Henry L. Stimson Assumes Duties of Department of State

VETERAN KELLOGG TO REST ABROAD BEFORE GOING TO OLD HOME

Chief Justice of United States Administrators Oath of Office to Former Secretary of War Department

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, March 28.—The world wide activities of the state department were placed into today under the direction of Henry L. Stimson who after a lapse of almost a score of years has returned to Washington as a member of the cabinet circle of a president.

The former governor general of the Philippines was administered the oath of office by the chief justice of the United States, William Howard Taft. As the two faced each other in the impressively furnished diplomatic room at the state department they smiled, apparently recalling other days when both were younger and the one was president and the other his secretary of war.

After the induction into office, the chief justice grasped the hand of his old friend and shook it heartily. "Old man, I am delighted to be any kind of a humble instrument in putting you in this place," he said.

"Thank you," replied the new secretary of state. With the transfer of the reins of state department authority from the veteran hands of Frank B. Kellogg to Mr. Stimson the official cabinet circle of President Hoover was completed and the new administration fully manned for the four years of work ahead.

Tomorrow Mr. Kellogg will leave Washington for a vacation trip in Europe before returning to his home in Minneapolis to practice law—and his successor will take up the thread of international affairs where he left off.

Mr. Stimson will be confronted at the outset by a number of matters. The sinking of the Canadian run runner, I'm Alone, the Mexican revolution, the American policy to be pursued at the forthcoming preparatory disarmament commission meeting at Geneva, and numerous minor matters are a few of the questions awaiting solution.

In addition the new secretary, has before him the realignment of the foreign diplomatic service, especially in South America.

JURY GIVES VERDICT ON PUZZLING ISSUE

Possession of Cars Goes to Defendants; Award Cuts Undisputed Value $4500

A jury in district court here, returning a sealed verdict yesterday in the case of the General Motors Acceptance Corporation against George Carrio and A. C. Wilson, awarded possession of six automobiles in dispute to Carrio and Wilson, and fixed the value of the cars at $500.

Effect of the verdict was considered questionable in view of the fact that claim that the cars were worth $5000 was not disputed during the three days' trial.

The verdict was signed by nine out of the 12 members of the jury after deliberations continuing from noon Wednesday to 10:30 o'clock that night.

Evidence at the trial showed that the cars had once been in possession of the Twin Falls Oakland company, and that the acceptance corporation had taken possession of the cars, after furnishing bond, and sold them.

UTAH MAN SEES NEED FOR NEW HOTEL HERE

George O. Relf Comments On Observations During Brief Twin Falls Visit

There is a wonderful opportunity for a big, new hotel in Twin Falls, according to George O. Relf, Salt Lake City, manager of the Hotel Utah and an outstanding hotel operator of the western region, who was a visitor here yesterday.

"I stood in the lobby of the hotel where I am a guest here last evening," Mr. Relf said, "and saw one person after another turned away because there was no room left; and the hotel season has hardly begun.

"There is no question but that there is a great opportunity for a new hotel of the right sort in Twin Falls, with the proper location—and location is an important factor—such a hotel should be a success from the start.

"I should like to see an opportunity to invest, say, $25,000 in such an enterprise.

Interests with which Mr. Relf is identified, invested $30,000 in the site, building and furnishings of a new hotel at Idaho Falls. Mr. Relf stated. That enterprise has paid 475 per cent on the investment from the start. Mr. Relf stated, and in addition, the opportunity for a new hotel in Idaho Falls was not nearly as promising as the opportunity that exists now in Twin Falls.

A New Yorker at Large

G. D. SEYMOUR... NEW YORK, March 28 (AP)—The police officers in the city have taken to the roofs. Hunted by police, and preyed upon by gunmen bent on robbery, the gamblers who bank the roulette dice games have found that tops of hotel rooms are safer than hotel rooms as spots in which to operate

The use of roofs for illicit gambling means that the gamblers must be held in daylight, and generally on Sundays. For this reason the danger of detection is minimized because the building is vacant, and men will work all week hours to speculate on the spotted cubes

Stealth enough is required even then. A hotel manager might give his tacit consent to his patrons to the roof, but no owner of a building might expect to afford a suitable site for a roof game which would permit the practice if he knew about it

