GRAND OLD PARTY'S CAMPAIGN TAKES UP MARCH TO HISTORY

Activities Will Not Arrive at Rapid Fire Stage Until Democrats Notify Governor

Alfred Smith of Nomination (By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The Republican campaign is officially on its way, lifted from six weeks of silent preparation by the Hoover notification ceremonies today in far-away California.

How energetically and valiantly it will progress remains to be seen. Hoover has announced not only that he will do little talking and no barnstorming, but also that the campaign will not reach its rapid fire stage until the Democrats have notified Governor Smith later this month.

Having absorbed some of the quietude with which Mr. Hoover has surrounded himself, his chieftains thus far have left most of the announcing and announcing to the Democrats, with results of interesting frankness.

From Democratic sources has arisen the charge of "obituary" and of a white flag reconnoitering days before the advent of "carpet-bagger." The week brought from Governor Smith a challenge to a pulp debate with a New York Baptist clergyman, John Northampton, on his fitness to lead his party; it witnessed a defense of "hammy" talk by Senator Robinson as he attacked those who oppose Smith because of his Catholicism, and it saw a couple of squabbles with the Republican John W. Burdell, Republican candidate for lieutenant governor.

Senator Moses, New Hampshire, from the party councils on the ground that he was not affronted to the voters during the day the weather bureau posted from Washington to Norfolk and southeastward from Norfolk.

These were headline events, along with many others that included the holding of a convention by the National Labor not to take sides in the campaign, and the leave of absence of Pierre S. Dupont, D-Nevada, and company, and the General Motors corporation, so that he might more actively support Governor Smith, and pursue his fight for revision of the prohibition law.

It was announced also the passing of George E. Brennan, Illinois, long an important factor in the Democratic party, a death that removed a most active support Governor Smith, and drew the governor from Albany to Chicago to attend the funeral services.

The Smith acceptance speech still is being formulated and his campaign has not divulged. He will have to be out of the way, however, before he enters the pulp-forum to reply to Dr. Strain's charge of "obituary" and "deadly foe" of moral progress. His hearers will stretch far beyond the confines of California, and search for this unusual development in an unusual campaign the governor will reply not only to the New York clergyman, but also to the New York clergyman, on his political record and religion.

FOREST-FIRE RAGES IN McCALL SECTION

Blaze in Four Days Burns Over 6000 Acres of Grass and Timber in Weiser District

BOISE, Aug. 11.—Six thousand acres of grass and timber land have burned in a four-day fire in the McCall section of the Seven Devils country and a bad fire is raging on Buckhorn creek in the McCall section. The Associated Press learned tonight by long distance telephone.

The fire in the Weiser forest swept from the north of the Seven Devils peaks of the Seven Devils range and was halted within two miles of the town of McCall. The Council fire dispatcher, Dewitt Russell, said no buildings were burned in the territory swept by the flames and so far as could be seen some of the fire fighters was injured.

Forty-five men were mustered against the fire which was believed under control tonight.

The fire in the Buckhorn district was held back by the McCall firemen in the Weiser forest and Russell said he was told by the fire warden at McCall that the flames were gaining "back" beyond the big timber.

No settlements were believed in danger, Russell said he was told.

DOGS TRY TO DRAG BODY OF LIFELESS MISTRESS TO HUT; TEAR CLOTHES

PONCA CITY, Okla., Aug. 11.—Her clothing, the hands by the three dogs which were her guardians in the body of her mistress, a woman who was found on a farm north-west of here last night by neighbors. She was believed to have died while repairing a fence, and the dogs apparently had tried to drag her lifeless body to the rude shack where she lived alone.

Miss Boyd had an aversion to men and had trained her eight dogs to attack them. Each dog was fired a shotgun, neighbors said, probably to produce an intimidating effect. She was reported to have had at least 150 hidden on the farm, but it had not been found today.

Miss Boyd had lived alone on her 150-acre farm for 12 years.

CAROLINAS IN GRIP OF TROPICAL STORM

Four Persons Lose Lives; Many Homeless; Floods Menacing

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 11.—The tropical storm as it moved slowly from the Gulf of Mexico into the Carolinas today, the effects of which were felt in the Carolinas, Florida and Georgia continued to wrestle with its aftermath.

A toll of four dead, several injured, scores homeless and many more damaged marked its progress late yesterday and last night through the rich Piedmont section of North Carolina and into the Carolinas. Flood conditions caused by unprecedented rains menaced several communities, cutting communication, disrupting power service and paralyzing railroad and highway traffic.

Bureau Issues Warnings As the disturbance passed over into western North Carolina and Virginia during the day the weather bureau posted from Washington to Norfolk and southeastward from Norfolk.

General and southern South Carolina apparently were the hardest hit, high winds and rain being reported in homes in that area and torrential rains.

UTAH BABY DROWNS

PROVO, Aug. 11.—Maxine Long, 18-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Long, of Provo, Utah, today died when she fell into an irrigation ditch in front of her home. The body was recovered a block downstream.

SALT LAKE BOY JUMPS FROM TRUCK TO DEATH

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 11.—George East, 11-year-old son of a Salt Lake City family, was almost instantly killed today after jumping from a truck which was running over him by an automobile truck.

The young boy was returning on a trip to the mountains east of here in the truck with several companions. The machine ran out of control and the boy was projected all attempt to push the truck to the top of a ridge and let it coast down the other side.

Young Hill headed over the side of the truck. His foot caught and he was dragged under the wheels which passed over his neck and left shoulder.

DALLAS, Texas, Aug. 11.—The Anti-Saloon League of Texas, through its superintendent, Dr. Allicus Webb, tonight made public an appeal for the defeat of Governor Alfred E. Smith in the Democratic primary election in Texas. All of the signers termed themselves "Democrats and Methodists."

