GOOD-BUSINESS
Some three or four years ago a tract of land situated in the Eastern part of Twin Falls was given to the City for playground purposes by the Harmon Foundation of New York.

Why is the opinion so generally held that the political campaign this year will have little effect on business?

Business and Politics
Because, a Chicago financier explains, "business is more deserving of confidence than ever before, while the political leaders are becoming economists as well as politicians."

Fifteen Years Ago in Twin Falls
Taken From the Twin Falls News Files, Thursday, July 24, 1913.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Sowie left yesterday morning to attend the Supreme Council of the Royal Order of Moose at Clatskanie, Ore.

Mr. and Mrs. Kirk Book have gone to Los Angeles, where they expect to make their future home.

Mr. H. Self, with a party of friends, has come to Shoshone Basin for a short outing.

Mr. H. R. Neuman is enjoying his visit from her son, Charles Yonker, who has just come from his home in Omaha.

Advertising in the Schools
The National Education Association started something when it criticized the introduction of commercial advertising and political propaganda in the schools.

of coffee; by a coffee company, "The Romance and History of Time" by a watch company, "The Story of Silk" by a silk company, and dozens of other booklets, pamphlets, leaflets, etc. of the same sort.

What is to be done about this obviously much of the stuff is ably drawn from facts supplied by experts. It is instructive. Yet there is advertising in nearly all the papers of the country.

The real purpose of the companies is not educational but commercial. The advertising element tends to grow bolder, and everybody tries to get into the game.

Political propaganda is worse, because it aims to affect public policy by the subtle process of influencing plastic young minds. If business interests have been doing this, it should be shut down on promptly and effectively.

Now that all the returns from the Glorious Fourth are in, let us take a look at the country, it is found that the "Safe and Sanne" campaign has actually reduced the fireworks hazard but has not yet brought about entire safety.

Statistics show that fireworks have a total toll of 11 human life and four limbs. But persons so hurt were far fewer in number than ever before.

On the other hand, deaths and injuries from automobile accidents, drownings, boat disasters, and so on, were more numerous than ever.

TEMPERANCE WOMEN QUESTION CANDIDATES ABOUT PROHIBITION

Questionnaire Calls for Expression of Individual Attitude Toward Eighteenth Amendment and Volstead Act.

A questionnaire calling for expression of the attitude of candidates for county offices relative to the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act has been prepared by the Women's Christian Temperance union in Twin Falls. The questionnaire asks also for suggestions for enforcement of the prohibition laws. Here are the four questions that are propounded in the questionnaire: 1. Do you approve of the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead law? 2. Do you think the eighteenth amendment should be modified in any way? 3. Do you think that counties and states should aid the federal government to enforce the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead law? An explanatory statement contained in the questionnaire is as follows: Candidates for the members of the board of women's Christian Temperance union, believing that the prohibition issue in the coming campaign is one of the most important, anxious to know the views of the various candidates on this point. Rather than depend on hearsay, we should like very much to have a personal statement from each candidate, so that we can vote more intelligently. We therefore appreciate any candid and unqualified answer, and request that you answer it and sign it and mail it as soon as possible to our president, Mrs. Vandenberg.

COMMISSIONERS OUT CHANGE FOR ROOMS IN COUNTY HOSPITAL

Rate Lately Advanced to Cover
Operating Deficit Is Reduced
From $7 to $6 Per Day;
Board Voted Proposal

Change for use of rooms at Twin Falls county general hospital was reduced by the county commissioners yesterday from $7 to $6 per day. The new charge of 10 per cent is 21 more than the charge of 45 per cent that was in effect for some years until the charge was increased by the commissioners about three months ago.

The reduction to $6 per day was made effectively by a vote of two of the commissioners, on motion of M. C. Ware, Twin Falls, seconded by T. E. Moore, Elmer, chairman of the board. James L. Barnes, Elmer, explained his vote in the negative with the statement that he preferred to defer judgment of the charge until report of an audit of the hospital should be made available.

Increase in the charge for hospital rooms had been voted by the commissioners with view to obtaining revenue sufficient to overcome a deficit in which the institution had been operating.

