THE NEW FORD HAS A REMARKABLE

Value of simplicity of design shown daily in outstanding smoothness, acceleration, speed, power, reliability and economy. Low-priced car should not be complicated.

ENGINE

THE engine of the new Ford represents a new development in modern automobile engineering. It is unique in design and performance because it gives you unusual smoothness, acceleration, speed and power without sacrifice of reliability and economy. Ford engineering has found the way to include every essential feature of good performance without the necessity of a high speed, complicated motor.

The design of the cylinder head is just one factor in this performance. Others are the direct gravity gasoline feed, the specially designed carburetor, the new hot-spot manifold, the carefully planned large valve diameter, the chrome silicon alloy valves, the aluminum pistons, the statically and dynamically balanced crankshaft and flywheel, and the simplicity of the electrical, ignition, cooling, lubrication and fuel systems.

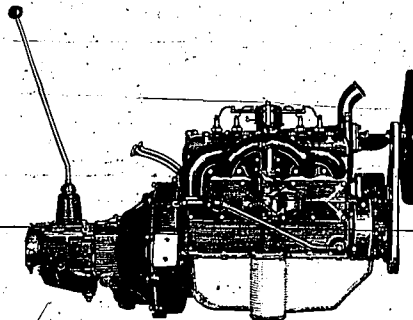

Engine mounting reduces vibration

Of special importance is the manner in which engine vibration is absorbed before it reaches the chassis of the car, thereby preventing unpleasant vibration periods.

This is done in the new Ford through the introduction of a flexible front end support that is both simple and practical—a truly remarkable improvement in engine mounting developed after many months of testing and experimenting.

Quality of materials and careful workmanship also have a great deal to do with the continuously good performance of the new Ford.

In the new Ford, for instance, the diameter of the piston pin is held within three ten-thousandths (.0003) of an inch. An equally close limit is followed in the hole into which the piston pin is fitted.

The weight of the aluminum alloy pistons is set at 17½ ounces. No piston is permitted to come under this weight nor exceed it by more than 2 grams.

In the piston assemblies, consisting of piston, connecting rod, pin and spring retainer, the four assemblies in each motor must match in weight within a limit of 3½ grams. Every piston assembly must meet the weight of the other assemblies in the set within approximately ⅓ of an ounce. Main and connecting rod bearings on crankshaft are held true to within three ten-thousandths (.0003) of an inch.

Unusual accuracy of manufacturing methods

It is of course almost impossible to conceive of measurements as close as these. They are achieved only through the finest precision gages in the hands of expert workmen. The master blocks by which these gages are set are accurate to the almost incredible limit of a millionth of an inch.

All of this care and accuracy is an indication of the fundamental thoroughness of Ford manufacturing methods. If a part should be made accurate to a limit of .0003 of an inch, it is made to .0003 of an inch. Margin of profit is made secondary to service.

The new Ford is distinguished by the trim, graceful simplicity of its lines and the beauty of its colors. Without being extreme, it has struck a new note in automobile designing. Shown here is the new Sport Coupe—one of the most popular of the new Ford cars. Wide, comfortable rumble seat is included as standard equipment.

Deep-seated therefore is the quality of the new Ford. You can see but a part of it with your eyes. Beneath the hood are countless invisible values. Summed up, they count for more than any one spectacular feature.

Because of the value that is in it, the new Ford is more than just a new automobile. It is a part of the life, the progress and the prosperity of the country. Our policy has always been to see that you get the very best materials—the most careful workmanship—the soundest design that can be built into a low-priced automobile.

Today, more than ever, the new Ford is the fulfillment of that ideal.

COUNCIL DISCUSSES REVISION OF DAIRY INSPECTION RULING

Committee Takes Ordinance Under Advisement; City Board Authorizes New Waterworks Bond Retirement Agreement

Revision of Twin Falls dairy inspection ordinance was authorized by the city council in regular session last evening after Captain E. M. Sweeney, city auditor, urged that the regulations should be re-drawn in order to make it practical all the way across.