500 IDAHO FARMERS HEAR BORAH DECRY BEATEN FARM BILL

Gem State Solon Delivers Ringing Attack Against McNary-Haugen Measure at Meeting in Meridian; Gives Reasons

(By The Associated Press) MERIDIAN, Idaho, Aug. 11.—A ringing attack against the McNary-Haugen bill as a system which would "give the farmer no opportunity to get out of the control, and yet would charge him for his imprisonment while he is in it" was made here tonight by Senator William E. Borah in an address before the Meridian Grange.

The senator, addressing a gathering of 500 farmers, covered all phases of the farm situation and then switched over to discussion of world peace, toward which he said the world would take one of its most forward steps at the conference late this month in Paris when 14 nations will sign the Kellogg-mull-lateral-treaty-to-outlaw-war.

In his discussion of farm problems, the senator outlined three principles which he said would extend relief to the farmer.

1. Protection of the home market for the farmer.

2. Adoption of a marketing scheme that would assist the farmer in marketing his produce without "being robbed on the way."

3. A business-like handling of the surplus.

To the relief of the first situation, he advised an adjustment of the tariff to keep out foreign supplies of what the American farmer was able to produce enough.

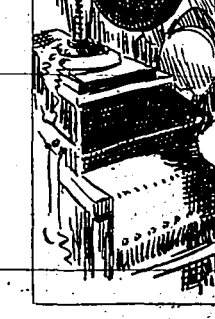

For the second he said a system (Continued on Page Two)

MEXICO PRAISES MORROW FOR GOOD-WILL EFFORTS

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Disparaged editorially today that Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow for the first time in 100 years is bringing about genuinely friendly relations between the Mexican and the United States governments.

The newspaper says that the first United States minister to Mexico, John R. Polk, who served a century ago, was the enemy of Mexico and an active propagandist in the country for anti-Mexican interests. It recalls that the Mexican Christmas flower came to be called the poinsettia in the United States because it was the first to bring back its seeds.

SOUTH WIND CAUSES BABIES TO CRY, SAY FRENCH PHYSICIANS

PARIS, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Mothers here here.

It is the south wind that causes your babies to cry, in the opinion of eminent physicians of the French Academy of Medicine.

It is a scientific fact, assert two doctors of Lyons, M. Charpentier and M. Maunoury, who reported their observations to the academy after they had completed experiments at the Lyons city hospital.

The babies weep at times when they start to yell about the climate, they declared. It is because the south wind dries out the air and effects the infants.

The doctors explained that adults do not notice this pathological effect because they are stronger and their bodies remedy matters automatically. But babies cannot understand anything about "dehydration" yet their sensitive organs are affected. They cannot talk so they tell their mothers when they cry or there is a change in the weather. Some of them even run up a fairly high temperature.

SMITH TUNES IN ON HOOVER'S ADDRESS

Reporters Expand Family Circle After Agreeing Not to Comment on Host's Reactions

ALBANY, Aug. 11.—(AP)—With an interest only a rival for the presidency could have, Governor Smith turned tonight to the radio, like millions of other Americans, to follow Herbert Hoover's acceptance speech in far-away California word by word.

Newspapermen who have been in contact daily with the Democratic nominee were invited to the executive mansion to listen in with him on the notification at Palo Alto, but not until they had been warned that he would have no comment whatever on his opponent's address.

Reporters Expanded Circle The reporters expanded a family circle that included Mr. Hoover, his wife, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Smith, a son and daughter-in-law, the only members of the household in town for the week-end. It was agreed at the governor's suggestion that none would attempt to describe his reaction.

President Smith had indicated that later in the night, after the radio became silent, he would do some interpretive work in his study at the mansion on his own acceptance speech, which he will deliver a week from Wednesday evening from the east steps of the capitol. He has furnished a rough (Continued on Page Two)

Hoover Offers Plan for Relief of Farmer; Opposes Repeal of Liquor Laws; 75,000 Persons Congregate

Ex-cabinet Officer On Field of Great Political Struggle

Thousands of Men and Women Storm Gates; Senator Moses Brings Notice

(By The Associated Press) STANFORD UNIVERSITY STADIUM, Aug. 11.—In a setting symbolic of Nature's gift of flowers and greens to California, Herbert Hoover today came to the hour of his great adventure upon the field of American political struggles.

Here in an athletic bowl, with accommodations for more than 75,000 persons, the speaker had been constructed and then hid behind a wall of flowers and greens to mark off the seating space from the flat oval field where undergraduates of his alma mater contend for athletic supremacy. At each end of the stand an American flag fluttered fitfully in the scant breeze that failed to temper the rays of a scorching sun which beat down upon great and humble alike. For Hoover himself and those assigned to places immediately around him, shelter was afforded.

AIRPLANES CARRY 214,574 POUNDS OF MAIL IN JULY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Airmail carried during the month of July totaled 214,574 pounds compared with 206,760 pounds in June and 199,284 pounds in May, the post office department announced today, adding that preliminary reports indicate an increase during this month of 30 percent over the lowered rate.

Various factors made it difficult to analyze the July figures from the viewpoint of increased public appreciation of the newest mail carrying facilities, the department observed, noting that postal revenues have always shown a seasonal decline in the month preceding lowered rates.

OKLAHOMA WOMAN BURNS TO DEATH IN OIL POOL

SHAWNEE, Okla., Aug. 11.—(AP)—Miss Marie King, 37, burned to death today when she was trapped in a pool of blazing oil.

The woman was seen early today brought in an oil well a short distance from the left in which King's home was being built from the product had surrounded her home. Unaware of this, the woman lit a fire in her cooking stove and it spread to the entire pool of overflow oil, covering several acres, burst into flames.

As Mrs. King ran from her tent, her clothing ablaze, she stumbled and plunged headlong into a flaming pool of oil several inches deep.

NAMPA POSSES HUNTING FOR MISSING ACCOUNTANT

He returned Saturday night by train after his automobile had stalled along the highway from Owyhee. Early the next day, Snell set out for the Nampa-Owyhee stretch, later he was reported seen walking in the road near Owyhee station.

