Moore Rejects Offer To Fight in Utah City

In order to make good his promise to the Richfield, Idaho, American Legion post to meet, Jackie Andrews, Salt Lake City, in a headline bout at Richfield; Rocky Moore, Twin Falls lightweight boxer, has been compelled to reject an invitation to meet the winner of the Sammy Lane-Adrian Elton bout in Salt Lake City next Monday.

Rocky had welcomed the opportunity for a return bout with Andrews, when the Richfield Legion post arranged for a decision over Rocky in Salt Lake City on April 30, last year. Health conditions in Richfield necessitated indefinite postponement of the boxing and it was not determined until yesterday to go ahead with the show on Thursday, April 4.

With two bouts offered for the same week, Rocky then had to choose between the match with Andrews at Richfield on Thursday, or the headline bout in Salt Lake City on Monday, and he chose the former. 1 pound

A full pound for your pound price [It means 10c in your purse]

All cream of tartar baking powders sell at about the same price. But some contain only 1/4 of a pound. One contains a full pound. And "1 pound" is printed on the tin in plain sight.

There are cheaper baking powders than Schilling—but they contain no cream of tartar. Ask any domestic science teacher which she prefers—a cream of tartar baking powder or a substitute. Ask your doctor. Ask any pure food department.

All cream of tartar baking powders are good—but you might just as well get a full pound for your pound price.

Read the Schilling label. It means just what it says. That's another Schilling way of keeping faith with you.

The Murder Racket, and 'Antony and Cleopatra' becomes 'Cleopatra's Nights.'

The publisher does give Shakespeare credit for 'one good, up-to-date title, to wit, 'The Merry Wives of Windsor.' All this no doubt, is progress. Only, there ought to be some way of distinguishing Shakespearean plays from current movies. What good's it going to do anybody, alive or dead, when our drama, fiction and poetry titles come to be all alike?

Credit Stringency Results In Stock Day On Hecck

ribble scare into thousands of small speculators, most of whom had money before-experienced-a credit crisis, and into some of the large traders as well, with the result that large blocks of stocks were dumped overboard 'at the market' in order to conserve rapidly vanishing paper profits. Thousands of margin calls had gone out last and brokerage houses were crowded with customers long before the market opened. In some of the larger houses, it was necessary to take chairs from the customers' rooms in order to accommodate the crowd that desired to witness the pictorial record of the day's transactions over the 'movie deckers.' The visitors' galleries of the stock exchange were crowded all day.

Pandemonium reigned on the floor of the exchange as brokers struggled and shouted themselves hoarse to execute the orders which all but overwhelmed them.

credit banks, both now under the federal farm loan board; the creation of a revolving fund for the intermediate credit banks to lend to the farmers; the establishment of farm credit acceptance corporations; and changes in the method of regulating commodity loans.

Senator McNary, Oregon chairman of the committee, said he had no objections to inviting the group as they might have some valuable ideas. He expressed the opinion, however, that not many would avail themselves of the opportunity to give their views on farm relief.

Previous to the decision to issue the invitations the senate committee heard a variety of proposals from several witnesses and a move was started among members of the house agriculture committee to obtain assistance directly from the administration even though President Hoover has said that the actual work must be done by the committee themselves.

Agree On Program The meeting, attended by representatives of the American Farm Bureau Federation, the Farmers' Union and the National Grange along with those of the other cooperative organizations, agreed to a program which contemplates four revisions of the present farm loan machinery, but some disagreement arose over minor details which it was hoped could be smoothed over at a later meeting.

The far organizations also approved the principles of an adequate tariff on all agricultural commodities which could be benefited by higher duties, as a part of any general farm relief plan. A tariff on oils and fats from the Philippines was specifically recommended.

The proposed revision in farm credit included the separation of the federal farm land bank and the intermediate

Idaho Theatre Showing 'The Little Wildcat'

The Old South affords the beautiful background for 'The Little Wildcat,' the Warner brothers' Vitaphone picture which comes to the Idaho theatre this afternoon for a run of two days.

'The Little Wildcat' is a sparkling comedy-drama. The original story is by Gene Wright, the adaptation by E. T. Love, Jr.

'The Little Wildcat' cast includes Audrey Ferris, James Murray, George Fawcett, Robert Edison, William Cooley and Doris Dawson. Fawcett appears as a Civil war veteran, aristocratic and dominating, but intensely devoted to his incorrigible granddaughters, played by Miss Ferris and Miss Dawson.

Practically all the action takes place on the plantation of the fiery old gentleman. The romantic interest centers about his granddaughters and their flirtations with Murray as a young aviator and Cooley as a home-town youth.

Attention is given to the commanding officer, his personal servant-checker opponent and golf-mate.

