

HOOVER CONSIDERING PROPOSED CHANGE IN JUSTICE MACHINERY

One of First Steps in Enforcement Adequate Organization of Judicial System, Says President

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, March 8.—Far-reaching changes in the whole federal system of justice are contemplated by President Hoover in the re-organization of a national commission to critically consider the question of law enforcement.

"The first step in law enforcement is adequate organization of our judicial and enforcement system," the president declared in a statement issued today in the White House in response to questions from newspaper correspondents.

The commission is to consider re-distribution of functions, simplification of procedure, provision of additional special tribunals to clear up present delay in the trial of cases, the better selection of juries, and the more effective organization of agencies of investigation, and prosecution.

Considers Methods Included in the critical survey will be consideration of the method of employment of the present number of judges and clerks, the better selection of juries, and the more effective organization of agencies of investigation, and prosecution.

Whether the president can accomplish the transfer has not been decided, but it is a matter of speculation with some insisting that, since Congress placed the prohibition trade restriction on other subjects, only Congress can authorize the placing of its functions into another department.

Ventures No Opinion The chief executive has ventured no opinion on this matter, but he is expected to state whether he will seek an opinion from Attorney General Mitchell. Since he looks upon this as an important matter, it is expected that he will be striving to get it taken up at the extra session of Congress if there is any possibility that congressional action is necessary.

Mr. Hoover still is giving thought to the question of the re-organization of the judicial system, but he has made up his mind as to individuals he has not so indicated, nor has he been asked to indicate the size of the commission, whether it will consist of five men or a dozen. Attorney General Mitchell is being consulted in the matter and it is expected that little time before the makeup of the body is announced.

Friend of Thousands of Former Service Men Angers Call in Liverpool

NEW YORK, March 8 (AP)—The war chapters of the British Empire League and British soldiers during the World War are being called in Liverpool today.

Rev. G. A. Studdert Kennedy, chaplain to his majesty, the king, had accompanied to influenza. Thousands of former service men knew him, however, not by that name or title, but as "Woodbine Willie."

The story of how he got the nickname is briefly this: One cold, wet night in the early spring of 1915, Mr. Kennedy was standing by the side of a trench in France. He was looking, he explained, for "a Woodbine" to smoke.

Now Woodbine is the name of a British cigarette, which in war times was sold at five for a penny. Kennedy didn't smoke, but seeing his friend he soon found a man who did. When he returned, with the cigarette, the funny thing happened, causing him to cough and after taking one puff, remarked: "Righto, thanks again, Woodbine."

That incident, Kennedy afterward related, made the minister wonder whether the British people would be in need of smokes and so he became a walking warehouse for cigarettes.

"I roamed throughout the British forces in the army and the navy, and a little preaching with them. When the American troops came over, I was in the line."

And soon he was known, almost throughout the armies, as "Woodbine Willie." He estimated that he distributed 500,000 packs of cigarettes weekly for three and a half years.

Mr. Kennedy lived all his life, except for a few years in the States where his father had a church. He was a practical Christian, and he summed it up in these words: "The church that does not concern itself with the men ground down, impoverished, in rage, but only talks of men's souls has no right to exist."

Stray Bullets In El Paso End Life Of American Girl

(By EDWARD F. NELSON) Associated Press Staff Writer

JUAREZ, Chihuahua, March 8.—Revolvers against the Mexican government carried their battle cry to the Rio Grande today with a machine gun and rifle barrage through the streets of this battle-scarred border city and tonight were in complete possession of the prized railroad center. Descending on the city after a machine gun barrage, the rebels, 200 strong, rough back the resistance of some 600 federal soldiers, captured in quick succession the seven blocks of fortified city and forced a truce a few hours later with the federalists in full retreat on the banks of the Rio Grande.

One American casualty, however, was reported. Baby Lydia Roberts, a two-year-old infant, whose parents are American citizens, was slain by a stray bullet from the enemy.

Stray Bullets In El Paso End Life Of American Girl

Federal Casualties Stand at 13 Dead; Invaders of Battle-Scarred City Lose Nine Men During Forenoon

One American casualty, however, was reported. Baby Lydia Roberts, a two-year-old infant, whose parents are American citizens, was slain by a stray bullet from the enemy.

The battle began just after dawn and by noon the federalists were ready to quit.