THREE FLIERS CRASH TO DEATH ON FARM IN EAST

SOUTH PLAINFIELD, N. J., Aug. 11.—(AP)—Three men were killed in the crash of a biplane near Hartley field east tonight. The men were identified as Major Lee Mason, Robert Howell and a flier named Beck.

The crash of the machine was heard about 10:30 p. m. as it struck the farm of Samuel Hepler, where an airplane fell last year, causing the death of a man. The machine struck the ground and landed upside down while it was being put through an obstacle course by the fliers. The plane was in the United States air service during the war and recently won a year and a half in the annual American biplane tournament.

forded by a bright red and green canopy stretched around the four columns rearing their way 40 feet above the platform and supporting the loud speakers which carried the voices of the speakers to every corner of the stadium.

The columns and the apparatus holding six microphones seemed destined to hide the presidential candidate from the view of a vast part of the crowd, thousands of which were nearly half a mile away in the extreme western end of the stands.

Directly beneath the battery of microphones and taking up half the central part of the wide stand was a large seal of California, with a brown bear as the central figure and the inscription "EUREKA" in blue to his just under and to the right of a silver star.

Thousands of men and women around the gates as they were opened at noon and their number was constantly augmented minute by minute. Women appeared to outnumber the men by long odds.

Those who had failed to bring umbrellas sought to make up for the oversight by fashioning newspapers into parasols.

Breeze Sweeps In From Sea There was not a single trace of clouds in the sky and much of the southeastern breeze that swept in from the sea across the coast ranged hills was shut out by the towering sides of the bowl.

The crowd moved a good natured one despite all that, and demonstrated its holiday spirit by giving a round of applause to a "puff" of blue-colored smoke that swept in from the stadium and wheeled sharply to take their places before the speaker.

Every spectator had been provided with a small flag at the entrance and these were waved with little or no pretension. The first demonstration that chartered a name when the crowd was led to believe that the appearance of a huge 13-passenger airplane heralded the beginning of the promised airplane show over the bowl.

The big tri-motored plane flew past the stadium, keeping to an air lane well inside and then disappeared from view.

Just two hours before the speaking was to begin the stadium was estimated to be about one-third full with 30,000 people within its walls.

Theodore Hoover, dean of the Stanford school of engineering, and brother of the candidate, was among the notables to reach the stadium.

Another early arrival was Mayor John L. Davis, Oakland, who wore a suit with a sand-colored collar and an old-fashioned neck tie. He took a seat in the front row of the stand with his two sons.

Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, president of Stanford, and close personal friend of the nominee, took his place on the stand with Mrs. Wilbur more than an hour and a half before the time for the opening of the ceremonies.

The program was put under way with the announcement that in a "very friendly" atmosphere would begin the arrival of the speaker.

The crowd gave the announcer a big hand as he concluded before that the entirely hand could be heard in the distance and such approval, resplendent in red jackets and white trousers, to the strains of a March melody, the band paraded around the center path and the spectators had their first real chance to give vent to their enthusiasm. The band led strong, took seats on the south side of the stadium amid a final burst of hand-clapping and a waving of flags. The music was transmitted by radio not only to all sections of America, but to the nation's outlying possessions and to Great Britain, Germany and other European countries.

Announcement that Dr. Wilbur and his brother, Curtis D. Wilbur, secretary of the navy, were in the reserved seats, brought another burst of applause.

The bands were playing a medley of Southern songs, including "Dixie" the official band from San Francisco followed the musicians of Stanford. Before the band passed into the stadium, through the west tunnel the radio announcer said it was the San Leandro Boys' band and the crowd gave him a hearty laugh when the organization swung into view as there wasn't even a cough in the company of mostly middle-aged men.

Wave May Flags While the band was parading, the moving picture men moved across to the northeastern end of the stadium to take a view of the densely packed crowd there. The spectators responded to the clicking of their machines and

Moonshiners Keep Courthouse "Dry"

WAKAHACHIE, Texas, Aug. 11 (AP)—Copper from confiscated stills which contributed to the wetness of this county now keeps the interior of the county's court house literally dry.

Leaks in the roof of the building are repaired with the copper. Joe Loeb, sheriff, who brings the moonshiners and their equipment to town, says a roof entirely of copper may be a memorial to his administration if the illicit manufacturing of liquors continues in Ellis county.

Sheriff Loeb himself nails the copper on the roof.

The explosion of several bombs heralded a string of necks. The bursts overhead sent American flags parading downwind, trailed by huge white and blue "Eureka" banners and one burst sent a mammoth elephant tottering off through the air.

The crowd arose and applauded as President Emeritus David Starr Jordan of Stanford university, entered the stand.

Legion Corps Plays In the midst of a selection by the official band of the American Legion film and drum corps of Pasadena marched upon the field. As it circled the stadium a loud explosion overhead sent two huge red fish floating earthward.

The crowd caught the glimpse of the burst and a wave of applause and laughter echoed around the bowl.

Eighteen minutes before 4 o'clock Secretary Hoover and Mrs. Hoover were escorted to the speaker's stand upon the field and as the official band played "Love You California," their automobile entered the stadium, accompanied by a rust of applause from the crowd. The back of their machine was draped with an American flag.

The speaker rose to a tumultuous wave as the car slowly approached the stand. The speaker, David Starr Jordan, New Hampshire, chairman of the notification committee and Governor C. Young of California, met him to greet the nominee up the steps to the stand. The three, accompanied by Mrs. Hoover, Allan Hoover and George Akerson, secretary to the nominee, climbed the stairs and Governor Young immediately launched into his invitation of the New Hampshire speaker.

The governor brought another burst of hearty applause as he referred to Mr. Hoover as the next president of the United States. Then, after depicting the virtues and needs of California, he turned to the speaker.

The New Hampshire senator began his notification speech with characteristic briskness, while cameramen carried into position before the stand.

