Elmer E. Larkins, 32, Father of Two Small Children, Victim of. Grievous Accident; Parent Dying in Nebraska

Elmer E. Larkins, 32, 138 Quinby street, linesman in the employ of the Idaho Power company since last January, was killed in construction work on one of the company's lines four and a half miles west of Buhl at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. It is believed that full 11,000 volts of current passed through his body snuffing out his life instantly.

Only a few hours before Mr. Larkins was fatally injured he had received word that his father had been taken from his home in Republic, Kansas, to a hospital in Superior, Nebraska, and that his recovery was considered doubtful.

Carrying wire to accounts of the accident told by his fellow workmen, was engaged in installation of service wire in the Zech farm residence, carrying a wire from one pole to another. He was standing on the ground a short distance from the pole and was pulling the wire to the proper tension. It is believed that the wire went into a twist and that when he attempted to straighten it with a sudden jerk he was struck with the "hot" side of the transformer cut-out.

TWO SCHOOL GIRLS TELL TRAGIC STORY OF FATAL SHOOTING

Testimony of Waletta Siletina Bowen, 14, Daughter of Mrs. Lois May Bowen, and Esther Rose, 12, Agrees and Stands Unshaken

Two little girls in district court here yesterday told the tragic story of the killing, last September 22, of Mrs. Lois May Bowen, 32, of whose death Ward Otis Tharp, 51, Twin Falls dairyman, is on trial charged with first degree murder. The girls' first witness called to the stand by the prosecuting attorney, were Waletta Siletina Bowen, 14, eldest of three daughters of the dead woman, and Esther Rose, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rose, neighbors of the Bowens and the Tharps west of Twin Falls.

Both of the girls were witnesses of the fatal shooting. Their stories on the witness stand agreed in all material respects, and were maintained unshaken under detailed cross-examination. Waletta Bowen was questioned for two hours this afternoon by district attorney...

Tells of Shooting She cried out: "Oh, stop!" and turned back toward the house when she saw a flash of light from the gun. "Then he turned and ran to the front of the truck and shot at mother."

THAT THANKSGIVING SPIRIT

SELECTION OF JURY OCCUPIES ALL FIRST DAY OF THARP TRIAL

Half of Peremptory Challenges Used; Judge Baker Expresses Hope for Completion of Case Within Next Six Days

Selection of jurors occupied all of the first day of the trial of Ward O. Tharp, charged with the murder of Mrs. May Bowen, Tuesday. When the day's session closed, each side had used five of its thirty peremptory challenges, and it was certain that at least two of the twelve men in the jury would be selected by the judge to pass upon guilt or innocence of the accused man. District Judge Hugh A. Baker, Rupert, presided at the trial, which began at 10 o'clock Tuesday.

Tharp, 51, Twin Falls slayer, on Monday pleaded guilty to the murder of Mrs. Lois May Bowen, 23, a neighbor, who was shot down and killed in her own doorway last September 24.

Defense attorneys in questioning prospective jurors today did not reveal how they intended to use the other half of their peremptory challenges, but they inquired whether in any case self defense would be presented as a defense.

Two of the candidates for the jury were excused when they admitted scientific objections against inflicting the death penalty.

Tharp apparently maintained an attitude of detachment throughout the first day's proceedings, but once mounted in his face when the prosecution's attorneys began questioning prospective jurors, as to the death penalty. Defense attorneys seemed to avoid consultation with Tharp, but whispered occasionally with his wife, who sat at his side.

Two Eye Witnesses On the stand Tuesday were the prosecuting attorney and his deputy and Judge J. R. Bothwell, associate counsel. Mrs. Charles E. Bowen, husband of Mrs. May Bowen, 14, daughter of the dead woman, who are believed to have been the only witnesses of the fatal shooting.

Judge Hugh A. Baker, Rupert, presiding at the trial, indicated last evening his belief that it would be concluded this week.