The casualties for the government were estimated at 13 dead and 100 wounded. The rebels were reported to have lost 9 men and 100 wounded.

Rebels with red bands on their arms, distinguishing them from the federalists by arms of the Mexican army, slipped close to Juarez under cover of darkness today and when mist of the early morning was rising the battle of gunfire was on.

Moving upon Juarez from the east and west, the rebels were seen to be moving in from both sides and at the same time a train of box cars backed up the tracks from the city to the railroads into the heart of the city.

There was a full after the first onslaught as federal soldiers from the city and from the surrounding area with machine guns and the light concentrated in the main streets of the city. These thoroughfare normal housing quarters and gambling houses, went to be patronized by folks from the American side, were the scene of a spectacular fighting. Some of the dead were in the street and windows of buildings were shattered by bullets.

Drainary Fighting Federal soldiers gradually withdrew and by 8 A. M. their forces were driven to the river bank and a position of retreat west of the city. There they maintained desultory fighting throughout the morning. Stray bullets from the battle fell in El Paso where two children were reported wounded shortly after the sun had set.

A bullet went through the car of an American army officer parked on the El Paso end of the international bridge and some 200 bullets flew 10 or more blocks into the city.

Shortly before noon Brigadier General George B. Maxwell, commander at Fort Bliss crossed the international bridge and conferred with the federal commander, General Matias Ramos, asking permission to cross the federal lines to warn General Miguel Aleman in the city of El Paso against firing across the river.

General Ramos suggested to Moseley that the federal position was such that he could hold on to the city of El Paso and that he would be willing to quit, if the rebels would cease firing and consent to other guarantees of safety or permit the federalists to be interned on the American side.

General Moseley then walked to the rebel headquarters in the Mesa hotel, where he met General Valles, who accompanied him to the Mesa hotel, where he met General Valles, who accompanied him to the Mesa hotel, where he met General Valles.

An agreement was made to intern the federal soldiers at Fort Bliss. After the inter-crowds of Mexicans thronged the streets of Juarez. Rebel officers took charge of orders with the retreat of the federalists to a dyke at the river and issued strict orders against looting. Conditions were orderly, but the closed and business was suspended.

Reporters Lie On Cafe Floor While Watching Fighters

chill family spent their time between peering hurriedly out of windows and peering into the street when the fire grew more intense. Reporters who telephoned their papers telephoned from a position in the floor.

Close fighting when a group of about 15 cavalrymen charged toward Lerdo street on the west from Ochoa street. The Mexicans, who were in the street in the face of Ochoa street, infantrymen hiding behind posted waited until the horsemen approached within yards and then opened fire. Several hundred shots must have been fired in the encounter, but so far no casualties could see a horse was the only casualty.

All the newspapermen who were able to get early reports to their papers hurriedly packed into the street when the fighting remained bare on duty at their posts on the telephone exchange until communication was cut off.

Machine gun fire added its steady rumble to what seemed to be the popping of hundreds of pistols and rifles as the rebels charged. The Mexicans, who were in the street in the face of Ochoa street, infantrymen hiding behind posted waited until the horsemen approached within yards and then opened fire. Several hundred shots must have been fired in the encounter, but so far no casualties could see a horse was the only casualty.

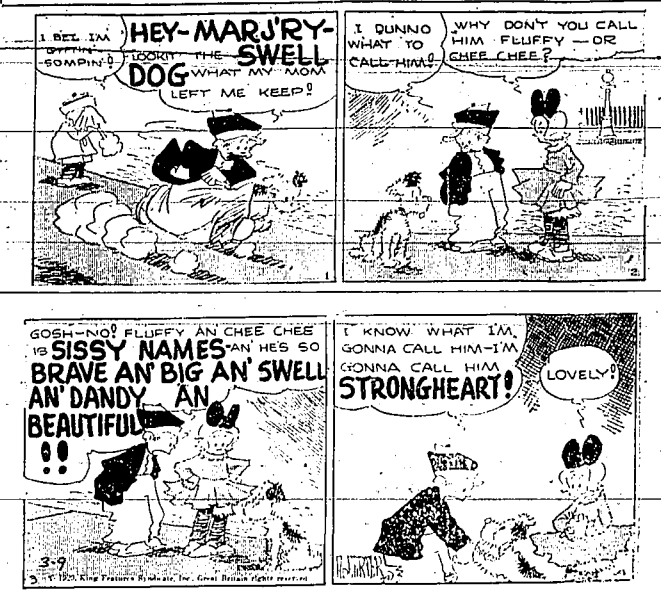

"Who are you for?" yelled an officer. "For the government," came the answer. "Well, that's all right," the cavalry leader replied.

