AMBASSADOR GIBSON AND CHARLES DAWES DISCUSS ARMAMENTS

Two American Statesmen to Have General Discussion of International Situation Facing Great Nations

(By The Associated Press) LONDON, June 24.—United States Ambassador Hugh S. Gibson, spokesman of the American government on disarmament at Geneva in April, and Charles G. Dawes, central figure in the dramatic developments of the work of the small, alert and smiling envoy indicated on arrival from Brussels that the two ambassadors would have a general discussion of the international situation although they have more particularly held the spot light as agents of the naval program. The visit to Belgium of Gibson will extend as long as General Dawes wishes for complete analysis of issues facing the American government.

Mr. Gibson thought it unlikely that the discussions would result in any immediate announcement of great public interest, but admitted that the naval program would be one of the subjects of discussion. He did not anticipate that he would have contact with the British foreign office unless General Dawes wished.

British official quarters today indicated that they knew nothing of the visit of Ambassador Gibson except what they had seen in the newspaper. It was understood on the British side there were no developments in the disarmament negotiations.

British public opinion welcomes the visit of Mr. Gibson as another significant move in the agitation for settlement of the outstanding issue between Great Britain and the United States.

May Be Called Back WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP)—Hugh S. Gibson, American ambassador to Belgium and head of the American delegation to the League of Nations disarmament conference, may be called back to the United States later this summer for conference with President Hoover and state department officials on naval questions.

While no definite plans have been made for the return of the ambassador state department officials said that he would be called back to present his views personally to the president of disarmament questions before the next meeting of the president's committee which is scheduled for next fall. BODY OF SALVATION ARMY LEADER RESTS

Thousands of Persons See Remains of Conqueror of Souls to Final Repose

LONDON, June 24 (AP)—General William Brewster Booth, second leader of the Salvation Army and its head until last winter, sleeps tonight by the side of his wife in a flower-decked corner of Abney park cemetery. The funeral scene today will live in the history of the army as the epitome of all that the religious social organization represents. There was no evidence of sadness. There was no weeping. The conqueror of men had drawn the plaudits of hundreds but now he was laid to rest in peace.

More persons witnessed the last journey of the man who had paid a high price to the great Duke of Wellington. The conqueror of men had drawn the plaudits of hundreds but now he was laid to rest in peace.

Simplicity Prevails The funeral cortege was simplicity itself except for the bright colors of flags of many nations under which the army worked. Attracted by the public attention as though he had been royal, it approached the grave to the sound of joyous hymns.

A plain covered with bright colors had been erected over the grave while all around was a carpet of summer flowers whose odors permeated the surrounding atmosphere.

The standard bearers of the procession made a circle around the grave, raising their banners high. Ten thousand voices answered the request of Commander Catherine Booth, daughter of the general, to sing the stirring music of the army. Then followed a moment of silence and prayer. Then rested on the coffin the peaked army cap and the general's sword was laid to rest open at the place where he had last rested.

REDDEMS WARRIORS BOISE, June 24 (AP)—The state treasury today redeemed $783,000 in general fund warrants, making it one of the largest transactions of the year in the treasury.

Veteran of Great War Going Back to Chain Gang to Serve Term

CHICAGO, June 24 (AP)—Robert Elliott Burns, magazine publisher and wounded veteran of the Great War, will return to Georgia Tuesday to rejoin the chain gang from which he escaped seven years ago. His return is voluntary, he told a judge today. A David of the superior court today.

Habeas corpus proceedings were halted until Georgia officials have him in custody. An application for executive clemency has been filed in Georgia.

Burns was sentenced to from 6 to 10 years at hard labor in 1922 after he and two companions robbed a grocery store of little more than $4. In Chicago, penniless and friendless, he married his landlady. When the Georgia officials came to his prison record, she exposed him.

The small, alert and smiling envoy indicated on arrival from Brussels that the two ambassadors would have a general discussion of the international situation although they have more particularly held the spot light as agents of the naval program.

