REVOLUTION SPREADS RAPIDLY IN MEXICO; THREE STATES UNITE

Provisional President, Gil Spends Day Consolidating Federal Forces to Crush Leaders of Newest Revolt

(By The Associated Press) CALEXICO, March 4—As a part of the mobilization movement in Lower California, the Mexican government commanded 12 commercial trucks at Mexicali tonight to transport soldiers and rurales from Tijuana, Tecate, Alaska and other border points to the federal garrison at Mexicali.

EL PASO, March 4 (AP)—Five thousand federal troops under command of General Francisco Urbalego engaged a large body of revolutionists in a pitched battle that lasted several hours this afternoon, reports from the battle zone said tonight.

MEXICO CITY, March 4—Provisional President Emilio Portes Gil, after a day spent in consolidating federal forces to crush the revolution, admitted tonight that a third state, Coahuila, had joined the opposition.

At the same time he declared that the revolution headed by General Jesus-María Aguirre, by Vera Cruz, General Francisco Manzo in Sonora and General J. González Escobar in Coahuila was the most unbridled any revolt in Mexico in recent times.

"These unfaithful leaders," he said, "have gone into open rebellion with the purpose of establishing dictatorship. They are actuated by no noble idea but their movement is nothing more than an idea of personal gain."

The president said that the majority of the army was loyally supporting his government and that the entire nation disapproved of the rebellion.

CALLER TO TAKE FIELD MEXICO CITY, March 4—An announcement made tonight that General Juan Andrué Almazán would lead federal troops against the Aguirre rebellion.

BLAST IN BULGARIA KILLS 28 PERSONS

Property Worth $1,000,000 in Ruin Following Explosion of Giant Arsenal

SOFIA, Bulgaria, March 4 (AP)—Twenty-eight persons, mostly men, were burned to death and 23 were seriously injured in an explosion in the largest military arsenal in Bulgaria here today. Property valued at $1,000,000 was destroyed.

The real cause of the catastrophe, which shook the capital to its foundations and created a panic among the population was not yet determined officially. One theory was that a woman, seeking water for a hot water bottle, carried a fuse signal too close to the hot coils.

Chief Executive Depends on Guidance of Providence in Discharge of Mighty Tasks

In Keeping With Traditions of Nation's History Thirty-First President Expresses Simply and Directly His Opinions Concerning Some of Outstanding Problems Confronting Government

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, March 4—Here is the text of the inaugural address of President Herbert Hoover: My countrymen: This occasion is not alone the administration of the most sacred oath which can be assumed by an American citizen. It is a dedication and consecration unto God to the highest office in service of our people. I assume this trust in the humility of knowledge that only through the guidance of Almighty Providence can I hope to discharge its ever increasing burdens.

It is in keeping with tradition throughout our history that I should express simply and directly the opinions which I hold concerning some of the matters of present importance. Our progress: If we survey the situation of our nation both at home and abroad, we find many satisfactions; we find some causes for concern. We have emerged from the losses of the great war and the reconstruction following it with increased virility and strength. From this strength we have contributed to the recovery and progress of the world. What America has done has given renewed hope and courage to all who have faith in government by the people.

In the large view, we have reached a higher degree of comfort and security than ever existed before in the history of the world. Through liberation from widespread poverty we have reached a higher degree of individual. (Continued on page four, column three)

SENATE PASSES BILL ON INHERITANCE TAX

Upper House Adopts Measure During Hectic Session; House's Day Busy

BOISE, March 4 (AP)—The inheritance tax measure, aimed at corking all leaks in the present inheritance tax structure, was passed by the senate today under suspension of the rules and now awaits only the governor's signature.

The bill was passed in a hectic afternoon in which the upper house was torn between the necessity for rushing through a lot of legislation and the desire of certain senators to be heard.

The house, less unruly, passed 30 measures during the day, but was unable to complete the job mapped out by the leaders and with the senate went into the first night meeting of this session.

Prospects of an early adjournment became somewhat dimmer this afternoon when the unconfirmed report that the senate would not act on the proposed appropriation for an audit of the public school endowment funds. The bill was passed by the senate of Senators Rockwell, Treiber, Robertson and Gibson that the $100,000 carried in the bill was not enough to assure an adequate audit.

Handclapping Ripple Grows to Dull Thunder as Huge Throng Greets Passing Chieftain For Last Time

(Associated Press Staff Writer) NORTHAMPTON, Mass., (Tuesday Morning), March 5—The special train bearing former President and Mrs. Coolidge arrived here at 1:25 A. M. today.