J. E. White, commissioner of public safety; Dr. F. T. Harris, health and dairy inspector, and the city attorney were designated as members of a committee to revise the ordinance. The city attorney expressed confidence that revision of the measure would result in practical regulation that would be satisfactory to dairymen on one side and to the people on the other.

Points to Defects

He declared that the present ordinance is defective for the reason among others that it does not provide practical means whereby the dairymen can justify when samples are taken, or the conditions under which samples are kept, or the time when they are tested.

The city attorney proposed revision of the dairy ordinance. Mayor R. E. Bohler, whose term of office will that of two other members of the council expires next spring, declared:

"Before we leave we want to work out an adequate building ordinance and also arrange for provision in the next budget for codifying all of the city ordinances."

Adopt Resolution

A resolution adopted by the council last evening placed the seal of approval on a transaction whereby the city will take over from the International Trust company, Denver, the responsibility for selling $100,000 outstanding of the $27,500 waterworks bond issue of 1916. The resolution authorized a new contract with the Denver concern whereunder the city will return to the trust company its check for $100,000 upon delivery to the city of the $100,000 refunding bonds due to bondholders who have not yet presented the original bonds for redemption. The trust company also turns over to the city $200 that had been held by the company to cover interest charges against the city's bond account.

The old bonds are subsequently located by the trust company stated in its letter approving the proposition, "we would like very much to bid on the bond which will be issued to cover them."

Dunn, his attorney, on the grounds that the officers had exceeded their jurisdiction and were acting upon suspicion rather than positive knowledge. He renewed from time to time his motion to suppress this evidence, the motion having been overruled by Judge W. A. Habeok.

Police officers on the witness stand testified that they had found a jug of moonshine whiskey at the side of the road on Blue Lakes boulevard north of town on the evening of last October 24; that two officers contacted themselves between posted boards in the vicinity, and that they had arrested Turner soon after he stopped his car near where the liquor had been cached. They said they found the jug on the front seat of Turner's car. The jug, it was reported, had slipped from the grasp of one of the officers and was broken.

Colorado - Women Seek Nephew Named in Will

Mrs. H. C. Green and Mrs. E. H. McPeck, Rockyford, Colorado, have applied to Principal U. M. Terry of Twin Falls high school to help locate their nephew, Harold V. Gould, who is, they state, entitled to receive money from the estate of his grandfather for the purpose of education. They seem to be under the impression that Gould is attending high school here which is not the case.

The letter of inquiry reads: "We would like to know if there is a boy going to high school here by the name of Harold V. Gould. We are his aunt and are trustees of his estate left him by his grandfather and according to the will, we are to furnish him money for education until he is 21 years of age."

Mr. Terry says he knows no such person as Harold V. Gould, but believes there is an impression among different people in Colorado that he is attending school here, as several letters have come to the school addressed to him.

ESKIMOS AFFLICTED WITH COLDS ONLY WHEN OUTSIDERS APPEAR

(By The Associated Press) ST. LOUIS, Dec. 10—Although the Eskimos of eastern Alaska and Greenland are very susceptible to the common cold and other infections of the upper respiratory tract since they live in a climate which often is expected to possess such conditions, they apparently never are attacked by these diseases except when they come in contact with the new foreign outside world.

A new point of emphasis of a paper by Dr. Peter Henshaw, leader of the National Research Council in its expedition to Washington university, was that a member of the Levenhauk expedition of the American museum of natural history in 1920 and of the Putnam basin expedition last year, in comparison with the Levenhauk expedition, the American museum, fellow of the St. Louis Children's hospital.

In the summer of 1920, as the members of the Levenhauk expedition of the American museum of natural history made their way up the west coast of Greenland, the paper stated, "it was noted that as certain of the settlements every native was the victim of an acute respiratory tract infection, while in others no evidence of such infection was present."

