COOLIDGE STRESSES MARKETING SCIENCE AS AID TO FARMERS

Chief Executive Warns Agriculture's Representatives Attempt at Price-Fixing on Products Will Prove Fatal

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Nov. 16—Cooperative marketing was stressed tonight by President Coolidge in an address delivered before the National Grange in which he reviewed the problems of the farmer and described as "hazardous" proposals of a subsidy which he said the American people would not pay for any length of time.

At the same time, Mr. Coolidge told the farm representatives that any attempt at price-fixing on farm products of the entry of the government into business would prove fatal to agriculture.

Thanks to the "most impressive list" of the government efforts in behalf of agriculture, he added, "the great agricultural depression has been averted."

City Government Efforts - Thanks to the "most impressive list" of the government efforts in behalf of agriculture, he added, "the great agricultural depression has been averted."

It is apparent that the farmer has become very well schooled in the art of production. His further advances will be made through the use of improved machinery, and of improved methods of stock raising.

SURVIVOR OF OCEAN TRAGEDY RELUCTANT WITNESS IN INQUIRY

Youthful Scottish Wireless Operator Vague As to happenings On Liner Vestris; Federal Agent Exasperated

(By The Associated Press) NEW YORK, Nov. 16—From an inquiry which took place in the witness chair like a scolded child, United States Attorney Charles H. Tuttle today wrung an acknowledgment that "maybe" the captain of the steamer Vestris had announced by wireless that he was in difficulties more than 18 hours before the ship sank and 1 hour before the fatal S. O. S.

Charles Veschere, the young Scottish assistant radio man of the Vestris, was the first witness at today's session of the investigation into the disaster before the United States commissioner O'Neill. The phrases: "I don't know," "I don't remember," and "I forgot" were thickly through out the testimony.

At another point Veschere couldn't remember something, and Tuttle, in apparent exasperation, exclaimed: "But you told me all about it down in my office; why have you forgotten now?"

Tuttle's efforts today were all directed toward getting out of the young man's mind the facts of the disaster, and whether any instructions were sent to the Vestris in response which might explain why the SOS was not received by other vessels within many miles.

BRUINS AND UTAHNS SIGN FOR CONTEST

Entire Twin Falls Lineup Will Be in Shape for Battle With Salt Lake City High School

Final arrangements were completed yesterday for bringing the Granite high school football team of Salt Lake City to Twin Falls next Friday to battle with the Bruins. Although negotiations practically were complete earlier in the week, the final signing of the contract was not accomplished until yesterday. Two regular Bruins are still confined to their beds with influenza, but Coach Jones stated that he would be in shape to start practice early next week.

Dr. Johnson, veteran guard, and Dickie, tackle, were both in bed yesterday and Captain Putzler is recovering slowly. Little work has been accomplished this week by the Bruins and held in the gym. Rains of last night will preclude any practice today, but Coach Jones plans to start active work Monday evening.

The Cubs have one more game on their schedule, that with Castleford. That game has been set for Saturday and the youngsters will play one more time during Thanksgiving week.

cabins and galleys were awash. The gale at Bristol was called the worst within living memory. The injured seas were treacherous leading to fears that shipping might have suffered. One oil tanker lost distress signals had been received.

All cross-channel traffic was greatly delayed and in some cases trips were cancelled. Grain masts broke over seas and promontories while at Southampton huge liners bobbed about in the heavy seas. Among others, the big Cunarder Albatross, bound for Australia, was driven by the gale. At the quayside four huge cranes were uprooted, one crashing through a refreshment room, injuring 3 of 20 customers.

Two storm deaths were reported tonight at Bristol and Exeter, falling trees causing fatal injuries.

foundation "with every assurance of success.

The lesson which has not yet been so well learned is that of marketing. One of the greatest handicaps of agriculture is temporary over-production. The world is hungry to consume all that the farmer ever raises. His difficulty arises from attempting to sell at the wrong time or the wrong place. The most successful method of marketing is through cooperative associations. They have enabled agriculture in a large way to take better advantage of all the agencies of distribution, the bankers, the carriers, the commission merchants, the packers, and the millers. This is a movement to unify all the agencies of production, distribution, and consumption, so that they can function as a coordinated whole which will sell at the right place and at the right time. A fine example of this is the grape exchange recently established in California.

