MISSOURI'S SOLONS JOIN IN TREMENDOUS TRIBUTE TO SENATOR

James A. Reed, Stormy Figure in National Senate For 18 Years, Addresses State General Assembly

(By The Associated Press)
JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., March 14—James A. Reed, Missouri, white-haired patriot of the United States senate for 18 years, received a tremendous personal tribute today from Missouri's legislators when he came here to address the state's general assembly for the first time as a private citizen. The chamber and galleries were crowded. All the bitter feeling of other days was gone as the legislators and visitors thronged to thunder a welcome to Reed as he strode down the aisle to the rostrum.

Down that same aisle 10 years ago Democratic members of the legislature walked out as a protest in the midst of an address by the senator against the League of Nations.

The address of the senator was a message to the legislatures of the country, and congress to do what they are elected for and not to "try to do the thinking for all the people."

"For the last 18 years the sole business of congress has been to try to get around the constitution to exercise some of the powers prohibited by it."

Reed's message was a warning to Washington, the poorer will be your government. Missouri and Missourians know better what they want and need than any other state in the Union. Missouri is not a Maine or Massachusetts or Florida.

"I don't do not make right or wrong for the people of this state. The business of statute law is to protect the people in their rights, to protect human liberty, and just as much as we attempt to regulate the lives and habits of the people, that much are we marching back to the dark ages of tyranny."

"I don't want a wet in the sense that the term is ordinarily implied," shouted the senator.

"I don't want a constitutional amendment that you have a right to undertake to tell me what I shall drink then you have the right to tell me what to do. There are as many men who have dug their graves with their teeth as have drowned their lives through their gullets."

GRIM REAPER CALLS MATTHEW PAPE, 86, IN SALT LAKE CITY

Resident of Twin Falls For 24 Years Arrives at End of Long Career as Builder and Worker in Lodge

Matthew H. Pape, 86, retired contractor and bridge builder, for 24 years a resident of Twin Falls, died Thursday at 8 A. M. in a sanitarium in Salt Lake City. He had been in the city since February 17, according to word received by friends here. No definite statement is received here regarding funeral arrangements but the body will be brought to Twin Falls for burial.

Mr. Pape, of "Dad" Pape as he was affectionately called by older residents, was one of the best known characters in Twin Falls, arriving here in 1905. Born in England, he came to this country in 1905 as a bricklayer's apprentice when he was 17. Shortly afterwards, however, he began the study of cabinet-making in England and later became a master workman, doing highly artistic work. Among many things he made violins.

When he reached his majority he immigrated to New York, from which city after a residence of two years, he moved to the Pacific coast, working in San Francisco and Portland. In 1912 he went to Utah, where with the exception of a year spent in Alaska, he lived for more than 30 years. During his residence in Utah, he constructed many of the best buildings in Salt Lake City and Park City. In Park City he was chief of the department for eight years and received a diamond souvenir badge from the city council on his retirement.

When he came to Twin Falls he entered business as a building contractor, with headquarters at 320 Main avenue north. He also engaged in cabinet making in connection with his larger business. Aside from several residences constructed here, he will be remembered by older citizens as the man who built the handstand in the city park.

He retired from business about 10 years ago.

Prominent in Lodge
Mr. Pape was a member of the Odd Fellows lodge for nearly half a century. In his youth he was a member of the Episcopal church, but later joined the Methodist Episcopal church at the time of the Oliver revival meetings here some years ago. He had a remarkably retentive memory and could even give to the time of his death for his ability to give a longer ritualistic oral charge in English than any other member of the lodge in either Idaho or Utah.

A shield or tablet on which is worked the names of the members of the Odd Fellows adorns the Twin Falls lodge room as an evidence of his love for the order and his ability as a workman.

Mr. Pape is survived by four children: Delbert H. Pape, Johnstown, Pennsylvania; Oscar Pape, Chicago; Byron Pape, Salt Lake City; and Mrs. A. L. Wolfley, Murray, Utah.

Latin Most Popular of Languages for Study Among 6800 Students in Idaho

(Special to The News)
MOSCOW, March 14—Six thousand eight hundred students studying foreign languages in Idaho last year reports Mrs. M. Sargent, professor of modern languages at the University of Idaho, following a survey of high schools and colleges in the state. Latin was the most popular language, followed by Spanish, French, German, Greek, Hebrew, and Japanese. The surveys are made as a guide to the university in training and placing language teachers in the high schools. It is studied by nearly three times as many students as Spanish, which is next in popularity. French is the only other foreign language taught in high schools. The totals are: Latin, 5105; Spanish, 1200; and French, 813.

In higher education Latin loses its comfortable supremacy. At the main campus of the University of Idaho the appointment is: French 291, Spanish 171, German 89, Latin 42, Greek 22, Hebrew 1, and Japanese 1. At higher education institutions of the state other than the university and southern branch the instructor was: Latin 250, Spanish 226, Spanish 173, German 31, and Greek 8.

SENATOR BORAH AGAINST "SPY" SYSTEM IN PRISONS

"I love large audiences... especially when there's not a cough in a house-ful!"

"Those of us who are on the stage ought to be rated as experts on coughs. We study them constantly, because how we dread them!"
"If an actor coughs, he can't say his lines. If the audience coughs, it won't hear his lines. So the nuisance of coughing gets us, going and coming."
"I smoke sparingly, when I smoke. But recently I was introduced to OLD GOLDS. Since then I've doubled my smoking ration. First, because I like OLD GOLDS; second, because they like me... they are so good to my throat."
"If you should attend a future performance of mine, and the lady next to you doesn't cough because she read this piece, you should be grateful to me for having written it. So should she... and so should I."