More than a score of candidates for the jury were interviewed during the day by O. W. Williams, prosecuting attorney, and then by J. W. Porter of defense counsel.

The prosecuting attorney made it a point to inquire of each prospective juror how long he had lived in the county, his age, and the ages of his children.

Each of the candidates was asked by defense counsel whether he had read newspaper or magazine articles relating to the defense and whether this reading had caused bias against the insanity plea. Defense counsel also inquired of each prospective juror whether he needed a witness the right to defense of self against an assailant where there were good reasons to believe that great bodily injury was intended.

Remaining Candidates Candidates for the jury who remained in the jury room at the close of the first day's session yesterday were: Jean Marland, Hanson; D. W. Hunter, Twin Falls; A. C. Conant, Ruhl; Herbert Lamborn, Blaine; Ralph Trague, Hanson; C. G. McClain, Twin Falls; I. E. Finney, Thoniet; Charles Reichert, Filer; W. H. Holloway, Twin Falls; O. C. Johnson, Marsden; H. E. Hammerquist, Filer; Peter Miller, Elgin.

Life Johnson, Robinson, and A. W. Steele, Twin Falls, were excused because of scruples against the death penalty.

The prosecution expected peremptory challenges to remove Frank Deasy, Twin Falls; Fred Morrison; Shoshone Basin; Clyde Edminster; Hanson; F. J. Newlin, Clover; and Ralph Trague, Hanson.

Defense counsel eliminated with five peremptory challenges, A. L.

CHAMBER REQUESTS CITIZENS TO AID IN AIR MAIL PROGRAM

Committee Suggests That Residents of Community Celebrate Day by Sending Letters to Friends by Plane

Appeal to everyone to celebrate Twin Falls Air Mail day tomorrow, by sending letters as usual as possible.

A large number of letters sent in that manner will justify the time and when we will have air mail service in Twin Falls—the committee hopes—last few days.

No special kind of stamp is necessary. Five cents will carry the ordinary letter, and any sort of postage stamps will do, provided that the words, "Air Mail," are written plainly on the face of the envelope.

The transit time to Chicago is 22 hours, so that a letter from Twin Falls would arrive in that city by air mail before it would get out of Wyoming if sent by ordinary mail. It takes 33 hours for a letter to reach New York City by air mail. Time for intermediate cities is in proportion.

Correspondents Neater The people who use air mail say that they have a feeling that their correspondents are neater than when they used the old method of communication, or as some say, "it is just about the feeling."

At the inception, the cost of sending a letter by air mail was considered prohibitive, but the establishment of the 5 cent rate has virtually eliminated the "line of resistance" between the regular mail and the newer form of transportation.

Business firms, which have adopted its use, announce that it has proved a great value, and that its use will be greatly extended in the near future. The Twin Falls committee expressed its hope that this extension will be manifested on a large scale here tomorrow.

In the event that enough students desire to enter a new elective course, the present semester's enrollment. On the other hand, should there not be enough students entering or remaining in one of the elective course classes previously followed, it will be discontinued.

The following are the elective courses during the present semester: Band, art, beginning violin, art, advanced penmanship, household arts for girls, manual arts for boys, nature study, agriculture, junior business, training, girls' chorus, and outside music.

Burglars Enter Buhl Theater Through Skylight—Officers Believe Experts Responsible

Burglars broke through a trap door in the Buhl Sunday night to get a 700-pound safe that they carried off. They went with it through a side door. The safe, according to the manager's statement, was in the building yesterday, contained less than a dollar—all in copper pennies. No trace of the safe was found yesterday, nor was any clue leading to capture of the burglars uncovered.

Investigating officers said that the burglars had climbed a ladder pole to the roof of the building to get into the room, and thence through the skylight.

Ladder Aids Descent In the descent into the interior of the showhouse, investigation indicated that the burglars had made use of a ladder. The safe, an iron box about three feet high and 20 inches square, was found in the office at the right side of the entrance.

