$828,090 BILL FOR STATE INSTITUTIONS GOES TO BALDRIDGE

Senator Callahan Announces Plan for Commission of Six Officials to Map Out All Future Building Programs

(By The Associated Press) BOISE, Feb. 16—Plans for a commission of six state officials to map out all future building at the state institutions was announced in the senate today by Senator Callahan, chairman of the finance committee, in explaining the first of the big appropriation bills to reach the senate for final passage.

The bill called for an appropriation of $828,090 for the state charitable and penal institutions and passed the senate without a dissenting vote. It involved an increase of $62,840 over last biennium which he explained as allowing for the building of new state asylums at Blackfoot and Orofino. He said another bill was to be introduced in the near future to add $850,000 to the appropriation for Blackfoot to permit completion of a new building needed there to house the increasing number of inmates.

The new commission, Senator Callahan explained, would be composed of the governor, the commissioners of public welfare and public works, the president of the board of education, the treasurer and the attorney general. World Investigate Needs This commission would investigate the building needs of all state institutions with a view to having before the legislature each session a comprehensive building program for the institutions that would provide for the needs not only of one biennium but of future years.

Charges Fraud! The Missouri Democrat contended that the United States is in a "crisis of hypocrisy and cant, of violence chicanery, false pretense and fraud" and predicted that the time would come when the American people would awaken to the view that "the prohibitory law is the worst crime that has ever taken place in the history of the world."

The Jones bill to increase penalties for prohibition law violators was the order of business in the senate and a previous several debate on the measure would have been limited after 4 P. M. Monday. At the request of Senator Borah four additional hours of previous session was provided. Reed said that in time prohibition will "come to an ignominious end."

Laughter on Floor At Kansas City, he went on, turning to the Republican side of the chamber, leading official prohibitionists were paying the bills in the hotels from $7 to $10 a pint "for a class of whiskey that no respectable Missourian would ever think of drinking." There was (Continued On Page 2, Column 2) owned cars and another giving cities a greater share of the highway funds.

The Weather

IDAHO: Cloudy and unsettled; probably light snow; normal temperature.

Old 801 kept drawing the mercury down to 40 degrees was recorded against 38 Friday. The minimum went up from 11 to 28 above. The milder atmosphere brought a large crowd to Twin Falls.

The bill introduced after convening this morning. Senator Van Hoesen moved to have the bill referred to the judiciary committee, explaining he questioned its constitutionality. Immediately Senator Milchell, Canyon county, champion of the measure was on his feet to declare that the motion was aimed only at diverting the bill from its proper channel. Senator Murray also joined in a defense of the bill.

This last remark drew from Senator Callahan, a member of the judiciary committee, a declaration that the lawyers making up that body were as good as any in the state and if the bill needed examination as to its constitutionality, it would be better fitted to make such examination. Van Hoesen's motion was lost, as was his attempt, yesterday, to have the bill sent into indefinite postponement. A bill carrying out the provisions of one of the new amendments to the constitution relating to salaries for prosecuting attorneys, was forced into committee of the whole for amendment by a raking fire turned upon it by Senator Treiber, Latah county. Senator Treiber said the local units were already piling the people deep in debt for governmental purposes and that it was necessary to increase the salaries of prosecuting attorneys. Joining his attack on this bill with another one proposing to increase salaries of judges, he declared the two bills would add $50,000 to the tax burden of the state and the burden would be born by the farmers of the state.

PROHIBITION-DRAWN TORRENTS OF SCORN FROM SENATOR REED

laughter from floor and gallery and attendants hushed down this infraction of the rules.

"Prohibition is the breeding place of crime because there has been driven from the open into the dark the liquor business," he declared. "It has been taken out of the hands of a class of people who were law abiding and put into the hands of people who will violate the law as soon as they begin to act as criminals. It has been compelled to seek the shadows and the night and then what follows? The men engaged in this illicit business proceed to make their arrangements with the officers of the law and grant—and should become the common practice of the hour—bribery, graft and blackmail to the United States in the last 18 months. I never entered a state, a city, a town or a village where I was not fettered, liquor and where a few minutes of brighter light traveled ceaselessly over the distilleries were all around the towns and all around the villages and that liquor could be obtained anywhere.

"There is not a policeman in a city of the United States who cannot collect enough evidence in 24 hours to keep the courts busy for 24 months. Reed read amounts alleged to have been paid Philadelphia policemen to shield bootleggers.

"Bribery, graft," he thundered, pounding his desk with his fist. Just then the time of Senator Reed expired.

"Mr. President," called several senators to have permission for the Missouriian to go on.

"It won't be long," pleaded Senator Bruce, Democrat, Maryland, "before we will hear that entrancing voice no longer."

"You haven't heard a temperance lecturer since the Volstead act was passed. You have heard only demands for stiffer enforcement and observance of the law."

"They don't say now, we'll repeal the prohibitions," but we'll shut 'em up in the penitentiaries.

"Once man believed the law was made for punishment and not for redemption. Witches were burned, men were hung, and the strength of heroes. Then came the day of greater humanity and it was decided that laws should be made to reform culprits."

"That is the law! What a monstrous thing it is! As it stands, for a single violation penalties can be piled up as great as those for manslaughter and homicide and that are altogether in disharmony with the penalties for other crimes."

Then the Missouriian gave his colleagues a recipe for making home brew and set down with an announcement he would have more to say on Monday.

"Time was granted after Borah gave notice that he had something to say. The senate settled down to listen to him although the hour was growing late.

"Bribery, graft," Reed thundered again, pouring scorn on the profit can be made from distilling liquor in a wash boiler than can be made in banking.

"You haven't heard a temperance lecturer since the Volstead act was passed. You have heard only demands for stiffer enforcement and observance of the law."

"They don't say now, we'll repeal the prohibitions," but we'll shut 'em up in the penitentiaries.

ANNOUNCEMENT!

The Directors of the Twin Falls Amusement Company, a home organization operating the Orpheum Theatre in our City, wish to announce that equipment to present Talking Pictures will soon be installed at the Orpheum.

So many improvements and changes have come to pass in this new novelty of sound and talking pictures, in such a short time that it has been well to use caution and give careful thought and comparison to the different equipments that have been offered.

Our foremost thought has been to secure the very latest and best—so as to have perfection in sound as nearly as possible, and of the standard suitable for the Orpheum, which for acoustics and architecture is equal to anything in the state of Idaho.

The order for this installation was placed some time ago—we had all assurances and fully anticipated having the equipment completed on February fifteenth, but because of unavoidable delays caused by the influenza epidemic in the East and the immense volume of orders placed, we have been advised that our installation date has been postponed to March fifteenth.

The following telegram is our assurance that we can anticipate results soon:

of the "purple gang" of Detroit, identified from photographs by rooming-house operators across the street from the hotel rooms there shortly before the killings.
The other line of inquiry lay in tracing trucks found in the streets where the Moran gang were killed and in an effort to trace "hit" police squad following reports that such a car was used by the killers to escape.
Draws Rebuke From Doran
A theory expressed yesterday by Major F. D. Sillway, assistant prohibition administrator, that real prohibition men and not gangsters wearing uniforms were the killers, remained without substantiation. Major Sillway left his office this morning to expect to meet some one who would help verify his theory but returned later stating that he had been "unable" to make connections. His theorizing drew a rebuke from Prohibition Commissioner Doran in Washington.
The bodies of the gang members slain have been claimed by relatives. Funeral services will be held Monday. For Peter and Frank Guseber, principal lieutenant of George (Bugs) Moran, expensive caskets have been purchased with indications they would be buried with some of the slain display and pomp affected by relatives of slain gangsters a few years ago. For the other five, however, simple services were planned.

the midst of a rapidly disappearing class of Americans—pioneers who look hopefully to him for federal aid in their undertaking to reclaim a vast domain, called the last of America's frontiers.
The next president had his first real view of the damage done by the overflowing lake soon after his left Cleveland, his automobile being forced to take a mucky road hastily constructed to replace the fine state highway which had been destroyed by the rising lake water.
South bay was the first of the three flood-stricken towns reached and Mr. Hoover left his car to inspect all the damages and the work of restoration.
While the towns along the route through the flood district furnished mute evidence of the catastrophe of last September, it was in the country between below that Hoover's mission was found—the most grim reminders. At one place he passed spots which had become the funeral pyres of hundreds of those who were drowned and whose bodies remained for days under muck and debris.

FAMOUS MEN MOURN JOURNALIST'S DEATH

row received today were telegrams and cables from men in The Associated Press office all over the world. Chief Justice William Howard Taft said:
"I am very sorry to hear of the death of Mr. McVieville E. Stone. I knew him for a great many years and valued his friendship. Without knowing the minutia of the improvements he made in The Associated Press, I know enough to know that his newspaper fraternity and the public owe much to him for what he did to promote the spread of public news."
General John J. Pershing said: "It is with great regret that I learn of the death of McVieville E. Stone. He was one of the great men of our time. I remember him especially when he visited American headquarters during the war."
The Associated Press to the cause of the Allies, especially in America. He was a fine example to the press at large as a man of public ideals. His deepest sympathy goes out to his family."
George Clemenceau, France's war time premier, said:
"I am deeply moved by news of the death of the grand old man of the press. He conferred great distinction on his profession. He was an honor to his country."
Roy W. Howard, chairman of the board, Scripps-Howard newspapers, said:
"The name of McVieville E. Stone and that of The Associated Press, a great man and a great organization, are inseparably interwoven. The Associated Press organization rightly claims McVieville Stone as its own, but all American journalism is heir to his memory. The name of McVieville E. Stone is the principle of cooperative news gathering and dissemination. But his contribution to American newspaper development was greater than that, in that he more than any other man raised the standard of ethics and fixed firmly an American journalistic principle of absolute impartiality and complete separation of fact and opinion in news reporting."

Mistakes

All worry, of course, in useless, but if there is one kind that is more useless than another it is worry over mistakes that have been made and cannot be corrected. It is the only thing that you can do to avoid a mistake is to check it off your mind and think of it no more. When you have to answer for the mistake, meet the situation as best you can. ASA KEYES: There is more than a little of irony in the situation revealed by reports that Asa Keyes, former Los Angeles district attorney...

Probably fifty per cent of the prisoners in San Quentin have been brought up from Los Angeles.

Keyes, probably, has not, actually, "railroaded" anybody to prison, but has only fulfilled the duties of district attorney as capably as he knew how.

