PROHIBITION CHIEFS BRAND MILLS' PLAN 'MERELY OLD STUFF'

Federal Officials State Most of $25,000 Contest Winner's Suggestions Included in Dry Law Enforcement Machinery

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—Federal prohibition officials today expressed the opinion that the $25,000 prize-winning prohibition plan by Major Chester P. Mills was a good one but that practically all of his suggestions now were a part of the dry law enforcement machinery.

James M. Moran, prohibition commissioner, said he regarded Mills' proposal as "merely an exchange of old stuff for new money." Seymour Lockman, assistant secretary of the treasury in charge of prohibition enforcement, declared he had no criticism to offer except that Mills' suggestions already were being carried out to a large extent.

Mills, a former prohibition administrator for the New York district, was awarded the $25,000 contest prize for the best plan for enforcing the dry statute. Among other things, his proposal advocated curbing diversion of industrial alcohol, suppressing independent distilling plants, and a closer scrutiny of permits. He also urged that prohibition enforcement be taken out of politics.

Smuggling Chief Source
Doran today said the major source of illicit liquor was not diversion of industrial alcohol but rather the illicit distilling from grain and corn sugar. Diversion, he said, almost had been eliminated.

James P. McGovern, counsel for the industrial alcohol institute, in a statement took much issue with Mills' plan toward the prize winning enforcement plan as did Doran.

"Doran has purchased a sold price," McGovern said. "The Mills plan does not embrace a single proposition of merit that is not already provided for existing departmental policies and regulations in the enforcement of which tremendous headway has been made under Commander Doran's administration."

MILLS' SUCCESSOR SAVES PRIZE SUGGESTION HISTORY
NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—Major Campbell, successor to Major Chester P. Mills as prohibition administrator for the New York district, said today that Mills' prize-winning enforcement plan was not new, but was formulated and put into operation by Lincoln C. Andrews, former assistant secretary of the treasury in charge of prohibition enforcement.

"Major Mills has merely written history," Campbell said. "I am not going into a long story, but I do want to give credit to General Andrews. This plan of Mills has always been in operation since Andrews' time."

STUDENT VICTOR BELIEVES RESPECT FOR LAW VITAL
NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—Alfred D. Almuckh said after California's victory of the prohibition enforcement plan that won the $25,000 W. C. Durant prize offered to high schools, believes that the three essentials of law are better knowledge of the law, greater respect for the law and better administration of the law.

His plan, made public today by the prize committee, was characterized by Mr. Durant, in a letter to the youth, as the work of "a clear, earnest mind. The boy's effort won for himself a check for $25,000 and for his school $400. The grand prize in the contest was won by Major Chester P. Mills, former prohibition administrator of the New York district.

One hundred ninety-four high schools were entered in the contest for the prize offered by the W. C. Durant offer of $25,000 prize for the best solution of the legal problem, as described in a "real prohibition" by Dr. Ernest H. Campbell, in general received at the World League Against Alcoholism in a statement dated here today.

His suggestion and his school with the school offered by Major Chester P. Mills, New York, winner of the prize, but indicated to have been a copy of the "real prohibition" and the education of the people, as of much importance in the fight against alcohol.

WESTERNER SAYS MILLS' PLAN SAN FRANCISCO
SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 26.—The San Francisco prohibition administrator of southern California said today that Major Chester P. Mills' prize-winning dry law enforcement plan will not crack the courts at large.

Major Mills has formed his conclusion from the narrow New York circle in which he worked, said Robert H. Brown, "It is a local plan for a universal prohibition enforcement policy because it applies to one small prohibition only.

In California and in Detroit, Michigan, the problem deals with smuggling and with illicit liquor distilling. Major Mills makes no mention of these problems. What good will his plan do here? Here where we have no industrial alcohol problem?

ing "busday" from school, he received a grant from the United States troop ship to board an army train. The commutation to return to his job, leaving as he rode, he attempted to jump from the train. His arm was badly crushed that amputation was necessary.

Realizing that this physical handicap would handicap him in later life, he took a renewed interest in his studies, as he was graduated from the University of Tennessee in 1877 as valedictorian of his class, winner of the gold medal for excellence in student activities and senior captain of his battalion.