For a moment it seemed the two groups were taking to the air. Then without warning, both sides opened fire simultaneously.

About a time foot soldiers were blazing away within 25 feet of the Mitchell house. One soldier who appeared to be a federal spotted himself on the curbing in front of the house and called out a cigarette while bullets whizzed past him.

He'd duck, take a puff at his cigarette, and then with a loud yell would throw his gun to his shoulder, take aim and blaze away. Repeated the performance several times and then calmly sauntered away, still puffing the cigarette.

What's Your Spring Tonic?

Do you plan on drinking sassafras tea, bit- ters, some kind of a tonic, or eating sulphur and molasses, as almost everyone did each Spring only a few years back, or have you been taking your tonic regularly from day to day through eating a lot of fresh fruits and vegetables? We will wager one or the other is true and we sincerely hope that you will not be compelled to use these old-fashioned, system purifiers this Spring.

Some People Don't Know

Some people wonder why there is no necessity for the use of these old-fashioned remedies each Spring as was formerly the case, but most people know that it is because of a liberal use of fresh fruits and vegetables throughout the entire year. People once hibernated in winter time and existed largely on meat, bread, potatoes and milk. This made a system cleanser necessary every Spring. Druggists have entered the food business through serving lunches, selling coffees, jams and teas and we are glad to be able to take some of their business by keeping people well through causing them to eat good wholesome fruits and vegetables.

Twin Falls Boys And Buhl Sextet District Hoop Champions

Bruin Basketeers

Beat Albion Team On Kimberly Floor

Jones' Five Successfully Defends Claim to Championship of South Central Division in Fast Battle

(Special to The News)

KIMBERLY, March 8—The Twin Falls boys settled the question of the district basketball championship when they defeated Albion, the B class champions here tonight, 25 to 15. Albion has a fast, skillful team that has won its way through two sub-district tournaments to the right to contest with the Bruins for the district championship. But it was against a defense that it could not consistently penetrate, and a scoring power it could not stop. The Twin Falls boys are the taller, and made full use of their extra reach; but in team work, and sharp, nippy play, had no edge over the Albion team.

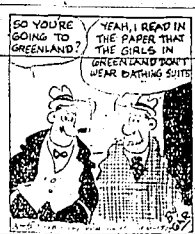

Bruins Shoot Off—Albion broke through first with a goal from the field, followed by a point from a free throw, before the Bruins could find the net. The Bruins were throwing for the basket constantly, they made 24 out of 35 shots. The Bruins, without counting fouls until the session was two thirds over. The steady pressure of the Twin Falls scoring attempts took the edge off the Albion team, and as soon as this happened the ball began to find the hoop for the Bruins. They scored four from the field in time to lead at the quarter, 8 to 3. The second quarter added 5 points to each team's total, but if points were scored for fouls made, the bruins would have had a long margin. They threw enough, but only two went in.

Twin Falls Stronger—The effort—the Albion—played made to hold their opponents in check that second quarter took much of their strength, so much that even the rest between halves did not make it up, and the Bruins were the fresher when the second half opened. Playing the same steady guard shooting for the hoop and driving in to take the missed shots, they ran the score up to 21 to 9 in their favor at the third quarter, without then took things rather easily the rest of the way. Albion scored 6 points in the last quarter, but her team was unable to get close enough through the Bruin defense to become dangerous.