Men who have served long and well in the field of law enforcement in this country agree, in the words of one of them, that "it isn't hard to get along with folks."

Making A Life

By CLARENCE L. LEMMON (Pastor, Hamilton Avenue Christian Church, St. Louis)

THE problem of man is not merely to make a living, it is rather the making of a life. It is comparatively easy to make a living. The essentials of food and clothing can be purchased at no great cost.

Benjamin Franklin was a good printer. He could have made a living in his shop for a life. George Washington was a good surveyor. His profession would have made him a living but he chose to make a life.

ORPHEUM INSTALS TALKIE EQUIPMENT

Two Big Projectors, Keystone of New Installation, Already Operating in Showhouses

Within the next few days, according to the manufacturers' assurance, standard equipment for presentation of any and all talking motion pictures will be completely installed in the Orpheum theatre here.

Two big, new projectors, keystone and foundation for the new installation, already have been received and placed in operation, and contracts have been signed for presentation of a number of the outstanding talking films.

Twin Falls Amusement company's order for the new installation of Cinephote equipment was placed the latter part of last year and, under contract, installation was to have been completed last Friday.

Developments of the last few months in the motion picture industry have brought about a situation where the equipment is well nigh universal in the industry, and orders are placed on a buyers' market.

In explanation of delay in installation of the equipment for the Orpheum, the manufacturers have given an insight into some of their difficulties, including shortage of materials. The influenza epidemic also has played a part, causing a shortage of skilled workmen employed in the making of the equipment.

Correspondence between the manufacturers and the Orpheum management bears evidence of the purpose both to make no sacrifice of quality in the installation here, and contains statements of both parties to the effect that substitution of inferior devices should not be made in order to speed up completion of the installation.

Engineers Praise House

The manufacturers—engineers—after study of the architecture of the house for the Orpheum theatre, have pronounced the showhouse an ideal one for presentation of talking pictures. Specifications for the equipment to be installed have been prepared on a basis of requirements to apply to the study of the building plans.

The new installation equipped for handling talking pictures in which the sound is taken from a record running alongside the film, as well as those operating with a disc record on a turntable synchronized with the showing of the film. A system of cone amplifiers will carry the sound to the audience. The equipment has been made as nearly automatic as possible, in order to relieve the operator from mechanical routine, and attention to controls regulating volume and quality of the sound. Extended study has shown necessity for increasing or diminishing the volume of amplification in proportion to the size of the audience, a greater volume being required to produce satisfactory effects when the theatre is filled. Operation of the new equipment will require services of two men, both of whom must be skilled operators.

High School Auditorium
February 28

RICHARD HALLIBURTON went around the world on a one-string. For the past five years he has surrendered heart and soul to the call of romance—across Asia and Africa from Spain to Siberia, and up and down the Seven Seas. His first book, "The Royal Road to Rome," shattered all literary records for books on travel and adventure. His most recent effort, "The Glorious Adventure," bids fair to outdo the record of "The Royal Road." Mr. Halliburton is to appear here February 28, bringing the personal story of his fascinating adventures. His name has become, almost overnight, a by-word for youthful enthusiasm, sparking imagination, and for the dominant, unflinching spirit of the age. He recently returned from new adventures in Mexico, Yucatan and Panama.

Where Desert Blooms

By D. R. CHURCHILL

Nestled just around the corner, lies a green and shaded spot. Where before we built our cottage, was but just a vacant lot. Blasted by a deadly desert. On a bleak and dreary plain: Where the sage grew gnarled and withered. From the lack of timely rain.

Raging billows may have lashed it. Through the ages long ago. Scientists have claimed it. But, 'twas God who in His wisdom, Purposely evolved the plan. Shaped this valley as a refuge. And a dwelling place for man.

Then He blessed him with a vision. Keen to comprehend its worth; And a spirit to transform it. To the Paradise of earth. This beheld a fertile landscape. Fringed around with pine clad hills: Interspersed with gushing rivers. Quiet brooks and rippling rills.

Guarding it like giant sentinels. Rise the snow-capped mountain peaks; Here the soul communing with Nature. And true recreation seeks. Prismatic flowers bloom in summer. While in winter falls the snow; To install supreme contentment. O'er the valley dawns below.

Like a band of silver ribbon, Floating gently on the breeze; Oiled the waters of Snake River. Flow the valley toward the sea. Here it pauses, ere it passes. Just to kiss its friend the soil; Which responds with its abundance. To reward us for our toil.

Truer men, nor nobler women, Than those who pioneered this throne; To reclaim it for their own. Wounds have healed, and scars have vanished. Since these days of trying death; And we proudly now proclaim. Eden's garden spot of earth.

Colleen Moore Plays At Orpheum Theatre

There is certainly nothing synthetic about the entertainment offered in "Synthetic Sin" Colleen Moore's newest comedy, which opens at the Orpheum theatre today.

On the contrary, it is decidedly of the 100-proof variety, as the mirth of a large audience clearly indicated at the first local showing.

A clever story, an excellent cast and Colleen's bubbling personality have been woven into a picture that ranks among the most humorously entertaining films to be seen in months.

"Synthetic Sin" is a triple triumph for Colleen as the star, and Frederic and Fanny Holton, authors of the play from which the picture was taken.

"Sally's Shoulders" At Idaho Theatre

Long awaited by many thousands of readers who followed the intriguing development of "Sally's Shoulders" in the "Idaho Theatre" as a newspaper. Merle PBO's screen production of "Sally's Shoulders" with Lois Wilson in the leading role is coming to the Idaho theatre this afternoon for a run of one day only.

Under the direction of Lynn Shipes the appealing narrative of the girl who had the care of an entire family thrust upon her shoulders, and endangered her own romance to protect a weakling brother and ailing sister, has been vividly transferred to the screen.

The principal roles in support of Lois Wilson, who plays Sally, are in the hands of such well-known players as Huntley Gordon, Edythe Chapman, George Hackathorne and Lucille Williams.

Consultation and Examination Free.

The Doctor makes no charge whatever for consultation and examination and rest assured of this. HE WILL BE HONEST WITH YOU. If he can't help you he will tell you so. He doesn't want your money unless he can help you.

He Wants the Bad Cases

Dr. Wyly especially invites those who have been told they must undergo an operation. Dr. Wyly does not believe in so much operating. He thinks every organ in any part of the body is needed to make us 100 per cent well. When an organ is bothering he thinks the thing to do is to repair it—fix it up and put it back to work—not cut it out and throw it away. Don't be operated on until you have first seen and talked to Dr. Wyly.

CASTLEFORD'S QUINT AND HAZELTON MEET IN LAST ENCOUNTER

Game to Determine Quintet to Meet West End Aggregation Most Exciting of Day's Activity in Hoop Tournament

(Special to The News) KIMBERLY, Feb. 16.—From the three days of play in the B class sub-district tournament held here the Kimberly boys team, and the Eden girls, emerged with championships. Neither team lost a game. The teams competing were: Kimberly, Hazelton, Eden, Castleford, Murtaugh and Hollister. The morning game between Kimberly and Hazelton boys followed expectations, Kimberly winning easily, 39 to 18. Finding very early in the contest that they were not to be beaten, Hazelton boys saved a little for the later matches for the runner-up place. Not a bad idea as later developments proved.

Castleford Victor In the afternoon the Castleford and Murtaugh boys teams played, Castleford winning 12 to 10. In a well-played game and gained the right to meet the winner of the Eden-Hazelton match for runner-up honors. The first game of the evening was between the Eden girls and Castleford, and Eden won, 39 to 25. Eden knew too much basketball for the West End girls, and they were able to outplay the forwards finding little difficulty in eluding the Castleford guards for set-up shots largely for the reason that the west enders used a charging defense which, when they missed the ball, gave the forwards their chance.

Most exciting of the day's play was the last game, Eden and Hazelton boys fighting for the title. Play with Castleford for the runner-up place. Hazelton nose out by one lone, but big and sufficient point, 29 to 19. At the end of the first half Eden was ahead, 14 to 10, at the three quarters the teams were tied up at 15 points, and then they alternated the lead until a fortunate field goal just ahead of the gun overcame the one point advantage Eden had and gave Hazelton the win.

The concluding match, for runner up, will be played Monday at 7:30 P. M. between the Castleford and Hazelton boys.

Eden's girls and Kimberly boys will go to Abilene to compete in the class B district tournament Thursday.

He played with "Red" Cagle at half-back on last year's football eleven. He is 5-11, weighs 175 and is 100 under 6 feet in height.

DUMB BELLS

CROWDS SEE TITLE CONTENDERS AT WORK

Boston Sailor Raps Partners For Audience of 700, While Young Stribling Gives Show

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 16.—Two of the most prominent heavyweights in the world, Boston and Stribling, met in a boxing match today while a motley crowd of spectators cheered and applauded their efforts. Jack Sharkey, Boston's belting beauty, rapped sparing partners, around eight members of the city's youth, for 700 spectators in a ring, printed by the dog track Richard built close to the ocean's edge. In a tumble-down shack, the two young men, Stribling, a slinger from Macon, Georgia, did the same thing for 500 spectators in preparation for "his match with Sam Barry" February 27.

Stribling put on a show that had all the elements of a circus performance. There was the comic barker who acted as announcer, the referee, and the referee's assistant. While Stribling boxed in one ring, sparing partners in another ring, the referee, Stribling did an acrobatic act on the bag punching platform.

The price of the South all but knocked out Jeff Carroll, Biloxi, Mississippi, heavyweight, and Tony Fuente, California, who had held the title and vacated his job as Johnny Bell.

TWIN CONSUMPTION GAINS

NEW YORK (AP)—Preliminary figures show that the production and consumption of tin in the past year had shown substantial increases, but with the production running higher than consumption, which has resulted in an increase of 15 per cent over 1927. Total deliveries, however, gained but about 8 per cent.

Basketball Shots

TO jump or not to jump—that appears to be a question now in the game of basketball. The proposal put forward by Dr. Walter Meanwell Wisconsin, that the tip-off at center be relegated to the ash-heap and a pass beyond the sideline be substituted has not gone entirely unopposed. Cornell, Syracuse, Rochester and Buffalo in the east have come out in favor of such change.