WASHINGTON, March 4—Calvin Coolidge was speeding northward tonight, a private again in the vast army of American citizenry. Behind him in Washington the stir and joyous tumult that welcomed his successor to the presidency ebbed and flowed with the passing hours.

But the man at whom the finger of destiny pointed with such tragic suddenness in the dark, small hours of an August morning nearly six years ago was now with all that his work was finished. His eyes were fixed on the peaceful sanctuary that awaits him in New England. He was going home.

ENDURING OVATIONS MARK INDUCTION OF LEADERS OF NATION

California Engineer Assumes Gravest Duties Undertaken in Crowded Life of Far-Flung Activities

(By JAMES J. WILLIAMS) (Associated Press Staff Writer) WASHINGTON, March 4—The American people today with solemn ceremony placed Herbert Hoover in the highest office within their gift—that of president of the United States.

With a pelting, stinging rain falling, he swore to uphold and defend the constitution of the United States, kissed a verse in the Bible and began the gravest duty ever demanded of him in his life—far-flung activities. And turning to his inaugural address he made a pledge to enforce all laws, including the prohibition amendment, to the full extent of his ability.

Into office with this California engineer and orphaned Quaker went Charles Curtis, whom the nation took from an Indian reservation and elevated to the vice presidency. The two then rode down the historic route from the capitol to the White House, handclapped, rain-bent, but smiling their happiness over one of the most remarkable and enduring ovations ever witnessed for vice president in recent years.

Thousands in Driving Rain For nearly four hours the thousands stood in driving rain willing to do honor to the foremost two Americans. They filled the long rows of water-soaked stands lining the route, they perched upon perilous, slippery ledges of buildings flanking the street, dripping with rain, some with sweaters, some with umbrellas, some with hats.

On the capitol plaza, shivering with its water, the thousands behind dozens of bands tramped the wet, pool-studded pavements until late in the day to salute the new president. He stood in a reviewing stand in front of the White House, glowing with pleasure by his side the new lady of the land, animated with interest, waved her hand in numerous salutes.

When the parade ended and President Hoover entered his new home, his occupation of yesterday was speeding toward the quietness of Northampton, Massachusetts, seeking the rest of a private citizen.

Inauguration day in Washington means just that. The train of events leading up to the ceremonial installation of the president and vice president began at 10 o'clock in the morning.

IDAHOANS WITNESS CAPITAL CEREMONIES

Former Governor D. W. Davis and Miss Gladys Terhune Represent Gem State

WASHINGTON, March 4 (AP)—Two former governors of Utah and one former executive of Idaho and hundreds of other residents of the Intermountain country, joined with the nation today in celebrating the elevation of the West's greatest figure, Herbert Hoover, to the presidency.

While governors of neither Utah or Idaho were able to make the long trip to the national capital to participate officially in the inauguration ceremonies, both states were none the less well represented.

Former Governor D. W. Davis, Idaho, was an invited and special guest in the gallery of the senate chamber, where he was the guest of Senator Thomas. He was accompanied by Miss Gladys Terhune, Twin Falls, Idaho's Republican national committeewoman, who acted as chaperone for Governor H. C. Baldrige.

Former Governor Heber M. Wells, and another ex-governor who were included among many prominent citizens of that state who looked on as the new president took office.

POCAHELLO, March 4 (AP)—Three women and one man came to the rescue and saved Reed Berjano, 6, and his brother, Bobby, 4, from drowning in the icy waters of the Portneuf river here today.

The children were playing on the ice which lines the river in some places when a portion gave away and both were thrown into the water.

Mrs. E. E. Beck and Mrs. T. R. Grayson, neighbors, rushed to the bank and managed to reach Bobby and pull him ashore. In the meantime, another neighbor, Mrs. Harry Smith, rushed to the home of William Woodard for assistance. Woodard took no time in diving into the icy waters and bringing Reed safely ashore.

CALIFORNIANS POSTPONE EXCURSION INTO MEXICO

SAN FRANCISCO, March 4 (AP)—Plans for the California Press Association's excursion to Mexico City have been postponed one week. It was announced today that several persons reported missing tonight after an explosion which wrecked the Backus hotel, a two-story brick structure. Seven persons were injured, including a baby, but no one was reported dead.

