

IDAHO POTATO WINS DISTINCTION IN EAST

Governor Baldrige Finds Chicago Restaurant Chain Gives Tuber Chief Place On Menu

BOISE, Dec. 24.—Idaho potatoes are enjoying honorable distinction in Chicago on the world and Governor H. C. Baldrige, who recently returned from the East, is able to attest this fact. While in Chicago with John S. Welch, commissioner of agriculture, and other Idahoans, attending a national conference of shippers and buyers, Governor Baldrige had the privilege of visiting each restaurant of the great chain operated by D. L. Toffenetti in Chicago.

There, the governor says, Idaho potatoes stand at the peak of all products served. These restaurants enjoy a daily patronage of 2,000 people and every 24 hours 4500 pounds of selected Idaho baking potatoes pass through the ovens of the restaurants to the tables where they are served with plenty of butter.

Features Idaho Potatoes Toffenetti features the Idaho baked potatoes each season from October 20 to May 20. From May 20 to the following fall they are not to be found on his menus.

The day the governor visited his restaurants Toffenetti made special preparation to entertain the visiting Idaho executive. Each restaurant had large placards in the windows welcoming the governor and his party to the city. Inside, each waitress wore a colored silk ribbon across her white uniform with the word "Idaho" printed on it. The governor was taken through the large sanitary kitchen and there each chef had his cap decorated with Idaho ribbons.

Menus Praised Potato A special insert in the menus that day called attention to the fact that Governor Baldrige of Idaho would be the honored guest that day, and in lauding the famous potato Toffenetti had the following inscription in each menu:

"The mountains and hills of beautiful Idaho, thousands of men each year are dedicating their lives to growing and selecting for us this marvelous potato. Being grown upon the ashes of extinct volcanoes, aided by modern irrigation and the guiding, scientific hand of the state department of agriculture, under the able leadership of the honorable Commissioner Welch, they grow to an extra large size—attaining a flavor so distinctive and unique from the many other species of potatoes in the world."

The ship was almost as light as in the day under the full tropical moon and the sailors packed every vantage point on, around and above the deck, climbed up the mast, upon the top turrets and big guns, cranes and every possible elevation, singing lustily the carols led by Chaplain H. E. Rountree, Norfolk, Virginia.

Here's to good old Christmas. When Santa's sleighs jingle; The children's sleep near fire-side While waiting for Kris Kringle.

Her lover, modest, bashful, bright, The chance to kiss her missing; Lets rival, who's a bolter sprit, Come in for all the kissing.

Grown old and gray, the bashful boy Bill feels a faint regret, But thinks perhaps the maiden coy, Was but a gay coquet.

The maid, now dame, in solemn neat Will talk about taxidermy; But still recalls that Christmas treat, Was not without vexation.

INDIAN TRADING POST ANXIOUSLY AWAITS WORD PEACIF SPRINGS, ARIZ.

PEACIF SPRINGS, ARIZ., Dec. 24 (AP)—A relief which has enveloped the disappearance of Mr. and Mrs. Olein R. Hyde, Colorado river voyagers, descended today upon the searching parties attempting to trace the fate of the Hansen, Idaho, couple.

This little Indian trading post on the Colorado river, which was at first from a boat party which was attempting to reach Diamond creek but nothing was heard of the Grand Canyon, Arizona, no information came from a land party headed by H. C. Hyde, father of the missing man.

Adequate means of communication probably would delay the reports of the parties, observers pointed out, and the boat party upon reaching Diamond creek, the nearest operating point from the spot 13 miles distant where army aviators discovered the Hyde scow, will search the canyon for possible footprints. The scow in which the couple attempted to navigate the dangerous river, apparently was damaged, the aviators reported. The land party will search the canyon walls near the location of the scow, hoping that some clue to the lost couple may be discovered.

Mrs. Claycomb was standing over the stove. A piece of the top wire, by her face and passed through the ceiling of the kitchen. The stove front blew past her but did not strike her. On the capital's Christmas eve program two events held the center of attention—the lighting of the community Christmas tree by the president and the traditional singing of old Christmas carols on the north lawn of the White House by the choir of the president's church.

For the former, a program of Christmas music had been arranged with the Marine band playing a number of selections, and choral music by the National Capital Oratoria association. A boy and a girl scout had been delegated, moreover, to convey the president's Christmas greetings to the city to Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge.

The carol service on the White House lawn has become a customary Yuletide event, attended by large numbers of Washingtonians.

