TRANSITION ERA OF INDUSTRIES PRESENT SAYS ROGER DABSON

New Sources of Employment Must Be Found to Care for Workmen Being Replaced by Automatic Control Machines

By ROGER W. DABSON
RABSON PARK, Miss., Jan. 11.—Recent employment statistics are encouraging. They reflect a decrease in general industrial and business activity that has occurred this fall and winter. For November, 1928, the level of employment in manufacturing industries was 2 per cent higher than the same month last year and 2.5 per cent higher than the corresponding month of 1927. This means that the purchasing power of the excellent holiday trade which merged with the autumnal sales season was in no small measure caused by the recent better trend of employment. We are entering the new year with a generally satisfactory employment situation.

This does not mean, however, that our employment troubles are all over. On the contrary we are facing today one of the most serious problems in this connection that we have ever had to meet. I refer to the readjustment of the millions of workers released from their jobs by the installation of automatic and semi-automatic machinery. The introduction of other efficiency devices, it is indeed a tribute to the adaptability and initiative of American industry that we have not had before now an unemployment problem of staggering proportions despite our high rate of industrial production.

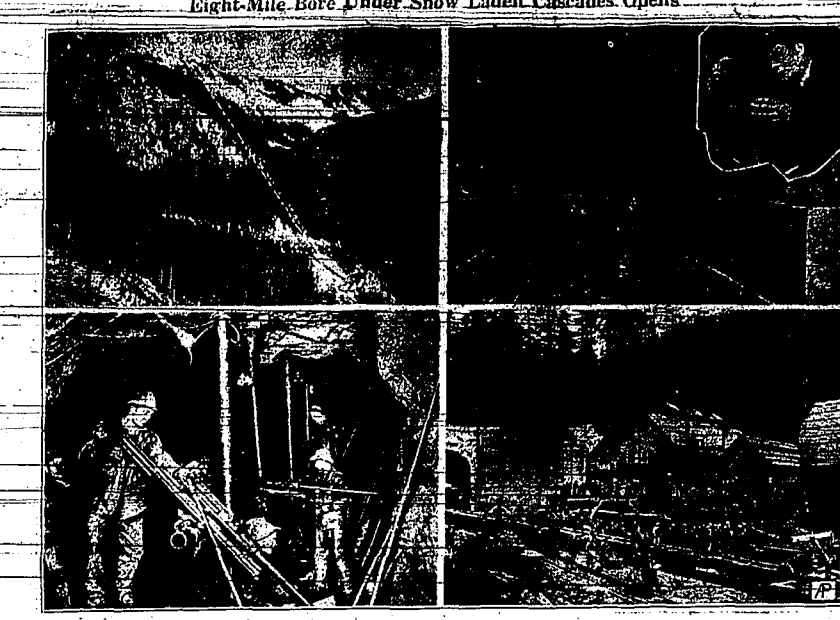

"Machine Made" Unemployed
According to government figures, about 2,000,000 jobs have been eliminated by machinery in the last five years. We see this occurring in every phase of industry. For illustration, it takes only one man to do the work of 40 in the production of open-hearth steel. Again, where 120 men were formerly required for loading and unloading of automobiles, now only one man is needed. In the brick industry one machine can manufacture about 100 times as many bricks in a day as 100 men could 20 years ago. And we are producing three times as many automobiles as we were before the war, with the number of men employed no greater. I do not decry the use of machinery or efficiency devices in industry. They are long and have resulted in great progress and benefit to everybody, including the workers themselves. They have made production cheaper, and this saving in turn is passed along to consumers in the form of more goods at lower prices. Hence, our business depression has been rising while this eliminating process has been going on; and it will continue to rise until the readjustment program can be carried on in the future in an orderly manner.

Absorption in Industry
What bothers me is the danger that we may not develop new outlets for our released manpower that are as large as the ones which are being lost. The question is asked, "What has become of these 2,000,000 people who have been released from their jobs in the last seven years? Doubtless they have been mostly absorbed in new industries or in the greatly increased output of existing industries and present industries. We have seen the radio, the electric refrigerator, the electric vacuum cleaner, the electrical appliances and rayon, all become the basis of great industries in themselves, things which were not even dreamed of 20 years ago. These, and other new industries, have taken care of most of the surplus labor force.

Our higher standard of living has made it possible for us to buy the products of these new industries. Our increasing output of these products and our common have resulted in our vacuum cleaners, gas heaters and many other new things which provide work for thousands of men in connection with their production, distribution and servicing.

We have seen that every corner, gasoline filling stations by the tens of thousands, new restaurants, tourist camps, and many other things unknown 30 years ago. We have an army of insurance agents, thousands of salesmen and canvassers, large finance companies, clerical staffs to handle installment business, and so on through a wide range of activities. These have built up in the last few years.

Use of Machinery Sound
I have said that fundamentally this subject is not a new one. It is economically sound and desirable. That is because when we reduce the cost of production we are able to produce more things than we need in the establishment of new industries and new services. That is why things that were not even dreamed of 20 years ago are now necessities, because such capital has been employed in the production of these new things which were not even dreamed of 20 years ago. It is not a new thing, but it is a new thing in our time.