So the gambler utilizes the lone elevator operator on Sunday duty to transport him and his patrons to the roof, but to bring nobody up who does not know the password. There being no other access to the roof, the gamblers are reasonably safe. The roof must be higher than any in the vicinity, so the men cannot be seen, or it must have a wall high enough to hide them

No open gambling has allowed by New York police since the cleanup which followed the Rosenthal murder in 1912 and gave rise to the floating source

Once waterfront piers were favorite rookeries for the gamblers—but they are fenced in and the roof must be higher than any in the vicinity, so the men cannot be seen, or it must have a wall high enough to hide them

The late Arnold Rothstein, one of the big financiers of floating games, was once in the police in 1917 he saved $20,000 and some day more—by kicking his roll under a rug. And he was charged with participation in a game in the offices of the late Arnold Rothstein. That game had begun upstairs and moved where watchers suspected gamblers of having learned its location

A Refuge From Gamblers... There are big games on roofs, are all so-called "honest games," in which the dice are fair and in which the banker always wins against the dice, the roll being on a pure mathematical basis

Guiding Your Child

HIS BROKEN TOYS... The toy box has an unhappy tendency to fill up with the debris of broken playthings. To the adult who looks down into the miscellaneous collection it is all just "junk." Usually it is allowed to accumulate until it becomes an eyesore to the housewife. Then a mighty cleaning is ordained, and it is all thrown out. This method of dealing with the child's broken toys is neither imaginative nor educational. It ignores the possible value which the broken playthings may have in his eyes, and it teaches a disrespect of property rights at the same time that it sets an example of wastefulness

Griffith Rates Pitcher of Present Time Inferior To Product of Older School

By BRIAN BELL

(Associated Press Sports Writer)
TAMPA, Fla., March 28.—Clark Griffith, president of the Washington Senators, was such a crafty pitcher in his day he was known as the "Fox." He has been in close association with baseball since 1888 and has seen all the stars from then until now.

"Griff" qualifies as an expert witness in the discussion of the two schools of baseball thought, the one claiming that the old days were the better from a standpoint of baseball excellence; the other standing firm in allegiance to the modern game.

The answer, according to President Griffith, is "yes and no."

CLARK GRIFFITH

"We have no such pitchers as the game boasted years ago," he said, "and a majority of the All-Time team I shall pick will be from the older school but nobody can keep two very modern players from the team. Ruth and Gehrig will bat their way into any baseball circle, no matter how select.

"I don't hesitate a second in naming four pitchers. Walter Johnson was the king-of-them-all with Christy Mathewson first. Then I place Mordred Brown and Rube Waddell.

The first catcher is equally easy. Bucky Fung could do everything. He could catch with anybody outsmart the best of them, a terrific batter, deadly thrower and great base runner. That's all you can do in baseball. He would drop the ball to kid a base runner and then throw him out.

"The second catcher is a harder problem. If I did not insist on great hitting strength on this mythical team I would take Johnny Kling, for so far as catching goes Johnny was good as they came. He would outtake the batter and the pitcher. He would stand for a base. But Kling could not hit enough to squeeze in with these busters I am naming from 1888 to date.

"I guess Walter Johnson gets the call. Wally never was a great catcher. He had plenty of faults as a receiver, but he would break up the ball game for you and would have been at home with this talented array.

"Three of the infield come to mind at once. Lou Gehrig for first base, Nap Lajoie at second and Hans Wagner for short. Can you imagine trying to get these boys out? Third base is hard. Jimmy Collins was a catcher beyond doubt, but Jimmy did not have the competition that developed later. If Frankie Frisch had played third base regularly I would give him the place without further consideration, but Frisch is really a second baseman, although he has played third.

"Frank Baker will have to be the boy. He was not a great fielder, but he was good enough. The word 'adequate' about describes him in the field, but that description falls short when he goes to bat. How he could hit! Yes, we'll give the place to Baker.

The outfield? Simple. How can you find three players through all the years better than Ty Cobb, Tris Speaker and Babe Ruth? I would like to put 'Goose' Goslin in there and I would name him fourth, I think, but he could not displace one of this great trio.

"Come down the list. Gehrig, Lajoie, Wagner, Baker, Cobb, Speaker, Ruth, Ewing! How would a pitcher resist going up against the bats of these giants? The present generation doesn't appreciate the stars who have gone before. Players who never saw Mathewson, Brown or Waddell doubt that they were as good as the old fellows say.

"Ten years from now I guess the youngsters will say: 'They talk about Johnson and his pitching 20 years ago. We doubt if he was so good!'