CAROLINAS IN GRIP OF TROPICAL STORM

Most of the injuries occurred near Raleigh in which twenty-seven persons depending most of the territory were reported hurt by flying debris and in the wreckage of houses.

Jasper J. Haygood died of injuries when his home at Sauratown collapsed in the gale, an unidentified man was found dead on the highway near Cowpens and Grayson, a Southern railway freight train conductor, was killed when a high tension wire fell across his cab. The other victim was a 12-year-old negro girl who was killed when her home was demolished near Union.

The storm was the greatest suffered among the larger communities in the storm's path. More than seven inches of rain fell there in 24 hours, sending creeks out of banks and flooding cotton mill towns of Beaumont and Arkwright, nearby, from which residents were forced to flee.

Morgantown, Martin and Maiden, in the vicinity of Hickory, North Carolina, were isolated today and Hickory was depending for its water supply on three emergency reservoirs after its water works pumping station had been flooded by a four-hour cloudburst during which 10 inches of rain fell.

Cities in South Georgia visited by the storm today counted the cost in thousands of dollars damage done to growing crops, highways, railroad trackage and public utility.

Rivers and streams had swollen to the highest stages on record in many places and isolated half a dozen communities.

In Florida, where the storm's greatest damage was wrought, a New area of approximately 20 miles from Inglis was depending for its water supply when officials of the Florida Power corporation dam near that place closed the flood gates to relieve pressure against the structure from the heavy volume of water poured into it by the swollen Lake George river. Two hundred persons living in the area were isolated, the structure from the heavy volume of water poured into it by the swollen Lake George river. PSYCHOLOGY ENLISTED IN CHICAGO CRIME WAR

CHICAGO, Aug. 11 (AP)—Chicago police have enlisted psychology to aid them in their year-in, year-out war on crime. To supplement their night-club, place-hand-cuffing show-up and knowledge gained by experience, the department has added a course in human behavior, including studies of racial psychology and criminal tendencies. The classes are at the University of Chicago.

RECORD AUDIENCE AT NOTIFICATION PROGRAM ON COAST

Little American flags were again being held in the holding his hands bowed to right and left, and then stood at attention, the music played "The Star Spangled Banner."

There was a real outburst right at the start of the address when Hoover announced that he accepted the nomination. Again the crowd was on its feet, cheering, whistling and waving.

Emphasizing his remarks only by the occasional thumping of the four fingers of his right hand alternately on the board holding the copy of his text, Hoover followed his text rather closely, but occasionally transposed a sentence or changed a word without affecting the meaning.

When he reached the prohibition section of his speech, the nominee paused.

"I do not favor the repeal of the Eighteenth amendment," he said, speaking slowly and emphatically. A wave of applause greeted that declaration and another rolled around the stadium with his declaration that the "social and economic" experiment of prohibition must be "worked out constructively."

Hoover's declaration for religious tolerance twice was interrupted by handclapping of the thousands gathered within a short distance of the speaker's stand. Another note of approval went up in response to his declaration for honesty in government.

With the music and cheers dimming in his ears, the Republican standard-bearer left the stand with Mrs. Hoover and responded to the cheers and flag waving with a nod of his head and a wave of his hand.

Smith, who expects to have his address in final form early next week, in time for national wide distribution to newspapers and radio.

No. 14,000 of "Thoughts" No. 14,000 has been given by Mr. Smith as to what he will say in accepting the call of Democracy to lead the fight for control of the federal government. He has promised, however, to discuss all campaign issues, and has indicated he will treat extensively such questions as prohibition, religious tolerance, and honesty in government.

Prior to delivery of his speech he expects to hold a number of important conferences here with farm and party leaders, but these probably will come too late to enable him to incorporate any suggestions in his address. Rather, he is counted on to make use of them in speeches to the voters during the stump campaign after Labor day.

ARRIVAL OF ICE CREAM IN HONGKONG IS EVENT

HONGKONG, Aug. 11 (AP)—Demand for American ice cream is on the increase here. Nearly every "trinidad" cafe here has a "trinidad" of the delicacy from Seattle and San Francisco, and the ice cream business in the far east has increased to such an extent that most of the steamships on these days have had special refrigerator compartments set aside to handle the "ice cream" which is shipped to them.

Now and then a shipment of ice cream is made to Tokio but the great part of the trade is for the islands of Shanghai and Manila. The demand for ice cream in Hongkong and Manila is so high that certain vessels are known as the "ice cream" boats instead of the "mail boats" as formerly. Dates of arrival of a fresh shipment of ice cream are advertised in the newspapers of the scheduled time, and it often happens that parties and other social events are held by the day of the "ice cream" which is expected to arrive.

In all three cities the ice cream has been purchased within three or four days after it is landed on the docks. Ordinarily, in the special packing cases, the ice is good for about two months. After that time it begins to get "mealy."

German Tourist On Motorcycle Tells His Impressions

All interesting Twin Falls visitors is Ernest Berkenhoff of the Berkenhoff, Drees Engineering company of Herborn, Germany.

The ordinary type of American tourist does not notice the foreign opinion of America in general. The European is greeted by another type on his arrival here—a far more human and friendly person, as he proceeds west, finds the people more friendly, courteous and hospitable, according to Berkenhoff.

"The people of the West cannot be excelled in hospitality and friendliness. At the A. A. A. where I always visit, I am greeted as an old friend. My one great objection to this West is its hot roads. Why aren't they improved? As the people become more friendly, the roads become worse.

"I have been nearly a year in this country, and have visited all but the West coast states. It is not a business trip—merely a vacation, for my own pleasure and edification. I have visited Niagara Falls, Yellowstone park and numerous other American snow peaks. I am anticipating my trip to the Grand Canyon, which I will make on my way back to New York.

"I have found this a magnificent country, and I am more and more impressed as I go on. Berkenhoff admitted that the American girl did not impress him as well as the country. She is the most beautiful, best dressed and friendliest of any girl here.