The burglars' entrance through the showhouse indicated that they had pushed the safe down an aisle and across the stage to a rear door which they were unable to open. The safe was then hauled back across the stage and half way up the aisle to the door through which the exit was made.

Investigation officers expressed the opinion that the burglars were experienced operators.

Dr. W. A. Sullivan Advises Farmers to Turn Waste Products Into Profits in Pork

Farmers should raise more hogs in order to take care of waste from the bean and potato crops, in the opinion of Dr. W. A. Sullivan, Boise, federal veterinarian, who was in this county conferring with state veterinarians regarding tubercular tests in cattle during the last week.

"Every farmer should have one or two hogs," said Dr. Sullivan, "in order that they and the growing pigs might eat up waste matter that is going to loss. Beans and potatoes, properly cooked, make an excellent food for pigs. The supply of hogs in this county and in Idaho is low at present. There is no hog-cholera in Twin Falls county."

"Cracked beans are now being shipped from here to the university experiment farm at Caldwell, where, mixed with barley, they compose a feed that is being tested on sheep. R. E. Brossard, Twin Falls county agent, can keep those interested in touch with the experiments and their results, showing the food value of the mixture."

While he is in the county, conferred with Dr. H. R. Grono and Dr. F. T. Harris, Twin Falls, and Dr. W. B. Swager, Blaine, relative to condition and inspection of cattle-leaving-state.

Educated Cows

Our dairy feed may be the strongest for some cows. They may not relish it at first, they must be educated like boys when they start chewing tobacco. But this doesn't take an Expert Food demonstrator to teach the cows. Just feed it to them gradually, mixed with bran or ground barley. After they are educated, they will say:

Feeding us Dairy Feed is a very good plan, It beats eating all bran We don't have to eat all we can To put a few gallons of milk in the can."

Now as to hurrying the hog to get fat quick, we think that's cruel. She has such a short time on earth at her best. Time doesn't seem to cut much faster with the hog, anyway. We save the expense of buying an expert and have you give you that much more for your money in quality in our feeds.

Let brightly love continue.

Twin Falls Linesman Loses Life; Current of 11,000 Volts Metes Out Death Instantly

Elmer E. Larkins, 32, Father of Two Small Children, Victim of Gruesome Accident; Parent Dying in Nebraska

Elmer E. Larkins, 32, 138 Quincy street, lineman in the employ of the Idaho Power company since last January, was killed in construction work on one of the company's lines four and a half miles west of Buhl at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. It is believed that full 11,000 volts of current passed through his body snuffing out life instantly.

Only a few hours before Mr. Larkins was fatally injured he had received word that his father had been taken from his home in Republic, Kansas, to a hospital in Superior, Nebraska and that his recovery was considered doubtful.

Carrying wire Mr. Larkins, according to accounts of the accident, told by his fellow workmen, was engaged in installation of service wires at the Frank Zack farm residence, carrying a wire from a pole to a house on the hill. He was on the ground a short distance from one pole and was pulling the wire to the proper tension. It is believed that the wire went into a twist and that when he attempted to straighten it with a sudden pull, it came in contact with the "hot" side of the transformer circuit.

Father's Illness Summed Up Companions of the construction crew of which Mr. Larkins was a member, worked for nearly a year in an attempt to reconstruct by means of artificial means, the legs of a man who was paralyzed from the waist down. He was summoned to the scene to assist in the work. Mr. Larkins' death marks the first fatality in an accident involving Idaho Power company employees in this district in about 10 years, although a big expanded program calling for much new construction has been in progress during the past several months.

Native of Nebraska Mr. Larkins was born in Hyron, Neb., November 12, 1896. His father came to Idaho early last year and was for a time associated with his brother, Fred Larkins, Twin Falls, in the construction of the Idaho Power company. Fred Larkins, who was killed in a fall from a tower in 1918, was the father of Mr. Larkins. He was a member of the company and a favorite among his fellow workmen.