Four Sextets Ready to Vie for State Championship at Buhl

Idaho Falls Meets Blackfoot in First Of Girls' Contests

Caldwell Squad and West End Maidens Engage in Second Battle. Entries All Skilled Basketeers

(Special to The News) BUIH, March 14.—The four girls' basketball teams that are to play in the hoop championship tournament here Friday and Saturday night are ready for the fray. Idaho Falls and Caldwell are in Buhl and have looked over the big court, tried out its lights and angles, and will not feel any strangeness in the playing spaces when the time for action arrives. Blackfoot came to Twin Falls tonight and will reach Buhl tomorrow forenoon, in time for a warming-up on the floor before the evening game.

Drawings for the matches were made tonight by the coaches of the teams and as the result the first game will be between Idaho Falls and Blackfoot, starting at 7:30 P. M. Buhl and Caldwell will follow on Saturday night. The first game Saturday night the losers of tomorrow night's games will play first, with the winners following to decide the championship. Charles Martin, Gooding, has been selected to do all of the officiating in all of the games.

From their own ranks Idaho Falls has both Caldwell and Idaho Falls appear tall, rangy, fast over the floor and accurate in their basket work. The players handle themselves like veterans at the sport, and the record of each team proves plenty of game experience has been gained. The teams will have to wait for the game to get a comparative line on the individual players and coaches.

The progress of the Buhl team rests on a firm foundation, but Coach Barry has not been taking anything for granted. With the game against Caldwell still clearly in front of his mind he gave his team hard training sessions Tuesday and Wednesday and then left them off to rest Thursday.

The supporting delegations of rooters for the visiting teams will arrive during the day, on the side lines will not be lacking in interest. A big crowd is assured. Interest in the teams and the games they will play is keen from the standpoint of the sport itself, and to this will be added the coaches and players from all the schools, reaching distance who will be studying the styles of play and individual technique. Girls' basketball is gaining a favor more rapidly than the boys' game. It is, however, a game by itself, with its own peculiar limitations and possibilities, and contests in the tournament should give the student of the girls' game much material for profitable thought.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN J. GOULD, Associated Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, March 14.—The race has been on for a long time, but it depends on what method of travel the speed-reeker prefers.

Major Segrate has negotiated the "fastest mile on earth" in 15.56 seconds, or at the rate of nearly four miles a minute. Yet even this dazzling speed seems a trifle slow by comparison with the "fastest mile in the air"—the sea-plane mark of 11.2 seconds, or faster than five miles a minute, made last year by the famous Italian flyer, Major Di Bernardi.

Until somebody starts taking a ride on a 16-inch projectile or shoots off into space in the contraptions frequently discussed for a week-end to Mars, it does not seem likely much improvement will be made on these figures, if any factor of safety is to be retained at all.

COEUR D'ALENE WINS BY POINT
Moscow, March 14 (AP)—Coeur d'Alene defeated Pocattello's speed boys in a close contest that gave victory to the Northerners by 1 point in the last 2 minutes of play in the final game of the first day's round of play in the state inter-scholastic basketball race. The final score was 20 to 19.

Coeur d'Alene had maintained a narrow margin throughout the game, but with 2 minutes to go before the final whistle, Barrett, Pocattello star forward, hopped a long field goal to tie the score at 19-all. A foul by the Southerners gave Coeur d'Alene an opportunity to clinch the necktie game by a one-point margin and they succeeded, just before the whistle.

The Northern five rolled up a healthy early period margin but the hard forging tactics of the Pocattellians moved this down to a point where they had victory seemingly in their grasp.

ACCUSED MAN FAILS TO GET EVIDENCE OF LIQUOR SUPPRESSED

Court Rules Clyde Dudley Cannot Complain About Search and Seizure in Room of Another Person

Motion to suppress evidence in prosecution of moonshine whiskey in the case of Clyde Dudley, accused of illegal possession of liquor, has been overruled by Judge W. A. Babcock in district court here.

Dudley is accused of having had a proprietary interest in liquor that was seized by the police in a hotel room here occupied by King Hale. Hale pleaded guilty to a possession charge. On trial in the probate court, Dudley was found guilty, and he has appealed to the district court from judgment on conviction in the lower court.

In ruling yesterday on his motion for suppression of the evidence, Judge Babcock held that since the liquor was found in Hale's room, Dudley could not plead...

In his own defense any possible illegality in the search and seizure. Dudley, through his attorney, Porter and Wilham and J. P. Kosharek, had contended not only that the search and seizure was in itself illegal, but that it violated the fourth amendment to the constitution of the United States.

"Moseley continues to fight in a further maneuver in opposition to the prosecuting attorney's information charging illegal possession of liquor after prior conviction, a felony. Rex Moseley, filer, through his attorney, W. L. Dunn, yesterday attempted to have the information set aside on grounds that the copy of the information which had been delivered to Moseley on arraignment in district court had not been signed by F. V. Larson, prosecuting attorney. Judge Babcock ruled that the document should have carried the prosecutor's name, but held that the omission did not constitute violation of any of Moseley's material rights and directed that a new copy of the information signed by the prosecuting attorney should be delivered to Moseley. Moseley thereafter was arraigned and announced that he would take the statutory time for entering his plea, which will be heard today.

In earlier maneuvers, Moseley had obtained amendment of the original information to omit reference to one of the 160 alleged prior convictions, and he also required filing of a transcript of the evidence of his hearing in the probate court.

American Mountain Climbers Answer Challenge of Ice-Capped Western Peaks

NORMAN CLYDE LEADS COURAGEOUS LIST OF WEST'S ADVENTURERS

Only Few of 14,000-Foot Sentinels of Rockies, Wasatch and Sierras Remain Among Unconquered

SAN FRANCISCO, March 14 (AP)—One by one the challenge of lofty peaks is being answered by the hardy race of American mountaineers. Only a few of the 14,000-foot sentinels of the Rockies, the Wasatch and Sierras remain unconquered.

Between 40 and 50 of these major peaks, 12,000 to more than 14,000 feet in height, mount guard in Colorado, California, has 13. In Washington is Rainier, majestic snow mountain which rises grandly from a base almost at sea level to a crest of 14,400 feet in the air. There are a dozen more in Wyoming, Utah and Nevada.