At the risk of their lives the fire brigade erected ladders against the flaming building and made a heady climb to iron-barred windows. While red hot steel projectiles rained from the interior, rescuers were aided by the workers from the adjoining building, and the inferno of exploding shells. Groups of hysterical relatives broke through the fire lines to rescue their men and women to save their loved ones who already had perished.

PLAINVIEW, Texas, March 4 (AP)—Two men were killed, one was perhaps fatally injured and a fourth received less serious wounds in the premature explosion of dynamite here today. The explosion occurred in the Panhandle and Grand Creek section of the Texas coast. The dead were Sam Apperson, 25, and Chan H. Robinson, 25. E. P. Hodgkins was blinded and his leg shattered. His recovery was doubtful tonight.

Position of Charles Curtis On Senate Rules Different Than Those of Predecessor

Fresh From 20 Years' Service in Highest Legislative Body of Land, Kansas Declares New Office Not One Including Law-making Power or Requiring Consultation on Part of Senators

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Assuming the vice presidency today with an inaugural address to the senators over whom he will preside, Charles Curtis took a position sharply contrary to that of his predecessor on the relationship of the chief officer of the senate to the senate's rules.

Fresh from 20 years' service in the senate Mr. Curtis asserted to his colleagues that the vice president "is not one of the makers of the law, nor is he consulted about the rules adopted to govern your action."

Whereas four years ago Charles G. Dawes, the business man entering the vice presidency, had pleaded for revision of the senate rules to limit debate, Mr. Curtis, the legislator, today declared the obligations and duties of the vice president are not to change the rules which have brought the United States senate to its present recognized position of paramount importance as a legislative body.

"My service among you," he declared, "has impressed me with the responsibility of every senator and at the same time it has given me a clear understanding of the duties and obligations of the vice president.

"He is not one of the makers of the law, nor is he consulted about the rules adopted to govern your actions. His obligations are to the people of the country to whom he owes his high position and his duty to you senators call for a fair and impartial construction of the rules which you, yourselves, have adopted and which you alone may change. His obligations and duties require a recognition and maintenance of the precedents which have brought the United States senate to its present recognized position of paramount importance as a legislative body."

Turning to his predecessor the new vice president expressed his "appreciation of the administration and education for his services."

"We will agree," said Curtis, "that he has filled his arduous duties and frequently under conditions of great distinction, not only to himself but to the senate and to the people of the United States."

The text of Mr. Curtis' address follows:

"The United States senate is today one of the most distinguished legislative bodies in the world..."

"I would seem fitting also at this point to offer a word of welcome and greeting to our new senators..."

"It is not one of the makers of the law, nor is he consulted about the rules adopted to govern your action..."

"The vice president is not one of the makers of the law, nor is he consulted about the rules adopted to govern your action..."

The Bible used by President Hoover when he took the oath was of old family.

Two men, one numbered among President Hoover's staunchest supporters and the other one of his most unrelenting opponents, were absent today from his inauguration.

A cowboy band, a group of Texans six feet tall, was one of the most optimistic units in the inaugural parade during the afternoon's downpour.

Twenty aged Confederate veterans from Mississippi rode in President Hoover's inaugural parade and waved the Stars and Bars of the Confederacy.

Mrs. Coolidge had a vivacious appearance when she bade farewell to Washington at the Union station.

SEVENTIETH SESSION OF CONGRESS COMES PEACEABLY TO CLOSE

Baffling Problems of Farm Relief and Tariff Revisions Legacies to Next Gathering of Legislators

(By WALTER CHAMBERLIN, Associated Press Staff Writer)

WASHINGTON, March 4.—The seventieth congress ended its session quietly today after writing a record as colorful as that of any of its recent predecessors.

It enacted the bill to control the turbulent waters of the Mississippi river system; greatly expanded the nation's naval forces; paved the way for harnessing for man's uses the mighty Colorado river; and placed upon the statute books a new act to materially increase penalties for violation of the prohibition law.

In addition, the senate ratified the Kellogg treaty to have war renounced as a national policy by the nations of the world.

The congress, however, left as a legacy to its successor the vexing problems of farm relief, tariff revision but it did take steps to enable early consideration of both these questions at an approaching session of the congress to be convened some time next month.

The closing hours of Capitol Hill today were in contrast to the Seventieth congress's opening session two years ago when charges of excessive campaign expenses and the election contest produced confusion in the chamber.

For a brief space this morning a controversy over a bill to postpone the effective date of the national origins program of the Federal Reserve bank opened to upset the decorum of the senate. But this dispute faded as the noon hour approached and the often bustling senate came to a peaceful end.

