CALIFORNIA GROWERS LOSE $55,000,000

Recent Frost Exacts Heavy Toll From Fruit Producing Industry On Coast

SAN FRANCISCO, April 10.—A crop damage of $55,000,000 in California from frost during the last few days was indicated today by the receipt by the state department of agriculture of detailed reports of losses. # American Oil Man Tests of Experience as Rebel Prisoner

E. E. GILBERT, 25, TELLS OF HARDSHIP IN MEXICAN HANDS

Released Captive, Bedraggled and Dirty From 10-Day Involuntary Sojourn, Narrowly Escapes Death

(By The Associated Press) EL PASO, April 10.—A tale of abduction by Mexican Rebels of near-starvation in a filthy Mexican prison while a mob outside clamored for his life and of being sentenced to death and then pardoned, passed from the lips of E. E. Gilbert, 25, an oil company attaché of Eastland, Texas, today.

Gilbert arrived here bedraggled and dirty from a 10-day involuntary sojourn in the hands of the rebel country with a companion whose boast of prowess as an aviator nearly cost both their lives. Before his eventful trip Gilbert weighed 145 pounds. Today he looked as if he might weigh a scant 140.

"I had exactly four and one-half loaves of bread and one-half pound of meat in my tin for the 10 days," he said, "but the worst of it was being sentenced to death. I had a close call, and it all came about from my chance from Eastland to El Paso by automobile for an Easter holiday."

Gilbert picked up a man whose name was Butler, he said, and together they left El Paso in a car. They were not a Dr. Kay who learned Butler had been flying for the federales.

Go For Ride Having learned that to spend the night in his quarters in the Hotel Brava since the international bridge was closed this mysterious Dr. Kay took them in his car, driven by rebel army officer, Gilbert said. But instead of heading toward El Paso the car, headed south.

"For about 40 miles," Gilbert said, "we chased a train and when we caught up with it we were placed aboard and put in a caboose until we heard a whistle. That's where our serious trouble started."

"It seemed as if Butler couldn't stop talking about flying for the federales. He told some of the officers we had flown a federal plane over Jimenez and was almost caught. The rebel lines, it happened a few days before the rebel plane had bombed Jimenez and a woman and a child were killed. The rebels concluded we were the aviators who had done it and on Thursday we were informed we had been sentenced to death and were to be shot at sunrise Friday. Our arms were bound behind our backs with wire."

Gilbert exhibited scars above the eyebrows, but he said he was not hurt. "The two Americans were saved from their predicament by the intervention of Robert Swain, El Paso, a member of General Escobar's staff, Gilbert said.

Sentence Not Effective "I told him it was all a mistake and wrote down on a piece of paper the places I had been during the last year. When Swain returned after a conference with General Escobar he said the revolutionary commander-in-chief and said our sentence was not effective."

"About this time a mob gathered outside the caboose where we were still held, and called for our lives. Swain came back and increased our guard. Butler called for relief and swore he had been lying about being a federal aviator."

"After the rebel commander pardoned them, Gilbert said, the two men were brought to Juarez and held in a dark prison before they were released today. "I don't know what became of Butler," Gilbert said. "We were released together but in my desire to get on this side of the international border I lost track of him. I heard some rebel officers talking about the mysterious Dr. Kay being killed somewhere south of Chihuahua City last week."

As secretary of Twin Falls Community club for five years from 1913 to 1916, he contributed largely to the development of this community, and played a leading part in the establishment of the American Sugar Company plant here in 1915.

The interest in civic affairs that led Mr. McMillan in the early days of this region to participate actively in the affairs of farmers' and community organizations and led to his election as a director of the Twin Falls Canal organization, was continued in his important factor making for the consummation of many and varied enterprises contributing to the welfare of the community.

The regular address on the subject of evangelism was delivered by Rev. E. T. Starkey, Twin Falls. Rev. Isaac Todd, Castelford, had charge of the afternoon prayer service. Miss Eva Powell, missionary among Plate Indians in Nevada, spoke on affairs in Cuba. The service was followed at 4:30 P. M. by a social hour, at which Rev. Phillip presided and Rev. Johnson led the singing. Dr. Huntley spoke.