As a score of mountain climbing clubs on the Pacific slope are "7000 Members." Among their number is perhaps the greatest mountain climber American has produced. In point of the number of peaks scaled, Norman Clyde of the Sierra club, which has an active membership of 2400, has made more than 50 ascents of 14,000-foot peaks, a score of the best ascents.

Powerful of build, with a reputation for being fearless but not reckless, Clyde usually climbs mountain districts in the winter, and camps in summer amid glaciers seeking new conquests.

On the Pacific coast, particularly, mountaineering is growing steadily in popularity. Every summer for a quarter of a century the Sierra club of California has dispatched 150 to 300 men-and-women hikers into the high mountains. In the United States, the "mountain ranger" and "the expert" skill and courage against the huge rocks and treacherous foothills.

The mountains of Washington and the Canadian Rockies, rising much farther north, present a different problem. They are buried in snow and ice and the difficulties there are the crevasse, snow slope and ice cliff.

Guided by two experienced Swiss, however, three climbers of the Sierra club reached the 12,972 foot summit of Mount Robson, Mount Elbert, the highest of an ice wall hundreds of feet high by climbing to a rope attached to an alpenstock of the guides.

One of the party was a woman, Miss Marian Montgomery, Chicago.

session next fall. It will consider all phases of subjects raised during the session, and others, excepting possibly the inheritance tax, which was made into law. An appropriation of $10,000 was also made to start an audit of the state educational endowment funds.

Many Charitable Bills
A host of bills to clarify existing laws and to harmonize them with judicial decisions was enacted. The tremendous task of preparing these measures and explaining them fell to the lot of the house judiciary committee, of which H. W. Katerndahl was chairman.

A number of financial bills were passed. Bonds of telephone, telegraph and railroad companies listed on the New York exchange were made acceptable as securities for trust, state and savings funds. The scope of the public depositary act was broadened as to class of securities. Taxation of competitive capital looking towards finance corporations was provided. Trustees were confined to banking and similar corporations under public supervision.

Legislative Gossip
By Rex Osborne

BOISE, March 14.—The Idaho legislature that has just passed into history did not add any special taxation, but did reduce the amount to be paid for state purposes during the next two years by $55,000 compared to the total paid during the previous biennium. That was the net result so far as tax reduction is concerned. No one has estimated how much more through defects of special taxation measures, such as income, tax sales, etc. The argument in favor of these measures is that they would reduce general taxation; but the legislature was not convinced, evidently taking the view that any tax revision upward might result in absorption in extra expenditures, notably in local governments.

As the case here the state has lopped off more than half a million dollars. Any other changes, for better or worse, in the counties, school districts, cities, towns and villages.

The defeat of the income tax, the tobacco or other sales tax, the 6-cent gas tax and the university library building bill, carrying a $250,000 bond issue, was mostly accomplished by being those measures in committees as the least painful way. The fact that they could not be called out forecasted their defeat if they had been.

No Exclusive Franchises
Senator M. B. Yeaman, Bonanzaville, county, was responsible for amendments to the issue motor bus lines throughout Idaho from handing over to existing bus lines exclusive franchises said to be worth more than a million dollars today.

In the course of a two-hour debate Senator Yeaman pointed out that with the large eastern and California interests now conducting motor bus lines through Idaho, these exclusive franchises would become enormously valuable, far more than the equivalent.

Idaho would be in the position of having created these great values for outsiders, as well as furnishing practically free roadbed, to be worn by heavy traffic, and with small tax return, to the exclusion of all other motor transportation and in competition with railroads that furnish their own roadbed and pay a heavy percentage of Idaho's taxes.

The bill was designed to give bus lines under the public utilities commission, to which in itself no objection was voiced by the Bonanzaville senator, but its exclusive franchise features aroused to an earnest and logical opposition that won over a comfortable majority of the senators and defeated the program of perhaps the largest and most active and resourceful lobby that has ever congregated in Boise.

Under the amendments all motor bus lines will be required to take out permits, but some will enjoy exclusive rights. A bill was passed appropriating $15,000 to enable the state board of equalization to investigate the whole tax subject and report the result of the legislature, which may be a special

Pecans and Hickory Nuts Grow On Same Tulsa Tree

TULSA, Okla., March 14 (AP)—Both pecans and hickory nuts grow on the same tree in the yard of C. C. Spillers, Tulsa attorney.

The seasonal trunk was created two years ago when Spillers and A. L. Burrows, a banker, cut the top out of a 100-year-old hickory tree and grafted onto it a paper-shell pecan tree trunk. These took new life, fed by the sap of the hickory, and in two years the tree had a new top which bears an abundance of pecans while a few limbs below the budded section produce hickory nuts.

Spillers says the hickory provides a more hardy trunk than the pecan and increases the production of the tree.

WRITERS' LEAGUE WOULD PRESERVE BATTLE FIELD

NEWPORT, Ky., March 14.—The International Writers' League with American headquarters here has purchased and leased 15,000 acres of wooded valley and mountain land at Cumberland Gap, Tennessee and is sponsoring the making of, and the maintaining of the historic Cumberland Pass and Civil War battle ground into a national park. To this end Representative John M. Robison, Eleventh district of Kentucky, has introduced a bill in the house of representatives asking for an appropriation of $50,000.

The bill provides that this appropriation is for the purpose of erecting a monument, tablets and markers on the grounds of the battles of Cumberland Gap, Virginia-Kentucky-Tennessee, in honor of the Federal and Confederate soldiers who took part in the battles there and many of them were killed.

Road and Bridge Bonds Aid in Highway Building

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP)—Started by Massachusetts in 1904, the practice of issuing road and bridge bonds paid 12 per cent of the total cost of state highway construction, improvement, and maintenance in 1927, federal figures reveal. It represented about 2 1/2 per cent of the total county and township road income.

Motor vehicle fees composed 35 per cent, or $259,854,766 of the $739,705,258 state road income, slightly less than 23 per cent, or $19,818,472 was derived from gasoline taxation. Federal aid amounted to $80,459,871, or 10 per cent of the total.

