FORCE OF HOOVER'S ORGANIZATION IDEAS MAKING IMPRESSION

Chief Executive Settles With Complete Finality Two Problems Perplexing to Congress Many Years

By RICHARD L. TURNER (Associated Press Staff Writer) WASHINGTON, March 16 (AP)—Although it was just one day after the Hoover administration, the force of the ideas which the new chief executive brought to the White House is being felt throughout much of the government organization.

In addition to settling with complete finality problems that have perplexed the Washington government in recent years, the president filled three important positions, conferred with numerous cabinet members, and took steps preliminary to setting in operation a study of law enforcement conditions by a specially selected commission.

With two terse sentences, Mr. Hoover committed his administration to a policy of strict conservation of government-owned oil.

New Policy In Effect To put this new policy into effect, orders were issued promptly to prohibit the granting of any more permits for oil prospecting on public domain.

Mr. Hoover's announcement received much praise from members of the house and senate, together with some criticism.

During the week, Mr. Hoover appointed a commission to study the problem of ship building, assistant secretary of the navy, Patrick J. Hurley, Tulsa, Oklahoma, who served with distinction in the world war, and named Representative Walter Newton, Minnesota, his administrative assistant with the title of secretary.

JEROME MAN MAY BE GIBSON'S SUCCESSOR

Appointments to Be Made by Chief Executive Occasionally for Much Discussion

BOISE, March 16 (AP)—Three appointments, yet to be made by the governor, have been the occasion of considerable discussion in state legislative circles.

They are the successors to Will H. Olson on the public utility commission; the successor to Mrs. J. G. H. Gravelle, Boise, as member of the state board of education; and successor to the late George W. Lewis, state budget officer.

Only one other candidate besides Gibson is known to be considered for the position of public utility commissioner.

Two factors are presented in the case of the budget bureau, the governor indicated his desire through the legislature to merge this office with that of the purchasing bureau as an economy measure.

Provision for the merger was contained in the appropriation bill covering the two offices, the salaries of which would be increased.

FEBRUARY SNOWFALL SUBJECT OF REPORT

Elevated Regions of State Show Deficiency, Survey of Weather Bureau States

Steady cold weather brought throughout the month of February with few general thaws; and none of these heavy enough to climatological report showing the snowfall in the elevated regions of Idaho, issued by Clifton E. Norquist, meteorologist of the weather bureau office at Boise.

The summary contained in the report continues as follows: Precipitation was light and generally in the form of snow. In most sections there was little increase in the extent and depth of the snow cover. However, a few stations in the Bear river drainage area and others in the Upper Snake river region report more than normal February precipitation and in those sections there was some improvement in snow conditions. Most of the elevated regions of the state show a deficiency in snow cover, especially at high elevations. The deficiency is most pronounced over the drainage areas of the Lost, Wood, Payette and Weiser drainage basins. The snow in most sections has not drifted as much as is usual at this season. In many localities the snow is reported quite solid, but with only a fairly high water content. Due to the cold, the snowfall has been rather dry and up to the end of February, practically no rain had fallen over the snow fields.

Remarks by the forest service officials of three sections follow: Wood River Drainage. Halley: Only 73 inches fell in February as compared with a 49-year February average of 18.8 inches; seasonal snowfall, October 1st to February 28th, 56.3 as compared with an average for the same period of 72.8; snow depth, considerably below normal; water content is low - M. S. Benedict. Boise River Drainage. Boise: No material increase in snow depths during the month except on the South Fork where heavy snowfall occurred; cold weather prevented loss by melting; snow cover fairly solid; good water content; it is believed that conditions are about normal, except at higher levels where the fall has been light - G. B. Mauns.

Upper Snake River Drainage. Burley: General storm in late February added 6 to 8 inches of new snow which high winds moved into drifts; depths range from 20 in lower sections to 48 at elevations of 7,000 to 10,000 feet; snow moderately solid; water content about normal - S. S. Stewart. News Want Ads reach the people you wish to attract.

AIR ROUTES TO LINK JAPAN AND MAINLAND

Political and Commercial Capitals Will Be United By-Rapid-Transportation

By GLENN BAIRD (Associated Press Correspondent) TOKYO, March 16 (AP)—To draw the outposts of the empire closer to its political and commercial capitals, the Japanese government will inaugurate about April 1 an ambitious passenger, mail and freight air service between Tokyo and Dairen. Intermediate stations will be Osaka, the great industrial center, Peking, the jump-off point in Japan proper for the 120-mile ocean crossing to Korea, and Seoul, the capital of Korea.

To Be Subsidized The service will be operated by the Japan Air Transport company, an official company launched by the department of communications, to be subsidized to the extent of 20,000,000 yen ($10,000,000) for its first 10 years. This company is designed to amalgamate the interests of the Tokyo government, the Korean government-general and the Kwangtung leased territory, which includes Dairen in the enterprise.

It is hoped eventually to sign an aviation agreement with China whereby the route will be extended to Shanghai, either from Dairen or more directly from some southern Japanese port. The air line is planned to reduce travel time between the imperial capital and Dairen, the center of Japanese activities in Manchuria, by approximately 80 per cent. The very route is direct between the two cities, by way of Seoul and Mukden, about 1800 miles, now takes about 100 hours. The proposed air schedule is 14 hours flying time.

Twelve Fokker monoplane, already purchased in America and Holland, will be used at the inauguration of the service, fitted with the latest comforts of air travel, including arm chairs and radios for passengers.

Russia Must Reorganize Farms, Expert Declares

LENINGRAD, March 16 (AP)—With the population of Russia increasing approximately 3,500,000 a year, A. A. Rykov, chairman of the council of people's commissars, is convinced that large-scale farming operations are necessary if the country expects to meet her own food demands. The commissioner is quoted as saying that the demand for grain in soviet Russia is far greater than any agricultural production and that agriculture must be reorganized on the basis of large-scale farming as represented by collectivized state farms.

Small-scale farming of the peasant, however, is the main cause for the technical backwardness of Russian agriculture. The supper was served cafeteria style at two long tables beautifully decorated with the colors and emblems of St. Patrick's day. Following supper old time dances were enjoyed, especially the square dance, which admit of so much sociability.

The Shamrock Farm-Teacher Association met Friday evening. The program opened with the singing of "America" and was followed by a reading by Mrs. E. J. Goodrich, "Children of Cuba," reading by Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, "Mexico," reading by Mrs. Ray Bush, "Porto Rico." The closing number was a song, "Echo" by the school. A manly young chap was Howard Taylor, with a boy's love of fun tempered by an inborn ability to work and work well.

In the mailing department up to within a short time of his death last Thursday, the healthy pursuits of boyish activity never interfered with Howard's work.

And as an example of a strong mind and healthy and clear in young manhood, may his spirit continue to serve.

GOOD BUSINESS
Idaho legislature's answer to the tax problem has been approved by Governor Baldridge, and so a plan of action in this direction that commences today to the good sense of most of Idaho's citizens has been set in motion.

