It costs very little to recondition a MODEL T FORD

FOR nearly twenty years, the Model T Ford led the motor industry and it still is used by more people than any other automobile. More than eight million Model T Fords are in active service today—an indication of their sturdy work, reliability and economy.

The cost of reconditioning the Model T Ford is small because of the low cost of Ford parts and the established Ford policy of charging all labor at a standard flat rate.

For a labor charge of $20 to $25 you can have your motor and transmission completely overhauled. This price includes new bearings, reboring cylinders and any other work necessary. Parts are extra.

Valves can be ground and carbon removed for $3 to $4. The cost of tightening all main bearings is only $6. The labor charge for overhauling the front axle is $4.50 to $5—rear axle assembly, $5.75 to $7.

New universal joint will be installed for a labor charge of $3. Brake shoes relined for $1.50. Rear spring and perches rebushed for $1.75. The cost of overhauling the starting motor is $3. A labor charge of approximately $2.50 covers the overhauling of the generator.

Repeating runs from $10 to $25. Taking dents out of body panels and doors runs from $3 to $16 for labor. A fender can be replaced for a labor charge of $1 to $2.50. The cost of fenders runs from $3.50 to $5.

It will pay you, therefore, to see your Ford dealer and have him put your Model T in good running order. By doing so you will protect and maintain the investment you have in your car and get months and years of pleasant, reliable transportation at a very low cost per mile.

CANADIAN SCHOOLBOY CHAMPION OF WORLD IN 200-METER EVENT

Percy Williams, 19, flashes to Victory With Remarkable Stamina; Spectacular Finish On Rain-Soaked Course.

(By The Associated Press) OLYMPIC STADIUM, Amsterdam, August 1.—Percy Williams, 19-year-old Canadian schoolboy who was taken along just to keep peace in the Dominican athletic family, is now sprint champion of the world.

Flashing the same speed, the same remarkable stamina and the same spectacular finish that gave him the 100-meter victory two days ago, the curly-haired youth from Vancouver staged a whirlwind rout on a rain-soaked track to win the 200 meters from the best America, England and Germany could produce.

To make the Americans' rout on the red-cinder Olympic oval worse, S. J. Atkinson, rangy South African, emerged from the pack in a spectacular 110-meter hurdle final to beat the American trio of Stephen Anderson, John Collier and Tommie Smith, equaling the world's record of 14.4 seconds.

Hahn-Fraser On a rainy day which also saw Lloyd Hahn pass completely and distantly from the Olympic picture in the first 100-meter heat, a series of brilliant performances by American stalwarts in the field to lift a portion of the gloom now shrouding the Yale camp. Buck Fowler, Los Angeles dentist, and Sabin Carr, the young man from Yale and Dubuque, did it.

In two Olympic record breaking performances, Houser repeated his 1924 success throwing triumph with two other Americans, Jim Conson and John Anderson, placing third and fifth while Carr topped the pole vaulting field in which the Yankees took four of the five places.

The pole vault was almost exclusively an American affair as had been expected. Carr with 42.0 meters or 137 feet 9 1/2 inches, and William Dreyfusmuller with 41.0 meters or 134 feet 7 1/2 inches, battled it out for first place in a great duel. Charley McInnis captured a jump-off of a triple tie for third place, thereby sending the Stars and Stripes up three Olympic poles and giving the Yankees their biggest thrill thus far.

Marvellous Competitor Houser demonstrated himself a marvellous competitor for he came back to win with a record throw of 47.25 meters or 155 feet 2 1/2 inches after nearly being eliminated in the trials.

Conger, all-Iowa, came among the Americans, survived the 1500-meter trials and did it impressively by winning the toughest heat in which two favorites, Dvin Wide, Sweden, and Dr. Otto Pelzer, Germany, were eliminated. Conger exhibited his famous finishing kick to win after facing apparent defeat.

Nick Carter, Pacific coast boy, barely missed qualifying in his 100-meter heat but Hahn and the Southerner, Sid Robinson, both quit in the stretch when too far to have a chance of finishing first or second.

Four Finns, led by Paavo Nurmi and Ville Ritola, were dominant in the steeplechase in which Melvin Eaton and W. O. Spencer survive. Nurmi had a close call from serious injury when he tripped over the barrier to the first water jump and fell with a tremendous splash. Extricated with the help of the Frenchman, "Dingy" Finck proved his durability as well as speed by soon taking the lead and finishing first with Duquesne at his heels and Spencer third.

The women's events were confined to the 800-meter trials in which the feminine world record was twice beaten and one American, Florence MacDonald, Boston, qualified for the final.