For years the part road and bridge bonds have played in the county and township road income has been exceeded only by local road tax levies.

COOPERATION GETS CREDIT FOR BETTER MARKETING OF CROP

Twin Falls Dealer Predicts Good Price for Remaining Stock of Beans, and Reviews Policy's Benefits

With continuing cooperation between growers and dealers, which has been an outstanding feature of the season, the remaining stocks of the 1928 crop of beans in this district probably will be marketed at a satisfactory price, according to Dudley Driscoll, manager of the Idaho Bean and Elevator company.

Pointing out marked improvement in the bean marketing conditions in this district during the past four years, Mr. Driscoll stated last evening:

Cooperation Pays
"I came here four years ago when there was little or no cooperation between the growers and the dealers. There were no efforts on the part of the grower to learn the true facts of marketing conditions. I have watched the growth of cooperation between the growers and the dealers for the last four years, and I believe that at the present time it is the closest thing ever known here."

"Last year there was an earnest effort on the part of every dealer to hold the price of beans to the highest possible level. I do not give all the credit to the dealers by any means. The growers were an invaluable aid in maintaining the high prices that we have experienced the last year."

"I want to take for example the time last fall when beans were 6 cents to the grower. If you will remember there was a period when the market was very quiet, and the dealers were unable to pay 6 cents. If they had taken the course that was followed in the preceding years they would have offered the grower what they could have paid for beans at that time or, in other words, a price less than 6 cents."

"In place of this the dealers informed the growers the exact nature of the situation and asked them to help maintain the 6-cent price by not selling under 6 cents. There is no doubt that this kind of cooperation forced the beans on the market at that time at a lower level."

"A situation of this kind was avoided by the combined efforts of both grower and dealer. Last year the same thing occurred. The market had advanced steadily to 8 cents. Many growers had been holding for an 8-cent price, and a large volume of beans was offered. In fact more than the dealer could take care of."

"Here again the cooperation between the growers and dealers made itself manifest. The growers were willing to assume their share of the responsibility of maintaining an 8-cent market. It was but a very short time until we had a firm market at 8 cents with all offerings taken at that price."

Grower Given Information
"This year the dealers have given the growers all the information possible on the stocks of beans remaining on the tract at different times of the year; also stocks from other bean growing states."

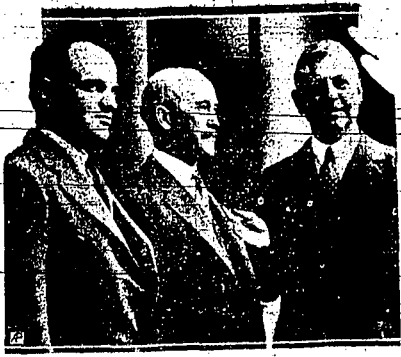

"This information is of great value to the grower in marketing his crop. He knows to a certain extent whether his beans are a good speculation or not by a comparison of the stocks on hand at the same time during the different years. We can thank E. V. Gibson of the United States department of agriculture for his assistance in completing this report."

"For the last month there has been a decided quiet spell in the market. This, to my mind, does not indicate that the beans will not clean up at the present price. According to all information we can gather the present stocks of beans on the tract are heavier than they were a year ago. I also believe the bean shippers, who were carrying heavy stocks of Northern beans last year are less inclined to carry a heavy supply this year."

"Present indications show that there will be heavy shipments this month which will naturally decrease the stocks on hand at the end of the month. Michigan, California and Colorado stocks can only be estimated and as you know are always more or less of a guess. However, previous reports indicate fewer stocks than a year ago."

"My idea is that through the cooperation of the growers and the dealers the remainder of the season that the present stocks remaining can be marketed at a good price."

Volcanic Locations

Volcanoes generally are to be found along coasts and on islands, many of them forming islands themselves, such as Stromboli, off the coast of Italy. No active volcanoes are found in the interior of continents, those in California and Alaska, although somewhat removed from the coast, being considered as part of the coastal chain of mountains.

Whirl-burling days in Scotland were recalled when a human skull was found during excavations at the Bogie hole, Musselburgh. The Bogie hole was one of the places in Scotland where "blackies" were buried after trial. It was known by 1561 as the "Tyring Croft." The last recorded trial of persons accused of witchcraft was held in Musselburgh on July 21, 1621.

SUMMER SCHOOL WILL BE HELD AT MOSCOW

Educational Problems to Feature Course of Study At University of Idaho

(Special to The News)
 MOSCOW, March 14 — Emphasis on Idaho's educational problems will be the theme of the annual summer school of the University of Idaho at Moscow this year, according to Dean J. P. Messenger, of the school of education, who is director of the summer school. This term will open June 11 and close in six weeks, he said. The university will not conduct a summer school at Boise this year.

As part of the future program of the university, courses have been planned to articulate more effectively with the schools of the state. Dean Messenger said. The object sought is to produce a more uniform educational program which can be carried through the high schools and on into the university, so that high school students will be better fitted for college work. Following this plan, three conference groups have been provided for during the coming summer. One, under the direction of Dr. George Morey Miller, head of the English department at the university, will deal with the teaching of English in high school and college. The second group will deal with the teaching of biological sciences in high school and college and Dr. F. W. Gill, professor of botany at Idaho, will have charge. The third group will study the teaching of social sciences in high school and high school and college, under the direction of Professor T. S. Kerr, head of the political science department at the university.

Emphasizes Education Courses
 Graduate courses in education for high school teachers and principals will also be started. All graduate courses will be given during the six weeks' period, there being no nine weeks' courses offered this year.

The summer school faculty will include a number of men of national prominence, among the most outstanding being Louis Victor Star of Chicago and Waldo Getch of Lawrence, Kansas, who are to be on the music faculty. Mr. Star, dean of the faculty at the Chicago college of music, is nationally known as a pianist and composer. Mr. Getch, head of the music department at the University of Kansas school of music, is one of the most noted violin artists in the country.