No new taxes are levied by the measure that has received legislative and executive approval, and it does not provide either for any limitation of the state board of equalization to investigate the tax load from one to other possible sources of revenue.

What it does do is to appropriate fifteen thousand dollars to enable the state board of equalization to investigate the whole tax subject, and to report its findings and recommendations, if any, to the next session of the legislature.

The State Board of Equalization shall be well qualified by experience in dealing with valuations and assessments to "diagnose" the case with a minimum of delay and lost motion. Its conclusions will be entitled to respectful consideration and the Legislature, equipped with some such basis on which to attack the tax problem, will be in much better position than its predecessors to get somewhere in this direction.

The outlook for tax reform in Idaho has been improved materially as a result of the affirmative action of the Legislative session just concluded.

Like most successful men Fox is a tremendous worker, but he allows himself some golf, and seldom meets an amateur who is his equal. He belongs to the Hole-In-One club.

His pride in his golf is for a reason he seldom divulges. In boyhood his left arm was broken and he was too lame to afford proper attention for it. It healed crookedly—not noticeably so, but it has been a constant source of trouble to him. He finds in his excellent game of golf a symbol of his mastery over a physical blemish.

Administration alone cannot build a great library. There must be a general appreciation of benefits and advantages to be derived from books. A patronage that is greater this year than last, and that has been constantly increasing since the institution was founded, is convincing evidence of the need for the library and of Twin Falls appreciation of the fact.

The library administration, though, has had an important part in the development of library patronage, with painstaking selection of the volumes placed on its shelves and with persistent educational campaign pointing out beneficial uses of books as well as entertainment as for self-teaching and pleasure.

Twin Falls already has reason for pride in its library, and it has every reason for gratitude to public spirited citizens who have served and are serving the members of the library board. And when the time comes that Twin Falls public library shall stand out as a monument, fittingly hallowed in this community, the service that these people have rendered through the years should not be forgotten.

THE DANGEROUS FIFTEEN

The commissioner of motor vehicles, of Connecticut, after a long study of the traffic situation, reports that fifteen operators are responsible for automobile accident of every one hundred accidents that occur on the highways.

One method of improving traffic conditions, therefore, would be to watch those fifteen bad drivers particularly, subjecting them to periodic tests and examinations. If they fail in such tests, they should be deprived of their driving licenses.

If their bad judgment is incurable, or if they suffer from physical defects which hinder their driving, they should not be allowed to operate a car. Enforcing any such regulations, however, would be very difficult, because some of these fifteen may never be discovered until after they have caused a bad accident.

It is in the mailing department up to within a short time of his death last Thursday, the healthy pursuits of boyish activity never interfered with Howard's work.

And as an example of a strong mind and healthy and clear in young manhood, may his spirit continue to serve.

A New Yorker at Large

G. D. SEYMOUR
NEW YORK, March 16 (AP)—Over on Tenth avenue, above 107th street, the section of West Side New York which is trying to outgrow the nickname of "Hell's Kitchen" is a big brick building that looks like a warehouse.

It is the headquarters of the film corporation headed by William Fox, who has just bought the assets of the Famous Players-Lasker properties to about $250,000,000 by two big deals within five days.

His associates, asked how Fox was able to do this, said that the section of West Side New York which is trying to outgrow the nickname of "Hell's Kitchen" is a big brick building that looks like a warehouse.

These give, perhaps a clue to Fox's success. He is a hearty man, with a boisterous, finger-in-your-rib humor, who is so attentive to little details that he has a business manager to look when a right bulb is started in the marquee of a suburban theater, a man who instead of donning dress clothes at a movie premiere, prefers to stand in his lobby in unpressed suit and unshined shoes, listening to the comment of emerging patrons; a man eager to talk to everybody.

Five Deals in Two Years
About two years ago Fox owned but 20 theaters. Then he bought the Hoxby, the York, the Grand, the Metropolitan, the Western, the 250 houses in seven western states, and six in Iowa and Wisconsin.

Now by purchasing Loew's in the Reads office in New Jersey, the Schine theater in Ohio and the Palace in Detroit-Goldwyn-Mayer, which was part of Loew's, he gets 288 more theatres and another producing organization.

Like most successful men Fox is a tremendous worker, but he allows himself some golf, and seldom meets an amateur who is his equal. He belongs to the Hole-In-One club.

His pride in his golf is for a reason he seldom divulges. In boyhood his left arm was broken and he was too lame to afford proper attention for it. THE VOICE OF SPRING

By D. R. CHURCHILL

Spring is coming, catch its whisper; Feel its breath upon your brow; Let us render thanks to Him on bended knee. Soon will violets and daisies, Like the lily, bud and bloom. And the robin come to nest in yonder tree.

Spring will bring un-numbered blossoms Where none ever bloomed before; On that mound where lay our wounded heart and goal. May that flower, in all its glory, Whether jasmine or rose; Be an emblem and a symbol of the soul.

There's a hand that guides the coming, And a voice we cannot hear; Though it echoes like the whirring of a wing. 'Tis the voice that stilled the tempest And made the sleeping child, That is calling, calling, calling unto spring.

The Greatest Sin and The Greatest Blessing

By JOHN H. C. FRITZ

(Deaf of Concordia Lutheran Theological Seminary, St. Louis)

The greatest sin is unbelief. What is unbelief? Unbelief is the sin of not accepting the Word of God but making God a liar; detesting God and entraining man.

Unbelief is the sin that deprives man of God's love and makes man miserable and finally leads him to hell. Unbelief renders the sufferings of Christ fruitless, ineffectual, useless. Says Jesus, "He that believeth not, shall be damned."

What is faith? Faith is trust and confidence in God, in His Word, in Jesus, true God and the Savior of men. Says Jesus, "Believe in Me, I am the Way, the Truth and the Life; no man cometh unto the Father but by Me. Faith is the source of all that is good in the life of man.

Gus Johnson, proprietor of the Shoshone Falls hotel, has purchased a new register. There would be nothing extraordinary about this, but in abandoning his old register, Mr. Johnson has had a book that contains a great deal of Twin Falls history.

The register was opened on June 23, 1909. The first man mentioned in it was Mark M. Murtagh cast his mammoth shadow on the register. On July 3, E. Masqueray, who designed the World's Fair building in Chicago, was mentioned in company with I. B. Perrine. It was on this trip that Masqueray drew a sketch of the Hotel Percie building in Twin Falls. The name of Rev. H. W. Parker appears on the register on July 14. R. W. Jones was the first man to register from Boise on August 17. William Warberg, now engaged in the transfer business here, first acquired his name on the register August 22 as coming from the District of Columbia. He was then in August, we notice the names of R. A. Carter, Ed. Braun, John Hayes, George A. Smith, and W. H. Jones.

Hey, Fellows!