"This movement toward cooperative marketing is still in its infancy. It is a movement toward a better organization, but it is sound in its principle and when conducted in a businesslike way offers the most promising solution to the great marketing problem. It avoids any attempt at price-fixing or putting the government into business, both of which would be fatal to the independence of the farmer and in the end would bring disaster. It likewise avoids the hazardous proposal of a subsidy, which the American people would never be willing to pay for any length of time. It deals on the sound merchandising principle of taking the product and disposing of it in the most advantageous way that shrewd and orderly marketing affords. Such further assistance as is necessary to render this effort more effective through setting up a board for its administration, supplied with sufficient funds to demonstrate its soundness in its experimental stage, may well be provided by the national government."

Discussion of the bill ready taken for farm relief the chief executive said that the tariff bill of 1922 was approved to dam the inflow of foreign agricultural commodities after the war. The passage of these laws at once restored the sheep industry and kept the great dairy industry in a prosperous condition," he said.

The government's contribution to the farmer, through the federal farm loan system, he said, constituted "a benefit the like of which no government anywhere on earth ever before bestowed upon an industry."

VANDALS TO BATTLE GRIZZLY ELEVEN ON MISSOULA GRIDIRON

Idaho Proves Favorite in Game With Montana; Gem State Reserve May Be Used; Erb Points to Trojan Contest

(Special to The News)

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, MON-COW, Nov. 16—Regardless of any showing Montana may have made during the Pacific Coast conference teams this season, their homecoming game against the University of Idaho at Missoula tomorrow should produce a close contest, but with Idaho the logical favorite. Comparative scores, however, were made to point both to an Idaho victory or an Idaho defeat.

Both teams approach the contest after a rest of two weeks. Idaho's injured linemen and backs, still recuperating when they played the Cougars, are in the pink for playing condition, and Erb is able to pit his strongest combinations against the Grizzlies.

Reserves May Finish

The Idaho line-up, if Idaho's scoring machine functions on the Missoula field, that Erb will jerk most of his regulars and reserves to finish. However, it is the University of Southern California coach only a week after the Montana engagement. Idaho's main line is pointing for the season's finale against Howard Jones' Trojans at Los Angeles, November 24. After a complete rest from practice for three days the first of last week, Erb re-assembled his squad Thursday and for the remainder of the week drilled an offense featuring one or two new plays, but with emphasis in perfection of older ones. Particularly was Idaho's aerial game given thorough overhauling following failure against Washington State college when Idaho tried 22 passes, completing only five and having an excellent intercepted, two of them touchdowns.

Montana Strong Team

On their home field and backed by a homecoming crowd, Montana should present the most formidable attack staged this season. Idaho's power backs will be given a chance to match their plugging with that of Captain Ed Chinakee, Montana's quarterback. However, Idaho's line plugging, who has been the star of Montana's offense this year.

Erb has the choice of using either his bone-crushing backfield which will average close to 190 pounds per man, or an offensive quartet that will not exceed 150 pounds per man. In the first set-up "Big Bill" Kerschbark, 215-pound fullback, would be included along with Paul Hutchinson, 185-pound halfback, with Orville Hull, 175-pound regular, probably the other halfback.

In the lighter backfield would be Sammy Perrins, 150-pound elusive speedster; Art Cheney, 156-pound end-run artist and punt retriever; and "Butch" Owens, 160-pound dash. Fred Robertson, Idaho's quarterback, covers at the first of the year, would pilot either line, with Cheney a possible alternate.

In the line, Erb's starting lineup is pretty sure to see Dittman and Captain Burgher at ends; Diehl and Sumpter, tackles; Marlin and Brimhall, guards; and Kirkpatrick, center. Price, end; Thomas, tackle; Stark, guard; and Tatum, guard, are sure to see action during the contest.

So far as can be seen out along the far-flung horizon, it's a free-for-all, with no single issue standing out above the rest in general interest or country-wide importance. There's the "Big Ten" game, 25 years old and carrying a wealth of ancient glory but of infinitely less importance than the championship situation than the brave battle between unbeaten Carnegie and Notre Dame at South Bend. There's the Wisconsin-Towle struggle at Iowa City, involving the Big Ten title, but sharing the Middle Western spotlight with Nebraska's defense against the powerful Panthers of Pittsburgh.