He leaves his parents in Kansas, he survived by his widow, Mrs. M. Larkins, and two children, Glenn, 6, and Margaret, 4. He leaves also his brothers, Fred Larkins, Twin Falls, and Lawrence Larkins, Caldwell, and his sisters, one of whom is Mrs. Roy Muth, Twin Falls.

STEPHAN TO DECIDE ON OFFICERS' TERM

Secretary of State Submits Question to Attorney General; Supreme Court May Act

BOISE, Nov. 20 (AP)—In an effort to find a basis of procedure until it is decided whether the present state officers will serve for two or four-year terms next January, Fred E. Stephens, secretary of state, today submitted the question to the attorney general.

The secretary sought an answer prior to issuance of election certificates bearing information as to how long the officers serve. Attorney General Frank L. Stephens said he is expected to have an opinion on the subject sometime early in December. As to how the problem will be finally settled, state officers were somewhat at a loss. That it would eventually find its way to the supreme court was tacitly admitted, but definite steps toward getting it before the supreme court has been discovered.

Seeks Stephens' Opinion In the question to Attorney General Stephens, Secretary Lukens said: "It appears that the proposed amendment to the constitution of the state of Idaho, providing that the governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, state auditor, state treasurer, attorney general and superintendent of public instruction shall hold office for four years, has received a majority of the vote cast at the general election held on November 6, 1928, on such amendment. The amended section, therefore, has apparently become a part of the constitution of the state of Idaho. Will the officers named above, who are elected at the said general election, hold office four years beginning with the first Monday of January, 1929?"

TWO SCHOOL GIRLS TELL TRAGIC STORY OF FATAL SHOOTING

Testimony of Waileta Silantha Bowen, 14, Daughter of Slain Woman, and Esther Rose, 12, Agrees and Stands Unshaken

Two little girls in district court here yesterday told the tragic story of the killing, last September 26, of Mrs. Lois May Bowen, 32, for whose death Ward Otis Tharp, 51, Twin Falls dairyman, is on trial charged with first degree murder. The girls, first witnesses called to the stand by the prosecuting attorney, were Waileta Silantha Bowen, 14, daughter of three daughters of the dead woman, and Esther Rose, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rose, neighbors of the Bowens and the Tharps west of Twin Falls.

Both of the girls were witnesses of the fatal shooting. Their stories on the witness stand agreed in all material respects, and were maintained unshaken under detailed cross-examination. Tharps' defense attorneys for two hours this afternoon by defense attorneys. Attorneys and officers among the spectators commented in terms of the girls' sincerity and candor characterizing the girls' testimony.

Story Moves Heavily Few persons in town were apparently unshaken while Waileta Bowen related her story of her mother's tragic death. She told of an attack made on her by Tharp and his sons, Edward, 14, and Leo, 12, upon herself and six other children on their way to school. Tharp, she said, struck her with a gun, and she fell when she stumbled and fell. This attack, she said, only a few moments before the fatal shooting of her mother.

"We ran screaming back home," Waileta testified. "Mother came out to see what was wrong. She saw Mother called to him to stop. He reached over on the seat and picked up the gun. He was standing on the front of the truck and stepped toward the front, and began shouting. He shot first at daddy, but missed him. He then turned around and shot at mother. She cried out: 'Oh, stop! stop!' He hit her with the first shot. He shot three times and she fell by the fence. Daddy grabbed him and they fell. He went around to the back of the gun and struck Tharp on the head with it until he said: 'I've had enough! This daddy let him up and took the gun away from me. 'I went, where mother was lying and kissed her. She wasn't quite dead, but she had been hit by the bullet in the house but my little sister, four years old, was looking out the window. She came out and kissed mother. She thought she was dead. The story told by Esther Rose coincided with Waileta's testimony, except that Esther had turned and ran toward the house of her father when Tharp began shooting, and she did not actually witness the shooting.