Ralph Fulkerson, Jerome, presided at the women's service in the evening. "The Greatest Need in the World," said the scripture lesson and led the prayer service. R. A. Sweet, Twin Falls, replied in length in the affirmative to the query, "Can a Business Man Conduct His Business on Christian Principles and Prosper?"

Based on the text describing the triumphal entry of Christ into Jerusalem on Palm Sunday, Dr. Huntley in his talk at this meeting on the subject, "The Greatest Need in the World," said that this need was the winning of souls.

To secure the result needed he said, required cooperation between a distinct command and sacrifice. Miss Fowell spoke on missionary work.

Owing to the necessary lengthy program, Dr. Huntley presides it was decided during convention to dispense with the women's meeting at the convention prayer service.

Addresses during the meeting by the visiting missionaries were highly educational in character. This was true of the talks on India by Miss Fowell, who declared that this country has finally decided that it is better to educate and civilize the Red man than to break treaties with him and to kill him. She told about the growth of Indian schools in the country on all Indian reservations.

How the people of the Orient are changing their views of women under Christian teaching was described in one of the outstanding addresses of Dr. Huntley. The philosophy of Confucius who taught that women must obey men, that when a girl she must obey her father and older brother; when married her husband and when a widow her older son, has led to the humiliation of the sex. The mother does not regret the death of her daughter, because if allowed to live she will be in bondage. Women missionaries have done much to combat this state of affairs.

The missionaries started a crusade against the terrible practice of foot binding and the government finally adopted the same view, so that the practice is largely overcome. Dr. Huntley said.

HIGH SUGAR TARIFF PROSPECTS BRIGHTEN

Further Reports of Tariff Increase By Committee Current in Washington

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Further reports that the house ways and means committee was considering a proposal to increase the world valorem duty on sugar from 10 to 15 per cent on the Cuban product to 2.10 cents were current at the capital today, but committee members declined to comment.

The American Farm Bureau Federation in a letter forwarded to the committee by Chester Gray, its legislative representative, protested against any change from foreign to domestic valuation for purposes of assessing ad valorem duties unless this were accompanied by a scaling down of rates to the same degree that values would be increased by such a shift.

Representative Dickerson, Republican, lower form of domestic valuation. The Republican sub-committee revived the sugar schedule had tentatively proposed of the higher sugar levels to the full public. The tariff on foreign to present world tariff is 2.20 cents and that on Cuban 1.76.

Representative Aswell, Democrat of Louisiana, whose state produces most of the domestic cane sugar, said he had not heard of such a proposal. He expressed his opposition for action, but expressed himself as favoring withdrawal by the United States of the 20 per cent differential on Cuban sugar and to let the island products under a treaty between the two countries.

Cuba is well as stand on her own feet, Aswell said in support of his argument. Change tariff observers see little prospect of the tariff bill authorizing any change in the method of valuation from the present foreign basis now used. They point out that a switch to some form of domestic valuation would necessitate rewriting every ad valorem duty in the law.

However, the Farm Bureau called the committee's attention to reports that certain industrial interests were advocating a domestic valuation base "as a substitute through which general increases can be secured on industrial products without changing the existing rates of duty."

"Regardless of whether or not this plan is well-founded, the bureau's letter said, the actual effect of such a change would be to give to industry a greater increase in duty than would this change in the base for ad valorem duties is coupled with a scaling down of the rates."

While it long has favored some sort of domestic valuation the bureau added, to make such a change without lowering the duties would "disproportionately benefit industry and penalize agriculture."

Choice of Dawes as Ambassador Scores In Official London

However not only did the unusual of selecting a former vice president but also named a man well known for his ability to cut "red tape" and drive directly to the heart of a subject.

Not Stranger in London General Dawes will be no stranger in London as more frequent visits there while he was a member of the Allied supply control commission during the World War and it was then that he cut "red tape" and drive directly to the heart of the subject necessary to move American soldiers overseas during the big push in 1918.

His ability and directness were circled with having made a favorable impression upon the British. Announcement of the selection of General Dawes created a favorable impression here in London as a diplomat and political circles; and President Hoover was congratulated by his friends upon the appointment.

PROSPECT FOR COALITION GOVERNMENT BRIGHTENS

BERLIN, April 10.—Prospects for creation of a stable coalition government which would include the Centre in addition to the parties at present represented in the cabinet were brightened tonight in light of the fact that the government's resignation seems imminent yesterday.