GUSTAV STRESEMANN ANSWERS CRITICISM OF POLITICAL ENEMY

German Foreign Minister Opposes Installation of Commission in Rhineland as Price of Evacuation

(By The Associated Press) BERLIN, June 24 (AP)—Gustav Stresemann, German foreign minister, in a vigorous reply to severe Nationalist criticism, told the Reichstag today that Germany would not stand for the installation of a commission in the Rhineland as the price of its evacuation.

He answered Nationalist objections to the newly evolved Young plan by declaring the plan had been Germany's burden since the treaty of Versailles, and this was the only question at issue.

Stresemann further took the wind out of the sails of the Nationalists by announcing that President von Hindenburg as well as the cabinet stood behind the plan, and that the treaty of Versailles especially the clause acknowledging Germany's sole responsibility for the war.

The foreign minister repeatedly declared to the Nationalists that when they were in power they also could not do otherwise than fulfill Germany's international obligations.

The Nationalist policy of first proving that the Dawes plan was unworkable, he said, would have led to the destruction of the industrial middle class and would have been accompanied by consequences as dire as the Ruhr controversy of 1923.

In Good Condition Despite his recent illness, the foreign minister said today.

OFFICIAL PROPOSES PROHIBITION CHANGE

Assistant Attorney General Would Not Allow "Wet" States Finances

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP)—A proposal that federal government funds for the enforcement of prohibition should not be allotted to states which do not cooperate in the holding of the "dry" law was made by Wade H. Ellis, assistant to the attorney general, here tonight in a radio address.

Speaking under the auspices of the district of Columbia organization of the Sons of the American Revolution, Ellis declared that such an experiment "would set the American public thinking" and make them realize "the enforcement of prohibition is primarily their own business."

His plan would be for the federal government to enforce prohibition as far as interstate liquor commerce was concerned in non-cooperating states. But he added the experiment.

INTERIOR SECRETARY TO CONFER IN BOISE WITH 13 GOVERNORS

Dr. Wilbur to Discuss Reclamation and Kindred Subjects at Conference to Be Held in Few Days

(By The Associated Press) MADISON, Cid., June 24.—Secretary of the Interior Wilbur today accepted an invitation from the governors of 13 Western states to meet with them or their representatives in Boise, Idaho, June 28, to discuss reclamation and kindred subjects.

The invitation from the governors was received shortly after the interior department had had outlined what he termed a "new policy for the government in its relationship to reclamation."

This policy was that the government should build a sounder reclamation program, protect its investment where possible, and then withdraw from the field.

Points to Tendency Secretary Wilbur declared the Hoover administration was not at all in sympathy with the "growing tendency to centralize authority in Washington," and that where it was possible the federal authorities would turn back to the state or the community the control of reclamation projects built in its nature by the bureau of reclamation.

"This will mean," the secretary said, "that the government no longer will be tied up in affairs that should be purely local, but involve purely local issues such as taxation, water division, bond issues, power rights, and even fishing rights."

PRESIDENT HOOVER BACK AT DESK AFTER FISHING

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP)—Refreshed by a week-end at his Blue Ridge mountain fishing lodge in Virginia, President Hoover upon his return to Washington today lost no time in getting to his desk to study the governmental problems confronting him.

Foremost among these is the appointment of the federal farm board created by the agricultural relief bill to which he affixed his signature hard more than a week ago. In addition a presidential proclamation will be issued tomorrow setting in operation the provisions of the Swing-Johnson Boulder dam bill.

The president is expected to hold a series of conferences during the next few days, upon the personnel of the farm board.

The Lutheran church, Dr. Maier said, regards the married woman in spiritual communion as one of the foremost problems of the day, and he increasing economic independence he believed to be an outstanding reason for the divorce rate.

Dr. Maier would not have the highly trained professional woman abandon her work completely and wrap herself in domesticity, but emphasized the high value the church places on, the home.

