

VARIETY FEATURE OF COOLIDGES' DAY IN VIRGINIA MOUNTAINS

True to Tradition, Turkey is Principal Course On Presidential Table; Religious Service On Holiday Program

(By The Associated Press)

SWANANNOA CLUB, NEAR WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 29.—A beautiful Thanksgiving day dinner was prepared for President and Mrs. Coolidge this evening at the Swannanoa country club, a scenic mountain mansion where they are spending the holiday week-end.

True to tradition, the principal course of the huge turkey weighing more than 30 pounds, was provided for the presidential table by Virginia friends. Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge dined alone as the only guests whom they had invited to accompany them into Virginia—Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Stearns, hostesses of the dinner.

The dinner came at the end of a day of active recreation which included attendance at church, an informal luncheon reception and a college football game.

President Tests New Gun

First of all, the president tested his marksmanship and a new gun in some clay pigeon shooting on the vast estate which surrounds the Swannanoa club. Knowing of Mr. Coolidge's fondness for this form of recreation, in which he had his initiation last summer during his vacation in Wisconsin, the club had provided targets for his marksmanship.

The shooting over Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge motored to Charlottesville for the church services. For Thanksgiving day and the president's committee of the Protestant churches of the city united in services at the First Baptist church. The sermon was delivered by the Rev. O. W. Johnson, pastor of the First Baptist church.

From the church, President and Mrs. Coolidge went to the home of Edwin R. Stearns, president of the University of Virginia, where they were guests of honor at a luncheon. The president and Mrs. Coolidge were invited to meet the president there was Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, wife of the war time president.

After luncheon, Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge were spectators for a short time at the Virginia-North Carolina football game and then returned to the Swannanoa club for the dinner which awaited them.

Kansas Solon Favors Increases in Tariff On Products of Farm

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—Immediate enactment of an emergency tariff act devoted solely to upward revision of duties applying to agricultural products was advocated by Senator Capper, Republican, Kansas, in a statement issued today.

"To attempt tariff revision now," he declared, "keeping the existing general relationship between agriculture and other products would be playing a rather threadbare joke on the farmers of the country; I believe they show signs of becoming tired of being treated proper consideration by tariff makers."

HOOVER'S TAKE PART IN SERVICE ON SHIP

Chaplain Huske Delivers Day's Sermon in Drizzling Rain As Battleship Returns Equator

U. S. S. MARYLAND, en route to Guayaquil, Ecuador, Nov. 29.—Till was a day of alternate thanksgiving and trembling aboard the battleship Maryland as the mighty craft, carrying the nation's chief of justice and his party, neared the equator on its voyage to Guayaquil, its next port of call.

In consequence of the Thanksgiving holiday the ship observed Sunday routine. There was a divine service on the quarterdeck which was attended by both Mr. Hoover and Mrs. Hoover. It was followed later with an elaborate dinner, not only for the president-elect and his party, but for all the crew.

Dinner concluded, the Maryland was brought to a dead halt momentarily while Davey Jones, personal agent of his majesty, King, New York, came aboard to issue subpoenas to all those who have not until now crossed the equator. These were summonses to appear for initiation tomorrow on the forecastle deck, where a ducking tank has been rigged up.

Formally presented to Captain Kimberly and the president-elect formally as soon as he came over the side of the vessel, then he repaired to the quarterdeck where a subpoena ceremony was enacted.

HEALTH OF KING OF ENGLAND IMPROVING

Anxious Nation Breathing More Freely as Condition of Sovereign Indicates Recovery

LONDON, Nov. 29.—An anxious nation began to breathe more freely today as the condition of King George showed distinct improvement.

It was understood that the king's physicians, Lord Dawson and Sir Stanley Hays, were greatly satisfied with the king's progress today and would omit the usual late night visits.

Tomlin's bulletin issued at 8 P. M., said:

"The king had a quiet day with some sleep. Otherwise his condition remained unchanged."

Meanwhile the Prince of Wales was today at Dar-Es-Salaam, Tanganyika, deciding whether to await the arrival of the cruiser Empress or embark on the governor's yacht Azania.