The South and Southwest have their own championship affairs to focus attention on, as these—Involving Georgia, Tech-Alabama, Vanderbilt-Tennessee and Baylor-Southern Methodist. You find most of the Rocky Mountain fans debating the Colorado university-Colorado college rivalry, while farther west the Stanford-Washington and Southern California-Washington state contests occupy the spotlight.

As to the business of picking winners, so far as the top-flight games this week are involved, they might as well be drawn out of a hat. But here's a prediction how they figure, anyway.

Princeton to beat Yale with a hard-hitting attack and more aggressive line play.

Iowa to beat Wisconsin on sheer power if the Hawkeyes stop the Badger aerial attack.

Notre Dame, with more versatile resources, to check the unbeaten run of Carnegie but not by any substantial margin in a game that is likely to go either way.

Nebraska to turn back the Pittsburgh Panther in another nip-and-tuck affair.

Georgia Tech to break the Alabama tide and keep the pace-setting position in the South.

Tennessee to bowl long unbeaten at the expense of Vanderbilt but not by any one-sided margin.

Georgia to stop Louisiana State.

Kickers Will Duel

West Virginia to keep up its winning streak at the expense of Georgetown—in another close affair, where two of the nation's best kickers, Barrage and Mooney, should have a great duel.

Army and Navy to coast along easily at the expense of Carleton and Halthorn. Loyola in preparation for bigger games next week.

Colgate to beat Syracuse and Cornell to turn the tables on Dartmouth in two eastern classics that promise to be unusually hard-fought.

Harvard to maintain its custom of looking good on alternate weeks by beating Holy Cross.

Stanford to battle Washington with its "key" formation and Southern California to check the threat of Washington State in two Pacific coast features.

Colorado college and its all-American fullback candidate, Earl Dutcher, to "nose" our Colorado University in another close rivalry.

New York university's steam-roller to flatten Missouri, but Detroit to even the score for the Middle West at the expense of Fordham.

RED CROSS SOCIETY LAUNCHES CAMPAIGN FOR 800 MEMBERS

All Plans Complete for Opening of Annual Roll Call; Chapter Officials Anticipate Conclusion of Drive by Nightfall

Arrangements have been completed for the opening of the Red Cross membership roll call which begins at 10 o'clock this morning, according to Mrs. D. L. Alexander, roll call chairman and business secretary of the Twin Falls chapter of the American Red Cross. Mrs. Alexander said last evening that she would be much disappointed if the quota of 800 should not be secured by tonight.

Headquarters will be maintained in the Perrine hotel. The "twentieth" north part of town; the American Legion Auxiliary, the east part; the City Recreators, downtown; and the War Mothers, the post office.

Exceeds 1927 Drive
Last year's objective for membership was about 600 or 100 more than the minimum membership quota. In the final tally, however, 800 members were secured. In addition, 200 members are included in the Twin Falls district. The total district which includes Piler, exceeds an enrollment of 400.

In the event that the required number is not secured tomorrow the campaign will be continued until Thursday, if necessary. In order that the membership of 800 may be secured, an appeal will be made at the public library, even after the quota has been secured, so that anyone who was missed during the drive may join.

MUSICAL PRODUCTION HELD UP ONE WEEK

Desire of Producers and Sponsors to Aid Health Board Causes Play's Postponement

The musical comedy, "Clory," written by Robert Deiss and Ralph Heron, Twin Falls, which is to be presented here under the auspices of the American Legion Women's Auxiliary, will be staged in the high school auditorium Monday and Tuesday evenings, November 26 and 27, instead of next Wednesday and Thursday evenings, it was announced last evening. Reserved seat sale will begin next Thursday.

Postponement, it was stated, was due to desire of the producers and sponsors to cooperate with health authorities during the influenza epidemic.

Members of the cast and choruses, comprising 70 of Twin Falls best singers, dancers, players, and musicians, have been engaged in regular rehearsals during the last two weeks.

Postponement, it was stated, was due to desire of the producers and sponsors to cooperate with health authorities during the influenza epidemic.

Star Social club will meet Monday afternoon with Mrs. C. A. Biers, 205 Ninth avenue north.

The Business and Professional women's club has postponed the party announced for Monday night, but will hold its regular luncheon meeting Tuesday noon in the club rooms.