Not what you do, but how you do it, that counts. EVERYONE knows the story of 'Gene Tunney.' How he fought his way up, until at 30 he has become undisputed heavy weight champion of the world. From the very beginning of his career Tunney never once let himself get out of condition. 'I started taking Nujol internally seven years ago—the first month Nujol brought remarkable changes in my physical condition. My constitution became active and normal. Since that time I have taken Nujol about five nights a week. If I discover that I have taken an excess I stop its use for a couple of days, when I renew my daily practice of taking a swallow from the bottle before retiring. I have found during my seven years' experience with Nujol that it is not only a habit-former, or in any way unpleasant or harmful. Nujol contains no medicine or drugs. It is simply a pure natural substance (perfected by the Nujol Laboratories 26 Broadway, New York.) It not only keeps an excess of body poisons from forming (we all have them) but aids in their removal. Buy a bottle of Nujol today. Sold only in sealed packages. Gene Tunney

Traveling Team Loses to Magic City at Home in Close Forensic Contest

Twin Falls negative debaters defeated the Jerome affirmative team here last evening in the discussion of the question: "Resolved, That the United States Government Should Cease to Protect by Armed Force Capital Invested in Foreign Lands Except After Formal Declaration of War." President C. W. Tenney of Gooding college, judged the debate here.

On the other hand, the Jerome negative debaters turned the tables on Twin Falls at Jerome when the debate was given by H. C. McCallister, debate coach of Gooding college, who was judge of the debate there. Superintendent Emery, head of the Jerome school attended the debate here.

The Jerome affirmative team, which accompanied by O. P. Merrill, Jerome coaching visited Twin Falls, was composed of Eulah Parkinson, Bernice Pinkston and Richard Lee. An effort will be made to get one team in condition to go through the season, Superintendent Ware said last night.

VETERANS PRESENT PLAY OF PATRIOTISM

Dates Set For American Legion Dramatic Offering for Two Nights and Matinee

"Friendly Enemies," a play of patriotism, will be presented for three performances by the Twin Falls post of the American Legion at the high school auditorium, matinee and evening, Monday, April 1, and evening April 2. The matinee will be especially for pupils of the school because of the patriotic nature of the play.

"Friendly Enemies" relates the story of Henry Block and Karl Pfeiffer, two Germans who left their native land 30 years previous to the World war. The war finds them divided in opinion. Block is an ardent American while Pfeiffer is loyal to the Fatherland. The secret enlistment of Pfeiffer's son with the American army causes the two fathers much grief and the audience much laughter. "Friendly Enemies" has every element of good theatrical fare, comedy, pathos and laughter, both broad and subtle.

If A. Sautsbauer as Heinrich Block, the genial German banker, has a comical role that will delight the soul of any comedian.

Mrs. J. C. Fröberg is cast as "Mamma Pfeiffer," the lovable German wife and mother who lives but for her men. Mrs. Polly Pelee plays June, Block's daughter and William's sweetheart. Nora, the maid of the Pfeiffer household, is in the very capable hands of Miss Florence Waken. Vaughn Price enacts William, Pfeiffer's son, whose enlistment causes the trouble. Joseph Collins portrays the German secret service agent, Miller Arthur Brown, who has direction of the play, for the American Legion. It is in the role of Pfeiffer, the irascible German father.

GREEN FEED BIG ASSET TO GROWER OF TURKEYS

Signifying generally, success or failure in the turkey business depends on furnishing the birds a ample supply of green feed, with plenty of clean water. Prent Moore, Boise, poultry expert of the University of Idaho extension department, told a small meeting yesterday at the Business and Professional Women's club rooms. He warned against promiscuous treatment for supposed ailments, which he said often resulted disastrously. The idea that turkeys cannot grow in the summer because of heat, he said was an error, as fine turkeys are raised in southern Texas and in the Imperial valley of Arizona, where the temperature in the winter is 98 above every day. Sanctions in food will retard growth, he asserted.

Oil Company Petitions For Discrimination

H. Stowell, all of Twin Falls.

SOIL CONDITIONS FAVOR MINIDOKA RANGE FORAGE

BURLEY, March 26 (Special to The News)—Soil conditions are excellent for a good crop of forage plants on the Minidoka forest ranges. It is stated by Forest Supervisor J. S. Stewart who has about completed grazing assignments for the coming season. He says, however, that last year's dry season may have prevented proper ripening of forage grass seeds so that insufficient seedling of the range may have resulted.

The "whimpering" range grasses' has materially changed since the days of the early cattlemen, Stewart says. The old "bunch grass" that covered the flats, and grew luxuriously on the hillsides, providing free feed for fattening stock in early times, has practically disappeared. There are isolated patches still left, in spots far from water, but the bunch grass of the frontiersman has been replaced by an inferior grass, known as broncho grass, June grass, and by other names. It is good feed early in the season, and plentiful, but bitter and almost of no value at maturity.

Other valuable forage has also gone, especially such brush as white sage and curly sage, both most valuable for fall browsing. Of the grasses now growing on the ranges, wild blue grass is one of the best. It spreads through underground runners, is hardy and resists close feeding, and is relished by stock. Idaho fescue is excellent early feed for sheep, and bears prolific seeds. Other grasses plentiful on the forest range are wild timothy, red top, white clover, and many others.
