Wireless Stations Unable to Establish Radio Communication With Craft Bound For United States; Little Fear (By The Associated Press) PARIS, Oct. 12 (Friday Morning)—The whereabouts and course of the German dirigible Graf Zeppelin on route to the United States were shrouded in mystery this morning. There have been no reports of the ship's being sighted since it passed over Tarragona, 60 miles west of Barcelona, Spain, at 8:15 P. M. (11:15 P. M. Mountain standard time) yesterday. Ideal weather conditions prevailed at that time and it was thought that the dirigible continued down the coast of Spain to Gibraltar and then turned westward. No Spanish wireless station was able to establish communication with the airship. The Spanish stations said, however, that they did not know the zeppelin's true length and this might have been able to establish contact or that the airship might not have answered the radio. Barring unfavorable conditions the airship should be over the Atlantic at this time at an estimated speed of 50 miles an hour.

IDAHO OFFICIALS AID MARKETING EXPERTS

State's Officers Give Best Cooperation in West To Movements Aiding Farm Interests

BOISE, Oct. 11—State officials of Idaho give better cooperation to marketing experts assisting farmers in disposing of their crops than do any other western state.

In the last two years we have made more than a dozen trips through southern Idaho in the interest of better marketing conditions of prunes, apples, potatoes, dairy and poultry products and we have always found the officials of the various departments to give time in their offices to the consideration of the problems but on every occasion.

GENERAL RAINFALL DELAYS HARVESTING

Precipitation Interrupts Fall Work in Twin Falls County Range and Pastures Improve

BOISE, Oct. 11.—Moderate to heavy rain fell throughout the entire state during the week ending October 10, according to the season's final weather and crop summary issued by the Boise weather bureau of the United States department of agriculture. Snows were reported in some sections. Harvesting was reported to be temporarily delayed in many regions.

The report follows: The counties of Idaho, including the Twin Falls section, moderately heavy rains occurred, which interrupted fall work, haying, clover hauling, apple picking and potato digging, for a few days, but they were welcome because of their beneficial effect on pastures and the fall range. They did much to improve conditions, making it easier for plowing and fall seeding.

Mild temperatures for the season prevailed throughout the week. No killing frost has yet been reported. Gardens are well green and garden and truck produce is still abundant in most markets.

Pasture and range feed is still adequate and livestock is generally in good condition.

News in Southeast

The first of the week was cool with heavy to killing frosts in southern Idaho. Light scattered showers occurred in the south and west fall in the north. Warmer weather prevailed at the close of the week.

The third cutting of alfalfa is up in most sections. Potato digging is in progress in all sections. Beets are ready and digging will begin next week. Harvesting potatoes and peas is about completed. The range is dry and it is too dry for fall plowing and seeding.

Idaho, Benaff—North

In North Idaho, temperatures were moderate and the weather generally cloudy. Rain occurred on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday amounting to better than one-half inch over most of this district. The rains were needed, but not enough moisture fell to put the ground in good shape to work. However considerable soaking is being done and some are plowing.

A few fields of early sown wheat in the Camas-Panama section are well up to good stands and are doing well. There has been some frost, but partially all of the fog-ends jobs of threshing are done. Apple picking and packing are still in full swing, under continued favorable weather.

Livestock is being fed some hay and pasture. Pastures were injured slightly by the rains and will improve as the rains increase.

Notes From the Field

Idaho: Benaff—North: Cool with light scattered showers the first of the week, warming up at close of week. Digging potatoes progressing. Threshing of wheat and peas completed; beets about ready to dig; range is dry; too dry for fall plowing and seeding.

Blackfoot, Bannock county: Cool the first of the week, warming up the last half; threshing about completed; potatoes being dug; apples being picked; beets ready to dig; third cutting of alfalfa up; the range is dry.

Pocatello, Bannock county: First of the week cool with light showers; third cutting of alfalfa up; digging of potatoes progressing; beet digging well; third week threshing about completed; the range is very dry.

Calwell, Chayon county: Calm rather warm, but next of rain; no killing frost yet; hence green trees, green gardens and vegetables; the rains helped out the pastures; the first of the week was laid for the time in 5 months.

Kuna, Ada county: Showers last week helped out plowing; potatoes about all picked; Willows being cut; hay; third crop alfalfa cut; the slowly fall plowing in progress; clover haying; and with showers.