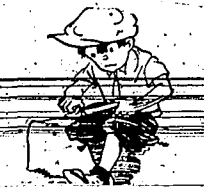

Veto Referendum
Twin Falls county voters will not vote at the coming general election on questions as to whether the county hospital should be closed to pay patients or whether it should be sold. Such a referendum vote had been proposed by the budget committee which some weeks ago participated in preparation of the county budget. The county commissioners vetoed the proposal yesterday when Commissioner Barnes offered a resolution providing for a referendum vote, and it failed for lack of a second.

Members of the board agreed that if a referendum vote were called for the expression would be heavily in favor of retention of the hospital.

NEBRASKANS LIE LOW ON EVE OF CONFLICT

The Kansas aggregation will be ready for the Nebraskans at the Jayhawk picnic at Elmer a week from today. J. W. Windley, Elmer president, said yesterday. He will go to Buhl tomorrow to confer with Secretary B. B. Taylor regarding the baseball game, ice cream and luncheon, he said. A good supply of eloquence is assured, he stated. Meantime the Nebraskans are lying low, and so far have not replied with the eloquence of a Brown to the oratory of an Higgs.

SALMON'S SETTLERS MOVE TO TAKE OVER IRRIGATION SYSTEM

Organization of the Salmon River irrigation district to acquire and operate the irrigation system now owned by the Salmon River Canal company, is urged by Salmon River project settlers who signed a petition that was filed with Twin Falls county commissioners here yesterday.

The petition, which bears the names of 81 settlers representing 10,618 acres within the Salmon River aggregation, requests the commissioners to call an election for voting on creation of the proposed district. With it a $500 bond, signed by 25 of the petitioners, was filed to indemnify the county for cost of the election in event of failure of the district proposition at the election.

Date for hearing on the petition was fixed for Saturday, August 11, at 2 p. m.

Boundaries to District
The metes and bounds of the proposed district, which are set forth at length are the same as the former Salmon River irrigation district and as the irrigated territory now under contract for the Salmon River Canal company. The petition for the election says:
It is proposed to acquire all dam, canals, laterals and ditches and other diversion works and system now owned and operated by the Salmon River Canal company, a corporation, which is owned and operated by the project settlers upon lands hereinafter described or for distribution of water to the lands said proposed district, said works being already completed and in operation.

CHECKER PROBLEM IS GAMBLING GAME

Judge Babcock Rules That Outfit Sold to Rupert Firm Violates Idaho Law

That the element of chance preponderates in a certain board game, and that it was not primarily a game of skill was the decision arrived at by Judge W. A. Babcock in the suit of the Oyster Candy company, of Salt Lake against O'Neil Nelson, doing business as the Stag company of Rupert, in district court here yesterday.

According to stipulated facts, Nelson bought the "Checker Problem" outfit from the Oyster company. The outfit included a punch board, a small card board, checker outfit, a pamphlet "Advantage" and a list of prizes.

Nelson admitted that he purchased the outfit and refused to pay for it, but set up the defense that it was intended to be used as a lottery or gambling device. This the Oyster company denied, alleging that it was a game of skill.

The judge ruled that the element of chance preponderated making the outfit a gambling device within the meaning of the law and that the Oyster company was liable for its sale when it sold the board. Hence he decided in favor of Nelson in his refusal to pay.

PABCO MULTI-SERVICE PAINT is remarkably deep and pure in color... and has a high gloss finish. Neither this fineness of color and finish nor the body of the paint itself, are affected by smoke, vapors, sun, salt air, fumes or any chemical action of this nature.

It can be applied to wood, metal, concrete, brick, stone, or stucco, on inside or outside work. In all cases, it is easy working, has a high covering capacity, and great hiding power. It is permanent in color and durability, and leaves an excellent surface for repainting. Although PABCO MULTI-SERVICE PAINT is low in cost, we believe better paint cannot be had at ANY price.

THEATRE RUINS GIVE CAPACITY IN SEATS

Huge Showhouse Excavated in Ancient Corinth Once a Roman House Total of 20,000 Seats

PRINCETON, N. J., July 21 (AP)—A huge theatre capable of seating 20,000 persons, excavated in ancient Corinth, is described by Dr. T. Leslie Shear, back from the scene of the ancient Greek community.