None of these institutions is possessed of any particularly attenuated centers and that fact may have something to do with their stand. CERTAIN it is that Coach Ed Kelleher of the Fordham team, that appears likely to rank at or near the top in the east is emphatically against the proposal and it may not be entirely because his own great team has a six-foot-two-inch youth at the pivot post either. Kelleher thinks the idea is of a kind which has one great junking the dribble which came very near finding its way into the official rules a couple of years ago.

BASKETBALL TOSSERS FINISHING WORK FOR CHAMPIONSHIP TESTS

Two Weeks Before Tournament Will Be Spent in Strengthening Disclosed Weak Spots and Perfecting New Schemes

In the time remaining before the district tournament the teams in the South Central district will go through some very intensive preparation. Preliminary games, while somewhat disarranged by the weather man, have served to acquaint coaches and players with the opposing teams, both as to personnel and to the nature of the game. The rather less than two weeks before the tournament breaks into its three days of hectic competition will be spent in strengthening disclosed weak spots, planning and perfecting schemes, and conditioning players for the test. Condition is important. It means the endurance that can stand the strain of a double elimination contest, with the competition growing stiffer as the stronger teams advance and the team engaged in the final round of the championship will need skill, speed, steady team work, and, with these, condition to endure.

Few Preliminaries Remain A few preliminary games remain on the schedule. Some of these will be played. Others will have to give way to the preliminary games necessary to solve the runner-up question. A case in point is the Piler and Twin Falls girls team situation. The girls have met in a preliminary game, but the girls of Twin Falls and a game, but the tie game was played off, and Piler won. The girls of the South all but knocked out Jeff Carroll, Biloxi, Mississippi, heavyweight, and Tony Fuente, California, who had held the title and vacated his job as Johnny Bell.

Specializing on the probable outcome of the runner-up game between Twin Falls and Piler maidens is interesting, but risky. Twin Falls met Bull Friday night, and a defeat. Piler played Bull to the only loss before, but in the following games Piler lost to Rupert, beaten by Twin Falls, and made up for very little by showing excellent play. Whether in the Bull game the girls played over their heads, or caught the Indians over confident, is an arguable subject, but there is no argument that the team Bull beat against Twin Falls Friday night was the best of the district.

The Bruin girls did not have quite enough forward technique and power to point the play of the rest of the team. The ball was captured and sent into the forward courts time enough to win, but the mistakes were good enough to cause missed shots in the few times the basket was tried for, caused it to fly back into the hands of the opposing team and, at passing. Great personal skill is not a necessary attribute of a scoring forward. Bull's forwards made but one basket for each five times 20 percent, but a driving, persistent determination to give every ball that enters the forward court a sight of the hoop from the top side of the basket, and to try to work to send the ball into the forward court. Only the forwards can do both an opportunity and a responsibility. Come high, low or in between; but if you get the ball into the basket, else the work of the team is wasted. One Miss Calk finds in her basket material that determination adds a little to the resourcefulness of her players, upsets will be in order.

Fingies in Last End The East End has a tangle of its own among the girls' teams. Oakley has been affected by illness and snow piled roads, to such extent that the real strength of that team can only be guessed. Whether it can take Rupert, and enter the tournament as sub-district champion, or will qualify as runner up, and have to argue with the winner of the Twin Falls-Piler game, will be worked out the coming week. Oakley has some fine material, but the best of material, without game preparation, is handicapped.

On the North Side, Gooding and Jerome have not settled their differences. Gooding won the first game, but with the help of Anderson, star forward, Gooding got the strong, and Jerome has been out of the game from illness, and Jerome may reverse the set up in another meeting. All of the class A best teams enter the tournament, so the preliminary games can be used as training exercises without danger of a lost chance when some one game goes wrong. In the game at Bull the Twin Falls Bruins got a hard fight. They won it handily, though not easily. It is expected the class of the district. This is not an unmixed blessing, for each team that faces them in the tournament will put on its hardest fight against the leaders, and with the field against the Twin Falls boys will need the best of condition to carry them through. The boys made good progress, but it is a game ahead with Jerome to help in the finishing process. Played on the large floor at Jerome, and against the speed that Jerome can call upon when its wants to, this force will be useful. The Bull Indians have not stopped. From Friday's game they learned a lot about the Bruins, and Coach Davidson and his charges are smart enough to capitalize on the lessons of the tournament. They have one asset, not copied by any other team in the district, in their own voice. By virtue of his own efforts he should be rated at least "Medicine Man" of the tribe. Rupert, probably the strongest of the East End teams, shows about on a par with Jerome, and is going ahead so that by the time the team gather at Bull Rupert will be very much in the way of those who would like to escape defeat.

16 BILLIARD ARTISTS SURVIVE THREE ROUNDS

Out of 16 of the original entrants in the Christmas season billiard tournament at the H and M elevator, 14 have survived the first three rounds of play and will enter the fourth round beginning Monday evening. Only two of the entrants have gone through the first three rounds without a defeat. They are Duerg and Worley. Both are matched for games Monday evening. Worley will concede 100 to 50 handicap to Paulson, and Duerg will be on the short end of a 100 to 50 handicap in a game with Griggs. Here is the standing of tournament entrants at the close of the third round of play: (Name of player first, games won, games lost.) Duerg, 3 0; Worley, 3 0; Corwell, 2 1; Paulson, 2 1; Griggs, 2 1; Atkinson, 2 1; Saxton, 2 1; Haney, 2 1; Billington, 1 2; Seaton, 1 2; McNeil, 1 2; Hardin, 1 2; Dean, 1 2; Clark, 1 2. Eliminated: Havens, 0 3; Norion, 0 3.

Huskies Smother Vandals' Hope for Title by Winning, 39-27

WASHINGTON QUINT PRESSES ON TOWARD TITLE FOR DIVISION

Invaders at Seattle Jump Into Lead After First Tipoff But Home Team Takes and Holds Lead Early in Fierce Game

(By The Associated Press) SEATTLE, Feb. 16.—University of Washington basketball team tonight smothered the championship hopes of the University of Idaho, 39 to 27. If the undefeated Huskies lose every remaining game of the season, the worst they can do is end in a tie with Idaho, if the Vandals win all their other contests of the northern division basketball championship.

The invaders jumped into a lead after the first tipoff but soon lost it to the Huskies. Washington led almost all of the first half but the Vandals pressed closely. The fall of the Idaho quintet to take advantage of seemingly simple shots and to convert free throws kept them from putting up a lead in the opening period.

The Huskies were led by Matt and Jeff combining to score 12 points and the midged forward, Jaloft. Summary:

UTAH MATCHMAKER PUTS IN BID TO ROCKY MOORE

Rocky Moore, Twin Falls lightweight boxer, received an invitation yesterday from Ed Davis, Salt Lake City boxing promoter, to take up his abode in the Utah capital with promise of opportunity for frequent and profitable exhibitions of his skill. Specifically, Salt Lake City promoter proposed a match for the Twin Falls boxer on a card to be staged February 25, and indicated that the opponent he has in mind is Bobby Mason, another lightweight boxer, who has been attracting attention in this region.

Junior Colleges Tie In Utah-Idaho Games

OGDEN, Feb. 16 (AP)—Welter college went into a tie with Triaca college, Rockburg, Idaho, in the northern division of Utah-Idaho Junior inter-collegiate competition here tonight by defeating Latter Day Saints college, Salt Lake City, 44 to 33.

Elton Knapp, Weber forward, suffered a severe ankle injury late in the game and may be lost to the local five in the big series for the intermontain title late this month.

TEACHERS OF RURAL SCHOOLS OF COUNTY FORM ORGANIZATION

Educators Vote Approval of Suggestion for Association to Discuss Problems and Advance Better Relationship

Teachers of Twin Falls county's rural schools at a meeting attended by about 40 persons in the Teachers and Professional Women's club rooms this Saturday afternoon, approved suggestion for organization of a county-wide association of rural school teachers for purposes of discussing educational affairs and promoting acquaintance. Virtually all of the county's rural school districts were represented at the meeting, although teachers in one or more of the districts were reported to be absent.

The organization was launched with the election of Mrs. Mary Wallace, Berger, as president; L. G. Newnam, Marica, vice president; M. K. L. Johnson, Cedar Grove, secretary, and L. W. Pomeroy, Elmwood, treasurer.

A committee was named to make arrangements for the first meeting. It being suggested that three or four meetings should be held during the school year.

A social hour followed the organization meeting and the program for the afternoon which included a report on the recent meeting at Pocatello by the Idaho Education association given by Willard Harper, Deep Creek's delegate of Twin Falls county's rural teachers to that meeting.

Tells Art Exhibit Plans

Mrs. H. W. Clouchek, member of Twin Falls county fair women's executive committee, told of plans for displaying entries in art exhibits at the fair next September. She urged widest possible representation of the county's rural schools in these exhibits.

Mrs. I. E. Joslyn reviewed her recent visits in the national capitol and elsewhere in the capital city.

Mrs. D. L. Alexander sang a group of three songs.

Mrs. Rose Wilson, county superintendent of public instruction, presented the suggestion for organization of the rural school teachers' association and presided over the meeting until the officers of the new organization were elected.

SALMON CANAL BOARD SECURES DEEP CREEK RESERVOIR'S WATER

Directors of Irrigation Company Lease System With Option to Purchase For $60,000 in Course of Coming Year

A lease with an option to purchase the Deep Creek reservoir and laterals by the Salmon River Canal company has been entered into between the board of directors of the canal company and the Deep Creek Land and Water company. It was announced yesterday.

A proposal to purchase the Deep Creek reservoir system as a supplemental supply was previously considered but was held up by litigation.

The agreement according to C. T. Davis, one of the Salmon River Canal company directors, is substantially as follows:

The Salmon River Canal company secures the water supply and controls by lease the Deep Creek system for the year 1929, paying therefor the sum of $6000. At the expiration of the year 1929 the Salmon River Canal company will have the option of either allowing the system to revert to the Deep Creek Land and Water company, or buying it outright for the total sum of $60,000 in 10 equal payments of $6000.

WILLIE WILLIS

By ROBERT QUILLLEN

"I told Mammas I was going to be a missionary, but my stomach don't ache no more an' I guess I'll be a flyer after all."

Each, on which the 1929 payment shall apply. There is to be no interest charged on deferred payments in the event that the option to buy is accepted.

The amount of available water in the Deep Creek reservoir is a matter of estimates, as regular measuring devices have not been installed, and the amount differs from year to year depending on the season. These estimates have been variously given for the average year as 300,000 and 400,000 feet, with the probability that this year the system may have 2000 acre feet. Efficiency and quick reversion for funds before 1929, relative to that extent water from the Salmon reservoir for use farther south are mentioned as advantages in having this supplemental supply available.

