HOOVER TURNING TO STATE IN OIL ISSUE

Chief Executive Opposes Governmental Control of Petroleum Product Prices

WASHINGTON, April 2.—President Hoover believes that the solution of the oil production problem lies with the individual states rather than the federal government.

Secretary Wilbur, ex-officio chairman of the creation board, had in his keeping an opinion from Attorney General Mitchell on the legality of this compact which he planned to announce to the committee at the next session.

As a member of the board, which was appointed by President Coolidge, Mr. Hoover made a thorough study of the oil situation which has led him to the conclusion that the solution both as to overproduction and exhaustion of natural resources lies in regulation of drilling, the indiscriminate and intensive mining, the study revealed, leads to waste while through regulation the maximum output of oil need not be sacrificed.

Secretary Wilbur conferred today with President Hoover.

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, April 2.—Administration leaders at the capitol said "no" today to suggestions for slinging a tax reduction from the $100,000,000 surplus melon ripening at the treasury.

Chafman Sisco of the senate finance committee, declared against any tax revision. Such had been suggested in various quarters as a result of the size of March income tax collections.

Moreover he said the increased volume of income tax collections could be attributed largely to profits made by the public on the rising stock market.

ANTI-PROHIBITION FORCES LEAD IN WISCONSIN RACE

MILWAUKEE, April 2.—Anti-prohibition forces fighting for repeal of the state liquor enforcement law, had a lead of more than 10,000 votes on returns from about one-fourth of the state's precincts in today's referendum.

A similar advantage was held by the wets on the question of removal of penalties for manufacture and possession of home brew.

While a majority of the precincts reported a wet vote, considerable anxiety was manifest at dry headquarters.

The vote in the rural districts where the drys looked for staunch support, was exceedingly light due to bad weather.

Explosives Drop North of International Line, Endangering Lives of Many Sight-Seeers On Box Cars

(By The Associated Press) NAC0, Ariz., April 2.—Injury to an American citizen and the bombing of American soil today threw a serious international complex on the Mexican revolution in the state of Sonora.

Brigadier General Frank S. Cochen of the United States Eighth army corps, immediately announced his intention of conferring with the rebel commander, General Francisco Topete.

The injured American, Harry Baker, 25, Alliance, Ohio, a motion picture cameraman's assistant, was struck in the head by a fragment of steel as one of the two bombs hit in American territory.

Probability of a graver military situation between the federal forces, across the line from here, and rebel forces, encamped some five miles to the south, was seen in the arrival at Nac0, Sonora, of two bombing planes and the pilots' report that they had successfully bombed rebel troop trains today.

Whether the attack had caused casualties, while General Cochen prepared to go to Mexico through the rebel port.

New Senator HENRY J. ALLEN, former governor of Kansas and Republican publicity director, appointed United States senator from Kansas to succeed Vice President Curtis.

CHINESE ARMY UNDER GERMAN'S GUIDANCE

Colonel Max Bauer, Former Right-Hand Man of Ludendorff, Again in Action

BERLIN, April 2.—As the Chinese national army advanced today on the Yangtze river valley against Kuomintang forces entrenched at Hankow, a former German general staff officer, left Ludendorff for the front with President Chiang Kai-Shek, to direct from close hand the campaign which he has undertaken since its inception.

Colonel Max Bauer, right-hand man of General Erich Von Ludendorff during the Great War, now in the Chinese national army in far-away China and right-hand man to Chiang Kai-Shek.

His appointment by the Chinese government as head instructor of infantry in the Nationalist army recalled one of the most brilliant careers ever had by a German officer in his own country.

Former Chief Aide Colonel Bauer was General Erich Von Ludendorff's "chief aide" during the Great War.

When the war ended both Ludendorff and Bauer became bitter enemies of the republic.

Bauer completely discredited himself in March, 1920, when he joined Kapp and Von Lutwitz in the so-called "Kapp Putsch," the unsuccessful uprising to overthrow the republican government.

Following this, Bauer fled to Hungary where he remained at Budapest most of the time.