Not only the theatre, but a "Main street" has been uncovered, says Dr. Shear, professor of archaeology at Princeton University. He has been excavating in quest of remains of ancient Greek culture for 24 years.

"Impressive and spectacular" is his description of the theatre. Like all Greek structures of this kind, it was semi-circular in shape, 400 feet in diameter, with a huge stage filling the open end.

The back portion towered more than 100 feet above the ground level in the orchestra. The building was set on a steep hill. It was on this incline that seats were arranged, affording the audience a view of the blue waters of the Gulf of Corinth, less than a half mile away. Behind towered the fortified acropolis of the city.

The street that runs before the theatre was built beneath 10 feet of earth and the orchestra was reached only after 40 feet of material had been removed. During the last year workers have cleared out the east end of the theatre to a distance of 125 feet. This doorway opened out upon one of the main streets of the ancient city, a thoroughfare more than 21 feet wide and paved with great blocks of limestone. Along the sides of the street, the modern dirt-raked sidewalks were found. As it mounts toward the hills the street becomes narrower and narrower, and on this portion vehicular traffic was impossible. Royalty, however, could come to the theatre in litters.

Southward the street continues to the old town, but here the pavement has been removed by people who used the blocks in building their houses. In the middle distance the theatre discovered a place suited for a stadium.

In the thoroughfare Pausanias described in his topographical writings in the second century. The ancient description tells of temples of Zeus and Asclepius, of the gymnasium and the fountain of Lerna, all located there.

Bronze coins, dropped perhaps by theatregoers 1500 to 1700 years ago, were found near the theatre. Nearly 5000 of these pieces of money were turned up. Many Greek lamps and bone and ivory pins used by women were found. Outside the theatre were large marble statues of a young athlete and of a Roman senator. Within, on the great south wall, were a series of paintings of sports contests.

In intermediate layers were ruins of Byzantine houses and coins brought to Greece by soldiers returning from oriental crusades.

"Years ahead in performance" explains Hupmobile popularity

THE pleasing picture presented to the eye by any of the vividly beautiful Century Hupmobiles, is less than half the story of the value Hupmobile has built into these modern cars. Everywhere buyers who were first won by a distinctive note in body styles, now acclaim the equally brilliant performance qualities of the new Hupmobiles. Marvelously quick get-away, high-compression power, that makes light of the steepest grades, ease of steering, riding and brake control—all symbolize the Century's greatest advance in motoring. Until you personally drive a Century Six or Eight, you can have no conception of what Hupmobile has achieved in smoothness, speed and flexible power. We will gladly provide a car for your independent test.

HUPMOBILE CENTURY SIX & EIGHT

PARKS AUTO CO. NEW LOCATION 334 North Main Phone 282

Why?

To set speed? No!
It is unlawful to drive 100 miles an hour.
And you do not want to average 64 miles an hour.
But it proves ENDURANCE and VALUE, and that was the purpose of this test.

A car capable of this abnormal sustained speed and relentless tax upon its every part, establishes its value with finality.

Breaking these records is incidental.

But giving buyers a true measure of a car's endurance, and what they can expect in long life, continual service, and ability to stand up, is all important.

There is nothing manufacturers could do so completely prove the merit, the soundness and the stamina of their cars than the merciless grind of this 24-hour proving-ground punishment.

FLAWS MEAN FAILURE
A car one-fourth as strong, or one-half as perfectly designed and built, could not withstand this gruelling strain.

If any one of several thousand parts in the car had not been absolutely correct and reliable, it could have prevented this amazing demonstration of efficiency and endurance.

Therein lies the significance of this performance for the car buyer.

Think how indefinitely and satisfactorily a car will travel at normal speeds, when it can survive unimpaired the crucial demands necessary in order to travel 2033 miles in 1440 minutes. That is harder on a car than years of average use.

It means that at 40, 50 and 60 miles an hour you are not over-taxing your Auburn. It means Auburn has tremendous reserve, and almost limitless capacity for continuous service.

It means you get more for your money. And that what you get is a certainty, not a gamble.