Richfield, Lincoln county: Week mostly cooler with some rain; warm days and cool nights, but no frost; last of week potato harvest now in full swing; grain threshing about completed; clover haying still continuing; cutting of third crop alfalfa now in progress.

Lapwai, Nez Perce county: Dry spell broken by two good showers; farmers very busy plowing up land and seeding wheat; rangers and pastures very poor; livestock being fed; tree fruits such as apples and prunes being harvested; potatoes poor; alfalfa in good shape.

INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL ENVIRONMENT GOOD

Judge C. A. Bailey Lauds Management and Accomplishments of St. Anthony School

Seventy-five to 80 per cent of the boys and girls in the state industrial training school at St. Anthony are in better home surroundings, and all of them are in a better environment than they left to enter the school, according to Probate Judge C. A. Bailey, who returned late Wednesday evening from his first visit to the St. Anthony institution.

"Any boy or girl who has the right stuff in him wants to be in the right thing," Judge Bailey declared, "and will find advantages at the St. Anthony school that are not excelled in any high school. A few of the boys and girls in the school do not take kindly to the restraint and discipline that is enforced, but these are the exceptions. Most of them are appreciative of the opportunity given them to become independent and useful citizens."

Prison Administrator Judge Bailey was enthusiastic over administration of the St. Anthony school, its manifest efficiency and the opportunity it affords for practical training of boys and girls. He told of visiting the gymnasium and a new carpenter shop built by the boys of the school, and graded work done by the boys and girls in tailoring and shoe making shops, machine shops, and on the 60-acre farm on which the school is situated.

"It is easy for me to see now," Judge Bailey said, "why the federal government put the Idaho school at the head of the list of industrial training schools throughout the country, and elected to send to St. Anthony a good many boys and girls from its territories and consular areas abroad."

During his visit to the school, Judge Bailey visited John P. Ault, state parole officer, who was for about 10 years Twin Falls county probation officer, and Mrs. Ault, who is served as a matron at the St. Anthony institution.

SHOP WINDOWS DON GAIN GARB IN FALL STYLE EXPOSITION

Merchants Arrange Displays to Catch Attention of 800 Visiting Teachers and Fans Gathering For Grid Events

Twin Falls shop windows are all "differing" over their special event for this evening when hundreds of the fair sex, and a few of the other, will gaze on them enraptured.

Some of the windows were preparing to put on their best social attire and company airs last evening. Others were hidden behind veils that the passersby to guess what might be going on. Others were their regular everyday garb, which in most cases the casual observer would think was fully fit for even a night of window shopping.

Falls merchants are ready to put on one of their annual window shopping events. Stores will close at 6 o'clock this afternoon to give merchants the time to add the final touches to the displays. The open house feature begins at 7 o'clock. It is optional with merchants whether they will sell goods or not. The shopping will cease at 10 o'clock.

Teachers, while predominating in number will not constitute the entire body of window shoppers. The huskies of the Oakley football team will be here this afternoon and during the night will bring many school patrons and students with them who will find many things of interest in the shop windows. Another group, the coming of the College of Idaho and the University of Idaho, southern branch teams for their annual grid contest tomorrow will be of interest, and will attract many fans to the city today.

SEARCH FOR MISSING WOMAN TERMINATES

Mrs. Bertha Snider, Wife of Salmon Rancher, Seeks Aid At Salvation Army Quarters

Four days' search for Mrs. Bertha Snider, 34, wife of Ed Snider, Salmon River project farmer, who disappeared under circumstances tending to indicate suicide, ended last evening when her brother reported to officers here that she had left her home last Sunday evening in go to the Salvation Army here and that she had obtained employment and was well.

The search was discontinued after members of the sheriff's force and police officers spent almost two days assisting the woman's husband and her brother in an effort to discover her whereabouts, and just before the residence it was determined on appealing to the canal company to shut water out of the high line canal to facilitate search for her body.

Fear Drowning

Mrs. Snider's footprints from her residence, it was determined, led to the canal and with her determined on going, fear grew that she had fallen into the stream.

On Sunday evening, it was learned, Mrs. Snider had taken her little daughter, Elva, 10, to the home of her mother, Mrs. Courtney, near Filer, and had at the same time taken the child's clothing to her mother's home and given directions that the child was to remain there.

Officers' investigation indicated that Mrs. Snider had been led to believe that her husband had violated the liquor law, that his conduct otherwise was not able to support and that this was the motive for her disappearance.