GEORGIANS ENGAGE IN HARD WORKOUT. BEARS PRACTICING

Coach Alexander Declares His Charges Are in Fine Physical Shape and Discounts Reports of Illness in Ranks

(By The Associated Press)
PASADENA, Dec. 24—With the grand reception over, and the first thrill of arrival subsided, Georgia Tech's football Eastern representative in the New Year's day gridiron classic turned today to the more serious business of preparing for the battle with California's Golden Bears.

Coach Alexander declares his men are in fine physical shape, and discounted reports that "flu" and other ailments were prevalent in the squad. Georgia Tech played its last game on December 8 and light training since has served to keep the men in shape.

California's two workouts a day still was in effect today. Coach Nils Eric indicates that the Bears are approaching the form under rigorous training and they have been undergoing for several days. Odds favor the California's Bears today to uphold Western supremacy in the East-West clash. They were quoted at 10 to 8.

SPORT SLANTS

BY ALAN J. GOULD
Associated Press Staff Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 24 (AP)—Before the old year runs its course, something should be said on behalf of a few of the best efforts that fell a trifle short of the main mark. It is the ancient custom to hail the winner. On the runner-up side, however, it is considered to oblivion nevertheless.

Cliff has an exception in the hands of the runner-up, or runner-up but can you remember Roland Hancock? He came within a stroke of tying Jones and Johnny Powell for the open championship last June at the Olympic fields.

He will win a shot of furnishing the year's golfing sensation but they forget him quickly after that. . . .

Columbia's next varsity crew, champions of 1927, joined the runners-up in the background this year while the victors' spoils went to California. Yet there was only a three-quarter length margin between the two shells after a heart-breaking, as well as record-breaking pull at Touchetop.

Worship Smith, Junior Oen, Frank Wyork, Red Cagle and Peavo Bunnell are few of the stars of sport who will be closely watched as they carry the 1928 campaign over in 1929.

After three long years at West Point, will be back for a last fling on the gridiron, as captain of the 1929 Army army and with an all-American reputation to uphold.

Nurti acali is the main feature of an American indoor track season after a three-year interval. One of the runners who looked at Peavo's flying heels Lloyd Gibb has withdrawn from competition for the winter. Miss Putnam has turned "pro" while Jimmy Connolly and Walter Higgins are out of the picture.

LOUGHRAN AND SAM MANDELL WORTHIEST BOXING CHAMPIONS

Boxing Adonis from Philadelphia Tallies Total of 596 Points Out of Possible 600 in Decision of 60 Writers

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Dec. 24—The worthiest champions of them all in the boxing world are Tommy Loughran and Sammy Mandell, in the light of the final ranking of leaders of the various weight divisions for 1928 which is published today by the New York Sun.

Loughran not only heads his own light heavyweight kingdom by a good margin in the Sun's census, compiled each year from the votes of 60 newspaper boxing writers in various cities, but his name also tops the leaders in the other classes in the points which reflect the favor of the critics.

Mickey Walker Third
The boxing Adonis from Philadelphia tallied a total of 596 points out of a possible 600, 10 points being awarded for each first place ranking.

New in line is Sammy Mandell, lightweight champion, with 591, while Mickey Walker, middleweight king, is third with 586. Next in order came Carl Hoffman, junior lightweight; Izzy Schwarz, flyweight; Jimmy McLarriff, junior welterweight; Jackie Fields, featherweight; Jack Sharkey, heavyweight; Fidel La Barba, bantamweight; and Benny Bass, featherweight.

Sharkey Ranks Third
Sharkey rolled up the highest point total among the heavyweights, although Jack Dempsey had the most votes for first and second places.

A showing comparable to that of Loughran in impressiveness was made by Mandell, champion of the 135-pounders, as he had a longer lead over the No. 2 man in his division than any other leader's enjoyed.

Loughran had the biggest margin with 100 points rated a second best in the light-heavy class.

TILDEN BIDS FOR FIRST PLACE IN TENNIS REALM

NEW YORK, Dec. 24 (AP)—Strong likelihood that William T. Tilden will be ranked again as the country's best player when the United States Lawn Tennis association meets in Boston February 9 and that Samuel H. Collom, Philadelphia, will be re-elected president of the organization is indicated in the current issue of American Lawn Tennis.