In 1922, under a degree of amnesty pronounced by President Von Hindenburg, most of those implicated in the Kapp rebellion were pardoned and Bauer returned to Berlin. He lived in Germany, however, and was not heard from again until announcement was made of his appointment to the Chinese post.

Bauer, is about 60 years old.

YOUNG BANK ROBBER TO ASK FOR PARDON

Accomplice of Man Taken Into Custody in Twin Falls Seeking Freedom

BOISE, April 2.—The story of a young bank robber who claims he was led into crime by an older accomplice, will be placed before the board of pardon this afternoon to decide his fate.

The case, that of Chet Langer, Boise, is one of 116, the largest docket on record, to go before the board.

Langer, in company with Oliver Jones, robbed the Fagle State Bank four years ago and then lived the life of a fugitive until he was captured at times on rabbits and stolen goods, until he surrendered to officers in California.

After the robbery he and Jones lived in a cabin on the outskirts of Boise, eating rabbits and, police said, making periodic visits to the state penitentiary. Langer made his way to California but finally gave himself up, telling officers he was anxious to end his crime. He was sentenced to from 6 to 15 years. Prison officials said he has been a model prisoner.

SNOOK NOT TO FACE CRIMINAL CHARGE

Attorney General Mitchell, Empathetically Denies Rumor Involving Ex-Warden

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Reports from Atlanta that the department of justice planned to bring criminal charges against John Snook, who resigned as warden of the Atlanta penitentiary last month, by request, were emphatically denied today by Attorney General Mitchell.

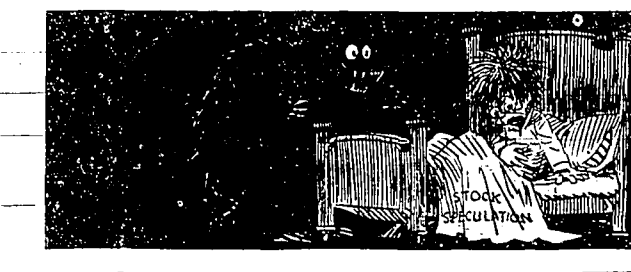

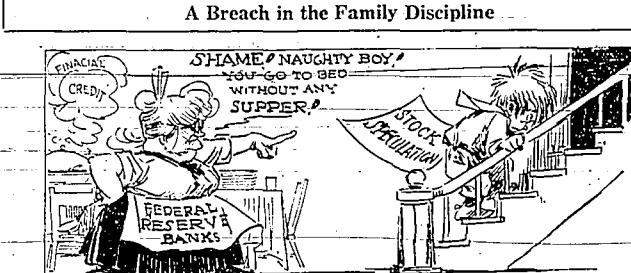

The attorney general also said no investigators of the department now were in prison here as to what extent news stories from Atlanta. He added that there was nothing in the department files to impeach the integrity of the former warden whose resignation was asked on the grounds that he lacked administrative ability.

The report the action was to be taken against Snook followed his retirement as warden at the close of business March 31. Deputy Warden Aderhold, who was placed in charge of the prison until a successor is selected, was given full authority of the department to make whatever changes he found necessary.

Charges End in Dismissal

Snook was dismissed from the department after a series of clashes lasting over a year. He was charged with receiving public confidential records and in turn charged that the department had used "under cover" men to obtain information as to what was going on inside of the prison. Snook's resignation, it was explained at the department, were made to ascertain the moral of the prison. Snook had previously served them and other conditions affecting their welfare.

The use of "under cover" men was instituted by former Attorney General Sargent and since Mr. Mitchell has been in office he has said that the question was before him because there were no "under cover" men being used in the federal prisons at this time.

BUHL DEBATE TEAMS DISTRICT CHAMPIONS

Defeat of Twin Falls Entries Insures West End Teams' Places in Contest

By defeating both Twin Falls debate teams last evening, Buhl won the championship of the South Central Idaho district and will enter the inter-district contest with Nampa, Southwest district champion, which will be held not later than Friday of this week, on a day to be agreed upon between the two schools. Arrangements for this date will include determination of which teams shall travel. The winners of the inter-district contest will enter the state tournament which will be held in Nampa April 12.