Investigation revealed that in the former some contact had invariably been made with the outside world prior to their coming, while in the latter, within 48 to 72 hours of their arrival, all the natives developed acute respiratory infections with sneezing, coughing and spitting.

"Further, there it was certain that the Eskimos, where it was noted that no outside contact had been made that year, there was never the slightest evidence of acute respiratory tract infections at the time of the arrival of the expedition, but within 72 hours nearly every Eskimo of the settlement developed such an infection. It was not necessary for any member of the expedition to have an acute respiratory infection for the majority to appear among the natives."

"Dr. Knud Rasmussen, the Arctic explorer, who was a member of the expedition, gave us considerable information about the course of such epidemics. In the fall of the year the infection subsides and does not reappear until another contact has been made with the outside world."

Despite the poor hygienic conditions which exist among the Eskimos and their unusual exposure to occupational injuries, the paper, published by the American Association of Immunologists, also records the observation that their wounds heal rapidly and with out the attendant infections frequently encountered elsewhere.

"It is believed that the result either of a scarcity of virus-producing bacteria in those regions or to exceptional qualities of resistance in the skin of the Eskimos."

"No history of scarlet fever, diphtheria, or measles could be obtained," the paper says, "and it seems quite unlikely that these illnesses ever have occurred in this region during the lifetime of the present generation."

Their immunity to these diseases, which other peoples are thought to develop only through exposure to the germs, is attributed to heredity.

JURY FINDS BURLEY MAN GUILTY IN "FENCE" CASE

BURLEY, Dec. 10 (Special to The News)—After considering the case all Friday night, the jury trying the Montgomery charged with receiving stolen property, brought in a verdict of guilty Saturday morning. It was alleged that Montgomery bought a lot of Indian blankets from a youth, knowing that they were stolen, and that they were thereafter sold at his auction store. At a prior trial, the jury disagreed.

Valent objection was interposed, from time to time, by S. T. Lovo, defense attorney, to the line of argument offered by Prosecuting Attorney R. M. Morris in his plea to the jury. Judge Hugh A. Baker has set Wednesday morning for imposing sentence. Montgomery is at liberty under $1000 bail. No notice of appeal has thus far been entered.

Wooden Shoes in Netherlands Rare Dutch Baroness Informs Americans

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 10.—You Americans have queer opinions about the Dutch. You imagine that we still clump-clumping around in wooden shoes and that our streets are lined with tulips.

"What a delightfully nonsensical picture!" It was the Baroness Berendina Johanna van Hardenbroek van Loock, first speaking, to the slender young woman with flaxen hair and round blue eyes. The baroness accompanied her husband to Milwaukee recently on a "chum" to the barn operator of a fox farm in Wassenaar, Holland, and came here in search of foxes for breeding purposes.

"Just Like Paris" And the frock being a two-piece affair of tan with a s'vanki bandanna tie for collar, we agreed. And it was purchased in Holland. The dress, a flannel hose and lizard skin tie pumps completed her costume.

"Bobbed hair is no longer Parisian, so this titled young lady is letting her 'grow out.'" Dutch girls clipped and shingled theirs with the rest of the feminine fashionabals, but now they're prying for long hair, according to Madame van Hardenbroek.

"Yes, Madame is the proper way to address a baroness in England. It is 'lady.' Incidentally, the young woman is a baroness in her own right, her father being a baron. With her marriage to Baron van Hardenbroek, a little more than a year ago, she became twice a baroness.

"Speaking of baronesses, the visitor recounted an amusing experience on shipboard, where the presence of a Dutch baroness created no little stir. An American doorman exclaimed: 'Oh, I had a nice idea all Dutch baronesses were fat!'" from The Hague to Amsterdam. As a matter of fact, these are the only ones and cover only a small part of the miniature country.

"American women are small compared with my people and they use frightfully much makeup. In the Netherlands I'm considered small, but here I tower over most women." Madame is about 5 feet 3 inches tall.