THE LONGEST TUNNEL in the Western Hemisphere, built in the state of Washington at a cost of $14,000,000 by the Great Northern railroad, is ready for use. Upper left, the shaft of the tunnel; upper right, a position of the big hoist; lower left, men at work in its construction; and lower right, the east portal as the first work train emerged from it. Inset, Colonel Frederick Meigs, one of the engineers. It will be dedicated tonight. The work of the first train passing through will be carried to the far corners of the earth by an elaborate radio hookup. The program starting at 7 P. M. Mountain Standard time, includes President-elect Hoover who will give an address.

ble industry. Probably nine out of 10 automobile garage mechanics at some time worked in an automobile factory. For a long time retail stores were untouched by the labor saving devices, but today we see entering the automobile salesmen, the self-service store and similar methods of cutting down labor costs.

Need for Vocational Help
"We can hardly name a phase of our business activity today, either in the office, factory, or store that is not being subjected to the closest examination to determine wherein labor saving machines or methods can be established. What we need in order to prevent our labor-saving devices from proving themselves a curse is the aid of vocational guidance in our schools and colleges, and we need more effective agencies to aid in the placement of the temporary unemployed to new jobs.

This is not merely an academic problem. It is a business problem. It is a problem that requires constructive action by all those who have the continuance of our present prosperity at heart. An unbalanced and fluctuating employment situation is nearly as bad as a general condition of unemployment caused by business depression. Certainly serious mismanagement of employment can create a business depression if it affects the purchasing power of any substantial proportion of our population.

Business men have come to realize that steady work and good wages are the best way to keep the business going. There has been some talk of eliminating seasonal shut-downs of plants through the use of machinery and automation, although much more remains to be done in that direction. However, the need of the hour is for widespread adjustment of both employers and employees on the real meaning of the "machine age."

TAX LAW'S VALIDITY WILL COME TO TEST
Action to Recover Possession of Lands Seized by County Before Boise Federal Court
Test of validity of provisions of Idaho tax law effective since 1919 is involved by the suit filed by K. Hackman, Twin Falls attorney, in federal district court at Boise, for Mrs. E. A. Lake, "California" citizen, against Twin Falls county and Oliver W. Marsden. The suit was brought to recover possession of three lots in Boise, which the county seized in 1925 for delinquent taxes and sold at private sale to Marsden. Mrs. Lake also asks $2500 damages and $10000 costs.

In Mrs. Lake's behalf it is alleged that the entire proceedings and the tax laws under which such proceedings were conducted are void under the federal constitution, in that no opportunity is permitted for judicial investigation of the validity of the taxes as declared delinquent until declared to the county and sold. Prior to adoption of present law Idaho courts were required to bring suit to foreclose delinquent tax claims.

WEST END BOYS AND GIRLS DEFEAT FILER

Indian Co-Eds Take Opening Contest by Score of 27-10; Quintets' Game Ends, 27-17

BUIL, Jan. 11 (Special to The News)—Buhl high school girls and boys' basketball teams were tonight by Filer. The boys' game resulted in a 27-10 score and the girls' 27-10.

The first half of the girls' game saw most of the play at the Buhl basket, the strength of the Indian back and center courts giving the forwards many chances, especially in the second quarter which showed the fastest play of the game and produced 11 points for Buhl. At the end of the half the score was 17 to 4.

In line with its usual policy Coach Buhl sent in many substitutes after the game was well in hand, and while Buhl had superior scoring power in each quarter the pace was slowed somewhat when the first string players were withdrawn.

Face Strong Team In the first half eight fouls were called on the Filer team. This seemed to take some of edge from their attack. Play was hard, Filer players knew they were facing a strong team, and the anxiety of the players to give all they had led to unintentional infractions of the rules.

Filer forwards did not have many opportunities to score, due to the difficulty the Filer team found in working the ball down the floor against Buhl's defense. The forwards made the most of what field chances came to them, however, the 10 points all coming by the field goal.

Buhl Boys Win In the second game the Buhl boys took an early lead and increased it with each quarter until the score stood 27 to 17, at the end, play was fast and hard, offensive being prominent on both teams during the first quarter to hold the game within bounds. Buhl's field play was the faster, and seemed better balanced, a quick-breaking attack being varied by a limited cross-court play that led to scores.

On offense Buhl seemed to have consistent strength, although the lack of the Filer players broke up many of Buhl's plays.

Filer appeared unable to get her usual team work under way. In the second half the style was changed to match speed with speed, but it was unsuccessful in stopping Buhl, or in cutting down the lead.

Homey Hudson, Boise, was referee for the boys and kept the play in close control and moving swiftly.

McLARRIN DEFEATS GLICK IN 10-ROUND SPECTACULAR FIGHT

Capacity Crowd of 19,500 Fans Witnesses Stirring Struggle; Before Main Bout Audience Pays Tribute to Tex-Rickard

(By The Associated Press) NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Fighting in his "lucky" ring, Jimmy McLarrin, blue-eyed Irish lad from Vancouver, stepped back among the top notchers tonight by whaling Joe Glick, tough Brooklyn lightweight, inch-defeat in a blood-tinged 10-round battle, at Madison Square Garden.