COLORADO SPRINGS, June 24 (AP)—Two suits for damages totaling $2125, the outgrowth of a bite received on the nose of a 12-year-old boy, New York City, from a monkey in the Broadmoor hotel, were settled for $2125 today before a second trial of the case reached the jury.

WITNESSES SUGGEST RADICAL CHANGES IN HOUSE TARIFF BILL

Frank J. Hagenbarth, Spencer, Idaho, Seeks 36-Cent Duty On Raw Wool and Higher Levies On Waste

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, June 24.—Radical changes in the house tariff bill, including provisions for termination of the "reciprocity trade treaty with Chile, higher rates on wool and levying of duties on agricultural imports from the Philippines, were recommended at hearings on the measure today at three senate finance sub-committees.

Chester H. Gray, legislative representative of the American Farm Bureau federation, suggested abolition of the Cuban-American treaty under which that country grants the other preferential treatment in the sale of commodities. He did not detail the reasons, but said he would discuss the subject at later hearings.

Appearing before the sub-committee on agriculture, Gray said farm products coming into the United States from the Philippines, including sugar, would be dutiable. The house rejected the proposal for tariffs against imports into the United States from its possessions.

Neutral On Debris Questioned by Senators Smoot, Republican, Utah, and Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, Gray said his organization was neither for or against the debenture plan sponsored by the National Grange as a part of the tariff bill.

Gray was one of more than a dozen witnesses heard before the agriculture sub-committee before it closed its hearings on that section. This finance committee group will hear testimony and on Wednesday will begin hearings on the controversial sugar schedule.

Before another sub-committee, Frank J. Hagenbarth, Spencer, Idaho, president of the Idaho Wool Growers' association, sought a 36-cent-a-pound duty on raw wool as compared with 34 cents under the present tariff. He also sought a 10-cent-a-pound duty on all kinds of wool waste.

Cites Figures The witness declared 35,000,000 pounds of wool was shipped to the United States last year at about half the duty on virgin wool and that this displaced approximately one-third the American production of raw wool. The wool growers' domestic growers failed to receive the full benefit of the present 31-cent tariff, he said, because of the wide difference in quality between the raw and waste wool.

SEARCHERS SEEKING FOUR LOST AIRMEN

Naval Craft and Airplanes Scouring Seas in Hunt For Spanish Aviators

MADRID, June 24 (AP)—Naval craft and airplanes today were scouring the seas in the vicinity of the Azores for the four Spanish aviators of whom there had been no definite word for almost a week.

An unconfirmed report that wreckage with no trace of life about it had been sighted in those waters by a British ship, gave the only ray of hope in the gloomy situation. Four Spanish destroyers sped from Portugal in an attempt to verify this report while the Portuguese gunboat, Zaire, was refueling at Horta to continue the search it had begun on Saturday.

Frederic Briga, Rio de Janeiro, who unwittingly had given false hope to Spain on Saturday by authorizing publication of a message then supposed to have come from Major Raul Garcia Franco, said the flight today appeared most anxious when he entered a cabinet meeting. He said the government was very contradictory and the outlook for the safety of the four fliers was discouraging.

Requests Airplane Carrier Briga said he had requested the navy to request the government to send a British airplane carrier to be sent from Gibraltar to search for the Portuguese gunboat, Zaire, which was last definitely reported by the "Azares."

Public anxiety was great because Major Franco had been a national hero since his flight in 1926 to South America. On the present flight he was accompanied by one of his old comrades, Raul de Almeida, and by Major Eduardo Ochoa, an aviator and sergeant.

There was no end of offers of private aid in the search. Public anxiety was great because Major Franco had been a national hero since his flight in 1926 to South America. On the present flight he was accompanied by one of his old comrades, Raul de Almeida, and by Major Eduardo Ochoa, an aviator and sergeant.