Theatrical "Telling the World" At Idaho Proves Riot

William Haines has grown up. The boy, excited but capable actor of "West Point" and "The Smart Set" has become the finished player whose ability rises to genius.

It is easy to say that it is the best picture Haines has ever done but should go further than that and say that it is real entertainment; a picture that father, mother, son and daughter can go to together and find pleasure in to their last gasp.

And the credit is due to Haines. After Chaplin he has established himself as America's premier comedian.

He is to be congratulated also in his selection of a leading lady. Anita Page, who plays the role of Crystal, with a sureness of touch that is superb artistry, is a newcomer to the screen who is playing her first screen role.

The comedienne of the day, Molly Moran, Ellen Price, Frank Currier, Mori Booth, William V. Mong and Mather Bell, are all that anyone could expect—which in three days is nothing less than perfection in their parts.

Twin Falls county commissioners began the official count of the recent primary election yesterday. The count for the Republican party was completed and showed no material change from the non-official figures given in the News the morning after election.

In the close contest for coroner, F. E. Drake gained one raising his total to 1164, while P. J. Grossman gained six, making his total 1138. Drake's majority was 25 instead of 28 as shown by the unofficial returns.

For state senator P. C. Graves gained 30, making his total 1281 instead of 1251, and M. J. Swezey lost 23, making his total 1140 instead of 1163.

These were the only totals run up last evening, but the majorities in other contested places on the Republican ticket are so great that there can be no material change, which could affect the result.

The Democratic vote was not canvassed owing to failure to receive returns from Piler, it was stated last evening. There is one close race in the Democratic primary, that for commissioner from the second district.

On the face of unofficial returns J. P. Denny is shown to have defeated J. T. Windle by 13 majority.

SALMON IRRIGATION DISTRICT HEARING DATE SET BY BOARD

Petition Received Over Protest of Judge Bothwell Who Objects to it On Ground Alleged Insufficiency

Hearing on the petition for the creation of the proposed Salmon Irrigation district was set for September 15 at 10 o'clock a. m. by Twin Falls county commissioners yesterday after petition had been received by the board over the protest of Judge James R. Bothwell acting in his own behalf as land and water right owner in the irrigation.

Reception of the petition was finally agreed on after a quadrangular legal discussion between Judge Bothwell, R. F. Parry, who represented the petitioners; Prosecuting Attorney O. W. Witham, representing the county; and E. L. Rayburn, one of the petitioners.

About 15 petitioners and three or four who were opposed to the creation of the district appeared at the time that the petition was presented. A short time after 2 o'clock, the hour set for hearing, the board took up the matter of setting date for hearing. It was explained that the only duty of the board at this time was to receive the petition and set a date for hearing and that the hearing could not be held yesterday. R. A. Carter, who was opposed to the petition, said the district, said he understood that there would be a hearing and came with that in mind. The board also understood that the hearing was at the time noted above.

District Legality

A few minutes later Judge Bothwell telephoned to say that he desired to remonstrate against the filing of the petition. On his appearance Judge Bothwell said that he had two objections to offer. He asserted that the people signing the petition should have set forth a description of the lands which they owned within the proposed district. Mr. Rayburn contended that the rule followed in the creation of the American Falls district had been followed. This Judge Bothwell denied. Mr. Parry insisted that the petition was drafted in compliance with the statute governing the creation of such districts. Judge Bothwell further insisted that the statute provided that the purposes for which the district was created should be set forth and contended that this was omitted and constituted an even more serious omission than the defect that the alleged failure to set forth the description of the lands. He and Mr. Parry then debated the question whether the statements in the petition constituted a description of purpose within the meaning of the law and did not at all agree.

May Come Up Later

County Attorney Witham said that as an adviser of the board he had been asked for an opinion relative to whether the form of the petition was sufficient. There were nice questions of law raised by the attorneys. He believed that these matters could be presented at the date of hearing and determined by the board at that time. Judge Bothwell insisted that the description of land and purpose was insufficient and that therefore the petition could not be legally received. Two commissioners said that the board had waited until after 2 o'clock, the time for receiving the petition, before acting and the matter was disposed of. Judge Bothwell suggested that legally it was 2 o'clock until 3 and wanted to know if he were to understand that the board ruled that the hearing had closed before he appeared. The board disavowed any such ruling. "Then," he said, "I understand that the board gives my remonstrance." Mr. Parry then stated that this was the case, he said he wanted to record to show it. In His Own Interest

During the discussion somebody asked in whose interest Judge Bothwell appeared. He replied in his own

11,552 People Camp In Twin Falls Auto Parks During July

Tourist trade during July was practically double that during June, according to park proprietors reported last evening. During the month approximately 1500 cars and 6000 persons stopped overnight or longer in local parks, while approximately 2900 cars carrying over 1500 persons were guests in Twin Falls parks during July.

Tourist trade began about May 1, but did not really get under way until June. July was an exceptionally busy month with openings dated August 1 getting away to a fairly slow start, but is expected to improve soon.

Most automobiles stopping at the local camps are sedan, coupes or touring cars, very few coupes being seen. Each car averages four persons or more, attendants said.

In addition to the usual summer vacation tourists, the parks are now being patronized by salesman, show troupes and others of the traveling profession.

Wegener's Tourist park reported 1,378 cars and 5,512 tourists during July and 653 cars and 2,612 persons during June. The City Tourist park registered 1,632 automobiles and 4,224 passengers in July and 500 cars and 900 persons during the month preceding.

Asked if he owned land in the segregation he replied that he owned land and also a water right. "That is more than some of us have," said one of the petitioners.

After the meeting adjourned so far as the reception of the petition was concerned, the stockholders having decided to advise the board of the "round table" in the court house corridor, and debated the subject at length without reaching any definite conclusion but with a larger degree of restraint than is frequently displayed in conversational consideration of disputed questions.

A former irrigation district was ordered dissolved by vote of land owners, but the dissolution is not yet complete.