Music courses in piano and violin will be given by these men to a limited number of advanced students in music, Dean Messenger said.

Two men leading in the field of education, will also be brought to Idaho to give courses this summer. Dr. James F. Burch, director of educational research for the city of Sacramento, and Dr. E. E. Phillips of Denver universities, will be on the faculty. Dr. Burch has done considerable research work, endeavoring to determine means of improving the school system. Dr. Phillips is prominent in psychology and educational research.

SPORT SLANTS

BY ALAN J. GOULD
 Associated Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, March 14 — It may turn out to have been only a little state but the radio references credited to Tommy Loughran hardly can be classified as music to soothe the savage spirit. Many of the heavyweights now jockeying for position in the big championship derby of 1929.

Tommy avers he will turn his attention to these "bums" — or more specifically, Herr Max Schmeling, Sator Jack Sharkey and Senor Paulino Uzcudun — after attending to the more familiar business of fighting Mickey Walker, Leon Tomski and James J. Braddock in defense of the world's light heavyweight title.

It is such things as this, an observer mourns, that lower the scholarly status of the fistie business.

Regardless of what attitude Loughran may take toward the heavyweight contenders, the point seems to be that the usually mild mannered and soft spoken Philadelphia has his hands full in his own division of 175-pounds, not to mention the challenge of the middle-weight contender, Mickey Walker.

When he disposes of Walker in Chicago, Loughran will hardly be a convincing favorite to repulse Tomski or Braddock. Both of these challengers can hit considerably harder than Loughran. Tommy will admit this, so far as Tomski is concerned. He would not underestimate Braddock if he had seen the upstanding Jersey man stalk Jimmy Slattery the other night until he brought him down. Braddock put Slattery down

In nine rounds, something Loughran could not do in 15.

Rogers Hornsby, the war correspondent with the Chicago Cubs asset, is still playing the role of "Lone Wolf." The truth, they say does not mingle with his chummates off the field.

Hornsby has never been a mixer of the type of Babe Ruth, neither is he bothered with the back-slapping horse play or pranks indulged in by most of the players. It's all business with Rogers.

Speaking of heavyweights, it develops that Frank (Shanty) Hogan, the hard hitting catcher of the New York Giants, weighed 265-pounds when he first reported to the club in 1923, recalling an incident that took place when the Giants were playing in Tampa one day, he told of standing in front of the dugout as he heard a local official ask Manager McGraw how he liked the ball park.

"I don't know," McGraw replied, "when that balloon in front of me goes up, I'll have a look."

The State We Live In

By BYRON DEFBACH

"The Lewis and Clark expedition stands first and alone as our national epic of exploration."
 (Professor C. J. Brisman.)

Two years before Fulton ran his steamboat on the Hudson, long before there was such a thing as a steam locomotive, a party of 32 people crossed the continental divide near our Salmon City. One of the party's leaders, Captain Meriwether Lewis, was the first white man who ever saw any part of the state we live in.

It was a cosmopolitan group; it included army officers, soldiers, Englishmen, Frenchmen, a negro, a mixed blood Indian, a woman, a baby.

Our country looms large in its annals. The trip had no more dramatic incident than the party's entry into our state. The present Idaho furnished the first obstacle to which these intrepid travelers surrendered: Clark started down the Salmon river and gave it up.

Furthermore, Idaho was the scene of the only two serious mistakes in the plans of the entire expedition. The trip down the Salmon should have been made by snow or rats, failure to do this was the first error. The feasibility of such a trip has repeatedly been demonstrated.

The next mistake was in overlooking the Neperce trail which would have led them along the ridge between the Salmon and the Clearwater into the south fork of the latter river. Instead of this they kept north into the "Big Hole" country, then over into and down the Blitter Root valley nearly to Missoula. Here they turned west on what they called "Traveler's Rest," now known as Lolo Creek, Montana. They found a dim track which they made famous in our history.

The Lolo Trail
 This old Indian highway crossed the Blitter Root mountains, following thence down between the north and middle forks of the Clearwater, across the Weippe Prairie, finally to the junction of the Snake and the Clearwater, now Lewiston.

This trail again appears in our history, 70 years later, when Chief Joseph marched over it on one of the most skillful parades of military history. While scenic to a high degree, its difficulties have prevented it ever becoming popular. The route now used, mostly by adventurous tourists, is from the railroad to the Clearwater, over a narrow trail within about 40 miles of the divide, where the original road is again found and followed. The highest elevation of this route crosses the Blitter Root is 5300 feet, bordering mountains going up to 7000. The trip requires six days by pack-train, fallen timber causing frequent delays. The chief interest of the Lolo Trail is the historic one. Over it to the west and back again went the first white men who ever saw what is now Idaho. Through dark forests, over steep hills, rocks, and fallen trees; along dangerous cliffs; across icy streams racing madly to the Pacific. Thirty years ago there was much talk of a railroad across there; now we hope only for an auto highway.

Explaining Frackles
 Frackles are always most distinct in summer, but though the influence of the sun's rays affect their distinctness, it is doubtful whether it awakens them. They are due to increased inert deposits of pigment granules in the epidermis.

CONSTIPATION ruins hopes, raps strength. Yet thousands of sufferers have found the way to relieve and prevent this disease. Read how this man rid his system of constipation.

"During the three years before ALL-BRAN came on I experienced more embarrassing moments than I care to tell of. Being lifeless, heavy and despondent, I just need to tell that I looked better. . . I am now all-around very healthy and have no trouble now and I just stand of look asked 'What in the world is the matter with you?'

"After trying much money for treatment, I finally found a doctor who directed me to eat ALL-BRAN three times a day. I did this for three months and I did not need to tell that I looked better. . . I felt better and acted better. . . I am now all-around very healthy and have no trouble now and I just stand of look asked upon request.)

Guard against constipation by eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to prevent it, to relieve it. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal. Far better than habit-forming drugs and pills.