He immediately upon educational work, he served as tutor in Tennessee schools and for two years an assistant professor at the University of Tennessee. He went to Abbeville, South Carolina, as principal of grade schools and after two years was asked to organize the common system of Columbia, South Carolina. He remained as superintendent for three years, during which he conceived the idea of founding a college to train teachers, having encountered difficulty in obtaining competent instructors for the schools.

He interested Robert C. Winthrop, then chairman of the George Peabody Board, and obtained an appropriation of $1500 with which to establish the college. In 1878 the institution was removed to Rock Hill, South Carolina, and eventually was accepted as State Institute for the State since has made large appropriations to meet the expanding needs of the college.

Dr. Johnson's proud boast that "the sun never sets on Winthrop graduates," a reference to more than 16,000 graduates of the institution created over the earth.

Dr. Johnson was born in one of the dormitories of La Grande college January 18, 1826, and after later his father died and the family removed to Memphis. After entering upon educational work his interest in that field was excited after he returned to the National Education association, in which he had been elected since 1862 president of the National Association in 1914 and for 10 years previous to that time had served as president of various departments of the association. He also was president of the Southern Education association, having been elected in 1910 and served later his term as president of the National Association of the Young Men's Christian association. He organized the Columbia branch and for 10 years was its president.

He was elected as chairman of the state executive committee from 1892 to 1895 and was a member of the International Young Men's Christian association committee.

On August 6, 1902, Dr. Johnson married Miss M. L. Smith of Charleston, South Carolina.

Socialist Soviet Republics of Russia Make Marked Economic Development

(Written for The Associated Press) by Lev Michaelovich Kibchuk, vice-commissioner of trade, Union of Socialist Soviet Republics.

MOSCOW, Dec. 26.—The year growing to a close has witnessed marked and general progress in the economic development of the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics. The fact of this development is indisputable, a conclusion which the following figures will sustain.

In what might be classed as "big industry" production for 1927-28 exceeded the preceding year's output by 10.6 per cent. Yet the year 1927-28 gave an increase of 2.3 per cent over 1926-27. For the economic year which commenced October 1 we propose to increase the country's production 20 to 22 per cent beyond last year's figure.

The production of internal combustion engines in 1927-28 was 40 per cent above pre-war figures and agricultural machinery increased 20 per cent in the same time. During 1927-28 we plan to increase this production of agricultural machinery so that it will be 200 per cent above what it was in the preceding decade. In agriculture there has been a

EAST-WEST SQUADS GO THROUGH MOST STRENUOUS PERIODS

Long Scrimmages Features of Practice Sessions; Hoffman Center of Westerners' Offensive; Ticket Sales Large

(By The Associated Press.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 26.—The Eastern and Western football stars preparing for the East-West charity game here December 29, went through their hardest workouts today.

Long scrimmages featured the practices and every play that has been learned came up for airing. It was the first real scrimmage for the Western players and they performed satisfactorily in view of the short time for practice thus far.

Captain Olin E. Holmgren used several backfield combinations and switched his line around enough times to indicate that he had found his starting eleven. The offensive tactics, however, are being built around Bill Hoffman, Stanford fullback.

The Eastern squad, several days ahead of their rivals in the matter of practice, also slid through a vigorous training session. Though the work was somewhat ragged, Coach Andy Kern's men impressed critics as being considerably more polished than the West.

Both teams will have heavy training spells again tomorrow and will start off Friday with light practice.

Officials in charge of the contest, which is held as a benefit for the children of crippled children of San Francisco, announced that the ticket sale is much larger than for the previous three games, all of which have been played at the Kezar stadium, seating 60,000 persons, is expected to be nearly filled.

It is planned to have an arena seating 12,000.

SPORT SLANTS

BY ALAN J. GOULD
 Associated Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.

Down the amateur-professional situation among the meta topics of sport to be well aired in 1929.

Swimming has drawn the latest interest for the "pro" ranks in Johnny Van Sant, and the hardy, hardy sport man that isn't interested in amateurism.

"I am getting in an age where I must look to the future and try to earn some money, something an athlete in constant training finds it hard to do," says Van Sant, the fastest "human fish."

Joe Ray, after quite a few years of medal collecting, expressed some similar sentiments, "I don't know how long I can keep it up," he remarked for the gate receipts in the "Coca-Cola" contest to yield to commercial persuasion.