PROHIBITION WORKER TO DISCUSS 1928 CAMPAIGN

Issues of the political campaign from the viewpoint of the Anti-Saloon League, are to be discussed here by Charles Hafke, Bolso, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Idaho, at an address to be given at 7:30 o'clock.

It is Mr. Hafke's contention that the work of the organized illicit liquor traffic remains to be banished and that a great popular referendum vote will be taken on this matter in the coming election. This election, Mr. Hafke argues, will determine the future policy of our government in dealing with prohibition.

In connection with Mr. Hafke's address, a five-reel motion picture film, "The Transgressor," is to be shown. This picture, it is stated, deals with evils of the liquor traffic prior to the adoption of the Eighteenth amendment.

DISTRICT COURT MAY FIX WATER SEASONS

State Tribunal Upholds Order Issued in Action to Adjudicate Devil's Creek Waters

It is within the jurisdiction of the district court to fix the length of an irrigation season in connection with adjudication of water rights, Idaho's supreme court has held in its opinion in the case of Sigmund C. Dunn against John Boyd and others, an action to adjudicate the waters of Devil's creek in Twin Falls county.

The case was carried to the supreme court on Dunn's appeal from an order of the district court here denying motion to amend the decree, and the action of the district court was affirmed by the supreme court.

The decree, which gave to Dunn one inch of water for each acre of his land during the season beginning May 1 and ending October 1, the supreme court found, embraced an agreement reached by attorneys for the conflicting parties. The decree gave to the Idaho Farm Development company, one of the defendants, right to store 5000 acre-feet of water, "under" its water rights which were junior to those of Dunn.

Wilson and Smith Discuss Records of Major Parties

POLITICAL LEADERS ADDRESS FILER CLUB ON ISSUES OF HOUR

Outstanding Figures in Republican and Democratic County Affairs Present Different Opinions on Big Questions

(Special to The News)
 TWIN FALLS, Oct. 11.—Wide differences of viewpoint in regard to the relative merits of the Republican and Democratic parties developed here last evening in discussions at the records and achievements of those organizations before the Filer Women's club by Congressman Addison T. Smith, who spoke for the Republicans, and Alfred E. Wilson, Democratic national committee man for Idaho. While Congressman Smith pointed with pride to the record of his party, the Republicanism viewed with alarm.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. T. Dan Connor. Several remarks interspersed the program which was given in the auditorium of the Filer high school.

In part, Congressman Smith said:

Lands Coddge

"Not since the days of Abraham Lincoln has there been a chief executive whose administration has been more popular or to whom the Republican party may point with greater pride than that of President Coddge, who has been devoted in his devotion to Republican principles and the best interests of the American people. He retired from his high office with a record for efficiency, economy, and good government which is a source of great satisfaction not only to the members of his party but to all patriotic citizens."

"Since the Republican party took control of the government in March, 1921, governmental expenditures have been cut in half. Four tax reduction laws have been enacted, and millions of taxpayers have been relieved from paying any federal tax whatsoever."

Reduce Public Debt

"The public debt has been reduced by over six billions of dollars, and over eleven billions of securities have been refunded into securities of a lower rate of interest. Liberty bonds were selling below par in March, 1927, when the Republican party took control of the government and they have been commanding a premium for several years."

"The Republican policy of a protective tariff has resulted in industrial development to such an extent as to furnish employment for the five-million wage earners who were idle at the close of the Wilson administration. The benefits of agriculture from the protective tariff, as well as to industry, has stimulated high prices and created a demand for the products of the factories."

Foreign Relations Good

"Our relations with foreign governments have been strictly friendly under President Coddge and Secretary Redden, and the reduction of the multi-lateral treaties, outlawing war, which was taken to Paris by Secretary Kellogg, and which was signed and ratified by the United States, is a step toward world peace, since the death of civilization."

"Our 'bread' market for the products of the American farmer, as well as for the manufacturer, which was an extremely protected under the administration of Secretary Hoover, is being continued. Secretary Hoover, Secretary Whiting. The continuation for two additional years of the Federal Road Act acts by a Republican congress assures the construction of more improved highways, thus increasing the demand for automobiles, bringing their products to the market, as well as to extend our commercial activities generally."

Relatives in Enforcement

"The administration has been zealous in its efforts to enforce the law and to prosecute those officials of the government who have been suspected of dishonesty and graft."

"The reclamation policy of the Republican party has been carried forward and the various reclamation projects are being rapidly completed, thus affording employment and benefits to the building of levees and gates upon what had once been a desert waste."