ALL-BRAN is 100% effective. Doctors recommend it because it promotes natural elimination. Serve it with milk or cream. Use it in cooking—muffins, bread, etc. Delicious recipes on the package. Grocers sell it. Restaurants, hotels, dining-rooms serve it. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Prominent growers say:

"For clean trees use S-W DRY LIME SULFUR"

Control San Jose Scale and Blister Mite

Experienced growers are using this improved, dry, powdered spray more each year to insure profitable "pick-outs". S-W Dry Lime Sulfur controls San Jose Scale, Blister Mite and other pests. Mr. Fred W. Olds of Wenatchee, Washington, says:—"In all my years of orcharding in this district I believe it comes nearer filling the bill for a perfect dormant spray than anything I have used! It kills San Jose Scale as good if not better than the liquid used at the rate of two pounds of dry to equal one gallon of the concentrate solution."

This convenient dry form saves time in mixing, in applying. It cuts trucking and labor costs. No "empties" to return. It is more economical to use than the liquid.

The stabilizer added to Sherwin-Williams Dry Lime Sulfur gives it a prolonged "puuch" that is not present in the "liquid." It actually lasts longer on the trees. Insure your crop by applying the modern Lime Sulfur spray.

Roger W. Babson Explodes Theory That Prosperity of Business Depends on Higher Commodity Prices

BABSON PARK, March 15, 1929.—Events during 1928 have clearly refuted the old idea that we can have business prosperity only when commodity prices are rising. Average net profits of 900 leading corporations in 1928 increased 15 per cent over 1927, but the average wholesale price of commodities increased less than 1 per cent. Retail prices, reflecting in the cost of living, have actually declined while business profits have advanced. Not only is this a distinctly new order of things, but it is also an extremely healthy condition. When business profits rise because of inflated commodity prices and inventory appreciation there is always the danger of drastic reaction when the inflation bubble bursts; but when profits rise because of increased producing efficiency they are much more likely to endure.

"Mass production at lower costs, increasing use of machinery, and general advance in efficiency have made it possible for American industry to increase its net earnings without increasing prices. Also, wages have been maintained at a very high level. In the old days it was considered impossible to increase wages unless the price of the product also increased, but this idea has now been proven a fallacy."

Record Earnings in 1928. "It is true that numerous small manufacturers and merchants have not prospered in the same degree as the large corporations. They hear much about 'profitless prosperity.' Nevertheless, a recent compilation by the National City Bank of New York of the net profits of 900 individual corporations in 35 groups of industries, shows 50 per cent made much higher earnings in 1928 than in 1927. Also out of 35 major industrial groups 27 showed better earnings and only eight showed poorer earnings than in 1927. That certainly does not look like 'profitless prosperity.' Incidentally it helps explain the

Oil Kings Clash in "Battle of Proxies"

Profits of Industries. "Of the 27 great basic industries four showed profit increases ranging from 90 to 180 per cent over a year ago. Leading the list are the electrical equipment companies with an average earnings gain of 150 per cent. Copper mining is second with 125 per cent gain, next packing third with 95 per cent, and oil refining fourth with 95 per cent. These four industries were, of course, in somewhat depressed condition in 1927, and it was only natural that they should show the greatest percentage gain in profits when conditions improved in 1928. All of these have benefited to some extent from increases in the price of the commodities which they sell, but the proportionate price advance has been far less than the advance in net earnings.

"Of the industries showing gains in profits from 50 to 90 per cent only a few have received higher prices for their products. The automobile accessory companies lead this group with an earnings advance of 81 per cent. Prices of automobile accessories on the other hand, have shown no advance over 1927, the gain being entirely due to increased production and decreased cost. Three companies in the aviation group increased their profits 77 per cent but the cost of airplanes and airplane engines is no higher than a year ago, and in some cases is lower. Chemical manufacturers show a net gain in net profits of 33 per cent; but the wholesale price of chemical products is exactly the same as it was a year ago. Prices certainly have had nothing to do with the prosperity in this industry. Iron and steel manufacturers increased their net earnings by 25 per cent in 1928; but the price of iron and steel products advanced less than 2 per cent—again showing that larger volume and increased efficiency are far more important than increasing prices.

"Our automobile producers have continued their policy of giving more value for the same price and have benefited greatly thereby. Some motor car companies' earnings are extremely large, while others, particularly the smaller producers, are not so impressive. However, the average net earnings for the industry as a whole were 16 per cent greater in 1928 than in 1927, and 47 per cent greater than in 1925.

Stable Prices Best. "Violent fluctuations in commodity prices are farthest from the desire of manufacturers and merchants today. The poor showing of the rubber companies, which recorded a decline of 44 per cent in net earnings in 1928, are directly traceable to fluctuations in the price of raw material. The radical drop in rubber early in 1928 necessitated heavy write-offs for inventory depreciation, placed most rubber companies in the red ink column for the year, whereas their sales of tires and other finished products were exceptionally large. The decline in ocean freight rates has kept the shipping industry in the doldrums for a long time. In recent months there has been some improvement, but for the year 1928 as a whole a decrease of 13 per cent in net profits was shown for the shipping companies compared with the previous year. Average profits of leather and shoe companies have suffered a 14 per cent decline largely owing to erratic prices of their raw material. Over-production in silk goods and fluctuating prices of the raw material resulted in a 25 per cent decline in average silk companies' earnings. Ruinously low sugar prices hit the raw sugar producers hard, so that an average drop in net earnings of nearly 50 per cent was shown for the year.