A BIRDSEYE STYLEVIEW IN TWIN FALLS STORES

Review of Current Fashions Gleaned From an Inspection of Local Firms
By THE NEWS SHOPPER

To the question, "Are furs being worn extensively—and expensively?" the answer is an emphatic yes. Lately, luxurious furs in numerous colors are to be found, to entice you, and thrill you.

Furs have been among women's most highly prized possessions for centuries. In the beginning, in fact, they were the first apparel, and in the long span of the years, they have never outworn their usefulness as protection from the elements. As women grew more conscious of beauty, furs became more than comfort, they became adornment. Today, as an ornament, furs rank with jewels. Every woman craves the luxury and comfort, and beauty of fine furs.

Speaking of coats this season means furs, either entirely, or for linings and pockets. The most popular are the flat furs, as by far the first choice, and coat lines are as slim and graceful as fabric. Mink, karibou, broadtail, Persian lamb, fox, pony and seal are the skins most extensively used. Fur is here in a perky bow, there in a big, pointed collar, somewhere in a cape collar, or distinctive and unusual cuffs. Usually black for trims the lighter shades of brown, or lighter furs are used on darker fabrics.

As for scarfs, they are larger and more luxurious than ever. The double-breasted scarf is very well received, that ingenious soul now brings us the two-tone scarf—two skins of blending shades. Fox in brown, platinum, silver, black, red, and yellow, go to complete the ensemble. One particularly attractive scarf was a cape collar, of distinctive and unusual cuffs. Usually black for trims the lighter shades of brown, or lighter furs are used on darker fabrics.

There was an unusually handsome pointed fox, the shilling black flecked with white, the tail tip deep and blue. But the best of all was a red-fox, marvelously colored, with long-haired skin, the well-finished pelts as soft as sand, apple as, "W."

Then in another shop, I found a tweed coat with a beaver collar, and large patch pockets, and a black broadcloth with three skirt, flared sleeves, and scarf collar of Japanese mink. Another store lined me inside by means of a brown krimmer, trimmed with brown fox, and a tailored black broadcloth, with an immense shawl collar, and big cuffs of shirring black fox.

Inside I found a coat of soft beige-tinted, with shawl collar and cuffs of natural caracul. Beside it was a coat of tan American broadtail, with Arctic fox shawl collar and slightly flared self-tinted cuffs. Fur coats being in vogue, I found several, which, I thought, were particularly attractive. One mink jacket, trimmed with mink, by this season, and is one of the lovely soft furs. Had a lovely roll collar and cuffs of soft material, and there was a coat, entirely severely tailored, with a small throw collar, and still another was deep Hudson seal, with Russian-fitch collar and cuffs.

Then too, I learned several more or less interesting facts about furs. Mole, in the fur industry, is found in several, but is not very durable. American broadtail is the most American fur, possessing a fine, soft, and brown, or platinum. The new born lamb is probably the choicest bit of fur on the market today.

Otto Steinberg, Chicago produce dealer, on trial in probate court here yesterday afternoon on a misdemeanor charge of violating state law pertaining to standardization of Idaho farm products, was declared not guilty by a jury after brief deliberations. Steinberg was accused in a complaint signed by L. C. Hawley, deputy of the state last November 3; two carloads of potatoes marked "U. S. No. 1," although the potatoes according to the inspector, did not grade No. 1.

In defense, Steinberg's attorneys offered evidence to show that he had bought the potatoes for No. 1 grade, and that he had sold them on the same basis.

Bring your boy in to see these tests

A CHILD can see the superiority of Goodyear Tires in both TREAD and CARCASS under these simple tests of TIRE SAFETY and TIRE LIFE.

Test No. 1: Press your palm down on the Goodyear All-Weather Tread and feel how the deep-cut sharp-edged blocks grip and pinch the flesh. That is what the Goodyear Tread does on the surface of the road, and why it has superior traction.

Test No. 2: This machine shows you the 60% greater stretch in Goodyear SUPERTWIST Cord. This extra stretch gives the Goodyear-Supertwist-Carcass its extra life, enabling it to withstand road shocks and continuous flexing without premature failure.

THE PROOF that Goodyear Tires carry this superiority into actual service is seen in this fact: MORE PEOPLE RIDE ON GOODYEAR TIRES THAN ON ANY OTHER KIND.

Come in any time and make these tests yourself. Then you, too, will insist on Goodyear Tires and refuse any substitute.

We carry the complete Goodyear line—all made with SUPERTWIST—and have your size and type at lowest prices.