"The record of the national administration under the Republican rule, insures the continuation of the wise and beneficial policies under the administration of Secretary Hoover."

Parties in Conflict

"In the coming year, we are engaged in a struggle with the party which has been consistently opposed to the

been in power only 16 out of the last 40 years. Agricultural experiments stations were provided under Cleveland's first administration. The department of agriculture was established, and the secretary given a place in the cabinet.

"Free delivery was commenced under Cleveland's administration, and during President Wilson's administration the rural delivery act was passed extending service to the population of nearly as practicable."

"Legislation for agricultural extension service, providing for co-operation by the federal government with states and counties, bringing agricultural education to rural population throughout the United States, was passed during the Wilson administration."

"The federal aid road work act providing for construction of rural post roads in cooperation with states was enacted in the first Wilson administration."

Legislative Loan Banks

"Legislation for 12 federal farm loan banks, advancing their initial capital and providing for joint stock and land banks was passed during the Wilson administration."

"The vocational education act, providing for training in vocational education, in agriculture, home economics, and in industries in the public schools of the land, was passed during the second Wilson administration."

"In the last eight years farm values have decreased from $79,000,000,000 to $38,000,000,000. This shrinkage is more than the total value of all railroads in the United States."

"We have had a net loss of over 4,000,000 people from the farms during the last six years. Approximately 28 per cent of the population of the United States reside on farms today."

"Between 1910 and 1919, farmers received 21.6 per cent of the total current income in the United States, but during the period of 1921 to 1925 they received only 12 per cent."

Farm Debt Grows

"In 1910 the farm debt was $4,300,000,000 while we now owe over $13,000,000,000."

"Taxes during the period of 1917 to 1914 on farms amounted to 11.3 per cent of net farm income, but during the years 1924 to 1926 taxes took 25.1 per cent of net farm profit, out of incomes that have held distressingly near pre-war prices."

"In 1924, 216 failures which was 42.5 per cent more than the number of failures in 1923."

Commercial Failures in the United States, which during the period of 1910 to 1914 averaged 16,172 annually, averaged 21,290 each year from 1921 to 1927.

Party Policies

"Democratic platform pledges relief to agriculture in all her phases, with immediate passage of the McNary-Haugen surplus control act, which has been turned down twice in the last four years by a Republican administration."

"Alfred E. Smith as president of the United States will place his signature to the bill when passed at the first congress assembled after his inauguration and the first step will then be taken to do away with 'discrimination against the great industry without which there would not and could not be a nation.'"

"As figures disclose, should this meretricious rule of the Republican party continue, the power trusts, coal barons, oil interests and other trusts now in existence, plus those that will quickly come into existence, together with excessively high freight rates, will of necessity cause every farmer to lose his land and his mortgage holder foreclose. We will then be little better than the wards of the lords that shall own our homes."

MOSCOW UNIVERSITY ADDS FARM COURSES

Offering in Agriculture to Touch in Practical Manner
All Phases of Regular Work

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, MOSCOW, Oct. 11 (Special to The News) Three practical short courses in agriculture and allied industries, designed for those who desire special training but do not care or cannot afford to pursue a complete college course, open October 20 at the University of Idaho college of agriculture, according to announcement by Dean E. J. Iddings. The general short course in agriculture touches in practical manner all phases of the regular college work in crops, soil, livestock and dairying.

The type of training offered in the general short course has fitted many men in the past to operate farms of the state in particular have been graduates of farm management for others.

Interest Develops.
With the marked development of interest in farm machinery and new types of farm power and short course in auto mechanics and farm power is expected to be popular. During the past year the number of tractor and auto farms has increased greatly. Operators of the small farms in the irrigated regions of the southern part of the state in particular have been buying combines and new tillage implements. This increase in power machinery is developing a demand for specially-trained men. Like the other short courses the one in power farming is scheduled for the winter months because it is the time when most practical farmers and farm workers can leave their farms for a period of study.

Dairy Manufacturing.
The third of the short course series is in dairy manufacturing. In recent years this has been one of the most popular short courses, principally because of Idaho's constant expansion in dairying. With the industry still growing the opportunities for experienced, technically-trained men are greater than the supply, according to Dean Iddings.

The college of agriculture sets no special requirements for admission to the short courses except those of high school graduation. The courses are made as generally vocational and practical as possible.