The immigration measure, passed yesterday by the house the first Sunday session in six years, died with the congress, after under existing laws the national origins clause will become operative on July 1. Under its provisions England and northern Ireland will be favored in immigration at the expense of Germany, Sweden and Norway.

The six minutes in both houses were dominated by farewells and eulogies to departing leaders.

Charles Curtis, Kansas, who retired two days ago to the vice presidency, was paid tribute by Senator and Speaker Republican, Utah, and then Senator Joe Robinson, the Democratic leader, who eulogized Curtis for the vice presidency in the nation.

In the house as the noon hour approached Representative John O. Dillman, Connecticut, the Republican leader, said that before the bang of the gavel he would like to hear from Representative Charles Curtis, the Democratic minority leader, who after 24 years of continuous service today retired.

The change in his confusion as Dillman spoke, members with hats and coats on their arms, were leaving through the main doorway for the inaugural ceremonies in the senate chamber rose from the seat, a hush fell. The call of members ceased.

Charles Curtis walked the wall in front of the rostrum, turning and facing the speaker, one of his closest personal friends, he said.

"Mr. Speaker and my friends of the house:

"This is perhaps an occasion when it would be quite proper for me to say something of a personal nature on leaving a personal flavor and yet I shall not do that because I have to attempt it, I realize I would display an emotion which, while I certainly would not be ashamed of, nevertheless would not be of interest to the house."

The Tennessee's final pleas was for a final anti-trust legislation as it would seem, each day was being for a fundamental principle, and that for the preservation of local self-government.

Want More Information
Members of the council want to know whether a proposition to authorize the city to hold in Twin Falls next March 22 to be open to all makes of cars, or whether some one dealer is planning to display his own models on this exhibition. The proposition came before the council last evening on an application form permit to close Shoshone street between Fourth and Seventh avenues, automobiles to be displayed in that area.
Councilmen postponed action to their next meeting in order to obtain more detailed information in regard to the enterprise.

Upon recommendation of the city aldermen, the council voted to authorize the mayor to enter into lease agreements with the Oregon-Short Line, one for a place in the city and another for the purpose of a portion of Minidoka tract which overlaps property at the south end of Main avenue.

Transfers Garbage Contract
Similarly the council voted to approval a new agreement of the garbage hauling contract with the city company. The council, a week ago, bondsmen for Tipton, the city company, had been transferred to Ivan Herral, who had been guarantor to the bondsmen Tipton's bond. The council, a week ago, had called upon the bondsmen to make good the performance of the contract.
Until the transfer of Herral is received $100 from Tipton in compensation for work involved in removing garbage a protracted and costly period.

Supplementing a monthly report which showed $2,444 receipts of which $1,000 was for the sale of bonds, the city clerk, during February, G. H.
Hall, city clerk, advised the council last evening a statement showing municipal tax for the total 1928 for the January and February months.
The statement shows that 92 per cent of collections, the clerk said, was received this year as last. Receipts of the clerk's office include: fines, fi-ces, police court, fines and interest on bank deposits.

Treasurer Finds Income
The city treasurer reported $52,601 receipts during the month, with expenditures totaling $48,389 and a balance of $41,104 in cash and securities on hand at the end of the month.

Waterworks rentals receivable for the month totaled $381 and collections for the amount to $377.50, including $74.50 for use of electric power in machine in breaking ice in frozen pipes.

FLOOD WATERS CAUSE DAMAGE TO HIGHWAY

Work on repairs will begin this morning in an effort to make the road passable until such time as it can be completely repaired. Mr. Sinema said the road for 1000 feet from the top of the bridge is completely bad, he stated.

Overflow waters from the course near the rim rock above great Shoshone Falls have saturated the highway to such an extent that rain down the highway on this side of the Snake river made it utterly impassable. It was stated yesterday by D. Sinema, engineer, for the Twin Falls highway district.

Work on repairs will begin this morning in an effort to make the road passable until such time as it can be completely repaired. Mr. Sinema said the road for 1000 feet from the top of the bridge is completely bad, he stated.

The Twin Falls are to be very beautiful now and many are interested in getting close to them. It is said, hence an effort will be made to get the road in shape for temporary travel as soon as possible. Although highway generally show the effects of the snow and the thaw, there is no serious water trouble. Mr. Sinema said. Broken lateral bars have caused an overflow in a few places. Water was running over the road between Kimberly and Hansen bridges. The temporary flood on Hansen road avenue has subsided.