HUNT FOR MISSING ANGLER IN CANYON

Posses Search Ends When Telephone Call Tells of Safety of Missing Man

E. M. Vannoy, 29, Wells, Nevada, Westerner, operator, for whom 14 county and city officers searched in Snake river canyon from midnight until day-break Monday, telephoned the sheriff's office shortly before noon that he was safe at home of his brother-in-law, Ira Hyder, Buhl. Vannoy had been missing since noon Sunday. He and Hyder separated then to enter the canyon at different points. They were to fish along stream and meet in canyon. Vannoy did not appear at appointed time. Hyder and other members of party including Vannoy's wife, waited for him until midnight before enlisting the officers' assistance.

Vannoy separated from his party near the junction of Rock creek and Snake river canyons, where a trail once led into Snake river canyon. This trail has been abandoned leaving in one place a sheer drop of 200 feet against which ladders once were built.

Treyder and other members of the party continued eastward to Twin Falls and Gun club ground where Hyder descended a trail to the river.

Officers Sunday night followed along the rimrock and then climbed over boulders and across slide rock on benches in the canyon, investigating possibility that Vannoy had fallen and been hurt or that he had fallen into the river.

LOAN CONCERNS TO TEST NEW TAX LAW

Foreign Corporations, Assert Measure Makes Operation Impossible

Action to test validity of tax measure enacted by last session Idaho legislature which foreign loan concerns claim will put them out of business in Idaho, will be brought in Idaho courts by a Washington building and loan association which has made large loans in Twin Falls. C. D. Thomas, its representative here, stated last evening.

Attorneys for foreign loan corporations assert the new law requires them to pay three per cent on amount of money loaned here. This, in addition to overhead estimated at two per cent, they declare, makes it impossible for them to continue in business in this state and they have notified their members no new loans in Idaho were to be accepted after June 1.

NEW WEEKLY APPEARS IN SALT LAKE CITY

Contents of Westerner Covers Wide Range of Subjects of Interest

"The Westerner" is the title of a new weekly magazine put out by the Western Publishing Company, Salt Lake City. The first issue appeared May 25.

The new publication is devoted to civics, commerce and agriculture. Utah comes in for a good deal of the favorable comment on its mountain interests and activities, which is natural, but the interest of the magazine is not devoted exclusively to that state.

Party lines are not drawn in the editorials or list of contributed articles. On June 1 Governor George Dern, Democrat, was the subject of a complimentary article lauding his administration.

On June 15, United States Senator Reed Smoot, received warm commendation. In its first issue the Westerner pointed out the tremendous consequences that might flow from the decision of the United States Supreme court in the recent railroad valuation case, which it asserts may result in giving $17,000,000 to the railroads. In the same issue it took a stand in favor of an increased tariff on sugar.

The issue of June 15 contains a page of "News and Views" by Frank Francis, two pages of editorial covering a variety of subjects, two biographical sketches, two continued stories, a short story, a home page, a page on farming in the city, a radio page, a page devoted to mines and industrial activities, a poultry page, a theatrical page and a few scattering notes, besides a page given over to suggestions and criticisms of readers.

The covers are attractive and the mechanical work excellent. The magazine is one which should succeed.

Commissioners Hearing Tax Exemption Claims

County commissioners throughout the state convened Monday to receive and consider such showings and will continue in session for that purpose daily until the third Monday of July.

A number of applicants who appeared before the board here Monday failed to bring descriptions of their property, and this, commissioners stated, is required.

SHOSHONE FALLS BAD RIDING, SAYS FAUSETT

Cataract—Navigator—May Make Trip in Boat; Has Thrilling, Long Record

The Great Shoshone Falls trip promises to be rough riding, and a great look it over again on both sides before I decide to try it," said Al Fausett, Spokane, who has navigated eight great cataracts within the last three years, and who returned last evening after making "the one over" to Great Shoshone Falls on both sides of the river.