Journal Reviews Case

The leading English medical journal, "The Lancet," will review tomorrow the progress of the king's illness and incidentally dispel the idea that it occurred through a sudden onset.

The journal will say that the illness prior to the issuance of the first medical bulletin his majesty had not been in his usual health. Although he continued to carry out official engagements, then, dealing with the illness itself. The Lancet says that the return of high fever last Sunday inevitably resulted in depression and discomfiture, and the public was warned that a further spread of pleurisy might be expected up to the present, however, there had been no change while a certain amount of rest had been secured and this was of great importance.

STORM IN NORTHERN EUROPE TAKES HUGE TOLL; WATER PERIL

Floods Still Spreading; 5000 Soldiers Mend Most of 56 Breaks in Belgian Dikes; 20,000 Persons Homeless

(By The Associated Press)

BRUSSELS, Nov. 29.—The situation along the Belgian coast as a result of the recent storm was critical in many places tonight, and enormous damage seemed inevitable if the gales should start again.

In Ostend, West End, Middlekerk and Blankenberg, three-quarters of the houses were either unroofed or standing in water. The Middlekerk casino was in danger of collapse and the promenades along the seafront were either badly damaged or in ruins and covered with sand. All electric cars as well as channel boat services were suspended.

From all of these localities came urgent pleas that soldiers be sent to repair breaches in the sea and river dikes. Despite improved weather, floods were still spreading throughout the Province of Antwerp. Working day and night, 5000 soldiers had mended most of the 56 breaks in dikes and these were expected to resist tonight's high tide.

In the city of Antwerp the people today were able to obtain drinking water in reduced quantities. Storms had undermined and broken the city mains.

Public relief funds have been opened in behalf of the inundated district, which the queen visited yesterday. The Red Cross is caring for 20,000 people, many of whom are homeless and have lost all their possessions. An unofficial estimate placed the total damage in the neighborhood of $5,000,000.

YANKEES ABROAD MISS CRANBERRIES ON MENU

PARIS, Nov. 29.—Complete absence of cranberry sauce rather marred the Thanksgiving dinner of American residents of Paris. Eating turkey without cranberries on the side, they thought they had a little less to be thankful for and they rather envied their countrymen who snugly enjoyed the luscious red sauce across the Atlantic.

"Aside from this Americans observed the day in the traditional manner," they said.

Hundreds of turkeys were paraded at various dinner parties, the hot birds blending with cold bottles of French wine as the diners sang at least the first verse of the Star Spangled Banner and other patriotic hymns. The most popular song was "Yes, We Have No Cranberries."

It is understood that the annual shipments of cranberries from the United States were delayed in consequence of the recent North Atlantic storms and failed to reach Paris in time for the Thanksgiving day festival.

DISARMAMENT ISSUE BECOMES TOPIC FOR DEBATE IN ENGLAND

Proposal of American Solon For Conference in Canada and Declaration of Viscount Cecil Cause Discussion

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Nov. 29.—Naval disarmament came back to open discussion in Great Britain today. Three factors contributed to this. They were: The proposal by Fred A. Britten of the naval affairs committee of the United States house of representatives, that his committee and members of the house of commons meet in Canada next March; the declaration of Viscount Cecil that Great Britain ought to meet the United States halfway, and an attempt by Sir Frederick Hall to get an official statement on naval policies by means of an interpellation today in the house of commons.

A considerable section of the press and public urged that the British proposal be accepted. They pointed out that in addressing Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin directly Britten had shattered diplomatic precedents and had gone into official quarters with an unofficial project, but they argued that the plan was too good to lose because of the technical difficulty. Several pointed out that Mr. Britten had closely paralleled an idea expressed last week by Lord Lee of Fareham, who suggested that a civilian representative of each country could get further and go faster than conferences of naval experts.