By L. M. COOLEY

It might be rather hard to find a boy in the United States who would claim that school was the one great interest of his life and that it was also the chief pleasure of his entire family. This, however, is the way school is regarded by the Eskimos living at Point Barrow, Alaska. For in this cold land, the most important thing in the Eskimo's life is the school. This, indeed, is the Eskimo's chief life interest. It was not so long ago that the people thought their own lives were in jeopardy unless they were in the school. The Eskimo school, maintained by the United States bureau of education, has brought a wealth of happiness into the lives of the Eskimos. The Eskimo boy on hearing for the first time a Seattle orchestra! No wonder school means so much for the Eskimo. It is the Eskimo's chief life interest. WINTER COSTLY FOR LIVESTOCK GROWERS

Government Report Shows Unfavorable Conditions Exist in Idaho Counties

BOISE, March 16.—Severe winter weather continued through February in Idaho, with deep snow and low temperatures throughout the state. Heavy feeding of livestock has been necessary and concern is felt in some localities as to feed supplies holding out. Around Whitebird, Idaho county, $25 a ton is being paid for hay. The season is about a month late and it will be some time yet before early ranges will be available. Altogether, it has been an expensive winter for livestock men, according to March report of the United States department of agriculture.

Buyers and sheepmen are too far apart in their ideas of wool and lamb prices to encourage much contracting. One offer of 33 3/4 cents was turned down by officials of an eastern county wool.

Reports from various counties, supplied by Julius E. Jacobson, statistician, follow:

IDAHO—Outlook here is very bad. Cannot expect to have grass before April 10 and are feeding hays at a cost of about $35 a ton. Expect a light clip of wool, short lamb crop, and 20 to 30 per cent less animals aged this year.

ADAMS—The fair weather has been hard on stock because of extra cold.

LEMHI—Plenty of hay in county to last until spring. Many cattle are still on pasture. No suffering yet, but many see they are going to run short, and no hay to buy.

BLAINE—Outlook at present is very bad for early spring feed. Grass did not start last fall, and with two months of below-zero weather, the range ground is in bad condition. Present indications are that hay will be very scarce before we will have feed on range.

Lambing is good. Not as many lambs lost during cold spell as there would have been during stormy weather. One man reports 145 per cent.

GOODING—Unusually good crop of lambs. More twins than I have ever known before.

BANNOCK—Very bad storms. The worst winter in years. Most of the stock owners have a "chip on the shoulder." It is apparent that should the present cold weather hold on, there will be a very heavy loss of lambs. This is summer range. The fall grass started very favorably, and snow covered the ranges before there was any frost to speak of, making the outlook for early spring grass favorable. The snow on the average about four feet deep—at least a foot

MOSCOW, March 16 (Special to The News)—Advancement of Ralph H. Farmer, professor of finance, to the deanship of the school of business administration of the University of Idaho has been announced by President Frederick J. Kelly. Appointment of Dean Farmer was authorized by the executive committee of the university board of regents at a meeting in Moscow this week. His appointment is effective September 1.

Farmer, who is 37 years of age, is a native of Idaho. He received his bachelor's degree from the University of Idaho in 1916. For four years after graduation he taught in Ohio high schools. After one year of graduate study and part time teaching at the University of Minnesota he accepted a full time instructing post at that institution, which he held for seven years. During summer vacations he was associated with one of the large tin mine operations of Minnesota.

Last summer Dean Farmer conducted two important economic investigations in the Northwest. One was a study of the economic situation in Montana as it affected loans of the Spokane Federal Land bank. The other was a general study of highway financing in Idaho and a comparison of this state's problems and methods with those of other states.

The Farm Week In Washington

By FRANK J. WELLEN (Associated Press Farm Editor) WASHINGTON, March 16.—Agriculture has been promised the special session of congress will continue deliberations on its request for a decennial census as of November 1, 1930, rather than May 1.

The agreement represents a compromise in which neither side lost anything. Originally, farm leaders had proposed the census be taken as of November 1, 1929, but the senate was preponderantly against breaking the 10-year cycle.

Agriculture agreed to 1930, provided the census be taken in the fall instead of spring. The seventh congress expired before action was taken on the compromise, but as a mark of good faith the matter was extended to the special session.

The importance of a full census of agriculture is apparent. Estimates show that 14 per cent of all farmers, including owners and tenants, move every year, and that moving is done between states.

Britain Will Establish New Air Base at Basra

LONDON, March 16 (AP)—The British government, say reliable reports, will soon establish a new empire air base at Basra, on the Persian gulf. The fleet of six all-metal flying boats which has been stationed at Catterwiler, Plymouth, will be moved to Basra to form the nucleus of the new base. Coastal reconnaissance duties will be carried on from Basra.

It is understood that a large extension of this kind of duty for flying boats is under contemplation as a means of policing the empire's air communications.

Idaho Rustlers Remove Cattle in Fast Trucks

BOISE, March 16 (AP)—Cattle rustlers of today are not as picturesque as they were once upon a time but according to Cowles Andrus, assemblyman, they are quicker. The modern rustler works with a fast truck, picks up his quarry and has it on a distant butcher's block shortly afterward. Andrus says. He tells of a case where cattlemen in his district captured a rustler whose truck was equipped with complete butchering devices. A hand operated which could draw a beef to the top of the truck for cutting, while inside were a butcher's block, knives and cleaver.

Hollenbeck & Sallman, Auctioneers Mrs. Hollenbeck, Clerk

WANTED FOR CASH 10,000 ACRES

Of Sugar Beets at $7.50 per ton, guaranteed minimum, with the straight 50-50 profit-sharing provisions in the contract. It only requires a seventy-five per cent harvested stand of two pound Beets to make twenty tons per acre.

$35.50 per acre pays for seed, ALL hand labor, including the topping and LOADING of a twenty ton crop.

1929 is sure to be a good Beet year. Can you afford to miss an opportunity for REAL PROFIT in a CASH CROP?

It is NOT necessary to plant Beets on alfalfa or one year from alfalfa land. All of Southern Idaho's fertile lands respond very readily to intensive farming methods, which invariably proves to be an economical essential.

Any REASONABLY GOOD land, properly prepared, will produce, with average care, a PROFITABLE crop of Beets, with a substantial and timely return on your investment.

The fundamental necessity to our success is your prosperity. If you succeed—We succeed.

If The Amalgamated Sugar company remains in the territory with its enormous investment and payroll your financial burdens are greatly relieved. It cannot remain without your support.

With a keen interest in your success we are offering a very attractive contract with a maximum guarantee, and the best service an efficient organization can render, supported by a scientific, conservative and favorable prediction by The United States Department of Agriculture.

Not a lottery—Not a gamble—Sugar Beets for a sure thing.

The frosts and hail may come, you know, BUT the Sugar Beets just continue to grow.

DIVERSIFY

NOT ALL BEETS: All we ask is a chance at a conservative part of your business.

Call your fieldman or Phone No. 4 We will gladly look over your land and will NOT advise you wrong.