"I have a family to support and I must do something," he complained.

John Vincent Richards in effect about two years ago when he took the step into professional tennis, along with some other stars at Howard Kinsey, Mary K. Browne, and Suzanne Lenglen.

College stars such as Bruce Child, Owen Gerrard, Pennie Noyes, and Benny Friedman had attractive offers awaiting them in professional baseball or football when they quit the campus life.

Tommy Armour became national champion at age 27 last year after turning 29.

Bonny, like baseball, looks on the amateur class as more or less of a prep school for pro activity.

In the face of tempting offers made to him it will be all the more remarkable if Ed Davis, tennis, sticks to amateur football, but the Finn's ultimate status will be a subject of interest during the new year.

Chicago Mentor Believes No Individual Qualified to Select Mythical Star Eleven

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 26.—Four years ago Stagg, University of Chicago, reached New Orleans today to attend the annual meeting of the National Association of Football Coaches with the opinion that selection of an all-American team is "absurd."

"Why? It takes a football expert to choose the second half of a football game where the first half is left off and in the case of a tie, to declare the team victorious which had the most first downs, he said. The coaches' meeting opens tomorrow and most of the midwestern teams are expected on early morning trains. Coach Stagg was the only one invited today.

GEORGIA TEAM AND GOLDEN BEARS NEAR PEAK OF CONDITION

Sectional Elevens Swing Into Training; Western Mentor Lightens Work of Charges; Squads Alternate in Bowl

(By The Associated Press.)
PASADENA, Dec. 26.—Indications that the Yellow Jackets of Georgia and the Golden Bears of California are near the peak of physical shape and team work for the New Year's day clash at the Rose bowl here, became sharply outlined today as the two sectional representative elevens swung into a steady training stride.

Having expanded to workouts into a period of six days, Coach Niles, who had decided to lighten the physical drudgery of his Golden Bear footballers, satisfied with the way they have been progressing, the California mentor announced that starting tomorrow the elevens will alternate in workouts a day.

To date Price has been sending his squad through two practices daily in training camp. Word from the temporary home of the Golden Bears described the Southern outfit as being in great shape for the contest.

The Yellow Jackets have had three workouts on Southern California soil and will continue their own practice here tomorrow. They will alternate with Bears in the use of the Rose bowl as a training turf.

At the Hotels EXPERTS' GROUP TO STUDY REPARATIONS

Technical Aspects of Franco-German Problems Will Have Consideration of Committee

PARIS, Dec. 26.—The forthcoming meeting of experts, including the American financial members who will make a new study of the reparations problem, has the strongest kind of competition for public interest in the general anxiety of the French during the holiday week for anything but the year-end celebrations.

Considerable comment has been provoked, however, by dispatches from Germany quoting Chancellor Mueller concerning the right of the Americans to dispose of themselves and the right of Germany to demand evacuation of the Rhineland.

The chancellor's remarks are interpreted by the French press generally as amounting to a declaration that "Anschluss" or the union of Germany and Austria, must be put along with the reparations as the chief of future Franco-German relations. To this Le Temps says that the nationalistic could not have gone farther from the common ground of conciliation fixed at Locarno.

In general, however, the papers take the position that speakers on any side of the problem are superfluous now since the experts will report in their own names on the technical aspects of Franco-German problems leaving the political phases to be dealt with by government, while the experts' report itself will be subjected to revision or rejection if not found acceptable to all parties.

PHYSICIANS FEAR TO Operate to Take Toy From Baby's Throat

CINCINNATI, Dec. 26.—Tonight, marked the close of the eleventh day since Frank Brooker, an 18-month-old baby, accidentally swallowed a small toy motorcycle which lodged in his throat.

Doctors physicians said the child had died since being brought to a hospital here for an operation.

They physicians said the child had contracted pneumonia and that his condition had become so weakened an operation was inadvisable at this time.

Although the toy motorcycle was about one and one-half inches long, with a miniature man mounted on it, the child has been well fed, authorities said, being given milk and broth through the mouth.