"If they had gone up to bat against him they would have taken their bats under their arms and gone home that night."

IN THE DAYS of the silent screen, motion picture companies used to insure the beauty of their high priced stars. The advent of talking pictures has led a producer to insure the voice of Corinne Griffith for $1,000,000.

May Head Tammany

JEREMIAH T. MAHONEY, former supreme court justice, is rumored as a possible successor to George W. Olvany, resigning leader of Tammany Hall in New York.

Fordyce, Marion Hollins, Mrs. O. S. Hill and many other will be at Pinehurst. Billie is leaving this week to meet them all. After that, come what may, she sails for England. After that she will be at Oakland Hills when the American title hunt is on. No American born woman ever has won the British title. Not since after starting has an 18-year-old won the national. Helen may do better; she may do best. She has proven her nerve, she has proven her golf. She needs only what the professionals call so feebly 'a little break.'

Helen of Hewlett is not worried about the future. She is not impressed, particularly by the enormous array of silver trophies gathered this winter. She is not keen about discussing herself or her campaign.

"I had a great time," she said, and that was that.

She is not nervous about going to England.

"I expect to have a great time," she said. And that was all.

HELEN HICKS, GIRL WONDER, PREPARING FOR BIG SEASON

After matching sunshine was smiling in the sunny south, Helen Hicks, 18-year-old queen of the links, is home getting ready for the major 1929 tourney.

*HEWLETT PARK, N. Y., March 28.—Helen of Hewlett is home from the wars, but not for long.

The hard hitting lady who cleared the jousting grounds of winter golf is here only for a burnishing of armor; then on to the fields beckon—the North and South at Pinehurst; the British championship at St. Andrews; the American national at Detroit.

Helen Hicks, brown eyed, broad shouldered and good natured, is a kid. Her nickname is "Billie," and she celebrated her victory in the Miami championship by cutting herself a piece of eighteenth birthday cake.

Before dining and slire Miami she met and defeated women famous in golf while Helen was struggling with participants and pie crust. They teach cooking at Lawrence high school but not golf. Helen learned golf because her brother, Jarvis, was giving himself airs over winning the metropolitan interscholastic title.

One of Helen's victims dubbed her "the chubby terror." One must be something of a terror to take four tournaments in six states, and one must be somewhat chubby to smack a golf ball 250 yards. Virginia Van Wie of Chicago took the two decisions from the pride of Long Beach, but was herself overthrown in a subsequent snaring of opponents; Helen this winter has defeated Olema Collett, national champion; Ada McKenzie of Canada and Mrs. John Arndt.

Bruin Track Squad To Resume Training

Coach Jones Plans Intensive Practice Grind For Athletes at High School

Time lost this week in developing a track and field team and in conducting spring football practices at Twin Falls high school will be made up with a heavy schedule of workouts starting Monday, March 31. V. Jones announced yesterday.

Dates for the regular track and field events of the season have not been determined but the athletic mentor declared that an attempt is being made to settle dates as soon as possible. Handicapped by lack of track stars, Coach Jones is hoping that intensive practice will develop a fairly strong post-winning aggregation.

As for next year's Bruin football team, about 60 candidates will resume their workouts. From all appearances, the grid squad will be light, but will have a reasonable amount of speed. Experienced players at the school are Brattford, guard and captain-elect; Davis, tackle; Franch, half back; Town, full back; Vance, utility back and Murphy, utility guard. Other backfield players

Yale men decide which is best cigarette...

OLD GOLD CIGARETTES WIN FIRST IN TESTS AT YALE

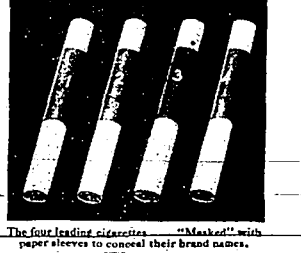

In the recent cigarette test made at the University, Old Golds were chosen by the students as the best. The cigarettes were masked by black labels so that the names of the brands were concealed. Each label was numbered. This was judged to be the most sporting way of testing the merits of the four leading brands. Some 208 Yale students were asked to smoke the four disguised brands without knowing their identity.

They were merely to choose, by number, the one that was most appealing to the taste.

The News supervised the test on January 18 at various fraternity houses and in the News office.