Gate City Quintet Pulls Surprise of Contest for Title

Southern Idaho Aggregation Will Meet Lake City Team Again to Compete For Championship Crown

By The Associated Press. MOSCOW, March 16.—Pocatello's state basketball title aspirations pulled the surprise of the tournament tonight by holding the hitherto undefeated Coeur d'Alene Vikings in leash and chalking up a 34-to-22 victory.

Pocatello played a brilliant game, taking an imposing lead at the start and playing clever ball to maintain it and beat Coeur d'Alene in a desperate rally. The first quarter ended 10-11 for Pocatello and the half, 20 to 11, with Pocatello in the lead.

Pocatello bowed to the Vikings, 19 to 20, Thursday, won her first three games and came back tonight to tumble the Lake City team. This puts both teams in the same par with one less each, and the title battle goes over until Monday night.

Defeat tonight ended Coeur d'Alene's record of 41 consecutive victories in 42 years. Stars of tonight's battle were McComber and Barrett for the winners and Rebsdorf for Coeur d'Alene.

Fred Lukens, secretary of state, announced awarding of a silver basketball to Madison High, Rexburg, for exhibiting the best sportsmanship during the tournament. All-state teams will be announced Monday night. POCATELLO (34) FG. FC. FT. PP.

AROUND THE RING

Carey Saved It.
A Man of Action.
Calling a Bet.

By EDWARD J. NEIL (Associated Press Sports Writer)
NEW YORK, March 16.—Pugilism, with its sometimes devious methods, is every corner ballbox, and stars of showmanship, probably will never get accustomed entirely to Bill Carey, rugged Irish railroad brawler, who is Madison Square Garden's man of destiny. Certainly the game will have difficulty recovering even from the brief assault of his two fisted Celt has made on the flutist profession.

Carey has hovered over Madison Square ever since Tex Rickard first dreamed of a sport palace where every one could sit in the seats they paid for. Several times before Tex died and left that orphan battle of Young Stripling and Jack Sharkey on the Miami Beach sands Carey stepped in and saved the day.

He came into the Garden picture when Tex had nothing but an idea. Like many others of his ventures, the financiers of great projects called upon him to do the building as the first means of safeguarding their investment. With the Garden half built, but $750,000 shy in capital, Carey stepped in and saved the situation the first time by raising the cash in one day. That stroke made him vice president and treasurer of the corporation.

The man himself is something so new to the game, so refreshing and yet so powerful, physically, mentally and morally, that boxing cannot help but take on a new lease of life under his direction. He is a business man in everything he does, a big, rugged, bluff sort of chap, but a drier need to resting action at every nod or wave of his hand. His sense of humor is rich and therefore broad and he has a rare fund of stories of mining camps, construction camps, and personal anecdotes from all parts of the world.

His first experience in attending a championship boxing bout is one of his best stories. A millionaire friend of Carey asked him to see the Dempsey-Carpentier fight with him at Boyle's thirty acres in 1923. Bill protested that ringside seats were thirty dollars, and that he must. Neither would go at that price.

Then Carey hit upon a plan. Each would buy 100 shares of stock, take a profit of one point, and make sufficient money thereby to pay both for the tickets and expenses. They went together to a broker, found what they wanted and took 100 shares apiece.

To the battleground they went, tickled that they had beaten the game. But the expenses were just beginning. A wild Dempsey rooster sitting just behind made so much noise trying to place a bet of $200 that out of self defense Carey and his friend each put up $150 on Carpentier just to silence him. Both

THOUGHT DEMPSEY WOULD WIN, AND HE DID, COSTING THEM $150 APiece.

Then they returned to business fields to find that the stock they had purchased, instead of rising, was tumbling rapidly. Bill's partner pulled out with a loss of $1200 after it had dropped 12 points. Carey held on, saw the stock come back, and finally sold it at a profit of $1000.

Now every time the friend meets him he demands half that profit. They've been arguing about it six years now and probably will do so for 16 more.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN J. GOULD (Associated Press Sports Editor)
NEW YORK, March 16.—Unless Paul Waner comes to terms with the Pirates shortly the youthful outfield star will be handicapped in the "rubber match" of his batting contest with Rogers Hornsby.

For the last two seasons "big poison" and the slugging Rajah have had a great contest for the National league championship, with honors even.

Dizzy Vance, by having his demand for a $25,000 salary met by the Robins, now qualifies to sing sartano in a quartet of highest paid players in the major leagues.

The Dazzler is the only pitcher in the group that includes Babe Ruth at $70,000, Rogers Hornsby at about $40,000, and Lou Gehrig, also at $25,000.

Each probably is worth the full amount, if not more. In fact, the Yankee owners consider they made an excellent bargain when Ruth was signed to the famous $210,000 contract for three years. Hornsby is rated by club experts as the best pitcher between having a pennant contender and a pennant favorite. Brooklyn, without Vance at any price, would be like Hamlet at most the Dane.

BOROTHA WINS EASILY
NEW YORK, March 16.—Jean Borottha of the French Davis cup fame, began his attempt to capture the national indoor tennis championship for the third time this afternoon with an easy victory over Arthur S. Craig, New York veteran, who is nearing 50. Borottha won by score of 6-1, 0-6, although his tennis in spots was rugged and erratic.

Mrs. Lee Mida Wins Golf Championship of Florida
TAMPA, Fla., March 16.—Mrs. Lee Mida, Chicago, became queen of Florida woman golfers today by defeating Mrs. Melvin Jones, defending champion and fellow-townswoman, in the finals of the ladies' state tournament. Continuing legal skirmishes in advance of trial which has been set for next Monday, W. L. Dunn and O. W. court by the prosecuting attorney and by defense counsel.

Attacks Affidavits

Affidavits for the search warrant with which officers were provided when they are alleged to have found liquor on the Moseley farm last February 14 were attacked by defense attorneys in their argument for suppression of the evidence. There were two of these affidavits, one signed by a federal officer setting forth his knowledge and belief that liquor was to be found on the premises, and another signed by Arizona stating that he had been informed from Moseley on the preceding day.

Heretofore Moseley's attorneys had requested filing of an amended information and also of transcript of the evidence adduced at Moseley's preliminary hearing. They had failed to obtain the court's sanction for a motion to set aside the amended information. The Moseley case is one of five cases on the criminal calendar that have been set for trial Monday when the jury has been summoned to begin its work for the present term.

Senator Borah Severely Condemns Use of "Under Cover" Agents in Federal Prisons And Predicts Discontinuance of Practice Under Attorney General William Mitchell

Mable Walker Willebrandt Views System as only One Practical in Securing Necessary Information

Idaho Senior Solon, Following Extensive Investigation of Former Gem State Penitentiary Warden's Regime in Atlanta, Declares Whole System of Department Based on Wrong Theory

WASHINGTON, March 16.—Severely condemning the use of "under cover" agents in the federal penitentiaries, Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, in a statement today predicted that the new attorney general, William D. Mitchell, would discontinue the practice.

This confidence in the course to be pursued by Mr. Mitchell was expressed by the senator after a conference with the attorney general this week. However, it developed that Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney general, was not so ready to give up the system.