PERFECT PERFORMANCE
During this entire 24-hour test the Auburn car required no mechanical attention whatsoever. The carburetor was adjusted once. The only stops made during the 2,033 miles were for replenishing water, gas and oil—also for tire changes for safety. Mechanically, the car required no more attention than if it had just been driven around a city block, conclusively showing its strong construction and wonderful reliability.

This car was equipped with a high compression head, fuel pump, and 3.4 axle ratio, which is standard for all Speedsters. It had wire wheels and 6-ply tires, including two spare wheels and tires on sides, which are optional equipment.

This means it was a fully equipped stock car as sold and delivered off the salesroom floor.

AN INVITATION
You are invited to inspect and drive exact duplicates of the Auburn Model 115 stock car that holds these amazing records.

See for yourself what a pleasure and RELIEF it is to drive a fully equipped car that can travel faster than any other stock car has ever done in this class. See how differently and better this car does the things YOU want a car to do. If it does not sell itself you will not be asked to buy.

Add to this revelation of automobile progress, the fact that Auburn gives you this built-in value and endurance in a long, low, smart, roomy, Straight Eight closed car for less than many of the better Sixes.

PROFESSOR SUGGESTS SCHOOLS' EXPANSION

Typical Secondary Institution Organized for College Preparation: It Has Greater Need

BOULDER, Colo., July 21 (AP)—The typical high school in this country is organized exclusively for the college preparation of the few and not for the life needs of the many, declares Dr. L. Thomas Hopkins, professor of education at the University of Colorado.

Dr. Hopkins explained at a meeting of educators that it is his belief that the subjects offered—the content—each and the methods of teaching should be adapted to the needs of the 99 percent of pupils who do not go to college, instead of the eight percent who now attend institutions of higher learning.

"The typical high school," he says, "has 100 pupils and four teachers. Its program of studies consists almost entirely of the academic subjects of English, foreign language, mathematics, history and natural science. The content of each of these is organized exclusively for college preparation. The reason for such a condition may be seen in college entrance requirements which practically compel small schools to teach only academic subjects: state laws and regulations which demand academic subjects for high school graduation; high school principals who are too conservative and too loyal to tradition to make any changes; parents of the favored few who want their children to go to college and who influence local school authorities, and pupils themselves, three-fourths of whom direct 75 percent of their high school units from the academic fields, in order to keep open the avenue of higher education should they wish to use it in the future."

Dr. Hopkins advocates keeping the present academic subjects but would make changes in their content so as to make it of greater use value. He would "add more academic subjects so as to meet the needs of pupils with different interests and abilities, and more extra-curricular activities of the semi-intellectual rather than the athletic type, employ more professionally trained high school teachers who are open-minded enough to view the present situation unhampered by tradition, and obtain a new attitude toward the problems of secondary education on the part of the officials of higher institutions."

"If the American secondary school can not do this work in the interest of the welfare of the majority of its pupils, then the question of supporting

LAYMAN SEES HOPES FOR CITY CHURCHES

Abandonment of Houses of Worship in Congested Districts not to Continue, Says Bishop

BOSTON, July 21 (AP)—The city church, left far from suburban residential districts by shifting urban populations, can "come back" in the opinion of a layman, Dean Girson L. Archer, of the Suffolk Law School of Boston.

In commenting on the question, "Can the city church come back?" Dean Archer says: "A diocesan chorus of Protestant religious leaders throughout the United States says 'No' and back up the assertion by abandoning city churches wholesale to the highest bidders in the real estate market."

Dean Archer is voicing his disagreement with this verdict by actively participating in the come-back of an old Boston church that stands almost in the shadow of the state house here. It is the mother church of Methodism in Boston, the First Methodist Episcopal Church.

"Two years ago," explains Dean Archer, "a young divine from North Carolina—Rev. E. Hill—was assigned to the seemingly dying church. In spite of the frank skepticism of all the fiery young southerners he brought with him, he has managed to breathe new life into the ailing congregation. By the generous assistance of Boston Methodism in the mother church a very attractive program has been possible which has met the need of the incoming population."

"In two years he has doubled the active church membership. He is just now embarking in a great drive to put the church on the map."

IGNORANCE OF LANGUAGE HINDERS UNDERSTANDING

BELOGRADE, July 21 (AP)—Diplomats should speak and understand the language of the country in which they are serving, says Dr. John Dwyer, American minister to Yugoslavia. He believes that a good share of international misunderstanding can be traced to simple misinterpretation of language.