Thompson led the Albion scoring with 7 points, was fast in the break, and very useful to his team in keeping the Twin Falls quarter occupied. In center Albion had Horsley, tall enough to make Finch jump his highest, and a cool, dependable head on the floor. He had hard luck with his field throws, possibly because he was hurried constantly by the Twin Falls defense, but he got them away even if they did not sink. Perrins and McCoy at guards did good work, scatted taller forwards, and made Twin Falls do much of its shooting from the outer spaces. In the scrimmages under the basket they were not so successful against the greater reach they had to fight.

rest were present, but not scoring. The whole Twin Falls team was off on the set-up shot. Most of the scores came from long tries, or repeated out of the under-basket pile. When an easy one came along the Bruin players appeared so established by the occurrence that their usual skill deserted them. Taylor was high man with 17 points, Finch and Weaver got 4 each, and the lack of more scores may be laid to the style of game the Twin Falls team played. They were in the lead after the first quarter was over, were able to hold that lead and add to it without resorting to the soft cuts that marked their earlier season games, and had enough defense at all times in present any run of Albion scores. The boys have had a long season, are facing the state tournament next week, and may have deemed it the part of wisdom to burn up no more energy than was required to take the game. They showed no change of pace, just plugged steadily all the way, and that was good enough to win.

West End Aggregation Wins Contest With Eden, Class B Leaders, in Last Half One of Oddest Matches

(Special to The News)

KIMBERLY, March 8—On the Kimberly floor tonight the Buhl girls defeated Eden, 60 to 29, in one of the weirdest basketball games the fans have been treated to this season. The victory over the hard fighting north side maidens gives Buhl the undisputed championship of this district.

The Eden team ranks in the top of the B class teams, and has gone through the season with a string of victories won by steady play. Buhl ranks quite high in the A class. When they first got together on the floor the B class team scored first, had the lead, 9 to 2, at the quarter, and 20 to 10 at the half. The Buhl forwards could not get the ball regularly into the forward court, where it would fly up toward the basket and down again until the Eden forwards could get it. Then it would start toward the Eden basket. It didn't always reach Eden's forward court, but when it did the Eden forwards put it in the net. In the first half the Eden girls had 12 chances and sank 9 of them. Buhl was taking the tip off all the way, and with this advantage was able to start every play, but during the whole first half Eden kept the lead.

Buhl Hits Wild—The second half presented a complete reversal of things. In the opening three minutes Buhl scored 14 points, and before the quarter ended added 14 more. Eden had the ball but little of the time, and though the North Side girls fought hard, many of their passes were intercepted before the ball reached their forward court. They threw for the basket but twice in the third quarter and made one of the throws count. With the end of the quarter Buhl had just twice as many points as Eden, 44 to 22. The last round went much the same way, Buhl having the ball most of the time and scoring 16 points while Eden added 7 to make the final count 60 to 29.

The Eden girls were not quite able to match speed with the Indian maidens, either at floor work or in passing. It was their pass speed that led to most of their trouble. Buhl cut through and took the ball. P. Smith at forward scored 22 of Eden's points and missed very few chances. Stoddard, the other forward, led the ball to her mate and kept her in a respectable in-lane part for Smith's scoring. At center R.

Victor Basketeers

Defeat Sugar City

REXBURG, March 8 (AP)—Victor defeated Sugar City in a fast and exciting game of the Northeastern district basketball tournament here tonight, winning by a score of 25 to 23. The players appeared somewhat tired after a morning's contest, but put on a speedy exhibition of floor work. Buhls of Victor, featured in the Sugar City game, with Holman, of the latter city, doing good work for the defeated squad.

Ribby beat Briggs after holding a lead throughout the contest, and with a score being 24 to 11. The Buhls quit called to score until the second quarter. Victor, Idaho Falls and Rexburg were winners in the first games today of the tournament.

Stoddard, though not quite able to match Captain Hays at the tip off, did some excellent work on the floor, and with Hays kept the Buhl cover busy. During the first half M. Smith and Lattimer, by their guarding, had the Buhls in the name.

Winners Off Form—Captain Hays at center for Buhl played one of her best games, and with a very difficult job. Hays' guardings were not up to its usual effectiveness, but this was due to the fact that the Eden forwards are tall, cool in action, and very deadly with their shots. These forwards would be a puzzle to any guards. The play of the forwards, Lacey and E. Southwick, in the first quarter, might be attributed to stage fright, if these girls were not seasoned and capable veterans. When Hays' guardings were with a difficult style of guarding that later they were able to save, or were troubled by the strange floor can only be guessed at, but they were far from their usual standard of skill. In the second half they found themselves, Lacey, Knypstra, and the baskets, came rapidly. Lacey counted 21 points, Southwick and Knypstra, between them, 22.