The championship of the two North Idaho districts has already been won by Wallace teams. Blackfoot and Rexburg must determine the championship of the district in eastern Idaho. The subject for all Idaho high school debates this year is: "Resolved, That the United States Government Should Cease to Protect by Armed Force Capital Invested in Foreign Lands Except After Formal Declaration of War."

The Twin Falls affirmative team composed of Owen Thomas, Dorothy Weaver and Ruth Lueser met the Buhl negative composed of William Merrick, Charles Bower and Howard Griffin here last evening. C. C. Wilburn, Jerome, was judge. John Estes presided. Miss Eulalia Schmeier, Buhl coach, accompanied the team here.

The Twin Falls team, negative, which traveled to Buhl was composed of Harry Jennings, Houston Trolinger and Paul Galloway. They were accompanied by C. D. Merrill, coach. The Buhl team affirmative, was composed of Frank Maschrek, Don Grayson and Louis Shunk. Earl Walker, Buhl instructor, presided. Frank F. Swan, editor of the Gooding Leader, was judge of the debate.

GEROME WINS

GEROME, April 2 (Special to The News)—Jerome was both districts with Gooding last evening. As Jerome won the debate presided over by H. N. Shoun, principal of the Jerome high school, the affirmative team composed of Dale Parkinson, Bernice Pinkleton and Richard Lee, defeated the Gooding negative team composed of Helen Trapp, Leola Taylor and Anabel Hecaman. Superintendent E. H. Smith of the Eden schools was judge. In Gooding the Jerome negative team composed of Catherine Folkman, Viola Best and Jack Snodgrass won over the Gooding negative composed of Bruce Bower, Helen Berry and Donovan Moore. Superintendent Jungstrom of the Bliss schools was judge.

of Aquila, Mexico, Major Charles D. Haseltine, commanding a detachment of United States Infantry here, conferred with peace officials to keep eight-seers out of the danger zone. The bombs struck 110 and 100 feet within the American line, and the exploding lag near a line of box cars topped with eight-seers and endangering their lives. The bomb was thrown into confusion. Two other bombs from the rebel planes struck on the Mexican side near federal fortifications, but did no damage.

PRESENTS NEW PROBLEM

WASHINGTON, April 2 (U)—The first invasion of American territory by foreign aircraft in the form of the dropping of bombs on the town of Naco, Arizona, presented to American government officials today a new problem in connection with the Mexican revolution.

To prevent a repetition of such an incident it was believed here that units of the army air corps might be stationed at points along the border to keep rebel aircraft from flying over American territory. A sharp warning to leaders of the rebel forces from American military commanders is expected.

Brigadier General Frank S. Coehne recently sent Major-General William Lassater, commander of the Fifth corps area from Fort Sam Houston, Texas, to take charge of the border patrol along the Arizona line.

He has at his disposal at Naco a squadron of cavalry and some infantry.

TAKES NOTICE OF BOMBING

WASHINGTON, April 2 (U)—Senior General Uziar, head of the diplomatic mission sent here by the Mexican rebel forces, took notice tonight of two bombs from a "rebel" airplane falling in Naco, Arizona. In a statement, which said: "It, as reported, two bombs were through an unfortunate circumstance, dropped on the American side of the border town of Suco, and an American citizen has been injured, or private property damaged, the provisional government of Mexico, which I have the honor to represent in Washington, will most sincerely lament the regrettable occurrence, and will promptly proceed to make effective amends.

REBELS LOSING

MEXICO CITY, April 2 (U)—The tide of furious battle which for two days has surged back and forth through the shell torn streets of Jimenez, Chihuahua, was declared by the government this evening to have set in definitely against the rebels. The insurgents were dispersed in official reports as evidenced by a rise of fire and fighting desperately to retain positions in the railroad station and corner of the city.