When the votes were recorded it was discovered that Old Gold (Cigarette No. 3) had won. Old Gold was given 63 first choices, which was 11 per cent ahead of Cigarette No. 2, 34 per cent ahead of Cigarette No. 1, and 53 per cent ahead of Cigarette No. 4.

ACCUSED MEN TAKE TEST OF NEW LAW TO DISTRICT COURT

Otto Steinberg and J. H. Kimball, Charged With Misbranding, Waive Preliminary; Deny Guilt

Initial test of Idaho's new potato grade regulations enacted into law by the recent session of the legislature, was transferred direct to the district court here when Otto Steinberg and J. H. Kimball, Kimbrey, in probate court here yesterday waived preliminary hearing on charges of shipping four cartons of potatoes in misbranded sacks.

Leon A. Pike, assistant state attorney general, was here to assist E. V. Larson, county attorney, in prosecution of the charges.

Complaints alleged Steinberg and Kimball had shipped potatoes in question from Murtaugh last Thursday afternoon to Kimball at "Deliver". The potatoes, it was alleged, contained proportion of cut, rotted and unburned potatoes far in excess of the maximum tolerance under the new law.

SUIT INVOLVES ROUTE FOR IRRIGATION DITCH

Suit of David K. Ebert against Arthur J. Finkle for condemnation of right of way for an irrigation ditch across Finkle's land in the Miller-Lose Ebb irrigation district went on trial before Judge W. A. Babcock and a jury in district court here yesterday.

Finkle denies necessity for routing the ditch through his land. The jury is to fix the value of the right of way in event it is determined that the ditch crosses Finkle's land in order to serve Ebert's adjoining land. Counsel for Finkle indicated in his opening statement that the value of the right of way would not be less than $1000.

Members of the jury except those included on the panel for this case were excused by Judge Babcock until next Monday morning, when, according to a re-assignment made yesterday, trial is to begin in the case of David K. Ebert against the Twin Falls Canal company.

STUDENT TUMBLERS MAKE DIVERSION FOR LODGEMENT

"Dad" Biles, assistant director of athletics for the University of Idaho, southern branch, Porterville, and his "tumbling crew" composed of nine students, and two outstanding student wrestlers, contributed a novel brand of entertainment that was thoroughly appreciated by nearly 500 Biles an' associates at a meeting of Twin Falls Biles lodge last evening.

During the lodge session, which was held in the hall under the administration of Alvin Harbster, retired exalted ruler, 14 candidates for membership were initiated, and burlesque was staged at the close of the evening.

Student athletes of the "tumbling crew" displayed skill and strength in performance of spectacular feats including formation of human pyramids and a variety of hand-springs and somersaults.

Shirwood Hauke, Montpelier, Rocky Mountain wrestling champion in the 135-pound class, and Jim Robertson, a wrestler who defeated champions for Montana State and Brigham Young university to win his letter for wrestling at the southern branch this year, were matched in an exhibition wrestling bout, and an interesting contest in which "Dad" Biles was opposed by the two student wrestlers afforded a sensational finale to the program.

Student athletes were accompanied on the trip here by Dr. M. P. Ansel, dean of the university, and F. A. Henshaw, director of athletics.

Members of the "crew" were Howard Fosnot, George Johnson, Frank Schumaker, Charles O'Neill, Bill Wheeler, Durion Perrin, Austin Walker, Clark Keatzen, Albin Zimmerman.

STATE OFFICIALS WANT PLACE OF TRIAL MOVED

John S. Welch, Idaho commissioner of agriculture, and other defendants in a suit for $50,000 damages instituted by Carl L. DeLong, Twin Falls potato dealer, are divided in their demands for change in the place for trial of the action.

The commissioner and George Tucker, employe of the agricultural department have made application for change of venue to the district court in Ada county, and, in his affidavit in support of this application the commissioner declares that many persons in Twin Falls county "are unduly interested in the prosecution and are antagonistic and bitter to the affiant because of regulations promulgated by him as commissioner of agriculture" so that he

524-Mile Highway Loops Northwestern Volcano Peaks

1,500,000 TOURISTS ANNUALLY PASS OVER BEAUTIFUL HIGHWAY

Only 73 Miles of Road Remain Uncompleted Among Stately Sentinels of Cascade Mountain Range

(By The Associated Press) PORTLAND, March 28—A motor highway 524 miles long, encircling four dormant volcano peaks, is nearing completion in Washington and Oregon.