"The whole system is based upon a wrong theory," said Senator Borah today. "I have given much time to the investigation and consideration of the so-called 'spy,' or 'under cover,' system in our federal penitentiaries. It is my judgment it can not be justified upon any theory of law or of practice or of expediency. General Mitchell is a great lawyer, trained in law from childhood, and, during my opinion upon this matter, I predict that the system will be discontinued."

Only Recourse
Mrs. Willebrandt declared, however, that the system is the only way at present to find the necessary to keep conditions wholesome in the penitentiaries.

The present row was stirred up when Warden John Snook of the Atlanta penitentiary, refused to cooperate with the department in the use of "under cover" agents in his institution. His resignation within 30 days was asked on March 5, and the Idaho senator to the department that this was not the only complaint against Snook's administrative ability.

Mrs. Willebrandt said that Snook's resignation had been asked because of "utter want of administrative ability." No charges involving the integrity of Snook are said to be involved. While Snook is from Idaho and has the influence of Senator Borah, the Idaho senator had declared himself a foe of the "spy" plan on several other occasions.

Fake Commitments
"The system involves, in the first instance," Senator Borah said, "in order to get the spy, or under cover man, into the penitentiary, fake or fraudulent commitments and then fake or fraudulent representations or procedure in order to secure his release. These commitments must either be ostensible, or in fact, involve the courts or the officers of the courts. Any plan which draws the courts, or the officers of the courts, into a scheme for issuing fake or fraudulent commitments is essentially vicious. I would not hesitate to vote to impeach any judge who had signed or issued such papers or who would authorize it to be done."

"Secondly, if it is necessary to place men under cover in a penitentiary, it would seem that it ought to be done by the authority and with the knowledge of the warden. If the warden himself has not the confidence of the department so that it is necessary to spy upon him, then he had better be dismissed out of hand. There must necessarily be the utmost faith and confidence in the head of such an institution upon the part of the government, or the department of justice. When this confidence ceases, the plan ought not to be put into effect in the penitentiary but to put another warden at the head of it. Unless this confidence exists, any man can make the administration a nuisance."

There is the other question, its effect upon the prisoners also. Penologists very generally condemn it as demoralizing.

"But the whole system is based upon a wrong theory. There is a way to deal with our inmates in the penitentiary other than that of debasing and prostituting the courts or reflecting upon the wardens of the penitentiaries. In addition to this, it is about 300 years behind the times in prison management."

Vicious protest against the use of spies imprisoned on false commitments in the United States penitentiary at Atlanta, Georgia, for the alleged purpose of securing evidence on prisoners was voiced yesterday in a telegram sent from here yesterday to Senator W. E. Borah by Shad L. Hodge, former Twin Falls mayor.

According to press reports the practice of putting spies into prison on false commitments was instituted by Mabel Walker Willebrandt, John W. Snook, former warden of the Idaho

Faithful Airedale Dog Makes Rutile Search for Master—Then Disappears

By LEW H. SWEETSER
(The News Bureau Correspondent)
Jiggs, the Airedale dog, seems to have gone away.
Not so long ago his master, Thad Fern, answered the mysterious call and crossed the border. Jiggs, though, stayed behind, getting a terrible calamity, but of course being only a dog he knew nothing of what it was all about.
And no one knew how to tell him. His old master's friends were Jiggs' friends, tolerated by Jiggs while his master was alive, and now ignored by Jiggs. These friends could not explain to the lonely dog.

Jiggs jumped to the running board, where he had ridden so many delightful miles with his master and close companion. Then he jumped off, and prowled faithfully about town, and stopped at the doors where his master used to leave him as a sentinel, and looked around the Elks club rooms, and listened, and smelled hopefully with his noble nose, and took fleeting whiffs at his master's friends, and whined. And stood at the curb and peered anxiously up and down the street.

Day after day the same old round of futile searching. Sensing a dreadful calamity, but being only a dog unable to understand.

One day, the dog was no longer seen, peering about his old haunts and pitifully making his futile rounds. There came out a little story in the paper, that Jiggs was gone.
Has he passed the border, some wonder, where the long search for his master may not be hopeless as it has been here. Or is the border barred to dogs, like Jiggs?

W. G. Swendsen Points To Benefit From Increase In Tariff On Sugar

District Manager Describes Attitude of Political Parties Regarding New Farm Relief Legislation

Pointing to the fact that both political parties are committed to a protective tariff, especially on farm products, and that President Hoover has called a special session of congress April 15 in fulfillment of his promise to carry out the policy of W. G. Swendsen, Twin Falls, district manager of the Ainsworth-Sugar company, in a statement issued Saturday evening calls attention to the fact that very substantial increase will inevitably be provided in the sugar schedule in view of present needs and conditions.

As sugar beets are grown on a participating contract, by which the growers get a bonus they will be beneficiaries of this tariff legislation, Mr. Swendsen declared.

The text of his statement follows: "Preparatory to a consideration of farm relief legislation by congress in the special session, which is to convene April 15, this year, the committee on ways and means of the house of representatives held extensive hearings on tariff during January, February and March, this year, dealing especially with farm products."

"The data gathered at these hearings is now being used in drafting a tariff revision bill to be presented to the special session."

"This is the first time in the history of the country when both Republican and Democratic parties have been definitely committed to a protective tariff policy and existing on the same platform to the protection of and aid to agriculture. The last national election campaign found both parties definitely committed to and urging farm relief legislation. In fulfillment of his promise to meet a general public demand and party pledges President Hoover has called a special session of congress to convene April 15 for a consideration of agricultural and tariff problems. It thus appears that tariff and agricultural legislation is for the first time largely removed from party politics and is about to be considered as purely an economic measure and will be for the benefit of the people of the country."

"The tariff is not likely, therefore, to continue to be a political football, punted, passed, fumbled and inflated with thin air, but is apparently destined to receive a brand of business treatment of its importance warrants."

"In the recent hearings before the committee on ways and means special

AGRONOMIST ADVISES BALANCED ROTATION

Certified Seed Increase Subject of Warning By L. Raeder, Farm-Expert

MOSCOW, March 16 (Special to The News)—Many growers are wondering whether it is economically wise to increase their acreage of certified Grimm and Cossack alfalfa this year.

In answer to such queries L. D. Raeder, assistant field agronomist and seed commissioner with the University of Idaho agricultural extension division, has issued the following statement:

"Growers in the irrigated sections must guard against an unbalanced rotation and it is therefore doubtful whether there should be any increase in these sections since the percentage of acreage in legumes now is in accord with a balanced farm program. Due to the fact that alfalfa seed is such a seasonal crop it is entirely unsound to have it constitute a large percentage of a farm unit. The increase in certified alfalfa seed acreage should come in the dry land farming sections of sufficient rainfall. It has been repeatedly demonstrated that returns from this source are far in excess of the returns from the same acreage of wheat."

