing very well that my death is an inevitable result of my deed." He refused to say anything.

PRAYS FOR PEACE

NEW YORK, July 17 (AP)—Informed of the assassination of President-elect Obregon near Mexico City, Bishop Diaz said that the elements responsible for the death of the grave duties that to affect Mexico.

"I believe that the peace will be the best of greater hatred among the sons of our land and will bring more sorrow to the country than all my wars," Bishop Diaz said.

He added that the elements responsible for the death of the grave duties that to affect Mexico.

NEW POLICE CHIEF

MEXICO CITY, July 17 (AP)—General Roberto Cruz, chief of police of Mexico City, was appointed to that office by President Calles.

The president named as Cruz's successor General Antonio Rios Zertuche who had been very close to Obregon. Rios Zertuche was named Obregon's general of police headquarters.

General Alvaro Obregon, the only Mexican to be twice elected to the presidency by constitutional methods, was first elected in September, 1920, after the death of President Carranza and establishment of a provisional government. His presidential career began when he was 23 years old. He had been a student, mechanic and merchant in Mexico before he was elected to the presidency. Obregon's family was well-known, and first took the field at the head of 400 men to protect their property from the looting of organized bandits. He was medium-sized, stockily built. One specimen of his Irish-Icelandic blood has been said of him that he was "the only Mexican revolutionary general who never lost a battle."

The keynote of Obregon's character he recently voiced in the following words: "I would rather teach the Mexican people the use of a tooth brush than to handle a rifle. I would rather see them in schools than in upon battlefields. I prefer any day a good electrician, a farmer or a teacher to a soldier." His attitude toward foreign investors was shown at the same time by his declaration that "we control, without capital, in the body without blood."

He opposed Carranza's foreign policy and his antagonism toward the United States. Obregon in 1911 opposed the revolution of Pascual Orozco in Chihuahua. Later, when President Madero became president, Obregon was in the presidency. Obregon, who had returned to an arm to his farm, again became a military leader. In 1914, he

QUOTATION ON WHEAT IRREGULAR ON MARI

Better European Demand for North American Product Does Good Deal to Sustain Price

CHICAGO, July 17 (AP)—Better European demand for North American wheat with sales totaling 1,500,000 bushels did a good deal today to make a wheat price higher. Russia was reported to be again purchasing wheat abroad, and there were complaints of abnormal high temperatures adversely affecting European crops.

Italy Buys Wheat European buying today of wheat to be shipped to Europe included about 1,000,000 bushels of domestic durum wheat for Italy. Considerable assistance was given to statements that include purchases for Russia was a cargo to be landed at a Black Sea port. This would appear to imply greater shortage of wheat in Russia than has heretofore been generally assumed was the case. Bulls were stressed also by Canadian dis-patcher, telling of storms causing almost complete destruction of crops over 100 miles of southern Saskatchewan.

On the other hand, price advances from spring wheat territory throughout most of the Northwest continued to make the harvest movement in the winter wheat region southwest was as liberal as heretofore.