"It may be taken for granted," says the publication edited by S. Wallis Murphree, "that Tilden has been included in the classification and placed at No. 1; and that his great friend, Francis T. Hunter, with whom he won the doubles championships of the United States and England in 1927, is No. 2."

Because of Tilden's disbarment from amateur play by the association it has been thought in some quarters that he might be deprived of ranking as Vincent Richards was in 1926 when he turned professional near the end of the season.

The pick-up eleven which scrimmaged against Andy Kerr's Easterners included Ernie Nevers, former all-American fullback; Ed Walker, end; Hal McCrory, center; Fred Swan, guard; Mike Murphy, quarterback; and many others who brought fame to Stanford in earlier days.

While Through Long Practice
The Western teams, coached by O. E. Hollingbery, Washington State, wizzed through a long practice session here today despite rainy weather. Lacking a thoroughly experienced signal caller, Hollingbery has elected to use Dan Allen, former Yale player now with the Olympic club, and "Chir" Hoffman, Stanford fullback.

Officials for the game have been named as follows: Referee, George Varnell, Chicago; umpire, Walter Eckersall, Chicago; field judge, Harry Braddock, Pennsylvania; head linesman, Robert Evans, Milliken.

HONEY AS A MEDICINE: "What do for the flu?" Hundreds of thousands are asking that now, in the new epidemic over-running the country.

Better ask your family doctor. Here, however, is something of casual interest. Arkansas bee-keepers say "nect honey."

LIGHTNESS AND STRENGTH: Dr. Hiten Ira Jene, an American research chemist, has developed a new metal called beryllium, which is strong as steel and only half as heavy as aluminum.

It would be fine for automobiles, too, if not too expensive. With most of their present weight eliminated, cars would cost far less to operate and collisions would be less dangerous.

OUR CHRISTMAS GIFT

By D. R. CHURCHILL: Hail Christmas greetings to our our land, God gives a gift to every hand that reaches forth at His command.

He gives to us of low estate, As well as to the rich and great. Accept before it is too late, For man must surely die.

The Christ who hung upon the tree, Is God's great gift to you and me; That all in all sin we might be free, To wear a righteous crown.

For He has said, "Let come who may, I'll wash your every sin away." So let us on this Christmas day, Pay homage unto Him.

JUST IDAHO

Comment on Current Conditions in the Gem State. By GUY FLENNER

A Good Old Year: "We could deluge this column with statistics to show that Idaho has had a prosperous year. Most of the figures have already been published.

So on back to Welser. Eight days, falling on weakness; up and on again. Across the Snake in skin caudex, the chummed and hummed. "The accused mad river," they named it as they left it on Christmas day.

The baby brought good luck. Doctors, horses, and tools were found and brought home by the men in celebrating, they feasted on, horse and dog meat. It is recorded that they sang and danced.

It was New Year's day, January 1, 1912. The baby died January 7. It probably judged the whole country by the same standard as it applied to the use. The conclusion is still reasonable.

The woman's terrific career was just beginning— that that is another story.

The State We Live In

By BYRON DEFENBACH: A WOMAN, A HORSE, AND SEVEN DEVILS: The holiday season in Idaho brings to mind this story. Once upon a time, long ago, before any white woman had ever seen what is now Idaho...

November had found this woman with her halfbred husband and two children, one a white boy and one a girl, living in a small cabin on the Snake.

On down the Snake's east side, starting, freezing, wading, climbing, groping, cutting, and crawling, a canyon 7000 feet deep on the Idaho side. One of the Snake's tributary creeks empties into four. The big river runs for 20 miles under a box of rock; open top, vertical sides, bottom of swirling foam. Professor Langford says that the river is practically impassable.

The detachment to which the family belonged started back up the river, leaving the seven lowering namesakes of Satan behind them. One morning the leader called the husband, "Felix," he said, "we will have to kill one of our boys. We have no more powder skins or old moccasin soles to boot."

"No, no, Mr. Hunt," said the French-Canadian, solemnly. "The snow is not in the condition to walk in the snow." In this refusal the other men supported him. They would starve first, but they would draw life. It was to be saved, it must be according to the old rule: "women and children first."

So on back to Welser. Eight days, falling on weakness; up and on again. Across the Snake in skin caudex, the chummed and hummed. "The accused mad river," they named it as they left it on Christmas day.

One morning the husband said to Hunt, "You go on; we catch up; new baby." Next day, along came the family. Felix and the four-year-old went on. The other three were carrying the squaw with her infant in her arms, the two-year-old swinging in a blanket at her side. All unconscious.