Children Mainstay of Defense Attorneys questioned the child witnesses closely with respect to a series of questions between children of the Bowens and the Tharps on the one hand and Tharp's children on the other. They failed to obtain an admission from either witness tending to support the suggestion that Tharp had been either told that Bowen and Rose were carrying a gun for Tharp, or that anyone had stood in the road in front of Tharp's truck when he stopped in front of the Bowen residence immediately before the shooting, or that Waileta had struck Tharp before he fell while grappling with Bowen after Mrs. Bowen had been shot.

Speculators questioned whether defense tactics might be tending toward plea of self defense based on possibility that Tharp believed his life in danger when he shot Bowen. They asked him to state, or whether they were leading to development of a manslaughter plea on showing of a series of children's testimony that might have unbalanced his mind.

Harold William Merritt, Twin Falls, lawyer and county surveyor, was the third witness called to the stand yesterday by the prosecuting attorney. Mr. Merritt testified that he saw the body of the dead woman lying in the road in front of the neighborhood in which the fatal shooting occurred, and testified to a distance of 200 feet from the body. He testified that he saw Tharp and his sons were alleged to have attacked the crowd of people and that the Bowen residence to the Rose residence, and about 700 feet from the Rose residence to the Tharp residence.

Friction in the neighborhood was traced in questioning of the girl witnesses yesterday through a series of incidents beginning with the shooting by Mrs. Rose of a dog owned by the Tharps that was said to have killed a chicken on the Rose place. The story of discord continued with relation of the killing by Tharp of a calf owned by Rose, for which was required by the probate court to pay $120 damages. Members of the Bowen family testified for the Rosen and against Tharp in trial of the suit for damages for killing of the calf.

Test of Encounter The story included also account of three or four encounters marked by greater or less violence between children of the Bowen and Rose families and the Tharp children. The last encounter being one in which Tharp is said to have taken an active part a few moments before Mrs. Bowen was slain.

Telling of this encounter, Waletta Bowen testified that when she stumbled and fell Tharp struck her with a rock and kicked her until she released her. She said Tharp did not hurt her much but that he had torn her clothing "half off of me."

The girls readily admitted their parts in the various earlier encounters with the Tharp boys. On occasion, Esther Rose said, Waletta attacked her Tharp when he had called her a "fool name" and that Esther and her brothers joined in the fray. "No one was on top of him," she declared in answer to a question, "we were all holding him down—and hitting him."

Denies Vandalism Esther also admitted digging holes in the road on which Tharp had been scattering cinders, but denied emphatically putting "nails or pieces of iron" in the road. She admitted that the children had once thrown cans in Tharp's yard, but denied that they were "all holding him down—and hitting him."

She was a witness, she said, of the shooting of the Tharp dog, but did not witness the defendant's suggestion that Mrs. Rose had told Edward Tharp that "he would be the one to kill the dog."

The shotgun that Mrs. Rose used to kill the dog, Esther said, was not the same gun that she fired at him, but he had used the same gun in his truck after the slaying of Mrs. Bowen.

FATEFUL VESTRIS' OFFICERS DESCRIBE CONDITION OF SHIP

Saloon Mate and Waiter Testify Ports and Doors of Vessel Always Leaked in Heavy Weather—Statements Clash

(By The Associated Press) NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—A saloon mate and a waiter from the crew of the steamer Vestris testified today, at the federal inquiry into the sinking of the ship with the loss of more than 100 lives, that it always leaked at ports and doors when there was heavy weather and that nothing was ever done about stopping the flow of water.

The testimony of the saloon mate and waiter came at a hearing before the United States inspectors of the United States bureau of commerce, had testified at a separate inquiry going forward in the customs-house that they had inspected the Vestris a few days before it sailed and found it seaworthy in all respects.