WOOL ASSOCIATION PAYS OUT $300,000

Pacific Cooperative Marketing Organization Makes Final Settlement On Year's Pool

PORTLAND, Dec. 26 (Special to The News)—Christmas checks totaling $300,000 have been mailed to 2200 members of the Pacific Cooperative Wool Growers association since December 10, according to a report just issued by R. A. Ward, general manager of the association. Those mailed to Idaho stockmen cover final settlements on the year's pool. "These settlements," he said, "represent only a very small portion of the money received by the grower for his cash and wool as at shearing time and since have been by far the greater portion of the price they received for their wool."

A very large percentage of the growers having better quality farm flock wool realized from 30 to 40 cents a pound in their shipping price, and in a few cases the price was as high as 42 cents. The clean wool per head of sheep and range ewes, though bringing the same clean price as did the lighter farm flock wool, is more and grows in bunch slightly less a pound. Mr. Ward pointed out that shearing weights per head on his own flock were usually considerably higher than on the lighter farm flock wool as the grower actually received about as much money per head of sheep as does the man who has the lighter fleece. The association reports a very good year for wool in 1928. A definite program for a greater expansion during 1929 is now being planned out by the membership and directors of the association.

SOCIETY AND CLUBS

Edited by Mrs. E. M. Williams Room 356

Quite the smartest event of the holiday season was the dance given by the American Association of University Women and the Pan-Hellenic club Wednesday evening in the Elks. Three favor dances were given, favor for the first being whitelets in the form of cigarettes for the women, and favor for the men being a delicious buffet supper was served at eleven o'clock, followed immediately by a frozen lollipop dance. The third was a snowball frolic. A huge paper snowball was thrown from the balcony breaking apart in the fall and distributing snowballs among the dancers, at the same time confetti was given the merry makers contributing a colorful carnival effect. Adding to the attractiveness of the affair was the beautiful red and green of the Christmas decorations in the hall. Many college songs were played during the evening by Bennett's orchestra which furnished music. About one hundred fifty couples were in attendance. Mrs. Kenneth Beach was general chairman on arrangements and was ably assisted by Mrs. C. A. Bailey, Mrs. Carl Brown, Miss Agnes Skirgvedt, Miss Gladys Conner, Miss Ruth Syster, Miss Nancy Smith, and Miss Thelma Tolleson.

Commenting Miss Helen Knapp, vice chairman to M. B. Miller, Chicago, was announced recently. Mrs. C. D. Thomas and Mrs. Pauline Schwarz entertained with a bridge supper and personal shower, Friday evening at the Elks. Dinner on Seventh Avenue North. Supper was served at seven o'clock at five small tables, each centered with a lighted candle in a metal holder. Place cards and other decorations followed the Christmas motif. After the games, Santa Claus arrived dressed in a red and white outfit. From the red hat Santa presented a prize for high score at each table. These points to Misses Gladys Conner, Eva Dunham, Maxine Smith, Mayne Swan, and Eunice Fike. Miss Angela Berkwith received consolation flags of candy and nuts were given the other tables. Santa then telling that the lavender

The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. White on Blue Lakes Boulevard North was the scene of a pretty wedding Christmas eve at eight-thirty o'clock. When their daughter, Miss Florence Snow, White became the bride of Wayne Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Johnson. The bridal party included Mr. and Mrs. Thomas White, attendants, stood before the fireplace adorned with Christmas greens and lighted lamps as Rev. C. W. Peterson, pastor of the Presbyterian church, read the marriage ceremony. The bride wore a handsome gown of peach tulle and Mrs. Thomas White, a frock of black transparent velvet. Both Mr. and Mrs. Johnson are graduates of Twin Falls High School and will make their home here. Mr. Johnson being with the General-Walker-Sorenson Lumber Company.

Dr. and Mrs. O. A. Fuller entertained Christmas day with a delightful dinner for Dr. and Mrs. S. Leese, Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Fuller, Mrs. Ruth Woodhead, and Mrs. Howard and Dick. Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. George Masthoth joined the party.

HIGH WINDS CAUSE SNOW TO DRIFT IN AMSTERDAM

AMSTERDAM, Dec. 26 (Special to The News)—High winds and moderating weather of the last few days have caused snow in the vicinity to drift, especially on the ice-travelled roads. Several families were forced to stop and draw pass-anchors to the highway Christmas morning. A light rain fell Monday night which tended to settle the snow and present a treacherous condition. Cloudy and threatening weather prevailed during Christmas day and a light snow fell early in the evening.