The woman's terrific career was just beginning— that that is another story.

Guiding Your Child

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT: In a machine made world which has robbed us one after another of all charming occasions for ritual and ceremony of spirit, Christmas alone remains. We should try to celebrate it not only generously but beautifully.

The jolly preparations whose Christmas is different in each household should never be neglected. The child who is lucky which bakes its traditional fruit cake, makes its own plum pudding to be served with a sprig of holly and a wreath of flame and greenery hours over its hard Christmas candles in the big family kitchen.

The tree should be chosen so as to have a first, black symmetrical one which would do honor to Hans Christian Anderson's story of the little fir tree. The bangles to be hung on it should preferably be those which have been cherished from year to year.

Not all bought in one batch at a department store counter. Not only luxury of making other people happy, but also the essence of the Christmas story.

He should learn to think of Christmas as that time of the year when people allow themselves the special luxury of making other people happy.

It is different in each household should never be neglected. The child who is lucky which bakes its traditional fruit cake, makes its own plum pudding to be served with a sprig of holly and a wreath of flame and greenery hours over its hard Christmas candles in the big family kitchen.

Skits and Scratches

by SCAT: Santa and the Christmas Eve: "O Pussay dear, it's Christmas Eve. Please tell me now, do you believe in Santa Claus—and why?"

"In fact I do," said Pussay dear. "I have seen him once last year. Right in this house—Oh, my! He took a present from the tree and with his own hands gave to me. A Catnip Mouse—that's why."

A Felice Santa Claus: Santa is a saint with all the human, and feline virtues as well—that's probably why he is called Santa Claus. He is as quiet as a cat, nobody ever hears him come in; and he's almost as quick as one, for he's gone before you know he's there. Yet that he loves to be near the fireplace, and he's almost as agile as a cat, the way he can climb over roofs and scramble down chimneys and still remain smiling and spotless.

MIDNIGHT PROGRAM IN CHURCH USHERS IN CHRISTMAS DAY

Singers Bring Cheer to Slick
With Carols at Dawn; Radio Station to Broadcast; Salvation Army Will Entertain

Christmas came this morning as songs of praise and adoration filled the air from the program at the Ascension Episcopal church where a program was held to usher in the anniversary of the natal day of the Savior of the world.

Following Sunday and Christmas eve services and programs touching the nativity of Christ, the Ascension Episcopal church celebration ushered in the day, which in religious and civil life, testifies to the homage paid to Jesus of Nazareth. The program which included holy communion and sermon had the following special musical numbers: "Adeste Fideles," "The First Noel," "Silent Night," "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing," "The Old English Carol, Birthday of a King," "Silent the Wings of Night," "Glory to God," "O Little Town of Bethlehem," "Cantique Noel," "Dawn Nigh," and "I Came Upon the Midnight Clear." Solists were: Mrs. O. P. Duval, Mrs. W. H. Dwight, Mrs. Zeuss Brown, The pastor, Rev. W. Hewton Ward, delivered a brief sermon.

Present Children's Programs
Earlier in the evening a program was given by the children at the Nazareth church. At the Immanuel Lutheran church there was a song service for the children and an address by the pastor, Rev. Martin H. Gureh. There was an evening program at the Presbyterian church, at which Santa Claus was present and gladdened the hearts of the children. Gifts for the needy were received. The carolists of the Presbyterian church greeted the dawn at 6 A. M. with songs for the ill in the city and in the hospital, bringing a message of good cheer and good will. Services today will be conducted at St. Edward's Catholic church and Immanuel Lutheran churches. At St. Edward's church there will be high mass at 8 A. M., followed by low mass at 9 A. M. A third mass at 10:30 A. M. will have songs by the children of St. Edward's school. At the Lutheran church there will be regular Christmas services at 10:30 A. M. and evening children's services at 7 P. M. There will be a Sunday school program followed by treats for the children.

KGIQ Plans Programs
There will be three musical programs appropriate to the season broadcast over radio station KGIQ tonight. At 7:30 the program recently presented at the meeting of the Catholic Women's League will be put on the air by Mrs. D. E. Beagan, harpist and pianist; Miss Roselle Mc-

Willie Willis By ROBERT QUILLEN

The reason I was late for Sunday school was because Papa didn't have no penny ar' had to drive down town to get a nickel changed."

Dermot, soloist, and Mrs. B. A. Hanky, violinist.