The picturesque old windmills are being restored to look as they did in the old days, although most of them are very modern inside and propelled with electricity. And the harvest, piled high with cheese and inseparable with every Dutch moyle, still ply the canals of this quaint low country.

"I don't doubt whether my country would appeal to most Americans," Baroness van Hardenbroek said. "We're very simple people, satisfied with much less than you are and content to spend our Saturday afternoons and Sundays quietly at home."

"Your elegant rush-rush and endless talk about money and business is bewildering to us. And I'm afraid your Americans are sacrificing charm and culture for such things."

PLANS FOR FUNERAL OF BUILT CHILD COMPLETE

BUILT, Dec. 10.—(Special to The News)—Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 2:30 P. M. in the Methodist Episcopal church for the late Charles Rodgers, 15-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Myron Rodgers, who died Sunday from effects of pneumonia.

The surviving relatives include his parents and one sister, 9 years old, and his grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Rodgers, all of Hild, services will be in charge of Rev. Charles D. Fletcher and burial will be in Hild cemetery.

The General Aid society of the Presbyterian church will meet at the church Thursday afternoon for the annual Christmas party and grab bag given by the organization. Hostesses will be Madames Parry, Pond, McPherson, R. T. McNameer, McQuowan and Leland.

Memorial services will be held in the Presbyterian church next Sunday evening for Dr. Alfred F. McCluskey, Rev. high with cheese and inseparable with every Dutch moyle, still ply the canals of this quaint low country.

BUYERS MEET AVALANCHE OF TURKEYS IN EAST END

"BURLY, Dec. 10 (Special to The News)—An avalanche of turkeys rolled into Burley Saturday for delivery to the Idaho Turkey Growers' association representatives, and to other buying agencies. Over 100 cars of all makes and vintage, and bearing all the way from 4 turkeys to 250, blocked all ways leading to the Lincoln Wilder warehouse, where the small red solving force was completely swamped.

Starting in the early hours of Saturday morning, it was not until after 5 A. M. Sunday when all cars had been attended to.

Holiday fowls were brought in from the turkey raising districts of Raft river valley and Oakley, as well as from points closer by. Some drifted in from as far west as Murtaugh, and one consignment was hauled from Idaho Falls. The fowls were turned over to the buying agencies, representing the association, at 22 cents per pound for No. 1 birds, to be shipped on consignment, with a possibility of the market justifying an additional payment.

Robert Hughes plans to leave here in the near future for New York where he will spend the winter. Mrs. Hughes, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Spence, has been in the East for several weeks.

Many Christmas turkeys left Hild last week for Eastern and Western markets. Better than a carload was introduced in one day by the representatives of the Idaho Turkey Growers' association. Quality of the birds was excellent, most of them being market-dressed. Mrs. Frank Hensell marketed 191 birds and received a check for $783.92.

Mrs. J. C. McPherson has returned from Portland where she accompanied Mr. McPherson who is in the coast city for treatment.

Opportunity offers us well as to others. In affairs of importance we ought look to contrive opportunities than to see them when they offer. Our qualities, both good and bad, are uncertain and dubious, and at the mercy of opportunity.—L. A. Rochefort.

County Auditors Confer BURLY, Dec. 10 (Special to The News)—Deputy Auditor Arthur C. Dunn will leave for Boise Tuesday evening to represent Cassia county at the annual convention of county auditors to open there December 12, Auditor B. F. Wilson will be unable to attend on account of sickness in his family.

DUCE DEVOTES VAST SUM TO RECLAMATION PLANS

MOSCOW, Dec. 10 (AP)—Japan's oil roughly $263,157,894, will be spent by the Mussolini government during the next 10 years for the complete reclamation of all arid or swamp land in the Italian peninsula, Italy's island, and colonies.

This great movement of funds for one of the most vast reclamation projects ever attempted in Europe is guaranteed by the national fund for social insurance, the national institute of insurance, and the savings institution of the Lombard provinces.