Amsterdammers celebrated Christmas with home gatherings of relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. John Farmer and daughter, Alice, had as Christmas dinner several families. Mr. and Mrs. E. Kunkel and family, Amsterdammers, and Mrs. Emma Kuhn, Mrs. Dove White and Mrs. Deibel and family. Mr. and Mrs. Beryl Kunkel and

CASTLEFORD CHURCHES CELEBRATE CHRISTMAS

CASTLEFORD, Dec. 26 (Special to The News)—One of the best Christmas programs ever presented in Castleford was a pageant at the Methodist Episcopal church Christmas eve, directed by Mrs. W. J. Burke and Mrs. M. A. Kroyer. Santa Claus appeared after the program and distributed treats to the members of the Sunday school.

The Baptist church also had a program and treat on the same evening. Miss Nora Stockham, who has been visiting for a few weeks with her sister, Mrs. A. Vogel, returned last week to her home in Colorado.

Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Hayes and family are spending the holidays at their home here. Ormond Thomas and Miss Gladys Thomas, University of Idaho; Earl Hudson, Miss Marie Hudson, Miss Faye Davis, and Hugh Wilson, Albion Normal school.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Heller had as Sunday dinner guests, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Neumann, Twin Falls; Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Halverson and family, Kimberly, and Mr. and Mrs. Anderson, Bull.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Thomas and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas and family, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Brown and daughter, Ruth, Mr. and Mrs. Nelbrook and son, Jimmie, and Mr. and Mrs. Jay Wilkinson, Bull, enjoyed Christmas dinner at the home of Miss Margaret Thomas.

Mrs. Julius Schalte has returned from the hospital much improved. Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Harrison had as guests Christmas, Mrs. Devine and sons, and Chris Hesselholt and Soren Hesselholt.

Every woman's club has issued invitations for a dance to be given Friday.

Miss Laura Lynn, a former teacher here and now a teacher in the Boise high school, spent the week-end with Miss Margaret Thomas.

Mrs. Pearl Jones, teacher in draughts in Spokane high school, is spending the holidays at the home of her aunt, Mrs. E. D. Logan. On Sunday Mrs. Logan had as dinner guests, the Misses Laura Lynn, Margaret

'Old West' Remains On Arizona Frontier

Days of the "Old West" have not passed forever. In the vast territory of the Painted Desert in northern Arizona, smoke still rises from the adventurer's campfires and here and there in that vast and picturesque landscape, a lone Indian, plodding his way toward the Navajo reservation near Flagstaff, can be seen. Into this spot, one of the few remaining frontiers of white man civilization, a troupe of Paramount moving picture workers penetrated for the making of "Avalanche." Zane Grey's latest story of the romantic West, Otto Brower, newly appointed director, headed the troupe and Jack Holt, lead actor, John Barrow and Doris Hill were in the company.

"Avalanche," which will show at the Idaho theatre for two days, starting tomorrow, is a story of the old days of wagon trains and gamblers.

Advertisements bring you useful news

Only yesterday, it seems, we read of balloon tires, radio, electric ranges. Today they count as necessities and magic newcomers are knocking at our doorways . . . electric refrigeration . . . the oil-burning furnace . . . a phonograph that changes its own records.

Even as you read these lines, men in Chicago and Atlanta, Philadelphia and Detroit, are patiently putting together strange devices that, tomorrow, will save labor, cut costs, or give pleasure.

When these inventions become practical, advertisements will be the first to tell you about them: What they will do; how much they cost; where you can get them.

Advertisements bring you personal news, information about the material things that increase your health, comfort and happiness. They tell you the latest practical news phrased in words that are brief, understandable and honest. They help you save money and enjoy the best things in life.

"Where are you doing up here?" she demanded without delay.
"Up here with the Three Bar wagon, and Carp worked with you for a spell, so we got the range," Hearty explained. "I wish you'd go to drift any stray horse south."

The third morning out it was the hour of the day when a heavy drizzle dangled from the low of the world and hid its clammy touch on all living things. The condition prevailed all through the day and shortly after five o'clock the drizzle turned to rain, now falling straight and soft, again in loose squalls without varying stops. A sudden light rain had been checked for a while. The wagon stood close under a broad bill at the mouth of a valley.