The Mueller cabinet decided to remain at its post in its morning session and to put up the responsibility of accepting or leaving the budget to all the parties, after parliament had yesterday voted appropriations for work on a new five-year contract and curtailed aviation subsidies.

The Centre party this afternoon voted to support the government and it is confident of a majority in the Reichstag. Democrats, the Centre, the People's party and the Bavarian People's party who now constitute the coalition, will decide similarly tomorrow.

It is believed that the Centre will then re-enter the cabinet assuring a safe majority to Chancellor Mueller.

cordial relations that now exist between the two countries is deplorable and can serve only toward a depression on both sides of the international border.

Senator Borah in his reply declared the condition of agriculture in the United States is such that we are under the highest obligation to better that condition if it is possible to do so, and we are also under pledge to undertake it.

"I presume in some respects," he continued, "this may be the disadvantage of our people. But in looking after the respective interests of our country, necessarily there must be some conflict of advantage. I know of no way to avoid it and I know of no country in the world which seeks to avoid it."

"I recall when the British premier visited Canada a short time ago, he urged the Canadians to trade within the British empire—to buy not only your manufactured goods, but the home country, to buy such other products as Canada did not produce in other parts of the British Empire where they were produced. We could not take exception to this, although if carried into effect, we would undoubtedly feel the effect of it."

88,471—Persons Buy Licenses From Game Department in Year

BOISE, April 10.—During the past year 88,471 persons paid licenses to fish and hunt in Idaho, an audit of the state game department revealed today. Of these 70,414 were resident fish and game licenses, 2,551 were tourist fishing licenses, 3,339 were non-resident, and one big game non-resident license, costing $75. The audit made by the bureau of public accounts, showed the income of the department was $197,874, of which $185,035 was from licenses and permits, $462 from fees, $604 from sale of beaver hides, and the balance from miscellaneous receipts. During the same period the department spent $17,068, of which $16,021 went for salaries and $1,757 for expenses. Hatcheries cost $35,573. A balance in the game fund at the close of the audit—April 8—was $92,572. It was the first time in recent history of the department where all receipts from old licenses were checked in before the new licenses were issued. Issuing of new licenses will begin as soon as they have been counted. This job has already been started by the state auditor's office, where each of the 75,000 first issue licenses have to be checked over one by one to verify numbers.

A Washington Bystander

By Kirke L. Simpson

WASHINGTON, April 10 (Friday)—March 30, was not a good day for the vice president, Charles Curtis. For one thing, the election of Governor Clyde M. Reed, Kansas, to name Henry J. Allen to fill the senatorial office vacated by Curtis when he assumed the vice-presidential duties...

And the fact that Governor Reed made his announcement after all the President Hoover and a discussion of the subject with such Hoover lieutenants as Secretary Clegg and the War Department for the Republican national committee, directed to give the Allen selection a decided Hoover flavor.

Almost at the moment these excursions and alarms were toward the White House, a news item was published which was discussing the situation with the by-stander elsewhere and reflecting Curtis' opinion to Allen.

Another record that Idaho has to be proud of is one just made public by the Children's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor, showing that Idaho, in nineteen hundred twenty-seven, was among the States having the greatest improvement in the country.

It is related that a century ago a sailing ship, hulled bound from the north coast with a letter of credit on the bank of a millionaire of the Maine coast, that some of the cats took to water and left out to sea in the bay.

Guiding Your Child

When he, himself, asks to put them on, then he does ask to wear them. They may be fastened to a string attached to the back of his collar, or pinned securely to the sleeves of his coat.

And Albert's mother to one goes to the store and buys him a fifth pair, which Albert will face as surely as he lost the others.

Ordinarily gloves are extremely in Albert's life. He really hates to wear them except when the weather is extremely cold—and then he can be sure that mother always will produce a pair for him from some mysterious source. He knows he won't be allowed to freeze, so he loses one pair after another, with sublime indifference.

There are three things which may be done to check such prodigality. The first is to permit him to go without his gloves when he, himself, asks to put them on, then he does ask to wear them. They may be fastened to a string attached to the back of his collar, or pinned securely to the sleeves of his coat.

If he secures these devices as undifferentiated and unbecoming to one of his advanced age, it can be pointed out to him that he must assume responsibility for his gloves, and if he loses them, he will have to help pay for a new pair, or go without any for a long while.