The deceased, with his family, had been here a few months ago and had been working by the day in the Hagerman valley. The family had been away Saturday morning and upon reaching home, found the body of Mr. Timm under a tree in the back yard. He had used a 410 gauge shotgun to inflict the wound in his head. No reason for the act could be found by his family or neighbors, who stated that Mr. Timm was apparently in no financial difficulties and was in good health. He is survived by his wife and three daughters.

EARLY TUBERS FAIL IN MINIDOKA REGION

First Plantings Not Worth Harvesting, Burley Dealer Says; Late Potatoes Show Promise

Aug. 2 (Special to the News)—Burley plantings and tubers that were planted early on the Minidoka tract have not done well, according to Lincoln Wilder, Burley potato dealer. Late planted potatoes, though, are doing very well. Mr. Wilder says that it seems pretty well proven that late planting brings better results for potatoes on both sides of the Minidoka project. Quick sprouting of the sets is necessary to avoid the different diseases that affect the plants and potatoes put in the ground during May usually have to contend with cold and wet weather.

There has been a 10 per cent heavier planting on the tract than last year, he asserts, but the poor early stand and growth will more than offset the increase in acreage. The fact, he says, is that the early planting will not be worth digging. As to the eastern situation, he says that some fields have been plowed up by reason of loss of crop. It is impossible, however, to get any definite information as to the eastern potato crop until later this month.

Potatoes planted during the first week of April frequently get a good start and continue to grow. Mr. Wilder says, but they should never be planted in May. The first of June has usually turned out to be the best time to run the plant.

FALL FROM CANYON RIM PROVES FATAL TO LOCAL RANCHER

William A. Maxwell, 65, Falls Asleep On Rim Rock at Twin Falls and Plunges 200 Feet To Death; Sons Find Body.

Dozing for a moment while seated on the south rim rock of Snake river gorge about 500 yards above Twin Falls, William Allen Maxwell, 65, twin Falls rancher, who resided at 252 Washington street north, plunged 200 feet to his death on the rocks in the canyon below Tuesday night.

The body was found by two sons, Henry and Ralph Maxwell, about 11 o'clock Tuesday night. The body was crumpled in a dense growth of tall grass at the base of the almost perpendicular 200-foot cliff. The skull was crushed which indicated instant death.

Mr. Maxwell had gone with his two sons, Henry and Ralph Maxwell, and W. W. Parker to stake out a claim above the falls, leaving his home about 7 o'clock Tuesday evening. Upon their arrival at the falls, Mr. Maxwell chose to remain with the car while the younger men descended the canyon floor to mark out the claim.

East Seen on Rim Rock

While making their way from the base of the cliff to the location of the claim farther up the canyon—less than 200 feet from the edge of the rim rock, Mr. Maxwell waved to them and they motioned for him to go on, although they did not at that time believe him to be in any danger. This was the last time that the elderly man was seen on the rim rock.

After completing the staking of the claim, the three younger men returned to the base of the cliff, about 200 feet from the place where the body was found, and began the hard climb upward, reaching the top shortly after 10 o'clock. Upon reaching the canyon rim they noticed the absence of the older man. Thinking that he had become tired of waiting for them, since they had been away considerably longer than they had anticipated, and had returned to Twin Falls with the owners of a light truck in which had been parked in the vicinity at the time of their arrival, the three men drove back to their homes here.

Return to Canyon Rim

After learning that Mr. Maxwell had not returned home, the two sons went back down town, thinking that he had ridden to town with the owners of the machine which they had seen, but had not yet gone to his home. Failing to find their father, the sons thought that possibly they might have missed him at the falls and drove back to the rim rock. Search and repeated calls failed to bring any trace of the missing man.

Fearing the worst, the two sons climbed back down the steep canyon wall and after a few moments' search, found their father's body lying almost hidden in the tall grass. Near the body was the man's pocket knife, a shoe which had been torn off in the fall and a can of smoking tobacco.

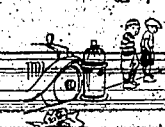

Rescue With Body

Henry Maxwell volunteered to stay with the body while his brother, Ralph, returned to Twin Falls for help. Nearly 25 minutes were required for the latter to reach the top of the canyon the second time because of the darkness and the steepness of the ascent. He reached town shortly after midnight. The brother remained by the body until the return of the rescue party about 1:30 o'clock. The body was carried to the top of the rim rock about 4 o'clock Wednesday morning.

P. A. Crossman, county coroner, a member of the rescue party, stated that the case was one of accidental death from avoidable and unknown causes. Other members of the rescue party

Falls Willie Asleep

Members of the family believe that Mr. Maxwell fell asleep while sitting on the rim rock watching the progress of the party on the canyon floor. He frequently fell asleep if he sat quiet for any length of time.