Lineup:	EDEN

Lacey	forward	B. Stoddard
E. Southwick	forward	R. Stoddard
Hays	jumping center	Black
McClusky	standing center	M. Smith
Boring	guard	Lattimer

Substitutes: Buhl—Haldeman for McClusky, Thurman for Boring, Knypstra for E. Southwick. Wade for Haldeman; Eden—Jenkins for Black, Black for E. Southwick. Referee, Sanber.

Former Champion Indicates He Had No Intention of Fighting Again; Says He May Return to Promoting

(Associated Press Staff Writer)

NEW YORK, March 8—Discussions, arguments, and conferences will help Jack Dempsey land his feet in the path he will tread along the fistie trail in the postwar championship must be fairly close in a decision as to his future activities.

For three hours today, the former manager considered offers for his services both in the ring and out, argued over his future with newspaper, and discussed fistie with more intellectual and serious fans who have cleared his heels-browed savagery in action would consider possible.

Recalls Advice of Rickard—Individually Jack let slip that he never has intended to fight again, that Rickard knew all about that his boxing days were over, and in fact advised him never to return to leather slinging no matter what the inducement.

"I've never wanted me to fight again. He even urged me not to—that is he didn't think I'd fight again. The Garden gave me 25 per cent of the profits and I'm well satisfied. I may promote for them again, but I don't know. They haven't asked me. Certainly I won't be tied down to a desk doing office-boy jobs for the $30,000 salary they're not. I want to play with the big things and either fail or make good on my own merits."

DIVERSIFICATION

A ONE crop country never can enjoy real prosperity. We have the climate, the soil and the water supply essential to the production of any variety of crops, all of which, have their place in systematic crop rotation. The most desirable cropping program is based upon a consideration of revenue, safety and continued soil fertility. Alfalfa, potatoes, sugar beets and beans leave clean fertile land for the clovers, capable of producing maximum of wheat as a nurse crop on land that has been prepared through DIVERSIFICATION and physically fit to produce the desired results—REVENUE. Speculative prices on the ever uncertain open-market direct the conservative producer to the shelter of the guaranteed price crop on a reasonable portion of his land, hence the safety from over production and consequent low prices so disastrous to farm and business prosperity. Reviewing the past and speculating on the future Queen Alfalfa holds a place all her own.

POTATOES, average yield 150 sacks under ordinary conditions should net a return per acre of

$60.00

With a $1.00 market and an overhead of $90.00 per acre where a holdover is necessary.

The MONTANA WHITE BEAN on a 25 bushel average at a speculative price of 5c per pound yields a net return of

$55.00

Plus bean straw, allowing $20.00 per acre to cover the cost of seed, hand labor and threshing.

With an average of 17 tons of SUGAR BEETS per acre, which has been obtained in Twin Falls County and can always be had in good years, a net return, including beet tops of

$103.00

Is assured after deducting $33.00 per acre of the contract price of all hand labor and seed.

Alfalfa hay, bean straw, sugar beet tops, pulp and molasses fulfill the requirements of the most exacting feeders and dairymen. These by-products contribute most favorably to additional revenue with more frequent farm paydays and assure a continuation of that main essential—SOIL FERTILITY.

After carefully considering all of the elements governing farm revenue and effecting the prosperity of Twin Falls County we urge our friends and customers to adopt a safe systematic diversified crop program including a substantial acreage of Sugar Beets. Agricultural manufacturing industries are essential. Let us support the ones we have and thus be in a better position to interest capital in others. A cash crop, with a guaranteed price on beets on a favorable year should contribute materially to a healthy financial condition.

CAMPAGN LAUNCHED FOR VOTE ON MAYOR AND TWO COUNCILMEN

R. E. Bobier Unopposed For Return to Helm of City Administration; Four in Race For Two Positions

The campaign preliminary to the election April 2 of Twin Falls mayor and two members of Twin Falls city council has been formally launched with the filing of acceptances of nominations by all the candidates who had been placed in nomination.

Richard E. Bobier, Twin Falls mayor for two years past, is the only candidate in the running for that office, and his reelection is a foregone conclusion.

With two places on the council to be filled at the election, voters must decide between four candidates. They are: P. Douglas, candidate for re-election; S. E. All, former member of the council; and Thomas Anderson and Mrs. H. W. Clouchek, pioneer resident and prominent club woman.