Dr. Dwyer was graduated from Columbia University in 1888 and speaks 15 languages. He was minister to Denmark in 1922 and prior to that was prominent in the political life of New Jersey.

STUDEBAKER'S Ball Bearing Spring "Shackles"

In these new cars a patented invention at last solves a problem that has long baffled automotive engineers. Every motorist knows the importance of spring shackles—those joints or hinges which form the connecting link between body and axles. Engineers have sought to reduce friction to a minimum at these vital joints—to make them flexible yet firm and uniform in action—to make them noiseless—to reduce the necessity for frequent lubrication. All these objectives have now been attained in Studebaker cars.

So revolutionary is this sensational innovation that the word "shackles," with its implication of restricted movement, is no longer applicable. The incessant action and reaction between body and axles is now carried by 172 steel balls rolling in lubricant—no binding, no squeaks, no rattles, no sideway. Instead, smooth, silent resiliency, an undeviating uniformity of action and an enduring buoyancy that will keep your Studebaker young.

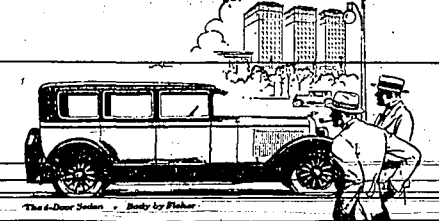

In place of complicated centralized systems for oiling and greasing, each ball bearing spring "shackle" contains, sealed within it, ample lubricant to last for more than twenty thousand miles.

Come ride in a new Studebaker today. Thrill to its champion performance. See rare new beauty of line and color. Then compare Studebaker's new low One-Price prices—the triumph of 76 years' manufacturing experience!

Bulgaria's Famous Land of Flowers Once More Captures World's Markets for Dear Astar

PHILIPPOPOLIS, Bulgaria, July 21 (AP)—Bulgaria's far famed Valley of Roses has once more captured the world's markets for precious astar. As far as the eye can see a red carpet covers this magnificent region and the peasants smile because they see the end of a long period of depression. Eighty-five per cent of the world's supply of rose essence, the base of all perfume, is produced in this country which stretches for 50 miles through one of the most picturesque regions in Europe.

The delicate rose vines suffered severe damage in recent earthquakes, but this has been overcome and the crop this year will be only 30 per cent under normal. There are 43,000 rose gardens in Bulgaria centered in the districts of Philippopolis, Kazanlik, Karlovo, Nova Zagora, Stara Zagora and Thripana. A hundred thousand families, about 14,000 families, have no other means of livelihood.

The rosebuds are shipped to 260 distilleries. More than 4000 pounds of astar are required to produce one ounce of astar, which sells in the United States for $250.

The peasants are still depressed by one factor, however—their habit of the American girl is using less scent than ever before. The latest figures to the export of astar of roses to the United States barely reached 1,000 ounces for a year compared with an average annual demand of 100,000 ounces before the war.

The French girl has taken first place in the world's consumption of perfume and more than half of the Bulgarian astar goes to France.

Young men in the United States, said the head of a large astar distillery, "are probably giving their sweethearts synthetic perfumes. Perhaps they are giving them bouquets of real roses instead of the synthetic ones. The United States was once our best customer."