"The termination of the traitor forces is now merely a question of hours," declared Secretary of War Plutarco Elias Calles in a telegram to the president at noon. "I greatly fear that those most responsible for this kind of military uprisings are personally safe from execution."

Federal commanders estimated that rebel losses had been about 600 men. About their own casualties they said little. It was said that 25 men of the column led by Federal General Eulogio Ortiz had died in withstanding three cavalry charges launched in rapid succession, beginning at 4 o'clock this morning, by 1200 insurgent troops.

After turning back these attackers, General Ortiz was reported to have launched a counter offensive and to have gained considerable ground.

The attacks were described by General Calles as a rebel attempt to cut their way out of the trap. The struggle raged for four hours before the insurgents were "driven from their positions with dead and wounded."

General Calles said that simultaneous and later fighting in other sections had given the loyal troops possession of the major part of the city. The enemy was confined to the railroad station and a small section around it.

General Juan Almazan, commanding the federal army, was on the firing line in person throughout the day. The headquarters of General Calles were in Bicochicillo, about 100 miles south east of Jimenez.

Jimenez, for which the armies are battling in what the government considers the life or death struggle of the revolution, is a struggling town of about 30,000 population. It is at the junction of the Mexican National and Jimenez-Luzuriaga railways.

FISH AND LOG CABINS
President Hoover is not a meteorologist or an air glider, but a fisherman. So he has turned down Mount Weather, on a hilltop in the Blue Ridge, in favor of a piscatorial valley in the Shenandoah National Park, and a similar place in Maryland.

Another thing—Mr. Hoover is going to do most of his rural week-ending in a log cabin. Not having been born in such an abode, the president now wants one. And outside of working hours, he would rather live there than in the White House.

SILENT AIRPLANES
A new airplane muffler, tried out on Ourida Field, the other day, is said to make an ordinary air motor purr softly like an automobile engine. The only noise of any importance left is the whir of the propeller.

THE NEW PROPERTY
Roger Babson recently remarked that the business record for last year strikingly refuted "the old idea that we have business prosperity only when prices are rising." Wholesale prices increased less than 1 per cent. Retail prices actually declined. Net profits of 500 corporations increased 15 per cent.

Southwest Squads

Loom As Possible Winners of Title

Giants of Athens Vanquish Big Tennessee Five, 44-22 and Central High Defeats Cicero, Illinois, 41 to 11

By ORLO L. ROBERTSON (Associated Press Sports Writer)

CHICAGO, April 2.—A national high school basketball title, heretofore only a myth to the great Southwest, appeared at its first realization today with two great passing teams from Oklahoma and Texas surviving the first round in the University of Chicago tournament.

Athens, Texas state champions, and Central Oklahoma City runner-up for the Oklahoma title, edged up the second and third largest scores, respectively, of the opening games to establish themselves as favorites for the title. The Giant Texans topped above another 24-foot team from Cleveland, Tennessee, to win, 44 to 22, while Central outplayed and outshone the high of Cicero, Illinois, to go into the second round 41 to 11.

Kentucky Team Popular

Although the two powerful southwest fives established themselves as front runners, it was Kentucky that won from the Bluegrass region of Kentucky to gain the popular appeal of the several thousand fans that packed their seats for the first round. The Kentucky team, led by a combination of a defense, Keith, Kentucky state champions, defeated Hartsville, South Carolina, 33 to 27.

Granite high of Salt Lake City, Utah, champion of the West, defeated the Brockton, Massachusetts, squad 29 to 25. The New England team, rated one of the strongest in the East because it was undefeated in the first round, led during most of the game but was unable to stave off the Utah team's rush in the last period.

Captain Christensen, husky center for Utah, provided most of the offense. He was supported by his boys, Newport News, Virginia, South Atlantic tournament champions, eliminated Miles City, Montana, 29 to 16, to place the second Eastern team through the first round.

Miles City Rally Falls

With an attack centering around Jon Price, lanky pivot man, the Virginians counted four field goals in rapid succession before the Miles City five could get under way. The 12-to-8 lead held by the Easterners at the half was cut to 13 to 12 at the three-quarter mark. Price and his four assistants came back, however, early in the last period and pulled away to a safe margin.