The volcanoes, now snow-capped and inactive, are among the most imposing mountain peaks westward to be brought within range of the motorist through adequate highways. Only 73 miles of the loop remain uncompleted.

Mount Rainier, Mount St. Helens, Mount Adams and Mount Hood are the stately sentinels of the Cascade range skirted by the new Four Mountain highway loop.

Concrete Roads
From Portland, the motorist can speed along the fine concrete-paved Columbia-river highway to the bridge of the Gods at Hood. From the bridge, a stretch in the mountain loop lies through the Yakima Indian reservation at Yakima, Washington.

Crystal-Clear Lake
In completing the circle, the motorist returns to Portland by way of Tacoma, Chehalis and Kelso, where snow-capped Mount St. Helens lifts its head into the blue sky, with a crystal-clear lake in the foreground.

Mount Hood, the most southerly peak in the group, is skirted by another section of the road which goes south of the Columbia river above-cul. Highway officials estimate that 400,000 cars travel these roads yearly, carrying 1,500,000 persons. Completion of the Four Mountain highway is expected to double this traffic within a few years.

MODERN WOODMEN PLAN TO HOLD BURL MEETING

BURL, March 28—Delegates from all lodges of the Modern Woodmen of America in Twin Falls county will meet in Burl, Wednesday, April 3, to elect delegates to the state convention at Boise May 3. The session will open at 10 A. M. and will continue during the afternoon with a fellowship banquet at noon. L. H. Denney is council of the Burl lodge and E. E. Brown is clerk.

Miss Bertha Buckendorf, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Buckendorf, became the bride Wednesday at Fenton, Wilkerson of Colorado. Rev. C. S. Heiman, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, performed the ring ceremony in the presence of Miss Frances Helman and Luther McPherson. Mrs. Wilkerson was a member of the junior class of the Burl high school. They plan to leave in the near future for Rock Springs, TOURISTS INTO THE FAR NORTHWEST this year will find a motor highway, 524 miles in length, looping four dormant volcano peaks in Washington and Oregon. The Rowena loops on the Columbia river highway (above) provide a thrill and ever-changing scenic vista as the motorist speeds along wide concrete pavements. Mt. St. Helens and Spirit Lake (upper left) are but an indication of the natural beauties along the new Four Mountain highway loop traced on the map (inset).

Gamblers and Artists In One Class Under Odd-French-Income-Tax Law

By JOHN EVANS (Associated Press Staff Writer)

PARIS, March 28—Artists are merchants and gambling house keepers are classed as artists under the income tax laws of France. Critics expressed amazement at the strangeness of some of the classifications.

Besides the general income tax there are special assessments on the income or profits of business and professional men and women, that vary with the occupation. Therefore there often are protests when a classification that doesn't appear to common sense causes one to pay higher taxes.

For some reason, or lack of it, artists, engravers, sculptors and designers, usually regarded as belonging in the liberal profession category, are considered by the minister of finance as tradesmen. Manicurists, gamblers and masseurs, on the contrary, are listed in the place where the dictionary would indicate the artist's outlet to go—so also are fortune tellers.

Actors and actresses formerly were in the liberal profession class but now they are termed "salaried persons."

Owning race horses is a liberal profession to the tax collector while the trainer is a merchant and the jockey is in the salaried list, although most of them get a retainer and a fee for each race, with a bonus for winning, all quite different from a salary.

For years the incongruity of some of the legislative and administrative classifications have excited amusement so three years ago parliament named a committee to codify the complex income tax texts "within six months." The result was embodied in 21 columns of fine print which former Minister of Finance Francois Mairal called "absolutely unreadable." Then the job was given up in despair.

Wyoing.

Mrs. Beulah Kensington was hostess to the Rebekah Kensington, Wednesday afternoon. Following a brief business session, Mrs. Andy Wilson and Mrs. Frank Reeves gave two vocal duets. Readings were given by Mrs. Earl Davis, Mrs. George Leth and Mrs. Cunningham and a group of the members gave a pantomime of "Pigs." Dainty refreshments were served to 18 members and two guests, Mrs. Roy Ellenwood and Mrs. Probst. The next meeting will be April 17 at the home of Mrs. Frank Reeves.