-WASHINGTON, Oct. 11 (AP)—Even before the tale of disaster and death in the hurricane that swept from Florida to Texas—Florida was compared in an official account reaching Washington of the havoc wrought by volcanic eruptions on the Island Paluweh far out in the remote regions of the South Pacific, almost simultaneously with the great blow closer at hand.

BURLEY COMMERCE BODY STUDIES POWER PROBLEM

BURLEY, Oct. 11 (Special to The News)—O. C. Higgins, president of the chamber of commerce, has appointed a committee to confer with the reclamation department and other interested organizations on matters connected with government power development at American Falls. The committee consists of William Roper, H. E. Henningsway, R. A. Burke, J. H. Sweetser, and Mr. Higgins.

Consideration of the proposed power contract between the government and the Idaho Power company is to be one of the subjects taken up by this committee.

At a joint meeting between the irrigation district boards representing the pumping unit and the gravity unit of the Minidoka project held in Rupert Tuesday night final action on the proposed power company contract was again postponed for further consideration. In the mean time, it is said that the government is preparing a temporary lease of some of the unsold water above the American Falls dam, to the power company for the winter.

Its locale is a railroad town in the High Sierras and the story abounds with thrills, action and color.

Edward Olive directed, and the leading feminine role is played by Thelma Todd, blond beauty. Others in the cast are Willard Hall, Walter Sotoley, Yola d'Avall, DeWitt Jennings, Sylvia Ashton, and Fred Warren.

PHARMACISTS' HONORARY FRATERNITY BUYS HOUSE

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, POCAHELLO, Oct. 11.—The University of Idaho southern branch is taking on the aspects of the true institution of higher learning. Another step in the progress was marked last week when Phi Delta Chi, national honorary pharmacy fraternity, completed arrangements for the purchase of an 11-room residence at the South Fourth avenue, two blocks from the university.

Phi Delta Chi was organized last year when, through the efforts of faculty members and students of the pharmacy and chemistry departments, a charter was obtained from the national organization. At the time the house was formed, the desire was expressed that a fraternity residence could be obtained. During the last year officers of the organization worked on plans which slowly materialized and are now complete. Efficient students will live at the house while seven members are residents of Pocatello.

Officers of the organization are: Walter Ford, Caldwell, president; Ivan Taylor, Rigby, vice president; and Floyd White, Meridian, secretary and treasurer.

"MYSTERY" BARN FIRES
WASHINGTON—Federal chemists believe they have found an explanation for many an epidemic of "mysterious" barn fires which occasionally harass rural areas. Research which set back some seventy miles below the surface, reveals that a fifth of the annual $10,000,000 farm fire loss may be traced to spontaneous combustion of the self-heating products.

NATIONAL FIGURES FAVOR REPUBLICANS

Poll of Individuals Named in 'Who's Who in America' Reveals Hoover—Most Popular

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—From Hell Gate in New York to the Golden Gate in California Herbert Hoover is the overwhelming preference of distinguished citizens of the United States for next president.

A poll of men and women who have achieved the recognition that entitles them to a place in "Who's Who in America" reveals that important figures in all professions, trades, arts and businesses are giving support to his candidacy. In the votes this far tabulated Mr. Hoover's lead is about seven to one. Of the 9708 people who have expressed their opinions, Mr. Hoover has the choice of 8122, as compared with 1226 for his opponent, Governor Smith. Moreover, the Republican nominee carried every state in the Union with the exception of Mississippi, Arkansas and South Carolina.

Give Reasons

In conducting the poll the Republican National Committee asked those responding to state their reasons for supporting Mr. Hoover. In an extraordinary high percentage of the returns, the reasons cited reflect careful study of the issues involved and the qualifications of the candidates.

The choice of Mr. Hoover in most instances is based on the knowledge of his administrative ability and his moral character.

A selection has been made at random from among the replies, no effort having been made to seek out persons of national fame or statements especially laudatory. This system has been employed to insure a report which may be regarded as absolutely representative.

Novelist Favors Hoover

Hazelton, Wis., will vote for Mr. Hoover in Arizona "because I think him the best man for the position."

Mr. Hoover finds Herman Hagedorn, author and playwright, "superior" because of "his executive ability, his record."

Editorial Favors Hoover

The Chicago Tribune, a leading newspaper publisher, has a list of reasons which he gives as follows: "No Tompkins, no internationalism, no interference with the status quo of the Elizabethan amendment, public welfare will be best assured by his election."

Mittensville, Wis., writes: "Hoover gives 'reflexive' background; economic soundness" as his reasons.