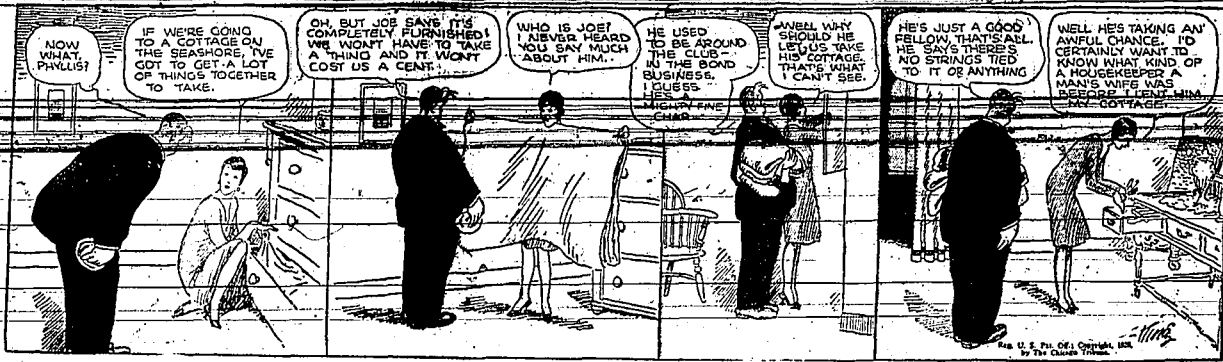

The Sofia government has acted vigorously to maintain the quality of Bulgarian astar. The importation of geraniums has been forbidden following disclosures that unscrupulous manufacturers were mixing the cheap juice of this plant with astar of roses. It is difficult and often impossible to detect by scientific means the presence of geranium juice in astar.

The cultivation of roses has survived hard-fought battles with tobacco and oil. The more profitable tobacco plant was found to require less care and it seemed for a while likely to displace the rose vine.

Oil was recently discovered in the heart of the Valley of roses and the peasants, excited by dreams of an El Dorado, began to neglect their gardens and speculators did neglect their gardens.

With the acquisition of new land, sets of twins.

High Cost of Brides Stirs Syrian Youth

DAMASCUS, Syria, July 21 (AP)—The high price of brides is beginning to worry young and marriageable men in the East. A mass meeting held here recently elected a committee to seek a modification of the custom requiring the man who would marry to pay over a handsome sum of money to the father of the girl of his choice. The Western custom is more to the liking of the eastern swim.

The men working for the reform say that they are not impelled by selfish motives, but are interested in the welfare of the state; marriages they say are on the decrease owing to the greed of parents who have been raising prices in the marriage markets.

MAN GETS COOLER AS AGE INCREASES

Long Study of Metabolism, Process Which Provides Energy, Reveals Interesting Facts.

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP)—Man grows cooler with age, not only mentally and emotionally, but in actual production of heat.

In a long study of metabolism, the process by which nature provides man with vital energy through the combustion of food in the body cells, Dr. Francis G. Benedict, director of the nutrition laboratory of the Carnegie Institution of Washington, has found that such factors as age, sex, size and height have distinct effects on this fundamental phenomena.

"The average new-born baby, weighing about eight pounds, has a 24-hour basal heat production of 143 calories," he says; "the average 13-year-old girl, weighing about 92 pounds, has a heat production of 1200 calories; and the average man, weighing 155 pounds, 1700 calories, and women."

MOTHER USES HER BABY TO CONCEAL SMUGGLING

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 21 (AP)—An incident unique in the annals of Turkish smugglers occurred recently at the customs house here when Turkish women arriving from abroad attempted to smuggle in a quantity of contraband tobacco. Lightly packed around the body of a two-year-old baby—when the customs official began unwinding the smothering bulging swathes of material which Moslem tradition binds round the legs and arms of infants, the mother took to her heels, abandoning baby and tobacco.

RUSSIAN TRADE GROWING WITH EUROPE AND ASIA

MOSCOW, July 21 (AP)—Steady increase in Russian trade with European and Asiatic countries is reported in figures for the first eight months of the last fiscal year just given out by the Soviet government. The total volume of exports and imports in the European division reached 233,000,000 roubles this year against 212,800,000 roubles in the corresponding period of last year. The figures for trade over the Asiatic frontier show an average gain of about 30 per cent.

CHRYSLER Plymouth

AMERICA ACCEPTS AND ACCLAIMS THE NEW PLYMOUTH

It Discovers at Last Real Size, Style, Performance and Safety in the Lowest-priced Field. The sales record of the new Plymouth, established in two weeks' time, is without parallel or precedent for a car in this field—not in a few retail centers but all over the whole country. Hundreds upon hundreds of thousands—yes, millions—eager to see the new Plymouth, built by Chrysler to compete in the lowest-priced field, through Chrysler salesrooms everywhere. They compare it with the three or four other cars catering to the same great market. They see contrast in size, style, performance and safety so sharply in favor of Plymouth that curiosity bursts into enthusiasm, enthusiasm is transformed into sales. In fine, the millions seeking a low first cost now discover in the new Plymouth the one car in the lowest-priced field which is and does everything that they have long hoped a low-priced car would be and do. You, too, owe it to yourself to see it, ride in it, drive it. All doubt as to the highest dollar-for-dollar value in the lowest-priced field ends right there.