It is said that the system is so located that water can be turned into the canal without extra expense. The Salmon River Canal board, may, it is said, put in measuring devices in order to determine the actual amount of water during the year 1929 which will, it is said, constitute practically the entire extra cost involved.

The agreement, it is stated, contains a provision that should the Salmon River Canal company be undecided as to whether to buy or not at the end of the present year and desire to extend the agreement or option over 1930, it may do so, and should it then elect to buy, the two payments of $6000 each would apply on the purchase price.

MEXICAN FACES CHARGE OF FORGING JAPANESE NAME

A Mexican, accused of forging on a $2 check yesterday the name of a Japanese farmer who returned to Japan two months ago, was delivered to the police yesterday by J. Hughes, manager of Twin Falls Credit association.

The check, which was presented at the Idaho Department store, bore signature of S. Suetama, which is said to have been forged, and was made payable to Antonio de Melyne. It had not been endorsed. The accused Mexican told the police his name was Armado Fuentes, and that he had been in Twin Falls for about 10 days.

HIGHWAY DISTRICT TAKES ACTION FOR RETIRING OF BONDS

Commissioners Set Aside $60,000 Out of Motor Vehicle License Revenues to Meet Possible Deficiencies in Taxes

Looking toward retirement of Twin Falls highway bonds, $1,250,000 bonds due in 10 years period beginning in 1931, the district's commissioners in regular session here yesterday voted to set aside $60,000 out of motor vehicle license revenues for a revolving fund with which to make up any deficiency of collections under tax levied to be made for this purpose. The bonds are to be paid by 10 annual installments of $125,000 each.

The district's share of motor vehicle license revenues is estimated this year at $200,000. It amounted to $56,000 last year and $50,000 two years ago.

The district's budget for the coming year came in for some discussion at the commissioners' meeting yesterday, but no definite action was taken in this regard.

Power Company Gets Permission

Permission was granted to the Idaho Power company to extend wiring to conduct across Miller avenue from its new substation to its Twin Falls distribution system, and to install a water pipe line on Harrison avenue from the city limits to the new substation, and to construct a curb on Filer avenue in front of the substitution grounds. The details of the company's plans for landscaping and beautifying the new substitution grounds were outlined for the commissioners.

Walter Anderson, president of the board for some years past, was elected president for the coming year to succeed J. E. Williams, who served as president last year.

HUGE TRUST RUMORED

NEW YORK (AP)—The merger rumors held are now flowering with glittering tales regarding the investment trusts, since the crop of motor merger stories seems to have been harvested for the time being. One particularly impressive specimen is the proposed $100,000,000 investment trust headed by the largest international investment trust ever, with capital of about $1,000,000,000.

Constructive Program of Idaho Legislature Rounds into Shape

TAXATION MEASURES TO FEATURE SESSIONS DURING COMING WEEK

Program Will Include Income and Inheritance Taxes, Revenue Commissioner and Sliding Scale Limiting Levies

BOISE, Feb. 16.—Gradually the "constructive" program of the party in power in the legislature is being rounded into shape and probably before the middle of the coming week all features of it will be before the legislature in the form of bills.

Roughly the program includes the following: The income tax; the inheritance tax; the revenue commissioner; the sliding scale for limiting tax levies; the "50 per cent valuation" measure, regulating assessors.

Already some of the features of the program have made progress while others have run into opposition before fairly getting under way. In the case of the bill providing for a revenue commissioner to act as a sort of "go-get-it" man for the state, it was known that it would come from the governor's office.

Mammoth Document. The income tax measure, a mammoth document, will contain some 90 or 100 printed pages. It has been thoroughly mulled over by the steering committee in an effort to slide it smoothly into place with the rest of the program and help the party to carry out its campaign promise of easing the burden on the taxpayer.

The inheritance tax, though not a new thing, has been worked over on a new plan with a view of making its administration a matter of profit to the state rather than a continuous source of disappointment, as has been the case under the present law.

The bill, which is somewhat from the California law, is expected to work some of the loopholes in the present measure such as lost state its share of a $300,000 estate recently prohibited.

The two other measures on the surface have already been in operation. One provides for a graduated scale of valuations with corresponding limitations on the amount of tax to be collected under the different valuations.

The higher valuated counties could tax the least per $100,000 while the lower valuated counties could tax the most on this unit, as in the present law, it being understood that the smallest and poorest county must support a certain amount of government.

The certain limits of the brackets of this bill was left the same as the present law, allowing a tax of $750 per $100,000 in counties of less than 45,000,000 valuation and running down at the rate of $5 per $100,000 to a tax of $400 per $100,000 in counties valued in excess of $12,000,000.

cent of the cash value; to make it conform with what is already being done in other states. But as a corresponding step, the exemptions on debts on property is cut just in half. For instance, farmers and mining men will have an exemption on $200 worth of machinery or tools compared with $400 under the present law.

"One state official, when broached on the subject, said without a moment's hesitation: 'They better kill it.' But after a brief reflection said: 'Well, maybe not.' One other official was emphatic in favor of it.

But that is the program of advancement that the present legislature will have to consider, over and above the usual routine bills such as university appropriations and bee inspection measures. Whether the program will emerge early in March tattered and torn, or polished and trim as when first introduced, only the next three weeks know.

Play has its place even in the difficult halls of a legislature and the senate has missed no opportunity to have its fun between stern debates over high school fraternities or airports.

During the week the senate "fiddled" with the whittled bills and "monkeyed" with the bee inspection bill, and at the time introduced a farcical amendment, evidently so funny that the clerk could not read it but was compelled to wait half way through in a confusion of laughter. Only the author of the amendment ever knew how really funny it was.

"I shall be provided," said part of the amendment, "that any bee wishing to come into the state of Idaho shall notify a bee inspector three days in advance and after having received permit shall offer itself, stinger sheathed, for inspection to death."

A marked line of division is developing in the legislature between the sky and the earth and the highway minded. Proponents of aviation have been caught up short on an occasion or two in their efforts to make it make in their state in aviation.

Most pronounced in his views on just how far and no farther aviation should be allowed is Sen. Callahan, who is the "no-fly" man. "Let the planes come, then we'll take care of 'em; in the meantime we are building roads."

But his logic, sound as it may be, has fallen on ears not yet already established always. Every day they see the planes passing overhead and want to make his "no-fly" planes coming their way feel right at home.

Senator Yeaman, Bonneville county, claimed with the "alleged longed orator" of the Shoshone, when failure of a certain bill would have spelled defeat to the hopes of Idaho Falls of building an up-to-date airport. He demanded a rate of $5 per $100,000 to tax advantage of an opportunity already knocking at the door in the case of the National Parks Airways which makes Idaho Falls a stopping point on the route between Salt Lake City and Great Falls, Montana.

INDUSTRY AND LABOR IN GEM STATE SHOW STEADY CONDITIONS

Usual Slackening of Activity in Agriculture and Business During Winter Months Will Continue Briefly, Says Expert

DENVER, Feb. 16.—Except for those activities affected by adverse weather conditions, industrial and employment conditions in Idaho, especially metal mining, are steady. It is shown by the survey announced today by the regional office of the United States employment service, department of labor, here.

The usual slackening of activity in agriculture and industries affected by wintry weather, together with a subsequent curtailing of employment, will continue through February. Quince Record, regional director of the labor department's employment service, points out, but with the advent of spring, the expansion in building construction and increased agricultural acreage is indicated, notably for sugar-beets.

The heavy storage of snow in the mountainous areas will practically all irrigated districts in the state.

Miscellaneous telephone construction under way is noted at Boise, Jerome, Montpelier, Twin Falls, Weiser, Buhl, Idaho Falls, and other points. Plans are under way to be completed include a copper circuit between Twin Falls and Kimberly.

Sawnmills are resuming operations with a resultant increase in payrolls and employment. Projects are under way in various metal mines of the state, indicating a fair balance in labor supply and demand.

New highway projects scheduled for this spring will include 20 miles of grading and surfacing in Elmore county, two miles of grading and surfacing in Bannock county, and seven miles of the same work in Idaho county. Railroad shop and train service forces, reduced to a winter base this month, will soon show an increase. It is expected.

The department's survey points out that the seasonal slack in building construction will give way this spring to an expansion greater than for some seasons past, especially in the Pocatello and Boise districts. The surplus of both skilled and unskilled workers noticeable in some sections of the state will be absorbed, the director's report shows, by the end of winter.

FARMERS' TRACTOR EQUIPMENT CHANGES

Power Mowers Operating in Twin Falls, Minidoka and Other Counties in Gem State

MOSCOW, Feb. 16 (Special to The News-Tribune)—Farmers in bringing out many new power applications in Idaho agriculture, reports A. D. Edgar, assistant agricultural engineer with the University of Idaho agricultural experiment station, on the basis of field studies conducted last fall.

The power mower, which is carried on the tractor frame, was found in operation in Twin Falls, Minidoka, Bingham, Butte, Blaine, Ada, Canyon and Payette counties. Some of the farmers also had delivery trucks attached behind their tractors. One farmer in Twin Falls county had a buck rake mounted on his cultivating tractor and handled twice as much hay as is cared for by the two horse rake.

Alda Estate Diggers. Farmers in Bingham, Bonneville and Madison counties used gas engines on potato diggers. In two counties, Madison and Franklin, whereackers were used, the tractor was tied down and the sacking easily done by two men. An objection to horses on sacker equipped diggers has been that they travel too fast—where "four men are sacking."

Mr. Edgar reports the power take off direct from tractor to binder was tried in Madison and Bingham counties last year.

The use of gasoline engines for small power jobs and for light plants is growing in regions yet unobserved by power lines, Mr. Edgar observed. Where electric power is available, however, electric motors rapidly is replacing the gas engine.

WENDELL CHEESE-MAKER WILL OPEN OWN FACTORY

WENDELL, Feb. 16.—Fred Santeh, who has been cheese maker south of Wendell, has resigned his position and is installing a cheese plant, which he plans to have in operation by March 1.

The county commissioners officially lifted the quarantine from Wendell and vicinity, as no new cases of meningitis have been discovered, and the one case is slowly improving.

The Wendell grange will present a one-act play, "Just Plain Jones," at their first meeting to be held February 19.