"There is an increasing demand for hardy alfalfa seed of known origin in the middle western and eastern states. Coupled with this increased demand is the ever stronger desire for seed of high quality. Consumers are willing to pay a premium providing they can obtain seed which is free from sweet clover and other inseparable weeds. The increase in Idaho's acreage, if kept in accord with the increased demand for high quality seed, should not result in any drastic reduction of price."

NEW TUCK-IN BLOUSE POPULAR FOR SPRING

Sports Ensemble Develops Style of Distinct Type; Shirt Also Gets Approval

(By The News Shopper)
The tuck-in sports ensemble of the spring presented for the first time developed a blouse of its own, quite distinct from the semi-tailored overblouse of the formal type of costume. The dress overblouse is displaced with a skirt styled for the tuck-in, but it is not typically a tuck-in blouse.
Gingham-checked silk and pique with a silk finish are two of the fabrics used

In blouses for youthful spring ensembles in bright-colored light-weight woens with short jackets, which is approved is that which closely resembles a man's shirt, though the collar does not fasten so high. It is usually finished with a flowing silk tie. Another type of youthful blouse has a flat round yoke of the fabric usually with two buttons for trimming.
The tuck-in blouse has been given such hearty approval that its place in spring wardrobe is assured.
It is the test of a good figure to be able to wear the tuck-in blouse, either loose or attached to a skirt. The skirt fastens at close-to-normal waistline and hugs the hips in a revealing line.
The white crepe de chine blouse of the tuck-in style is made of wood crepe pleated skirt, stitched between the waist band and a band around the hips, make an amazingly youthful ensemble.

WOMAN BEST BRIDGE PLAYER, SAYS EXPERT

Atlanta Authority, Teacher of 3000 Persons, Sets Forth Data on Observation

ATLANTA, Ga., March 16 (AP)—This may end the perennial argument of what is going all over again. Mrs. Annie Adair Foster says women are better bridge players than men. The Atlanta authority has taught more than 3000 how to play the game.
The average woman is quicker to learn the game than the average man, and after she learns it, she shows more skill at the game. Of course there are some very fine men players, but I am speaking of average players.
I do not know why women are the better players, unless they are, as a general rule, more interested. Many women play bridge in the afternoon and also in the evening. The men play at night only. All of us love recreation and the instinctive desire for recognition encourages the woman to improve her game.
"But bridge is a game for everybody. It is surprising the number and the classes of people who play bridge. You find excellent bridge players in every walk of life."
"I have known people whose work in professional and other activities indicated high native mental capacity, and excellent mental training—yet they played only a mediocre game of bridge. Others apparently not so intelligent played beautiful bridge. Of course, there are exceptions. As a general rule, the best bridge player is the person who is able to give close attention to the game and to the plays, and who can concentrate."
"The best way to learn bridge is to start at the beginning and study each problem as it presents itself. Attention plus concentration plus common sense makes good bridge players. There are a few fundamental rules to follow and conventions to observe. Let the bridge student memorize these, put them into practice and his bridge game cannot help but improve."

SLEEVELESS DRESSES POPULARIZE SUNBURN

Coat of Tan Important as Part of Combination in Paris Summer Creations

By BARBARA BEAUFORT
(Associated Press Fashion Editor)
PARIS, March 16—A good coat of tan is the most important part in summer style. Sunburn is not going out by any means. It one judges by advance clothes, which make more allowance than ever for the display of tan and acquisition of a coat of brown.
Sleeveless dresses are the rule for sport and a possibility for all day wear, if one wishes. The printed afternoon frocks shown at many houses are sleeveless, with short jackets to disguise the fact on the street.
Even knitted pull-overs for sport wear are apt to be sleeveless this spring and summer. In many cases they are mere vests, worn inside tennis skirts belted at a normal waistline.

British Colony Has Own Title For King

KINGSTON, Jamaica, March 16 (AP)—This is the only British colony in the world where George V is not king. Here he is "The Supreme Lord of Jamaica."
When the agents of Cromwell broke the Spanish power in the West Indies in 1623, Jamaica took the name of Cromwell and retains this to this day. "Supreme Lord of Jamaica" was the title assumed by Cromwell. The statue of Queen Victoria in Kingston is inscribed "Queen of Great Britain and Ireland, Empress of India and Supreme Lady of Jamaica."

Summer colors are another indication that sunburned complexion are to have more prestige than ever. Natural colored silk sport dresses, all shades of yellow, plain white and red and white soft greens and brown and white are in high favor. No hats and hairbands are forecast for summer sport style from the Riviera, where, despite a retarded snow-squall due to winter weather, tennis is in full swing.

VIENNESE PRIMA DONNA DISAPPROVES SMOKING

Smoking is permitted at the Promenade concerts in London and at many theatres where musical shows are held.

Woman Adventurer Studies Ritual of Savage Africans

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16 (AP)—When Mrs. John P. Fletcher returns to Africa to continue her explorations, she hopes to prove that study of aboriginal rituals and superstitions is as dependable a method of tracing ethnology as any now recognized by science.
Collection of data obtained by Mrs. Fletcher has led to the belief that all of the dances of the most savage tribes of Africa are similar; that the superstitions of the primitive peoples of the various parts of the world are as curiously akin as are common tenets of the various religions founded on belief in a supreme being.
Recovery recently of a trunk lost coming out of Africa has heightened the San Francisco woman for her new endeavors. It contained the carving of a goddess, which was worshipped as an idol by natives of the upper part of the Nile valley country near "Khartoum."

BRIDGESVILLE, N. C., March 16 (AP)—Miss Myrtle Keller is a young woman whose job, as the Rockingham county home demonstration agent, is to help farm women with the problems of rural life. She brings them new ideas, shows how they will work out, and has been unusually successful with her program.
Now she has a sideline almost as big as her regular job. It is a loan fund for farm girls who want to go to college. Hardly has she finished outlining her plans until she found approximately $300 had been raised. She expects the fund to reach more than $1000 within a year.
The fund is being raised by home demonstration clubs. Some give entertainments, some donate prize money, while others subscribe chickens, eggs, farm produce and cash. Each club that contributes to the fund names a director to serve on the loan fund commission. Mrs. M. T. Smith, Wentworth, is chairman and Mrs. F. P. Mitchell, Reidsville, is vice chairman.
Daughters of demonstration club members will be shown preference in loans. The girls serve in new back-to-back meetings, plus interest, when they complete their education, thus automatically increasing the fund.

YOUNG WOMEN TRAIN TO VOTE IN ENGLAND

Workers in London Between Ages of 21 and 30 Years Make Study of Politics

By DOROTHY HUNSELL
(Associated Press Staff Writer)
LONDON, March 16 (AP)—In a training school for "flapper voters" formed by a group of their number, many hundreds of this city's girl clerks and typists are nightly preparing for their first trek to the polls in the coming general election.