Hiram Maxim, celebrated inventor, writes from Hartford, Conn., a list of reasons, in part as follows: "Much of the wider experience in world affairs. Much the wider experience in American affairs. Much the better record in national work done. Much the superior in mental qualifications."

Harris Rosenwald, chairman of the Sears, Roebuck and company, believes Mr. Hoover to be the "best qualified candidate ever named by any party in the history of our country for that office."

John Mead Howells, architect and son of the famous American man of letters, William Dean Howells, writes from Killbuck Point, Maine, that he supports Mr. Hoover because of "his wide and efficient administration of many difficult undertakings, his knowledge of Europe and his intense Americanism."

Pauline Favors Republican

Willis J. Abbott, Executive Massachusetts, editor of the Christian Science Monitor, says of the Republican candidate: "He is the best equipped man for the presidency in the United States today. He repreresents, defends and is defended by the moral forces of the nation."

Harry A. Orefield, Williamstown, Massachusetts, son of President Garfield and fuel administrator during the war, says: "Mr. Hoover's wide experience in international affairs, his stand on law enforcement and my belief that he will deal fairly with farm relief are my reasons."

Eddie Rickenbacker, Detroit, American ace, supports Mr. Hoover because of his "executive ability, character and knowledge of international affairs, both past and present."

Griffin Oakes Ellis, editor of the American Boy, Detroit, reflects the attitude of American youth toward Mr. Hoover when he says: "He has proved ability, character and efficiency. And his experience in public service gives him the greatest training and quali-

UNIVERSITY COACHES TO SUPPORT HOOVER

Athletics Will Prosper Under Republican Administration, Says Northwestern Mentor

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Pleading H. (Hurry Up) Yost, Michigan's famous athletic director; Jess Hawley, Dartmouth's football coach; A. A. "Old Man" Stagg, athletic director of the University of Chicago, and a number of other equally well known athletic leaders, among them Robert M. Thompson, who was first president of the American Olympic association, favor the election of Herbert Hoover as president. It was disclosed at Republican National committee headquarters.

Some of them consider Mr. Hoover's candidacy in the light of the interrelation between business prosperity and that of college athletics. Others are for him because of his constant efforts in the promotion of human welfare. At least one undoubtedly has a recollection of the days when Herbert Hoover himself was treasurer of athletic activities at Leland Stanford Junior university and when Hoover "passed the hat" for funds even to Andrew Carnegie, when the Laird was guest of the university's proxy.

Stagg Favors Hoover

Says "Old Man" Stagg: "I like Mr. Hoover's ideals. I have confidence in Mr. Hoover's character. I believe Mr. Hoover is endowed with fine mental gifts for the presidency and has unusual training for it. I believe that Mr. Hoover possesses the requisite personality, fair-mindedness and good judgment necessary to fill the position. I believe that Mr. Hoover has demonstrated unusual organization ability and has shown superior powers as an executive."

"Hurry Up" Yost says: "In my opinion, there is no man in America today so well equipped in every way to be president of the United States as Herbert Hoover. I doubt whether there has been in all our history."

"Herbert Hoover," says Jess Hawley, Dartmouth football coach, "has demonstrated conclusively that his chief interest in life is adding to the sum total of human welfare. He has carved out a most unique niche in the world's history by his endeavors in Belgium and in the Mississippi delta, which will never be forgotten."

Athletics Will Prosper

K. L. Tving, Wilson, director of athletics of Northwestern university, sees Mr. Hoover in another light.

"I will vote for Mr. Hoover for many reasons, one of which is that I am convinced that there is a correlation between the business prosperity which we have enjoyed in the last eight years and the athletic prosperity which has been marked in all of the American colleges. It is highly desirable from the college athletic director's viewpoint that business properly continue. I believe that under Mr. Hoover's administration we can expect continued and increased business and athletic prosperity."

"Herbert Hoover has my support for the presidency of the United States," writes F. W. Kuchring, director of athletics of the University of Minnesota, "because of his outstanding leadership and interest in national and world-wide human welfare and education."

Equally interesting is the viewpoint of Robert M. Thompson, who was president of the American Olympic committee in 1912 and 1924, and who directed the American participation in the Olympic games of those years.

Mr. Thompson, an Annapolis man whose enthusiasm and financial support helped bring Naval academy athletics to the fore and in a large measure has contributed to their success, writes:

Hoover Sports Advocate

"All my life I have believed with the old Greek—that the ideal citizen is the man with a sound mind in a sound body. I will vote for Hoover for many reasons, but not one of them is his record as a politician. Herbert Hoover will follow in the footsteps of Roosevelt and Coolidge in encouraging outdoor life and athletic sports."