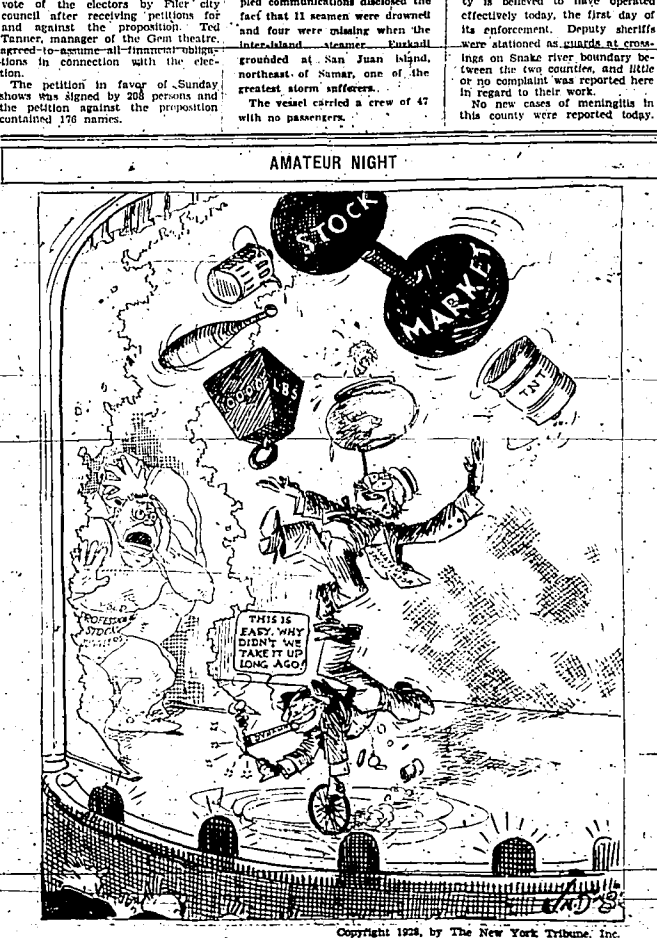

Viscount Cecil, who was closely associated with Woodrow Wilson in working out the idea of the League of Nations, was also present.

PREMIER BALDWIN AMERICANS' GUEST

Statesman Suggests United States Refuse to Loan Money for Foreigners' Armaments

LONDON, Nov. 29.—Premier and Mrs. Stanley Baldwin were guests of the American society at a Thanksgiving day dinner here last night. A company numbering 50 persons, which included the premier, Lord Houghton, a real American dinner with turkey from President Coolidge's farm in Vermont, cranberries from Cape Cod, and corn from North Carolina.

Ambassador Houghton, proposing a toast to the "day we celebrate" said all friends of the United States should cause fundamentally friendly relations of the British and American people to be maintained.

Ambassador Houghton added: "We have additional reason to be thankful in that the king seems now to be showing indications of recovery we hope and pray for his complete recovery."

Premier Baldwin opened his speech with a statement that it was a delightful act of friendship to ask an Englishman to be present at the domestic family gathering. He confessed that he had been an American for a long time to attend, owing to the pressure of other engagements.

"But what really decided me to change my miniature residence from London to the United States was the fact that I had a personal and particular cause for thanksgiving," he said. "I had been an American there would have been no tobacco. It was tobacco that planted the English nation in America. Virginia—heyburn is the only country in the world that has had tobacco as its currency."

In a long, appreciative reference to American literature the premier recalled the story in the autobiography of Benjamin Franklin of how the Quaker returned to the mother of the Brother Quaker during public work to lead his money for the occasion on the ground that the altar sacred to him in the neighborhood.

"I suggest to the ambassador that any request to America for loans of armaments should receive the same answer" he concluded.