Losing things is a distressing habit which no amount of lecturing can cure. Gloves, handkerchiefs, mittens, to be child they are so many meaningless worthless articles. One best course is to dispense with the unessential and gradually teach him to assume responsibility for those things whose worth experience has taught him to appreciate.

An exceptionally comfortable car because of the new transverse springs, Houdaille hydraulic shock absorbers and the generous space provided in front and rear compartments.

Reliability of new Ford as important as beauty, speed, safety and comfort

YOU are buying proved performance when you buy the new Ford. You know exactly what it will do. There is nothing of an experiment about it.

Letters from users show a delivered value far beyond expectations. Almost without exception they stress reliability. You sense a feeling of sincere pride in the oft-repeated phrase—"Let me tell you what my new Ford did."

A well-known tire company, solely to test tires, drove a new Ford more than 90,000 miles in six months. Throughout that time, the car was run day and night, an average of twenty-two hours out of every twenty-four. The entire cost of repair parts was only $38 for the entire 90,000 miles.

Another tire company, making a similar test drove the new Ford more than 80,000 miles in a short period, at a cost per mile that was fully 60 per cent less than any figure it had previously known.

One of the first of the new Fords was driven from Dearborn, Michigan, to Los Angeles to San Francisco to New York and back to Dearborn—a distance of 8328 miles—in twenty-one days. Through ice and sleet, up mountain peaks, through desert sands, over macadam and deeply rutted dirt roads, it traveled at an average speed of 10.3 miles an hour.

NEW WATER RATE TO BENEFIT ROGERSON

State Public Utilities Commission Reports On Conclusions of Hearing

A schedule of rates to be charged by the Rogerson Water company was fixed by the state public utilities commission at the conclusion of a public hearing held in Rogerson and Twin Falls on Tuesday and Wednesday.

The commission's schedule makes a small reduction in the amount that had been proposed by the company for smaller consumers—but it provides for collection of a charge for water hauled by consumers from the company's source of water supply, a natural spring about a mile from Rogerson.

Culminates in Hearing The company's attempt to collect a charge for water hauled away by consumers has been a sore point in the dispute that culminated in the hearing held in Rogerson and Twin Falls.

The schedule of rates laid down by the commission is acceptable to the company. The company stated last evening.

The commission's finding containing the schedule of rates was signed yesterday by Will H. Gibson and J. M. Thompson, members of the commission, before whom the hearing was held.

Protesters against the company's proposed rates were represented at the hearing by E. V. Larson, attorney.

"Limitation" Idea to Ignite Special Session Fireworks

PRESIDENT OPEN TO POLITICAL FIRE IN EARLY PART OF TERM

Democrats Stand Ready to Oppose Chief Magistrate in Confining Session to Tariff and Farm Relief

By FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON (Associated Press Staff Writer) WASHINGTON, April 10.—Calling the seventy-first congress into extra session April 15, President Hoover is uncovering himself to political fire almost before he gets settled in the White House.

Democrats stand ready to oppose the president's desire to limit the session—to consideration of farm relief and tariff revision. There is no indication of an amalgam of the two subjects, the controversial subject of farm relief, hence the almost sure promise of political battle in the forth-coming congressional meeting.

Mr. Hoover, however, acted with some degree of caution. The great Republican majorities in eight years were rolled into congress on the wave of votes electing Hoover last November.

With any unity of action these top heavy Republican forces in the senate and house should be in a position to effect administration wishes on the specified subjects of farm marketing and agricultural tariff revision.

Topics Novel But the administration proposal to call the extra session for these topics is almost novel in congressional history. It is to be done through the stern rules of the house, whereby only the committee necessary to transact this business will be organized. But no limit can be placed on the senate, and therefore the promise of political confounding.

This desire for a limitation also may prove disconcerting to the leadership already, suggestions from their own party ranks have come to Republican leaders for consideration of other legislation. Already the bill for reappointment of the house membership and for authorizing the 1930 census are on the tentative programs for the session along with farm marketing and tariff revision legislation.

