FIGHTING FACTIONS OF CHINA CONSIDER TERMS TO END WAR

Last Remnants of Chihli-Shantung Forces Surrender; Nationalist Forces Reach Final Stage of Drive Started in 1926

(By The Associated Press) TIENTSIN, China, Sept. 21.—Peace terms under which the warfare between the Nationalists and the remnants of the former Northern Shan-tung-Chihli armies would cease after negotiation.

After a conference between representatives of the two groups at Lanhsien an agreement was reached which General Pei Chung-shih, the Nationalist commander, is submitting to his government in Nanking. The agreement provides for re-organization of the Chihli forces by the Manchurian authorities, reformation by Chang Tsung-chang, former military governor of Shantung, of a considerable part of the Shantung forces and provision for a suitable port for him.

Remnants Surrender. Advice from Mukden received by the Japanese today said that the last remnants of the Chihli-Shantung forces had surrendered and that this was regarded as the final stage of the Nationalist drive which started from Canton in 1926 and eventually swept north to Peking.

It is understood that Mukden is prepared to permit Chang Tsung-chang to remain in control of a portion of the zone between Manchuria and Chihli running from Shang-hai to the great wall west of the Tien-shan railway across the Tien-shan Ho.

In the event that Nanking should reject this solution, the alternative is that the Nationalist forces should be reformed into a military defense commissioner of the province of Heilungkiang, northernmost province of Manchuria, and removed from the heart of China.

HOOPER SILENT ON ADDRESS BY SMITH

Bourbon Nominee's Expression On Religious Question Fails to Get Opponent's Comment

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Comment on Governor Smith's action in drawing the religious issue into the open, was withheld today by Hugh Hooper, a political center assumed by work on his Elizabethtown speech and visits with callers at his personal headquarters on Massachusetts Avenue.

Time also was found by the Republican presidential candidate for a call at Red Cross headquarters where he received later reports on the situation in Porto Rico and Florida. Later, he gave newspapermen a statement expressing hope that the people of the country would be generous with contributions to the Red Cross fund.

Mann Attacks Smith. But the Republican candidate was silent on the subject of Governor Smith's address. Horace A. Mann in charge of the southern division campaign for the Republican party, issued a statement denying that an inquiry for literature attacking Governor Smith because of his religion had been directed to the office of an anti-Catholic periodical by the head of a bureau of the Republican national committee.

Mann declared the whole affair "was an attempted frame-up through a defective wire line because there is nothing here for her to find." Among Mr. Hoover's callers were Ois Glenn, Republican candidate for senator in Illinois and Lou Emmerson, close personal friend of former Governor Lowden and now the Republican National Committee.

(By The Associated Press) DENVER, Sept. 21.—Headed toward Colorado, Wyoming and Montana, Governor Smith resumed the role of a traveling presidential nominee today after an invasion of Oklahoma, where a knock-down fight in on for that border state's 10 electoral votes.

Although a bit fagged by what he calls the "merry-go-round" of a 24-hour "with such a political center as Oklahoma City," the Democratic nominee was encouraged by his reception there. He appeared satisfied that he had struck a responsive note last night in deploring religious intolerance and appealing for a deletion of the polls on the basis of the record of the two major parties and their candidates and their stand on the pressing public problems of the day.

Outlook Improves. Before him today, as he said goodbye to the Oklahoma capital and received assurance from political headquarters there that the outlook in the state was steadily improving from his standpoint and would be all right by election day, was a journey through a section of northern Oklahoma and southern and southwestern Kansas.

The New York governor is due in Denver at 11 A. M. tomorrow, and there tomorrow night he will deliver the third speech of his first stump tour. With water power as his theme. (Continued on Page Three)

RED CROSS SOCIETY CALLS UPON PEOPLE TO GIVE $5,000,000

Agency of Mercy Asks for Largest Amount Since Mississippi Flood; 400,000 Persons "Absolutely Destitute"

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—The American Red Cross today called upon the people of this country to give $5,000,000 for relief work in hurricane stricken Florida, Porto Rico, the Virgin Islands, the largest amount asked since the great Mississippi flood. Telegraphing to local chapters of the organization throughout the country, Chairman John Barton Payne declared that "I am confident that when the people of your community realize the extent of the disaster, they will be immediate and generous."

The sum of $5,000,000, among the largest single peace-time appeals ever made, was urged yesterday when intensive surveys showed hurricane relief needs to exceed the preliminary estimates.