QUAKERS OUTCLASS CORNELL GRID TEAM

Penn's Aerial Attack Finds Big Red Eleven Helpless; Scull Leads Victors for Last Time

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 29.—Cornell, utterly defenseless against an overhead attack, was shot to pieces today by a quartet of Pennsylvania aerial artists led by Captain Paul Scull in the annual Thanksgiving grid-iron classic on Franklin field. The final score was 49 to 0. A holiday crowd of 20,000 saw Scull wind up his Quaker football career in a blaze of glory and play the star role in the most spectacularly effective passing game ever witnessed on Franklin field. Scull personally carried the pigskin across the Cornell goal line four times and exhibited his remarkable drop kicking skill by adding seven extra points after touchdowns to show a total of 31 points for his last afternoon work for the Red and Blue.

Cornell's Worst Defeat It was the worst defeat Cornell's big Red team has suffered at the hands of Pennsylvania since this holiday series was begun in 1892, when the Quakers won by the margin of 50 to 0.

The remarkable effectiveness of Penn's aerial attack is shown by the fact figures, 13 out of 23 completed for total gains of 313 yards, an average of slightly less than 25 yards for every completed pass.

Five of the seven Quaker touchdowns, sprinkled through every stage of passes, ranging from 32 to 52 yards. The air game left only two yards to be gained for an eighth touchdown, but the ninth and most spectacular of the lot came on a 93-yard run by Walter Opekun, fullback, after recovery of a Cornell fumble on the threshold of the Quaker goal line.

Dash Starts Rout The sensational dash by Opekun, many in the third period, definitely turned the game into a dismal rout for the Ithacans as they saw their one golden scoring opportunity vanish in a heart-breaking fashion.

Cornell, with a stalwart line in which Keen and Wakeman were star figures, outmuscled Pennsylvania, 148 yards to 124, but the Ithacans failed to gain a single yard by passing, in addition to show no adequate defense for the tricky overhead stuff, performed by Scull and his mates, Shaber and Murphy, with the aid of Pockun.

Penn registered 17 first downs to 10 for Cornell.

Lineup and summary:

IDAHO COACH CALLS FOR HOOP MATERIAL

Completion of Memorial Gymnasium Marks Season Opening; 30 Candidates Respond

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, MOSCOW, Nov. 29 (Special to The News)—Having access to the new Memorial gymnasium for the first time, Coach Rich A. Fox this week issued his official call for the University of Idaho's 1929-30 basketball season. More than 30 candidates answered. Some of the Vandal basketballers have been practicing for more than a month in the old gymnasium but official activity awaited completion of the new basketball plant, which is one of the most up-to-date in the coast conference.

Five lettermen will be on hand this year as a foundation for the new season. Development of a pair of guards who can carry on the work of Glenn Jacoby and George Green, three-letter winners, looms as the big problem as Coach Fox enters his second season as Vandal basketball director.

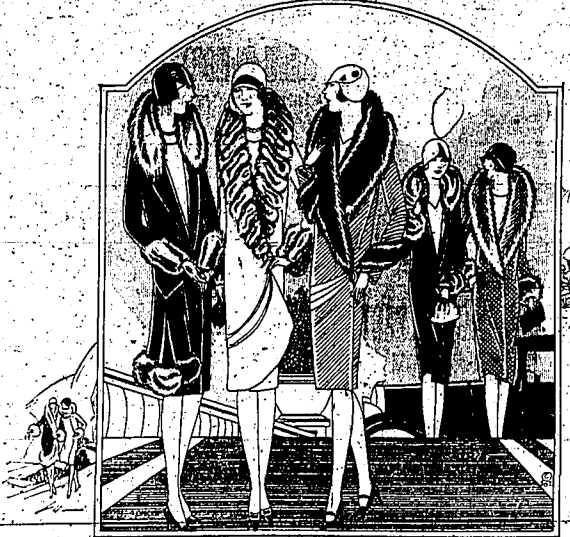

Forward Berths Sure The Vandals have a "crack" pair of forwards, Harold Stowell and Frank McMullin, both of Pocatello, and the guards must be above ordinary ability to keep pace with them. Richard Drummond, Kellogg, substitute guard last year, is the sole guard candidate with varsity experience.

For center position Fox has Darwin Burgher, Rupert, back for his third and last season. Burgher is the lone senior on the Vandal roster. Burgher will not report until later in December, taking a rest after the football season. Harold Thornhill, Kellogg, is another performer who will be after the center job. Thornhill substituted for Burgher several times last year.