POULTRY SPECIALIST ADVISES POULTRYMEN

Pren-Moore in Discussing Tests of Mating Season Gives Advice to All Flock Owners

In a memorandum to owners of poultry flocks issued yesterday regarding mating and tests, Pren Moore, poultry specialist, set forth a considerable detail which is applicable to all flock owners, more particularly intended for those who are completing with the conditions of the test.

The following are the instructions in full:

Some people are quite concerned about the effect of the test upon egg production. If a flock is confined to a small space and handled in the catching crates, as we suggest, there need be but small interference with production. However, it is best from a breeding standpoint, that they be rotten out of production early any time from now to the first of September is the best time to get breeding hens out of production.

Many people make the mistake of mauling their hens, to wit, all through the late fall and early winter and then expect good hatches in the spring. This cannot be done. If good hatching results are to be had, breeding stock must be gotten into brooding conditions and early molt is absolutely necessary to proper breeding condition.

Brooding stock should be started into a fat molt not later than September first and an earlier date would be better. Do not put breeding stock into a starvation diet, but rather increase the grain in the ration. Both main and scratch, not later than September, should be increased to the extent that they will ease through the molt without lowering of their physical condition.

Treat for Parasites

Scrub the inside of the brooding house with kerosene and kerosene oil. This is especially important for worms at about 100 degrees.

Therefore, that, spreading hens be given a one gram capsule of Kanala and the 350 milligram capsule of Lloyd's Reagent Nicotine Sulphate, and later than September 1. This treatment will clean the birds of worms and at the same time throw them into a very rapid molt. After they start into the molt, feed them for flesh and continue that process until they have restored the pigment in their bodies to the extent that the legs, skin and bodies are as yellow as when they were pullets. This should be accomplished by early October. After the pigment has been restored and the hens are in a high state of flesh, they should be gradually brought back into production.

Return to production should be gradual but continual so that the hens are laying about 50 per cent through the month of December and on up a rapid increase just at the time when eggs are being saved for hatching next year.

Hens in proper physical condition, as has already been described, the above instructions will be obtained.

Effect of Weather

Brooding hens may be slow in returning to production some seasons because of long periods of drenchy weather or some extreme changes in the weather. It is advisable, in such cases, it is advisable to turn on the lights early in December to start the hens in production. As soon as they are started to the extent that increase appears certify artificial light should be used to reduce and if possible eliminate it.

One thing must be kept constantly in mind. The breeding stock must be had in proper physical condition. Addition of males does not correct a lowered vitality or poor physical condition. Hens may be of high production ability but hatch poor chicks.

When moulting the time the moulting season however, never give any medicine to the birds.

Changes or additions to flock should be made only after consulting the poultry specialist. The extension division can render a very much better service to the flock owners in their breeding program if they sell only the birds from their own flocks.

Do not buy cockerels or hatchling eggs from any source and bring them into your flock without first consulting the poultry specialist. Such introduction frequently results in deterioration of the breeding material of the flock. The specialist often finds it necessary to reject birds that have been brought in.

The best breeding results are accomplished when blood lines are maintained unbroken. We again request, therefore, that you select cockerels from among your own hatches to be used as breeding males the following year.

A Carcass that is trouble-Proof

A building is no stronger than its foundation. The carcass or body is the foundation of a tire.

Supertwist Cord Carcass explains the astonishing ability of Goodyear's All-Weather-Balloon to absorb punishment.

Supertwist STRETCHES! It is just as strong as old style cords. But it stretches farther before it breaks—stretches and recovers like a rubber band. Blows that would break a carcass composed of less flexible cord do not affect Supertwist.

And no other tire has Supertwist. It is patented—an exclusive Goodyear achievement.

Here is the culmination of Goodyear's research for more than 25 years—a trouble-proof carcass. Stop in and let us show you a real balloon tire. It costs no more.