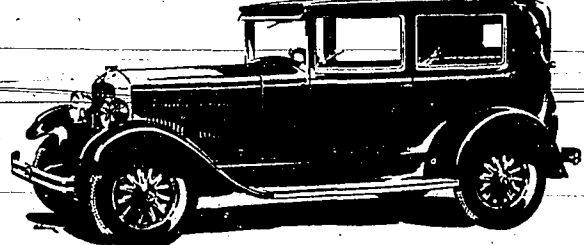

votes into the ballot boxes and justify the faith the country had placed in them. The organization of the school is one of the expressions of this determination.
Notable members of parliament, political workers and other men and women in the public eye address the formal meetings on alternate Wednesdays, and on every other night, the girls gather to meet each other, discuss politics and exchange views.

Effective Speakers
Many of them are becoming effective speakers under the tutelage of two well known orators who have undertaken to coach promising platform aspirants. When they are trained and polished, the "flapper" speakers are sent to meetings outside London to address social circles of women interested in politics.
The women over 30 who have held the franchise since the war are taking a friendly interest in their younger sisters. For the benefit of hungry girls who come to the school immediately after leaving their work, the "over thirties" have instituted an informal half-hour of talk and rest during which coffee and biscuits are served, before the serious work of the evening is commenced. All classes and lectures are over by 8:30 P. M.
"The success of the Junior Women's branch has exceeded our wildest expectations," stated Mrs. Woodrow, secretary of the Women's branch of the London Conservative association. "Some of the girls who have taken our public speaking course have become really brilliant speakers and are doing good work in addressing other meetings."

MOSCOW SCIENTIST BELIEVES MAN OUGHT TO LIVE 150 YEARS

Russian Medical World Inclined Lately to Seriously Consider Theories of Noted Professor Tushnoff

(By Associated Press)
MOSCOW, March 16.—Professor Michael F. Tushnoff's startling theories and experiments in stimulating life have aroused widespread discussion in scientific circles.

He holds that human life would average at least 150 years. If all the textures and organs of the body would be put out periodically and a new one made by a method that would assure this condition.

The Russian medical world, which formerly was rather skeptical of Professor Tushnoff's latest experiments in rejuvenation, has been inclined lately to take a more serious view of his ideas.

Give-Death-Cause

Drain, says this scientist, does not result from wear and tear of the textures, but from the acute interruption of the functions of one or more of the most important bodily organs.

Tushnoff's 20 years of experiments and observation disclose some interesting peculiarities of poisonous matter resulting from the deterioration of cells. These poisons, which are present in every cell of a living organism, he says, under certain circumstances, depending on their quantity, induce the cells to accumulate the life activity of the cells.

Professor Tushnoff, attaching great importance to the peculiarities of food assimilation in each living organism and the residue of poisonous matter collecting in textures and cells impeding the progress of various organs, has concluded that hypodermic or muscular injections of products made up of various deteriorated textures may stimulate the life process of the organism or, on the contrary, may cause atrophy; the nature of the reaction depends on the strength of the doses.

Splendid Results

The latest experiments made by Tushnoff at the Kazan veterinary institute on both humans and animals gave splendid results in a short time. Unlike Dr. Serge Voronoff, Tushnoff does not believe in gland operations. He holds that his chemical preparations, injected or taken internally, not merely stimulate but radically change or reconstruct the life processes of bodily functions.

Experimenting on Goats

Tushnoff increased the life span of his goats by 60 per cent. One hundred and eighty chickens shortly after receiving injections gained more than half their normal weight and some hens which had stopped laying eggs began again to lay.

In a message to The Associated Press from Kazan, where he is carrying on his experiments, Professor Tushnoff said:

"Strictly speaking, I have not experimented on rejuvenation, but my extensive scientific researches have yielded preparations which when tried on animals gave in many cases results of rejuvenation akin to those obtained by Professor Sclerbach and Voronoff."

"My experiments on men afflicted with various diseases, as well as my scientific reports, have furnished food for general talk, but I myself have been very reserved in appraising my work. I profoundly believe in my ideas, but do not consider my work complete. If further experimentation confirms my views, then real wide perspectives are open for pure science, as well as for medicine and zoology."

Church of England Follows Commerce To Foreign Fields

By HAL E. WALKER (Associated Press Correspondent)

RIO DE JANEIRO, March 16 (AP)—

That a Frenchman in a new country will open a cafe, a German a general store, and a Briton a bank has long been an axiom regarding the men of those races in foreign lands. That regarding the Briton might be amended by stating that along with the bank goes the Church of England.

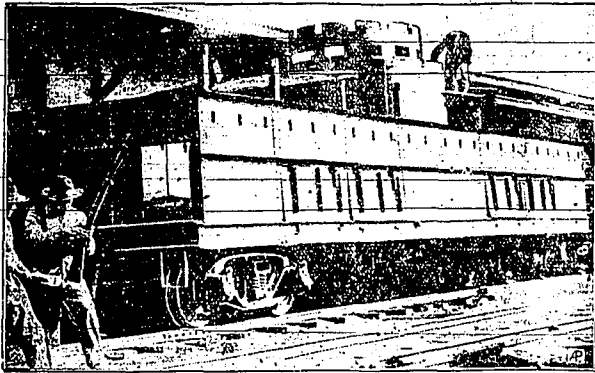

Here in Rio, which is a city of churches, an English church has been the need of the British community for 10 years. In the present plans to improve the city by cutting new and widening old avenues, the English church was doomed to disappear, but chances have been made in the plans so that it will continue in the site it has occupied since 1812.

In the treaty of commerce with Great Britain made in 1810, twelve years before the independence of Brazil, the British from Portugal a article provided that the British should have their own place of worship and cemeteries. A few years later, in August 1819, the corner stone of this church was laid on Rua do Barbones, now Avenida da Velha, across the street from Rio's municipal building, near the municipal theater and national library. It was dedicated to St. George and St. John, in honor of the patron saints of Britain and Portugal, and its first pastor was Rev. Robert P. Crane.

The building was remodelled in 1908-09 by voluntary offerings from members of the British community, whose religious center it has been for more than a century.

AUSTRIANS FIND STATUE OF PHAROAH WEARING WIG

VIENNA, March 16 (AP)—Austria's archaeological expedition to lower Egypt reports that it has found near Luxor the grave of a sixth dynasty ruler who wore a wig.

At least a statue of the old Pharaoh, who bore the name of Schemehemter, shows him adorned with false hair, something previously unknown among Egyptians of that period.

The figure was one of four which, in pairs, flanked the massive sarcophagus. Near each statue, the archaeologists report, there were three obelisks.

Shortly after the British expedition under Howard Carter had closed the tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen in the Valley of the Kings, the Austrian Academy of Sciences sent an archaeological mission, including the country's most eminent Egyptologists, to take up similar work in the vicinity.

OPERA WITHOUT SONG BEWILDERS ITALIANS

'Fra Gherardo,' Attracts Large Throgs of Music Lovers in City of Rome

ROME, March 16 (AP)—Something new under the opera sun has come to Rome in "Fra Gherardo," by Ildebrando Pizzetti. It is discussed here as "the herald opera." America, it is understood will have a chance to talk about it, too, as it is to be presented at the Metropolitan in New York.