Squadmembers Contenders An early survey of candidates discloses several men, including three of last year's freshmen squad, who will be strong contenders for regular positions. Hector Zaring, American Falls, is an outstanding candidate. Zaring played on the American Falls team when it won the southern Idaho championship and was named all-star forward.

Wells Estes, Moscow, an all-star forward while in high school and a freshman numeral winner two years ago, is an active candidate for either forward or guard. Last year's freshman squad produced only four men of varsity caliber. They are: Hugh J. Duffy, Jerome, forward; Clarence Dunge, Grange, guard; George Miller, Caldwell, forward; and Harold Carlson, Kellogg, guard and center. Miller did not return to school.

ATTACK OF WESTERN TEAM DAZZLES BEST OF EAST'S ELEVENTS

Nightmare, Stark and Terrible, Fashioned in Great, White Figures; Shatters Dream of Noted Gridiron Opponent

(By The Associated Press) NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—A nightmare, stark and terrible and fashioned of great, crashing figures in the pure white of Oregon State, today shattered a dream—the dream of New York university for a football team that could challenge the recognition of the east.

It was a dream that began when the first letters of the fall turned brown, grew through overwhelming conquest of Colgate and Missouri, and reached its height in a smashing victory over Carnegie Tech, master of Notre Dame.

The unheralded and almost completely unmythical Beavers from the Pacific coast drove the Violets completely in every department of play that the astute scores of the up-and-coming 1928 team of Oregon State's complete domination.

Through a forward wall that had been every previous thrust, three great western players, Howard Maple, Henry (Honiolu) Hughes, and Cy Sherwood—ripped and tore their way through the line, and through the New York backs, Maple threw forward passes that dazed the defense and set the fourth scoring.

At the opening gun, Strong raced back 20 yards with the kickoff, tested a 22-yard pass, and then charged through tackle, back to the center and straight down the field for 43 yards. Oregon held bitter, but the Violets' line opened a gap for Sherwood, Maple and Hughes to march 20 yards at a lick, to the 13-yard line.

The Violets were helpless in the third quarter when Strong kicked off-side on the Oregon 1-yard line, only to see the Westerners smash in the middle of 22 and 24-yard runs by Maple and Sherwood. Hughes kicked and recovered the ball when Foster fumbled on his 23-yard line.

Oregon outmanned the Violets on the offensive, scoring 21 first downs to New York's 10. Maple completed three quarters of the 20 passes he threw while Strong made only five runs. The 15 times Ken had the

Utah's Opponents Put Aerial Machine Into Use in Vain; 15,000 Fans Watch Beehive State's Classic of Season

(By The Associated Press) SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 29.—Displaying a ripping, slashing offensive that could not be stopped and a defense that could not be budged in the pinches, the Utah Redskins punched the Utah Aggies under a 20-to-0 score here today and clinched the Rocky Mountain conference championship.

Aerial Machine Works

The Aggies got their aerial machine working early in the game and carried the battle to Utah through most of the opening period, but could not penetrate beyond the Redskins 19-yard stripe. Late in the period Summersby and Davis, Redskin quarter, tore the Aggie line to shreds with a drive that carried to the 2-yard line as the quarter ended.

Utah's Opponents Put Aerial Machine Into Use in Vain

The Aggies threw their machine into high gear at the start of the second half and in less than three minutes swept from their own 20-yard line to the quarter end.

BURGLARS' ATTEMPT TO OPEN SAFE FAILS

Kimberly Store Strong Box Resists Efforts of Nocturnal Visitors; Loot Till of $12.

Because the nitro-glycerine "bomb" was not of the consistency to "stay put" when poured into the soap dam about the lock of the safe in the Kimberly store, the burglar's attempt to open the safe failed. The burglar, who is believed to be the same person who was arrested in the morning by unknown nocturnal visitors, the scheduled explosion failed to materialize and the contents of the strong box remained unharmed. The burglar entered the building by forcing the lock of the front door. Following the failure of the attempt on the safe they were forced to content themselves with about $12 in cash taken from the till and the cash register.