The high school seniors are working on their class play "Oh, Kay," to be presented in the high school auditorium on February 28 and March 1. The play will be under the direction of Herbert Love, of the high school faculty.

Miss Laverne Dunn, who has been bookkeeper and stenographer in the local bank for the last five years, has gone to Elkhart, Oregon, to accept a similar position. Miss Kathryn Cornelison, Wendell, will take Miss Dunn's position in the bank.

Herbert Moore, Jerome, submitted to an operation Monday, in the St. Valentine's hospital, for ruptured appendix.

C. P. Dunn, who has been in the drayage business in Wendell for 17 years, has sold his business to W. W. Hemphill, who will take charge immediately. The Dunn's will spend some time visiting friends in California.

A. H. Moore, who has been a patient in Valentine's hospital for the last two months returned to his home this week.

GOVERNMENT SEEKS BIDS ON MAIL ROUTE LIGHTS

BURLEY, Feb. 16.—Special to The News-Tribune.—Bids for lighting the United States department of commerce for airway lights to be installed on the Salt Lake City-Burley division of the Salt Lake City-Pasco air mail route. Specifications call for the installation of about 13 electric revolving beacons and nine acetylene code beacons between Salt Lake City and Burley, an airway distance of about 150 miles. Five of the revolving beacons will be located at intermediate landing fields, and each landing field will have a system of boundary lights in addition. The revolving beacons will be 24 inches in diameter, and mounted on steel towers varying from 51 feet to 87 feet in height. Most of the acetylene route beacons will be mounted on 20-foot towers.

Bids will be opened, according to notices from the department of commerce, on March 3, either at the office of the division of supplies, Washington, or at the office of the airways engineer in Salt Lake City.

EARLY SPRING FAVORS SHORT JACKET SUITS

Tuck-In Blouse and Skirt With Flare in New Silks and Woolens For Wear On Streets

(The News Shopper)
More and more does one have to take notice of the short jacket suit. It has something that approaches phenomenal success. There are so many angles of evidence in today's popular styles, what with town and sports ensembles with short or three quarter jackets, and the short evening ensemble, that it is not difficult to understand how the jacket silhouette could establish itself as a familiar one.

Another contributing element that makes plausible a popular suit vogue is the styling of present blouses—a factor of the suit.
The new woollens that are arrayed for the spring season provide a foundation on which to build a suit season, emphasizing a feminine type of fabric that is thoroughly in keeping with the mode.
The two most interesting features of spring suits are the tuck-in blouse, which, when tucked in, the waist gives something of the aspect of the man's suit, and the distinctly rippled or flared skirt which is a decidedly feminine turn. That even these costumes resort to flared lines is significant, for long after this movement came into vogue the dress of the woolen retained its straight line skirt. The new suits with their short jackets of youthful quality are informal and the most comfortable costumes for spring days, with a smart style which will recommend them to the well-dressed woman.
But suits to longer confine themselves to woollens for in search of spring frocks, I found numerous suits and ensembles in fabrics.
However, for early spring weather, the most appropriate suit I found was of soft wool, in brown and citron yellow, with a blouse of being tucked in with brown and yellow illustrations. The neckline of the blouse is square, while the coat is a straight cardigan jacket, and the skirt a yoke top, with pleated rods coming from the bottom of a shaped section.

A Woman Observer in Washington

By SUE McNAMARA (Associated Press Feature Writer)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—If a woman with children has to earn her own living it is better for her to work at night, in the opinion of Mrs. Mary Murray, 19 years a ticket-seller with the Brooklyn Manhattan Transit company in New York.
Mrs. Murray, with her gray bobbed hair and pleasant expression, can look out life serenely now, though things seemed pretty dark when she was left a widow with five children, the youngest only seven. Mrs. Murray has been at Washington attending the hearings on the equal rights bill, which gives women in industry the same opportunities as men. Incidentally, Mrs. Murray, night time ticket seller in the biggest city in the world, said her day in favor of women being allowed to work over eight hours if they want to.
Clad in black silk and wearing pearl earrings, Mrs. Murray is a triumphant example of the woman who has won out over adverse conditions. She is a marked contrast to the discouraged little woman who used to enter the railway ticket office in the days when she was just starting out.
"Some people think it's so terrible for women to work late at night and get up for the health and the morals," smiles Mrs. Murray. "I don't think so, and I speak from experience. Work is easier and pay is better at night. If a woman has children to support she is worried constantly about them while she is at work in the daytime. I know my own children used to play truant sometimes when I had to work from home all day. But when I quit work at 6 o'clock in the morning and came home I found them still in bed. I got their breakfasts and started them off to school. After they were gone I had the whole day to sleep. I was up and ready to greet them when they came home from school. I had a good supper ready for them. When I left at 6 o'clock in the evening I had a woman come in to stay a few hours until they went to bed. I worked all night secure in the thought that the kiddies were safe at home, and in bed."

New York state has a law which prohibits women from working more than eight hours. Several trades where women are employed, including the Brooklyn Manhattan Transit company workers, obtained exemption from this law.
"We have in our employ two elderly women who have been working at night, one for 25 and one for 37 years," Mrs. Murray says. "Both are contented with the night work and prefer it to the day. One woman, who had been a librarian for years. She took the night work because she was tired of getting up every morning and going to work. With her days free she felt she had more leisure. Women who work in restaurants suffer from the same trouble because it is after midnight that the trays are lighter and the tips heavier."

CHILD LEADERS AID TO GROUP DIRECTION

Expert Finds Quality of Leadership in Children and Enlists Youth's Cooperation

By STELLA LOUISE WOOD (Principal Kindergarten-Primary Training School, Minneapolis)
MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 16 (AP)—In every group of children we find some with the quality of leadership. It is through our skills in eliciting the interest and cooperation of these leaders along the lines of right habits and attitudes that we secure that group morale which is so necessary for successful character training.
There is in every group of children a certain fine loyalty to the code of the group, and it should be within the power of every teacher to transfer this fine loyalty from a narrowly personal to a broadly moral realm. It is a challenge to every one of us, this making honesty, justice and truth fashionable in the group.
It has been most evident in the last few years that modern methods in regard to health habits, for instance, have succeeded in securing the interest and cooperation of the group. The tooth brush has become involved with the group.
Talks, milk taken from a bottle by means of a straw in the joyous company of over weightseekers seems more attractive than the fabled urged upon one by anxious parents, which is mentioned with affection and carols with respect in the comfortable consciousness that this is in full accord with the best group traditions.
In matters of social adjustment we arrange situations and provide activities which allow for the practice of principles of right conduct in such a way that it is proven that the only possible method by which harmony and happiness and the approval of the group may be secured is by taking turns, by respecting property rights and by sharing privileges.

STYLE MAKERS PASS SYNTHETIC STRAWS

Cellulose, Basic Material in Rayon, Makes New Conquest in Field of Women's Fashion

By BARBARA BRAUFORT (Associated Press Fashion Editor)
PARIS, Feb. 16.—Cellulose, the basic material used in the manufacture of rayon or so-called artificial silk, has made a new conquest in the field of women's fashions.
This time it is the milliners who utilize the manufactured product of cotton-liners or wood pulp. Some of the leading Parisian milliners, the handful who will set the Easter styles for Paris and abroad, are using synthetic straw, usually called cellulose, although they are sold under a variety of trade names.
The characteristics of the artificial straw are similar to those of a soft natural straw. The cellulose takes a high lustre, gives more perfectly even than natural straws, in the opinion of many milliners, and is far less expensive than good natural straws. It is not expected to replace the higher-priced straws, however, particularly the hard, finely split straws used for intricately blocked hats.
Strands of cellulose are used like thread to embroider motifs on some of the summer hats. It looks like glycerated or glazed straw.
The vogue of natural silks may lessen the popularity of rayon with the French couturiers this spring. Many of them are said to be employing undyed silks extensively, particularly in heavy textures. Combined silk and wool in fabrics which simulate natural silks closely are shown by Rodier in several forms.
Oriental silks with colored print are also to be favorites apparently, judging from couturiers' orders placed with fabric dealers.

LOUD SPEAKER REPLACES MILWAUKEE HOTEL PAGES

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 16 (AP)—One bell hop and several loud speakers have replaced pages in a Milwaukee hotel, the Bohemian.
The loudspeakers are installed in dining rooms, barber shops, banquet halls and all departments of the hotel. When a person is to be paged the loud page plugs in on the speakers and early performs the task of the hotel porter co-workers.

RAYON'S USE EXPANDING

NEW YORK, Feb. 16 (AP)—Rayon has become an increasingly important factor in the retail underwear business, according to a survey made by the National Retail Dry Goods association's disclosed. Silk accounted for 34 per cent and cotton for 25 per cent. Considering quantities rather than dollar values, rayon accounted for 42 per cent of retail sales, cotton for 30 per cent and silk for 27 per cent.

Women Seek Most Divorces in London

LONDON, Feb. 16 (AP)—Cupid's wings are being badly stung by the girls this year.
Publication of the matrimonial cause list for the Hilary Law sittings reveals that wives who are seeking divorce between now and Easter outnumber the men applicants by two to one.
Out of a total of 542 cases, 415 are undefended. Only two wives appear as petitioners for the restitution of conjugal rights.

MODERN SCREEN DRAMAS SHOCKING TO OLD TURKS

CASTAMONU, Turkey, Feb. 16 (AP)—Constantinople: The Turkish population is tolerant of movies depicting occidental life and morals, but the Anatolian provinces are frequently scandalized.
This town was recently thrown into an uproar in the midst of the presentation of an American film. Following an amorous passage Hikmet Bey, commander of the town's militia, burst into the operator's booth, gave the film a cutting and tore the film to shreds.
He was cheered on by the yelled women in the audience, but the younger generation howled for the picture to be continued.

Leicester Girls Win Renown as Beauties

LEICESTER, England, Feb. 16 (AP)—The girls of Leicester, one of the oldest towns in England, are said to be the prettiest and the best dressed in the country.
Not the titled ladies, necessarily or the society birds, but the ordinary run-of-the-mill maid who works in factory-factories and other places where feminine linen is manufactured. Engaged in making beautiful things, their instinctive desire for fine feathers is enhanced, and in addition they are paid good wages and with working conditions good.