The plan will be made at the rate of 500,000,000 lire a year. The financial institutions mentioned above will preserve for this national agricultural scheme 50 per cent of the increment of their deposits. The credit operations necessary for the fulfillment of the task in hand will be dealt with exclusively by the national association of the consortiums for reclamation and irrigation.

Union Gives Impetus To Calendar Reform

GENEVA, Dec. 10 (AP)—The League of Nations has recently surprised to learn that the movement for calendar reform appeared to be making its chief progress in the United States although it was not cooperating with the League's efforts toward that end.

The activities of the American committee for calendar reform, of which George Eastman of Rochester, New York, is chairman, will be made the subjects of a special report to the secretariat.

Another thing which impressed the League was the preliminary report that public sentiment in the United States seemed decidedly to favor the 13-month system of reform. The League was informed that 50 American concerns were already using the 13-month year in their businesses.

"Just Like Paris" And the frock being a two-piece affair of tan with a s'vanki bandanna tie for collar, we agreed. And it was purchased in Holland. The dress, a flannel hose and lizard skin tie pumps completed her costume.

"Bobbed hair is no longer Parisian, so this titled young lady is letting her 'grow out.'" Dutch girls clipped and shingled theirs with the rest of the feminine fashionabals, but now they're prying for long hair, according to Madame van Hardenbroek.

"Yes, Madame is the proper way to address a baroness in England. It is 'lady.' Incidentally, the young woman is a baroness in her own right, her father being a baron. With her marriage to Baron van Hardenbroek, a little more than a year ago, she became twice a baroness.

"Speaking of baronesses, the visitor recounted an amusing experience on shipboard, where the presence of a Dutch baroness created no little stir. An American doorman exclaimed: 'Oh, I had a nice idea all Dutch baronesses were fat!'"

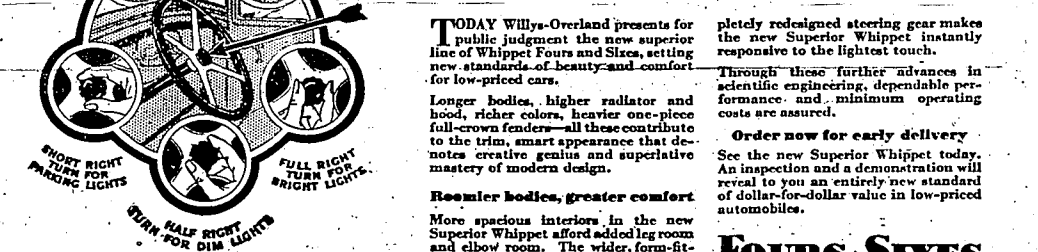

"American women are small compared with my people and they use frightfully much makeup. In the Netherlands I'm considered small, but here I tower over most women." Madame is about 5 feet 3 inches tall.

ANNOUNCING NEW SUPERIOR Whippet

with "FINGER-TIP CONTROL"

-the most notable advance in driving convenience since the self-starter

What "Finger-Tip Control" means to you

Greater Convenience: A single button, conveniently located in the center of the steering wheel, controls all functions of starting the motor, operating the lights and sounding the horn.

This fundamental improvement does away with all troublesome foot fumbling for the starting button, a frequent source of annoyance particularly to women drivers. It also avoids changing from the comfortable driving position to reach a light switch on the dash.

Greater Safety: With the new "Finger-Tip Control," you can at all times keep your hands on the wheel and your eyes on the road. An important safety factor, especially when driving at night.

Roomier bodies, greater comfort More spacious interiors in the new Superior Whippet afford added leg room and elbow room. The wider, form-fitting seats are deeply upholstered... all passengers enjoy restful positions.

The longer wheelbase, plus the lengthened springs, both front and rear, plus overize balloon tires, and snubbers—all combine to the perfection of far easier riding under all driving conditions.