Republican Nominee Discourses On Spirit and Ideals With Which Platform is to Be Carried Into Administration; Ex-Cabinet Officer Recalls George Washington's First Notification

You bring, Mr. Chairman, formal notice of my nomination by the Republican party to the presidency of the United States. I accept. It is a great honor to be called to lead a party which has so largely made the history of our country in these last 70 years.

Mr. Chairman, you and your associates have in four days travelled 3000 miles across the continent to bring me this notice. I am reminded that in order to deliver this notice to me, George Washington, secretary of the congress, spent seven days on horseback to deliver that important intelligence 200 miles from New York to Mount Vernon.

In another way, too, this occasion illuminates the mission of progress. By the magic of the radio this nomination was heard by millions of our fellow citizens, not seven days after its occurrence, not one day, but even one minute. They were to all intents and purposes present in person, participating in the proceedings. Today, some millions have heard your voice and now are hearing mine. We stand in their unseen presence. It is fitting, however, that the forum of our national life, hallowed by generations of usage, should be jealously preserved, and for that reason you have come to me as similar delegations have come to other candidates through the years.

Those invisible millions have already heard from Kansas city the reading of our party principles. They would wish to hear from me not a discourse upon the platform—in which I fully concur—but something of the spirit and ideals with which it is proposed to carry it into administration.

Reconstruction Problems

Our problems of the past seven years have been problems of reconstruction. Our problems of the future are problems of construction. They are problems of progress. In the preceding forces have come into our national life. The world was released ideas of government in conflict with our present conditions. We have advanced the physical power which compels us into a new setting among nations. Science has given us new tools and a thousand inventions. Through them have come to each of us wider relationships, broader neighbors, more distant horizons, higher ambitions, greater problems. To insure that these tools shall not be used to limit liberty has brought a vast array of questions in government.

The points of contact between the government and the people are constant. Progress. Every year, wide governmental policies become more vital in ordinary life. As our problems grow, so do our temptations to grow away from those principles upon which our republic was founded, and upon which it has grown to greatness. Progress is not direct economic progress in support of moral and spiritual progress. We must deal with economic problems but our nation is not an agglomeration of millions of ships, of factories, of dynamo, of machines. It is a nation of homes, a nation of men, of women, of children. Every man has a right to ask of us whether the United States is a better place for him, his wife and his children to live in, because the Republican party has conducted the government for nearly eight years. Every woman has a right to ask whether her life, her home, her man's job, her hopes, her happiness will be assured by the continuance of the Republican party in power. I propose to discuss the questions before me in that light.

True Campaign
With this occasion we inaugurate the campaign for leadership in the next campaign; every penny will be publicly accounted for. It shall be a true campaign. We shall use words to convey our means, not to hide it.

The Republican party came into authority nearly eight years ago. It is necessary to remind ourselves of the critical conditions of that time. We were confronted with an incompleting peace and involved in violent and dangerous disputes both at home and abroad. The federal government was spending at the rate of two and one-half billions per year; our national debt stood at the staggering total of twenty-four billions. The foremost issue was the need for expansion due to the war and continued inflation of credit and currency after the Armistice, followed by a precipitous national deflation which in half a year crashed the prices of nearly every commodity. Agriculture was prostrated; land was unobtainable; commerce and industry were stagnated; our foreign trade ebbed away; five millions of unemployed walked the streets. Discontent and agitation against our democracy were rampant. Fear for the future haunted every heart.

No party ever accepted a more difficult task of reconstruction than did the Republican party in 1921. The record of these seven and one-half years constitutes a period of rare courage in leadership and constructive action. Never has a political party been able to look back upon a similar period with more satisfaction. Never could I look forward with more confidence that its record would be approved by the electorate.

Healing Process

Peace has made the healing processes of good will have extinguished the fires of hate. Year by year in our relations with other nations we have advanced the goals of law and peace, in substitution for force. By rigorous economy federal expenses have been reduced by two billions per annum. The national debt has been reduced by six and a half billions. The foreign debts have been settled in large part and on terms which have regard for our debtors and our taxpayers. Taxes have been reduced four successive times. These reductions have been made in the particular interest of the smaller taxpayers. For this purpose taxes upon articles of consumption and popular services have been removed. The income tax rolls today show a reduction of 30 per cent in the total revenue collected on income under $10,000 per year, while they show a reduction of only 25 per cent in revenue from incomes above that amount. Each successive reduction in taxes has brought a reduction in the cost of living to all our people.

Commerce and industry have revived. Although the agricultural, coal and textile industries still lag in their recovery and still require our solicitude and assistance, yet they have made substantial progress. While other countries engaged in the war are only now regaining their pre-war level in foreign trade, our exports, even if we allow for the depreciated dollar, are 50 per cent greater than before the war. Constructive leadership and co-operation by the government have released and stimulated the energies of our people. Faith in the future has been restored. Confidence in our form of government has never been greater.

Populosity Increased

But it is not through the recitation of wise policies in government; it is through the demonstration of our progress under Republican guidance. To me the test is the security, comfort and opportunity that has been brought to the average American family. During this less than eight years our population has increased by 8 per cent. Yet our national income has increased by over thirty billions of dollars per year or more than 45 per cent. Our production—and therefore our consumption—of goods has increased by over 25 per cent. It is easily demonstrated that these increases have been widely spread among our whole people. Home ownership has increased. Home building has resumed. During the past year, more than 2,000,000 new homes have been built. In this short time more than 3,500,000 new homes and better homes. In this short time coal and textile industries still lag in their recovery and still require through its drudgery has been lifted from the lives of women. The barriers of time and distance have been swept away and life made freer and larger by the installation of six million more telephones, seven million radio sets, and the service of an additional 14 million automobiles. Our cities are growing more affluent with beautiful buildings, parks, and playgrounds. Our countrywide has been knit together with splendid roads.