Nantucket, Connecticut, Atlantic seaboard champions, defeated the Nebraska state champions, St. Paul, 35 to 31. The Eastern veterans, runner up team in last year's consolation tourney, were the first easterners to crash into the "win" column. Portsmouth, New Hampshire and White River Junction, Vermont, having been beaten earlier.

Athens, Texas, with a team of six-foot giants, moved into the second round of the tournament play.

THE GUMPS—THE GATES AJAR

COUNT LUCKNER THE Sea Devil

Copyright by Doubleday, Doran & Co.

We were close behind the Antonin now. A machine gun began to rattle. We were often forced during those long days of sea anything for a bit of amusement. It would be funny to watch the captain's face when he heard the type-writer of Mars rattling in his ear and when he saw me sending a stream of lead through his rigging. First he started, and then he glared. What did this lunatic mean? This kind of insanity was too much. His rigging bludge is injured, ropes cut or spars smashed. He began to roar at us in the most profane French. When a Frenchman swears you can hear it far off. Then he saw the German fine at our masthead. He sniggered back with a diabolic smile, that only a Frenchman can achieve. We sank the Antonin just as we sank the others.

We added another ally named to our list of prizes when the Buenos Aires came bowing along. She was an Italian ship built in England, a fine vessel but not so strong. Her captain, an Italian, kept man of about fifty-five with a bristly mustache and a face of iron. He was strongly stubby on his face, came aboard the Beedler carrying an umbrella. Can you imagine a skipper of a steamship carrying an umbrella? I don't think so. I had one on me at sea? We couldn't, and my men all hid out in rude gaffers. I suppose he had it to show his superiority. He was a little bit of a sniggerer. He was a little bit of a sniggerer. He was a little bit of a sniggerer.

One night, our lookout saw a tiny flash of light astern. A ship was coming along behind us, and somebody on the deck looked at his watch with a look of alarm. We kept along on our way. No doubt in the morning she would still be with us. Down came, and there she was, a magnificent French barque, the La Rochefoucauld. We signaled her: "Attention!"

She hoisted the captain, who was on deck in his carpet slippers, saw our gun but thought we were the mother ship. He was a little bit of a sniggerer. He was a little bit of a sniggerer. He was a little bit of a sniggerer.

"Don't you want to send for your belongings, Captain Luckner?" I asked. "I have to love my ship, mon Dieu. I don't want to leave her. I don't want to leave her. I don't want to leave her."

I sent a couple of his sailors back aboard the La Rochefoucauld to meet her. They met a cruiser a couple of days ago. They met a cruiser a couple of days ago. They met a cruiser a couple of days ago.

Windjammer "A" Steamer. Now the steamer ship we captured in the Atlantic was a 3,800-ton British steamer loaded with champagne—the Hornet. That was our haul. She was well armed and had a wireless. She hoisted into sight one morning, and we could see her for miles.

CHAPTER VI. We had other devices. We had a steam engine and found rolling out of the galley, and on the galley roof was a dial loaded with a quantity of magnesium. This was lighted up, and the smoke and fire came, and ran up the dunnage. The steamer now was the most dramatic-looking ship we had ever seen. Thirty of my crew armed with rifles hid behind the rail, and Schmidt quickly dressed up as the captain's wife, the beautiful but asping Jeanne. It was a program made that piece of apparatus which we now used for the first time. It was a kind of cannon made out of a section of smokestack. It was loaded with a charge of powder, and you touched it off with a lighted cigarette. It would have been a terrific explosion. I picked three sailors who had the most powerful voices, and gave them large megaphones, and stationed them on the topmost yards of the mainmast and mizzen.

If that steamer was short on courtesy, she was long on humanity. She came rushing hereafter, she was dramatically just astern. She had a powerful wireless set, and as I stood on my bridge watching her as she steamed toward us, I could not take my eyes off the five-inch gun on her deck. What was our program beside that piece of machinery? One shot would blow us right out of the water.