No Better Illustration of Increasing Net Income at Lower Selling Prices is to be found than in the public utility industry. Although in the past three years service charges to customers have been reduced by a total of over $300,000,000 the net income of these companies was 10 per cent greater in 1928 than in 1927, and 20 per cent greater than in 1926. Public utilities have found that by passing along to consumers the savings resulting from economies in operation, they can stimulate sales and further increase profits. This principle applies in every field of industry—manufacturing, public utility service, and merchandising. It shows prices to be maintained at high levels, keeps down the cost of living, increases the purchasing power of the people, and thereby increases total sales and profits. Undoubtedly prices are too low in certain depressed industries today, and will sooner or later find their proper level. However, the thing which business men are most interested in is to prevent general inflation in the prices of commodities. The principal reason for the soundness of business conditions today, contrasted with the shakiness of conditions in 1920, lies in the fact that we have not experienced general commodity inflation. Business by the Babson chart is now 8 per cent above normal compared with 4 per cent above a year ago."

Not to Be Laughed At. "Efficient plans" in obtaining the first working classification are essential to an expert.

IDAHO GRAIN STOCKS SMALLER THIS YEAR

Agricultural Report Shows Amounts of Products on Farms Less Than in 1928

BOISE, March 14—The stocks of grain remaining on Idaho farms March 1 were smaller than last year, but about a third larger than the five-year average. The combined estimated farm holdings on March 1 of wheat, oats, barley, corn and rye amounted to 2,215,000 bushels, a comparison with 2,822,000 bushels a year ago and 2,726,000 the average for 1923 to 1927. These estimates include the amount for future sale, feed, seed and other uses until the new crop comes on. The prolonged severe winter has necessitated heavy feedings of livestock and materially reduced hay supplies. With a late spring in sight, there promises to be heavy demands for feed grains until pasture and range grass is available.

WHEAT—The stocks of wheat on Idaho farms March 1 are estimated at 675,000 bushels in comparison with 1,200,000 bushels a year ago and the five-year average of 970,000 bushels. It is estimated that 45 per cent of the wheat crop has or will be shipped out of the county where grown. This compares with 72 per cent of the 1927 crop and the five-year average of 64 per cent.

OATS—Idaho oats reserves on farms are placed at 1,610,000 bushels against 1,850,000 bushels in comparison with 1,500,000 bushels a year ago and the five-year average of 1,625,000 bushels. Only 25 per cent of the 1928 crop will move into market channels, compared with 31 per cent for 1927 and 25 per cent of the five-year average.

BARLEY—There is 10 per cent or 1,170,000 bushels of the 1928 barley crop still on Idaho farms. A year ago there were 663,000 bushels due to a smaller crop, while the five-year average is only 690,000 bushels. Only 25 per cent of the 1928 crop is expected to enter commercial channels outside the county where grown, because large quantities are fed to livestock.

CORN—Of the 2,420,000 bushels of corn produced in Idaho last year, only 341,000 bushels remain on farms. March 1, against 534,000 a year ago. Idaho ships in large quantities of corn each year.

EQUALIZATION BOARD HEARS NEW TAX PLAN

Payette County Officials Would Have Each Family Assess Personal Property

BOISE, March 14 (AP)—Each family would assess his own personal property for taxation under a proposal made to members of the board of equalization by a group of Payette county officials today. The Payette county group contended the plan would place several million dollars of personal property on the tax rolls that is not now paying taxes. In the group were W. H. Platt, William Ravert and Edward B. Strohbehn, county commissioners; O. E. Boesen, county assessor and D. A. Willbur, county attorney. Meeting with W. B. Gillis, attorney general, and E. O. Gallet, state auditor, the county officers presented a schedule of taxable personal property that would include virtually everything in the usual home as well as other farm implements and other equipment.

Express Unwillingness The group proposed a plan of taxing the goods at 100 per cent value according to law, but members expressed themselves as unwilling that Payette county should set the "good example" while the other counties continued the present system of taxing on about 50 per cent of value. It was pointed out that the new power vested in the state board of equalization by a bill passed by the last legislature would give that body authority to regulate the method of assessing.

It was anticipated a meeting of the board of equalization would be called in the near future to appoint tax investigators as provided in the new law. These investigators would be required to study the situation and present a report to the board at its regular annual meeting in August.

"Court Martial" Holds Interest at Orpheum

A picture which intriques the interest of adults and kiddies, the picture "Court Martial" is being shown on the screen at the Orpheum theatre under the title of "Court-Martial." It is a special production starring Jack Holt with Betty Compton in the leading feminine role. From a pictorial and photographic angle, "Court-Martial" will stand high in the list of technically perfect productions when an analysis is made at the end of the year. The color sequences, depicting an elaborate Civil War ball in the White House during the Lincoln administration, are a perfect example of the beautiful effects which may be produced in color. Jack Holt, in the uniform of a young army captain, enters the picture with a sure and gives a performance that is convincing, finished and well polished. Betty Compton as the young Southern rebel, who is as ruthless as she is charming and beautiful, has a great role. It presents the winning actress in a new light and affords her opportunity for portrayal that leaves a lasting impression with the audience. Frank Austin draws a picture of Abraham Lincoln that will go down in history as one of the best character studies of the Great Emancipator ever presented on stage or screen. Pat Harrison and Frank LaChute have roles which are virile and require skillful handling. Doris Hill, George Cowd and Zack Williams are worthy of special mention.

"Interference" Talkie Film at Idaho Theatre

The Paramount all-talking picture, "Interference," was greeted by a packed house at the Idaho theatre last night. It proved one of the most gripping pictures ever shown in the city, made doubly effective by virtue of the Paramount Quality Sound equipment. The all-talking version of the Paramount picture impressed the first night audience as lifting the new-found form of screen entertainment from the experimental stage to the lofty peak of technical perfection. There is not a single flaw in the reproducing of the human voice during the showing of the picture. Talking motion pictures have overcome all obstacles with "Interference," and are now firmly established. "Interference" is outstanding not only because of the talking feature, but also due to its exceptionally fine cast of players who delighted the audience with convincing and appealing dramatic performance. There are four principal characters in the Grand romance by Evelyn Brent, William Powell, Olive Brook and Doris Kenyon, each of whom exerts equally important parts in the development of the plot. Much credit is due Roy J. Pomerooy for the direction of the sound version "Interference." Mr. Pomerooy has been developing sound motion pictures for the past three years. The short features consisting of Eddie Cantor in an act, "That Party in Person" and Ruth Etting singing "Roses of Yesterday" were no small part of this program, repeated again today and tomorrow.