Says Thomas A. Storey, director of athletics of Leland Stanford University: "I have known Herbert Hoover ever since we were students at Stanford. He has consistently shown himself to be a competent and courageous man of the highest ideals. Always dominated by a sympathetic understanding of his fellow men."

DABSON COMMENTS ON COPPER PRICE INFLATION EVILS

Price of Metal Highest in Six Years; Rate Shows 22 Per Cent Increase Over Market Value in 1927; Exports Rise

(Special to The News)
DABSON PARK, Oct. 11.—Copper at 15 1/2 cents a pound is at the highest level in six years, said Roger W. Babson, financial expert, in his weekly comment on business conditions. "This price presents an increase of 22 per cent over the prevailing price in 1927. Furthermore, the export price has been raised to 15 1/2 cents a pound. Obviously the large low-cost producing companies are able to make good profits at this price, and the industry is experiencing prosperous conditions for the first time since 1923.

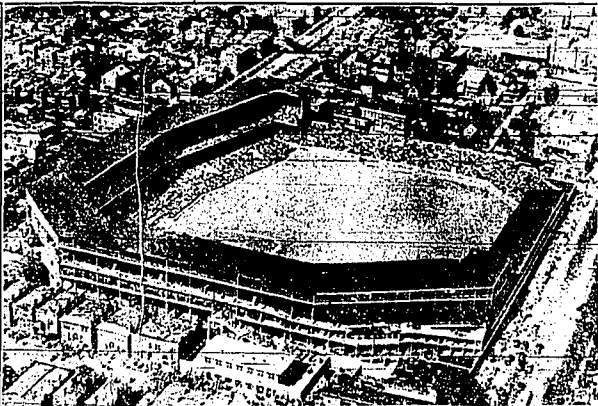

"There are three questions now of interest. First, what are the causes of this advance? Second, will it be possible to stabilize the price around current levels? Third, will the increasing influence for the future growth of the industry continue to operate?"

Causes for Recovery
"It has often been said that there is plenty of copper underground. That is absolutely true. Moreover, in the past few years copper consumption has increased. The total new supply of copper in this country but all over the world. Soon we have exceeded the production which in turn has demoralized the market and put the copper companies back into the red ink column. Now, however, there is a new factor.

The Copper Export association, formed a few years ago, is beginning to make its influence felt. It is an organization of American copper producers associated with whom are certain foreign producers and sellers. Under the provisions of the Wheeler-Pomeroy act it is permitted to establish the export price of copper. This is in a measure successful. Also through voluntary co-operation of leading American producers the domestic output of copper has not been allowed to glut the market.

Production Increases
"To be sure production has increased quite substantially during 1928. For the eight months ended August 30, the total new supply was 1,678,192,000 pounds compared with 1,678,743,000 pounds for the same period in 1927. The production in August, just showed a gain over last year of 30,000,000 pounds. It cannot be said, therefore, that the lid is clamped down on domestic output. The response to higher prices has been a substantial gain in production.

"On the other hand, this increase in output is not in proportion to the increase in demand, both domestic and foreign. For illustration, during the month of August, 250,000,000 pounds of copper were consumed by domestic industries, and export demand, whereas the total new supply was only 228,000,000 pounds. Moreover, in every month of 1928 since January consumption has exceeded production by a substantial margin.

Supply Diminishes
"The consequence of this situation coupled with increasing foreign shipments is, very naturally, a diminished supply. Stocks of refined copper on hand September 1 were at low levels, amounting to somewhat over 100,000,000 pounds. At the present rate of shipment this represents not more than two weeks' requirements. From all indications the month of September will show the greatest copper production of any September in history. At the same time the indications are also that demand will be shown to have exceeded production by approximately the same margin that it has in recent months.

"The thing which the leading copper interests are most anxious to achieve right now is price stabilization. They clearly understand that a run-away copper market is the last thing to be desired. While 15 1/2 cent copper brings with it a substantial increase in production, they know that 17 cent copper would bring on an avalanche of over-production. Small high cost mines that are not operating would temporarily open up in great numbers. Furthermore, too high prices would be sure to check the demand and encourage the use of substitutes. Also it would not take long for labor to become uneasy if it saw the companies sell at a high profit margin. All ready there is increased wage agitation among the miners. From every point of view, therefore, it is for the best interests of the copper industry that prices of the metal be prevented from rising too high.