No Tickets

The law under which Twin Falls citizens elect their city officials does not require any tickets or combination of candidates, but regards each aspirant as an individual candidate and requires him to obtain a clear majority of the votes at the election.

In practice, however, there have always been combinations of candidates in the present among four candidates of the same group of citizens, which placed the name of the mayor in nomination for re-election, nominated also Mr. Douglas and Mr. Clouchek to the council, and the three sets of nomination papers were circulated for signatures by the same party.

COURT GRANTS DECREEES TO THREE PETITIONERS

Decrees of divorce were granted to three women petitioners by Judge W. A. Backus in district court here yesterday.

On grounds of non-support over the age of 20 years, Mrs. M. Tisdale was granted divorce from Charles H. Tisdale, Banuaque, Colorado, in 1891. Since 1910, she states, Colorado provided for herself and for some years for her children all of whom are now grown.

On grounds of non-support, also, Jessie Hoffman was granted divorce from Carl Hoffman to whom she was married in Twin Falls in November, 1925, and her former name of Jessie Ward was restored to her.

Under decree granting Mrs. Lulu C. Hicks divorce from Orville L. Hicks, she was given custody of three little daughters and the right to pay $25 a week for their support and to turn over for their protection life insurance policies amounting to $500.

The question whether a Girl Reserve camp should be held in Wood river this year was discussed and referred to a committee composed of Mrs. P. W. McRoberts and Mrs. L. L. Breckenridge. Mrs. Roy Evans spoke on "Leadership." Miss Abby Anderson gave a vocal solo with Miss Mildred Rank accompanist; and Miss Mary Friebe a C clarinet solo with Miss Maxine Buckentin accompanist. Whether for blonde or brunette, the complexion of correct selection among the subtle shades of spring-hue is a matter of simple choice. The new designs are classified according to two types—blonde or brunette. And since complexion is one thing and its treatment another, the question is further simplified by grouping spring colors according to their power tints.

As to the tan tones presented, these are brightened with dots of rose, pink, yellow or even red, or entirely softened with an impartial neutrality. It is among the latter that the bluer tones are found. Confidence in the dark tones was revealed in some new designs—really bluish—for spring and summer.

The dividing-line between day and evening shades has been almost entirely eliminated. Daytime shades were for evening are correct in the fashion—so although delicate shades are preferred.

Even the pastel-tinted hosiery is used for the colored afterglow, and for frock, and for animating the white evening gown—so widely accepted.

Since the mesh stocking is not restricted to sports or general daytime wear, but is also approved for formal occasions, the question of its possibilities in silk construction. But now that the silk mesh stocking has entered the field, not only in new knitted effects, but also with the suggestion of fitting into the exacting color demands for the new season, it is no longer a matter of "if" but "when."

Plain mesh stockings, approved for daytime and evening wear, offer new possibilities in their subdued color scope. These types are now to be found in new colors as the chiffon variety, since they are intended to blend harmoniously with the costume as the more conventional hose.

BUSINESS WOMEN OF TWIN FALLS JOIN IN WEEK'S OBSERVANCE

National Organization of Clubs—Pays—Recognition to Accomplishments and Early Work of Pioneers

National Business Women's week, which this community, in common with 100 other communities in the United States, will observe between March 10 and 16, 1929, is designed as a memorial to the early work of pioneer business women and as a testimonial to what women are accomplishing in the world today.

The program of the Twin Falls organization for the week begins with attendance at religious services at the Methodist Episcopal church morning service March 10. A tea will be held at the club rooms at 5 P. M. and during this hour talks will be given on various aspects of vocational possibilities for women. The younger business women of the city who are not members, are invited to be the guests of the club at this time.

The regular weekly luncheon on Tuesday will be featured by short talks on thrift by J. O. Bradley of the Twin Falls Bank and Trust company; H. B. Grant of the Mutual Building and Loan association; and H. H. Mosser of the National Business Women's week.

On Thursday evening at the Roosevelt hotel will be held the public relations dinner at which representatives of civic groups and the general public will be present. Shad L. Hedgim will deliver the principal address of the evening.