Greater Beauty, Larger Bodies!

Today Willys-Overland presents for public judgment the new superior line of Whippet Fours and Sixes, setting new standards of beauty and comfort for low-priced cars.

Longer bodies, higher radiator and hood, richer colors, heavier one-piece full-crown fenders—all these contribute to the trim, smart appearance that denotes creative genius and superlative mastery of modern design.

More spacious interiors in the new Superior Whippet afford added leg room and elbow room. The wider, form-fitting seats are deeply upholstered... all passengers enjoy restful positions.

The longer wheelbase, plus the lengthened springs, both front and rear, plus overize balloon tires, and snubbers—all combine to the perfection of far easier riding under all driving conditions.

Greater power, greater speed In mechanical improvements the new Superior Whippet advances even over its famous predecessor. The new higher compression engine gives more than 20% added horsepower, resulting in increased speed, faster pickup and greater hill-climbing ability. A completely redesigned steering gear makes the new Superior Whippet instantly responsive to the lightest touch.

Through these further advances in scientific engineering, dependable performance and minimum operating costs are assured.

Order now for early delivery See the new Superior Whippet today. An inspection and a demonstration will reveal to you an entirely new standard of dollar-for-dollar value in low-priced automobiles.

New Device Sets Type by Telegraph

TELETYPES SETTER TRANSMITTING DISTRIBUTOR EQUIPPED WITH FEELER UPPER MESSAGE BEFORE SET LOWER FEELER REWINDS TAPE FOR FILING

THE TELETYPESETTER, designed to shorten by another step, the time and work involved in transmitting news from its source to the printed page, through which the white tape runs, is the transmitting distributor that enables the typesetting machine to set in moving lines the news transmitted to it directly from an automatic telegraph printer wire. An automatic receiving machine punches the tape, and the distributor machine, taking the place of a human typesetter, translates it into electrical energy that operates the typesetting machine. Both linotype and intertype machines may be equipped. The invention was initiated by Frank E. Gammet of Rochester, New York, and by Walter W. Morey of East Orange, New Jersey.

50-ACRE FARM PRODUCES 3,000,000 EGGS YEARLY

By LESTER POSVAR
(Associated Press Feature Editor)
WICHITA FALLS, Texas—Mose Johnson is wealthy because he counted his chickens before they were hatched. Twenty-five years ago he gave up a clerical job, bought five white Leghorn hens and a rooster, and moved to a 50-acre farm to raise chickens by the thousands. His neighbors couldn't see it. They said the fancy price he paid for his brood fowls was foolish. The little farm and flock had exhausted his financial resources. Johnson's wife did a little counting, herself. True, all the hatching was still to be done, but she consented to giving up the certainty of a weekly pay check because she believed her husband could make a fortune come home to rest with the chickens.

Today the Johnson farm near Wichita Falls has 15,000 Leghorn hens which lay 3,000,000 eggs a year. There are so many chickens that an investment of $10,000 is represented by the buildings and equipment needed for their care. Other wives, who buy eggs for their table, can appreciate what 3,000,000 eggs mean by way of an income for Johnson and his wife. And, there is another, although smaller, Johnson poultry farm near Bowie, Texas.

However, Johnson has not escaped trying times in the chicken business. Five years after he started his flock a tornado swept his farm, destroying a 6,000-egg incubator and almost all the hens. With 150 birds that survived the storm he started all over again.

About one-third of the egg output of the Wichita Falls farm is used for incubation of baby chicks. Johnson sold 800,000 baby chicks last spring and summer. They were shipped to Mexico, Canada, Cuba, South America, Europe, and South Africa, as well as to every state in the union.

President Calles, of Mexico, recently sent two personal representatives to the Johnson flocks for a poultry ranch he plans to establish near Mexico City immediately after he retires from office.

Johnson's love of the poultry business goes back to the time he was a little boy, scarcely able to walk, when he had a couple of chickens for pets.