LATE SEASON RAISES PRICE OF IDAHO HAY

Crop Statistician Reports $35 Per Ton Being Paid in Some Parts of State

BOISE, March 14 (AP)—A late season has forced stock owners to the necessity of paying $35 a ton for hay in some sections of Idaho. J. H. Jacobson, United States crop and livestock statistician, reported today. "The season is about a month late and it will be some time yet before early ranges will be available, he said. As yet few wool or lamb sales have been reported, buyers and growers being too far apart in their estimates of this year's price. Offers of 30 cents for wool have been rejected. The outlook in Idaho county was reported very bad, with no grass expected until April 10. A loss of 20 to 25 per cent among aged sheep was expected and the lamb and wool crop was expected to be light. Lemhi county reported plenty of hay. Both Blaine and Odeau counties reported unusually good crops of lambs, a report from Blaine saying one herd had a 14 per cent crop. The Blaine county report said very bad storms threatened a loss of lambs but that most owners had good supplies of feed. Someville county reported plenty of hay but slow sales of lambs. Buyers were offering 11 cents for wether lambs, 11 1/2 cents for mixed white-faced ewe and wether lambs for August and September delivery. All bids were reported as rejected.

GOVERNMENT DECIDES ON REFUND PUBLICITY

Senator Couzens Declared Order Vast Improvement Over Present Conditions

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP)—The administration today decided to give publicity to decisions of the internal revenue commission allowing refunds, credits or abatements of taxes in excess of $20,000. The action was taken pursuant to a provision in the first deficiency appropriation bill passed at the last session of congress, but in writing President Hoover's assistant secretary of treasury, Secretary Mellon held that as a matter of legal interpretation this provision "said nothing about the manner of publicity in the procedure or practices of the bureau of internal revenue." However, upon the assumption that this provision reflects an increasing congressional policy, he added, "and in order that the public generally may know that there is nothing mysterious about the refunding process, there is nothing which the treasury desires to hide, I am recommending your approval of the proposals submitted herewith."

Senator Couzens, Republican, Michigan, who headed the special senate law investigating committee which sharply criticized methods of arriving at tax refunds, said the executive order of the president was a vast improvement over existing conditions and fully complied with the amendment to the first deficiency appropriation bill. Under the executive order and the regulations there will be no publicity of the returns of the taxpayer to whom refund, credit or abatement is given. What will be made public will be a brief summary of the relevant facts and citation of the applicable statutory and judicial authorities. ment of President Hoover that the dangers to the continuation of peace were largely fear and suspicion and said: "I can certainly assure that, speaking for the British government, the two powers are both lovers of peace, both by interest and tradition, and both have renounced recourse to war as an instrument of national policy. Whatever applauding either country is doing is being done for purposes of defense and insurance against risks and I venture to say that the peace of the world is not endangered by the fact that one, two, or more peace-loving nations have strong navies so long as those powers are not animated by ambition for territory or lust for conquest, and nobody can say that either of us is."

COUNT LUCKNER THE Sea Devil

by LOWELL THOMAS Copyright by Doubleday, Doran & Co.

Norway exports lumber and Australia imports it. So we decided to pose as a Norwegian clipper bound for Melbourne. Having served on various Norwegian ships, I spoke Norwegian, and I knew I would have a difficulty finding men for my crew who could speak it also. But first I had secret doors and hatches cut in the floor of the closets in the officers' cabins, and another under the stove in the galley. From here I took deck and converted this American three-master into a mystery-ship of trick passages and locks.

accommodations in the hold for prisoners, and the bunks for our big crew. I explained that these were to be for apprentices and cabin boys. I even put up signs marking off one part of the ship for 150 cabin boys, another for 80 apprentices, and so on.

It would have looked suspicious for a naval officer to be directing work of this kind with such infinite pains, so at the ship yards I posed as Herr von Eckmann, inspector of the naval ministry. One of the retired captain of the ship inspection service happened to be stopping in the name hotel. His love for his old profession caused him to take a most interesting interest in my work. One day he met a bonafide ship inspector and asked him whether he knew me?

"Von Eckmann's hotel's sea," I know everybody in the service. There is a note overboard in the roster." "Then," blurted out the old captain, "you must be a spy. I always said he had a typically English face. I'll watch him." Through mistake, two letters came for me without the usual cover address. Both of them gave my full name and rank. I argued with the head waiter, trying to get him to give me the letters for delivery to "my friend Count Luckner." The old captain happened to be snooping near by, although I didn't know it. By now, anything I did was suspicious.

"He already had me hunted and quartered as his country's arch-enemy." "What did that fellow want?" he inquired of the head waiter. "He asked me to give him the letters for Lieutenant Commander Count von Luckner."

"Ha!" I suspected nothing. That evening I took the train for Bremen. A detective entered my compartment and demanded my papers. I gave them to him. "Count von Luckner," he exclaimed, astonished and embarrassed. "I must have made a mistake. I am looking for a spy from Copenhagen who is very nervous. Could it be that enemy secret agents were watching the work on my auxiliary cruiser?"

"Where was the spy reported?" "He lives at Boornhaime's hotel." "That was my hotel. The spy was watching me. I told him that I would take upon myself the responsibility of saying that there were no most urgent reasons why this spy must be caught, and that he must give his principal the utmost vigilance must be used." "We already have the railroad covered at both ends. But we will increase our precautions," he replied. "The spy will surely be caught."

In Bremen at Hillmann's hotel I was again stopped by a detective who demanded my papers. Again my papers confounded and bewildered him. "The description of the spy fits you exactly," he said.

Once more I urged that the headquarters of the secret police be commanded to catch the secret agent at any cost. At the Trocadero, I sat with a bottle of wine in front of me. A prison officer with two men in uniform came up to me.