Pizzetti has two other operas, "Phaedra" and "Deborah," to his credit. But Pizzetti, unenthusiastic for the radical, is just now hearing the first of Pizzetti, and is not entirely sure of what it thinks.

Pizzetti's method is something new—that is, new for the modern world. The gist of it is that the characters of his operas do not sing to the music of the orchestra. They declaim their lines, and the orchestra plays merely a kind of setting for the declamations.

Follow Ancient Custom. This method, says Pizzetti, follows that employed by the ancients. "I have sought," he said in an interview, "to carry myself back to the original of musical drama, which is the

PLANE DROPS TONS OF FOODSTUFF FOR MARINES

MANAGUA, March 16 (AP)—Airmen have become the chief means of supplying the United States marine outposts in Nicaragua. Less than a year ago low trains of carts and pack animals were started out from bases at Leon and Managua during the dry season with supplies which were expected to last for many months.

From May to January, Central, the chief northern base, could not be reached, except by pack animal, because of the condition of the roads and the need of from 10 to 15 days to two weeks for the animals to struggle over the 140 miles to Orical.

Today with the transport plane in service, virtually all foodstuffs required for more than 1000 marines in the northern area can be transported from Orical to the coast in a matter of hours.

Survey Discovers Ice Of Receding Coast Line

SYDNEY, Australia, March 16 (AP)—The theory that Australia is slowly crumbling away has been disproved by a scientific expedition to the barrier reef.

Old charts show the actual soundings along the Queensland coast as 10 to 15 miles further out to sea than they were in 1903. This led to the belief that the coast was receding. The recent survey, however, showed the line to be in the same place as in 1903.

There are no landing fields near the majority of the posts on the planes drop supplies for the camps in the northern jungle. For example, 2500 pounds of supplies were dropped from the air for the detachments of Captain Merrit A. Eason, who commands the northernmost patrol operating near the Honduras border.

EXPERT DISCUSSES MONEY SITUATION

Neither Reserve Institutions Have Direct Control of Lending Finances

NEW YORK CITY, March 16.—In discussing the significance of the various developments of primary importance that have taken place in finance during the last month, the current issue of the Quarterly Survey, published by the Guaranty Trust company, New York, comments as follows:

It is true that neither the Reserve institutions nor private banks have any direct control over the lending of money on call by corporations and individuals, which has increased to a point where it constitutes a factor of major importance and highly uncertain consequences. More than six months ago it was pointed out that this practice had developed into the most important element in the immediate money situation. Since that time the amount of non-banking funds in the call loan market has increased by at least a billion dollars. By far the greater part of the stock market expansion during the last year has been financed by corporate funds.

It should be clearly understood that, although loans for account of others are reported by the banks, such advances are not bank loans in any significant sense of the term. From the economic view, the situation is exactly the same as if the corporations with surplus funds had gone directly into the money market and made loans to brokers on their own name. The banks are employed merely as agents, because their facilities for clearing checks, checking and holding collateral, and carrying on the other financial functions involved in lending operations make it convenient to employ them in this manner.

To attempt to predict how the situation will culminate would be a bold undertaking indeed. The situation is without precedent in financial history and is due to causes which themselves are only partly understood. Sooner or later the corporations will withdraw—in a large way, if not completely—from the money market; but when this will occur, how much further expansion will have taken place and to what extent the retirement will take and what its effect will be are matters of conjecture.

One thing, however, may be stated with confidence. The proposals to remedy the situation by drastic methods, such as a legal prohibition of the lending of money on call by non-banking institutions, strike only at the symptoms, not at the cause of the trouble. Provided that such a prohibition could be enforced, the surplus funds would remain; and they would exert their influence on the credit situation in one way or another. One possible result of such a step would be to drive the funds into the outright purchase of securities. Another would be to produce an unduly rapid expansion of industrial equipment—a condition that would probably bring about more unfortunate consequences than even the most pessimistic observers anticipate from the present situation.

If the purchasing power could be turned to this purpose, it would be either through dividends or through the retirement of underlying securities, with the assurance that the bulk of it would be used for the purchase of goods for consumption, the results might be most beneficial. But such an off-hand solution is manifestly out of the question; and since this is so, the least hazardous course is probably to allow the situation to work itself out naturally without inviting disaster through attempts at artificial manipulation.

Goitre Not a Disease

Milwaukee Doctor Makes Remarkable Discovery

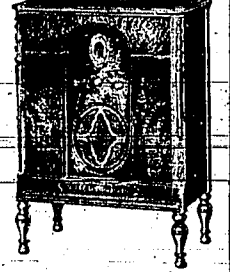

Milwaukee, Wis.—It has been brought to light by scientific research that goitre is not a disease and is not to be treated as such. Dr. A. A. Rock, Dept. E-52, box 727, Milwaukee, Wis., a prominent goitre specialist for over 24 years, has perfected a different method of treatment for his patients that has proved remarkably successful. This same method is now being used for a home treatment of goitre cases all over the country with astonishing results. The Doctor states that goitre is a condition which grows worse with neglect and recommends immediate attention no matter how small the growth may appear. He strongly opposes needless operations. Dr. Rock is the author of a book that tells in a simple way about treating goitre at home. He has published this book at his own expense and will send a copy free to anyone interested. Write him today.—adv.

THE GUMPS - 'T WAS A DARK AND STORMY NIGHT

COUNT LUCKNER THE Sea Devil

Copyright by Doubleday, Doran & Co.

Now needed a name for our raider. We needed one that she could take for her official name as an auxiliary cruiser after running the blockade.

On a pitch-dark November night, the Seacrier, with a small emergency crew, raises anchor and sails out of the motor house.

Each man also had to learn a lot and have to know that he never knew before I had already assembled as much information as I could about the towns listed in the stolen log book.

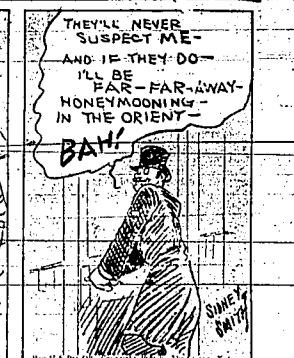

One of the mechanics' helpers, Schmidt by name, I had taken for an important role in the stolen log book.

Well, the captain's wife can't talk because she is so nervous and she is so afraid of the sea.

Even to appear in the imperial procession was a trying ordeal for most of us.

The emperor looked at me with a frown, and then his face relaxed into a smile.

I knew that there would be no material interference. The true Maria was now due to sail in a day, so we made ready to pull up anchor.

wireless came from the admiralty: "Wait till the Deutschland makes port."

"Our glant merchant submarine, the Deutschland, was on her way home from her famous transatlantic cruise in America."

Back of the new Ford are manufacturing and production methods as unusual as the car itself. Without these, it would be impossible to give to you the value that is in the new Ford. Because of them, it is unquestionably the best motor car that can be made at a low price without sacrificing quality anywhere along the line.