Reports from Boise showed that the amendment to the weed fund creating the weed fund into a permanent revolving fund had passed both houses of the legislature. Heretofore it has been necessary to raise the full amount of the budget from taxes as money paid back to the weed commissioner could not be used again to purchase more material. Under the amendment only a small appropriation will be needed, as money paid by farmers or others for material can be used to buy more material. RESORTS TO LAWSUIT TO CLEAR MORTGAGE RECORD

A mortgage on 129 acres of land given to secure payment of a $200 mortgage that appears on Twin Falls court records, but nowhere else, constitutes a cloud on the title to the land which Mrs. Mary J. Hogg seeks to have removed by action filed in district court here yesterday. Mrs. Hogg, according to the complaint, is the widow of John Hogg, who, she alleges, the mortgage is alleged to have been executed in February, 1913. It was drawn in favor of the Citizens State bank of Boise which subsequently closed its doors. According to the complaint no trace of the mortgage has been found in the bank's records and Mr. Hogg says that she was told by her husband before his death that there were no encumbrances against the land. The suit was filed through Harold L. Yeaman, Boise, against the Citizens State bank, trustees of the bank and E. W. Powell, state commissioner of finance.

We had been at this for rather more than an hour, without the faintest hint of success, when we were interrupted by a hail from Hugh...

"What does it matter?" said Hugh abruptly. "We're not interested in whether or not the subjects of the Emperor Andronicus were anxious to praise him. I could care him for putting a cock-and-bull story on my foolish ancestor."

"Most amazing!" he muttered to himself. "What is it, dad?" clamored Betty. "But it can't be," he said, shaking his head. "Quite extraordinary! Dear me, I never saw this formula before."

"If there were tongues many might praise him," repeated Betty again. "And it was the Emperor Andronicus! The same, daddy? The one the instructions speak about?"

"By gum," groaned Betty indignantly. "Isn't this the limit?" "Read it anyway," I urged.

"If it was as hard a job as we tackled, despite the softening of the mortar by the moisture of the ages; but after two hours, Hugh and Vernon King were able to pry the slab loose and it fell out in a mighty splash, Hugh thrust in the end of the crowbar, and it struck brick-work. Our torches showed this very flimsy, and when it was pounded it rick hollow. The three of us who had two arms apiece went at it with a will, and I was dispatched for reinforcements."

Miss Gladys Terhune, Idaho National Republican Committeewoman, Subject Of Story Written by Twin Falls Woman

When Herbert Hoover on tomorrow reveals the presidential candidate which Calvin Coolidge did not choose to wear longer, it will be in the presence of spectators from and representatives of the state. Twin Falls will have the honor of furnishing the official representative for the state of Idaho in the person of Miss Gladys Terhune, designated by Governor H. C. Baldrige to act in that capacity.

The February issue of the Pacific Northwest tells the story of the political rise of Miss Terhune, who is now serving her second term as national committeewoman from Idaho in an organization headed by Miss Katharine Pray of this city.

The following is the story: Evidence is not lacking that the brilliant, cultured and charmingly intelligent woman who is now the national committeewoman of the Idaho National Republican party is no indication of her really fine refinement and good taste and that, like other gentlemen, he has a preference for the more conservative. At any rate the lumbering, grumbling and, at times, intractable specimen known in the Idaho zone, is ready at any time to have her eye for the prize. He will, however, dance a horn pipe or otherwise do his stuff for Miss Gladys Terhune. He will not, however, be a Republican member of the national Republican committee.

Personally, Miss Terhune is rather a slight young woman with blue eyes and really golden, naturally golden, hair which gives her a deceptive appearance. Her chief charms lie in the unaffected simplicity and frankness of her manner and her unflinching and kindly woman.

The youngest committeewoman of the national Republican party, Miss Terhune is the most photographed of the national convention of the Republican party, none of which reached the bloom of her remarkable unselfconsciousness. Being most friendly and approachable, she makes acquaintances readily, and acquaintances have the immediate feeling of being her warm and particular friends. It is a captivating gift—and usually a very successful one.