At 7 P. M. the cantata, "The Glory of Bethlehem," presented by the Methodist Episcopal choir and orchestra will be broadcast. The whole is directed by Dr. Orrin Fuller and the orchestra by A. E. Francis.

At 8:30 P. M. Miss Chaylote Vogel, student of music at Chicago who is visiting here at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Vogel, will broadcast from station KGIQ. Thursday night has been designated as college night at the Twin Falls radio station. The first half of the evening will be devoted to a musical concert including both classical and semi-classical numbers. Beginning at 10:30 P. M. a students' frolic will occupy the time featured numbers being university, fraternity, and sorority songs.

Churches Hold Services
The morning services at the churches Sunday had reference to the season. At the Christian church the treat for children were given after this service.

At the Church of the Brethren there was a sing-song, "The Littlest Son," at the evening service. Services at the First Presbyterian church consisted of a special musical program, including a duet by Mrs. P. F. Bracken and Dr. Walter Carter, and a selected solo by Miss Elizabeth Wicki. Buhl, and a sermon, "The Birthday of Jesus," by Rev. A. G. Pearson. The vesper communion service at 5 P. M. was especially solemn and beautiful, with the auditorium filled with the electric wreaths and garlands.

The musical program of the Methodist Episcopal choir and orchestra at the church tomorrow—Sunday—night, which will be broadcast tonight over KGIQ, was one of the notable events of the year in the Twin Falls world of music and attracted a large audience which voiced warm appreciation. The final program of the season will be given tomorrow night by the Salvation Army in Parish hall. There will be a Christmas tree and distribution of presents.

SNOW BLANKETS FEEDING GROUNDS OF WATERFOWL

Carroll Baker and Harold Berger returned last evening from a three-day hunting trip to Silver creek, bringing back 35 ducks. Snow and recent cold weather, they reported, have made feeding difficult for the ducks in that region.

BEAUTIFICATION PLAN PROVES SUCCESSFUL

Clubs Give Prizes to Owners of Best Decorated Christmas
Trees; Visibility Factor

Unqualified success attended the movement instituted by the Red Knights and the Twentieth Century club to make Twin Falls a city beautiful with decorated Christmas trees plainly visible from the streets. Prizes were offered for the best and second best decorated trees, subject to the conditions named.

Last evening the trees were judged by the following committee of five from the two organizations: Mrs. B. L. Price, and Mrs. James D. Whelan, representing the Twentieth Century club, and Eugene Perrine, Bert Larson and Frank Peavey, representing the Red Knights.

Visibility important
The committee emphasized that an essential condition, and that it entered into consideration in giving the awards, was that the trees be in places driving through streets and avenues in order not to overlook any decorated tree that could be seen plainly from the street.

The "first prize" was awarded to the R. A. Reynolds' tree and the second to the tree at home of Felix Fredrichs. The Reynolds' tree was located in the yard. Those receiving honorable mention were W. R. Priebe, Robert W. Meach, H. A. Briggs, son, J. A. Sinclair, Max Pink, V. C. Ballantyne, E. J. Ostrander, W. H. Putnam, F. W. Meach, H. A. Briggs, James Harvey and Cecil R. Claycomb.

Groups Decorate Trees
The organizations which put out the contest contributed to the beauty and Christmas aspect of the city, after the manner suggested. The Red Knights decorated a Christmas tree in the city park and also the entrance of the high school and county courthouse, while the Twentieth Century club decorated the tree at the post office. The city itself, with its festoons of evergreens and bells, added to the holiday atmosphere.

ILLNESS FORCES STUDENT TO DROP COLLEGE WORK

William (Bill) Braliford, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Braliford, returned at noon yesterday from California, accompanied by his brother, Fred Braliford, who was stricken with appendicitis while attending Stanford university at Palo Alto, and who is here to recuperate until April. No operation was necessary and the student stood the overland trip home well, as he said last evening, that he was feeling much better.

"Bill" Braliford and his brother, Jim Braliford, left Twin Falls December 18 at 6:30 A. M. and arrived in Los Angeles the following day at 7 P. M. They were joined there by Fred and visited their sisters, Mrs. Ellen Braliford Elliott and Miss Beatrice Braliford. Jim Braliford will remain indefinitely in Los Angeles and Santa Monica. The return trip took a little more than two days, with stops at night in a small Utah town and in Pocatello. The roads were good except for a short distance in Arizona.