Problem Difficult
"Admittedly, it is a difficult thing to prevent price inflation in a commodity when the demand is so insistent. The character of recent buying indicates an abandonment of the hand-to-mouth method on the part of many consumers. Instead the tendency is toward buying heavily in excess of current requirements. This is a situation that it is difficult to control. Authorities seriously alarmed as to the exact price at which copper can be stabilized under present conditions. Doubtless the mine officials themselves would like very much to know the average opinion of authorities, however, would probably place the figure at 14 1/2 cents a pound. Substantially above in 1927. Higher figures invite a price reaction through over-production, and the lower would result in insufficient production.

"There is the possibility, however, that the decline in building operations which was noted in August may take some of the keen edge off the copper demand in the next few months. Building is one of the largest consumers of copper, accounting for approximately 280,000,000 pounds annually. If the recent decline in building is more than temporary it will constitute one restricting influence on the demand. At any rate the copper industry as a whole will be permanently better off if prices can be stabilized somewhere around current levels than if they are subjected to speculative inflation.

Copper Has Many Uses
"Copper has literally hundreds of uses, but the three most important are in the manufacture of electrical equipment, automobiles, and building. It so happens that these three industries, which by the way rank among the four greatest in the country, have been experiencing great expansion this year. When we consider that every horsepower added to the nation's electric generating capacity requires, approximately 24 pounds of copper we see what that expansion in the electrical equipment means to the copper industry.

"In 1927 for illustration 1,250,000 horsepower was installed in our factories. That means 105,000,000 pounds of copper for new industrial power. The total for the past seven years is 8,000,000 horsepower. There is now approximately 3,000,000,000 pounds of copper in use in the production and distribution of electric power in this country alone.

This does not include millions of telephone and telegraph lines or the electrical apparatus and equipment shipped to foreign countries. The annual requirements of the electrical industry today are in excess of 800,000,000 pounds. Automobiles, now in the hey-day of popularity, are taken annually in the neighborhood of 300,000,000 pounds of copper.

"Building, which up until August this year had exceeded all previous records in output, requires annually over 280,000,000 pounds. There are many other important copper consumers, such as shipbuilding, locomotive railway cars and bearings, besides the manufacture of numerous brass and copper products for domestic use and export.

Building Declines
"Of the three great copper consuming industries the only one showing a downward tendency is building, and whether this decline is temporary or of longer duration cannot be confirmed until later information is received.

"Regardless of what the immediate future of copper prices may be, this will be determined by the amount of speculative buying that takes place. The industry is optimistic for future expansion of the industry are excellent. This is because of the new discoveries and inventions along electrical lines. The potentialities of radio, television, telephony, ultra violet ray machines, synchronized talking movies, household labor saving devices, automatic electrically operated garages, and many other inventions are tremendous.

enable utility expansion both here and abroad will be one of the great developments of the next 25 years. Copper and electricity go hand in hand, as one property to will the other.

"Business as registered by the Babson chart shows no change and has continued very steady for a number of weeks at a 2 per cent below normal."

Bizarre make-up, with unnatural colored powders, concealer eyebrows and exotic lip colorings are demode, say Paris' beauty merchants.

Chinese Women Ask Equality In Educational Opportunities

SHANGHAI, Oct. 11 (AP)—Chinese womanhood has taken a united stand in favor of co-education in the colleges—the national government's educational conference regards the idea as a shocking departure from old custom.

The amalgamated committee for women's rights, however, launched boldly forth with a declaration stating that in education, as in all other things, there should be equality between men and women. The committee's announcement says: "Since the May movement there has been a general demand for equality between men and women; this being a subject which has been approved by all the people. At a meeting of the national educational conference a resolution was passed opposing co-education in colleges and middle schools and recommending the stoppage of the co-educational movement in China in all institutions in which the system has been introduced."

"The purpose of introduction of co-education in China is to afford better educational facilities to women; and to place their standard of education on a higher basis. The system has been in vogue several years, and many men and young women have lived on terms of equality. Although it has been difficult to avoid certain evils, the results attained, on the whole, have been most satisfactory. The system therefore should not be ended now. In certain provinces boys and girls have been taught in separate schools. This should not be the case. The girls should have a chance of being educated just as much as the boys. The girls are quite as capable as the boys, and they can well look after themselves."