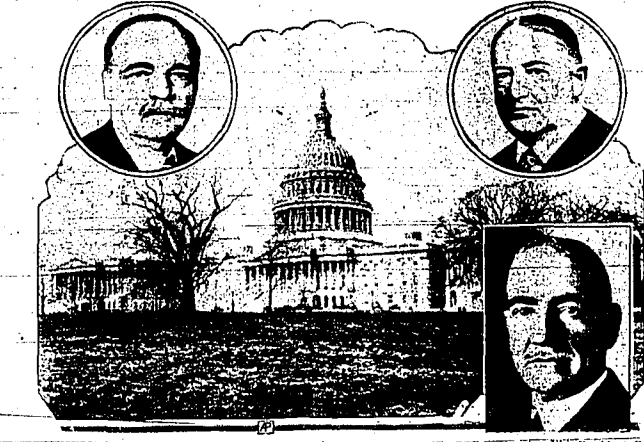

Jam Threatens Senator Watson, Indiana, the new Republican leader of the senate, is one of those forced by the circumstances to give the reappointment bill some time in the session. When this measure is introduced, Mr. Hoover is expected to call the "bill" to the floor in the senate last session, he was instrumental in having it laid aside for discussion in the extra session. The census bill goes along with the reappointment measure.

The definite program for the extra session awaits final conferences between leaders of the senate and house. There is a disposition in the house to rush the farm marketing bill through in the first week, and then to turn to the more complicated tariff revision. The latter must be initiated in the house.

Eight Looks on Tariff The tariff bill seems destined to be the big lightning point. Mr. Hoover has asked for "limited" tariff revision. He has counseled Republican leaders to confine the scope of the revision to allowing greater protection to agriculture and to let the matter end there.

But senate leaders are worried. They realize it is impossible under the liberal rules that hold to restrict legislation, and they know an epidemic of "log rolling" is apt to break out with one group supporting another in return for assistance.

Because of these possibilities for controversy, little hope is held of bringing the extra session to an end before the

The senate of the special session of the seventy-first congress will be ruled by its new leader, Vice President Curtis (upper left). Majority house leadership is unchanged with Representative Wilson (lower right), Connecticut, as floor manager. Democrats will have a new floor leader, Representative Cramer, Texas. Representative Steel (upper right), New York, is chairman of the powerful rules committee.

BLUE BLOOD STOCK ATTRACTS INTEREST

Crowd in Cassia County at Stockyards to See Nine High Grade Animals

DURLEY, April 10.—(Special to The News)—Nine blue blooded bulls attracted a large crowd of Cassia county dairy farmers to the stockyards here Monday. Seven of the animals were for the newly organized Buny-Deelo Holstein Bull association, one was to take the place of a bull lost by the Oakley Valley Bull association, and one was for a Malta farmer, Merlin Nye.

This little herd had been pronounced the best bunch of utility dairy bulls ever assembled in the state. All but one were related to "Septa-Pleterie Prospect," one two years world's champion milk producer and United States champion butterfat producer, of all breeds. Her record is 1432 lbs. butterfat average per year. Most of them were closely related to the great bull Matador Segis Walker, whose dam was a 1200 pound butterfat producer.

All these bulls were from families which are the elite of America. A half brother of one of them was the first bull to take an airplane journey, flying from Wisconsin to Texas to become a member of one of the great Holstein-Friesian herds of the Lone Star state.

One of the greatest showmen—the grand champion of the Pacific international. Farmers here say the coming of these bulls has been the greatest step in advance their industry has experienced since water was distributed on the Minidoka project.

Six of the bulls were purchased from the Carnation farm near Seattle, one from Paul Adams, Portland, Oregon, one from Lee Brothers, Mount Vernon, Washington, and one from T. D. Dealy, Webster. They were brought back by James Baugh, one of the committee that made the selections. Monday afternoon, lots were drawn, and the bulls were distributed to the various blocks of the Durley-Deelo association.

In the model of this early school will be placed four bells—duplicates, as nearly as possible, of chimes that called semi-savage Indians to mass two centuries ago in the mission of Our Lady of Sorrows.

Soap May Become as Explosive As Dynamite, Scientists Learn

WASHINGTON, April 10 (Special to The News)—Chamber of commerce members expressed themselves as 100 percent in favor of supporting the American Legion in a Fourth of July celebration, at their regular meeting Monday evening. The chamber was pleased to raise $500 to assist the legion in the celebration. It is understood that any profit the legion may make from the affair will be applied toward the fund for the erection of a new community building in Burley.