Her life, up to this time has not been without handicaps that would have perhaps daunted a woman of lesser resolve. She has been victimized by her superb disregard of their policy. During infancy, an illness effected the development of one foot to the detriment of the other. She began to wear an especially built shoe to counteract a limp. During her school days, when this ailment was at its height, she had little part in the ordinary activity of school life. And that phase of her childhood terminated abruptly during the first year in high school, when economic conditions at home made it necessary for her to go to work to assist in the support of her mother and the three younger children. She began addressing envelopes at a weekly wage so infinitesimal that she can scarcely recall that she received anything at all. But she was not afraid to work, and her "boss" was not afraid to let her, and though the pay gradually bettered somewhat, she resolved to leave Springfield, Illinois, where they had lived for years, and go to west where wages were reputed to be larger and opportunities for advancement more frequent.

There was an uncle living at Shoshone, Idaho, and at his invitation the mother and four children—came west. Miss Gladys, then about eighteen, was a competent stenographer, and she found work immediately in the court house at Shoshone.

"Courthouse employees are usually believed not to work hard enough to make laughing, and so well had I grounded in the technique of filling every unforgiving minute full of typewritten words, that by the end of the second day I was waited on by a delegation of the alleged employees and asked to check my speed. Did I want to work myself out of a job, and not myself only, but my more or less esteemed contemporaries, as well? I did not.

"When the particular work which I was doing in that county was finished, I went to Halley to take up another special in the court house. Here I was on nice new desks, and I didn't care how much money I made in a day."

Halley is a picturesque old town, nest-that the women of the party are not getting a fair share of representation on committees. The delegates she addressed without hint of unpleasant content, for the matter is adjusted.

In her contacts with the women of the state, she is not slow to tell them that political preference and consideration will come to them in direct proportion to their participation in responsibility. "The president is your field," she tells them. "When you have shown your interest in the administration of local government, you will be ready to ask for and to receive a place in national and state politics."

Although Idaho has from the first been a state which permitted equal suffrage, Miss Terhune states that she does not find among the women of the state that active interest and information on government affairs which now cover most of the state.

For the past two sessions of the state legislature she has acted as secretary to the speaker of the lower house, thus keeping the speaker in touch with the progress of state legislation.

Her contacts with men in business and politics have in no wise tended to mark her masculine or aggressive. In some manner, all her own, she gets results, and everyone is happy in the outcome. But for the alert mature intelligence of her glance, she might be a delightful little girl playing with her dolls, and it is this simple combination of naïveté coupled with a keen and analytical mind which will take her as far as she wishes to go.

Service to the party has already entitled her to the most marked preference in the way of appointment to office if she wished to avoid herself of it, but positions that might take her to the cities have not been her choice.

"I love the west, and that is my place," she says firmly. "I am not happy in cities. I am a small town person. I have time to see my friends, to live with them and share their interests, and that is to enjoy life. In a city, I am smothered and unhappy. There is all the future in Idaho any one could want, and plenty of room besides."

Belgian Queen Lends Aid to Air Congress

BRUSSELS, March 2 (AP)—Elizabeth, queen of the Belgians, long a patron and devotee of flying, has consented to be joint sponsor of the first international congress of aviation, to be held in Paris in May. The president of France is the co-sponsor.

The Belgian king and queen have traveled by air more than any other royal rulers in the world. When visiting the Congo last year they flew for almost a thousand miles over virgin forests and jungles. They expressed great delight in the experience.

Queen Elizabeth on several occasions during the war went to England by air. Since then she has missed no chance to fly, most of her trips being in company of King Albert.

GOVERNMENT REFUSES TO GRANT POWER RE-HEARING

BURLEY, March 4 (Special to The News)—Petition for a rehearing of the division of commercial power profits arising from operation of the Minidoka dam power plant has been refused by the secretary of the interior. This information is contained in a dispatch to George Lyle, secretary of the Burley Irrigation district, from attorney S. T. Lewis who is representing the district in Washington.

This decision by Secretary West disposes of the attempt of directors of the gravity system of the Minidoka project to reposition distribution of commercial power proceeds and leaves the apportionment as it was originally made, 50 per cent to the pumping system and 50 per cent to the gravity system. The distribution involves close to $100,000 per year.

Burley Man's Radio Set Gets Station in Denmark

BURLEY, March 4 (Special to The News)—Arthur Dunn, deputy auditor and radio enthusiast, is telling of some rather unusual experiences he has recently had in long distance reception. He has equipped his radio with a special short wave device. This appliance has enabled him to hear an announcement from a Denmark station, spoken in English, of a proposed broadcast to Iceland and Greenland for the benefit of fans of the death of their grand-daughter, in those distant countries. He also heard Pittsburgh talking directly to Commander Byrd, at the South pole, and Byrd's replies in code, the distance being approximately 11,000 miles.