The dial of the safe was battered off and the nitro-glycerine poured into the cavity. The explosive was too fluid, the dam sprung a leak, and some other unforeseen condition arose which prevented the explosion. An attempt had been made to set off the fluid.

A railroad axe with a sawed-off handle was found on the floor near and is believed to have been used to batter the dial from the safe. The cash register was untouched and was undamaged.

The burglary was discovered Thursday. The sheriff's force was notified and investigated, but found no clues. Officers said that there was a considerable sum of money in the safe but that they did not learn the amount.

The campaign in this city and county will start Monday afternoon, at which time eight women will canvass the Twin Falls business section. A week later 700 letters will be mailed to people throughout the county enclosing stamps.

The only source of income for the association for its work consists in the sale of these stamps, and on the success of the sale will depend the success of the following activities: The state-wide health education program in the schools in which thousands of children are learning and practicing the rules of good health; the public health nursing service in 12 counties; the nutrition work for seriously underweight children; the children's summer health camps; and other health activities in the 47 counties of the state.

Spending $22,000 in Idaho The program calls for the expenditure of $22,000 in the state, all the money except 5 per cent for the national organization is spent in the state in which it is raised. The national organization is carrying on medical research work in the laboratories of the great universities to find a permanent cure for the White Plague.

Sends this year depicts the agony of health, with the double cross of the organization. The slogan is: "For every child full of countenance, wealth, joy and hope and human health. ### Solon of New Mexico Recalls Early Day Experiences as Marshal of Dodge City

Dodge City, Kansas, "No Man's Land," now part of Oklahoma, and the country from Dodge City to Fort Belknap, Tex., were far from "Peaceful Plains" in the late '70s and early '80s, according to Senator Lee Harlan, 70, La Mesa, New Mexico, who is here as the guest of his sister, Mrs. E. C. Georgia Bell, his nephew, F. S. Bell, and his nieces, the Misses Eva and Marjorie.

Senator Harlan was marshal of Dodge City in 1880, a few years after "Wild Bill" Hickok held the same position. The city was still "a tough place in which to live," to paraphrase a popular booster slogan. Senator Harlan is an Iowa man.

"The wildest night I ever saw," he said, "was on the occasion about 1878, when the Cheyenne tribe broke out and started north. The Indians stole a lot of saddle ponies from ranchers in order to mount all their people. About 100 cowboys congregated in Dodge City and a company of soldiers came down. It was decided to load a long train of cattle and ship them out to safer territory.

Bandits and cowboys all went down to do some loading, but before they got the train loaded, they all got drunk and left the stock and the train and started to shoot up the town. They shot up the sidewalks and punctured all the awnings in town. They were in good humor and nobody was killed, though one man was accidentally wounded. Meantime the Indians had taken a turn off in another direction so that the cattle were not stolen."

Operates Freight Line Later, after his term of office as Dodge City marshal, Senator Harlan freighted from there to Fort Elliott. Predatory Indians roamed the plains and ran off stock from weak traders, but did not touch loading, but before they got the train loaded, they all got drunk and left the stock and the train and started to shoot up the town.

"In the early border days there was no particular stigma attached to 'rustling' horses," Senator Harlan said, "unless they were 'rustled' from ranchers. They were mostly taken from the government or from Indians, and the people on the border did not regard this as very serious. "People would say of somebody engaged in that sort of traffic: 'Oh, he is a rustler,' without meaning to reflect on him very much. Dodge City is quiet now, and so is 'No Man's Land.' This strip of land, originally part of Texas, was relinquished by that state when the Mason and Dixon line was extended, so that no free territory should be included in the Lone Star state. It remained without government until absorbed by Oklahoma. No court had jurisdiction. Has Peculiar Experience "I had a peculiar experience there. A young fellow stole a team of mules from me and took it into Colorado. I