Father Michael S. Ryan is spending the week in Boise assisting with Holy week services in the Church of the Immaculate Conception. Mrs. Minnie Finch accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Finch to Shoshoni, Monday where she will spend several days with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dunn, former residents of Buhl, before leaving for Portland. The group were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ripley Sunday.

Official State Motion Picture of Idaho Game And Fish to Be Shown

The official motion picture of the state fish and game department of Idaho, showing the working of the department and the habits of Idaho birds and animals and fish will be presented to the public at the Latter Day Saints Recreation hall next April 4 at 8 P. M. It was announced yesterday following a noon luncheon of the directors of the Southern Idaho Fish and Game association, under whose auspices it will be presented. The public is invited to attend the show which is free and is said to be highly interesting and scientific.

The directors completed plans for laying the cement floor and doing further construction work next Sunday. It was announced yesterday by the president, Rex Thomas, that a spanning trap has been completed at the hatchery by O. H. Dahlquist, supervisor, in which there are now several fine trout and that the public is invited to look at the fish if interested.

PLAYING HOST'S ROLE IN CHINA CALLS FOR GUESSING ADROITNESS

Courtesy of Answering Invitations Frowned Upon as Occidental Innovation By Oriental Social Lights

By MORRIS J. HARRIS (Associated Press Correspondent)

SIANGHAI, March 28—Exasperating difficulties face the Chinese guests all who would play host and entertain his friends. He can be certain in advance only of the number of invitations he has issued. All other factors for a successful party rest upon the knees of fickle gods.

No one ever thinks of answering an invitation in China. The courtesy of replying is frowned upon as an occidental innovation so the host does not know how many acceptances there will be, whether the guests will come early or late, bring friends with them or remain for more than a few minutes. He can only muse about as follows:

"If Chang comes, will he be accompanied by his wives and courtesans? Probably he will bring an old friend or two. He may even honor me by the presence of his children. But 'mayhap he will not come at all."

Always Guesses
Having guessed as shrewdly as possible on the probabilities, the host must finally make definite reservations at the restaurant where he is to entertain. He arranges for equal numbers of round and square tables, orders food accordingly and hopes—

If more arrive than he expects, he may not be able to accommodate them. If fewer come, he loses "face" through the revelation by vacant places that some of his invitations have been ignored.

Moderately educated Chinese have failed in efforts to reform this custom. Some of them tried the expedient of sending the messengers who distributed the "bids" a scroll on which the invited guests were to signify their intentions. For a time conditions improved, but then some ingenious individual, not wishing to commit himself, naively wrote "noted" on the scroll. Now the host who tries the scroll device gets back a list showing mostly "noted on behalf of So-and-So," indicating that his request is being considered only by proxy.

It all illustrates again that once a

FALL OF ROME NOT RESULT OF PERFUME

Professor Asserts Use of Cosmetics Never Blamed for Empire's Destruction

PHILADELPHIA, March 28 (AP)—While powder puffs and perfumed baths preceded the decline or fall of many an empire, says Professor Ivo Griffith of the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy and Science, no one has suggested that the attempt to gain beauty had anything to do with the fall.

"As far as I know," he asserts, "no historian has ever suggested that the flattering attentions paid to beautifying the outer instead of the inner man sapped the vitality and virility of the once business-like soldier of Rome.

"Only the rich in Rome and the favored few in France could enjoy the perfumed bath and scented liniments.

In America, however, these commodities, food or bad, are within the reach of every current citizen.

"Seventy-one in 100 use perfume; 89 use face powder; 55 use rouge and 13 in that 100 use lipstick.

"But for all that a woman pays much less for her cosmetics than the 450 which the average man passes over the tobacco counter yearly. Yet the figure of $177,000,000 which the department of commerce announced as the 1927 expenditure for cosmetics is staggering, to say the least."

According to Professor Griffith, the very same paints with which Cleopatra embellished her natural charms still are used in preparations of eyebrow pencils and face pastes.

WIFE OF SENATOR TO HEAD LUNCHEON CLUB

Mrs. George H. Moses New Leader of Women's Organization at Capitol City

WASHINGTON, March 28.—In becoming president of the Senate Ladies Luncheon club Mrs. George H. Moses.