Endorsed by Mayor W. A. Backus, the observance was issued by R. E. Bobier, Twin Falls mayor, yesterday, in the following statement:

It affords me real pleasure to lend my hearty endorsement to the movement looking to the active observance of National Business Women's week, March 10-16.

Women have made a definite place for themselves in the front rank of our business life and it is wholly fitting that we should take cognizance of the faithful, persistent, and noble commendable efforts which they have put into the conquest of conditions which they found hampering a few decades ago.

I am happy to extend my unequalled ended endorsement to National Business Women's week, and to wish for its success and influence for which its sponsors hope.

Largest Women's Organization The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs, which sponsors National Business Women's week, is the largest business women's organization in the world, with more than 50,000 members located in 47 states of the United States, and in the island of Newfoundland.

It has local clubs in nearly 1000 cities and towns of the United States, and each of these will present a special program or series of programs during that week.

While these programs vary in character, they will revolve about three main projects: education, with the emphasis placed upon better educational preparation for the young girl who proposes to embark on a business career; public relations, with the contribution that the business woman can make to the community life; the topic stressed; and thrift, with "every business woman a saver" the slogan.

Shows Rapid Growth Through the radio, motion pictures and other modern devices hundreds of thousands of people will be acquainted with the wide range of interests of the business woman of today and the vast number of vocational fields she has entered.

National Business Women's week was inaugurated in March, 1928, when more than 150 communities in the United States simultaneously focused attention upon the progress of business and professional women. Its increased observance this year is testimony to the rapid growth of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs, which now has clubs in nearly 1000 centers.

SEASON FOR BREAKS IN WATER PIPES AT HAND

Interruption of water service is likely to occur without warning in districts where service is through wooden pipe lines, Harry Raybourn, Twin Falls superintendent of streets and waterworks, stated last evening.

With frost leaving the ground, he explained, "logs that have not hitherto caused trouble are likely to permeate because of water and call for repairs. Frost in the ground, he stated, has tended to hold together the wood staves of pipe where metal bands have given under action of alkali in the soil.

One such break occurred yesterday in an 8-inch pipe-line at the intersection of Washington street and Fourth avenue west. The break was discovered at 10 A. M. Repair work was begun immediately, but because of necessity for removal of rock and frozen earth to reach the broken pipe, progress was slow and opinion was expressed last evening that service would not be resumed before sometime today.

CLOSES TRAFFIC IN JUNK TO SMALL BOY

Probation Officer Invokes City Ordinance to Halt On Buying of Minors

Four small boys on a "junking" expedition one day "knocked" a creek canyon and at a slaughter house near Twin Falls, demolished a scales valued at $65 to carry away the brass beam and weight balances which he sold to a junk dealer here for 25 cents.

Asserting that the junk dealer who provided the market was to blame for the act of vandalism than the boys themselves, W. J. Young, probation officer, has declined to prosecute the boys, but he stated yesterday, after personal study of state law and city ordinance, that he stands ready to institute action against any person violating terms of a city ordinance by purchase of junk from minors.

"Traffic in junk as it has been carried on here provides an education in thievery for our boys," Mr. Young declared last evening. "We propose to put a stop to these illegal practices if it is at all possible," he added.

The next entertainment meeting will be held here March 26.

LEGISLATURE'S RECORD GOOD, DECLARES HODGIN

"Well, I don't believe that we did much harm, anyhow," said Captain J. L. Hodgins, member of the Twin Falls county legislative committee, on his return last evening from Boise, where he served during the session of the state legislature just closed. "I feel that we did some good work," he said.

He cut down the regular ad valorem tax by $200,000, besides other tax cuts, and secured a $350,000 bond issue, and a $300,000 bond issue was proposed this time, but failed.

"We got parties interested in Twin Falls county which passed included an act providing machinery for holding county fairs; two modern bond laws, one increasing the penalties and the other providing a revolving fund, and a law making Twin Falls a first class county.

All new forms of tax legislation were passed. The bill for providing compulsory arbitration in business transactions, which contained a provision for "open" shops, passed both houses, and is now in the hands of the governor. It has been stated that there is a chance that the bill may be vetoed, and I have no direct information one way or the other in regard to the correctness of this rumor."

Senators C. Graves, Filer and Representatives E. N. Pettigrove, Hansen, and F. T. Parsh, Buhl, also returned to their homes last evening.