We have doubled the use of electrical power and with it we have taken sweat from the backs of men. The purchasing power of wages has steadily increased. The hours of labor have decreased. The 12-hour day has been abolished. Great progress has been made in stabilization of commerce and industry. The job of every man has thus been made more secure. Unemployment in the sense of distress is widely disappearing.

Children benefit. Most of all, I like to remember what this progress has meant to American children. The portal of their opportunity has been ever widened. While the population has increased by 11 per cent, the number of children in our grade schools, by 80 per cent; the number in our high schools, by 75 per cent; the number in our institutions of higher learning, by 11 per cent.

With our spending we have doubled savings deposits in our banks and building and loan associations. We have nearly doubled our life insurance. More than 100,000,000 people have had the most sacred obligation of man—charity. The gifts of America to churches, to hospitals and institutions for the care of the afflicted, and to relief from great disasters, have surpassed by hundreds of millions any totals for any similar period in all human records.

One of the noblest and perhaps the noblest of human aspirations has been the abolition of poverty. By poverty I mean not a chance to suffer from cold, and ignorance and fear of old age of those who have the will to work. We in America today are nearer to the final abolition of poverty than ever before in the history of any land. The "poorhouse" is vanishing from among us. We have not yet reached the final goal, but we are nearer than ever to it. We have not yet reached the final goal, but we are nearer than ever to it. We have not yet reached the final goal, but we are nearer than ever to it.

I especially rejoice in the effect of our increased national efficiency upon the improvement of the American home. This is the "materiality" of our life. It is the source of the spiritual energy of our people. The better home surroundings, the expanded schools and playgrounds, and the enlarged leisure which have come with our economic progress have brought to the average family a fuller life, a wider outlook, a stirred imagination, and a lift in aspirations.

Must Grow Spiritually

Economic advancement is not an end in itself. Successful democracy rests wholly upon the moral and spiritual quality of its people. Our growth in spiritual achievements must keep pace with our growth in physical accomplishments. Material prosperity and moral progress must march together if we would make the United States the most successful country conceived by its founders. Our government, to match the expectations of our people, must have constant regard for those human values that give dignity and nobility to life. Generosity of impulse, cultivation of mind, willingness to sacrifice, spontaneity of spirit—these are the qualities whereby America, growing bigger and richer and more powerful, may become America—bigger and nobler. A people or government to which these values are not, because they are not, must be judged to have reached a solution. Power alone cannot fulfill the promise of America's opportunity.

The most urgent economic problem in our nation today is in agriculture. It must be solved if we are to bring property and contentment to one-third of our people directly and to all of our people indirectly. We have ledged ourselves to find a solution. In my mind most agricultural discussions go wrong because of two errors. The first is that agriculture is treated as a separate industry, distinct industries incapable of the same organization. The second false premise is that rehabilitation will be complete when it has reached a point comparable with pre-war. Agriculture was not upon a satisfactory basis before the war. The abandoned farms of the north and west are a national calamity. Generally there was but little profit in mid-west agriculture for many years except that derived from the slow increase in farm and values. Even of more importance is the great advance in standards of living of all occupations since the war. Some ranches have been sold for less than recovered, but taken as a whole it is not keeping pace with the onward march in other industries.

There are many causes for failure of agriculture to win its full share of national prosperity. The after-war deflation of prices not only brought great direct losses to the farmer, but he was often left indebted in inflated dollars to be paid in deflated dollars. Prices are often demoralized through shifts in our markets during the harvest season. Local taxes have been increased to provide the improved roads and schools. The tariff on some products, in making inadequate protection from imports from abroad. The increases in transportation rates since the war has greatly affected the price which he receives for his products. Over six million farmers in times of surplus engage in destructive competition with one another in the sale of their products, often depressing prices below those levels that could be maintained.

Increased Production Aim

The whole tendency of our civilization during the last 50 years has been toward an increase in the size of the units of production in order to secure lower costs and a more orderly adjustment of the flow of commodities to the demand. But the organization of agriculture into larger units must not be enlarged farms. The farmer has shown he can increase the skill of his industry without large operations, he is today producing 20 per cent more than eight years ago with about the same acreage and personnel. Farming is and must continue to be an individualistic business of small units and independent ownership. The farm is more than a business; it is

MANY MILLIONS HEAR ACCEPTANCE ADDRESS BY HERBERT C. HOOVER

In a state of living. We do not wish to convert the field of distribution. Therefore, if the farmer's position is to be improved by larger operations it must be done not on the farm but in the city.

Directives of opinion as to both causes and remedy have retarded the completion of a constructive program of relief. It is our plain duty to search out the common ground on which we may mobilize the sound forces of agricultural reconstruction.

An adequate tariff is the foundation of farm relief. Our consumers increase faster than our producers. The domestic market must be protected.

Transportation Rate High A large portion of the spread between what the farmer receives for his products and what the ultimate consumer pays is due to increased transportation charges.

But we must not stop here. An outstanding proposal of the party program is the wholehearted pledge to undertake the reorganization of the marketing system upon sounder and more economical lines.

farm co-operatives, the establishment of intermediate credit banks, the regulation of stockyards, public exchanges and the expansion of the department of agriculture.

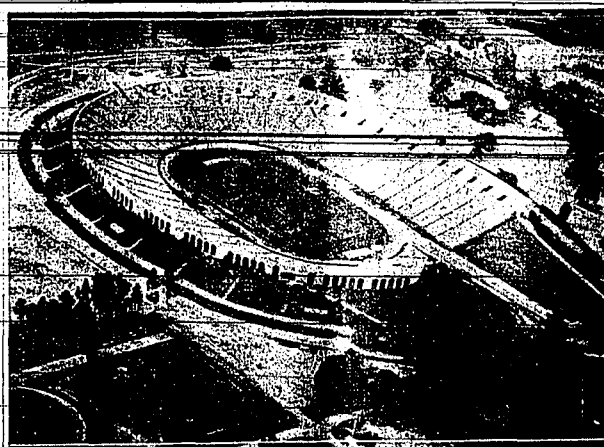

Objections have been made that this program, as laid out by the party platform, may require that several hundred millions of dollars of capital be advanced by the federal government without adequate return to the individual farmer.