The inspector of hulls mentioned in particular the ports and doors through which other persons say the water leaked in streams and said he had found them fit.

One of today's witnesses who told of the leakage, which both asserted occurred whenever the ship struck a storm said he had reported the defects in writing.

The other witnesses today at the federal hearing, which is being conducted by United States attorney Tuttle before United States Commissioner O'Neil assisted by a British and American nautical adviser, were Gilbert Ford, the negro chief fireman, and the Swedish quartermaster, John Scott, who was going south as a second class passenger on the Vestris to recruit for the ship.

Scott, the saloon mate, and O'Connor, the waiter, both painted a graphic picture of the water swirling about the ship's quarters. Scott testified that when he went to bed Sunday night, there was so much water in the ship's quarters that he could not occupy their lower berth.

Both Scott and O'Connor declared the water had leaked on previous trips whenever the Vestris struck heavy seas.

O'Connor testified that, as part of his duty, he inspected the ship's quarters before the conclusion of the Vestris' last two previous voyages the need for repainting the port holes, the fire escape and the handrails of the lamp and hot line.

Scott described how members of the crew tried to bail out the water that had come in through the half-door.

Scott and O'Connor described the lifeboats over the port side of the ship that was up out of the water. It was "these lifeboats, which the steward ordered me to go down below and help bail. This was the water that was in the water was then up to the port in the upper half of the door."

CHAMBER CONSIDERS VALUATION OF LAND

Officials Should Give Publicity to Assessment Scale, States Ralph E. Thomas in Letter

BOISE, Nov. 26.—Applying a yardstick to Idaho valuation might well be the gist of a letter recently sent to all assessors of Idaho by Ralph E. Thomas, secretary of the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce. The letter was based on a publication of the Minnesota tax commission called the "Assessor's Manual."

In Minnesota valuations of buildings are worked out on the basis of the cost of construction of the building, the kind of building it is and the use to which it is put. For instance, the assessor's manual states that it costs from 10 to 20 cents per cubic foot to build a frame, shingled roof farm dwelling of good construction. It costs from 10 to 12 cents per cubic foot to build a two-story brick barn painted white with a gable roof.

Main Classifications City property is divided into several classifications. A city dwelling, the commission figures cost all the way from 20 cents to 54 cents per cubic foot, but depending on the kind of construction, whether it is stucco, or frame, class A city dwelling are presumed to have a full basement with cement floor, laundry, hot water or furnace heat, marble plumbing, bathroom, electricity or gas, some built-in features and fire-escape.

All kinds of city property are included in the classification an outlined in the assessor's manual. Theaters, stores, office buildings and garages.

Consider Depreciation The element of depreciation is also taken into account. Property values are depreciated from 2 per cent to 4 per cent and brick and stucco from 1 1/2 to 3 per cent. After a structure has been depreciated to 75 per cent further allowance is recommended as long as it is usable.

The assessor's manual recommends that assessors give the widest possible publicity to the scale of values for land and property that they propose to use in making assessments. Many valuable suggestions will result from such procedure, it is pointed out.

Property owners, the manual says, have no right to expect the high or low assessment of their property, as they are in its equitable assessment compared with their neighbors' property. The objection to paying taxes is greatly minimized when a property owner has been given an opportunity to examine the proposed taxable value in advance, and is convinced on such examination that, relatively, his neighbors' property is subject to the same tax burden as his own.

Change in Pronunciation Captain Frederick Sorenson, a ship's officer who was a second class passenger on the Vestris, was also a witness.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (AP)—The parties in football power at the close of 1928 season are expected to meet out of the picture this year with little or no ceremony.

In fact the seven-man groups scattered about the country, only two of the erstwhile office-holding teams have a chance to repeat. These two are Southern California in the Pacific coast conference, and Georgia Tech. in the Southern conference, and neither has an all-time undisputed hold on the top job season.