MRS. GEORGE H. MOSES

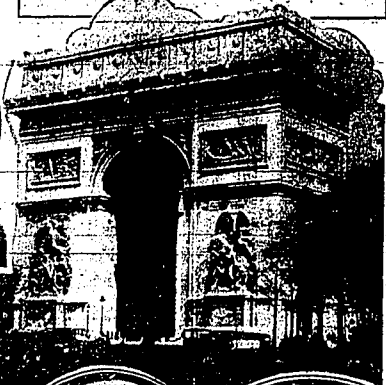

wife of the senator from New Hampshire, steps into a place usually held only by the wife of a vice president. The members are wives of senators. They meet every Tuesday for luncheon and a social hour in the senate office building. The president's wife always has the privilege of attending and Mrs. Coolidge has been a frequent guest the last few years.

Mrs. Charles G. Dawes, wife of the vice president, was president of the club all during the Coolidge administration. But an unusual situation arose through the fact that Senator Curtis, the new vice president, is a widower. His sister, Mrs. Edward E. Gann, will act as his official hostess. However, there are no provisions in the rules of the club for other than senators' or vice presidents' wives to preside.

As election time neared the members were divided into sections. Some wanted rules waived aside and Mrs. Gann elected president. Others argued that the office should continue to go only to the wives of vice presidents or senators. The election was held behind closed doors. Mrs. Gann was elected to honorary membership in the club, but without a vote. Thus another time-honored precedent was saved and a senator's wife will head the club at least four years.

Mrs. Gann will figure considerably in Washington life in her capacity as vice presidential hostess. Mr. Curtis makes his home at the Mayflower hotel.

Warrior's Tomb In Invalides For Foch

THE LAST RESTING PLACE of France's hero, Marshal Foch, will be in the Invalides (lower left), under whose dome Napoleon sleeps. Before the funeral the body will lie in state under the Arc de Triomphe (above), an honor accorded only outstanding men of the republic. General John J. Pershing (inset right) will be the United States army's representative at the funeral, and Premier Poincare (inset left) will be the speaker at the interment in the Invalides.

and Mr. and Mrs. Gann live with him. Hereafter the senator has shared the roof of his sister while in Washington, but with the new and exacting demands as vice president he will have much more entertaining to do.

LABOR SECRETARY'S WIFE ACTIVE WORKER

Mrs. James J. Davis Enters On "Third Term" Duties as Leader in Washington

BY SUE McNAMARA (Associated Press Feature Writer) WASHINGTON, March 28 (AP)—Mrs. James J. Davis, wife of the secretary of labor, probably is the busiest cabinet wife in Washington. With the reappointment of her husband, Mrs. Davis is entering upon her "third term" of the heavy social duties devolving upon the wife of a cabinet officer. She is the mother of five lively children and attends to all her own social and business correspondence, using a typewriter for the latter. She runs her big home most efficiently and spends two hours each week at Walter Reed hospital with veterans of the world war. This is part of her extensive Red Cross work.

Mrs. Davis took an active part in the campaign last fall and was found every day at Republican headquarters. Her social duties practically were eliminated at that time, and even her best friends could not reach her by telephone. Of all her activities, however, that of being a mother claims most attention. The five children, as they are known, are among the most popular children in Washington. They are Jimmie, Jr., Jane, Jenn, Joan and Jewell. It is typical of the Davises and their popularity that their one son should be known as "Jimmie" Davis instead of James and that even Mrs. Davis among her intimates, is known as "Mrs. Jimmie."

The Davises entertain a great deal at their handsome home on Massachusetts avenue, and the guests are invited to see the "little six." Many an amusing tale of the children's pranks and clever sayings enlivens Washington dinner tables.

Mrs. Davis remains young and pretty and care free looking. She has blond hair and pink cheeks. She wonders what on earth one sees in her and her little family to write about.

Thrills Galore In Big All-Vitaphone Romance

Idaho theatre audiences are vociferously sounding their appreciation of "Lights of New York," Warner brothers' first full-length all-vitaphone production, which was written by Hugh Herbert and Murray Roth and directed by Bryan Foy. Helen Costello and Cullen Landis head the all-star cast which includes Gladys Brockwell, Mary Carr, Wheeler Tom Dugan, Tom McGuire, Guy D'Emery, Walter Perreval and Jere Delaney.

The thrilling and intensely human story of "Lights of New York," has to do with two young lovers who, weary of the home town, seek opportunity for fame and fortune in Manhattan. Landing on pitiless Broadway, the girl, as a night club singer, is seduced by a man who has been inveigled into buying—but is bootlegging joint.