SNOW AT JACKSON LAKE NEAR NORMAL

Reclamation Office Makes Survey of Region of Reservoir; Considers Dam's Protection

Snowfall in the Jackson lake basin is about 80 per cent normal at this time. It was stated by E. B. Livingston, superintendent of the United States reclamation service office at Burley, who was here in informal conference with T. McElhird, director, and Burton Smith, manager of the Twin Falls Canal company, and E. E. Shurber, Jerome, manager of the Twin Falls Northside Land and Water company, relative to matters connected with Jackson lake.

The conference had to do with a meeting of representatives of all districts and companies interested in Jackson lake reservoir which will be called to meet either in Burley or American Falls some time early in January before the annual meetings of the districts or companies to consider steps toward protective measures for the Jackson lake dam. The dam is not in danger, it is stated, but protective improvements will make it last longer. Some work along that line is already under way.

Receives Statement

Mr. Dahlmann said he just received an official statement of the status of snowfall on the water shed. The snow depth and water content are both below normal. The snow is very uniform in depth due to absence of wind. The ground is frozen in some places and lacks quite a bit of being fully saturated, due to light fall precipitation.

The following data was obtained on a trip from December 14 to 19.

Station	Snow Depth in In.	Water Content
Moran	8	1.5
Moran canyon	29	4.0
Arizona station	17	3.5
Huckleberry divide	22	4.0

German-Opera Conductor

GERTRUD Hrdliczka, first woman opera conductor in Vienna. She's only 21 years old.

AUGSBURG, Germany, Dec. 24 (AP)—To Gertrud Hrdliczka, 24-year-old Viennese musician, has come the distinction of being the first woman opera conductor in Germany, if not in Europe. She has been engaged as artistic coach and assistant conductor by the Augsburg opera, after having successfully directed orchestras in Vienna, Brno and Johannesburg.

Hrdliczka declared at the age of 16 that she would make the attempt to invade a field hitherto almost the exclusive domain of men—that of orchestra conducting. She had the necessary musical background for at the New Vienna conservatory she had studied piano, violin, percussion instruments, harmony, history of music, instrumentation, score reading and composition.

Her first appearance in 1923, was a success and encouraged her to go on. Hrdliczka says her great-uncle, a conductor, was the inspiration for her ambition. She had the necessary musical background for at the New Vienna conservatory she had studied piano, violin, percussion instruments, harmony, history of music, instrumentation, score reading and composition.

"He is extremely musical," she said. "He is especially fond of Bach's music. While I accompanied me and walked in the library until my lessons were over."

BURLEY DANCERS ELECT DIRECTORATE FOR YEAR

BURLEY, Dec. 24 (Special to The News)—After a dance lasting until early Saturday morning, the Farmers' Old Time Dancing club paraded of refreshments and elected directors for the ensuing year. They were Bill Burt, Fred Hamble, John Stumwald, Fritz Hammer, and Ben Edwards. Officers will be selected by the directors. Present officers are Ben Edwards, president, and Millard Leitch, secretary-treasurer.

The organization started five years ago, and was the outgrowth of a consolidation of several community dancing units. Old time dances, such as quadrilles and waltzes, are favored by the club, and strains of dance music familiar to the past generation are heard at the fortnightly gatherings of the club in the Masonic hall in Burley. Old timers who are forgotten, or some of the younger generation who at times take part, are helped to go through the evolution of square dances by Bill Satterly, and other expert callers.

Eighty dancers were present at the gathering.

ENGINEERS CONSIDERING HIGHWAY ROUTE CHANGE

AMERICAN FALLS, Dec. 24—Engineers in the employ of the Idaho state highway department are at work on a new plan for the improvement of the Old Oregon Trail between American Falls and Burley. A surveying party, which is now operating in American Falls as its base, is now engaged in mapping a new route which will cross the raft river near its mouth and then lead straight west into Rupert. It will eliminate the loop to Vale and Coeurville, and will effect a saving of nine miles in the distance between American Falls and Burley.

For more than a year the state highway department has been bothered about between rival factions in the Twin Falls section. Rupert and a number of neighboring towns have been insistent in their demands for the construction of a highway that would utilize the present road from Rupert to American Falls, and then turn east along the Oregon Short Line track to American Falls. They have advanced the claim that the route they propose would shorten the distance about six miles.