Fausett says he has gone over Sunset Falls, Washington, 164 feet; Silver creek Falls, Oregon, 184 feet, and Snoqualmie Falls, Washington, 186 feet. He admits that the difference between the highest of these and the 212 feet of Great Shoshone is considerable and the situation of rocks here are not alluring, but he indicates that he believes he can make the ride. He says that he was induced to quit "bugging and start" in this form of navigation three years ago when a Hollywood firm offered $5000 for the best ride over a falls. A man named Jones tried a high ride and was killed.

AUDITOR APPROVES HANDLING OF CITY CASH DURING YEAR

Council Receives and Accepts Report On Examination of Municipal Account For Fiscal Period

Twin Falls municipal records accounting for $329,943.11 actual receipts from all sources during the year ending last May 6, were stamped with the approval of Edwin A. Wilson, public accountant, in his auditor's report, covering that period which was received and accepted by Twin Falls city council in regular session last evening.

The auditor expressed approval of the manner in which accounts were handled in all municipal offices receiving money.

A marked impetus to building activities in Twin Falls was indicated by three applications for building permits, totaling $13,000, which were approved by the council and building inspector.

C. P. Johnson, obtained permit for construction of a 10-room apartment house, with steam heating plant, to be constructed on Third-avenue south, between Second and Third streets.

Caldwell Concrete Pipe company, establishing a plant in Twin Falls, received approval for its plans for construction of a sewer line, 14 by 60 feet, on its property fronting on railroad tracks on Eighth avenue west. Estimated cost is $200.

Expansion of Hayes H-Grade hatchery was reflected in application by H. C. Hayes, proprietor, for permit for construction of a brick building 50 by 74 feet, to be constructed at an estimated cost of $2000, on Main street south, between Fourth and Fifth streets.

The council deferred action on a petition to vacate a street and alley in Chapman addition to Twin Falls, which had been received at a preceding meeting.

Informal discussion among the councilmen last evening gave no indication that any of the members would sponsor an ordinance proposed through Twin Falls Credit association that would require municipal listing of changes of residence. The suggestion was that transfer operators should be required to report to the city clerk any removals from one residence to another in which they had assisted.

"One effect of such a regulation," our commentator pointed out last evening, "would be to drive business away from established transfer operators."

It was asserted also that it would be impossible under the proposed regulation to list persons moving from one furnished house or apartment to another.

A problem in engineering and economy was presented by the request, of Dr. O. A. Fuller, leader of Twin Falls municipal band, for lowering of the bandstand in the city park in order that the audience might better hear the open air concerts. HOLLISTER CITIZENS BATTLE FOR WATER

Day-Long Famine Preceeds Hearing in Action to Stop Operation of Pump

With keen appreciation of vicissitudes of water famine, Hollister citizens assembled in district court here Monday at a hearing in the action brought by Hollister village trustees to restrain Frank Jewett from operation of a pump on his artesian well, which it is contended, drains two other artesian wells from which Hollister derives its water supply.

Commenting on the evidence at the close of the hearing Monday afternoon, Judge W. A. Babcock indicated that, if necessary to maintain Hollister's water supply, terms of a temporary restraining order would be altered. Under this order Jewett is permitted to operate his pump providing he turns four and a half inches of water into Hollister's water pipeline while the pump is in operation.

Introduction of evidence was completed Monday and the case was continued for submission of attorneys' briefs.

Evidence that will seven wells, two of which are owned by the village of ment of a police officer to put a damper on children at play in the park during concerts, also would improve the situation with respect to acoustics.

Hollister, and one by Jewett. All are in the same vicinity. Questions dealt with the time at which the several wells had been drilled, and the uses made of the water taken from these wells.

Normal flow of the Jewett well, it was asserted, is about six inches while operation of the pump increases the flow to 20 inches, the water being used for irrigation of Jewett's farm.

Evidence in support of Jewett's claim to the water, including a show, heard loss of water in transmission through Hollister's pipe line, was assured by village trustees with a showing of its inability to put in a different pipe.

The case for Hollister trustees was presented by J. H. Howell and W. Orr Chapman, while Jewett was represented by E. M. Wolfe and O. W. Witham.