Then began the complications which include the shooting of a policeman, the betrayal of the young man into the hands of the police, the strange killing of the night club proprietor, whose taking off is explained by the haggard Molly Thompson whom he has cast off and the reuniting of the lovers. The effect of the human voices, which speak all the lines—is uncannily exciting. "Lights of New York" is something new in the amusement world. It is vital and stirring. You should not miss it. Showing today and tomorrow only.

"King of Kings," Orpheum Film, Uses Massive Set

What is said to be the largest set ever created for a motion picture was the reconstruction of the massive Temple of Jehovah with its 200 tremendous pillars for the Cecil B. De Mille production, "The King of Kings," which comes to the Orpheum theatre on Sunday next. The temple, which played an important part in the religious, political and commercial life of the Jews about 2000 years ago was reconstructed from descriptions in both the Old and New Testament.

Thirty-one complete five-room houses could be built from the materials used in completing this set. In all there were 400,000 board feet of lumber used in building the frame and 60,000 square yards of lath were used in finishing.

French Girl Follows In Lengien Footsteps

PARIS, March 30 (AP)—A pocket edition of Suzanne Lengien is Delia Claude-Anet, 17-year-old winner of the junior French tennis championships and the latest sensation on French feminine courts.

From her tenderest years, ever since she has been able to hold a racket, Lella has studied and copied the great Suzanne. The Anets and the Lengiens are on very friendly terms, and Suzanne took a keen interest in the development of the tiny girl's game.

Lella is the daughter of Claude Anet, well known writer, who recently made a lecture tour of the United States. His best seller is entitled: "The Life of Suzanne Lengien."

Volcanic Locations

Volcanoes generally are to be found along coasts and on islands, many of them forming islands themselves, such as Stromboli, off the coast of Italy. No active volcanoes are found in the interior of continents, those in California and Alaska, although some about removed from the coast, being considered as part of the coastal chain of mountains.

Explicating trackes

Trackes are always most alliterative in summer, but though the influence of the sun's rays affect the distribution of the snow, it is doubtful whether it can cause them. They are due to increased local deposits of pigment granules in the soil.

Food for Thought

We often wonder what a center of population that hasn't any college graduate emerges resulting in the middle class when it needs a champion of the committee engaged in the promotion of any given worthy cause. —Ohio State Journal

Crude Idea of Iron

The first iron ever used by man was called the "metal of heaven," for the very good reason, it is asserted, that it is precisely where it came from. It was iron from meteorites, found somewhere in the mountains of what is now Turkey.

GREGG BUSINESS COLLEGE INCREASES FLOOR SPACE

By extending into the front rooms of the Gregg building, 325 Main avenue west, in order to more conveniently accommodate its growing patronage, the Gregg Business College now occupies all the space on the second floor of the structure. The teaching force has recently been materially increased putting each department in control of an expert instructor. Since the fire on the lower floor some weeks ago, the entire space occupied by the school has been remodelled, and lighted in lighter shades harmonizing more completely with the already excellent lighting system.

The Gregg Business college has been in operation nearly 14 years in this city under the management of Mr. S. Hooper, who previously taught commercial subjects in the public schools of Twin Falls and in 10 other states. The attendance at present is larger than at any previous time in its history, Mr. Hooper said. The college course is recognized by colleges and universities in six states; the entire number for which such recognition is sought. One Twin Falls student after a two month course here was admitted to the University of Idaho and given credit for a year in shorthand.

Not to Be Laughed At

"Crawling babies" in children are the best managers of all, according to an expert.

What sort of roads do you usually travel?

Among many car owners comfort is more desired than any other single feature of tire service. The maximum cushioning is necessary, too, from the standpoint of lower car maintenance expense.

These advantages have now been obtained, for the first time, through General's singular success with its new Dual-Balloon principle.

Until now, the efforts of the industry to equal General's modern records of big mileage have led to increased air pressure and away from the true purpose of the balloon idea.

It has remained for General to again lead the way with regular balloon low-pressure.

Now, for the first time, the greatest possibilities in mileage and full efficiency in lower pressure have been brought together. Only the new Dual-Balloon principle has made possible this double accomplishment.

For those who travel the long road, day after day, the Dual-Balloon brings the ideal combination of a longer-lasting tire that is good for any distance, at regular balloon low-pressure. Over all roads, whether you travel with light or heavy loads, it means the limit of luxury in riding comfort—a full day's run with never a tiring mile.