Other possible causes for the fatal plunge which have been suggested by the coroner and other members of the rescue party are: a sudden spurt of dizziness, an attack of some nature or a mistake while walking along the canyon's edge.

The son, Henry Maxwell, stated that his father had forgotten his pipe and had asked him for a cigarette just before they started walking down the first time. The son found a paper from a tobacco can at the top of the canyon—near the man and its scattered contents near the body. He believes that this latter, while sitting near the edge of the cliff, in attempting to light his pipe, lost his balance which resulted in the fatal plunge.

Fate Causes Death

Had the man fallen at a point a few feet to either side of the point at which he did fall, he would have landed on ledges a few feet down the canyon wall and would have escaped serious injury. At the point where the accident occurred, there is a slight ledge of nearly 100 feet—a narrow rock ledge with a second fall of nearly 100 feet to the rocks at the base of the almost perpendicular cliff.

William Allen Maxwell was born in Wheeling, West Virginia, June 16, 1863. When eight years of age he moved with his parents to Ohio and later to Pennsylvania. He married Mrs. Maxwell at Ottumwa, Iowa, August 25, 1884.

For a number of years following their marriage, Mr. Maxwell was employed as engineer in a power house at Ottumwa. Later they moved to Anadarko, Oklahoma, where they lived for 20 years. Mr. Maxwell was engineer of an ice plant there for a time and later was engaged as a rancher.

Arrived Six Years Ago

Six years ago they came to Twin Falls where Mr. Maxwell has operated a ranch. He has also been employed by Carl L. DeLong, incorporated, during potato seasons.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Kate Maxwell, five sons, Omer Maxwell, Mampo, Harry Maxwell, Henry Maxwell, Ralph Maxwell and John Maxwell, all of Twin Falls; a daughter, Miss Ensay Maxwell, Twin Falls.

COURT HOLDS NOTES TO DEFUNCT SUGAR COMPANY ARE VALID

Judge Babcock Rules That Ob- ligations Passed From Firm to Third Parties In All Good Faith Are Legally Collectible

Decision in favor of the defendant has been handed down by Judge W. A. Babcock in the action of R. L. Jagers and 72 others against E. C. Cox, receiver of the Idaho Cooperative Beet Sugar company, a corporation, involving payment of $3,000 on notes given by plaintiffs to the company.

Forty-two other actions involving legal issues of a somewhat similar nature have been filed by Receiver Cox against individuals who gave notes but who did not participate with Jagers in the suit to invalidate the claims of the receiver.

Misrepresentation Charged

In 1920, the Idaho Cooperative Beet Sugar company sold stock to about 125 farmers in Twin Falls county with the alleged understanding that sugar factories would be built at Piler and Hansch. Work was started on the Piler factory but was never completed. The farmers who bought stock gave notes for the same at the time of purchase. When the company failed without constructing the factories the farmers refused to pay, asserting that the situation had been misrepresented to them and Jagers and others brought action to prevent the company from collecting. The court found the testimony in the case showed that innocent creditors had intervened in the meantime so that those giving the notes could not obtain relief.

Attorneys for the defense were Porter and Witham and Stephan and North and Ray Agee.

Warm praise for the southern Idaho fish hatchery—associated hatchery here was expressed Tuesday evening by William Kiehl, state fish commissioner, when he visited the hatchery with W. E. Kiehl, county chairman, were also present.

UPPER RIVER TO GET FULL WATER SUPPLY

Installation of Drag Lines and Lowering of Gates Solves Problem That Worried Users

The shortage of water on the upper Snake river segregation, due to the low level of the river, will be taken care of by means of drag lines and lowering the gates for this year, and probably in the future by means of the construction of a feeder canal, was the statement of A. K. Wiley of Springfield, representative of the Springfield-Aberdeen company of the American Falls district board, who was in Twin Falls yesterday on his way home from Boise.

Mr. Wiley, who was accompanied by his son, Robert, said that he had received plenty of water for his crops, but that other farmers' crops were short. He said that for years it had been realized that should the lower districts and segregations fail to draw water from the reservoir at Jackson lake, the river level might fall so low that the full flow would not go over the gates. The Springfield-Aberdeen company will put a drag line across the river this year and lower the gates, and others will probably resort to temporary dams. While there was some shortage of water, the Springfield-Aberdeen segregation will raise good crops.

Danger Is Past

The statement of Mr. Wiley was confirmed by a letter received yesterday afternoon by Manager Burdon Smith from Manager E. V. Berry of the Springfield-Aberdeen company, to the effect that the difficulty with Democrats say that the names of two persons will be written on the legislative ticket to fill vacancies. The Jefferson club recommended the names of Mr. Kinney and Earl Morgan.