400,000 Homeless. In Porto Rico the Red Cross expects to find its greatest rehabilitation task, for on this island latest reports showed 400,000 persons were "absolutely destitute" and in need of Red Cross for food, clothing, shelter and medical aid for a considerable period and for later rehabilitation.

This information was received at national headquarters from Maribelle E. Reckord, associated relief director at San Juan, who further described the desperate plight of the Porto Ricans as fraught with the possibility of epidemics, typhoid, malaria, measles and other diseases. "The suffering and need are literally beyond description."

In Florida 15,000 families will require Red Cross assistance to readjust themselves after hurricane damage to their homes. It is estimated that more than 5000 are dependent on the organization for food and the work of burying the dead and enforcing sanitary conditions to prevent outbreaks of disease have taxed the facilities of the state health department.

It is estimated that 15,000 families in Red Cross operations in Florida, said that in West Palm Beach a conservation of funds is being urged. (Continued on Page Three)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—The Alabama Power company was linked up with newspaper editorials today by the Federal Trade Commission, which opened a probe into the operation of public utilities in a short session today of the investigation of public utilities by the federal trade commission.

He declared this represented less than 6 per cent of his revenue, however, and estimated that the service went to 600 newspapers altogether.

Priority to Darnell's appearance, Commissioner McCulloch granted a request by Bernard F. Woodcock, counsel for the joint committee of national labor and consumer organizations, interests be given an opportunity later to outline their activities completely.

He said an unusual picture was presented through the testimony of Darnell and attributed this to the "machinery and method by which the distribution of the Herald of Florence is controlled." "It has been introduced into evidence. Commissioner McCulloch also announced today.

DR. STRATON ASSAILS A. E. SMITH'S RECORD

New York Pastor Regrets His Charge That Candidate Opposed Steps to Curb Vices

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 21 (AP)—From the platform on his way to Vermont, Governor A. E. Smith, tonight assailed the record of the Democratic presidential nominee whom he linked with that of Tammany Hall.

The New York pastor repeated his charges that Smith both as New York legislator and governor had by vote and influence opposed measures designed to curb the sale of liquor, gambling and other vices.

He added, however, that he did not believe Governor Smith would knowingly and deliberately so protect gambling, vice and crime—and asserted that Mr. Smith "failed to look deeply behind the results of his votes and actions," but "simply did the bidding of Tammany Hall."

"I cannot take time," he added, "to picture the details of his life and early career as legislator, and then as New York chairman, sheriff and governor further than to say that all of it was awfully under Tammany Hall direction and control, whose standards under Tweed alone are mentioned at BROOKLYN."

Dr. Stratton announced at the outset that he would not here enter into sectarian bitterness nor to arouse religious or personal prejudice.

Adopting to his generous debate against the theory of evolution, the New York divine asserted he finally had found the missing link.

"It is," he said, "this miserable monger, this hybrid impudence produced by the crossing of the Democratic Donkey with the Tammany Tiger."

CONGRESSMAN SMITH PROTESTS LIMITING EMPLOYEES' ACTIVITY

Idaho Solon Brands Ruling, Restricting Political Efforts of Federal Workers, as "Ridiculous and Contemptible"

Congressman Addison T. Smith, Idaho, made public here last evening his protest...

Of all the absurd, presumptuous, ridiculous, contemptible performances by public officials in this great government...

There is the full-text of Mr. Smith's speech...

Dear Secretary Work: I received your letter from the Capital News of Boise, Idaho, under date of yesterday...

The United States Civil Service commission today issued a dramatic warning...

The order said that employees may vote as they please, but must confine expression of views on political subjects to private conversations...

Of all of the absurd, presumptuous, ridiculous, contemptible performances by public officials in this great government...

It would be rather interesting to know why the civil service commission feels warranted in spending public money in this manner...

Members of the cabinet and heads of bureaus are active in urging the people to support the order...

The children of the national congressmen of the United States should step in to unloose the tongues of the classified employees...

And without being branded as political enemies and treated as such by every free American citizen...

It is not in minor restrictions should be received by every patriotic citizen, and an executive order issued giving assurance that no such restrictions should be denied...

On arraignment a short time previously, Hale was arraigned and waived preliminary hearing and indicated that he was guilty of the offense charged...

The big check alleged to have been presented by him at a Twin Falls bank for deposit, with the receipt for the deposit marked "subject for retention"...