NEW METHOD DISPOSES OF FUMES OF SMOKERS

NEW YORK, Feb. 16 (AP)—Chemistry has found a way for a smoker to burn up nicotine of his own smoke, says a report from the American Chemical Society.
It is accomplished by treating the tobacco with iron salts or with certain acids that change the nicotine into compounds that burn without producing fumes. They are called "pyridyl volatile compounds."
The report does not state the effects upon the quality of the smoke. The process was developed by M. Popp, Oldenburg, Germany.

Girls in Hollywood To Ply Own Needles

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 16 (AP)—In Los Angeles, where the flappers stand on the curb before motion picture previews to glimpse what the well-dressed actress is wearing, they don't rush down next day and try to buy a similar gown at a marked down price.
Many of the actresses home to a sewing machine and produce their own handwork from a mental pattern. That was the case here of a large department store official after he had conducted a survey here on "flappers' dresses."

Ability To Stand On Toes Started New Dance Queen

HARRIET HECTOR has been crowned the prima ballerina of 1928 after 12 years of struggling.
NEW YORK, Feb. 16 (AP)—A year ago last fall a new revue appeared on Broadway. It didn't survive for long, but before it demise Dennis King, Washingtonberg hero of musical romances, dropped in at a matinee and was impressed with the excellence of a girl solo dancer in the cast.
He went to Florence Ziegfeld and said he wanted the girl to dance in his Three Musketeers, which Ziegfeld was producing with King as O'Grady. She was summoned and she danced the last 15 minutes and has been in lights for more than a season in New York and on the road as the featured dancer of the production.
Recently seven New York dance directors selected for a magazine the foremost prima ballerinas of 1928. Harriet Hector had arrived.
A dozen years ago Harriet, then a daughter of 11, was the only child in Brooklyn, New York, who could

WHY PARISIANS SET STYLES MYSTERIOUS

Official Head of French Creators Gives Women of Own Nation Credit for Leadership

By JOAN (Associated Press Style Artist)
PARIS, Feb. 16.—Why Paris makes women's styles is as much a mystery to Paris as to the rest of the world.
Monsieur Jacques Werth, official head of the style creators as president of the association of couturiers, gives most of the credit to French women who wear the clothes French dressmakers create. He is convinced that they have the best taste in the world, and other nations only follow.
"The most interesting feature of fashion supremacy as it does sunshine and air.
"Some things just are," he says, and the fact that Paris decides what made men will wear and how is one of them. Periodic protests from foreign commercial elements that they are tired of French domination and are going to make their own fashions do not disturb the Paris dictators.
"But the days of Couturier's dictatorship are over, tell you—the biggest problem of the fashionable dressmakers has been turning out ideas for research.
In the old court days it was the royal family that set the pace and wore the best creations. Now it is the gay rich of all countries who keep the fashion

FRENCH USE SILENCE TO PUNISH MEN FOR CRIMINAL OFFENSES

In Penal Institution 1250 Malefactors Wear White Masks and Never Hear Each Other's Voices or See Human Faces

BY JOHN EVANS
(Associated Press Staff Writer)
FRANSES—LES RUNGIS, France, Feb. 16—In a hall of a penal institution where men live without ever hearing each other's voices or seeing each other's faces.

They never hear their mates spoken from the day they enter until the day they leave. It is France's model prison, known simply as "Fransen," the last word in physical and mental isolation.

Solitary confinement, usually considered severely disciplinary, is the rule. The prisoners eat alone, sleep alone, work alone and even take their hour's daily exercise alone and in absolute silence.

Wear Hood in Chapel
Strangest of all, several hundred at a time gather in the chapel, each in a little cell, seeing no one except the priest, preacher or lecturer and part of his face visible only to persons on a platform. The men in the choir of hood, go to numbered cells, which are in banked tiers, each cell open only at the head end, the door being shut with an aperture too small for the head to pass.

From the moment a metal number is hung around his neck, the prisoner is required to wear a white hood whenever he leaves his fellows. He sees the face of his guard from time to time, but no other, unless he is sent to the hospital or to the workshop for discipline.

Buy Small Comforts
Alone in his cell, he works eight hours a day, but good will and skill enable him to produce more than 100 hours and the money he earns enables him to buy small comforts. The government receives 25 cents a day in payment for his work, and he receives work and gives from three-tenths to half the money to the prisoner. The work never sees the money until he leaves, but half of it is placed in his immediate credit for his little expenses.

Yet in spite of all that many criminals look to be sent here because of solitude enables them to a reduction of one-fourth of their sentences.

Irish Goat Society Aids Cause of Peace

DUBLIN, Feb. 16 (AP)—Goats are helping attain closer relations between North and South Ireland.

The Irish Goat society has been formed to improve existing breeds and encourage goat raising in both the Free State and Ulster. Shepherds have long been an asset to the country, but only recently have agriculture leaders turned their attention to goats.

The new organization is supported by the Royal Dublin society.

CHILEANS PLAN FOR SECOND MONTE CARLO

Over $1,000,000 to Be Expended in Construction of Permanent Amusement Palace

VALPARAISO, Chile, Feb. 16 (AP)—Chile's coast line in the vicinity of Valparaiso resembles the French and Italian Riviera, and an effort is being made to turn Valparaiso and Vina del Mar, the seaside resort adjoining the city, into a second Monte Carlo.

A temporary casino has been constructed overlooking the rugged coast, and more than $1,000,000 will be expended in the construction of a permanent gambling and amusement place designed to become a leading resort of the West Coast of South America.

This is the only place on the West coast where gambling is recognized as legal.

Roulette is the favorite game in the Chilean casino, and every night finds hundreds of players gathered around a dozen great tables. Government employees and bank employees are forbidden to enter the casino. Many business firms also have issued orders that their employees must not enter the casino gaming rooms.

Vina del Mar, because of its delightful climate—the year-round—attracts visitors from the interior cities of Chile and of neighboring countries. It is these visitors chiefly who patronize the gaming place, together with tourists who are making the trip around South America.

CUBAN GOVERNMENT BANS AFRICAN "BONGO DRUM"

HAVANA, Feb. 16 (AP)—The Cuban government has prohibited the beating of the African "bongo drum."

The restriction carries heavy penalties on the ground that the monotonous reverberations induce a state of savagery in ignorant listeners and a state of irritation in others.

To those who have studied the history of Africa the bongo drum is well known as the wireless system of African tribes and beasts from these drums, sometimes 25 miles apart, send messages throughout the densest jungles. To those who have studied woodpecker the bongo drum is likewise known, for it is used to incite dancers to a dangerous state of savagery.

LONDON GOLD FISH LIKE WEE NIP NOW AND THEN

LONDON, Feb. 16 (AP)—Sir Arthur Keith's recent assertion that fish do not think was contradicted in this letter by a London newspaper signed E. A. Williams:

"Some years ago we kept several large gold and silver fish in a glass tank which became frozen over. One day the frost formed delicate fern-like leaves of ice which shot down to the bottom of the tank and enclosed the fish in frozen cells.

"They became so still and lifeless that we were alarmed. My father broke the ice and, lifting the fish out, poured a few drops of brandy down their throats, replacing them in the tank in a more lively condition. Next morning, which was milder, we were astonished to find them all in a row, motionless, pretending to be frozen."

although the sound is never deafening even at close range.

Just what effect the drum has is not known other than that it causes some to lose their sense of balance and creates of him a wildly dancing, dangerous maniac.

The bongo drum is not to be confused with the tam tam, which is still heard in Cuban orchestras.

AVIATION DEVELOPS IN SOUTHERN CHINA

Canton Government Welcomes Expansion of Air Industry; Prefers Aircraft of America

CANTON, China, Feb. 16 (AP)—The Canton government has seen with mounting enthusiasm the development of commercial aviation in South China.

The hope of Canton officials is to make this city the leading center of airplane manufacture and airplane travel in the Orient. Each accomplishment of American trained Chinese pilots adds new impetus to the new industry.

W. J. Chang, in charge of Canton's aviation affairs and who some days hopes to make a flight across the Pacific to the American Pacific coast, is seeking to interest American airplane makers in the establishment of a branch factory or assembling plant at Canton. He is confident that local government and also that at Nanking would lend every assistance to any American group which might undertake such a project.

As justification for his desire to have American planes either made or assembled here he predicts that within a few years China will become one of the principal markets for American aircraft products and that if a producing plant is established in China savings can be made by avoiding heavy transportation charges for completed planes from the United States.

NEW TURKISH DICTIONARY CONTAINS 24,000 WORDS

ANGORA, Turkey, Feb. 16 (AP)—The new Turkish dictionary, compiled as a result of the change from the Arabic to the Latin alphabet and the Ghazali wish to delete from the language most of the Persian and Arabic words long in use, reveals the number of Turkish words to be only 24,000. This is less than one-fourth the number in standard English dictionaries.

A Turkish expert has computed that the best Turkish scholars know only 10,000 words; ordinary educated Turks only from 2500 to 4000; lower class city folk 1200, while the Anatolian peasant's vocabulary is limited to 800 words.

Horses Might Laugh At Slow Paris Buses

PARIS, Feb. 16 (AP)—Horses that once drew the omnibuses in Paris streets might chuckle if they could read the time tables of modern high speed motor buses.

Traffic congestion is blamed, but it is true that the slow going horses made almost as good speed as the six-wheeled gasoline craft that replaced them. On two of the routes across town, the time tables of the buses is just 15 per cent faster than that of horses a generation ago.

Stock List Adds Zest to Riviera Thrill Programs

CANNES, France, Feb. 16 (AP)—Life on the Riviera has whirled into new and dizzy heights of luxury and gambling. Brokerage offices, giving the latest New York and London stock exchange quotations now compete for attention with the gambling casinos.

Quotations are posted three minutes after they have been announced in the exchanges.

Instead of taking an automobile tour, visitors inspect the country by airplane. Where a tourist could formerly take $30 and have an evening's fun at the gaming tables he now finds that $500 is probably necessary. Where formerly he might have lost $5,000 with exceptionally bad luck he now finds that organized gamblers have pushed the game to the point where he could easily drop $100,000.

But the situation is even more difficult for women. Wit and beauty once made a social reputation but now something else is required. A princess attempted to bring a tame snake to dine with her in a prominent hotel. An English woman gave a barman in the casino a $500 chip for a 40 cent cocktail and told him "to keep the change."

A visitor from Argentina engaged half of a prominent hotel for himself and valet so that he could have quiet for reading.