Burley Meat Markets Offering Rare Foods

BURLEY, Dec. 24 (Special to The News)—Burley butcher shops usually offer novelties during holiday times in the way of strange and scarce meats for table use. There have been carcases of buffalo, bear and elk on display in the markets heretofore, and many city residents have learned the flavor of these game animals so common to the pioneers.

This season Alaska has been drawn on for novel game meat, and venison has been added to the menu of many families. One of the markets is offering cuts of this meat to its patrons, and several Christmas parties will bear a portion of a delicacy familiar to old Klondykers.

Jack Rabbits Proving Problem in East End

BURLEY, Dec. 24 (Special to The News)—T. B. Murray, Dore, state director of the United States biological survey, went to Odey and the surrounding district last week, in company with County Agent W. W. Palmer, to investigate the rabbit situation. It was found that the greater portion of these pests were still in the foothills, subsisting on the young growth of aspenbark. It is believed that they will give trouble to outlying ranches when the sage has been eaten off. In some districts in Cassia county, strychnine is being used on alfalfa for poisoning purposes, with fair results. Stormy weather and heavy frosts have leached out the poison to some extent, making it ineffective in some instances.

BURLEY ORGANIZATIONS OBSERVING CHRISTMAS

BURLEY, Dec. 24 (Special to The News)—Special Christmas services were observed in most of the churches of this city Sunday. Sunday school and junior entertainments and Christmas trees were given under the auspices of several churches in the evening. During the week, most of the lodges will have Christmas trees for the young folks.

The Elks lodge, a turkey shoot at the gun club traps Sunday to augment their Christmas gift fund. On Christmas day the lodge will give an annual Christmas party to Burley children. The party will be preceded by a picture show, given by E. H. Harris in conjunction with the Elks, to which all children are invited. This will be the sixth annual affair of the kind.

BABSON ASKS FAIR PLAY FOR RAILWAY ON PART OF PUBLIC

Carriers Need Sympathetic Study of Problems; Asserts Noted Bay State Statistician; Legislation Dangerous

(Special to The News) BABSON PARK, Mass., Dec. 22.—The railroad carriers stand in the position of reformers, asserted Roger W. Babson, Bay State statistician, in his report on the industry.

"Now, however, the railroads have learned the bitter lesson and are earnestly and efficiently serving the public interest. They still labor under the most stringent regulations inflicted upon any business in the country.

Railroads Important "In spite of the motor trucks, motor coaches, airplanes, automobiles, the railroads are still the backbone of our transportation system. Anything which cripples their efficiency will cripple business."

"The results of the last three years prove conclusively that our railroad maintenance are being neglected."

Efficiency "A few operating records may be cited to illustrate this."

"Second, the roads have instituted great economies in operation while providing increased service."

Revenues Declining "These gains in efficiency, economy, and improved service have been made in the face of declining freight and passenger traffic."

Wages Tend Upward "At the same time wages have continued to rise. Average earnings for all classes of railroad employees during the first eight months of 1928 were 3 1/2 cents per hour greater than in 1926."

than in the same period last year. This means that the roads had to pay out $20,000,000 more in wages.

Reduction Limit Near "The very serious question arises as to how much longer the reduction in railroad traffic, both passenger and freight, can go on, and still be offset by increased efficiency and operation at lower costs."

Consideration "Past experience with railroad consolidation plans shows clearly that this is a very complicated problem and will require a long time to settle."

The Settling of the Sage

By HAL G. EVARTS

It was a curious one of a vague sense of disappointment. She recalled that she had thought that she had to do something other than sit there and wait for the man who was the object of her love, and his main idea was that of providing her with shelter against all the possible vicissitudes of the weather? And what she wanted was to be part of things—in a hand in turning her own affairs.

"I don't want shelter?" she said. "And I can't think of anything else but after the Three Bar is a going concern."

The two went back and sat with the others round the dining fire, then all turned in for the night. In the morning breakfast was cooked under the supervision of the man in their bed robes with no other overhead shelter than the trees.

Next morning Denne was once more awakened by a clanging dinner bell. She was in the kitchen, and she found a few sticks of wood inside the flap of Millie's receipt.

Breakfast was cooked under the dripping roof. The outfit was packed up and the little procession filed away toward the next valley—and Charles Deane proved his real caliber to Harris.

Throughout the day they rode in a line, and in the thicker the wet branches whipped them and sprayed water down the sides of their sleds. In the hazy mists of the bottoms the mosquitoes hovered round them in annoying swarms. At night they made camp and slept in damp beds with the blankets not filling them. The next day was the same.