Elsewhere, Carnegie backers among the old champions, the University of Yale and Pittsburgh disputants of the mythical Eastern title last year, are 1928's best hope. In fact, Carnegie, Boston college, New York University, Army, Princeton and Georgetown lead in the concluding arguments.

The election of officers probably will be held at the annual conference of the Eastern agricultural states, covering a territory from Georgia in the southeastern part of the United States to Washington in the northwest and from Wisconsin in California as far west as the convention.

JURY ACCUSES OIL COMPANY OFFICIAL IN PERJURY ACTION

Robert W. Stewart Exuberant Over Outcome of Trial Arising from Alleged Falsifications to Senate Committee

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Reaching a verdict in less than an hour, a jury in the District of Columbia supreme court today acquitted Robert W. Stewart, chairman and head of directors of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, of charges of perjury which followed his appearance last Feb. 7 before the senate public lands committee.

Frankly and exuberantly happy at the outcome of the trial which stretched without a break for four straight oil-man-with-his-chief-of-stuff-Frank J. Hogan, at his side, was surrounded by a throng of friends of the defendant before the trial. He thanked the members of the jury individually and bestowed upon each of them a commission served on the panel a long time ago.

Quorum Dispute Bitter

The case was given to the jury at 2:30 P. M. with instructions from Justice Jennings Bailey to consider first all whether there was a quorum present at the session of the senate committee at which Stewart gave his testimony. That point was settled by a bitter dispute from the very beginning of the trial.

In his instructions to the jury, Justice Bailey ruled that before a majority of the committee can become valid a quorum of its members must be actually and physically present. With a majority of five members, he said, one or more might withdraw without impairing the validity of the session, unless a specific point of a lack of a quorum should be reached.

Jury Remains Silent

He told the jurors to settle the quorum question first of all and if it was agreed that these requirements were not satisfied, to return a verdict, either, but return a verdict of acquittal at once.

What happened in the jury room during a secret session was known by the members of the panel. One said that an agreement was made before reporting the verdict, and that all were present at the time. The decision was taken, Stewart's acquittal on the perjury charge, clears him of the last indictment pending against him as a result of his testimony before the senate public lands committee at the same session, arising from the same accusation which it was alleged that he committed and which was charged to him in May of this year and also resulted in an acquittal.

Allege Falsifications

The perjury indictment was based upon questions which, the government asserted, were propounded by the committee and which, it was charged, Stewart answered with deliberate falsifications.

These questions were whether he knew anything of the distribution of the Liberty bond profits of the Continental Trading Company Ltd. of Canada, which the committee was attempting to trace, whether he received any of the bonds, whether he had had any conversation or had any knowledge that would lead him to believe that any individual could acquire the bonds and secure the securities.

It was charged that Stewart answered all three questions in the negative when as a matter of fact he received the bonds and secured the securities for the value of $750,000.

SCHOOL FOR TRAINING DIPLOMATS WILL BE PROPOSED IN CONGRESS

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Nov. 20.

—Because skillful diplomats have become so important in American business, Senator Thomas, Oklahoma, plans to introduce in the next congress a bill providing for a school to train young men for the diplomatic, consular and foreign trade service.

The senator will propose establishment at Washington of an institution similar to the naval academy at Annapolis and the military academy at West Point. Students would be appointed by congressmen and senators, and like the cadets and midshipmen, receive stipends.

Senator Thomas has not worked out details as to appropriations, faculty and entrance requirements. Tentative plans call for 50 students who on graduation would be assigned posts abroad, just as Annapolis and West Point men are assigned in the naval and military services.

George Washington university and Georgetown university at Washington offer courses which, he believes, might be adapted to the proposed school.

The senator says the growing importance of the United States in efficient management of its endeavors abroad, necessitates the determination to establish a trained personnel, the members of which speak the languages of the countries to which they are assigned and are conversant with their peculiarities and peculiarities, the senator says, would go a long way toward improving relations of the United States with foreign powers and enlarging its commercial opportunities.