BELGIAN NOBILITY SEES DEARTH OF MALE HEIRS

BRUSSELS, Feb. 16 (AP)—Male heirs are becoming scarcer in Belgian families of nobility, but there seems little danger of the aristocracy disappearing. There are 787 families able to prove their nobility by official registration.

RHINELAND WATCHES REPARATION EXPERTS

Populace Turns Anxious Gaze For Settlement of War Debt On Negotiations in Paris

MAYENCE, Germany, Feb. 16 (AP)—The Rhineland populace has turned an anxious gaze on the reparations negotiations in Paris. With the fixation of Germany's total obligation hasten the withdrawal of French troops from German soil?

The Rhineland population realizes fully that reparations and evacuation are two distinct problems. In fact, the Rhinelanders are more clearly on this point, perhaps, than do the Germans in the unoccupied sections of the Reich. They know the provisions of the Versailles Treaty and are aware that the reparations sum may be fixed and yet the occupation continue, in so far as the letter of the law is concerned.

Their hope for evacuation rests upon the common sense of the business men who sit at the green table during the expert conferences. These business men, so the argument runs, will want to get everything possible out of Germany.

But this maximum can be obtained only if they feel free to trade and industry are freed from all obvious restrictions, and if the German government is in supreme control of every inch of German territory. The psychological effect of the presence of foreign troops, it is generally held in the Rhineland, is such as to act as a damper upon effort, whether of an industrial or commercial nature.

DEATHS FROM ALCOHOL DECREASE IN PRUSSIA

BERLIN, Feb. 16 (AP)—Deaths from chronic alcoholism in Prussia have decreased about 50 per cent, compared with the last pre-war year, 1913, the reduction being from 913 cases to 516. The improvement is still more remarkable when it is considered that Prussia has an increased population on a smaller area than before the war and that, the general death rate is now somewhat higher than it was in 1913.

Rich and Powerful Farm Union Dominates Belgian Agriculture

BRUSSELS, Feb. 16 (AP)—By cooperative organization for buying seed, fertilizers and implements, and for marketing farm products, Belgian farmers have effected the "Boerenbond" and at the same time built up an organization powerful in politics and finance.

The farmers' organization, called the "Boerenbond," has reserves estimated at $200,000,000. Its importance in the field of agriculture in Belgium is such that the cost of living throughout the country is affected.

The Boerenbond generally is credited with the striking development and great prosperity of farming in Belgium since the World war. In former years Belgium imported three-fourths of its food, but since the farmers organized their efforts the country is almost self-supporting, and is able to sell abroad large quantities of eggs, milk, seeds, potatoes and vegetables.

The organization not only provides its members seeds, fertilizers and all farm implements, but markets the products of its members and is able to fix prices at a fair level of insurance to the producer a profit. So far, the Boerenbond has wisely refrained from working with the organization of Flemish farmers, but other Belgian provinces recently have come within its scope.

At Antwerp, the Boerenbond is building a $2,000,000 building which will be Belgium's first skyscraper. Several months ago the organization was valued at $350,000 a German bank building in Brussels which, owing to the World war, was not finished.

The Boerenbond has become so influential in politics on behalf of the regular army was selected as chief of staff of the inaugural parade for Herbert Hoover.

Merchant Discards Label "Speakeasy"

BERLIN, Feb. 16 (AP)—"Speakeasy" was the trademark adopted by a German shoe store in order to show its customers that the shoes offered for sale were not of German origin, but manufactured abroad.

Luckily for the German shoemaker, the manufacturer knew the meaning of the word "speakeasy" and informed his customer that this was a trademark for America for illegal drinking resorts.

The order for the imprint "Speakeasy" was cancelled immediately.

Historic River Jordan Will Produce Electrical Energy For Holy Land

STORIED STREAM OF BIBLICAL TIMES TO LABOR FOR NATIVES

Half Hour's Journey South of Sea of Galilee Engineers Make Steady Progress in Erecting Giant Power Station

By EINSTE DAVIS (Associated Press Correspondent)

TIBERIAS, Palestine, Feb. 16.—On the River Jordan, half an hour's journey south of the Sea of Galilee, steady progress is being made in the construction of a great hydro-electric power station which will usher in a new economic era for the Holy Land.

Under the supervising genius of a former Russian revolutionist, here called Pinhas Rubenberg, head of the Odessa police during the Kerenky regime, the storied stream of Bible times is to be made to produce 300,000 horsepower of energy for new Palestine's farms, homes and factories.

Palestine has no coal of its own, at all events as far as petroleum deposits worth exploiting. Concentrations on water.

Its economically exploitable reserves are in the Jordan river. Whoever has the control of these resources can monopolize the driving force of industry and of agriculture, and imperiously await the development of the country from an economic point of view. Rubenberg is in that position. Backed by the Zionist organization, he secured the concession for the sole exploitation of these resources and for the supply of electricity for the whole of Palestine with the exception of Jerusalem, the government having reserved to itself control of the pipes for electric power.

The scheme which Rubenberg is trying to realize, is to use the differences of level along the course of the Jordan from the Lake of Merom to the Dead Sea, starting with the stretch between the Sea of Galilee and Djer. Along this stretch of about 10 miles there is a drop of 150 feet. A little later, in the Rubenberg domain proper, down in a rocky hollow, the river comes into view again.

Dam Nearly Complete

Across the Yarmuk, which comes from a westerly direction, here flows into the Jordan, the scaffolding of a dam 25 feet high may be seen. This dam, now almost completed, is to force up the waters of the river to a height of 30 feet above the level of the sea of Galilee into a giant reservoir naturally formed by the hilly character of the region.

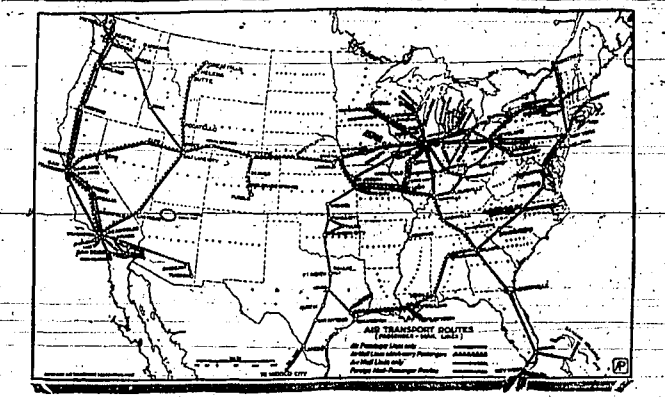

Opposite, across the Jordan, a second dam is being built. This, when completed, is also to force back the waters of the Jordan and to collect them in a reservoir. The picturesque valley bed will then be drained, the Jordan diverted for a short distance from its natural course, and from its reservoir conducted through a canal already partly dug, into the Yarmuk reservoir.

From here, a main canal has already been dug under the Halfa-Damascus railway, and after the rainy season will be lined with concrete. This canal is then to conduct the waters of the two rivers over the top of the cliff into the turbines of the power station. The foundations of the latter are already laid and the first layer of concrete put. Gradually machinery from England is arriving. To begin with, three water turbines of 8000 horsepower each are to be installed.

FEW PLACES UNVISITED BY AIRPLANES

Map showing air mail and passenger routes in the United States over which planes will fly 40,000 miles daily during February. Projected routes, to be opened within two months, will bring the daily mileage flown to more than 50,000.

CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Mail and passenger planes will fly one and one-half to two times the distance daily every day in February.

With Chicago as the center for a great network of airways, the opening of new routes and the extension of old ones brings the total miles flown daily in February to 40,000. The air line system has grown from a daily round trip with one mail between New York and Washington 10 years ago to its present nationwide status.

Within two months when new services to which equipment already has been bought, get into operation, the daily mileage flown will be in excess of 50,000 miles. Twenty companies, according to records of the American Air Transport association, are now operating passenger lines, carrying mail and passengers or passengers exclusively. Seven new passenger lines using multimotored planes will be inaugurated within three months, two of them planned as transcontinental.

Within the last year air-planes in civil aviation flew 40,000,000 miles, of which approximately 7,500,000 were with mail and express, 2,500,000 passenger mileage and the balance in such activities as aerial photography, airplane dusting of crops, forest patrol work, scientific studies, aerial advertising, geographical studies, scouting schools of flight, observing traffic congestion, searching for lost persons, surveying, map making, engineering surveys, carrying supplies to inaccessible regions or first aid to devastated cities.

are at present both suffering under the exceptionally high price of electric current, and impatiently await the moment when the Jordan will supply them with cheap motive power. The work is to be completed by the end of 1929. Rubenberg assumes that the 24,000 horsepower will readily find consumers and that before long he will be able to start building the second power station near Akaba, which is to generate the same amount of energy.

Rubenberg's schemes go beyond the provision of electric power. He has elaborated a project for the utilization of all the water resources of Palestine, for the exploitation of which he has secured the concession. If his plans succeed despite certain obstacles still to be overcome, it may safely be assumed that a new era will in very truth be rung down for the Holy Land.

Rat's Perish; Pike's Peak Tombstone Loses Meaning and May Follow Pests

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Feb. 16.—(AP)—An inscription on a head-board over a grave near the crest of lowering Pike's Peak, which for many years has stood the withering attacks of wind and storm, may be revised. The rat back in the hazy days of 1876, "Baby O'Keefe," camp mascot, died and was buried on this site. "Baby O'Keefe" was a burr.

An Army sergeant, one O'Keefe, accused by the antics of a huge family of mountain rats in the vicinity of the summit, painted upon the head-stone a epitaph:

Erected in memory of Baby O'Keefe, daughter of John and Nora O'Keefe, who was eaten by mountain rats in 1876.

Science now has come forward with a new rat poison which has been successfully used to exterminate the entire race of rats on the peak. It could be used so effectively that when administered to one rat, the poison is communicated to others as an epidemic. The rat race, largely hairy-tailed mountain creatures, many of them as big as cats.

The passing of the race, it is pointed out here, means that the significance of Sergeant O'Keefe's practical joke is lost to the modern age.

As a matter of fact, it was learned after Baby O'Keefe's death that she has passed away from indignation, the result of eating too many tin can rats.

Other than from the ravages of rats. The rat race on the summit found sustenance in the crevices of huge rocks and rarely were they seen in the summer. In the winter time, they took refuge from the elements in the summit house, much to the sorrow of the caretakers upon their return to the storm-battered peak with the dawn of spring. Once when a partition was removed at the house, practically a wagon load of rats was found where the rats had stored its ways. For many years every known method was used to kill the rats without avail.