The stirring struggle before a capacity crowd of more than 19,500, re-opened the arena to hosting after the death of Tex Rickard.

The baby-faced Glick, cool as ever, fighting fast and deadly with both fists, was the same punching terror New York has known in the past, apparently fully recovered from his recent technical knockout at the hands of Ray Miller in Detroit.

The Williamsburg joller ranked as the outstanding lightweight contender and a two-fisted wildcat at the opening of the fight. In the first round, rallied in the eighth and battered Jimmy in the tenth session.

In the other seven rounds McLarrin had a clear margin. There were no knockdowns and the decision of the two judges and referee was unanimous.

Bruce Flowers, negro lightweight from New Rochelle, New York, scored a technical knockout over Eddie Guido, Saratoga, New York, youth, in the ninth round of a 10-round semi-final.

The negro swarmed all over Guido and cut him so badly about the mouth, nose and left eye that the referee stopped the match. Flowers weighed 175, Guido 134. Stanislaus Lozay, lightweight from Philadelphia, forced a 10-round preliminary.

What's become of all the homely women?

MORONI OLSEN PLAYERS - IN - "Autumn Fire" Orpheum Theatre Thursday Evening, January 17 RESERVED SEATS AT MAJESTIC PHARMACY BEGINNING THIS MORNING (SATURDAY) AT 11 A. M.

What's become of all the homely women? Women simply aren't homely any more. You meet plain women, yes... but their smart, trim air is the envy of many who are only beautiful. In the old days, when a girl gave promise of becoming "hopelessly plain," she was frankly informed of the fact to save her from hurt pride in later years. She remained frumpy and tried to convince herself that she didn't care! Not today! Advertising has played a remarkable part in making every woman attractive. It has taught her to use the beauty and charm that are her heritage, regardless of the shape of her features. Her teeth, her hair, her hands, her complexion, her clothes, and even her erect, athletic figure have been "brought out" by methods constantly before her. The great beauty and style specialists of the country have been her consultants, as they are yours, if you are taking fullest advantage of the opportunities before you every day, in the advertising columns of this newspaper. Read the advertisements. They hold secrets of beauty and style that were denied the women of yesterday.

SHIPPING OF WHEAT LOWERS QUOTATIONS

Final Prices For Bread Cereals in Chicago—Unsettled; Corn and Oats Finish Unchanged

Nearly 10,000,000 bushels of wheat were shown today to have come out of Argentina and Australia in the last week, curtailing to that extent the needs of other countries for wheat from North America.

JURY ACQUITS TWIN FALLS PRODUCE MAN

Verdict Favors Alvin Harbourn in Trial on Alleged Violation of Standardization Law

A jury in probate court here yesterday acquitted Alvin Harbourn, Twin Falls farmer-produce dealer, on trial on a misdemeanor charge of having shipped out of the state a carload of potatoes in unbranded containers.

Violation of regulations promulgated by the state department of agriculture under provisions of state law pertaining to standardization of farm products was alleged in this action which was regarded as a "best case."

The complaint was prepared by the chief field inspector for the state department of agriculture.

Present Certificates Counsel for the prosecution introduced in evidence the certificates of inspection and testimony of Charles L. Tipton, deputy state and federal inspector.

No testimony was offered in Mr. Harbourn's behalf, but his attorney, Stuart L. Hoelke and Harry Broad, cross-examined the inspector closely with regard to inspection methods, and in argument attacked the validity of the laws and regulations in question.

The jury returned its verdict within a half hour after receiving the case.

Members of the jury were: J. Paul Johnson, Joe Hardy, A. O. Madland, W. H. Mills, H. B. Johnson, J. P. Avant.

IN THE NEWS SHOPPER

THIS COLORFUL ERA. We rarely content any more, with things that look like the things of anything must conform to beauty, or one's idea of beauty, in shape and color. And how colorful have our eyes become!

Color trends us at the door in the new draperies, the furnishings, the tapestries, and the upholstery—there is no end to the color. In the dining room, you will find exquisite dishes and glassware in blue, rose, green, or even orchid, while the table linen has taken to color, either solid, white, or with colored borders. And even the silver service has become brightly tinted with color.

In the table linen, I found a number of attractive sets. But the ones I liked best of all was a set of napkins and cloth of lovely linen, in the shades of color, either solid, white, or green, and another set in the white. Somehow, though some of them were very lovely, I didn't care so much for the colored borders as I did for the solid colors.

As for the dresses—the clear, tinted glassware, sleek a responsive chord, how I do like those lovely shades of green, rose, or that delicate, opalescent rainbow tinted glassware.

For the kitchen, the electric range, the plumbing fixtures, the cabinets—their color—these have taken to color. Cooking utensils come in shades of blue, green, yellow, white, or even white with color scheme of your kitchen best. And the sink is installed in the color you prefer, so that