This program adapts itself to the variable problems of agriculture not only today but which will arise in the future.

The working out of agricultural relief constitutes the most important objective of the present administration. I stand pledged to these proposals. The object of our policies is to establish for our farmers an income equal to those of other occupations.

These efforts have been successful beyond any expectation. They have been accomplished without interference or regulation by the government.

PRIZE-FIGHTING

Some people are disheartened by the financial failure of the Tunney-Kelly fight. The Tunney-Kelly fight was a great one, and the fact that it failed financially is a great disappointment to many people.

Other moralists are encouraged. They foresee a turning of athletic interest to more humane and elevated forms of sport, or to artistic and intellectual things.

There is nothing more natural, and destined to last longer in human evolution, than interest in a good fight, whether of men or dogs or chickens.

EARLY BIRDS

Major Walker of New York, "the late mayor's pal," is the "bird" who might say, when a delegation headed by the local mayor tried to greet him on his arrival in Seattle at six-thirty A. M.

"I'm inclined to believe a woman mayor is a good thing," he said. "A woman never would get up at this time of day and disturb a fellow."

Major Walker would have been surprised to hear that the woman mayor of Seattle is a woman.

His Honor's observation of women must be seriously limited. Who is it, we ask you, that does the early getting up in the majority of American households? There comes back a great chorus of "mother!"

This is fundamental. We've even inclined to believe that it's the mother bird that gets the early worm—and, getting it, gives it to the rest of the family, it breaks it.

sure the own abuses it is the self-government which comprises more than political institutions.

One of the greatest difficulties of business with government is the multitude of unnecessary contacts with government, bureau after bureau, and the duplication of governmental activities.

A large part of this is due to the scattering of responsibility in the great organization of our federal government.

We have, for instance, 34 different bureaus or agencies engaged in work which is duplicated in other bureaus.

It brings about complete lack of coordination between government agencies, and a total lack of co-ordinated policies in public work.

We have eight different bureaus and agencies charged with conservation of our natural resources, located in five different departments of the government.

These conditions exist in many other directions. Divided responsibility, the absence of centralized authority, prevents constructive and consistent development of broad national policies.

Repeal Justifies Expansion. Our Republican presidents have repeatedly recommended to Congress that the Department of Commerce be expanded to include the conservation of business in their contacts with government—but that a great reduction could be made in government expenses if the Department of Commerce and continued national policies could be developed.

If we could secure the grouping of these agencies devoted to the conservation of business, and the Department of Commerce, the results have amply justified its expansion to other departments and should consider it an obligation to enlist the aid of the government.

The government can be of inestimable aid in the promotion of business. The ideal state of business is freedom from government, but the greatest of any nation, its freedom from poverty and crime, its aspirations and ideals—are the direct result of government action.

Both the government and the individual are dependent upon the vigilance of government, national, state and local. I especially value the contribution that the youth of the country can make to the success of our American experiment in democracy.

thought and action have their only basis in the fact that the only way to equal opportunity, whether they hold open the door of opportunity. If they do not they are false in the name of the people.

It was Abraham Lincoln who firmly enunciated this ideal as the equal rights of all men. The American people are called in endeavor to hold open the door of equal opportunity in business.

Mr. Chairman, I regret that time does not permit the reading of many important questions. It is a pleasure to discuss the development of waterways, highways, aviation, irrigation, and the like, and to discuss the promotion of education, more effective administration of our criminal justice system, the extension of government to public utilities and other fields, the primary necessity of conservation of natural resources, measures for better economy in government and reduction of taxes—all of which afford problems of the first order.

I would violate my conscience and the gratitude I feel, did I not upon this occasion express appreciation of the great leadership which has been given by President Coolidge has not only given a memorable administration, but has left an imprint of rectitude and statesmanship upon the history of our country. WOMEN DRIVERS ENGAGE IN NEW SPEED CONTEST

The ability of Studebaker and Erskine cars to deliver their full quota of championship speed and endurance in the hands of the average driver was strikingly demonstrated in a recent series of tests unique in motor car history. Piloted entirely by women of only average driving experience, four fully equipped stock cars, the President, the Erskine six, each recently covered 500 miles on the Atlantic City speedway at sustained average speeds ranging from more than 58 to more than 77 miles per hour.

The first car to complete its 500 mile run was a stock Commander roadster, which covered the distance in 388 consecutive minutes, at an average speed of 77.1 miles per hour.

Following the Commander's performance, a stock Studebaker Dictator Royal sedan, completely equipped with six wire wheels and tires, covered the 500 miles at an average of 63.7 miles per hour. The President 8-passenger sedan followed with an average of 61.1 miles per hour for the 500 miles, and an Erskine club sedan finished the trial with an average of 58.9 miles per hour.

The tests were held under the sanction and observation of the executive board of the American Automobile association, which checked the time and speed of each car's run.

Immediately after each run was completed the car was examined by a technical committee appointed by the A. A. A. and certified to be strictly stock and fully equipped.

The average speeds at which the runs were completed offer conclusive proof of the ease and safety with which the speed of Studebaker and Erskine cars can be obtained and controlled.

"It costs you less than ever to ride on Goodyears"

Ladies and Gentlemen! Do You Know?---

THAT you can now buy brand new Goodyears for as little money as you were asked a short time ago for cheap, inferior, little known tires?

THAT we will make you a liberal allowance for old tires? In other words, "we will buy your troubles before they happen."

THAT you have four types of Goodyears from which to select—Double Eagles, Heavy Duty All-Weathers, Standard All-Weathers and Pathfinders?

THAT for the last 12 years more people have been riding on Goodyears than on any other tires—which proves that long experience with tires has convinced most people that it costs less to ride on Goodyears.