Last fall, before the peak became storm-locked, members of the Adirondack club of mountain climbers, scaled the summit and planted bits of the new poison. The climbers, who derived their name from the fact that only one man is added to the club roster each year, reported after climbing the peak in the heart of the winter that not a rat was to be found.

SPECULATION SLOWS DOWN UNDER HIGHER RATES, SAYS BABSON

Famous Statistician Declares Time Has Arrived to Build Own Home With Plenty Money at Disposal of Designer

(Special to The News) BABSON PARK, Fla., Feb. 16—Roger W. Babson says that now is a favorable time to build your own home. In his statement on the subject he also points out that speculative construction is slowing down under the influence of higher money rates. There is, however, a large volume of money available for the home builder.

"Recent statistics indicate that building activity is slowing down somewhat under the pressure of unfavorable interest rates. While there is no general building depression in sight there is evidence of marked decline in speculative construction. The 14 per cent drop in residential building in December, 1928, was caused largely by abandonment of many speculative apartment house operations. The trend is now definitely off the speculative building and real estate market. This does not, however, prevent a large volume of construction for specific and necessary purposes. 1928 showed a decided gain in volume of public works and public utilities. From all indications this type of work will continue heavy this year. Road construction should prove an important feature.

Changing Times Building

Those who are interested in the building industry, either as employees, contractors, or material men, will do well to note the changes in building operations that are taking place. These changes are in several directions: First, more emphasis is being placed on construction of factories and industrial plants owing to the speeding up of industrial activity. Second, less emphasis will be put on speculative building, such as apartment houses, subdivisions, etc. Third, public works and public utilities, including road, building, electric power, power developments, and other engineering works will be done in huge volume. Plans are already laid and financing arranged for a number of important projects of this kind. Fourth, the country is at least temporarily over-built in stores and offices. This does not apply to all cities, but to a large number of them and is sufficiently general to affect the total.

"Study of the contracts awarded in December, 1928, the last figures now available, shows that a drop in speculative residential work is already occurring. Total residential contracts declined 14 per cent compared with December, 1927. On the other hand, factories, mills, warehouses, etc., gained 30 per cent. Public construction also shows a gain. This is, of course, the slack season for building operations. However, current figures do suggest the changes in demand to be expected at the opening of the more active building season in the Spring.

Home Building Not Affected

The money situation is curbing speculative operations in the building field, but so far as I have been able to determine there is plenty of money available for the man who wants to build his own home. Also, conditions are now more favorable to the home builder than they have been for some time. Building wages are still high, but materials are lower so that the total cost is about 5 per cent below the average of 1928. Also, the general slowing up in general building makes it easier for the prospective home builder to secure favorable contracts. Building labor is always more efficient during seasons of competition for work and it is frequently true that a man gets more for his money at these times even though union wages remain the same.

"My observation is that well located residential land is increasing steadily in value regardless of the fortunes or misfortunes of speculative subdivisions. There is just so much land and there will not be any more. If it is located in a growing community, and there are no unfavorable local conditions, its value should increase with the growth in wealth and prosperity of the country. This is particularly true of suburban property well connected by good roads or rapid transit facilities. It is always better to buy something of real value when nobody else wants it than to buy it when everyone is clamoring for it. Similarly, it is better to buy building materials, labor and other things that go to build a home when the market is dull than when it is boisterous. This applies to building your own home at the present time.

Why Dollar Goes

The department of labor has just made a very interesting study of proportionate costs of material and labor in building in two middle western cities and two Eastern cities. The proportion will, of course, vary in different parts of the country, but there are a few reasonably representative items, except in the case of the extreme West. It is rather surprising to find that labor occupies so important a part in residential building. Forty-six cents out of every dollar spent in building a home goes for labor, and 54 cents for materials. This emphasizes the importance of choosing a time to build when labor is anxious to keep its job and is correspondingly more efficient. Saving in material costs, while important, is not the whole story by any means.

As a matter of course, the department of labor has also collected some figures on the percentage of cost of each of the sub-contractors. These figures will also vary in different localities and with the different types of residential building. The figures do not include financing charges or other overhead. They apply only to the money spent on actual building operations. Out of every dollar 37 1/2 cents goes for carpentry work; 16 1/2 cents for brickwork; 9 1/2 cents for concrete; 9 1/2 cents for plumbing; 8 1/2 cents for plastering and lathing; 4 1/2 cents for painting; 4 cents for miscellaneous items; 2 1/2 for electric wiring and fixtures; 2 1/2 for roofing; 2 1/2 for clerical; 2 cents for excavating and grading; 2 for papering.

"Summarizing the building and real estate situation at the present time it is evident that the speculative end of the business has been temporarily overdone, and the tightening of the money situation is definitely unfavorable to such activity. On the other hand, there is plenty of money for the man who wants to build his own home, and conditions are more favorable for such building now than during times when he has to compete with huge speculative operations for men and materials. Business by the Babson chart now registers 5 per cent above normal compared with slightly below normal a year ago.

BURLEY COURT TO CONVEENE

BURLEY, Feb. 16 (Special to The News) — District court will convene here Monday. It is announced that there will be no jury called. On Monday Judge Hugh A. Baker will hear two motions for new trials, one by N. E. Montgomery, who was sentenced to the penitentiary for receiving stolen property, the other by the Alton-Idaho Land company, which strives to reopen a case against William J. Pierce for trespass.

COOPERATION PURPOSE OF CONVENTION IN POCATELLO

BURLEY, Feb. 16 (Special to The News) — T. J. Holland, president of the Idaho Bankers' association, stated that he replies to invitations to attend the bankers' agricultural conference in Pocatello, February 18, indicate that there will be a satisfactory attendance.

The purpose of the conference, Holland says, is to bring about closer cooperation between bankers and the county agents, and to encourage various projects for improving marketing and crop conditions for Idaho farmers. The meeting will be the first in this state held at an Idaho banker's agricultural conference, and will be attended by key bankers appointed to work for agricultural betterment, and by county agents and university extension specialists.

Supplementary to the list of speakers heretofore made public, there will be these men who are slated to make addresses: Dr. C. W. Hunsinger, assistant dean of agriculture, University of Idaho; T. J. Holland, president of the association, vice president of the Burley National Bank, and J. C. Galbreath, vice president of the First Security Bank, Pocatello, who will act as toastmaster. The musical program will be furnished by the music department of the southern branch of the university.

STYLE BEYOND ITS PRICE CLASS

LARGEST AND MOST BEAUTIFUL LOW-PRICED KNIGHT-ENGINE CAR EVER OFFERED

with the New "FINGER TIP CONTROL"

The greatest advance in driving convenience since the self-steerer. A single button, located in the center of the steering wheel, controls all functions of steering the motor, operating the lights and, according to the horn.

ONLY the most costly custom-built cars can compare in beauty of design and luxury of finish with the new style low-priced Willys-Knight. Sweep and verve of line, distinctive harmony of color and perfection of detail make the new Willys-Knight Six the outstanding creation of today's style specialists.

And never before has such a large and powerful Knight-engine car been offered at so low a price. The new style Willys-Knight is a definite triumph of progress, bringing the patented double-needle-valve engine, so notable for smoothness, silence and power, within easy reach of the thousands who have previously been restrained by the necessarily higher cost of this superior motor.

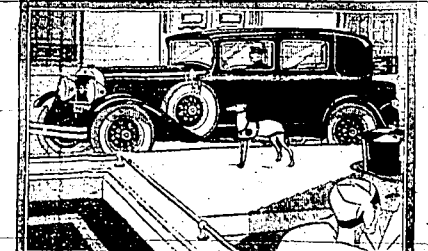

See the new style Willys-Knight Six at your earliest opportunity.

SHARP COMPETITION CUTS WHEAT PRICES

Chicago Closing Quotations On Bread-Cereal-Unsettled 7-8 to 11-4 Cents Net Off

CHICAGO, Feb. 10 (AP)—Sharp competition from cheap offerings of Argentine wheat to Europe, together with uncertainty of stocks, led to a slack to day in grain values here.

Chicago closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, 7/8 to 1 1/4 net. Corn finished 1/2 to 1/4 down, oats 5/8 to 1/2 off, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 1/8c.

In addition to the general bullish influence of stock market developments today, wheat traders here were especially influenced by announcement that nine cargoes of Argentine wheat had been disposed of to Great Britain, and that low-priced wheat from Argentina was pressing hard on all European markets.

THE GUMPS—A SWEETHEART ON PARADE

The Treasure of the Bucoleon

By Arthur D. Howden Smith

W. N. U. Service Copyright 1929 by Howden Smith, Inc. Copyright 1929 The Ridgeway Co.

She led us into an adjoining room where in the thickness of the wall a narrow doorway corkscrewed upward, leading on to the upper floor. She turned to the right, and entered one of the rooms. A ladder leaned against the wall below a trapdoor in the roof. In a corner stood a chest, which she unlocked. The chest revealed the contents that served for springs.

Mary looks very chic in her long dress, printed blouse and a full-trimmed pajama suit.

Mary's wardrobe is complete—she will have a outfit for each occasion. Her Gold's pocket-book is beginning to look like a treasure chest. It has been walked over by a troop of elephants.

This graceful evening gown of shell pink is made of a very small patterned lace and has the smartly dipping hem line.

"You are a brave girl. We will talk about this some other time, if she should meet again," she replied, her cords crackling as she dropped flat on the floor. "I am as good as dead," she said, and she had told me so. If Nikka's father had told me so, I might as well have said to me, Nikka merely said: "Hurry, Jack! We've lost too much time. Which way?"

from the courtyard or climbing over the roof. The only thing for us to do in the circumstances was to twist and turn without heed of discomfort, to lose both pursuers and ourselves in the breakneck pursuit of St. George. We succeeded in checking off the spots finally, but we were hopeless, starved, and it was not what we should have found the Khan of the Georgians and suggested through the gate to stand in a preposterous trap between a troop of men, cubs, bull-dogs, and a tiger.

When Nikka awakened with the first knock on his door, and admitted us. Smoking cigarette after cigarette as rapidly as he could roll after she listened to the story of our adventures, with avidity, and immediately dispatched his young men to spy around Tokkai's house, and learn the dispositions the enemy were taking. He was fastidious, but we should sleep while he kept watch.