WASHINGTON, April 10 (Special to The News)—Scientists here are learning that soap is as explosive as dynamite. It has to be dried, powdered and blown into a cloud in the air, but once it gets in that shape all who enter its presence should beware.

Further, if it is swirled around in its dusty form it will provide its own detonating apparatus in the form of dust. The particles will excite tiny, sparking electric currents and fire the whole mass.

The discovery of these odd propensities in soap can be attributed to the United States bureau of mines, which has been following a long trail of facts about dust since it found that many of the tragic explosions in coal mines are due to trouble of coal dust in the air of the galleries.

After devising a method of rock dusting mines to keep down the danger of underground explosions, the bureau found a number of other industrial points, like flour mills, where ordinarily under proper conditions, it is just about inert dust was proving to be a source of explosive as dynamite.

Soap, however, is the latest and oddest of the list of commodities with tendencies to cause trouble. The bureau explains that there is no danger in soap powder around a house or any other gathering apparatus in the form of dust. Trouble is in the factory where powdered soap is made or the warehouse where it is packed.

It is the dusty, dry cloud of the powder inside a grinding machine or hung in a store room which has been about dust since it found that many of the tragic explosions in coal mines are due to trouble of coal dust in the air of the galleries.

A recent publication of the bureau, brought out for soap handlers, described some of the precautions which can be taken to reduce the hazard.

SERVICE EXTENSIONS AT LESS COST

Rural Sections and Urban Subscribers Both Benefit

Containing its aim to provide the most telephone service and the best, at the least cost to the public, this company recently announced an increase in the amount allowed for the extension of telephone service to subscribers located in sparsely settled sections and for the installation of private branch exchange systems most commonly provided for larger telephone users in cities and towns.

Previously, this company in furnishing service to outlying subscribers had paid at least $35.00 of the cost of construction for extending a new line from an isolated ranch or farm to the nearest existing telephone pole line. Under the new practice now effective, the company will pay $15.00 and in some cases more, when conditions warrant. This is simply another affirmation of this company's continuing effort to provide a service that will enable anyone anywhere to talk by telephone with anyone else anywhere else.

In connection with the installation of private branch exchange equipment, employed by large telephone users, this company's former allowance to the subscriber was $5.00 for each telephone connected. This limitation has now been removed entirely and those types of private branch exchange systems will be provided without payment of any installation charges.

The new practices, therefore, will benefit new subscribers in remote sections and also subscribers in cities and towns.

A CONTINUALLY IMPROVING SERVICE

Prominent growers say:

"For clean trees use S-W DRY LIME SULFUR"

Control-San-Jose-Scale and Blister Mite

Experienced growers are using this improved, dry, powdered spray more each year to insure profitable "pick-outs". S-W Dry Lime Sulfur controls San Jose Scale, Blister Mite and other pests. Mr. Fred W. Olds of Wenatchee, Washington, says—"In all my years of orcharding in this district I believe it comes nearer filling the bill for a perfect dormant spray than anything I have used. It kills San Jose Scale as good if not better than the liquid used at the rate of two pounds of dry to equal one gallon of the concentrate solution."

This convenient dry form saves time in mixing, in applying. It cuts trucking and labor costs. No "empties" to return. It is more economical to use than the liquid.

The stabilizer added to Sherwin-Williams Dry Lime Sulfur gives it a prolonged "punch" that is not present in the "liquid." It actually lasts longer on the trees. Insure your crop by applying the modern Lime Sulfur spray.

No trouble with S-W Free Mulsion

COUNT LUCKNER THE Sea Devil by LOWELL THOMAS

CHAPTER IX The Battle of the Falkland Islands. Through anilly sea we sailed south and west toward the Falkland Islands.

Had you seen our decks as we sailed south during these days, you might have wondered what we were about. Along with other plunder, we had looted captured ships of several great sheets of iron.

As if in a dream, I thought of the last time I saw my friend Count von Spee. It was in the days before the world went mad.

"We are leaving home and country for two years. Who will part from you tomorrow and do not know that every man at home will do his part."

"Our is a young navy, but we have had a great teacher. When England built her mighty fleet, she taught us how to build ours."

"We of the German navy knew and constantly gave credence to the thought that Britain was our guide-rod."