REPORTS STIMULATE FLOOD AREA RELIEF

Death Total Reaches 16; Airplane Carries Food to Men on Island; Red Cross Aids

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 20.—As the flood waters of Kansas, Missouri, and Oklahoma continued to recede today, two more dead were added to the toll of flood victims and reports of suffering and devastation wrought by the high water stimulated relief activities in the three states.

The finding today of the body of Charles Culbertson, farm hand, who disappeared while doing rescue work at Winfield, Kansas, and the drowning late this afternoon of James Darden, 57, Liberal, Missouri, while removing debris from a railroad bridge over the Neosho river near Clayton, brought to 16 the known death toll.

Bodies of two victims of the flood of the Marais des Cygnes river were recovered at Ottawa, Kansas, late today.

"As the waters of the swollen river receded, relief workers found the bodies of Dr. J. Ward Smith, a retired dentist, and Maroon Jones, 12, daughter of Mrs. C. C. Jones, Mrs. Jones, her two daughters, Dr. Smith, and Dr. Ralph Shiras drowned Saturday when a motor boat capsized in a whirlpool.

An airplane was dispatched from here late today by the National Air Transport line to drop food on an island in the Marais des Cygnes river near Pleasanton, Kansas, where hunters have been marooned since the flood set in Saturday.

With several thousand people homeless and destitute from the ravages of the torments that recede down over the flood, lives—sweeping leadership—and all that stood in its path to destruction, the Red Cross and other relief agencies made extensive preparations today for the rehabilitation of the flood areas.

RULING RELEASES SCORE OF OKLAHOMA PRISONERS

MCALISTER, Okla., Nov. 20.

—State prison gates today opened for more than a score of convicts when J. Q. Rexell, warden of the state penitentiary, received a ruling of the criminal court of appeals that state prisoners are not required to serve out fines and costs at the rate of 10 days per dollar.

In each case the prisoner released had served the sentence imposed upon him by district courts and had been held to satisfy the fines.

The court's decision, Rexell declared, will tend to reduce the number of prisoners in an overcrowded penitentiary.

GRAPE JUICE SUBSTITUTE FOR SACRAMENTAL RITE

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.

—Virtually all Protestant churches have abandoned use of wine in sacramental services and have substituted fermented grape juice, the Chicago Church Education announced today after a survey.

"As far as we are able to learn, not a single Protestant denomination of importance uses wine with alcoholic content in the observance of the sacrament of the Lord's supper, or in any other ceremony," said Walter E. Rice, executive secretary of the federation.

TAX LAW REVISIONS TO BE CONSIDERED

Idaho Property Holders Will Attend Meeting to Consider Increasing State Revenues

BOISE, Nov. 20.—December 13 and 14 have been fixed as the dates for the general tax meeting which is to be held in Boise to discuss and formulate recommendations to the 1929 legislature looking to a revision of the Idaho tax laws.

The meeting has been contemplated ever since the Western States Taxpayers conference which was held in Boise in August, 1927, at which representatives from 12 Western states exchanged views of taxation and similar problems. Fixing dates for the meeting was left with the executive committee of the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce and Ralph E. Thomas, secretary, has just made the announcement. The sessions will be held in the house of representatives chamber of the state capitol and will be open to the public and officers from all of Idaho are particularly invited to attend and participate in the discussions.

Discussions Cooperate

A special meeting of the Idaho state grants interested in the taxation problem in Idaho and the Idaho Education association and other organizations are to be held on the state capitol and the recommendations being made from the December meeting will be the approval of all these organizations.

The first day of the meeting will be taken up with discussions on state taxation including the question of raising money and how it shall be expended. From these discussions it is expected that recommendations for increasing state revenues will be made in order that the admitted tax burden on real property may be lightened. Recommendations for increasing state revenues have been advanced. Among them are sales taxes, income taxes, and luxury taxes.
