

repeal. Meanwhile it is binding upon the national and state governments and all our inhabitants.

The flood control, irrigation and domestic water projects of the Boulder Canyon dam project are phases into which the government could extend its functions, he said.

Addressing himself to the wage earner, Mr. Coolidge enunciated the doctrine of production as the only link to profit and wages.

"In its economic life," he said, "our country has rejected the long accepted law of a limitation of the wage fund, which led to pessimism and despair because it was the doctrine of perpetual poverty, and has substituted for it the American conception that the only limit to profits and wages is production, which is the doctrine of optimism and hope because it leads to prosperity."

"In the foreign field there is peace, the good will that comes from mutual understanding, and the knowledge that the problems which a short time ago appeared so ominous are yielding to the touch of manly friendship," he said.

The relations between the United States and Nicaragua, Chile, Peru, Mexico and China were dealt with separately by the president who also, in his discussion of foreign affairs, stated the purpose of the Kellogg treaty to outlaw war. There was no mention of American adherence to the World Court.

"The message was concluded with a plea to the people to remember that in times of prosperity unremitting toil is necessary to keep what has been gained.

In Prosperous Era
"The country," Mr. Coolidge said, "is in the midst of an era of prosperity more extensive and of peace more permanent than it has ever before experienced. But having reached this position, we should not fail to comprehend that it can be easily lost if it needs more effort for its support than the less exalted places of the world. We shall not be permitted to take our ease, but shall continue to be required to spend our days in unremitting toil."

"The actions of the government must command the confidence of the country. Without this, our prosperity would be lost. We must extend to other countries the largest measure of generosity, moderation and justice. In addition to dealing justly, we can well afford to walk humbly. At the end of government it is to open the opportunity for a more abundant life. Peace and prosperity are not finalities; they are only milestones in the way under the influence for a nation to become selfish and degenerate. This test has come to the United States. Our country has been provided with the resources with which it can enlarge its intellectual, moral, and spiritual life. The issue is in the hands of the people. Our faith in man and God is the justification for the belief in our continuing success."

GRAIN PRICES SHOW UPWARD TENDENCIES

Scarcity of Oats Results in Out-Doing of Highest Quotations Attained This Year

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Cattle grain increased in activity and showed an upward trend today, contrasting with weakness of wheat. Exports in most of corn to fill contracts which call for December shipment were approximately becoming brisker. Scarcity of oats resulted in March and May oats making the highest prices here ever attained this season.

Corn finished irregular, varying from a decline to an advance, with only a few to the gain. In wheat, the close was easy, but to be net lower. Provisions at the last were off to 2c up.

Careful Check-up on Corn

A careful check-up on the corn export situation is being effected. The report submitted to Chicago was said to show that exporters had in general sold corn for December shipment, but were not in a dilemma letting go of corn to the extent which was looked for.

There is a scarcity of wheat harvesting in the southern hemisphere, with Argentine offering wheat freely to Europe at cheaper prices, and an increase in the wheat market. However, sellers were as a rule disposed to be cautious pending developments in farm legislation at Washington.

BUHL VOTERS REJECT CITY POWER MEASURE

Municipal Electric Plant Proposal Fails to Carry; Action Nullifies Bond Issue

BUHL, Dec. 4 (Special to The News)—Buhl voters turned down another proposition for establishment of a municipal power plant at an election today. Representatives of the company's proposal for installation of an 800-horsepower plant to be operated by Diesel oil-burning engines failed by margin of 83 votes to receive the two-thirds vote required for its acceptance.

The vote was 447 for the proposition and 265 against it. Members of the city council who had submitted the proposition at a special election, stated that it would not be put up to the voters again in event of its failure yesterday.

Propose $100,000 plant. The proposed plant would have been built at an estimated cost of $100,000. Representatives of the Fairbanks-Morse company had expressed belief that revenues would be sufficient to pay for the plant, and the company would have carried the plant for that period.

Buhl citizens about a year ago voted to issue $100,000 bond issue for purchase and installation of a power and light distribution system. These bonds have not been sold, but would have been in the event the Fairbanks-Morse company proposition had been ratified by the voters today.
